THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its want column daily furnishes a quantity of interesting reading and is the means of procuring all kinds of employment and the best class of help. For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertisements pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

—There is no more attractive store in Plainfield than the Gavetts as it appears when lit up, reflecting the many colors of lamps which is there to show off to the best advantage. Speaking of lamps, the stock of Messrs. Gavett with a taste and judgment ripened by an experience of twenty-five years in the business in this city. They have an announcement among our advertisements of some of the newest things in their line, which they invite people to call and see, and past experience inspires confidence that the goods are something worth seeing when the Gavetts say so.

—With reference to the lecture announced to be given by Rev. Elston M. Dunn, in the First Baptist church on Monday evening next the Palmyra (Wis.) Enterprise says: "The lecture given by Rev. M. Dunn, on the educational church, last evening was listened to with the most intense interest by a crowded house. Representatives of the various religious bodies marched in carried bibles. The lecture is so entertaining and instructive that no bachelor or maid, nor married couple should fail to hear it should they have the opportunity."

There was a large number in attendance, and among them were some ladies from Brooklyn and New York. The comrades broke camp at about eleven o'clock. The rector is requested to continue his ministrations and hearty support is pledged him.

Middlesex W. C. T. U.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Middlesex County held its annual convention at New Brunswick yesterday. Owing to the storm the attendance was light, although there was sufficient enthusiasm to make up for the lack of audience. Devotional exercises marked the opening of the convention; they were conducted by Mrs. J. Theobrook of New Brunswick; Mrs. John Amer, of the same place, made the address of welcome.

The morning session, which was held in the First Methodist church, was almost consumed with an able address from State President Mrs. S. J. C. Downs, whose kind words of encouragement were warmly appreciated by the delegates. In the afternoon Mrs. J. W. Crowley, of North Amboy, made a stirring appeal for more female workers in the temperance cause. Reports from the various townships showed a very large increase in the membership and usefulness of the union, with a corresponding extension of the field of operations. The afternoon session closed with a secret meeting for members, at which plans were set on foot, it is said, to work in secret against saloon-keepers. A banquet, was served the delegates by the members of the local Young Women's Union.

Last night the convention gathered in mass-meeting, at which there was a large audience. Robert Mansfield, of Scotland, made a stirring address on temperance work, and was followed in a brief speech by the President, Mrs. S. J. C. Downs. A large number of ladies and gentlemen signified their willingness to unite with the union and help to promote its interests.

Do Us Proud.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Last evening I met another example of Yankee enterprise and energy. I left New York on the 5:45 p. m. train, after trying in vain to get a reserved seat on account of the excitement of the yacht race between the Volunteer and the Thistle, but on arrival at my home I find the daily Evening News at my door in the sprightly EVENING NEWS.

CHAS. A. HAYNES.

"GOOD FOR THE PLAINFIELD NEWS!

"We have repeatedly remarked that the Plainfield Evening News was the liveliest and best daily paper in Union county. The assertion will bear reiteration now. The News published the result of the great yacht race last Tuesday, between the Volunteer and the Thistle, long in advance of any New York or New Jersey paper. It accomplished this feat in journalism by the use of carrier pigeons, which were dispatched from a boat which followed the racing yachts. The pigeons had only twenty miles to fly, and they beat the winged messengers of the Plainfield enterprise to the goal of this achievement, and no doubt she is."—Roselle Records

The New York evening papers with the result of the yacht race yesterday, did not appear in New York, another gentleman in that city informs us, until seven o'clock. THE NEWS had the intelligence being delivered to our subscribers before 5:15 p. m., nearly an hour ahead of any other paper here, those afforded by the Plainfield enterprise in supplying patrons, especially by the Means, Gavett with a taste and judgment ripened by an experience of twenty-five years in the business in this city. They have an announcement among our advertisements of some of the newest things in their line, which they invite people to call and see, and past experience inspires confidence that the goods are something worth seeing when the Gavetts say so.

Union's Young Republicans.

The Union County Young Republican League held its third meeting last evening with ex-Councilman C. M. Goddard in the chair.

E. French Carson of Elizabeth was elected Corresponding Secretary, and George P. Matthews of Elizabeth, Treasurer. The appointments of other officers were left over, as the townships off from the railroads were not represented, owing to the bad weather.

The assembly was addressed by Mr. Belknap, President of the Roselle Young Republican Club, and others.

Fifty members were enrolled and the prospects are good for a large and effective organization.

The President was authorized to sign the call for the formation of a State and also a National League.

The campaign is on today, way for holding a meeting in Plainfield at an early day.

"Eph" Plands not Guilty.

Coal-black "Eph" Carman was arraigned before city Judge Ulrich this noon and Corporation Counsel Marsh read to him the allegation sworn against him by Detective "Edward J. Whitlock," of Plainfield, that on Sunday last he committed the supposedly-murderous arson at John Rafferty's barn, "and at Cook's lumber yard the first of Nov., 1886.

Carman pleaded not guilty and the case set for his hearing was made Tuesday at four o'clock at the city Court Rooms.

"Eph" will be held at the county jail at Elizabethtown till that day.

M. C. A., in the Association Hall, on Tuesday evening of next week, Oct. 4th, at eight o'clock.

Mr. Dunn was born in Plainfield, was a resident here for forty years and was postmaster from 1861 to 1869, leaving for the West in 1873.

By reference to our professional column it will be seen that the "Jr." has been removed from the name of Mr. B. Fosgate, Architect, which was occasioned by the death of his father, the late Dr. B. Fosgate, at Auburn, N. Y. On the same day also, his brother Henry B. Fosgate, of Syracuse, N. Y., passed away; each having died of apoplexy.

Corporation Counsel Marsh respecting a published letter of Mr. N. Runyon, concerning the Dizzy performance at Music Hall, says that he does not think that any reply is called for. The Music Hall Association, he thought, could well afford to pay no heed to the personal views of its thousand and more patrons, who were present, rather than the opinion of his learned friend, Judge Runyon, who was not present.

A brilliant wedding took place at Somerville Thursday evening, the contracting parties being Miss Emma Augusta, daughter of Engelbert A. A. Clark, and Charles Revi, Mr. Clark's law partner. The wedding was celebrated in the First Reformed church and was witnessed by a large party of friends. A reception was given at Mr. Clark's residence. Mr. Revi conducts the firm's business in Plainfield.

The Royal Craftsman has been issued for the eighth time with its present number, City Judge Ulrich is its able editor, and the paper w ich is devoted entirely to the Masonic interests, is as well-conducted a journal as the members of any fraternity could wish. The following, clipped from its editorial column, is the conclusion of an article referring to Chief of Police Dodd's trip through Ireland: "He returned with renewed strength and vigor and has again assumed his official duties in this city. Dodd is a jewel, and the Knights of Pythias could appropriately inscribe, We find it excellent company when visiting and returning from our Lodge room."

Julian Scott, the Plainfield artist, has been engaged during the past few days encamped with the Grand Army of the Republic held at St. Louis this week. The Republican of that city in last Tuesday's issue says: "Ransom Post gave an informal reception last night which was attended by hundreds of veterans in spite of the terrible weather. One event of the evening was the presentation of a magnificent oil portrait of Major-Gen. T. E. G. Ransom, in whose honor the Post is named. Col. Julian Scott, of Plainfield, N. J., painted the picture, and made the presentation speech in behalf of U. S. Grant Post No. 10, of Rimbault City, Col. Scott, which he is a member. This post comprises the veteran pressmen, who were the guests of Ransom Post two years ago. Col. Scott said that the picture was a slight return for the generous hospitality accorded them on that occasion. Charles L. Moss received the portrait in the name of the Post, and paid a glowing tribute to the name of the dead general.

A Baby Scalded to Death.

A heart-rending accident which occurred at the home of Mr. J. V. TenEyck in North Branch, Somerset county, last Friday, has just been reported. Mrs. TenEyck is not strong, and employs a domestic. In making preparations for dinner the girl had removed a pot of boiling water from the stove (which stood in the kitchen) and placed it on the floor in a passage way leading to a "dresser" or dish rack. Corn May, the bright and only daughter of the family, two years old, went to get something out of the drawer, and stepping backward, tripped and fell into the pot of hot water. Her mother entered just at this juncture and saw the occurrence, but was unable to avert the calamity. Hastily taking up the child and holding the burning garments on her as protection from the hot, fiery, regardless of her own blistering hands, the frantic mother screamed for her husband, with whom assistance the clothing was soon removed, but the child was fearfully scalded. The child remained alive for five days in great agony, suffering as if in a play, constantly calling her father to "kiss me, papa," until about midnight, when she died.

The Gilbert family have been engaged to give a concert at the Dunellen M. E. church, Tuesday evening, on which date they will be assisted by Miss Kirkpatrick, reader, and other talent. They have been giving entertainments in the city of Brooklyn, the Brooklyn Star, and Anthony Comstock.

The Trouble in the W. C. T. U. Ranks.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union: The name indicates a wonderful power for good in the world. 1. Christianity; 2. Temperance; 3. Union of effort and work for the salvation of mankind and the happiness of home. The W. C. T. U. of our city has done a good work. They were the means of the great temperance reform in our city under the labors of Mahee and English. The Reform Club owes its existence and success largely to them. Many a man and family owes their sobriety, prosperity and happiness to them. The harmony following the Union and the Club has been the saving of many a person from the drink habit, the conversion of many a soul to Christianity and to membership in our churches. By these two organizations Reform Hall was purchased, repaired and furnished as the model reform hall of the State. As the painting over the rostrum indicates—clasped hands—in union is the great reform so much needed in our city and land. Every effort was put forth to put the building in condition to accomodate both societies. The Club, being incorporated, took the title to the property, but allowed the women to occupy it as they desired, save Sunday and Monday evening of each week. Everything was furnished, lights and janitor, for $15 per month. All worked harmoniously for a time; but, as is often the case in societies of mixed women, jealousies crept more or less into each society. Some were ambitious for notoriety, recognition and place, as is common in the make-up of the human family. To try to become popular is quite a common practice in this extravagant age, and is the cause of ruining many a person among the people. These things ought not so to be. The little differences have grown into little bickerings. A little estrangement has seemed to spring up between the two societies. Some of the officers of the Union have indicated a desire to withdraw from the Club and hall and build up a home of their own, independent of the Club and the Club hall. To do this I fear would be a great mistake. If the everyday people of the world are to be reformed, the reformers must come to them. The Saviour of the world never attempted to save the people upon aristocratic principles; but chose the weak things of the world to confound the wisdom of the wise. He ordered his servants to go into the byways and hedges, and call the lame, blind and weak. He left a reformer's model for his example; banish all selfish aspirations, and unite in harmony for the general good of mankind. If we would be like the good Samaritan, we must not pass by on the other side as did the priest and Levite from the road which led from Jerusalem to Jericho; we must find where they are. Is there any place where such men can be reached as at the Reform Hall? I think all will admit that the hall is the place. They all understand this to be a free institution, with invitations to all for religious services. The annual report of the W. C. T. U. shows that there has been a falling off in some of their departments of work the past year; and possibly their little differences and views may be the cause. If the idea is persisted in to leave the Reform Club by a number of them, it may be the dividing of the Union and the formation of another union that will stand by the Club. This might work disastrously to both unions and the Club, and should be well considered. Daniel Webster once said, while speaking upon the union of the United States, from the steps of the capitol building at Washington: "United we stand; divided we fall." It would seem that while the drink habit is so rapidly increasing under the high license system that their should be no division but effort, but union of strength to meet this awful curse of all curses; that all men and women of whatever church or society should unite in the temperance reform and against this evil; for the dark shadow that falls across many homes of our city at this day, is made by the dram shop. This is the view of the, the sink of iniquity, a gate to ruin, a recruiting station for the poorhouse and the prison. The dram shop is a moral plague spot, a political cesspool and a social blight. Why the people of our churches and so many professional and religious societies and people tolerate this crime, I cannot understand. Can it be possible that our political system is so interwoven with the saloon interests that it controls the whole moral element of our city? Let each and every one consider the question impartially, and see accountable beings, proving ourselves "wise as serpents and as harmless as doves," yet working together for the saving of men and the checking of the manufactory of drunkards and "dive-logs" in our city and land.

George W. Dunham, an auction of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church at Syracuse, New York, has broken the record. Saturday they sold five pews for $1,000 apiece. Tuesday morning they sold eight pews for $1,000 apiece, and then they sold the Bishop Coxe pew for $1,000. The pew fronts directly on the pulpit, and was once owned by Horace Greeley.

He Confesses His Murder.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 1.—Volney McVeigh, a tramp was arrested Thursday night for drunkenness and yesterday was sentenced to the workhouse for ten days. On his way out he told the policeman in charge that he had murdered his wife at Olney, Ill., ten years ago and fled from the place, thereby avoiding arrest. He said he had been a wanderer since, and during the entire time he had been haunted night and day by the memory of his crime. He said he was on his way to Olney to surrender to the authorities when arrested here. He appears honest in his statement, and the superintendent of Police has written to Olney for verification of the confession.

Rum Causing Murder.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 1.—A desperate affair occurred at Cameron, 20 miles from this place, at midnight last night, which resulted in Town Marshal, John Mackey, being twice shot by S. M. Marling, and after ward fatally kicked and beaten by a mob. Marling is a sewing machine agent, who had been on a big drunk. He had been put under arrest for fighting. On the way to the lock-up Marling drew a revolver and opened fire on the officer. When the marshal had received two wounds, and while he was lying on the ground a dozen or two of Marling's friends came up and the wounded man was beaten and kicked in a terrible manner, his skull being fractured. He cannot recover.

Probably Suicide.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 1.—John W. Phillips, general manager of the Kansas City Electric Light Co., and one of the best known and most respected citizens of Kansas City, shot himself through the head last night. His physicians say that he cannot possibly live. Recently he has been acting queerly and his friends say that financial reverses unsettled his reason.

Burned His Own Child.

TOWER, Minn., Oct. 1.—Yesterday the house of Nick Vitzlage was burned. Two children were suffocated to death and Vitzlage has since died from his injuries. The father threw one of the children back into the fire after it had been rescued. He was crazy from the time of the fire until his death.

Again the Old Commuter.

NEW MARKET, N. J., Sept. 28, 1887.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EVENING NEWS:—"Commuter's" communication in your issue of the 26th inst. seems to be an apology for the C. R. R., but the very thing I complained of in copy of letter as published in the NEWS is done.

Plainfield is favorably situated, having the advantage of numerous express trains which local stations and unimportant points cannot boast of. But the rule I called for is that the schedule time on some trains is one that is never kept and beyond the possibility of ever being kept, and that is the fast express in executive ability. To-day the train leaving New York at 3:30 p. m. stands as of between Newark and Plainfield to allow an express to pass by, and in a run of twenty five miles was twenty minutes late. When we want a train to make up lost time it is kept; it is these delays that lead to accidents and misfortunes. And we must rely upon THE NEWS to assist us to bring it about.

AN OLD COMMUTER.

WESTFIELD.

The Rev. Joseph Greenes preaches at the Roselle Baptist Church to-day.

H. S. Boxer will return to Westfield and occupy L. V. Clark's new cottage on Dudley avenue.

The county bridge over Elmer street is nearly completed, and it is a good sound structure.

C. F. Conant, who is connected with Babbitts Soap works, was seriously injured Saturday, Oct. 1, by falling from a ladder, striking some books. The ladder slipped and Mr. Conant fell and broke his left wrist and bruised his left hip. He was taken to his home in Westfield, and the physician thinks it will be a month or more before he will be able to get around.

BOUND BROOK.

The recent Knights of Labor ball netted a profit of $150.

It is expected that the young men of the place will soon organize a Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Lamoree has had a pump, worked by wind power, erected on his place "The Evergreens." It pumps from a well into a tank holding 10,000 gallons and is placed at 35 feet elevation. From this tank water is led to general wherever required by pipes. The system works very satisfactorily. D. D. Cook is having a like apparatus put up on his premises.

A VETERAN CONFEDERATE.

Death of Gen. William Preston at Lexington.

Gen. William Preston, a distinguished Kentuckian and prominent Confederate officer during the war, died at his residence in Lexington on the 21st inst., aged 71 years. He was born in Louisville and educated for the law, beginning his practice in Louisville as a partner of the Hon. William J. Graves.

When the Mexican war began Mr. Preston took up a subscription of $50,000, which he placed in bank to the credit of the state government, to be used in forwarding troops. In August, 1846, a requisition was made on Kentucky for two additional regiments, and in about five weeks they were raised. Mr. Preston enlisted as a private, but was soon made lieutenant-colonel in the Fourth regiment, which was attached to Scott's column. After participating in the most memorable battles of the war, he remained in the City of Mexico until the treaty of peace was made in 1848.

After his return from Mexico Gen. Preston was chosen, in 1849, a joint member with the Hon. James Guthrie to represent Louisville at the convention which framed the present constitution of the state of Kentucky. He led the opposition to G. Davis in the Know-

THE LATE GEN. PRESTON.

Nothing Anti-Catholic movement. He was returned in 1851 as the Whig representative of Louisville in the house of representatives. With all his strength he advocated reform in the code of legal practice. He was chairman of the first committee to consider the revision and formation of the code, and although strongly opposed by the legal profession, he carried it through. He was chosen Whig elector in 1852, and at the following election was sent to congress from the Louisville district by a large majority. He was re-elected in 1854, served on the committee on foreign relations, and took an active part in the sectional discussions of the time. He again ran for congress, but was defeated after a warm contest by Gen. Humphrey Marshall, candidate of the Know-Nothing party. On election day, Aug. 6, 1855, many Roman Catholics and foreigners lost their lives, and the day ever since been known in Louisville as "Bloody Monday." In the midst of the riotous proceedings Gen. Preston used every effort in his power, although exposed to great personal danger, to quell the riot.

In 1856 Preston became a Democrat, and was a delegate to the Cincinnati convention which nominated Buchanan and Breckinridge. Buchanan appointed him minister to Spain, and he served until the end of that administration. He arrived home soon after the battle of Manassas. He was Johnston's brother-in-law to Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, and was made colonel of his staff.

He served during the Kentucky campaign at Bowling Green and Nashville, was at the fall of Donelson, the siege of Corinth and at the battle of Shiloh, where Gen. Johnston, falling gloriously, expired in his arms at the moment of supposed victory. He was soon afterward made a brigadier general, sent in rank to Gen. Breckinridge. He was a prominent figure in many of the great battles of the rebellion, and at Murfreesborough especially he showed great daring.

After the battle of Chickamauga Preston was sent by the Confederacy as ambassador to Mexico, London and Paris. After making his reports he requested a leave of absence to turned. With considerable trouble he ran the blockade and joined Kirby Smith on the Rio Grande, and was promoted to the rank of major general. He refused to give his parole in accordance with the stipulated terms of surrender, and at the close of the rebellion, in company with five or six friends, he went to Mexico, thence to Havana, and later he accompanied Mr. Benjamin to Europe. Afterward he went to Canada, and returned to Washington, where he then gave his parole to Gen. Grant and left for his native state. Since then he has lived quietly in Lexington, holding no office save that of trustee of the state college, agent for the state at large and chairman of the Kentucky delegation to the Cincinnati convention which nominated Gen. Hancock for the presidency.

The picture represents Gen. Preston as he appeared in the time of the war.

Theatre Royal, Exeter, England.

We present with this a cut of the burning of the Theatre Royal at Exeter, England, by which so many lives were lost recently.

THEATRE ROYAL FIRE.

There is an unwritten but unalterable law of chance that decrees the burning of some theatre, with attendant loss of life, every year. This law cannot be done away with, but the loss of life, it would seem, might be averted. The man who invents appliances which will bring this about will have the thanks of the whole civilized world.

An Australian syndicate has forwarded $12,000 to A. T. Soule of Rochester to place on Wm. Beach against Ed. Hanlan at 6 to 4, in their rowing contest on the Parramatta.

A match has been made between Pete Nolan, of Cincinnati, and Jim Pell, of Grand Rapids, Mich., to fight to a finish, under Queensbury rules for $1,000 a side, within one hundred miles of New Orleans, on Dec. 8.

Bob Farrell writes to ex-champion pugilist Joe Coburn that sporting men in St. Louis are anxious to back Prof. Bill Clark against him in a thirty minutes' blackened glove contest for $1,000 a side—head hits only to count.

THE CUP WILL STAY HERE.

BECAUSE OUR VOLUNTEER AGAIN DEFEATS THE THISTLE.

A Rousing Breeze for the Second Contest Determines the Yankee Sloop's Superiority in Any Weather—Britons Must Come Here for Models.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—There was another gloomy outlook for the yachts paste-ay morning. The fog of Thursday, while not never been entirely dissipated, confined to a belt out the river. There was a good wind, however, which continued to freshen, ringing round to the south. At 9:30 o'clock a heavy rain poured down, with the accompaniment of a twenty mile breeze off Sandy Hook. At 10 o'clock the fog lifted and revealed a couple of miles of sloop water, and half an hour later two more miles could be seen, and the Thistle and Volunteer proceeded to the starting point. The Electra, with the regatta committee and a hundred squally unions yachtsmen on board, lolled about surveying the scene. The wind at this time being from the east determined the course. It was twenty miles to windward, and lay out to sea.

At 10:42 the starting gun was fired and both yachts went over the line at a terrific clip. The Thistle was to windward, but the big white sloop from Boston was in the lead. They were carrying mainsail, foresail, jib and working topsails. As they dashed off into the northeast no one could say which was getting the better of it. They each seemed to be flying with the speed of the wind, and it was all that some of the steamboats could do to keep the scudding yachts in sight. The Volunteer was leading slightly more than the Scotchman, but each was heeled a good deal. The wind was blowing twenty miles an hour, and it gave signs of holding out, and even of freshening. The Volunteer hung on to the wind like a part of it. She was sailing in its very teeth, and her long lowsprit pointed perceptibly better than that of the Thistle. She fell behind and still to windward the Thistle was cutting the water like a knife, and so well were both yachts sailing, and so slight the difference between them, that the betting was about even.

Slowly but surely the Volunteer drew away from her rival, and as they passed Rockaway she had a little sloop lead of at least half a mile, and she had gained it chiefly through her ability to point closer to the wind than the cutter. At noon the yachts had gained a point off Long Beach, and the Yankee boat had increased her lead until she was a good mile to the fore. At 12:30 o'clock both yachts were on the starboard tack, standing in toward shore. The Volunteer was unmistakably gaining, and her lead was fully a mile and a quarter at 1:30. At 2:30 o'clock the two boats could be seen nearing the stakeboat off Long Beach, which they were to turn. To all appearances the Volunteer was holding the gap between her and her Scotch rival.

At 2:30 the Yankee turned the stakeboat on the part tack amid deafening screams from the fleet of tugs, steamers and yachts which had followed the yachts west on the starboard tack, standing in toward shore. The Volunteer was unmistakably gaining, and her lead was fully a mile and a quarter at 1:30. At 2:30 o'clock the two boats could be seen nearing the stakeboat off Long Beach, which they were to turn. To all appearances the Volunteer was holding the gap between her and her Scotch rival.

At 2:30 the Yankee turned the stakeboat on the port

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Ill Health of American Women—Effect of Arsenic on the Blood and Skin.

The ill health that prevails to so great an extent among American women has grown to be a subject of much consideration. Virginia Penny enumerates various causes for the weakness and early breaking down of her country women, who, in this respect, compare ill with English women. Much of the insanity among her sex she attributes to the lack of out door exercise in childhood and precocious development of mind. American girls have a fairer, fresher appearance from 16 to 18 years of age than foreigners, but they fade earlier. The loss of health and depletion of flesh in the middle and higher classes of society are mostly from the want of regular occupation; some definite aim, some high and elevating pursuit.

The health of women that work in the fields is generally excellent because of their exercise in pure air. According to Miss Penny, moderate exercise in open air will give vigor and freedom to both mind and body.

The early entrance into society of most American ladies takes away from them the settled state of mind it engenders, the intense love of excitement, are certainly disadvantageous.

American women, according to our authority, marry too early and live too secluded. Many are scarcely out of school before they settle down as wives and housekeepers, the nerve of a child bearing on them before they have the strength and nerve to perform them. Most women do not know enough of the laws of health. The majority of married women, with families of small children, need more relaxation and greater variety of recreation. Many become so confined down in body and mind in the household cares and labors that health and spirits sink beneath the load and they grow prematurely old. Some housewives suffer from bad servants; some perform the drudgery for which they are unfit. The indoor labor performed by American women is prodigious. What affects the body influences the mind. When one is worn out she is irritated. English women have more and better servants. English women walk and ride more, marry later and have better constitutions by nature.

A Safe Nursery Powder.

The Druggists' Circular gives a formula for preparing a nursery powder that will cure severe chafing:

Gum camphor	½ ounce.
Carbolic acid	15 drops.
Oxide of zinc	½ ounce.
English prepicitated chalk	½ ounce.
Oil of neroli	8 drops.
Oil of rose	10 drops.

Rub the camphor to a fine powder in a mortar, using alcohol to reduce it, and mix the other components thoroughly.

This powder is invaluable for healing raw and irritated surfaces, and for curing sunburn. Mixed in the proportion of three parts of vaseline or cold cream, it forms a most useful domestic remedy in the way of a general healing salve.

Miller's Cough.

This distressing complaint is caused by the constant inhalation of dust laden air in a dusty mill. In case of lungs naturally weak it runs at last into the ordinary symptoms of consumption. When the cause is only to the dusty atmosphere of the mill, a change to pure air is usually an effectual remedy. A practical miller affected with miller's cough has not time to change, he loses business. He finds that, while perfectly well so long as he keeps away from the mill, a return for a few hours' time will start his cough afresh, and the millers are of no avail. Pure air alone is, in his opinion, the only cure for miller's asthma.

How to Administer Castor Oil.

Of all nauseating agents employed by physicians, castor oil stands near, if not at, the head of the list. It is not possible to be had when taken in strong coffee or lemon juice. In the form of an emulsion it is far less objectionable, according to The Boston Herald. To prepare it, the egg to be used is to be admixed with the white of an egg, and then add the juice of a lemon or a sufficient quantity of strong peppermint water; by this means the offensive taste is completely disguised.

Effects of Arsenic Eating.

Herald of Health affirms that the exact state of things produced by arsenic eating is a diminution of the strength of the blood; the capillary blood vessels are stopped from working, the ends of the blood vessels are filled, so that the blood is supplied to the skin, and the real reason for its white, transparent state is that it is practically dead.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Manners and Customs Practiced in Polite Society.

The terms "gentleman" and "lady" become to themselves vague when misapplied, and the improper application of the wrong term at the wrong time makes all the difference in the world to sure polite.

Socially, the term "gentleman" has become almost vulgar. It is certainly less employed by gentlemen than by inferior persons. The one speaks of "a man I know," the other of "a gentleman I know." As regards the term lady, it is quite in accordance with the usages of English society to speak of your acquaintance, the duchess, as "a very nice person," while to say "a very nice lady" are used generally of a social class that has much to do with dickens.

"There is a kind of pin feather gentility," says a masculine observer, "that seems to have a settled aversion to the terms 'man' and 'woman.' Well, bred men, men of culture and refinement—gentlemen, in short—use the terms lady and gentleman comparatively little, and they are especially careful not to call themselves gentlemen when they can avoid it. A gentleman, for instance, does not say, 'I, with some other gentlemen, went,' etc.; he is careful to leave out the word 'other.'"

The Way to Overcome Shyness.

Shyness cramps every motion, clogs every word. The only way to overcome the fault is to mix constantly in society. The habitual intercourse with others will give you the ease and manner that shyness destroys.

Aids for the Uninitiated.

Harper's Bazar enlightens the social ignorance of sundry persons as follows:

A bride should not have an atom of black in her wedding outfit.

At a tennis party, serve iced tea, lemonade, cake, fruits and ice cream.

The initials of the bride's maiden name mark her household linen.

The groom's family retain their mourning dress at a quiet church wedding.

The groom should wear cream white gloves at an evening wedding in October.

Bouillon, tea, chocolate, cake and ices are suitable for refreshments at an afternoon tea.

The bride may wear a long white undressed kid glove and white slipper if she wear white silk dress and should carry a bouquet of white flowers.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

A VEGETABLE PHENOMENON WHICH HAS PUZZLED NATURALISTS.

Is There a Diamond Field in Kentucky?

Remarkable Memento of the Late Henry Ward Beecher—An Interesting Experiment for Scientists.

The experiment here illustrated shows the interesting fact that a free sphere will remain in equilibrium, and actually revolve around another, making a rapid rotary motion. A spindle is fixed in support of an angle of forty-five degrees, which seems to offer the greatest difficulties, and on it is mounted a sphere formed of eight or ten rings.

BALL REVOLVING AROUND A SPHERE.

When this is rapidly rotated the hand can feel a strong stream of air issuing from the equatorial circle of rings, and the rings when presented are blown away. If, however, a balloon, such as a light rubber ball, is used, it is strongly attracted toward the sphere, and will describe orbits around it in the plane of the equator until it receives a blow from one of the rings, and is then sent too far away to be recaptured by the rotating sphere. To avoid that a wire guard placed round the sphere in its equator, and held in place by three wires connected to the support. This guard keeps the ball in the vicinity of the rings forming the sphere, and the former revolves round the latter so long as the sphere is rotated.

Kentucky's Reputed Diamond Field.

The report of the two scientists, George F. Kunz and J. S. Diller, who were sent by the directors of the United States Geological survey to make an examination of the reputed diamond fields in Kentucky, furnishes food for speculation. Says The Jeweler's Weekly: "Although the carbonaceous shale of the Kentucky field contains only .061 per cent. of carbon to nearly 86 per cent. of the same element in the Kimberley shale, the remarkable similarity of the peridotite and the residuary deposits, which so closely resemble the diamantiferous material of the South African mines, lends a strong prospect that patient and diligent search may yet force the reluctant blue grass soil to yield up nature's gems."

Memento of Henry Ward Beecher.

A remarkable memento of the late Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was made in the shape of Mr. Edison, the electrical inventor. Mr. Edison has utilized his phonograph by making a collection of famous voices. When Mr. Beecher was last in his workshop, he took a sample of their voices by inducing them to talk into his phonograph. He has kept the soft metal plates from which these strange voices are to be reproduced, and he recalls again, by a simple turning of the crank of the machine, the words spoken months or years before. Mr. Beecher was one of his visitors, and left a memento of himself in the form of a few sentences recorded in the phonograph. Mr. Edison is probably the only man who can recall the silenced voice of the great preacher.

An Anomaly in Plant Growth.

A correspondent in Popular Science Monthly describes a vegetable phenomenon which has puzzled the naturalists who have seen it. Two beautiful stems six inches in diameter grow within a foot of each other. About eight feet from the ground a lateral branch of one of them, growing tightly athwart the stem of the other, and becomes incased by that trunk, so as to present the appearance of being thrust through it. Some one had cut off the absorbing stock two or three feet above the ground, but still, so that it hung by that lateral branch, and might be easily swung to and fro (see cut).

A VEGETABLE PHENOMENON.

The severed stock continued to live and grow, not only above the supporting limb, but between the limb and the severance below.

It was manifest that the top of the sundered tree was supplied through the transverse branch in the ordinary method of upward growth; but not so apparent how the lower portion continued to live. The correspondent who described it says that he saw the tree during the third or fourth season after the separation, and testifies to life therein, though in a sickly way of a thrifty young tree. The supporting trunk had increased much more than its mutilated companion. This shrinkage of vitality might have resulted in ultimate death but for further experiment been precluded by the thoughtless removal of both for firewood by an ignorant chopper.

Arboreal Wall Papers.

The clinical evidence adduced in this and other connections, setting forth doubtless the fact that arsenical wall papers will, in many instances, produce symptoms of poisoning by arsenic in persons occupying the rooms upon which the walls are so clothed, is not new. It may, therefore, be well to give one or two of the simple tests for suspected papers, devised by F. F. Greenstad.

Turn an ordinary gas jet down quite to a pin point, or until the flame is wholly blue.

When this has been done, a strip of the paper suspected to contain arsenic is cut one-sixteenth of an inch wide and an inch or two long. Directly the edge of this paper is brought into contact with the flame (see No. 1) the gas flame a gray coloration, due to arsenic, will be seen by the flame (test No. 1). The paper is burned a little, and the fumes that are given off will be found to have a decidedly garlic odor, due to the vapor of arsenic acid (test No. 2). By this simple means can be detected any paper containing arsenic in considerable quantities.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

Decorative and Convenient Objects for Use and Ornament.

Explained.

A blotter is an article that can hardly come amiss in any room in the house, especially when finished with one of the dainty covers now in vogue. Such a cover is simply a drawing paper into any shape desired. There is no effort to make the edges smooth; in fact they may be torn out so as to make a ragged edge. Paint may be gilded. On the cover may be painted, in water color washes, sprays of flowers, daffodils, jonquils, tulips or the like. The blotting leaves are placed inside the cover, holes are punched through and all is tied together by a ribbon drawn through and fastened in a bow on the top.

Pretty covers may also be made for blotter, or sort of portfolio, may be made by covering pasteboard with light brown linen, on which a design has been painted in thin water color washes or with aniline dyes.

Fruit Syrups.

The beautiful translucent syrups that may be made from the grape, blackberry, raspberry, peach and other fruits are becoming better known with the last few seasons. Added to water, they make refreshing and healthful beverages, while they are also excellent for flavoring pies and puddings. They are all made in much the same fashion.

For grape syrup pick over and wash good, ripe grapes, then squeeze them through a strong coarse cloth or extract the juice with a wooden press—metal is apt to injure the flavor. Put this boil in the porcelain for one hour, skimming well. Add half a pint of granulated sugar to a quart of juice when nearly done. Be careful that the syrup does not scorch, and, when it is done, strain, wrap with paper and keep cool and cool.

Quinces in Perfection.

To preserve quinces "in perfection" boil the quinces (pared and cored) in water enough to cover them. When tender drain them and make a syrup of the water, sugar, allowing twelve ounces to every pound of fruit before it is cooked. Cover the jar closely, as soon as it is filled, with egg paper over the top. Add another egg to the white, place on the quinces that quinces kept in this way, without boiling the syrup, are very nice and of a rich orange color. If they show signs of fermenting, set the jar, with the lid off, in a stove oven, keep warm oven over night, and the quinces will be a fine, transparent, light red, will keep any length of time and never become hard.

A Pretty and Useful Article.

The accompanying cut gives both back and front views of a basket to be hung on or near the wash table for the purpose of holding a clothes brush. This adds not only a very pretty ornament to the room, but is a decided improvement, as the brush will not often be mislaid when a suitable holder is at hand.

BASKET FOR CLOTHES BRUSH.

A fine wicker basket is the preferable foundation, if it can be had; if not, this article is very pretty, though hardly so serviceable, when shaped in pasteboard or other stiff material and covered smoothly with silk or satin. Silk or satin also forms the lower part of the case and draws in a point and is finished by a tassel or cluster of silk balls.

A drape of plush with initials and a simple scroll design in embroidery forms the effective ornament. The edge of the drape should be finished with gimp or couching. In case the latter is used, tiny tassels of silk may be added at the top are also tassels or clusters of silk balls.

How to Have a Spotless Floor.

To remove spots of grease from boards, take equal parts of fuller's earth and pearlash, a quarter of a pound each, and boil in a quart of soft water, and lay it hot on the grease spots, allowing it to remain ten or twelve hours, after which it may be scoured off with sand and water. A floor much spotted with grease will require to be washed over with this mixture the day before it is scoured. Fuller's earth and oz ball bathed together form a very powerful cleansing mixture for dark colored carpets. Stains of ink are removed by strong vinegar, or salts of lemon will remove them.

Mangoes.

Select small green muskmelons or cantaloupes, cut a small square from the side of the melons and scrape out the seeds with a teaspoon. With a pint of salt to a gallon of water make a brine sufficient to cover the melons, heat it to boiling and pour over them. Let them stand two days, then drain off the brine and stuff the melons with a mixture of two quarts chopped cabbage, a cupful of white mustard seed, three tablespoonfuls of celery seed, two tablespoonfuls of salt, half a cupful of grated horse radish. Pour over them boiling vinegar with a little alum in it.

Squash for Winter Use.

Squash for winter use may be put up in glass self sealing cans. Cook it well, then strain, and add a little water, if it is too thick; fill the jars up full and put the covers on quite loosely. Set the jars into a boiler of cold water, bring to boiling and cook until the squash is thoroughly heated. Then take the jars out and fill up any that may need it with hot water and seal up tight at once. In preparing vegetables or fruits in glass jars in a boiler, some straw or two or three thicknesses of heavy toweling or a board with holes in it must be laid in the bottom of the boiler to prevent breaking the jars.

A Good Way to Put Up Tomatoes.

A first class way to put up tomatoes for use in purees, soups, etc., is to stew them and then strain so as to take out all the hard pieces of pulp. Then can or seal up in stone-ware jars, small or large, as what is under still, put into bottles, the same as ketchup, cork and dip the corked end in wax.

Storing Fruit.

Fruit that has been canned or preserved in the most perfect manner will spoil if improperly stored away. It should be kept in a dark and very cool place, though, of course, above freezing; also the storage place must be dry. Glass jars may be wrapped with paper to exclude the light.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

Color Blindness—Its Three Varieties Under Which People Suffer.

Color blindness is: 1. Inability to discern any color properly so called, as that black and white—namely, light and shade—are the only variations of tint perceived. 2. Inability to distinguish between the nicer shades of the more composite colors, such as browns, grays and neutral tints. 3. Inability to distinguish between the primary colors, red, blue and yellow, or between the three and the secondary and tertiary colors, such as green, purple, orange and brown. The first sort of color blindness would appear to be very rare, but well marked cases of the second. The second variety, where the nicer shades of the more composite colors are mistaken, would appear to be very common—the rule rather than the exception in the majority of persons, at least of the male sex, in this country; but it is a matter of doubt how far it may not be referable to imperfect cultivation of the sense of color. The third form is the most important variety of the affection. In some cases, although colors are occasionally quite correctly named, there is no certainty as to any color; in less severe cases, two colors, at least, as red and green, and possibly blue, as red, green, olive and brown, are not distinguished from each other. Yellow would appear to be that which gives least difficulty to those not absolutely unconscious of color; while for persons well illuminated, is readily recognized by the color blind, a few of whom, indeed, describe it as the color which they see best.

The Right of Sanctuary.

Sanctuary was a place of refuge and of safety for offenders of various kinds. All churches and churchyards, from prior to the time of Henry VIII invested with this protective power. The possible stay in sanctuary was generally of course strictly limited to forty days, at the expiration of which time he was bound to quit the (British) realm by the nearest port assigned him by the coroner to whom he had delivered himself in acknowledgment of his cause. During his journey to the seaport for the purpose of carrying out this self banishment, the claimant of sanctuary privileges was protected from violence from molestation as he journeyed on, cross in hand. By Henry VIII's time the custom of sanctuary was very much on the wane, having become the means of shielding criminals of all kinds from justice, and at his request Pope Innocent VIII made three important alterations in it. First, that if a man, while enjoying the privileges of sanctuary, should take advantage of the position to commit some further offense against the laws of his country, he should at once and ipso facto forfeit the privilege of sanctuary. Second, that the benefit of sanctuary should be strictly limited to a man's personal safety, and in no degree apply to the protection of his private property. Third, that where murder was the motive for seeking sanctuary the king might have the offender specially taken care of. After the twenty-first year of James I the custom still obtained, though it was continued to seek refuge in the places to which the privilege of sanctuary was attached. At that time, 1623, the law was passed abolishing sanctuary privileges altogether.

Fast Trains.

It is commonly supposed in this country that in England the fastest hourly rate which is common time for railroad trains. While this rate for speed may be often attained between stations, it is not the long run. The Great Northern trains make the distance of 207 miles from London to Edinburgh, via York, in 9 hours, the average speed being 44.1 miles an hour. The Great Western covers the distance is 401 miles, and London and Northwestern trains make the run in 10 hours, or 40.1 miles per hour. The fastest train on the Midland road runs from London to Leeds from London at an average speed of 48.4 miles an hour. The Great Northern trains from London to York make 188 miles at 48 miles an hour, and at least one train runs to Peterboro at 51 miles an hour. The run from London to Grantham has been made repeatedly at 52 miles an hour. The flying Dutchman, broad gauge, is the fastest train in the world, making the run to Swindon at 53½ miles an hour. On one occasion the Flushing-Venlo express ran in 19 minutes, or 75 miles an hour. In this country Jumbo, one of the Pennsylvania railroad locomotives, drew a train from Philadelphia to Jersey City, 90 miles, in 90 minutes.

Wall street, the center of finance for America, was originally so called because it was laid out along the line of the palisade, or fence, erected in 1644 and strengthened in 1653 until it was the city wall.

C. F. SAMPSON.

DEACON BURDETTE.

He Explains His Views of Life on Week Days.

HOW TO MAKE HETTY SPEAK.

Mrs. Whitegoods (wearily)—I must see a physician, dear; I have such bad spells every day. Old Whitegoods (impatiently)—Bah, so has the typewriter girl at the office and she's bright as a button all the time. Livelier she is the worse spells she has.

HE LAST INFORMATION.

"Are you the cow?" asked the hoarder from town, pausing before the pump. "No," replied the pump, spouting through his nose like a true American, "I am the milk made. Haw, haw, haw." And next morning the sweetchen gazed at his gruel in silence, nor once complained when he found a water spider in his cream.

"LOOK PLEASANT, YOU VILLAIN."

Some philanthropists always make us think of a story that is told of Frederick of Prussia. The king had a way of going around like a common mortal and holding brief conversations with his subjects which were pretty sure to terminate in some decidedly unpleasant remark by the monarch. One day he paused to speak to a Jew, but the wary Hebrew took to his heels. The king pursued, and after a brisk chase overtook the flying subject. "Why did you run away from me, rascal?" "Because," frankly admitted the Hebrew, "I was afraid." "Fool!" hit him a tremendous whack with his cane; "Villain!" he roared, "I don't want to be feared; I want to be loved."

RIGHT FROM THE VIAL.

A scientific journal has an article headed, "How to Taste." We haven't had time to read it, but our own idea is that it depends a great deal on what you are going to taste. If it is quinine or castor oil or anything of that sort it won't require any previous training or a university education to enable you to taste all you want of it in one lump, and clearly swallow. The poor immigrant, who is still sitting on a green trunk in Castle Garden and hasn't been in this country long enough even to make the oration at the constitutional centennial or get on the police, can taste it with one hand tied behind him, just as easily as John L. Sullivan or President Elliott or any other man of eclat. But if it is something real good; something that you like better and get less of than any other man in America, you want a neck a yard long, full of all sorts of back stops and dampers all the way down. That is the theory of an unlettered man who tastes by rain strength and natural selection, and if fair judgment thinks she has a letter way we'd like to trot her one best, any how, just for fun.

A COLD DAY IN SEPTEMBER.

Family man, in great haste, rushes into drug store—Big pawd'ne-hemist's. "Can you put this up for me right away? In an awful hurry." Drug store man reads prescription and turns pale. "I'm afraid I can't do it today, sir; I—I think we are out of some of the ingredients." Man of family takes back paper and reads:

"Half a dozen safety pins;
Three nutmegs;
A pound of West Chester butter;
One quart cider vinegar;
Two yards white flannel;
A paper of needles;
A box of Rough on Rats."

This was the shopping list his wife had given him. Then the prescription for himself that he had got from the doctor must have been the paper he threw out of the window. Then drew Jane W. Nelson, avenger at last. Next day glossy eyes smiled upon the man who needs the most watching.

A WANING PLAGUE.

"Abigail" wants to know what is the best way to rid a room of flies. Go into the next room and try to read, Abigail; they'll follow you, every last buzzing, crawling, tickling beggar of 'em.

THIS ONE YOU SHOULD WRITE FIRST.

"Let me tell you," said the contributor, "about my first poem." "I haven't time," said the editor, gently, but with a tinge of weariness, "but I'll sit here all night if you'll tell me about your last one."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Chaffed the Wrong Man.

A citizen who had just laid down $800 for a span of carriage horses was driving up Woodward avenue the other day when he met a farmer coming in with a load of apples. Desiring to chaff the stranger a bit he drew up and inquired:

"Say, how'll you take them?"

The farmer halted, got down from his wagon, looked the team over and slowly replied:

"Walk, by gosh!"

"What's the matter?"

"If you hadn't stopped me I wouldn't have known the team."

"Did you ever see those horses before?"

"Did I? Why I raised 'em! Sold 'em both runs when they were three weeks ago. That ugly one bit the leaders, and the other is a critter and has two spavins. I'll trade with you for $75, and that's giving you a heap more than you'd get for your horses than I got."

The owner of the "spavins" hasn't used a powerful hour since that "sleeting."—Detroit Free Press.

Unfounded Fears.

Friend (to young author)—How is your new book going, Charley?

Young Author (dubiously)—It's going pretty fast. I've already given away five hundred copies.

Friend—Five hundred copies! Why I congratulate you, old boy. I was afraid you wouldn't be able to give away more than half that number.—New York Sun.

An Unbuttoned Cherry.

A young man who was visiting his mother, who was sitting afflicted. She had given him several pitted sweets to eat, but finally passed him one without removing the stone. He at once handed it back to her with the remark: "Here's one you didn't unbutton, mamma."—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

Better Than the Dictionary.

"What's an amateur, Heinie?" asked Bobbie of his elder sister.

"I think it's a person who isn't very mature," was the wise reply.—The Epoch.

Recovering.

Boy—Don't be scared, sis; it only bit jolly. If he was her smaller yer little dog he'd only be funnier.—Life.

An Improvement.

Cigar Dealer—I have something new in cigarettes I want to show you, Mr. Dunley. Dunley—What is it, tobacco?—New York Sun.

—The Plainfield Cornet Band will this evening at eight o'clock give a free open air concert in front of the City Hotel. An excellent program has been prepared.

—The smell of camphor now noticeable does not mean that the person to whom the odor is attached is afraid of cholera, but that he has put on his winter clothes.

—The front brick wall of L. M. French's carriage Manufactory on Somerset street is being repaired and partially rebuilt. It had a large crack in it and was quite dangerous.

—The employees of Schepflin, Baldwin, Twomey & Co.'s clothing manufactory resumed work this morning after a six weeks' idleness caused by the firm's taking an inventory of the stock.

—We suggest a visit to Werner's Clothing House, No. 30 West Front street to see his Electric Wonder, for imparting instruction by electro-magnetism. It is a most interesting thing.

—Look out for the fellow who is travelling the rounds with letters of recommendation written by himself. He was last heard of victimizing people of Trenton, and is making tracks this way.

—The officers of the Plainfield Cornet Band, who are to give the concert at the City Hotel to-night, are: L. LeVere, conductor; N. H. Guttman, president; H. J. Martin, treasurer; F. Mauchester, secretary.

—At about half past eleven o'clock Saturday night two young men, who were disgracefully drunk disturbed the peace and quietness of Madison avenue by their demoniac yells and obscene language.

—Messrs. Field and Randolph, proprietors of the City Pharmacy, will soon put the best of goods and give none but courteous treatment to all customers. They tell an interesting story in their newsdy, in another column.

—The Presbytery of Elizabeth meets tomorrow at 11 o'clock a. m. in the First Presbyterian church at Rahway, and will continue in session for two days. Rev. Dr. Ketcham, Rev. W. E. Richards and Rev. W. E. Honeyman with two elders go from this city.

—The grand fair of St. Mary's Church elsewhere advertised, is the first of the season, and the ladies in charge mean to make it the best and invite all interested to call and see. To-night the contest for a fad will be decided.

—Conundrum parties will, it is stated, be "all the go" this Winter. A number of friends gather in a circle and guess the conundrums presented by each other. The successful ones get each a box of box bons. The more original and puzzling the conundrums, the merrier the night.

—The ninth annual meeting of the Plainfield Relief Association will be held Tuesday morning, Oct. 4th, at 10 o'clock, in the Lecture Room of the First Baptist Church. Reports of the year's work will be presented and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. All are cordially invited.

—Last Friday was the moon's birthday—Moon Cake Day the Chinamen call it. It is one of their great festival days. If it had not rained they would have flocked out of doors to gaze at the moon, but as clouds concealed it they feasted in doors on moon cakes, roast chicken and roast pig. "Not real dun," which is Chinese for champagne, was served at the feasts. Moon cakes look like ordinary pork pies, but they are filled with candied fruit seeds.

—The October term of the Union County Court will begin to-morrow. The first day will be of unusual interest. The grand jurors will be charged by Judge VanSyckel, and objections to the report of the Commissioners of Adjustment, affecting the lands delinquent for taxes and assessments in the Third and Fourth Wards of Elizabeth will be heard. The grand jurors will have the Rahway nuisance case and that of the Plainfield "firebugs" brought before them for investigation. There will still be a number of hanging civil suits on the calendar, and in the criminal list several important cases. The indications are that it will be a long term.

A FULL COUNTY TICKET.

Union's Prohibitionists Place Nominees in the Field.

The Union County Prohibitionists met at Elizabeth Saturday afternoon and nominated a full county ticket for State Senator, Sheriff, County Clerk and Surrogate.

The cold-water men assembled in force and were very enthusiastic over their party's brightening prospects in the forthcoming election. Many who were formerly prominent in the councils of the Democratic and Republican parties of Union county were to be seen in the gathering. They were from all parts of the county.

The convention met at three o'clock in the Red Ribbon Club rooms, Broad street. The meeting was called to order by Noel R. Parr, chairman of the County Committee, and a roll call showed forty delegates present. Every ward in Elizabeth, Plainfield and Rahway were represented, as also was every township in the county with the solitary exception of Clark township.

A. B. Bigelow of Plainfield was elected temporary chairman and committees of four each were appointed on resolutions and permanent organization. A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken to give the committees a chance to prepare their report and also to give delegates from the various Assembly districts an opportunity to confer and select candidates for Legislature.

Upon the convention re-assembling the Committee on Permanent Organization reported Rev. J. B. Cleaver of Plainfield for permanent chairman and George C. Ely for secretary. The report was unanimously adopted.

Chairman Cleaver on assuming his place thanked the convention for the honor conferred, and delivered an earnest speech on temperance which evoked great enthusiasm. The Committee on Resolutions reported the platform, which was simply a reiteration of the declarations made by the Prohibition State conference last month at Trenton.

Nominations were then called for, and the following ticket was unanimously adopted:

State Senator—William D. Wood of Cranford.

County Clerk—D. K. Ryno of Rahway.

Sheriff—Neil McLeod of Elizabeth.

Surrogate—James M. Woodruff of Summit.

Others were given when the ticket as completed was announced.

Legislative nominations were as follows.

Members of Assembly: First District—No nomination; Second District—Charles W. Maxfield, of Elizabeth; Third District—F. B. Kelly, of Westfield.

It was stated that a nomination would be made before election in the First District.

Cortlandt Parker of Newark then took the floor and delivered a speech. He praised the nominees of the convention, dilated at length on the principles of the Prohibition party and alluded to the recent election in Tennessee as proof that the doctrines they believed in were taking root among the American people. He believed the Prohibitionists held the balance of power in Union county and could make it warm for the two old parties. He denounced the rum element and the influence exercised by it in politics. He declared that a temperance wave would yet sweep over the country, and in conclusion predicted a largely increased vote for the ticket.

Rev. Mr. Cleaver delivered another speech, pouring hot-shot into the liquor interests and its political supporters in office.

Mr. Cleaver and Mr. Parker strongly urged in their speeches the plentiful distribution of Prohibition literature as campaign documents. Both speakers were warmly cheered at the close of their remarks, and after taking up a collection to defray campaign expenses the convention broke up in a whirl of enthusiasm.

This is said to be the first time an entire county ticket has been placed in the field by the temperance men of any county in Union county and they intend to make an aggressive and glorious canvass.

Turtles as Women's Pets.

A local votary of Fashion says that pet tortoises will be "the rage" this Winter, and that they will be the ladies' favorites. Just how the animal will be petted is not stated and is not in the least clear. It would be rather ludicrous to see a woman going along the street leading a turtle by the string, and walking would be very slow, for the pedestrian would have to regulate the gait according to that of the quadruped—unless, indeed, the latter were put on wheels and dragged along like a child's toy. It is hardly to be presumed that the woman would carry the turtle in her arms, and yet Fashion would create the feminine sex capable of fondling even a mouse.

But then, come to think of it, the creature will probably be an indoor pet, for turtles always seek snug Winter quarters. Else unfitable street clothing will have to be furnished the reptile. It is to be hoped, however, that the petting fad of turtles will not become so firmly attached to the ugliness of the crooked-footed darling that she will have no love to give to other things—and to persons.

To tell the truth, few of the sterner sex believe the Fashion reporter's yarn. It is said that next Summer every lady in the gilt-edge season he might be credited, for in the warmer months the turtle might be used to keep the feet cool at night. But in Winter—laugh!

In the City Court.

City Judge Ulrich was not long in settling the cases that were brought before him this morning.

John McFadden for being drunk was given the choice of paying a fine of $5 or going to jail for 10 days.

James Archibald, also drunk, shared McFadden's fate.

Wm. Kinney, obstreperously intoxicated, was sentenced to pay $5 or take 20 days. He paid his fine.

Wm. Kenney and his wife, both drunk and disorderly, will spend the next 60 days together in the County Jail.

Sarah Warne, charged with disorderly conduct, was reprimanded and sentenced was suspended.

Before Club Meeting.

The audience room of Reform Hall was filled last evening by an attentive and interested audience. After devotional exercises, which were conducted by Rev. W. E. Honeyman, Mr. Wm. H. Sampson made an address. He said that a young man recently excused his toppling by saying that Paul recommended taking a little wine. Paul, however, simply gave this as a medical prescription and it was no justification for drinking wine. He then quoted other Scripture to show that the Bible was against intemperance. He said we should give up wine and cider, too, for he could testify from experience that both would intoxicate.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of Rev. Mr. Lewis, his place was filled by the Rev. W. E. Honeyman, who in an earnest speech said that some men here spent $600 a year in drinking, which was one-third of the value of a house and lot. In other words, they swallowed a house and lot every three years and were not bettered by it. Did that pay? Did it pay, either, to ruin one's health? A Mr. Bagge at Pine Hill had both feet crushed by the cars, and the physicians told him they could not save them, provided he was a drinking abstainer, but the physicians had told Mr. Honeyman that beer-drinkers were exceedingly hard to cure, and that a scratch would become a running sore, and death often results from causes that seemed trivial. Did it pay for parents to set on their tables and allow their children to drink it? A young man cursed his mother because she had taught him to become a drunkard. There were now in our inebriate asylum for women, 204 women, most of whom began on wine and beer, and began young. Did it pay to endanger one's soul by indulging in strong drink—since no drunkard could inherit the kingdom of Heaven.

In Pine Hill, N. Y., where Mr. Honeyman spent part of the summer, they banished the saloon this spring, and as a result the town was more prosperous than ever before. So with Atlanta, as statistics proved; and so with Iowa and Kansas, as the governors stated over their own signatures. In Kansas the governor said that the population had nearly doubled and real estate nearly doubled, since prohibition came. There were 4,000 more miles of railroad, 8,300 more school houses, 1,000 more churches; and newspapers had increased from 347 to 500; while taxes had decreased. After an allusion to Plainfield's "firebugs," who were said to be in the employ of saloons, and to the anarchists, who plotted their terrible deeds at saloons, Mr. Honeyman closed with an appeal to save the drunkard by every possible means.

Ex-Councilman John Cuthbert followed Mr. Honeyman with a few remarks, telling of his trip West, and of his past experience, which clearly showed the great folly of the drink habit.

After an appeal by President French the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Honeyman.

A Bullet Through the Glass.

John McFadden, one of the parties fined by City Judge Ulrich this morning for being drunk and disorderly Saturday night, was again arrested this morning by Special Policeman Flannigan, on a warrant issued by Justice Nash, charging him with maliciously firing a bullet through a pane of glass in "Battle Row," a tenement house on West Fourth street, six months ago. McFadden claimed then that he had paid the husband of one of the tenants nearly $100 for a night's lodging; but when he went to the house he was refused admittance. It is said he then went away saying that he would return and put a bullet through those refusing him admittance. It is further claimed that he returned afterward and came back and fired the shot through the window. The Justice paroled McFadden in the custody of his counsel City Judge Ulrich, until this afternoon at two o'clock, when the preliminary examination was held.

Chief of Police Dodd made this morning the occasion for a severe rebuke upon Mr. Flannigan's conduct. He says that it now appears that the special officer had the warrant for McFadden issued a few days after the shooting occurred and through the Chief and his subordinates were trying hard to find out who was the guilty one, even going so far as to arrest three others on suspicion, Flannigan gave no hint that he knew the right one and made no attempt to serve the warrant.

Mr. Flannigan says that the matter was a State affair and that the warrant was given to the constable. He states furthermore that Chief Dodd knew that he had the warrant and that the Chief never asked him for any information on the subject. Besides this he claims that the accused remained at Dunellen and he had no chance to serve the warrant until to-day, after his release on another charge.

At the hearing the complainant, Anne Maguire, said that through the broken pane she saw the bullet strike the mantel. Others testified very like the man who tried for what she wouldn't swear that he was the one. McFadden was consequently discharged.

A Lamp Explosion.

At about half-past eleven o'clock Saturday night the large barn in the rear of Bliss's Farmers' Hotel on Somerset street, had a narrow escape from fire. First Assistant Chief Engineer T. J. Lyons had just returned from a trip to the country and after stabling his horse went to the hay loft to get some hay. When descending the steps of the loft the kerosene lantern which he carried fell and exploded. He ran to his wagon and procured an old blanket and blanket and picked up the burning lamp and threw it out of the yard. He then extinguished the fire in the barn and thus by his presence of mind prevented a more serious conflagration.

—The Relief Association invites its many friends, especially the ladies who have aided in the work as "visitors," "collectors" or "solicitors," to meet at the rooms of the association at the ninth annual meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, October 4th, in the lecture room of the First Baptist Church.

—The civil suit of George Cadmus vs. Hugh Gilligan to-day before Justice Nash resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. Judgment, $57.76.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Elston M. Dunn of Milton, Wis., occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist church last night.

Mrs. Taylor, a temperance lady of Ohio, made a brief address at the First Baptist Sunday school yesterday afternoon.

Last Thursday the Rev. Wm. Day, of Elizabeth, married Albert T. Reeve of that city to Miss Mary J., daughter of John R. Clark of Plainfield.

Edward Campbell, an employee of the government printing office at Washington, D. C., will return to that city to-morrow, after spending a month and a half with his family in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fairchild and family of Summit avenue, returned home this morning from their trip across the United States. Their last stopping place before leaving for home was the Mammoth Cave.

Clara, the ten-months-old daughter of David and Ruthetta Drake of North Plainfield, died Saturday afternoon from membranous croup. The funeral took place this afternoon. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

Yesterday morning on the 1:25 train, Jacob Blimm of Somerset street returned to his home in this city after a month's absence with the Volunteer Firemen's Association of New York on their western trip to California. Upon his arrival a reception was tendered him by his friends. Mr. Blimm speaks very highly of the trip, which he says he enjoyed hugely.

Rev. George Stephens of North Branch, who was recently called to the pastorate of the Flanders Reformed church, was married in the Amandale Reformed church last Wednesday, the bride being Miss Mary Coryell, of that place. Miss Mamie McNabb of Bound Brook, a very intimate friend of the bride, was the bridesmaid of the occasion. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father. Among those present from Bound Brook were Mr. and Mrs. McNabb, Mrs. C. H. Perry, and Mr. David Perry and Miss Eva Johnston. The bride is a sister of Mrs. J. P. Lake, now of Plainfield, formerly a resident of Bound Brook.

The Injunction Sustained.

This morning in the case of Westervelt et al. vs. Isaac M. Higgins et al., Higgins' Clerk & Reid made a motion on behalf of the defendants to strike out that part of the bill which prayed for a permanent injunction restraining the defendant, Higgins from erecting a house in his lot on Westervelt avenue, Plainfield, and for damages, $3,000. On the ground of want of equity in the bill and that complainant had a complete remedy at law. Chancellor McGill denied the motion with costs. Lawyer John H. Jackson represented the complainant.

Secrets of the G. A. R.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—A St. Louis paper printed yesterday a verbatim report of all the debates that occurred at the secret sessions of the Grand Army Encampment. As some of the speeches were bitter in tone, and as the entire discussion was decidedly warm, it is likely the report will create something of a sensation, not only among the Grand Army people, who regarded the proceedings as absolutely safe from public knowledge, but also among all in the country who are interested in the pension question. The report makes more than eleven columns.

Killed on the Rail.

Peter Dunham, colored, brother to the Jacob Dunham who was formerly a mail carrier in Plainfield, was killed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad by the cars near New Brooklyn last night. He was in the employ of Mr. Ross, the ice dealer.

—George E. Vincent will give the Senior Society of the Boys' Branch of the Y. M. C. A. an account of his recent rambles in Europe, Asia, and Africa in the Association Hall to-morrow evening at eight o'clock. The society invites the young men of the city to be present.

—While going along Park avenue this morning Dog-Catcher James Babbitt caught an unmuzzled fine Irish setter that was trotting along by the side of the owner. The gentleman whose animal it was protested and spoke of going to a lawyer but policeman Grandin and Agnoh both told him that Babbitt was in the right. The dog was impounded and subsequently released on the payment of one dollar. In all Mr. Babbitt caught six dogs today.

WESTFIELD.

Wilbur Pierson has returned from his six months' sojourn at Lake Hopatcong.

Now that the old Presbyterian parsonage has been disposed of, Rev. Mr. Caldwell has moved into Addison S. Clark's house.

The Township has lost one of its good citizens this week. William Hart, after a residence of 40 years in Westfield, has decided to try business in Brooklyn, once more.

Charles F. Conant of Prospect street fell from a step ladder at his place of business in New York, a few days ago, and broke his left arm and several ribs.

Troubled by Cattle.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—I am very much annoyed by a number of cows, which seem to be turned loose in the streets daily, coming on my premises.

If you know of any one who has a remedy I have to correct this nuisance?

PROPERTY OWNER.

[Notify the proper number, Frank VanAlen, whose duty it is to take all such stray cattle to the pound.—ED.]

STATE NOTES.

Newark and Elizabeth are to be connected by a horse railroad.

Trenton has over a $5,000 clay deposit in the public highway, near Stuyvesant, the loam stripped by the mud by the owners.

The Board of Health of Rockaway has ordered the closing of the public schools in the town of that place for the present, owing to the prevalence of what is claimed to be typhoid fever in the public schools.

Another Guiteau "Called by God" to Crucify His Family.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Passengers by the Australian steamer which arrived Saturday bring details of a most revolting tragedy that occurred in New South Wales on August 28. The crime recalls the Borgiast murder in Massachusetts several years ago. Wadham Wyndham, a man of excellent standing, becoming suddenly attacked with religious frenzy, murdered his wife and three children, all of whom he loved most dearly. In explanation he said that he felt called upon by God to commit the deed. The Resurrection was near and their time had come. As Wyndham's wife offered resistance, he took her out of doors and with a stone broke in her skull. He then took a carving knife and fork and thrust them into her side. He also pierced her hands and feet, explaining afterward that he intended to crucify her as Christ was crucified. His favorite daughter had four cuts on her forehead, and the right side of her skull was beaten into pulp. She had two pierced marks on her breast, two on each foot and two on each hand. The marks appeared to have been made with a fork. The left side of the skull of his son was battered, his left side was pierced in two places, as also were his hands and feet. The other son seems to have been killed direct by a cruel fork thrust entirely through the left side of his body. The hands and feet of all were pierced, as it was Wyndham's intention to nail the bodies to the cross, they refusing to be thus nailed while alive.

The Junior O. U. A. M.

A new branch of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will be officially installed in this city next Thursday evening. In other places the order has met with flattering success, composed as its officers generally are of men who have the same aim to make such unions strong and powerful. The objects of the order are as follows:

First—To maintain and promote the interests of Americans and to shield them from the depressing effects of foreign competition.

Secondly—To assist Americans in obtaining employment.

Thirdly—To encourage Americans in business.

Fourthly—To establish a sick and funeral fund.

Fifthly—To maintain the Public School System of the United States of America, to prevent sectarian interference therewith, and to uphold the reading of the Holy Bible therein.

Preliminary meetings have been held by those in Plainfield who are interested, and at the last one the State Organizer of Councils, J. R. Robinson of Rahway, presided, and Mr. A. P. Miller was elected secretary pro tem. Applications for charters have been sent in, Junior O. U. A. M.'s are chosen and officers were elected for the charter as follows:

Past Councilor, Howard R. Wilbur; Councilor, Howard A. Perry; Vice-Councilor, A. P. Miller; Financial Secretary, James A. Anderson; Recording Secretary, Howard A. Kelsey; Assistant Recording Secretary, D. Bolles; Warden, Wm. H. Sutton; Conductor, Howard H. Wilbur; Inside Sentinel, James R. Totten; Outside Sentinel, Edward S. Weaver; Trustees one year, Wm. H. MONDAY OCTOBER 3, 1887.

A SUNDAY RIOT,

Caused by the Suppression of an Anarchist Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—For weeks past the Anarchists have been preparing for a monster demonstration to express sympathy for the seven condemned Anarchists at Chicago, and to raise money for their aid. No place suitable for their purpose could be obtained in this city, and finally the great skating rink at Union Hill, N. J., was hired and hundreds of thousands of circulars were distributed, stating that the meeting would be held yesterday afternoon.

The circular was so violent in tone that a meeting of officials was held to act in the matter, and it was finally decided that the proposed meeting was treasonable in its intents and purposes, and that it should not be held. Such a decision reached Chief of Police Schwartz was instructed to notify Sergt. Stanford to have his entire force of policemen at the rink at 1 o'clock and take possession of it. Their orders were to allow no one to enter the rink and to use such force as might be necessary to prevent them from doing so. At that time the police forces of the adjacent towns were asked to send all the men they could spare, and Sheriff Helmig was also called upon to furnish special officers.

When the Anarchists came to the meeting place they found fully 150 officers in command. An attempt was made to enter the hall, and a number of men of foremost were knocked down. While the fight was hot Town Clerk Ferdinand Ahlers mounted a box, and in loud tones proceeded to read the riot act, as he had been directed to do in such an emergency by the sheriff. This had a quieting effect on the mob for a moment, but hardly had he finished when some one yelled;

"We don't care for your riot act or your constitution. Down with the blue coated ruffians." The mob charged upon the police. They were met by the clubs and were driven back. No pistols were fired, but it was said that several persons were severely injured by knife throwing and stone cuts.

While the Anarchists were arguing with one section of the police another section was fighting with the mob. The result was many broken heads and very many frightened Anarchists. The police arrested Henry Talsey, John Hedrick, Richard Bonhamm and H. R. Krukes. Talsey and Bothmann were committed in default of bail to await the action of the grand jury. The others were fined $10 each. Bothmann is badly injured. He resisted the police most vigorously. They were obliged to club him into submission. His wounds, which were mainly about the head, were sewed up by Dr. Lusk. Several others were hurt.

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

Arising Out of the Famous Sharon Divorce Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Of all the sensational developments in the ultra-sensational case of Sharon vs. Sharon for divorce and alimony, that made public Saturday is the most startling. The case is now before the state supreme court on appeal by the defendant, through his son and executor, from the decision of the lower court granting the divorce and alimony, and is to be submitted on briefs. In toto filed Sept. 29 by D. S. Terry, counsel for the plaintiff, who is now Mrs. D. S. Terry, it is alleged that the late ex-Senator William Sharon, who was original defendant, sent a signed check, with the amount left blank, to one of his attorneys, while the case was pending, to Judge Sullivan, before whom the case was tried, Sharon to request him to give to R. L. Barnes, ex-Judge O. P. Evans, H. J. Kewsley and ex-Senator William Stewart. The wording in the charge points to Evans as the man accused of having acted as bribe carrier.

The situation attracts a large share of public and private attention, and has created considerable excitement, as it may lead to fatal encounter. Judge Evans called on Judge Sullivan and demanded to know if he was the authority for Terry's allegation, but Judge Sullivan refused to make any statement at present, but said he would do so at the proper time. Later he wrote a letter to Evans stating that the charge against him is false.

The denial of Judge Sullivan that such offer was made, and Judge Evans' denial that he ever made such an offer, places Terry in the position of a wanton slanderer. Terry bears the reputation of being a truthful man, and he is well known to be a desperate man to cross, as was proven in years gone by in his duel with Broderick, in which the latter was killed. Further developments are anxiously awaited.

Woman's Right to Vote.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The October number of The Law Student, published by Charles B. Waite, formerly a supreme court judge, contains an elaborate article by the author of several works on suffrage by Mr. Hamilton Willcox, which article summarizes the political status of women, and cites numerous precedents and other legal matter showing that the English common law entitled women to a share in the government and to vote on like terms with men. The conclusion is that around the world, wherever British common law is in force, women are lawfully entitled to vote. New York is taken as an example, and it is held that under New York law women can legally vote. Judge Waite, who has given the subject close examined the article with especial care before putting it in type, speaks of it as very important and valuable, and fully indorses its conclusions.

Death in a Coal Mine.

ASHLAND, Pa., Oct. 3.—Three men and two boys were suffocated and nineteen others overcome with gas Saturday afternoon in the Kehley colliery. Two killed were Frederick Ostrich, aged 40; John Cochran, aged 38; John McDonald, aged 20; John Gulliam, aged 17, and Frank Tully, aged 14. It is feared that some of the nineteen others who were overcome by the gas will die. A pillar in one of the gangways gave way, bringing in with it a large amount of gas, which suffocated the workmen. Several escaped impossible to those in the gangway. Other men in the neighborhood heard the rush of air and escaped. The colliery belongs to the Philadelphia and Reading company. The damage to the colliery cannot be estimated yet. All the injured are doing well.

Her Son Suspected.

HELIP, L. I., Oct. 3.—The dead body of Mrs. Florence Hawkins, an old resident of this town, was found yesterday in the woods a short distance north of the railroad station. She had been beaten to death by unknown hands and her head and body were covered with cuts and bruises. Evidences of a death struggle were about the place.

THE MINERS OF ENGLAND

BETTER OFF THAN THEIR FELLOWS IN THIS COUNTRY.

How Mr. Morley's Saturday Night Speech is Received—Mgr. Persico's Mission Nearly Ended—Germany and France for Peace—A Sunday League Meeting.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The agitation among the miners has spread to Derbyshire. The strikers in that district have held a conference, at which they decided to petition for the eight hour day and other improvements in their labor. Should the masters refuse to make rapid progress among the miners. Heretofore they have been a surprisingly conservative class; probably because, though poorly paid, their work is tolerably constant. Whatever may be true of other classes of laborers, there is no doubt that the English miner is better off than his American fellow. The account of their condition in the Pennsylvania, reprinted here from American papers, have created surprise and have furnished campaign material with new arguments of more or less plausibility.

Even the Tories are obliged to admit that Mr. John Morley's speech at Templecombe, Saturday evening, was a brilliant effort. The Tories are, in fact, just as well pleased as the Liberals over the manner in which Mr. Morley handled Mr. Chamberlain. The Birmingham politician is wedded to his radicalism among statesmen at present. He is paying the natural penalty of being all things by turns, and nothing long. Every Tory rejoices against him. The passage in Mr. Morley's speech which received most approval, was that in which he declared that a policy of bluff, bullyism, bumbast, blundering force must fail, as it would not be permitted by the justice-loving people of England. There were 20,000 people present at the meeting, and they display great enthusiasm.

Mgr. Persico, the papal envoy who has been studying the politico-religious situation in Ireland, will pay another day's visit to Dublin and then proceed to Rome to make his report.

The peculiar situation along the Franco-German frontier can hardly fail to give occasion for more episodes of an irritating character, like the Kaufman and Schnaebele incidents, but the sensible attitude of the two governments in these cases makes it almost certain that no such flimsy pretext will be allowed to give rise to hostilities. The general feeling in diplomatic circles has been greatly improved by the cessation of the recent frontier shooting affair. The probability of war during the regime of the present ministers is thought to be reduced to the minimum.

A mass meeting of 10,000 persons was held yesterday on Tower Hill. The police seized the placards and emblems of the assemblage, and demanded the names of the promoters of the meeting. Speeches were made from six platforms, condemning the action of the police, and commending the governor's course generally. The whole affair was carried on in an orderly manner.

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—Mayor Timothy Sullivan will proceed in state to the police court on Thursday, on the occasion of his trial for publishing reports of the suppressed branches of the League in his paper. He will be followed by the corporation counsel and judges in their robes.

They Remember Columbus.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 3.—The Italian residents of this city are arranging to celebrate on Oct. 12 the anniversary of the landing of Christopher Columbus at the island in the Bahamas which he named San Salvador. The principal feature will be a banquet to 100 families all told, but they are preparing for an enthusiastic celebration, including a parade, with music, addresses, etc. The civic and military organizations of the city have been invited to participate, and some of them, if not all, will probably accept the invitation.

Tyng as rector of the church of the Holy Trinity, conducted the services at that church yesterday. At a late large congregation was assembled to welcome him. Referring to the fact that the present introduction of a surpliced choir had caused some fear that the low church policy was to be changed, Mr. Warren said that he had no intention to encourage any tendency toward ritualism.

A NEW JERSEY TRAGEDY.

Killed by a Dispute Over the Gathering of Chestnuts.

NEWTON, N. J., Oct. 3.—Dennis Morris, of Frankfort township, Sussex county, N. J., aged 55, was murdered on an old lime furnace on his farm about an eighth of a mile from his house, in a lonely field, about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. He was one of the wealthiest farmers of the county and his children are recognized as leading men in the county. For twenty years he had resided with his wife in a beautiful little cottage at the base of a chestnut ridge, about two miles above Branchville, where many city people pass the summer season. An adjoining farm is owned by Henry L. Westbrook, who lives with his wife in another pretty little cottage, which nestles among the hills and is handsomely set off with flower beds. Here Westbrook, who is about 35 years old, has reared for the past fifteen years, enjoying the comforts of life with his family, let at all times quarreling with his neighbors.

Yesterday morning Morris went out into his fields and discovered Westbrook threshing chestnuts from a tree overhanging a fence on the line between the two farms. The old man ordered him to drive his wagon off, and a war of words followed. Finally Morris struck Westbrook, it is said, across the shoulders with a limb from the chestnut tree. The limb, which was about fifteen feet long, was broken in the struggle that followed into three pieces. Westbrook, who is the only living witness to the affair, says Morris, after the breaking of the limb, fell back on the stone fence and fractured his skull. Westbrook then ran to Morris' house and notified the family, who repaired to the scene and found the old man unconscious. He died where he lay soon afterward. He presented a horrible appearance. His head was fractured on the back part of the head, and he had two deep wounds on each side. We attbrook is under arrest.

DETROIT CONDUCTORS,

Discharged for Dishonesty, Cause an Incipient Street Riot.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 3.—For a considerable length of time the officers of the Detroit City Railway company have had suspicions that the receipts from their Congress and Parker street line were not as large as they should be. An investigation led to the belief that the company was being defrauded by a combination of conductors and drivers. Yesterday the company began paying off and discharging men supposed to be in the combination. Twenty-six were disposed of in this way, much to their surprise. Some of the men got intoxicated, and shortly after dark attacked and severely beat one or two of those who had taken their places. One team of horses ran down the street, causing terror among the people. The rioters dispersed just before the police arrived. Superintendent Barry, of the lines named, has also been discharged, the company thinking he should have discovered the leakage himself.

Dr. Newman on Anarchy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—An unusual scene occurred at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church last night when the Rev. John F. Newman, in a sermon on infidelity, referred in severe terms to the Anarchists. Publishing reports of the "American Press," he said, "Not many years ago have imagined the circulation of a petition to pardon those whose hands are red with the blood of the murdered of the public peace and order. What is back of the Anarchists—the daredevil movement on the part of those villains who ought to have been hanged long ago? Why the public temper of the audience rose to their feet, clapped their hands, and, with loud demonstrations, announced their approval of the minister's words.

Boom in the Sugar Industry.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Commissioner Colman returned Saturday from New York. He says the reports continue favorable in regard to the sugar crop. The sugarcane sugar industry, both at Fort Scott and Rio Grande, the sugar improving in quality and quantity as the work continues, and that there seems to be no question but that success will be fully achieved by the new process. He says letters are pouring in from all parts of the country asking for information in regard to cost of machinery, etc., and there is every prospect of a great sorghum boom another year which will revolutionize the sugar industry, and in a few years relinquish our nation from foreign nations for sugar supply.

Panic in a Cincinnati Theatre.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 3.—A panic occurred in Harris' theatre Saturday night at the performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" which came near being a serious affair. The house was crowded, and just as Little Eva was dying in the last act a steam roller at work about twenty rods away, started up, producing a startlingly loud noise. Some one in the gallery shouted "Fire," and at once the crowd started down stairs. Two policemen and several ushers have left here with shotguns for the scene of the trouble. No definite information has been learned as to the origin of the trouble.

An Unfortunate Valet.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—At Berlin the following is given as the authority for the rumor that there was to have been a meeting between the emperors of Germany and Russia. When the car was about to depart for Copenhagen a young valet was instructed to pack the imperial trunks. Among the effects of the car he discovered a uniform of a Prussian officer. Being much astonished at this he spoke of it freely. This is said to have given rise to the report of an intended interview. The unfortunate valet has since been sent to Siberia for five years for his indiscretion.

Very Exciting in New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The police of Union Hill, N. J., prohibited a mass meeting which was to be held there yesterday afternoon, because complaints had been made to the town council that incendiary speeches would be made. The meeting was to protest against the hanging of the Chicago Anarchists. When the people arrived they were driven away by the police, and several persons were knocked down with clubs. Col. Hinton and two others who had intended to speak were advised to leave the town at once, and did so.

Shot by Sportsmen.

ELIZABETH, Oct. 3.—Patrick Dunne and Dennis Norton, two boys aged 14 and 16, were shot and mortally wounded yesterday at Elizabethport by unknown sportsmen gunning in the neighborhood. The boys were playing together and say that two men deliberately fired at them. Dunne was shot through the right lung and Norton in the wrist, forehead, shoulder, and abdomen with small bird shot. Dunne is reported dying.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

ASSEMBLED IN CONVENTION AT MINNEAPOLIS.

Mr. Hayes, Secretary of the General Executive Board, Claims There Is No Falling Off in Good Membership—The Brewers Will Be Sat Upon.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 3.—It was a dismal Sunday in Minneapolis. A drizzling rain and a raw wind conspired to make it unpleasant for the delegates to the Knights of Labor general assembly delegates who had arrived preparatory to the opening of the annual session to-day. Most of the Knights had indoors all day. At the West hotel a large number of the leaders gathered in the room occupied by John W. Hayes, secretary of the general executive board. The symposium that followed was a highly interesting one. Mr. Hayes, who never has a word to say to newspaper correspondents, talked very freely to "the boys," and some important information fell from his lips.

"This talk about a great falling off in our membership has a certain foundation, as you all know," said he in the course of the rambling talk. "At the time of the Richmond assembly, a year ago, we had about 700,000 members in the organization. Of these there were over 94,000 in good standing, not including those in good standing, not having paid their dues, and who were not properly entitled to representation in the assembly. General Secretary Litchman's report to this assembly will show 500,000 members. That looks like a falling off of 140,000, and, in a sense, that is what it is. But every one of those 140,000 members is in good standing. During the year Litchman has suspended over 2,000 assemblies. A large number of these have come back and a larger number of the 140,000 have had suspensions were for nonpayment of dues. We have cut off mostly rotten branches, boys, and we're none the worse for it."

The talk then naturally drifted to Litchman, who has made more enemies in the order in the past year than any other officer ever held since the organization was founded.

"Litchman is all right," said Mr. Hayes. "He is precisely the man for the place. He is the most businesslike man we have. He has the best of luck when you enter a bet. I'll wager that if you go into his office and ask for any letter you or anybody else may have sent him in the past year he will find it for you in ten minutes. He is too strong on methods to suit the unbusinesslike 'locals.' That's where the whole trouble lies. We shall do a world of legislating in the line of a position to Litchman get to the front. He is the man of men whom we want for secretary."

The great majority of the malcontents who are expected to fight Powderly and the general officers have been in Chicago the past three or four days, and arrived here this morning. Chicago has been the headquarters of the opposition, and the delegates who came Saturday and Sunday report that they were systematically harangued and "worked" while passing through that city.

Robert Schilling, the Milwaukee Socialist, is here to lead a bitter fight against Powderly. He launched his batteries this afternoon as assembly of brewery employes will withdraw unless given the right to bring beer into their meetings. This right, in all human probability, they will never get.

"Let them go," said General Worthy Foreman Richard Griffiths, the second officer in the order. "We are better without them."

The assembly opened this morning with the formal welcomes and responses, and a public meeting will be held this evening. To-day the latter contains Mr. Powderly will talk on "The World as Knighthood Would Make It." The business sessions open at 10 a. m. to-morrow.

A Campaign Tragedy in Tennessee.

GREENVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 3.—W. R. Milburn, manager of the telephone from Greene county, shot and instantly killed a young man named William Ward, a son of Peter Ward, of women's crumbs fame, Saturday. The trouble that grew out of a speech made by Milburn at Greenville a week ago, in which he said that Ward's mother was a whipped slave and that Ward's mother was keeper was an ex-penitentiary convict. Young Ward took the remark as an insult to his mother, and it is said threatened to kill Milburn. Milburn armed himself and waited for the attack, which came Saturday. Ward called Milburn a liar, whereupon Milburn pulled his pistol, shooting Ward through the left breast. Milburn surrendered himself.

Death of Ex-Governor Holley.

LAKEVILLE, Conn., Oct. 3.—Ex-Governor Alexander H. Holley died of typhoid fever at his residence in this town yesterday at the age of 68 years, after an illness of several weeks. He was lieutenant governor in 1867. He was a businessman and a manufacturer for many years, and was the founder of the Holley Manufacturing company at Lakeville. His father, John Milton Holley, was of the firm of Holley & Coffing, who, at Salisbury, cast the first iron cannon made in this country. Dr. Horace Holley, an eminent divine, and Orville L. Holley, a prominent lawyer in New York state early in the century, were his uncles. He was the father of Alexander L. Holley, the distinguished civil engineer and writer on many scientific subjects, who introduced the Bessemer process of making steel into America, and who died a few years ago.

Foreign Soldiers in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The foreign troops arrived at the Sherman House at 11 o'clock yesterday. The local societies of their respective nationalities were well represented, and gave the visitors a hearty welcome. In honor of the guests there is to be a ball given at the Sherman House this evening, after which they will visit the encampment upon the succeeding day. The committee has arranged for a grand reception to the visiting soldiery to-night at the armory of Battery D. On this occasion all the Scandinavian societies in Chicago, about 800 members strong, will be present. An address will be delivered by John A. Ennander, of the Swedish Skandinaven. L. K. Boysen and Prof. Frederickson, of Chicago. The evening's entertainment will conclude with a grand vocal and instrumental concert.

Working for Starvation Wages.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 3.—The miners in the Springfield district are on a strike for an 80 cent per ton rate, instead of 70 per ton. Their wages have been about 80 cents per ton. Over 1,500 men are now out. The miners at Petersburg have also struck. The miners claim that their wages do not afford them support for themselves and families, and that the operators are selling coal to the railroads and other large consumers at ruinously low rates, and cutting wages to the verge of starvation to make up the losses.

A Steamer Given Up at Last.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The British steamship Reaper, Capt. Granger, which sailed from Carthagena on Aug. 20, for Philadelphia, has not been heard from, and during the Rock of Gibraltar on that day. Much alarm is felt at this port, and but little hope is entertained for her safety, as she is greatly overdue.

Miscellaneous.

FROM SEA TO SEA.

THE PACIFIC RAILROADS AS A PRESENT OPERATED.

Map Showing the Lines of the Central and Union, the Southern, the Northern, the Canadian and Other Lines of Rail Connecting the Two Oceans.

Twenty-seven years ago Richard F. Burton, the noted British traveler, crossed the North American continent and did us up in the usual style of the Englishman before the war. While he found fault with all our institutions (except Brigham Young—with him he formed a strange friendship) his choicest sarcasm was poured upon our "dream of a Pacific railroad." He ridiculed the party platforms of 1856, which approved the scheme; and at the end of a month's visit in Utah, on taking leave of Brigham Young, he faintly conceded that "such a railroad may possibly be built in the next century." Eight years and some months after that cynical utterance the last spike was driven at Promontory Point, on the Central road; and now we have five great lines across the continent, with connections at each end and across the middle, which leave us no choice of two more. The impossible has been accomplished; and when the future Macaulay sums up on this age, the great railroads over the plains and mountains will be the subject of his most brilliant chapter.

The British have had their laugh on us, too; for we as confidently predicted that the Canadian Pacific could never be successfully operated, yet our northern neighbors have complete connection from Nova Scotia to Puget sound—3,800 miles —and winter travel on that line is scarcely more obstructed than on our Central Pacific. It has been found that the lower altitude of mountain passes fully offsets the great cold of the far north. As one leaves central Colorado the country slopes gently toward the north and the mountains sink much more rapidly than the plains. Thus the Marshall pass on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad is 1,900 feet above the sea and the highest pass on the South Park branch of the Union Pacific is 11,280 feet. Thence the mountains fall off so rapidly toward the north that Sherman, the highest depot on the Union Central Pacific, is but 8,235 feet high; Boseman pass, the highest on the Northern Pacific, 6,570, and Kicking Horse pass, highest on the Canadian Pacific, 5,596 feet. But the last has a still greater advantage, as it is nearer the Pacific ocean than Sherman or Boseman, and the so called "Chinook winds" melt the snow in the pass while the fields of middle Alaska are still in wintry weather. The Rocky mountains continue to decrease in elevation till one nears Alaska; then they rise rapidly, in awful grandeur, till Mount St. Elias rears its summit 20,000 feet, 1,000 feet higher than Popocatapetl—so the highest point of the longest mountain chain in the world is now in United States territory, and the old geographies which credited it to Mexico are obsolete.

The Northern Central Pacific was the first of these great lines completed. The compound name arises from the fact that congress authorized the Central Pacific of California to build eastward and the Union Pacific of Nebraska to build westward till they met, each road to have mileage subsidy and land grant for the distance it constructed the road. They met at Promontory Point, a spur of the Idaho mountains, which runs down into the Great Salt lake of Utah; and there, on the 10th of May, 1869, the celebrated "last spike" was driven with a silver hammer, with imposing ceremonies, including prayer, some fairly good oratory and a deal of very poor poetry. As the country has happily forgotten all that was said and read there, let us not revive the agony. The two roads soon after agreed to put their junction at the old Mormon town of Ogden, east of the lake, and in time they passed under one management. Both corporations began their great work in the darkest period of the civil war, and completed it during the era of highest prices and the flood tide of greenbacks and speculation. The cost therefore was enormous and the legislative scandals fearful—all the latter just now recalled to memory by the recent investigation by the Pacific railway commission. The road starts at Omaha and after entering the Platte valley enters on a long incline of 500 miles, averaging a rise of ten feet to the mile—so the passenger is higher than the tops of the Alleghanies before he gets in sight of the Rockies, without observing the ascent. From Cheyenne to Sherman the rise is very rapid, and thence to the summit of the Wasatch the road is on a ridge or plateau, crossing occasional ridges; from Wasatch, second highest point on the line, it descends rapidly 2,800 feet to the shore of Salt Lake, and then crosses near 600 miles of desert and low rocky ridge to the Sierra Nevada, where the highest station is but little over 7,000 feet.

The Northern Pacific was next in time. Completely crushed by the great panic of 1873, the projectors waited patiently till the revival of business; then reorganized, completed the line, and actually bought the old bonds, which were considered worthless for a while, to pay—a financial success without parallel. Duluth, the starting point on Lake Superior, is but 600 feet above the sea level, and the worst recommends but slight elevations till it reaches the heart of the Rocky mountains; but experience has shown that winter travel on it is but little more obstructed than on more southern roads. A great advantage is found in the fact that the road traverses very little rocky land, the dust of the "soda plains" being a great annoyance on the southern roads. The Canadian Pacific has still less alkali land, but more desert, as it crosses the great Kawatchin wilderness, that high, rocky plateau stretching from Lake Superior to the Arctic ocean, which is supposed to be the remains of a lofty mountain of plutonic rock, the rock having been swept southward by icebergs, and scattered in the form of bowlders and drift gravel. West of that it crosses the vast and very fertile plain of Red river; west of that is a still grander, though, as to the mountains and Indian Catastrophe.

In our own territory the famous or Terms Book a new chapter was favored, and was the "particular pet" of Jefferson Davis when secretary of war. We bought of the original 10 leagues, under the Gadsden treaty of 1853, only that "the level of the Gila was the natural route for a transcontinental railway." But we ruined the scheme, apparently. Yet it was revived in 1872, and the road was completed in 1881. It is already the favorite route for winter and spring. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe runs through rather the roughest region of any, traversing about 1,000 miles of almost unbroken mountain and desert, from Rio Grande to the valleys of California west of the Sierras. Yet it probably has more startling curiosities on its line than any other route. The scenery is of the grand and extremely rugged type —the bare mountains, the deep ragged canyons and the rocky plateaus have the awful, impressive sameness of desolation. Such are the main lines only. The connections include many thousand miles of rail, and are stimulating trade and development.

NEW YORK'S QUARANTINE.

How the Cholera Stricken Immigrants on the Alaska Are Being Cared for.

On the 23d of September the steamer Alesia, from Marseilles and Naples, arrived at quarantine in the port of New York with four cases of cholera on board, and the appalling news that eight of her 600 passengers had died during the voyage of that dread disease. A nervous thrill ran through the city and the people took a new and very intense interest in the quarantine regulations. The inquiry was answered to the popular satisfaction—New York's quarantine is as good as the best, and its success for the past thirty years is really phenomenal. When we consider that three-fourths or more of the immigrants come to this port, that they come in all sorts of conditions as to dirt and disease, and that over 8,000 vessels of all kinds arrive in a year, more than 1,000 of them from ports where yellow fever is possible at any time and probable during six months of the year, the success in excluding disease seems little less than magical.

Dr. Smith, the present health officer of the port, has a delightful place of residence on the eastern shore of Staten Island, six miles from the south end of the city; and thence he can reach either the station or the hospitals in a few minutes by his swift yacht. His spring period is in summer, to shut out cholera and yellow fever; but there is enough to do at all seasons, as the smallpox is usually worst in winter, and the immigrants who bring it are the worst of their class to deal with. Every vessel entering the port must be boarded, and every one on board inspected. From a yellow fever port, the inspection is severe; the hold and steerage must be specially examined, and the officer is in no way bound by the fact that the vessel brings a "clean bill of health." He has at command deputies and sailors, steam tug and rowboat, policeman, clerk and other assistants, and all must be ready for action day or night, as passengers, crew and officers are naturally in frantic haste to get up to the city and in a humor to look on quarantine as a nuisance, any how. Down the bay, on two small islands, are two commodious hospitals for the sick; and at the regular quarantine station the "suspected" must wait till the doctor is satisfied that they are free from infection. This station is on Hoffman Island, the nearer to Staten of the two islands above mentioned. The buildings are substantial enough, but far from inviting—indeed they look unpleasantly like those warehouses turned into military prisons which were common during the war. The hospital buildings proper look much less substantial, but they are very comfortable inside. The island, however, is not large enough for all the health officer just opposite those islands, and on a clear day it is anything but pleasant to the passengers to be told they must wait an indefinite period when they can look northward through the Narrows on such a lovely view. Before them, in attractive panorama, are the shores of Staten Island on the west, and of Coney and Long Islands on the east, while over the bright waters of the upper bay they may see (just far enough away to be agreeably lovely) the goal for which they long. But as the voyage from West India ports is not long enough for the yellow fever to develop, those from infected ports must stay out the time on Hoffman.

During the twenty-seven years incumbency of the present health officer, two and three-quarter millions of immigrants have passed his inspectors, and as many as 125 vessels in one day. In the century New York city and vicinity have had over a dozen visitations of yellow fever, more or less serious, and in 1857 Bay Ridge, on Long Island shore, was frightfully scourged. Since then no serious epidemic has been propagated from incoming vessels, but the possibility from that is great, and time matters eternal vigilance at the lowest price of safety.

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

ADDED YEARS BRING ADDED HEIGHT TO EVERY BOY AND GIRL.

The Story of a Wise Wasp and His Unfortunate Victim, the Spider—How to Make a Good Lead Humming Top at Little Cost.

The humming top is a familiar toy that does not cost much to buy. At the same time there is always a satisfaction in making a thing for one's self—particularly when it costs nothing.

HOME-MADE HUMMING TOP.

As it happens that a good loud humming top can be made without expense, and we feel certain that some of our young readers will want to try their hands at it, we give an illustration with directions, which appeared originally in Golden Days:

The materials are an empty baking powder canister, or any wooden box, and two pieces of firewood. The plan of operations is to cut a slit in the side of the box answering to the hole in the top, making it half an inch square or round, as the case may be, and making a hole in the lid and bottom of the box for the spindle to come through. To make a good job of it, the bottom hole should be square and the top hole round, and the spindle should be cut to fit, pushing it in, of course, from the bottom.

When the holes and spindle are cut, put a little glue round the lid to make the box tight, and insert the spindle with a little glue on each hole. For the spindle cut a fork or handle with which the top is spun, a plain slip of wood with a hole at the end will be found to answer. Very simple preparations all these, and yet everything is nearly ready for action. When the top is dry, wind round the string, passing it through the hole in the handle, as shown, and spin. That is all we need say about the homemade humming top.

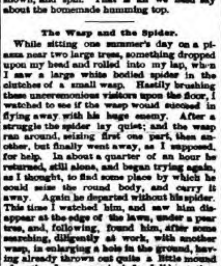
The Wasp and the Spider.

While sitting one summer's day on a piazza near two large trees, something dropped upon my head and rolled into my lap, when I saw a large white bodied spider in the clutches of a small wasp. Hastily brushing these unwelcome visitors upon the floor, I watched to see if the wasp would succeed in flying away with his huge enemy. After a struggle the spider lay quiet; and the wasp ran around, laying first one part then another, but finally went away, as I supposed, for help. In about a quarter of an hour he returned, and then, as near as I could judge, as I thought, to find some place by which he could seize the round body, and carry it away. Again he departed without his spider. This time I watched him, and saw him disappear at the edge of the lawn, under a rose tree, and, following, found him, after some searching, diligently at work, with another wasp, in digging a hole in the ground, having already thrown out quite a little mound of earth. I was surprised, for I did not then know that any kind of wasp lived in the ground.

I returned to the piazza; and soon, when the wasp came back, I was convinced, by more careful watching, that he was carefully laying each part of the spider's body, instead of trying to get hold of it. The antennæ seemed to be the organs mostly employed in this work. Having got all the spider's parts down before him, and saw him meet his coworker, put his head close to his, and evidently inform him that the spider was not yet big enough, for they fell busily at work enlarging it. Then more measuring, more digging, until, after three long hours, he returned, this time with his friend, and they carried away their prey, and bestowed it in their under-ground home.

An Interesting Question.

Dolly on her tiny toes
Lifts herself with care,
Presents her rosiest cheek to hand
On Harry's early hair.
"Mother, don't you think," she s'ez
"That I'm as tall as he?"
"Not a bit!" the boy replies;
"You can't come up to me!"



WHICH IS TALLER?

But mother, with a loving smile
Thus whispers to her boy:
"Harry, don't be proud and give
Your little sister joy.
Just tell her patiently to wait
And she is sure to grow;
For added years bring added height.
As little ones should know."

Odd Presidents.

The postmistress of Wide Awake offers her young history students a help to memory in useful as the old verse, "Thirty days hath September:"

Come, young folks all, and learn my rhyme,
Write like the ones of olden time;
For like old coins, names so same,
The whole a surer place will claim;
Then, if you're wise, and would succeed
The names of those who've ruled our land,
A noble list: George Washington,
John Adams, Jefferson and Madison;
James Madison and James Monroe,
John Quincy Adams—and below
Comes Andrew Jackson, Martin Van Buren;
Martin Van Buren next we learn.
Then William Henry Harrison
Whom soon John Tyler followed on.
And after Tyler, James K. Polk;
Then Zachary Taylor—gone by the folk
Till death. Then Millard Fillmore came;
And Franklin Pierce we next must name;
And James Buchanan last before
Then Abraham Lincoln through those years
Of woe. And when his life was lost
Then Andrew Johnson followed him.
Then U. S. Grant, and R. B. Hayes
And James A. Garfield ended here
Their terms of office, and Chester A. Arthur
Rode now in Grover Cleveland's time.

OUR DUMB ANIMALS.

A Pennsylvania rode into Wadsworth, Ills., with a big Newfoundland dog hitched to a two wheeled cart, which the animal had hauled in three days 120 miles.

There is a white horse at the Riverside, Mich., that drinks a quart daily for his weight of beer and gets it. Another white horse at Bay City takes trips on a toboggan slide and enjoys them.

A horse at Reading, Pa., stopped upon a little bridge over a ditch and refused to go in the street, but, immediately bending down his head, began licking the little sufferer, and uttered sounds of genuine sorrow.

At a fox hunt near Tolona, Ills., the dogs forced a gray fox up a tree, and the hunters would not shoot, preferring to have him taken by the hounds. A boy climbed the tree to force Reynard out, but when he dropped he eluded the dogs, and found shelter in a hole. One dog followed him, got the game by the nose and pulled him out, but then the fox turned his fangs on the dog whose master, disdained to shoot, and the dog lose his grip, dashed away and made good his escape.

A young gray squirrel found by a party of children at Ivoryton, Conn., was cared for until it had grown strong enough to help itself, when it was set at liberty. The children had no idea it would ever come back, but the same night it appeared at the kitchen window and tapped upon the pane. It was admitted, and the next morning whisked away again. It has built two nests, using whichever it chooses for the night, except when it rains. Then it always asks for admission to the house.

A FEW SNAKES.

Miss Ella Miller, of Lancaster, O., killed an immense blacksnake in her father's yard.

Last June Willie Hobson, of Russellville, Ky., was bitten by a water snake while fishing. Recently he has had all the symptoms of rabies, which are attributed to the snake bite.

A snake two feet long, sleek and beautifully spotted, and having, it is said, no eyes, was recently found in the bottom of the shaft of the Parks, coal mine, 500 feet below the surface of the earth.

Farmer Johnson, living near Oakland, Ills., while binding oats, ran into a nest of, rattlesnakes, and had killed fourteen of them when a big one took him unawares and gave him a bite of which he died.

The two little children of George Freeman and the little son of Richard Daly, all of Lathrop, Mo., were driven by the bite of a snake of some kind. They were bitten while crossing a meadow in the evening.

A rattler with ten rattles attacked George Hertz, of Tyrakin, Mo., and wound its body around Harty's legs. He had on a pair of high gum boots that saved his life, for the snake fought furiously and fastened its fangs in the boots. The snake proved to be seven feet long.

Memory Gems.

One of the latest crazes started by Albany young ladies is a craze for "memory" gems. The young lady's attendant, whilom or constant, as the case may be, is expected to furnish the gems. Sometimes it is the purchase of some pretty but rather light and ornamental gentlemen's walking stick, something to suit the whim of the fair one, and the process forwarded to her in the regular way. She was stimulated by femininity to secure bangles for a bangle bracelet, after the latter is already her own. Each of the male acquaintances, or as many as she cares to ask, are requested to lay out a trifling sum for the purchase of half a yard of narrow ribbon—about half an inch in width—of his favorite shade, and these are tied in fanciful bows and pretty color combinations on different sections of the cane, and the whole hung on the parlor wall, producing a very handsome and very pretty effect. The object of the bills is to secure no two ribbons of like shade, and train the memory by the effort to have a rattle off the name of the ribbon donor by a mere glance at the color of the particular streamer a friend may inquire about. Hence the pretty ornament's name—the "memory" cane. —Albany Express.

Poisoning by Nutmeg.

A case of poisoning by nutmeg is recorded in The British Medical Journal, in which one nutmeg had been eaten by a patient as a cure for diarrhœa. It caused him to become giddy, stupid and very drowsy all next day. The narcotic properties of these seeds, and of others of the same natural order, do not appear to be generally known, and seem worthy of investigation.—Scientific American

A Portable Trumpet Telephone.

A young electrician near Cincinnati has invented a speaking trumpet that will act as a sort of a portable telephone, and carry the human voice a distance of four miles. Indeed, it is said that already, although the discovery is in its swaddling clothes, conversations have been carried on between cities separated by a distance of ninety miles, and between parties four and a quarter miles apart, while it is claimed that the instrument has a practical range of twenty-six miles. This instrument would be of great value to political wire workers who wait to hear from distant districts before issuing any bulletins to the public. It would seem to be that everybody within the four miles or the twenty-six miles, as the case may be, can hear the conversation as well as the person to whom it is addressed. It would not do for secrets.—Boston Transcript.

A STORY ABOUT INGALLS.

The Sharp Tongued Senator and His Hasty Commissioner.

A constituent of Senator Ingalls', a rough looking fellow of the cowboy type, sent in his card to the senator at the Capitol one day last winter, and then seated himself in the Marble room to await the senator's arrival. When Mr. Ingalls appeared some one else engaged him in conversation. At its conclusion he started to re-enter the chamber, having apparently forgotten the purpose for which he had quitted it. At that moment the cowboy seized him:

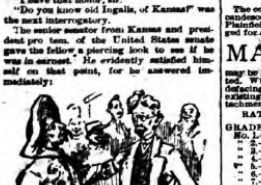
"Be you a senator?" he inquired.

Senator Ingalls disengaged himself and answered with a wounded dignity:

"I have that honor, sir."

"Do you know old Ingalls, of Kansas?" was the next interrogatory.

"The senior senator from Kansas and president pro tem. of the United States senate gave the fellow a piercing look to see if he was in earnest. He evidently satisfied himself on that point, for he answered immediately:



"Oh, yes; we've very well acquainted."

By this time quite a crowd of senators and senate employes had gathered around the two men.

"Well then," continued the visitor, "I wish you would tell him I am about tired of waiting for him, and if he doesn't hurry out here pretty soon I'll make it d—— lively for him when his next election comes around."

"Do you know Ingalls?" inquired the Kansas senator, with an air of indifference.

"I do not," was the response.

"Have you any idea what he looks like?"

"No, but I'm told he's as ugly as the old Nick."

"Do you suppose he is as ugly as I am?" was Mr. Ingalls' next interrogatory.

"Well, I don't know," said the fellow with great deliberation, "but I expect you crowd him mighty close."

At this point Mr. Ingalls made his escape into the senate chamber, trying to look responsive to the roars of laughter which followed him; but his constituent's wonder to the present day why it is he couldn't get an interview with his senator, but declares with much emphasis that "he'll make it hot yet for old Ingalls, when the next senatorial election takes place in Kansas."—New York Tribune.

Popular Science in Philadelphia.

Some men have a remarkable way of explaining things. Two strangers were standing in front of the Treasury while station on Ransom street, and one man was explaining to the other the operation of the machinery. "You can tell what time it is," he said, "from the noise that big wheel?" "Yes." "Well, there's a dowfanny on the side that's connected with a magigger that's out of sight. When the steam is turned on a diagur hangs hold of the cable and presses it against the wheel; then a rest iron flip flap does something that I don't quite understand, and the cable runs off them things and—" Understand?" "Quite," said his friend, gravely; "but what is the use of that gilderflake at the far end?" "Oh, that's a part of machinery that keeps the cable from kinking." "I'll tell the folks at home about this," remarked the second man, evidently very much pleased. "Let's hear it, anything." And they did.—Philadelphia Call.

Omaha's Notion of It.

New York Broker—Is there room for another street car?

Omaha Financial Editor—Yes, I can get in a few lines.

"Well, then just consummated a knock deal."

"All right, I'll put it in. Did you make anything?"

"I've spread it made $17 by the operation."

"Everybody I'll announce that McCloskey, the coming Napoleon of Finance, cleared $2,000,000 yesterday by a shrewd stroke."

"That's the idea. How's Gould?"

"Ten dollars."—Omaha World.

A Sweet One, Miss.

"Do you love music, Mr. Featherly?"

"Passionately, Miss Clara," he replied, "I am not a musician myself, but there is no one, I think, who enjoys and appreciates it more."

Then a little German band came along, and as the strains of "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" or "Home, Sweet Home," would be the evening, at the best of times, which came over the young man's face told more than ever words could ever hope to tell how fond he was of music.—New York Sun.

Exceptions Prove the Rule.

Blinks—I don't believe a woman ever read a novel without looking at the last chapter first to see how it turned out.

Gushle—Oh—I have many times.

"Perhaps some one had already told you how they turned out."

"No, no one knew."

"Oh—They were published serially in the magazines."—Omaha World.

The End of My Vacation.

Though the days are so balmy, the breezes so bland,
To the sunshine not stinging upon it laid on
In the hazy of autumn must I reappear
At the desk and the ledger by Brown, the cashier

Yes, time's up, I must go, my vacation is o'er;
Over sinful account books again I must pore.
There's no help for it, some; the firm won't brook delay,
I must pack my portmanteau and hasten away.

Through the leaves of the forest are tinging with red
And woodland and meadows fresh beauties unfold
I must bid one to Gotham—what's sweet, what's fair
I'm there.

To a narrow hall bedroom and boarding house fare.

Oh autumn's great pageant I gave with a sigh,
And the blue hills' magnificent distance,
Must I lose her with autumn's first bloom on her cheek
And her eyes?

Yes, I must, or the loss fifteen dollars a week.

Then farewell to green meadows and forest and hill
Farewell to bright landscape and encompassing effect
Farewell to fresh breezes, to sunshine and shade
And away to my business, to my counter I go.

—W. D. Barker in Judge.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

Vol. 8, No. 78. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1887. Price Two Cents

JOB PRINTING OF ALL KINDS FROM A CARD TO A POSTER, IN THE BEST STYLES AND AT THE MOST REASONABLE RATES. TELEPHONE CALL NO. 62.

THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its want column daily furnishes a means of interesting reading and is the quickest and best medium of employment for those who seek help. For Boarding and Rooms, for Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertisements pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly complete general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

JOTTINGS.

—Field & Randolph: new adv. Read it.

—The Boys' Senior Society of the Y. M. C. A. hold a short business meeting this evening at 7:45 o'clock.

—At the Council meeting last night the Plainfield Electric Light Company made a proposition to light the streets with 300 incandescent lamps.

—It was Harvey who discovered the circulation of the blood and another Harvey is trying to discover if there is any circulation in the Newark Journal, for which he prescribes daily as the latest journalistic physician.

—The merchant who doesn't believe in an "ad" is likely to know a good deal about subtraction—from his bank account.—Washington Critic.—Quite right. And those who advertise in THE NEWS know that wisdom before it was uttered.

—Remember that Mr. George E. Vincent will, under the auspices of the Boys' Senior Society of the Y. M. C. A., give an account of his recent rambles abroad at Association Hall. Front street, this evening at Sight o'clock. The society invites all young men to be present.

—The free open air concert given at the City Hotel by the Plainfield Cornet Band last night, was a pleasing treat. The band occupied seats upon the front upper balcony, under the glare of powerful electric lights. The audience assembled in the streets numbered hundreds and every one enjoyed the music throughout. There is talk of repeating the concert next Monday evening.

—Winfield S. Jimerson, formerly with John H. French, the merchant tailor and wholesale clothier, manufacturer and latterly with Stoutenburgh & Co., Newark clothiers, has formed a copartnership with Mr. M. J. Coyne of Philadelphia, as merchant tailors. They have taken a store at No. 16 East Front street, and advertise in another column, what those interested may read and profit by.

—Inasmuch as many people get married in this world one would think that a lecture on the subject of marriage would draw a large audience—draw young folks for the advice they might need, and older married ones to see if another's theories correspond with the actual state of things as they had experienced wedded bliss. The Rev. Elston M. Dunn of Milton, Wis., lectured on this interesting subject at the First Baptist church last night, but he had a small audience. There were not over eighty-five present. Frank Baynon, president of the Young People's Association of the church, introduced the speaker, whose lecture was mainly made up of anecdotes.

St. Mary's Fair.

The grand fair for the benefit of St. Mary's church which has been in progress in St. Mary's Hall on West Fourth street, since Thursday last, will be one of the most successful ever held by the members of that congregation, judging from the large crowd that was in attendance last evening. The hall has been tastefully decorated with flags, bunting and flowers and as one enters he is confronted with a most beautiful sight. The reflection of the lights on the various costly articles displayed on the different tables, is indeed very pretty. The refreshment table at the entrance which loaded down with edibles of all kinds, is in charge of the Misses Mary and Julia Field and Miss Jennie Collins, and is well patronized by the visitors. The first table to the left is that of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society and the large display of useful and ornamental articles with which it is laden and the taste displayed in arranging them are very creditable. This table is well patronized and very seldom does one pass without making some purchase. It is presided over by Miss Mary A. Loftus, Miss Maggie Casey, Miss Mary Galbraith, Miss Mary O'Donnell, Miss Mary Hogan, Miss Mary Callahan, Miss Kate Buckley and Miss Sarah Murphy. Directly opposite is the Sodality table and a very pretty display can also be seen on this table. The most noticeable of which is a handsome set of silverware. The decorations are tastefully arranged, and the table is in charge of the Misses Gussie and Maggie Loughlin, Helen Barry, Maggie Carney, Nellie Kelley, Maggie McGowan, Katie Cahill, Katie McCann and Alice Quinn.

As you stroll down the hall toward the stage the beautiful booth of St. Mary's Dramatic Association next attracts attention, and the presents one can purchase at this table are both unique and pretty. The table is in charge of the Misses May Flanagan, Nellie Casey, Kittie Carney, Alice Kelley, Annie Buckley, Kittie Hahn, Nellie Carney, Miss Madden, Maggie Flanagan, Sarah Carney, Mary J. Harding and Julia Kerwin.

Opposite this pretty booth, is the table of the Rosary Society and this table with its fine display of presents always receives its share of patronage. The table is in charge of Miss Verdon, Miss Larkins, Miss O'Keefe, Miss Monks, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. McCarthy. A beautiful set of china, comprising one hundred pieces, is the chief attraction at the table.

Several contests are in progress at the fair, the principle ones being a gold watch, between Miss Kate Dalton and Miss Lizzie Gill; a silver watch between Messrs. John Hickey and Adam Smith; and a diamond ring between Miss Ella Reville and Miss May Flynn. The contest for the fan between Miss Mary Kelley and Miss Kittie Callahan was decided last night in favor of the former she receiving 1,185 votes to the latter's 337. The fair will continue to-night.

The minutes of the two previous meetings (Sept. 19th and 19th) were read and adopted as amended by Councilman Cox.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

Petitions from George Graham, August Blauman, David Rosenbach and Morris Bimbie for peddlers' licenses were referred to the License Committee.

A communication from Morgan Bird, A. Holden and M. Quinn calling the attention of the Council to the bad condition of the road on East Fourth street, between Park avenue and Sycamore street and requesting that the same be repaired in the name, was referred to the Committee on Streets.

A communication signed by Marice C. Learned, John Darling, James E. Martine and others requesting Council to lay a stone crosswalk on Ninth street from Prospect to Park avenue, took the same course as the previous one.

A VETERAN OF THE WAR,

And One of the Bravest, Proves to Have Been a Woman.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 4.—One of the most remarkable cases of concealment of sex has just been brought to light in this city. On Sept. 26 application was made to Col. L. A. Harris, a trustee of the Dayton Soldiers' home, for the admission of a sick veteran to that institution. The soldier called at Col. Harris' house and was given an application blank to be filled out. The veteran's name was James Fisher. He had a letter from Col. Tafel, the colonel of his regiment, which stated that Fisher had served the government honorably since 1861, and had been honorably discharge after two years' service in Company C, Sixth Ohio infantry. Fisher was ill and unable to provide for himself. Col. Harris gave the application to Sept. 28 to Dayton, with a letter to Col. Patrick, superintendent of the home, requesting him to take care of the bearer until he could be provided for.

The medical examination at Dayton revealed the fact that Fisher is a fully developed woman. Of course she was not received into the home, and no one knows where she now is. Very little is known of her history except that she is 59 years old. Since the war she has been living in the guise of a man and live with those of that sex. In appearance Fisher is short, heavy set, with a round, smooth face, dark hair and eyes and somewhat effeminate voice. No one had ever suspected her sex. Col. Tafel says the woman was one of the bravest soldiers in his regiment, and he was astounded to learn that Fisher is a woman.

Democrats Celebrating.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 4.—In the town elections yesterday the Democrats carried everything with the exception of first constable and collector and one selectman, the Republicans being entitled by law to one selectman out of three. The Democrats paraded the streets with a band of music last night and kept up the shouting until midnight. This is the first time in twenty years that the Democrats have held a majority on the selectmen's board. The town voted license by a majority of 1,046.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—William Welch, an eccentric lawyer here, formerly of Madison, Wis., has been indicted by the grand jury for libeling Postmaster General Vilas in a little sheet called The Home Diary, which Welch publishes for his own amusement. It is alleged by the grand jury that Vilas with wrecking the Madison Mutual Insurance company and embezzling its funds. The two are old enemies.

CRIMES AND ACCIDENTS.

YOUNG HAWKINS CONFESSES THE MURDER OF HIS MOTHER.

A Sad Record of Dark Deeds and Marine Disasters—Ten Lives Lost on the Lakes—Murdered to Settle an Old Grudge.

ISLIP, Oct. 4.—The murder of Mrs. Cynthiana Hawkins, the news of which was such a shock to the little Long Island village church time Sunday, proves to have been a suspicion, murder of son, Frank A. Asbury Hawkins. This suspicion follow immediately upon the discovery of the body, and the authorities of the town were rapidly developing it to a certainty when their labors were practically brought to an end by the young man's confession.

When the time for hearing arrived yesterday it became known that the prisoner had made a confession to two of his uncles and to Constable Benjamin. So his counsel declined to be examined, and he was committed for the action of the grand jury. He was taken for the night to the constable's house again, and was removed to Riverhead jail to-day. The confession is incomplete, and a denial on his part that he knows anything about the cuts and bruises on the body is evidence that the prisoner is keeping something back. He said that he got his mother into the buggy by telling her that her sister, Mrs. Egbert Smith, was very sick and not expected to live. He said he was committed for the action of the grand jury. He was taken for the night to the constable's house again, and was removed to Riverhead jail to-day. The confession is incomplete, and a denial on his part that he knows anything about the cuts and bruises on the body is evidence that the prisoner is keeping something back. He said that he got his mother into the buggy by telling her that her sister, Mrs. Egbert Smith, was very sick and not expected to live. He said he wanted to talk to her about getting married to Hattie Schreck, a servant girl of whom his was enamored, and he began at once by telling her of his love for the woman. She was vehement in her opposition, and both became very much excited. When his mother went so far as to call Hattie a German prostitute he struck her on the head several times, and he pulled out his pistol and shot her in the forehead. He says she did not scream or show any signs of life after he shot her, and that he did not beat her or wound her in any other way than by shooting her. It was nearly in front of her sister's house that she was murdered, in a room not about 1,000 feet from the main road toward the shore. He drove back to the main road and across it into the Brentwood road, and after going nearly two miles he took the body and left it by the roadside, where it was found.

Settling a Grudge by Murder.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Lyman Shaul was most brutally murdered in the remote section of Fulton county, near Rockland, Saturday night, by Alonso Bradt in a quarrel. A lawsuit was in progress at Brown's hotel between Chris Headin and Shaul for damages for injuries that Shaul received from a dog of Headin's dog. Shaul had been drinking freely. An old grudge had existed between the Bradt boys and Shaul, and about 6 o'clock Bradt and Shaul quarrelled, both coming into the bar room of the hotel to settle their trouble in true Sullivan style. As soon as they reached the back yard Bradt struck Shaul on the head with a club, prostrating him, and then kicked him about the head. He was removed to the hotel and found to be dead. The murderer has been arrested.

Saved Their Lives by Jumping.

MEYERSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—A terrible collision occurred this morning on the Mine Hill railroad, by which thirty-six cars were completely demolished. Engine 608 was descending a steep grade with 105 loaded cars, when the engineer discovered an open switch. The brakes refused to check the speed of the train, and to consequence the engine ran on the siding, colliding with a draft of loaded cars. The crash was terrific, and in an instant the train was piled with broken cars, many of which were hauled down a thirty-five foot embankment. The train hands jumped and thus saved their lives.

An Unprovoked Murder.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4.—John Clancy, an employe in a hat factory at St. Denis, a small village about eight miles from this city, was shot and killed last night by Joseph Hastings. The murder was entirely without provocation, and a party of armed men are scouring the country for Hastings, who escaped during the excitement, and he will be lynched if caught. Clancy was an industrious, sober young man, while Hastings bears a bad reputation.

Wrecked on the Lake.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Oct. 4.—A large iron ore schooner, supposed to be the Havana, foundered at a point seven miles north of this place yesterday in about forty feet of water. The tops of the masts are all that is further out in the lake, and it is supposed that she sprung a leak and that the crew tried to beach her. Four of the crew were saved by the tug Hannah Sullivan. Three men, including the captain and steward, are missing.

Little Hoyle's Murderer.

WORCESTER, Oct. 4.—District Attorney Gaskill took away from the inquest on the body of Lillie Hoyle at Webster. Many witnesses have been summoned. Each one will be examined separately. It was the notion of the court is being held with closed doors, for the reason that should the inquest be held with open doors the clew on which the detectives are working could be made public and their plans disarranged.

Collision and Death.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 4.—The Dillerville and Conewago local freights collided at Hillsdale, four miles east of Middletown, at 9 o'clock this morning. George Kauts, of Harrisburg, engineer of the Conewago train, was killed. An engine and three cars were smashed.

A French Laborer's Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Julius Dirrieaux, a French laborer, was carrying a stove down the stairs of his home yesterday, when he tripped and fell in the hallway. The stove fell on top of him, injuring his spine and causing concussion of the brain. He died almost instantly.

Right Lives Lost.

PROVIDENCETOWN, Mass., Oct. 4.—Six schooners arrived yesterday from the Grand Banks with good fares. They report the gale of Sept. 20 very severe. The Pearl Nelson lost seven men, and the Franklin Pierce five. The gale was sudden and caught the men in dories.

A Boy Drowned.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 4.—James McMullen, years old, while returning from school last evening, was drowned in the Rondout creek a few feet from where his father, a boat-builder, was at work.

The Crew Drowned.

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., Oct. 4.—The schooner City of Green Bay is ashore here and is fast going to pieces. The officers and crew, numbering seven persons, were lost.

A Cuban Bandit Killed.

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—Santa Clara civil guards have killed Rodriguez Mesmo, a bandit, who had twice escaped from jail.

THE COLLEGE HAZERS.

And the Sydney Rambler of Their Pranks on Young Chester.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 4.—The disgraceful proceedings attending the hazing of young George Choate by the Williams college sophomores and its very serious results assume more prominence to-day for the young man is expressed by everybody. It is held that the sophomores who handled him are all but criminally responsible for the shattered mental condition which followed upon the outrageous pranks. The affair is without a parallel in the history of the colleges. The sophomores found young Choate a quiet, easy going boy, not to have played their pranks upon him without mercy. The peculiar manner in which they exercised his mind the religious fervor is undoubtedly without a precedent in college hazing. This was subsequent to the physical torments to which they subjected him, and was generally kept after night for the best part of a week. Some of the sophomore more brilliant than the others suggested that the gang should have the boy on the examination. So he was taken to the "labor" with him. It would appear that he had a predisposition to religious fervor, and that these precocious young ruffians took advantage of it to such a degree that, through exhortations concerning eternal damnation and the like, they brought the boy to the mental state of mind, and finally to positive insanity. They, too late, his family was sent for, and the end news comes to-day that the physicians consider his case hopeless.

The Hazing Story Denied.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Oct. 4.—The president, faculty and students of Williams' college have issued a statement denying the charges caused by hazing. The faculty meet to take formal action on the charge of hazing to-day.

MRS. PARAN STEVENS

Asks for the Removal of Her Late Husband's Executors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—MRS. Paran Stevens has applied for the removal of the executors of her late husband's estate, on the ground of incompetency. The executors are John L. Melcher, husband of Mr. Stevens' daughter by his first wife, and Charles G. Stevens. The estate is valued at several millions dollars, and includes land and houses in New York, Boston, Newport and elsewhere. Mrs. Stevens received $1,000,000 under the will, and an income for the remainder. The charge that Mr. Melcher has involved the estate in needless and expensive litigation, has applied money to his own use, has hired Mr. Beckham, at $5,000 a year, to spy upon Mrs. Stevens' movements, has abused her, calling her a liar and fool, and has had improper relations with a young lady named Mrs. Stevens for assault. Both executors are charged with incompetency and waste. They have a month to answer.

The Seizure of Samoan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A report by mail from the American consul general at Samoan islands is expected to reach the department of state in a few days, concerning the reported deposition of King Malietoa by the German consul general. It is expected to learn through the published dispatches that the German commodore has gone to the length of declaring war and overthrowing the government, but no negotiations appear to have been progressing during the past year between England, Germany and the United States looking to a joint agreement to maintain an autonomous native government on the islands.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The latest news from Samoa is that the Germans took Malietoa Malietoa on board a gunboat for the purpose of exiling him, on account of his failure to suppress the disturbances among the plantations. King Malietoa had previously written to the British and American consuls expressing disappointment at the absence of their support.

President Cleveland's Disclaimer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—During the brief call of the president and his wife on Mrs. Hendricks during their late visit to this city, the matter of the alleged snub to Governor Porter was discussed. The president's excellent disclaimed any intention upon the part of Mrs. Cleveland to manifest any discourtesy towards Governor Porter, and his wife, the latter's wife, and the entire staff as they over the wire was distorted, exaggerated and largely the product of imagination; that the failure to meet the governor with the governor and his wife was not intended and frequently happened in a large, crushing reception, such as that was.

The Railroaders' Club House Opened.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The club house, library, reading room, etc., built by Cornelius Vanderbilt for the use of employes of the New York Central railroad, was formally opened last night. Among those present were Chauncey M. Depew, Charles Vanderbilt, C. M. Depew, President Monroe, of the Y. M. C. A.; President Clark, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford; John Newell, of the Lake Shore; John King, of the Erie; Russell Sage, Bishop Dunlap and a number of other well known men with their ladies. A number of employes of the road were also present.

In Favor of High License.

HARTFORD, Oct. 4.—The town elections throughout the state yesterday resulted, so far as yet heard from, in an increased license vote, and in favor of somewhat higher licenses as a rule. License was voted in Hartford by 1,413 majority. The Republicans and Democrats united on the municipal local officers, and there was practically no political significance in the election. John H. Higgins (Dem.) was elected town clerk, Fred S. Brown (Dem.) collector, and C. C. Strong (Rep.) treasurer.

Rejoicing in Keyport.

KEYPORT, N. J., Oct. 4.—Keyport was yesterday the scene of great public rejoicing, the occasion being the formal opening of a bridge which connects the town with Matawan. The Hon. Alfred Walling, jr., delivered an address as soon as the last spike was driven, after which an imposing procession, in which the various secret societies, firemen and other representative bodies took part, paraded the streets. A monster clambake was provided free to all.

The Elizabeth Shooting Case.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 4.—The police consider that the case against Joseph Carr, who shot the two boys, Patrick Ducoe and Dennis Norton, on Sunday afternoon. He is Michael Schneider, of Newark. Schneider was arrested Tuesday afternoon, but was released on bail and admitted firing the shot, but he said he did not see any boys in the bushes. He swore that he thought the shots were from fire-works from where he stood. Both boys are now reported in a fair way to recovery.

Giving Up Their Stealings.

CHESHIRE, Oct. 4.—State's Attorney Grinnell submitted to the county board yesterday afternoon a report showing that a number of booths county contraband, and recommending their adoption. By the terms of the law the owners fail to return $12,000; Charles Pack & Co., $745; Harold Rose, $700; William H. Gray, $2,000, and Chapbourn & Co., $7,000.

THE WORKERS AT WORK.

OPENING OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, K. OF L.

Gossip as to the Probable Outcome of the Session—The Opposition to Mr. Powderly Has Quieted Down—He Addresses 10,000 Persons.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—There were forty-two vacant seats when the general assembly of the Knights of Labor was called to order this morning. Nearly all of the delegates have handed in their credentials. The committee on credentials held session and afternoon yesterday, and decided considerable time to the protests filed against the recognition of George A. Schilling and C. F. Estes, of District Assembly 24, of Chicago. Both men, together with Robert Nelson and J. J. Mahoney, were elected by large majorities, but since that time there have been charges and counter charges which have resulted in the fight to unseat the two named. The case had not been finally decided when the committee adjourned, but the chances are that the contest will be overruled. There was also considerable discussion over Buchanan, the Chicago man with Colorado credentials, and his case is still in the balance with the general impression that he will be admitted.

Buchanan professes to be amazed that his effort to gain admission to the convention should encounter opposition, and ascribes it to the fact that he espouses to champion the cause of the New York carpet weavers, as he did last year at Richmond. He says, however, that the fight will be renewed next year, if necessary, until the organization is again received into the fold or the general executive board shown to the satisfaction of all concerned that the charges against him are unfounded. John Morrison has filed with the executive board a petition for the reinstatement of the assembly, and the question is therefore bound to come up in the regular proceedings.

It is more apparent than ever that the proceedings of the assembly will be characterized by the average amount of peace and harmony incident to gatherings of the kind. The Milwaukee brewers may make their little kicks about the increase in insurance circular, the Canadians will probably insist that they pay too much money and get too little self government, or rather none at all. The Chicago delegates may have a rumpus over the action of the executive board in putting a quietus on the stock yards strike, and the cloak makers from New York and Boston will come to the front with the usual budget of complaints. But after all nothing serious will occur. There will be no split.

What is more important, there will be no general clamor for the scalp of the general master workman. The storm that had been predicted upon the ramifications of Powderly have been heard for so many months is hardly likely to burst. The men who have been his warmest friends and closest political allies will come to the front with the usual budget of complaints. But after all nothing serious will occur. There will be no split.

What is more important, there will be no general clamor for the scalp of the general master workman. The storm that had been predicted upon the ramifications of Powderly have been heard for so many months is hardly likely to burst. The men who have been his warmest friends and closest political allies will come to meek as lambs just now, and are vowing by the eternal that they never uttered the many libelous sentiments that have been attributed to them, and that they didn't mean what they said, and after all if Powderly has made mistakes somebody else has done worse, and might have made more. The general disposition, in fact, appears to be to shift the responsibility for what troubles have occurred in the order from Powderly's shoulders to those of the general executive board, and this body will probably come in for some pretty hard knocks.

The terms of office of the members of the board, in accordance with that portion of the constitution adopted at Richmond, have another year to run, and it is hardly within the range of possibility that the members will be demanded, or that anything serious enough will be alleged to induce their voluntary leaving to quit out. All of these points that Powderly's enemies have made, but their claim at the same time that there is no body of men perfect, and that they have done as well or say not of men placed in their position could have done better for entering, and that they could point out a specialty.

HOW THEY DID IT.

MOBILIZATION OF THE FRENCH MILITARY RESERVES.

The French People and the French Journals Enthusiastic Over the Success of the Scheme—A Country Mayor with a Mania for Arresting Correspondents.

IN 1870 the French people rushed into war with mad enthusiasm, only to find within a fortnight that they were wretchedly prepared, while the Prussian army was in the highest state of efficiency. French pride was cruelly wounded, but the lesson was well learned. In addition to the regular army, which exceeds 500,000 men, the French have put on a semi-military footing all the militia of the first class and nearly as many reserves. As these are working citizens in time of peace, and only to be called out in an emergency, the problem was to make them effective for war at short notice and yet leave them citizens. The scheme adopted is called the mobilization of the corps d'armee. The plan is that of Gen. Boulanger, some time since removed from the office of secretary of war; but his scheme has been carried out with signal success by the present secretary. There are eighteen of these corps d'armee—each comprising the militia of a certain district. When the enrollment, arrangement and preliminary drills were complete, it was decided to select one district, notify the men to assemble at first, complete the arrangements and make the success a test. The district selected was in the south of

THE MAYOR OF PENEAUTEL.

France, the six departments centering at Toulouse; and the experiment was a perfect success. Within twenty-four hours 40,000 men were at the military depots ready for active service.

The illustrated papers of Paris give graphic accounts of the proceedings, with illustrations, some of which seem ludicrous. The Seventeenth corps, the one selected, is commanded by Gen. Brugere, who served with great distinction in Africa in 1856-57, in Italy in 1859, in the Mexican expedition and the war with Prussia, and has risen by regular degrees from sous lieutenant to division general. Pursuant to a law passed on the 16th of July last, he issued a series of secret private directions to all the commanders of the six departments included in the district of the Seventeenth corps. Placards were shipped to the mayor of every commune to be held for orders. On the 30th of August, at 8 p. m., the telegraphic order went out:

"Mobilize the active brigade of the Seventeenth corps d'armee. The first day of mobilization is Aug. 31."

A few minutes after the dispatch was received at the principal towns of the district the mayors were notified, and next morning the people saw this on the bulletin boards:

MOBILIZATION OF SOUS-MAYOR.

In execution of law of July 16, 1887, the minister of war orders the mobilization of the staff, service and corps de troupes of the active army stationed in the district of the Seventeenth region of the corps d'armee; also the requisition of animals, carriages and harness necessary to the same end.

[These latter minute directions as to the pay each one shall report to his immediate superior.]

The civil and military authorities are responsible for the execution of these directions.

The Minister of War.
GEN. FRANCO.

Every man enrolled was soon on the march to his rendezvous. The next day they were mustered, the next they were armed and equipped and the next joined their regiments. The railways and telegraphs of the whole district passed at once under military control, and 130 trains were run directly from the house in one night carrying men and supplies. The cavalry and artillery were equipped from their own depots; requisitions on the peasants brought the needed horses and carts for transport service; details were made for all branches of field work, especially constructing field railways; and all who furnished animals or supplies were carefully made out, and so the mobilization was complete. In three days the Seventeenth corps was ready to march; in a week it was prepared for an arduous campaign. The French rank over all is the brilliant success. Their journals assure us that, if the other corps do so well—and of course they will—

GEN. BRUGERE.

France can put into the field with marvelous rapidity 1,000,000 soldiers and still have the 900,000 "reservists" to serve as territorial troops. The rapid concentration, the care for every detail had been worked out. The territory of France is compact; the railroads center toward the north and east, and are in a high state of efficiency. They can be taken in any minute by the government, and so, if France does go to war soon, we may expect a contest in which all that have gone before is "Ah, if we had only been as well prepared in 1870!" say the Radicals, with a sigh. But the Conservative journals express a hope that this perfect preparation will prevent war, and Le Monde Illustre says:

"We need not disguise the fact that this great experiment in mobilization will be keenly regarded by the foreigner, and that on the activity, zeal and good will of each participant will depend the impression it will give, here and over the frontiers, of the military condition. It will be a grand moral victory if the foreign organs worthy of attention shall say after the fact is proved: France is indeed strong, for any dealings with other nations is sacred."

Three features of this mobilization are strikingly characteristic of modern war: the use of the railroad and telegraph, and especially the defection of correspondent from the correspondents of the Paris journals. Though they had special passes and received special favors at all mobilizing points, they were regarded with suspicion in the smaller country towns. Three of them were arrested at Tarascon, and on the 31st, the last day on one side, that they have their revenge in picturing the "barbarous conduct" of the mayor:

"We have been arrested three times and taken before the mayors. The mayor of Pinsaquel is worthy of a place in Pinteoch. We found the village, which is under 2,000 years old, before his baker's oven, naked down to the belt; and his patriotic and energetic language greatly surprised us. The word of Montluc, words ripenants from the slopes of the Pyrenees is highly suggestive of scenes in the United States in 1865-66; while they joke, laugh and talk of the war of revolution, it is evident that they are just from the plow, "drafted into the army" and secretly wishing themselves at home once more. In conclusion, we may say that this secret in rapid mobilization makes the French military force now the equal of any in the world. Extraordinary energy in the movement and movement was the crowing glory of the German army in 1866 and 1870. Gen. Boulanger adopted this method of testing the great military machine. He has carried out at such expense, and the result adds immensely to the military prestige of the republic.

GEN. ROGER A. PRYOR.

The Man Who Will Argue the Anarchists' Case.

Gen. Roger A. Pryor, who has consented to aid in trying to save the necks of the Chicago Anarchists, is a native of Virginia, and is 56 years old. In 1845 he graduated from Hampden Sidney college and studied the profession of law, but gave it up on account of bad health. In 1851 he entered journalism, and was connected with the Washington Union and The Richmond Enquirer. In 1855 he was appointed by President Pierce a special commissioner to Greece to adjust certain difficulties with that country. On his return he reentered journalism, established a paper called The South, which ran for eighteen months and stopped. He then connected himself with The Washington States, and was soon afterward elected a representative from Virginia to the Thirty-sixth congress.

GEN. ROGER A. PRYOR.

He was a member of the Confederate congress during the war, and received the rank of brigadier general. In 1864 he was captured by the Union troops, but was shortly afterward released. Since the war he has been spent most of his time in New York.

REAR ADMIRAL MULLANY.

Close of the Eventful Career of a Brave Man.

At Bryn Mawr, recently, Rear Admiral J. R. Madison Mullany passed away. He had reached the ripe age of three score and ten, and his death was due to the infirmity five years. He entered it as a midshipman in January, 1832. In that capacity he served six years and was then promoted to passed midshipman, and in 1844 was made full lieutenant. Seventeen years after that promotion he was made commander. Five years after that he was given the uniform of a captain, and three years from that time he was made commodore. During the war he commanded the steamer Wyandotte, the sailing ship Supply and the he remained three years. Later he commanded the steamship Richmond for three years, and the Mediterranean squadron of the European station for two years. He retired to the United States in November, 1871. On Oct. 5, 1873, he took command of the navy yard, where he was subsequently in charge of the League Island naval stations, from which he was ordered to the Naval Asylum governorship, which he held until Oct. 27, 1879, when he vacated that position and was placed on the retired list.

Henry B. Lovering.

Henry B. Lovering, the Democratic nominee for governor of Massachusetts, was born in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1841. Since he launched forth in the battle of life his political career he has always been identified with labor questions, and is today a trade unionist and a Knight of Labor. He received his education in the public schools of Lynn, and served as a private in the war, where he lost a leg.

HENRY B. LOVERING.

When he entered politics, he was a journeyman shoemaker, and was employed in a Lynn shoe factory.

In 1879 he was elected to the state legislature as a labor candidate, and in 1874 he was re-elected. In 1881 he was elected mayor of Lynn, and in 1882 he went to congress.

Mr. Lovering is a man of practical ideas, a great worker, and is eminently a self made man.

The Work of Manuscript Making.

Many manuscript makers seem to attach special consequence to their traffic they are proud of talking about it, and glorifying it, as if it were a thing to be shed. I can scarcely be unable to share this prejudice. Manuscript making is hard, precarious, ill paid; it may content the mind of a man who has no taste for occupation, and, as such, entitled to some degree of sympathy, but not otherwise. I cannot see wherein it differs, as an employment, from practicing law, keeping accounts or selling groceries, except that these are less unprofitable.—Junius Henri Browne in Lippincott's.

The Consumption of Brandy.

A New York wine merchant says that the consumption of brandy is steadily declining. The increase of population ought to keep it where it was if the decline was slight, but it appears less and less every year. His opinion is not that Americans believe it a more hurtful beverage than whisky, but that the people are not so well off as to be able to rival the consumption of whisky drinking.—Chicago News.

IN A CHINESE YAAMEN.

A BOAT RIDE THROUGH A LONG AND DEVIOUS WATERWAY.

The Chinese House Boat and Some Peculiar Thing of Its Kind—Picturesque Country Residences—A Rural Family—Ancestral Graves—A Duck Farm.

Through a consular friend, who in the course of some official work had made the acquaintance of the mandarin of the deep blue button of a civil magistrate, I had at last the good fortune to visit a mandarin's family in a veritable yaamen in one of the oldest cities of China. Before the visit was arranged, a boat full of his servants down to the trusty port to give us his greetings and to escort us through the long and devious waterway of river, creek and canal that led to the bearded walls of Chang Shu. There were three foreigners in the party and it took two boats to accommodate us properly, with a third and smaller boat for our own servants and a fourth boat filled with the mandarin's contingent.

The Chinese house boat is a most perfect thing of its kind, with its carved, gilded and most beautifully varnished woodwork and its many ingenious contrivances. In a country where wheels are few and no land vehicles save the sedan chair or the more recent wheelbarrow, with its creaking axle and unmelodious song, travel is by the interwoven of creeks and canals that connect the great waterways of the empire. The meanest Chinaman can pole his skiff free and unmolested from Canton to Peking and from the seashore to the Great Wall over a system of water routes that were old when western nations were in their first youth. The house boats vary from the small dug-out canoe, which a whole Chinese family lives in, to the beautifully fitted homes in which the foreigner has his cabin and dining room, and on long hunting trips, was a gradual thing. One carries all the servants and the whole household equipment on a boat trip, and, with regular boat duties, the preparation of courses and elaborate dinners, the life is little changed and has no privations.

OFF WITH THE TIDE.

Starting off with the tide we went up the river at a speed that gave the Celestial, the skipper, nothing to do but order the course steered with the large oars at the stern, but in the narrower reaches of the creeks and canals the rower availed with the big oars and put up the sails to catch any favoring breath of a breeze. We gathered in one boat to have a delicious tea, and for the great ceremony of dinner, and at night dropped off to sleep in our comfortable state rooms to the regular thump of the oars and the swish of water, varied by strange ruggings on the bottom of the boat as a bed of heavy topped water plants slipped under the keel.

When we came out on the little duck-ed our boat was lashed to the bank, the string of brown boats with their gilded portals and red curtains made a pretty picture decorating edge of grassy bank, and we turned to finishing their homelike half across the narrow waterway. A few farm houses were near the bank, and the patch work of fields, with their dikes and ditches made right angles. Its name of Sanchow, three bridges, was apt enough, as the three high, narrow stone bridges were all near together, and commanded the whole of the picturesque bridge in China, a thin of narrow bows across long hold on stone piers that is high enough to allow the tallest mast to pass. The massive piers, and long stones are often carved with Chinese characters, but the wonder of them is chiefly how they were ever put in place. Not a derrick, not a crane, and without steam or mechanical appliances of any consequence.

When we reached the banks and inhabited dwellings, the word "gone behind" the first farm house, the rural family came half way to meet us, and watched us stolidly while the gathered wild dodgers by the tail. By the fold of our trousers we went through a conversation with the evident head farmer, two assistants and four female relations, with six children staring at the little strangers.

AT AMAZEMENT.

We must have been curiosities to these rural wives in their trousers and loose coats, as their first sight of foreign women, and we found the milliners' dummies of the shops walk around and touch our dresses and finally lose themselves in amazement at the pranks of the second skin, or gloves, on our hands.

The graves of their ancestors rose in hummocks in the midst of the field of dwarf cotton around the ill kept farm house, as the Chinese cemeteries are. No avenue of trees spot an ocean may indicate to him, and all his thrift does not conquer this superstition that dots all the cultivated fields with burial mounds. The top of the grave of the richest abestnut rose from an acre of muck and water, and the farmer, after digging to his elbows in the mud and bringing up only green lubers, had to confess: "They would not let rips until old Father Frost came along." One of his assistants sat contentedly down on the grave and began cheerfully on a bunch of a three foot stalk of sugar cane for his breakfast, and we went out on one of the three bridges and watched a duck farmer poling along in a flat bottomed skiff and driving his flock to pasture. Three hundred and more ducks quacked at sight of the strange figures on the bridge, and beat the water with their wings in their hurry to get past, while the duck farmer hooked in a few stray birds with his crook and evidently thought his view of the curiosities of foreign life when his ducks left the water and scrambled wildly up the banks and into the fields.

We floated slowly in our boats up the creek from the town, the view including cane fields, millet and cotton fields, farm houses and the innumerable bridges, before which the masts and sails were unhinged and laid flat on the cabin roof, and at last we saw the venerable gate brick walls of Chang Shu.—"Rohamah" in Globe-Democrat.

THE PUMP SNAKE.

A Reptile Who Is of Great Use in Dakota, They Say.

In the rural Dakota, on the "Missouri bottom," there grows one of the most curious plants. The settlers term it the "pump snake." How it came there or where it came from is yet unknown. It first made its appearance in Emmons county in the spring of 1886. A full grown pump snake measures about sixteen feet in length and about three inches in diameter. They are of grayish-white color, resembling the pine tree, though as many as 300 having been counted in a single acre. In dissecting one of these reptiles it was found to be of the same color from the roof of the jaw to the extremity of the tail, and terminating in an opening. This tube is about two inches in diameter, and lined with long, pliable substance, resembling the leather. The pump snake is easily trained to answer the call of man. The inhabitants in this section trap them in large numbers.

A farmer in Logan county has a flock of twenty pump snakes trained to a remarkable degree of proficiency. At the blast of a whistle they immediately fall on the backs of the ornak. The leader (there is always a leader to a herd of these snakes, who is elected by two-thirds majority) darts into the water with a loud "swish," only to appear in a moment at the bank. Another snake immediately grasps the end of the leader's tail in its jaws, a third snake takes hold of the second, and so on in a like manner, and so on until there is a continuous line of snakes joined end on, extending to the water brought to the cattle yards, 300 feet away. The leading snake then commences to swallow or pump the waters of the creek, which passes through the long line of snakes and is ejected from the last, and falls in a heavy stream into the trough.

This agriculturist told of an extraordinary circumstance which occurred a short time ago. While at work in the field near his house he observed flames issuing from the roof of his barn. Will with excitement he hurried to the building, only to see that it was a hopeless task for himself alone to attempt to extinguish the flames. In despair he gazed on the work of destruction; suddenly he thought of his pump snakes in the pasture, whence issued his herd of pump snakes on the run. The leader headed himself into the creek, the rest hastily adjusting themselves in a line, and the last in the line reached the burning building. The last snake, standing on its head, waved its long and flexible body, from the tail end of which issued a stream of water, which came down with terrific force on the burning building. Back and forth dashed the tail end of that living hose, squirting the water with unerring aim, and at night dropped off to sleep in our comfortable state rooms to the regular thump of the oars and the swish of water, varied by strange ruggings on the bottom of the boat as a bed of heavy topped water plants slipped under the keel.

When we came out on the little duck-ed our boat was lashed to the bank, the string of brown boats with their gilded portals and red curtains made a pretty picture decorating edge of grassy bank, and we turned to finishing their homelike half across the narrow waterway. MECHANICAL AND PRACTICAL.

The novel method devised by an Italian engineer of treating steam boilers with sugar as a preventive of incrustation has been found to answer well, the results proving quite satisfactory.

At a recent meeting of the Berlin Physiological Society Professor Virchow announced the most recent discovery in connection with instantaneous photography, by which it is now possible to obtain instantaneous photographs by daylight at night, but also in the darkest places.

The variety of the talk known commonly as slang is now used largely in popular literature, and is, in fact, the basis of the high grade which characterizes so much of our American paper. Its use has the great advantage that the effluent water from the paper mills is not contaminated then when kaolin is employed.

Small cast iron pieces can be tinned by first thoroughly cleaning the articles to be tinned and then immersing in a bath of sulphuric acid, cream of tartar, one ounce; protochloride of tin and ten quarts of water. The bath should be kept at a temperature of 100 degrees Fah. while working. Pieces of zinc should be thrown into the bath.

A novel process of making glass fibers of extreme tenuity has been devised by Mr. C. Vernon Boys. Two pieces of glass are fixed in a straw arrow, to the end of which the bit of glass from which the fiber is to be drawn is placed. After softening the glass in a flame the arrow is shot off, and the fine fiber which is marked by the fiber which streams behind it.

A varnish for foundry patterns and sea shores, which dries in a few minutes, is to be and gives the patterns a smooth surface, thus insuring an easy slip out of the mold and which prevents the sand from spurring, sticking and swelling, is made as follows: Thirty parts shellac, ten parts mastilla copal and ten parts Zanzibar copal are placed in a vessel which is heated by steam, and the mixture is stirred during four to six hours, after which 150 parts of alcohol are added and the whole heated to 87 degs. C. for four hours.

The way in which glass may best be cut with a diamond is told in The Family Gazette, London: "Glass may be cut under water with great ease, to almost any shape, with a pair of scissors or strong cutting nippers, and are necessary for the purpose. First, the glass must be kept quite level in the water while the cutting operations are applied, and, secondly, to avoid risk, it is better to perform the cutting by taking off small pieces at the corners and along the edges, and to reduce the shape gradually to the required form. The cutter draws out the last, and the substance need not be very sharp."

LIGHT AND AIRY.

On the Front Beach.
Oh, the breeze blew
And the white foam flew
Far out after the heaving sea;
And I rose and slid
Where I really could;
It will be the death of me.

Oh, my breath comes quick,
I am deathly sick,
And my ankle as a Chinese ghost
Ah! that billowy swell,
As the steam car fell,
Made me long for death almost.

While the swift yachts fly
I heave—a sigh,
And I long—how I long—for home
And I gaze at the beach—
Far out of reach—
And I wish that I hadn't come.
—Somerville Journal.

Constantly Reminded of Her.

He was stroking her hair fondly—she had beautiful hair, which was not overlooked when inscrutable providence was painting things red—and they were very, very happy.

"And during the busy hours of the day, George, dear," the girl went on, "do thoughts of me ever come to you? Do you think of me occasionally while immersed in the cares and responsibilities of your busy business life?"

"Do I think of you occasionally?" he replied, with tender reproach. "Yes, indeed I do, love; even as I see a white horse."—New York Sun.

The Only Way.

The surest and simplest highway to fame
Is to be an adept in the national game.
In pulpit, in politics, business, in all
The professions of life there's a chance that you'll fall.
But if you can hit a three-bagger at will,
And can catch without muffing the spherical pill;
Can steal with impunity home after base,
And can stop without wincing hot balls with your face—
You may make up your mind that fame, fortune
Is thine.
As long as you play with a regular nine.
—Life.

A Maligned City.

Young Mr. Waldo (visiting in Chicago)—I am very agreeably disappointed in Chicago, Miss Breezy. I have always understood that your city was somewhat backward in the refining influences which tend to smalt and embellish civilized life.

Miss Breezy (with genteel indignation)—Chicago is very much maligned, Mr. Waldo. The stories told that we possess but little culture and refinement are simply guff.—New York Sun.

Last Season's Account.

Announcement cards we now receive;
Our clothier humbly begs the leave
To call our kind attention
To all the latest styles for fall;
The patterns kept are passing small,
Of which he makes brief mention.
He guarantees a perfect fit,
And then concludes with, "Please remit."
—Clothier and Furnisher.

A Mortifying Shake.

Caller (to Mrs. Wabash of Chicago)—Were you at the dinner party given by Mrs. Breezy last week?

Mrs. Wabash—Yes.

Caller—It was a success, of course! Her dinners always are.

Mrs. Wabash—Yes. Everything was very fine, indeed. There were only nine kinds of pie. Mrs. Breezy explained that the baker had disappointed her.—New York Sun.

Winter is Coming.

'Twill soon be here.
The season drear
Of snow and bad nor'westers;
We'll then not expect
To resurrect
Last winter's overcoats.
—Clothier and Furnisher.

An Enormous Room.

"Ta," said the man from Biggerville, "we are having an old fashioned boom. Four railways heading our way, street car companies organized, new stock yards"——

"Here, stop, sir!"

"What's what I say."

"How large are they?"

"Why, about 14 ft. I'm reading 'em for a bill I am just now."—Lincoln Journal.

Room for Her.

She didn't like "crowding," it seems,
And loved what she'd ne'er own
A spacious house where whiskey
Was served without the drop.
—Merchant Traveler.

Two Pistol Cases.

Two bruised and battered tramps lay side by side in a hospital ward.

"I'm a free lunch vampire," said one; "what are you?"

"I was one of the fellers at a baby show," said the other; and then the orderly came and gave each of them a hypodermic injection of fresh whisky.—New York Sun.

What He Took.

The waiter tried to gently rise;
But, gracious! he stopped short
As Schmid, who knew of nocturnal sins,
And them, by Jove, he knew 'em!
—Boston Courier.

Suppressed Sex.

A contemporary asks: "Why should it ever occur to anybody that if the women of this country should march en masse to the polls to vote no power on earth could stop the panic?" Turn a New York man loose in Chicago and the enfranchised women would shake "on mass." No power on earth could stop the panic.—Marthy's Vineyard Herald.

A Natural Mistake.

Wonder how you got on him something to make a cycle you find a tramp's life a very hard one!

Stranger—Tramp, indeed! I'm no tramp. I'm just getting home from a summer resort.—New York Sun.

Vacation's Over.

The season's fun runs many months
Did idle vacate be found,
Both fops repose his idle ways,
"England is my home."
—Washington Critic.

The Trouble on Deck.

Wife (in the cabin, anxiously)—What's the trouble on deck, Charles?

Yacht Owner—The jib sheet is lost overboard.

Wife—Well, why don't they come and take one from the stanchions?—Tid Bits.

Somewhat Inevitable.

"Coleridge composed his poem Kubla Khan while fast asleep." Its soporific powers, however, are not so great as some of the later productions of the poetic mind, which keep people awake while they last.—Boston Bulletin.

The Quick Witted Maiden.

A maid who was quick with an ear,
Had a beau who was a good deer;
He asked her to be
His, and she said, "Buck, You're the only one I'll ever hear."
—New York Evening Sun.

THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its want column daily furnishes a quantity of labor needing and is the means of procuring all kinds of employment and the best class of help. For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertisements pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

JOTTINGS.

Bloomfield is to have electric lights

—To-morrow afternoon Elizabeth Fire Department will hold their annual parade. A large of firemen from this city will be present.

—It is expected that the clergymen of this city will hold monthly meetings this Winter at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The street cleaners are engaged in the commendable work of carting away that awful mud and are filling in the hollows of the macadamized roads.

—Thomas Hunt, the Newark truck driver, who was arrested for knocking down a lamp-post at the corner Park avenue, has settled by paying damages.

—Mrs. Palermo, the woman of the notorious poison case, arrived in Plainfield on a train from New York this morning. Her affair is being investigated by the Grand Jury.

—McDonnough & Martin, the celebrated Somerset street blacksmiths, make a new announcement in their advertisement to-day, which will be of interest to owners of horses.

—"Rest and change are good for people, the physicians aver," said a Plainfield housewife, as she rose at night to rifle her husband's pockets. "I've had a rest and I'm going through these pockets for a little change."

—On Monday evening the Rahway firemen held their annual election. Frederick Francis was elected Chief Engineer; Zachariah Robinson, First Assistant Chief; Second Assistant, Charles B. Healey. On Monday next the department will hold their annual parade and inspection.

—The "Ys" held a devotional meeting, Oct. 4, at 4 p. m. in Y. M. C. A. Hall. Mrs. David Taylor gave a very interesting Bible talk. A short business meeting of importance was held afterwards. The committee on rooms reported. Y rooms secured at Front street, opposite Peace. The following committee for furnishing said rooms was appointed: Misses Hattie P. Burnett, chairman, Julia B. Borden, Bell Duryea, Nettie L. French, Carrie E. Lowrie.

—"The Razzooper" is the name of a newspaper published in Cain City, Kansas. It declares that it is a "razzooper" from way back, and proposes to continue to "razzoop" every week as long as there is any money in "razzooping." Just what this new term means is not clear, but for "English as she is wrote," the "Razzooper" is almost on a par with the local paper that tells about such things as a "signboard which may be seen walking down Front street."

—At the fair for the benefit of St. Mary's church last evening the contest for the gold watch between Miss Gill and Miss Dalton was decided in favor of the former, she receiving 1030 votes to the latter's 720. The attendance was very good, but not as large as on the previous evening. The various tables and booths did a rushing business all the evening. A large French clock on the table of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society attracts considerable attention. The diamond ring contest between Miss Ella Breckley and Miss May Flynn will be decided this evening.

Simply a Paucity of "Thinks."

Still wriggling under public ridicule of its latest attempts at swindling, as exposed a few days ago in THE NEWS, our contemporary retorts by trying to make it appear that reputable newspapers are guilty of such practices, and in proof presents identical telegraphic reports of the New York Sun, Telegram and PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS, but omits to explain, what it very well knows, that those three papers and other leading papers in the country are supplied from the same source—the United Press Association, an organization whose business it is to furnish papers, who are willing to pay for the service, telegraphic news from all parts of the world. Our neighbor has no scruples about stealing news. That is an every-day affair with it, but it is scared at being exposed.

The New York Telegram, in its edition issued at noon, published a flowery preamble of the events preceding the great international yacht race. Our contemporary invested two cents for a copy, and six hours after published the whole story as original under the head of "Special Telegraphic Dispatches," word for word, for nearly a column. That's what we exposed. We have more respect than have they for the intelligence of the nearly 300 readers who had become used to from charity sake, or were on the large free list, believe that they could be so easily deceived. Only the most foolish of knaves would take them for such gullible guileless. Our neighbor should not wet its spleen on Plainfield and Plainfield's paper, and call them penny-wipers, for wiping the pen of disgruntled tricksters out of existence. It shows how carefully it reads every line of THE NEWS each day; but it seems too far gone in its depravity to learn anything. In the poor opinion of Plainfield people it is but a case for other rogues.

"No rogue e'er felt the halter draw
With good opinion of the law."

But though a deserved case, THE NEWS keeps it from doing any harm, for, as Blackstone says, "The fear of punishment is a greater incentive to rightful conduct than the hope of reward." And someone else has said that "If it is wrought by want of thought,

As well as want of heart,"

Deficiency in "thinks" may explain some of the imbecility.

An $2,000 Fire This Afternoon.

About half-past one o'clock this afternoon flames were discovered emerging from the front attic window of the dwelling on Grandview avenue, owned and occupied by George R. Leland, a tinsmith, and his family. The house is on the westerly side of the avenue and the third south of Westerveh avenue. It was a new house, built last year, the family only occupying it from last May. The next house north of it is occupied by Widow Oltman, who owns the house, and the next south is owned by the Davis estate, and occupied by the Widow Cole, while opposite reside the family of Robert Perkins the clothier. The alarm was given through the telephone of Smalley Brothers the butchers, on Somerset street.

About half an hour after the alarm the first engine, No. 3, arrived and connected with the well near Somerset street, only to find that the hose would not reach within a block of the fire. Before more hose could be got the building had been burning three-quarters of an hour, and of course was destroyed. No. 2 engine had located at Tice's Lake, but was in the same dilemma—insufficient hose.

The fire started in the attic where some of Mr. Leland's children were playing. Mr. Leland, who was, at the time the fire started, in the yard with one of his sons, harnessing his horse, having just finished his dinner, thinks it was caused by a defect in the chimney.

With the assistance of neighbors, all the furniture, except a small amount in the attic, was removed to the street.

The utter inefficiency of the fire department in this particular instance was clearly demonstrated. The property might easily have been saved with a little more promptness. The insurance is $1,800, and will not cover the loss $2,000.

A bucket brigade saved the house adjoining, occupied by Mrs. Margaret Oltman. The efforts of the Smalley brothers, Joseph Gavett, and others, whose names are unknown, won the warmest admiration.

At one time a side of the burning building fell over within a few feet of the Oltman dwelling and at the same moment the firemen tore down the rear wall, so that a burst of flames intensely hot enveloped the large willow tree between the two buildings. With a fierce rise the green leaves shrivelled and suddenly blazed, setting fire to the branches, the tree trunk and one of the shutters on the Oltman house. For nearly ten minutes it was nip and tuck as to whether the house would go, but the citizens' heroic efforts at the buckets saved it.

The fallen blazing timbers were hastily covered with newly dug soil and the only damage to Mrs. Oltman's place was the slight fire at the window shutter and the blistering of the paint.

At 2:10 water through the hose was at last conducted to the fire, but the stream was indeed feeble and at 2:22 the fire-well was exhausted.

The fire had to burn itself out; and it took its own time.

One factor in the saving of the Oltman house was the hanging of drenched carpets carpets from the eaves down the outer walls.

The Leland cottage is an utter ruin.

A Dunellen Man Ends His Life in a Wood at Elizabeth.

George Seaton, a farmer residing on Rahway avenue, Elizabeth, committed suicide yesterday afternoon while walking through a wood at the intersection of Bayway and Murray street to see the body of a man dangling from a tree. Seaton approached the body and cut it down, but life was extinct.

The man was well dressed and his watch was still running. In his pocket was a five-dollar bill and a note asking God to forgive him and bless his baby. It was signed H. E. Kenyon. His collar and cuffs also had this name stamped on them.

Chief Jenkins was notified, and, together with Officer Eckert and County Physician Westcott, hastened to the scene.

A letter was found in the suicide's pocket from Coroner Lyon, at the office of Justice Ulrich this morning to the County Jail for 60 days. The charge was drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

—It is now expected that there will be at least fifty charter members in the new local council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., to be organized Thursday night. Until eight o'clock that evening the books will be open for enrollment. After the business meeting a collation will be partaken of.

—Col. E. W. Davis of Newark will, as President of the Fifteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteer Association, attend the reunion of the surviors at Somerville on Oct. 19. A business meeting will be held in the Court House. The line of march will be formed at 11:15 and a parade will follow. Public exercises will be held on the base ball grounds. James Bergen will deliver an address of welcome and H. W. Phelps will also speak.

—The alarming spread of cerebro-spinal meningitis in Cape May county has caused the farmers and horse owners to organize a County Mutual Horse Insurance Company.

The Story of a Rumble.

A large number of the members of the Boys' Senior Society of the Y. M. C. A. and others, filled the lecture room of the association last evening to listen to Geo E. Vincent's description of his travels through Spain, Asia and Africa. He first described what he travelled from Paris to Madrid, through the hot, sandy country scenery between those places, how when he arrived at his destination he was besieged by the beggars for which that country is noted. Each beggar seemed to vie with the other in selling which had the most afflictions, and was therefore the one who ought to get all the money. He next described a bull-fight of which he was a witness and told the audience that they could see some pictures about bull-fights, which he would leave in the Y. M. C. A. rooms for a few days so that any person desiring to could look at them. He gave a brief description of his trip to Africa, how he went to a so-called religious meeting where one had to pay 60 cents to enter. He further described the way the dervishes, men who believe that if they mutilate themselves they will be saints in heaven, mutilated themselves, eating live scorpions, thrusting long needles through their tongues, lips, cheeks, eyelids. The "champions wallower," as he called him-etc, was a dervish who was a regular human cannibal, his stomach having tin, iron, china, anything, in fact, that was small enough to enter his cavernous mouth. Once he saw a boy, barefooted, dance and stood on a red hot shovel; he said he could understand how any person should dance on a red hot shovel if they once got upon it, but he did not see how he could stand on it; he then described some more tortures that the dervishes inflicted upon themselves. After thanking his audience for their kind attention and stating that he had spoken longer than he had intended, he sat down. A vote of thanks was proposed by a member. "All those in favor stand up said he." Everyone arose. The address throughout was filled with amusing and interesting anecdotes, and when the speaker stated that he had spoken longer than he had intended, he would that they wished he would tell them more of his travels, which he promised to do.

The society hope to avail themselves of Mr. Vincent's generous offer to give them another treat in the not far distant future. It is certain that every one who was present last night will be there the second time, and those who were not are assured of a pleasant evening when Mr. Vincent completes his talk, which he said time would not permit him to do last evening.

Secretary—H. J. Martin;
Chairman of the Devotional Committee—William Sharkey.
Chairman of the Sick Committee—W. H. P. Drake.

The class extended a unanimous call to Frank H. Gardner to teach them. The members decided to call the roll every Sunday and those failing to respond to their names will be fined a cent for four weeks, he is stricken from the roll. The treasurer's report was presented and adopted. The meeting then adjourned.

Republicans Ready for Work.

Local Republicans assembled at their headquarters in Army Hall, East Front street, last night, and had an informal discussion of matters political.

Ex-Postmaster Elias R. Pope occupied the chair, and in the absence of Secretary John H. Doane, Mr. J. B. Coward assumed his duties for the evening.

Mr. Pope announced that the meeting was but a preliminary one and wished to make the announcement that it was desired that Plainfield's Republican Association send ten delegates to the convention of the association of the State, to be held in Taylor's Opera House, Trenton, Oct. 10th. He further said that these delegates would be selected about five days before the convention.

"As I stated before," he continued, "this meeting is only for the purpose of looking over the ground a little in advance. I recommend that the rooms be kept open every evening until the elections are over.

"Next Wednesday evening the Young Men's Republican Association of Union County will hold a meeting here and three or four prominent speakers will deliver addresses. Some will be from Plainfield, some not; and among those from out of town will be possibly Messrs. Bergen and Voorhees of Elizabeth."

In calling for remarks from those present Mr. Pope signalled to Gershom Frazee, who sat in the rear of the room, and said:

"Mr. Frazee, what's become of all your fire and vim?"

"Oh," was the response, "At the proper time you will find me unanimously on deck. We're only building a foundation now; but we're laying it in solid rock, not sand. Those who are here to-night constitute the division that will leave the whole lump. And that lump will swell and swell and victory shall be ours."

"But," was jestingly asked, "you don't expect to elect Mr. Blaine this fall: do you?"

"Well, no—hardly. But we'll get there just the same when the polls arrives. And we won't need Mr. Cleveland's encyclopedia to help us, either."

"And," chimed in Mr. Pope, "before the Blaine triumph is at hand we're to keep our eye on other more local offices and elect representatives to them."

All this bantering discussion created considerable merriment, and it was in a white of good nature that adjournment was made to Tuesday evening Oct. 11, at eight o'clock, when arrangements for the meeting of Wednesday, the 12th, will be recommended.

The P. R. C. and the W. C. T. U. Separate.

The W. C. T. U., at its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, severed from the Reform Club. There was a small attendance, and it is said that many who were opposed to the action, were not aware that the matter was to be brought up and remained away, as the newly-elected President was absent. Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, who favored the separation, presided. The women have leased the building on East Front street, near Stiger's lane, known as the Marsh property, and have sub-rented the smaller half to the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union for $15 per month. This is the action which a prominent officer of the Club appealed to the Union in a communication in THE NEWS not to take, seeming to regard it as a fatal step in the temperance movement in Plainfield. Some of the women talk of organizing a new union and remaining by the Club, but perhaps when the matter is properly understood all around, it will not be viewed in the same light as it appears to be at present.

There is a painting over the platform arch in Reform Hall of two hands, a man and a woman's—clasped in each other and a white and red ribbon tying them together. The woman's hand represents the W. C. T. U., the man's hand, the Plainfield Reform Club; and the hands of these organizations are inscribed on either side. It is now proposed to drape the picture in mourning to express the feelings of those remaining for the dear departed, over whose departure so much regret is felt. In the absence of any explanation, the matter is somewhat unintelligible.

The two organizations have been united in the temperance work since February 22, 1884. Our correspondent intimated that the separation is due to selfish motives of a few, which it is hard to believe, and which only time will show. It is possible, however, that the seceders may show that their motive is misunderstood, as their friends will be glad to believe is the case.

STATE NOTES.

A sad accident occurred at Rahway, Tuesday afternoon, resulting in the death of Mrs. Fleta, who lived near the junction. She was endeavoring to cross the platform of the fast train from Philadelphia missed her calculation and was struck and died a few moments after.

Justice C. P. Ford of New Brunswick administered the oath of allegiance to the United States government on Monday to Miss Annie C. Stelle of Skelton, who has been appointed the mistress of the post office at that village. Miss Stelle is a descendant of the old Stelle family of Piscataway, from whom the name of the village is derived. She is less than 22 years of age.

The Board of City commissioners, acting under the orders of State Commissioner W. K. Newton, have begun an official investigation of the quality of the milk which is sold by the druggists and at the country stores. A number of samples are now in the hands of Prof. Shippen Wallace, who is making the analysis.

MANITOBA'S RAILWAY MUDDLE.

Premier Norquay Says the Road Will be Built, Regardless of Opposition.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 5.—Premier Norquay arrived home Monday night. In an interview with a correspondent yesterday he said: "You all know by this time that I did not succeed in raising the money for building the Red River Valley railroad. I exhausted every effort and left no stone unturned to raise and float the bonds. But owing to three causes I failed. The first cause was the California boom, almost amounting to a panic, but the prime cause, I believe, was the influence of agents of the Canadian Pacific railway and the Dominion government, who approached financial men and damaged the province's case by saying the railway could not be legally built. The third cause was the influence of sensational reports by American papers by Canadian correspondents that the Manitobans are in a state of almost armed rebellion. If Mr. Joe Rivers and I had applied one day sooner to St. Sulpice convent we could have obtained $750,000 instead of $50,000. Nevertheless, the road will be built, in spite of all opposition."

DIABOLICAL WORK OF ROBBERS.

Attempt to Fire a Building in Which Thirty-one People Were Asleep.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—An extraordinary crime was committed at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at No. 457 Canal street. The first floor of the building is occupied by Frank Macha, a saloon keeper. About the hour named the tenants in the upper story were aroused by a noise down stairs. Investigation showed that a fire had been kindled under a sink in the corner of the hall, and three men were seen running away. Cries of "Help!" were heard from Macha's rooms, and when the people from above reached the spot they found the saloon enveloped in smoke and Mr. and Mrs. Macha bound hand and foot. They had been chloroformed by the incendiaries, who apparently wished to make a sure thing of their work.

After the fire was extinguished it was found that Macha had been robbed of $143. The damage by fire was about $1,000. The floor had been saturated with kerosene and other inflammables. Thirty-one people were asleep in the building at the time. No one is yet suspected.

How coolly the robbers operated may be judged from the fact that they stopped to remove the cartridges from a revolver they found on the bar, and left a stock of their sleeping victim. A neighbor found the money bag that the thieves had carried off. Its contents had been removed and it was lying in the mud just back of the house.

B. AND O. TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

Authoritative Statement Regarding Its Sale to the Western Union.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—A Record to-day says: It is authoritatively stated in this city that the negotiations between the Western Union and the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph company, by which the former is to obtain control of the latter, have been practically settled—and will be formally reported to the stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company at their next annual meeting, when President Garrett will announce the sale of the telegraph privileges and tender his resignation as president of the company. He will be succeeded by Vice-President Spencer.

The Record adds that General Manager Bates endeavored to dispose of the telegraph rights of the company to a syndicate, but failed, and that the negotiations which have now been consummated were hastened by the fact that Jay Gould will shortly sail for Europe.

Still Denying Wall Street Rumors.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—Vice-President Spencer, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, said yesterday: "The statement that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company will abandon so valuable an asset to the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph is ridiculous. You may set this down as a fact. However, the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph must earn more money, with less operating expenses."

Honoring a Labor Leader.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—At a meeting of labor leaders last night to arrange for the funeral of the late Thomas A. Armstrong, editor of the Journal of Labor, a temporary monumental association was organized for the purpose of erecting a monument to Armstrong's memory. A telegram was sent to General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, at Minneapolis, asking his co-operation and that of the general assembly.

A Doubled Confession.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Henry Kemper, which occurred early in January, 1885, has been solved by the dying confession of the murdered man's wife, who aged 24 years, in which the latter acknowledged that he killed his father for the purpose of securing a large sum of money which he was supposed to have had on his person at the time.

The Sterling Miners.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Oct. 5.—All repair work at the mines of the Packer collieries at Lost Creek and Brownsville has been stopped by the operators, and the black flag hoisted and will remain there unchanged, the strike of the miners rendering their work unnecessary. This action indicates a continuance of the determined struggle, and that no compromise will be made.

Touring in the "Wild West."

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5.—Capt. Thomas Bigman, of the G. A. R., reports a robbery on the Wabash road Monday night between St. Louis and Kansas City. The robbers went through all the cars, armed with revolvers, and robbed each passenger in succession. Bigman accuses the treasurer of neglect of duty, and says cases of them must have "stood in" with the robbers.

From the Infected District.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The steamer Chandernagore, which arrived yesterday from Naples, is held at Quarantine for fumigation, as a precaution against cholera, though no sickness was found on board.

VERY LITTLE PROGRESS.

THE FIRST DAY'S WORK OF THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

The Report of the Committee on Credentials Not Acted Upon—A Lengthy Discussion Interrupt d by a Diversion in the Shape of a Dude Reporter.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—The proposition to admit representatives of the press to the sessions of the Knights of Labor convention, entitled to seats, and that five contests had been referred to the body for its disposition. The first of these, that of Buchanan, the Chicago labor editor who seeks to represent a Colorado constituency, was at once taken up. Protests against his eligibility had been filed by nearly every local assembly in the state, and the report of the committee was adverse to his claims. For nearly four hours the men who had gathered from California to Maine, and whose chief pastime thus far had been to parade, frittered away their time in a debate as to whether Buchanan should be admitted or excluded.

It was in the hottest part of the debate that a suspicious noise behind the stage curtain attracted the attention of a delegate. He proceeded to investigate, and a moment later emerged with the collar of a dudish looking young fellow in his tight grasp. Pale and trembling the intruder, in response to a question, gave his name as Cockburn, their representative of a Milwaukee daily, and he was instantly recognized as the ex-editor of a labor sheet in that city, which had systematically vilified the order in general and the grand master workman in particular. He was expelled from the building without further delay, and the debate was resumed. It might have lasted till midnight had not the delegates remembered that the dining rooms in the hotels closed at 8, and shortly before that hour an adjournment was taken, with the understanding that a vote should be reached immediately upon the reassembling of the convention.

The most important matter of affairs that has yet developed in connection with the general assembly came to light last night. It is learned—and the information has been verified by the signatures of fifteen local assemblies—that the opponents of the administration will make an effort in the convention to overthrow the action of last year's assembly creating the terms of office of the general officers to October, 1888. That action, it is claimed, was clearly unconstitutional, and it is the allegation that the action was taken after nearly all the delegates had left for home and the convention had been reduced to a mere rump.

Escaped Prosecution by Suicide.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dr. Robert C. Kinkaid, a prominent and the most popular local politician, against whom the Second National bank yesterday commenced criminal proceedings, the charge being that he forged the name of his father to two notes of $200 each, committed suicide yesterday by taking poison.

Capt. Kingsbury Dead.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 5.—Capt. William E. Kingsbury, Eleventh United States infantry, died yesterday, aged 51. He was retired two years ago on account of ill health. Capt. Kingsbury had taken thirty-two degrees in Masonry, and was well known at the head centers in military circles. He was born at Erie, Pa.

Bismarck and Crispi.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The interview between Prince Bismarck and Signor Crispi resulted in a written triple arrangement. Italy will act independently in the Mediterranean. Should her interests conflict with those of France and Russia Italy is to rely upon the support of Germany and Austria.

RAZING AT DICKINSON COLLEGE.

A Subject for Vigilance Investigation by the Faculty.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 5.—The freshmen of Dickinson college have been hazed, and more thoroughly and effectively than in a number of years. The hazing was done at night, between the hours of 11 and 4. The sophomore class got together and moved over to Tait college, where the largest number of the students room. Nearly all the upperclassmen were found along one of the upper floors "on the freshies up." The first room was owned by two freshmen, and was close to the doctor's office. In response to a knock by the sophomores, and that five contests had been referred to the body for its disposition. The first of these, that of Buchanan, the Chicago labor editor who seeks to represent a Colorado constituency, was at once taken up. Protests against his eligibility had been filed by nearly every local assembly in the state, and the report of the committee was adverse to his claims. WRECKED ON THE LAKE.

A PROPELLER DASHED TO PIECES IN A TERRIBLE GALE.

Fourteen Out of the Twenty-seven Souls on Board Sink Beneath the Waves. The Shore for Five Miles Strewn with Wreckage—Story of a Survivor.

MACKINAW CITY, Mich., Oct. 5.—The propeller California, commanded by Capt. Trowell, left Chicago on Saturday night, bound for Montreal. She was laden with 20,000 bushels of corn and 200 barrels of pork, and carried a crew of twenty-two persons and seven passengers. She encountered a heavy wind early on Monday morning off the Beavers, and at 4 p. m. the sea had increased so that it was impossible to steer her, and 330 barrels of pork were thrown overboard, but without helping her much. About 11 p. m., when just above St. Helena Island, the sea broke the pilot house and put out the fires. She then swung around in the trough of the sea and began breaking up.

The captain ordered the yawl to be launched, but she was so badly injured that it was impossible to lower but one. The captain went into the cabin to get the passengers out, but when he returned found that the cabin and cabin stairway had left with the boat. The steamer now began rapidly breaking up, and soon all hands were struggling in the water. The captain and engineer succeeded in getting a boat loose from the wreck and picked up the second engineer, cook and one lady passenger. Their boat drifted down alongside the propeller A. Mooers Wheeler, which was anchored under St. Helena, and was picked up and brought here.

Another vessel had succeeded in getting ashore near Point La Barbe. The steamer Fenton picked up one man who was drifting down the straits on some wreckage. Among the lost are: Peter Campbell, mate, of Kingston; Mrs. Blood, of Picton, Ont.; Arthur Renard, cabin boy, of Toronto; the first cook, name unknown; Bob Hill, of Montreal, second cook; S. A. Mills, second engineer, of Toronto; George Foley, purser; Paul Desjore, wheelsman, of Montreal; Joe Martin, deck hand, of Kingston. Shore for five miles above here is strewn with wreckage Capt. Trowell says all were supplied with life preservers, and it is probable that all the bodies will be recovered. Seven of the crew reached Point La Barbe in the lifeboat in an almost lifeless condition.

Later information places the number lost at fourteen and the saved thirteen. The wreck lies a mile from shore and a heavy sea is breaking over it. The hull is under water, the mast gone, and the cabin stands on deck. It is thought nearly all the bodies will be found under it. The survivors are being tenderly cared for by farmers. Four of the saloon were unconscious when shore was reached and none could walk.

Owen Rourke, a wheelsman, said: "After all hope had been given up, the passengers gathered on the stern and put on cork life preservers. I was standing aft when an immense sea struck her and threw her over on her side. When she came back she shipped a sea that broke her amidships and she collapsed with a crash."

Rourke says he pulled himself into a lifeboat and with seven others was soon out of sight of others in the boat with him. They drifted around the straits four hours, the boat being full of water. A fireman and Harry — a passenger from Montreal, who were swinging on the sides, were swept overboard and lost.

VERY VIGOROUS RESISTANCE.

An Irish Eviction, with the Usual Hot Water Accompaniment.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A large crowd assembled yesterday at Gweedore, and obstructed the officials while evicting a widow named Bonar from her dwelling. The house was strongly barricaded. When the bailiffs advanced with crowbars to force an entrance boiling water was thrown in their faces and upon their heads. When the door was finally smashed open and the bailiffs rushed in they were attacked the bailiffs. The sight roused the crowd, who began an attack upon the officers, but were restrained by Father McFadden, the parish priest. Holes were broken in the sides of the house, but again entrance was prevented by the use of the boiling water, while the crowd cheered wildly. After the gable fell, carrying with it part of the roof. The inmates of the house still ginered in defiance and hurled stones at the police. By a desperate rush the officers were succeeded in forcing an entrance and dragging out Mr. Gallagher, a son-in-law of the widow. He were only a shirt and trousers, and his wife, who was brought out with him, was clad only in scant undergarments. They were miserably poor and emaciated, and so weak that they had to be carried to the barracks on doors. Their and plight caused intense excitement among the people. After the police had gone the crowd reinstated the inmates. Mr. O'Brien, M. P., declared he would come to Gweedore as soon as possible.

Pittsburg's G. A. R. Parade.

It is estimated that 50,000 visitors were in the city. Camp fires were held in the evening in Fifth Avenue Music hall, Old City hall, Salisbury hall and Allegheny coliseum. The latter's orators was Governor Beaver, Gen. Fairchild, Adjt. Gen. Stewart and Gen. Osborne.

TELLING THE STORY.

AN HOUR WITH THE PACIFIC RAILROAD COMMISSION.

What an Artist and a Writer for This Paper Found to Interest Our Readers. How C. P. Huntington Looks When Testifying.

Everybody in the country who is interested in politics and railroads (and who is not?) is also interested in the congressional Pacific railway commission, and the examination of the ingenious witness and experienced enterpriser, C. P. Huntington. The scene of the inquiry—in the Astor building, Fine street, New York—is an attractive one to artists and reporters, and they have plenty of material for the exercise of their talents and the earning of shekels in recording the words and attitudes of Mr. Huntington and his co-witness, Gen. Dodge, the honorable gentlemen who compose the commission, and the slightly wasthly gentleman who acts as counsel for the Central Pacific. Conspicuous for size and solid dignity is the Hon. David T. Littler, of Springfield, Ills., now representing Abraham Lincoln's old district. He is evidently a man of weight—not less than 200 pounds, anyhow. His hair is just gray enough in places to look genial, and dark enough elsewhere to shade his broad, ruddy face. His dark gray eye beam with an encouraging smile, and as he leans back in his chair and listens placidly to the cumulative testimony a stranger would take him for a Sunday-school superintendent on a vacation. And a broad chest, well muscled limbs and a head quite large enough to suit his body, if you have the corporeal presence of Illinois' capital representative. He looks quite too good natured for the business he is in, but he stirs a witness up occasionally, all the same.

To his right and left, and to the right blonde, Hon. E. Ellery Anderson, of New York city, who does the questioning for the commission. His manner of opening the attack on any special point is courteous and deferential, the very bright of courtesy; but at about the seventh question he has the witness in a corner, as it were. At the head of the table sits ex-Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the commission; and nature could scarcely have formed a more striking contrast than that between him and Mr. Anderson, for the governor is a very dark brunette—dark as the typical Spaniard of Andalusia. Hair, beard and eyebrows are of a dead black; but, like the other two members, he has the size. In fact, a striking feature of the whole affair is the bigness of the participants—so far as goes to make for the business, and Mr. Huntington, the champion witness, is apparently the biggest and most imposing of the lot. In size and general make up he bears a remarkable resemblance to the late Brigham Young, except that he lacks that heavy under jaw and puffed lip which gave the Mormon chief's face a singular attorney look.

Mr. Huntington is the center of attraction, and at times is noticeably nervous, a manifestation which causes a smile among the observers. Nobody laughs at a little timidity for being nervous—we expect it of him; but when a great mass of blood and brain, brawn and healthy flesh like this fidgets like a schoolboy or slightly reddens as a budding maiden, there is a comical contradiction between the subject and the action. And just in proportion as he gets excited he forgets his grammar; provincialisms of his Connecticut boyhood come out, and he tells what "was done and why we done it," or "guesses the commission will have to go to the documents for that." But in one part of his testimony on the day the writer was present he became highly dramatic—accurately thrilling. That was when he told of his experience with the wild Indians of Nevada; how Winnemucca could rally 3,000 warriors; how his band had defeated the soldiers and killed their peacock Big Meadow; how he and the Central Pacific made a special treaty with Winnemucca, gave him a special car free, carried his people free to the railroad's terminus, and how all this produced a lasting peace with those Indians, till now the sage brush plains of Nevada were as safe as the Mohawk vale and as fair way to blossom as the rose. In short, Mr. Huntington waxed so eloquent in various statements of what he had done for his country and his fellow citizens, that it was actually pathetic; and one felt for the time that the persecuted patriot should be dismissed with a pension.

He had just got warmed up in his first digression of this nature when Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, the soldier and engineer-director of the Union Pacific, entered and took a seat near him. Gen. Dodge is rather feeble health; his form, which was once so upright at the head of his Iowa soldiers, is sadly bowed, and as he leaned forward to catch the words of the witness, his hand held to his "good ear" indicated that that sense too was failing. Something in Mr. Huntington's testimony seemed to amuse the general hugely; he repressed his laughter with difficulty, and in the most pathetic portions grew red in the face and was almost convulsed. But his own turn came next and he was extremely grave, answering all Mr. Anderson's questions promptly and with the explicit directness of the engineer. Physically he is a striking contrast to Mr. Huntington. The latter's pay object suggests immense reserve power; his eye is of a peculiar gray—a deep, terribly

STILLWATER'S SENATOR.

Some of E. W. Durant's Jokes Told at Long Branch.

E. W. Durant, Stillwater's senator and joker, has been on a summer trip to the seashore with his wife, and if the stories that come floating in from Long Branch are all true he is having a good time. One day at table a big mosquito of the Jersey breed lighted on the senator's hand. With an expression of terror and amazement on his countenance the senator beckoned to a waiter and inquired:

"What is this animal?"

"What is it? Why, it's a skeeter. Didn't you ever see a skeeter?" replied the waiter.

"Kill it!" commanded Durant.

The waiter obeyed.

"Remove the corpse."

The waiter gave the senator's hand a brush with a napkin.

"Well, I never saw anything like that before!" solemnly remarked the gentleman, who had been fighting mosquitoes at Stillwater all his life.

On another occasion at table Mr. Durant observed sitting near him quite an old gentleman accompanied by a pretty young lady, who he correctly surmised was the old gentleman's darling. They were on their wedding trip. The senator gave his wife the wink and began to guy the ill assorted pair.

"Are you enjoying your wedding trip with me," he hazarded to Mrs. Durant, "as well as you did the one you took with your first husband?"

He heard the old gentleman mutter between his teeth: "That's a devil of a question to ask a woman in this place."

The Stillwater senator gained fresh inspiration from this, and the way he played the game of a second husband on a wedding trip was a surprise to the whole table. The old man and his darling, however, failed to relish it, and blushed with an intensity that caused the ice cream to melt.—St. Paul Flower Press.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

A little girl, who wanted to describe the absent mindedness of her mamma, said: "His remember is so tired that he has to use his forget all the time."—Boston Journal.

"Mamma," said little Flossie, who was more or less busy at her morning toilet, "can I kiss Fido on the nose?" "Yes," replied the indulgent mother, who was feeding Fido a French chop, "but not until you are dressed, dear, and have your face washed."—New York Sun.

"What a splendid parrot that is of Brown's! So intelligent, you know!" "Intelligent! Why, one would almost think him human. He repeats everything he hears."—Boston Traveler.

In the island of Sumatra a flower grows which is nine feet in circumference and weighs fifteen pounds. When a Sumatra dude goes to the theatre he has his bouquets brought in by an able bodied valet.—New York Tribune.

In the west "ragooser" has taken the place of the word broom.

The manager of a Los Angeles newspaper sent out the following notice on a postal card: "The real estate boom has robbed us of our editor, printer and office boy, and the manager having opened a real estate office, it has become necessary to suspend the publication of this journal until all hands have become millionaires, which, of course, will be in the near future. Until then fraternally yours."—Exchange.

Long John Wentworth, of Chicago, says "the good old days" are nothing to the present. He continues, "I was living on the Ouley farm, near where Kinsley's restaurant now stands. It was so hot that we had to hang the thermometer in the well and keep fanning it to prevent it from bursting."—Exchange.

Mr. Carter Harrison was one day talking about the boys in Chicago whom he knew. After naming scores of them and dwelling on the characteristics of each he said: "And then there's my boy Carter." For a moment he paused and then added: "Well, Carter Harrison's the only boy in Chicago whom I don't know!"—New York Tribune.

A President's Precaution.

Cashier—Mr. Druff, I wish a vacation. A brother of mine is to be married at Montreal the last of next week, and I hope to be present at the wedding.

Bank President—Very well, I'll see if we can arrange it.

C—Thank you.

B. P. (returning to his private office and accosting his secretary)—William, I wish you to call in Mr.——, the expert accountant who examined the bank's books last year, and tell him I will require his services for a few days, and also step into Pinkerton's and have them send to me one of their most capable and trustworthy detectives.—Boston Budget.

A Tiresome Evening.

Omaha Girl—Isn't Mr. De Blank funny?

Omaha Youth—I noticed you seemed to think so.

"Why, he has kept us laughing half the evening. Didn't you enjoy his wit?"

"I found it very tiresome."

"Tiresome! Oh, you don't mean it. I know you have a keen appreciation of humor. Why didn't you enjoy Mr. De Blank's joke?"

"Well, the fact is, he takes the same funny paper that I do."—Omaha World.

Sufficiently Descriptive.

A wee maiden, as many other small children have done, had the misfortune to fall down stairs the other day, and in landing at the foot that part of the anatomy commonly denominated the "fatty tissue" came in contact with the wall with more force than was calculated to make a comfortable impression. On being picked up and asked if she was hurt, she rubbed her arm for a moment and said: "No, but my elbow is awful dimpy."—Buffalo Courier.

Down at Long Branch.

Highway man—Hold up your hands! Bill, cover him with that rev gun. Now, sir, shell out.

Gambogo (with a hollow laugh)—My dear fellow, I've been here four weeks.

Bill (to the highwayman)—Let him pass, Jim. He ain't got nothin' valuable about him.—Philadelphia Call.

A Poor Excuse Is Better Than None.

Jack—Ethel, I'm ashamed of you. I saw that Frenchman in the conservatory kissing you rip at-ally. Why didn't you tell him to stop?

Ethel—I couldn't, Jack.

Jack—You couldn't! Why not?

Ethel—I can't speak French.—Judge.

By Moonlight.

Mr. B.—I think I fancy guitar music best in moonlight—don't you think so, lovely?

Miss L. (of Chicago)—Ah, yes; he wairs are certainly airless, are they not?—Judge.

Leave Her for Her Worth.

Jones—Hello! Do you call the bride of earlier—Mr. Jones, her husband is coming, and I owe in order to avoid meeting him I must go by the back door.—Boston Budget.

—A carriage owned by Mr. B. Obits of Somerset street collided with one owned by Mr. St. J. Potter of Grove street this morning on Somerset street and wrecked a wheel. Mrs. Obits and her daughter Mrs. Allison received a severe shaking up, as did the driver of the other vehicle, but no one was greatly hurt.

—The contest for the diamond ring at St. Mary's fair, between Miss May Flynn and Miss Ella Reville, was decided in favor of the former last evening, she receiving 3,280 votes to the latter's 2,450. A large crowd was in attendance and success is assured. The sewing machine contest will be decided this evening.

—It is reported that while Assembly man Corbin has openly declared in a letter in the Elizabeth Journal that he would not take the nomination for State Senator on the Republican ticket from Union County, he is running an underground candidacy. "There are," says a prominent Republican, "two true and tried Republicans, either of whom the party will probably select, and, what is more, elect." Mr. Corbin's underground scheme they don't go much on.

—There were received yesterday some new decisions of the Post Office Department as to packages of fourth-class matter. The Postmaster-General is now of the opinion that words descriptive of the business of the sender cannot be allowed on the outer wrapper of the package. He believes, however, that when a wrapper or envelope is a patented article it may be lawfully stated by the word "patented" and the date of the patent should be placed on the patent wrapper.

—The Union County Court of General Quarter Sessions opened Wednesday morning with Judges VanDyckel, McCormick, Harper and Hyer on the bench. Some Orphans' Court business was transacted, after which the court adjourned until to-day.

—There was a story on the streets last evening that the Leland fire yesterday afternoon originated from matches which two of the small children of the family were playing with in the attic. Mrs. Leland, it was said, was greatly grieved and much excited over the loss of her pleasant home, made remarks which are supposed to have started the story. Mr. Leland says the two children referred to were not in the attic at the time of the last fire, but in their bedroom on the second story, playing, not with matches, but with a piece of liquorice, which one would hide for the other to find. A neighbor has shared her home with the unfortunate family until they can have the insurance settled and secure another home.

—Henry E. Kenyon of Dunellen, who committed suicide on Tuesday, near Elizabeth, by hanging, has been ascertained to have been a clerk in the Jersey City freight office of the Central Railroad, under Manager George O. Moore. His father lives in Genesee, Allegheny county, N. Y., and a telegram was sent to him informing him of his son's death. County Physician Westcott ascertained that Kenyon was married and leaves a wife and a baby three months old, which was the one referred to in the note found in his pocket. He was a faithful, attentive clerk, but latterly has had family troubles which weighed heavily on his mind. In the past few months he had several attacks of mental aberration, and in a moment of mental distress hanged himself while suffering under one of these spells. The body will be kept at the morgue until his father is heard from.

DRAMATIC TEXAN LIFE.

A Former Plainfielder Tells a Thrilling Western Tale.

Charles Sanford, formerly of Seventh street, Plainfield, writes the following letter from St Paul, Minn.:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—From the well-written accounts in copies of your paper which I have received, I judge that you must have had great excitement about the fire fiends. Lynching would serve them right.

Lend me room in one of my dailies.

Recently I witnessed an incident which had many of the elements of a border drama. An old and respected bear-hunter with whom I traveled across the plains, was overcome one day with the heat. For more than a week he lingered between life and death. I arrived at his home when he was dying.

DEATH AND BURIAL OF THE PLAINS.

It was a solemn scene; the humble cabin; the crowd of strong Western farmers, cowboys and children; the weeping wife and children. Frequently the room was so still that one might have heard a pin drop. A painful quiet, save for the hard breathing of the dying man.

It was decided to send again for the doctor, who lived twenty-two miles away. Mr. H. was chosen for messenger and, saddling his horse, he galloped at full speed for town.

The road is soon told. It became intoxicated and did not consummate the charitable purpose of his errand. The old settler died that afternoon.

NO SHELVED SERMON; ONLY MUTE SOLEMNITY.

Old frontiersmen say that they never witnessed a "harder" death.

Burial occurred on the morrow. A horseman was sent to town for a coffin, which arrived the same day. The grave was dug, and with the aid of reminders the corpse was buried on the prairie. A rude rail fence was erected about the grave to keep the wolves away. After the funeral the crowd of weather-beaten settlers mounted their horses and rode quietly away. They were not expressionless, but they felt their loss just the same.

At the time of this sad occurrence I was on a sheep ranch whose owner had but one brat. In this he, his wife, mother-in-law and three small children doted. They had coming home. He at once rode back for whiskey. In the meantime the child's leg had swollen to the knee, although it was not discoloring, everything that they could to stop the effects of the poison. Under her direction I mixed with the alcoholic antidote and the girl's life was saved. It was a week before she was entirely well. Here the rattles of the venomous reptile that bit her.

I recently attended

A BARBECUE.

Two steers and six sheep were roasted. People were present from miles around. A rude table, hastily groaning with its plenty, was erected. At midday the feasting commenced in earnest.

A CONVICT BANKER'S PRISON LIFE.

Fond Devotion of a Faithful Daughter. Fish in Poor Health.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Warden Durston, of the Auburn state prison, was met yesterday at the Hoffman house by a reporter, and in the course of some conversation about the institution over which the warden exerts authority the name of ex-President James D. Fish, of the Marine National bank, was mentioned.

JAMES D. FISH.

The warden said that Mr. Fish had been in general good health since his confinement in prison up to about three weeks ago, and that while he was not in any dangerous condition for a man of his years, he was nevertheless experiencing a spell of poor health. Up to three weeks ago Fish had always been favored with an appetite somewhat above the ordinary, but since then the viands of the prison seemed to relish his food more than Mr. Fish did. But about three weeks ago his appetite failed, and since then he had been under the care of the doctor. Mr. Fish did not appear to be suffering, however, from any special illness and he was one of the most patient, well disciplined, uncomplaining men in Auburn. He is now employed at light work in the shoe factory, his business being to put the tags on the unmanufactured goods that after they leave the cutters' hands and before they go into the hands of the sewers and finishers.

"If ever a man had a good, faithful, loving daughter," said the warden, "that man is Fish. She is entirely devoted to him and is as constant in her visits and general attention to him as the prison rules will permit."

Miss Fish, since her father's confinement, has made her home at Auburn, so as to be near him and see him as often as possible. The good little woman's mother, Hallie Reber, the sweet singer, died in giving birth to, as Leonia, a few miles out in New Jersey, is being cared for by Miss Fish. The little girl is now nearly 7 years old, and it will be remembered that Mr. Fish claimed, after Miss Reber's tragic death, that he had been secretly married to her. It caused quite a sensation last betray the collapse of the bank.

An Irish Constable Refuses to Fire Upon a Crowd.

DUBLIN, Oct. 6.—Evictions were continued at Gweedore yesterday. When the police, followed by an immense crowd, came to the house of the widow Bowles they found it strongly fortified, and the inmates prepared to make stout resistance. Boiling water was dashed upon the bailiffs, and they were several times compelled to retire. They finally gained access to the roof and demolished the chimney, tumbling the debris down into the fire. The burning coals were scattered over the floor, and the inmates were compelled to surrender. Seven persons were taken from the house and placed under arrest. The hostile demeanor of the crowd alarmed the police, and the commander at last ordered his men to prepare to fire, whereupon Constable Haughey declined to obey the order, and was relieved of arms from the ranks and threw down his rifle. He will probably be arrested for refusing to do his duty.

Murderer McCabe Again Respited.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—James P. McCabe, the Wayne county murderer, who was to be hanged at Honesdale today, has been granted a respite until Nov. 10. All the arrangements had been made for the execution. Counsel for the prisoner appeared before Governor Beaver yesterday and argued that the respites issued during the time McCabe was at liberty after his escape from jail were irregular, and he desired time to establish the prisoner's legal rights under the peculiar circumstances.

Eloping With Two Woman.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Urgel Arcand, a young man of 25, was arrested yesterday while eloping with two married women—Mrs. Casavant and Mrs. Soby. They had driven out to St. Henri in order to evade the police and then embarked to take the train there for Troy, N. Y., but unfortunately for them a detective had gone out with the train. Both women had carried off trunks of clothing and other articles belonging to their husbands, and Arcand was wearing Mr. Soby's gold watch.

Four Men Killed by an Explosion.

AMANDA, O., Oct. 6.—By the explosion of a boiler last evening in David Young's sawmill, three miles northwest of here, George Laps, Perry Laps, Simon Young and Amos Young were instantly killed, and Mrs. Simon Young, who was at the time 300 yards from the mill, was seriously injured. The cause is unknown, as every one at the mill was killed. Simon's head was blown 100 feet in the air. Amos' skull was crushed to atoms, and the others were blown to fragments.

Lost on Lake Huron.

GODERICH, Ont., Oct. 6.—Capt. John McDonald and crew of the schooner J. G. Kalfage, which was ashore on the beach near Port Bixtes, has arrived. He reports that on Sunday, when about thirty miles off Thunder bay, Lake Huron, saw a three masted vessel founded, with all hands. The Kalfage was only a short distance from the ill fated craft at the time, but, owing to the terrific storm that prevailed, was unable to ascertain the name or render any assistance.

A New Trial Denied Happy Bob.

WARSAW, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The general term, now in session in Rochester, has handed down a decision refusing the motion of "Happy Bob" Van Brunt, the Salvationist, for a new trial. He is convicted of murder in the first degree, but his counsel, Gen. Sprague, argued that he was no premeditation and that he should be punishable only for murder in the second degree. He murdered Will Rice one year ago. The case will be taken to the court of appeals.

George Francis Going Away to be Shot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—George Francis Train talked two hours last night to an audience of twenty people, mostly reporters, in a hall at No. 26 Clinton place. He said it was probable he should ever speak here. He was going to Chicago in the morning to be shot.

An Aged Physician Killed.

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 6.—Doctor M. C. Davis, a prominent citizen of this place, was struck by a train and killed while driving in his buggy yesterday afternoon. He was 70 years old.

GETTING DOWN TO WORK.

TWO DAYS CONSUMED OVER THE CASE OF BUCHANAN.

The General Assembly Finally Decides That He is Not Entitled to Admission. Other Contestants Admitted—Listening to Michael Davitt.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—After a debate which had altogether consumed nearly nine hours and extended over two days, the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor decided last evening, by a small majority, that of the 225 delegates who voted upon the question, that Joseph R. Buchanan, of Chicago, was not entitled to a seat in the body.

Outside of this matter the session was of a most harmonious character, and the assembled knights vied with each other in their manifestations of good feeling. The protest against George Schilling and C. F. Zelb, of D. A. 84, of Chicago, were declared of no account, and the two delegates, who had been suspended in the Chicago outside stops of the hall, were admitted to their seats by a unanimous vote.

Nor was there any opposition to the acceptance of the credentials of C. F. Murray, the representative of the Printers and Newspapermen's assembly, No. 94, of New York, to the hall floor, and also on account of his local having been suspended for arrears. This was a parallel case to that of Buchanan's, but Murray's popularity and prowess in the field stood him in good stead. In the case of the two delegates from D. A. 16, Powderly's district, who were objected to by D. A. 49, on the ground that they were connected with the same trade, the assembly decided in short order to seat the delegation. A delegate from D. A. 53, of San Francisco, was also seated over the protests on technical grounds.

Some time was occupied in the consideration of the case of the delegates from Nashua Assembly 316, of Massachusetts, 215, of Philadelphia, and 314, of Chester, Pa. All three had been organized since July 1. Ultimately the delegates from 215 and 314 were recognized, and the credentials of 216, the Shoemakers National Trade assembly, organized at Brockton, Mass., were thrown out, inasmuch as that body had already been paid no mesting since its charter had been issued, and that consequently it could not have elected a delegate. This much accomplished, the report of the committee was received as a whole, and the assembly was formally organized. To-day the assembly has got down to its regular work in right earnest.

During the morning session Michael Davitt was introduced. He addressed the assembly for nearly an hour, referring to the struggle of the Irish for home rule, and expressing the belief that the sympathies of the workingmen of America were with the people of Ireland. At the conclusion of Mr. Davitt's speech the report of the committee was received as a whole, and the assembly was formally organized. To-day the assembly has got down to its regular work in right earnest.

Mr. O'Connor spoke in the same strain, at greater length. He said the population of Ireland had decreased in Victoria's reign from 8,000,000 to 4,000,000, while that of England increased from 21,000,000 to 35,000,000. Public opinion in England, Scotland and Wales has rapidly changed to their side, and success would soon be theirs if they were to carry on the movement was urgently needed.

Ex-Governor Biggs, of Delaware, and others also spoke, and letters of regret were received from Governor Hill, Chauncey M. Depew and others.

THE TOLLIVERS AND THE LOGANS.

Possibility of More Outlawry in Famous Rowan County.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 6.—News has been received here that more trouble has occurred in Morehead, the scene of the recent Tolliver outrages. Yesterday eighteen men, armed with Winchesters, came from Soljers station, on the Kentucky Central road, to Morehead. It is said that there are or will be 150 men armed and secreted around the town. These men belong to the Logan faction, and are gathering forces here. It has been brought that a party of Tolliver's friends intended to come from Ellicott county and burn the town. Boone Logan is in Morehead, and it was he who ordered the assembling of the men. It is certain that messengers sent'e bging in more men got on the train at Morehead yesterday, and that Allie Fry, Logan's right hand man, left Mount Sterling yesterday morning and went to Morehead. Everybody feels that there is trouble of the most serious sort ahead. Judge Dehaven will hold a special term of court at Morehead some time this month for the trial of Harris, alias Pendulum, for conspiracy to murder Judge Cole and Taylor Young.

Racing Around the Continent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The great ocean race between the clipper ships Dominion and Charmer, of New York, and the George Curtis, of Philadelphia, from New York to San Francisco, ended yesterday morning in a victory for the Charmer. She was sighted outside the Heads at 6 o'clock a. m. Those on board thought they had been beaten. When told they were the victors the delight was unbounded. Refusing offers of tugboats the Charmer steered for the harbor at a good rate, the wind being favorable. She passed along the harbor with all sails set, presenting a fine sight. The Semiwhale was last spoken July 15.

Burying Persons at Sea.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 6.—The annual convention of the Funeral Directors' Association of Western Pennsylvania, President Thompson, in his annual address, said that the convention did not desire that every person who died on shipboard should be brought to land, but that steamship companies should make such arrangements that if so desired by the friends of any person dying on the way the body could be brought to land for burial. A committee appointed last year in relation to burial at sea reported that the opposition to carrying dead bodies across from the passengers and sailors, and not from the steamship companies.

The Peabody Fund.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Peabody Fund trustees held their annual meeting here yesterday. The report showed a gratifying state of efficiency in the administration of the fund. The annual dinner of the trustees last night was presided over by Robert C. Winthrop. The other members present were Ex-President Hayes, Senator Evarts, ex-Governor Porter, Col. Lyman, Hamilton Fish, Judge Manning, Bishop Whipple, J. Pierpont Morgan and Anthony Drexel.

The Wages of Sin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Alfred Jaicobs, aged 26, son of a wealthy jeweller, shot himself dead last night as he was entering police headquarters in charge of detectives. He had had a woman named Bradley buy stolen jewelry from a man who gave him employment after he had been cast off by his parents. His arrest and suicide followed.

The Police Did Not Interfere.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 6.—The meeting at Union Hill last night, at which the suppression of the Canadian Pacific, to express sympathy with the Chicago Anarchists, passed off quietly. The streets were crowded with people in the neighborhood of the meeting, but the police made no attempt to interfere, fearing the way of disturbance originated. The police remained in the background.

EX-GOVERNOR AND EX-SENATOR.

W. R. WASHBURN.

Mr. R. Washburn Stricken Dead on Reaching Soldier City Hock.

GRENFELL, Oct. 6.—Ex-Governor William R. Washburn, of Greenfield, died suddenly yesterday morning while attending the meeting of the American Forestry Congress at the city hall. He was sitting on the platform and soon after the opening he fell forward into the lap of the gentleman next to him and expired in a few minutes. He had spoken to a friend of his appointment before and death came without any knowledge or warning. Though he continued to breathe for a few moments, he never spoke nor gave any sign of consciousness. The medical examiner called in the circumstances pointed to heart disease, though it was impossible to pronounce definitely upon the cause of death until a further examination. Mr. Washburn, with his wife, came from Greenfield yesterday morning. He went to the City hall, while his wife went to the women's meeting at the First church, and there received the news of her husband's death.

Mr. Washburn was born in Winchendon, Mass., in 1830, and was graduated from Dartmouth in 1854. He entered the state senate in 1850, and in 1862 he was elected to congress, being returned every succeeding term until he was made governor in 1871. He was re-elected in 1872 and 1876, and in 1874 was chosen to fill the unexpired term of Charles Sumner in the United States senate. He continued in the senate until 1875. Harvard gave him the degree of LL. D. in 1873.

RECEPTION TO IRISH LEADERS.

Sir T. H. Grattan Esmonde and Arthur O'Connor Heartily Welcomed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The reception to Sir Thomas Henry Grattan Esmonde, M. P., and Arthur O'Connor, M. P., at the Cooper Union last evening, was attended by fully 3,000 persons. Many well known Irish Americans and several Catholic priests were on the platform. Charles A. Dana presided and spoke briefly. Ex-Judge Noah Davis also made a few remarks, and read the resolutions expressing sympathy with and promising aid to the Home Rule cause. Sir T. H. G. Esmonde was then introduced. He was warmly greeted. Sir Thomas described the situation in Ireland, and expressed full confidence in the ultimate success of Home Rule.

Mr. O'Connor spoke in the same strain, at greater length. He said the population of Ireland had decreased in Victoria's reign from 8,000,000 to 4,000,000, while that of England increased from 21,000,000 to 35,000,000. STRANGER THAN FICTION.

REWARD OF A GEORGIA FARMER'S BENEVOLENCE.

A Romance That Goes Back to 1849—A Test of Friendship—The Response Secures $1,600,000—Of Interest to the Treasury.

ATLANTA, Oct. 6.—A pretty little romance has just reached an interesting culmination in Rabun county. At the base of the Tiger mountain, half a mile off the main road leading to Clayton, resides a sober old farmer named George W. Dillard, who has a wife and two grown boys and girls. Mr. Dillard received a letter from his wife's brother, whom he had not seen since 1846. At that time James McCurrie was a young man, as was also George W. Dillard. The news had reached Georgia of the wonderful gold discoveries in California. Almost everyone who were full of the excitement were McCurrie and Dillard. They had perfected all arrangements for going thither, and were bidding the family goodby, when Dillard's father died. The tearful eyes of McCurrie's young sister touched his heart, especially as she was weeping for him and not for her brother. Throwing down his knife, he declared that he would stay if the girl would marry him. To this she cheerfully agreed, so Dillard remained a Georgia farmer, while McCurrie jumped into the stage coach and was borne away. Since that time he has never been heard of.

It was with mingled feelings, therefore, that Dillard received a letter from his old comrade. McCurrie stated that he had worked against adverse fortune, declining to write to the folks at home until he could strike it rich, but every year found him growing poorer, and now, old, feeble and poor, his great wish was to look once more upon his native hills. That he could not do unless he was sent money enough upon which to return. Mr. Dillard read the letter to his wife and sons.

"We must send him the money," said the old man. So a cow and a mule were sacrificed and the money went on its mission across the continent. Several weeks' time brought another letter, in which the old man expressed his gratefulness for the kindness done him, but he was too ill to undertake the journey. After that no more was heard from him.

On Monday Dillard received a letter which recited that James McCurrie was dead; that he wished to the fidelity of his sister's family; that their prompt response to his appeal had moved him, and that by his will his property in California, valued at $1,600,000, was willed in equal parts to his sister, her husband and their two sons.

The two young men passed through Atlanta last night en route for California to take possession of the property, which they hope to shortly convert into cash, when they will return.

WOMAN AND HOME.

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT APARTMENTS IN THE HOUSE.

Care of the Cook Stove—The Wise Housewife—Emerson and His Children—Poison Ivy—Athletics—Children's Dress—Labor Saving Hints—Items.

One of the most important apartments in the house is the cellar, and within one that often receives the smallest attention. "Out of sight, out of mind," is exemplified here, and the result most frequently be traced in the impaired health of those who live above the underground lumber-room.

Old packing boxes, newspapers, broken utensils, rotting fruit and vegetables, and in some cases such garbage as contains parings, lemon and orange skins, bones, etc., that should of right be consigned to the swill pail, are suffered to accumulate from one month's end to the other. The unwholesome and unpleasant odor that rises like a cloud when over the cellar door is opened is hastily attributed to the mustiness popularly supposed to be an inseparable adjunct to the under ground regions. Slight but persistent unhealthiness in the family is disregarded, and a sharp attack of diphtheria or typhoid fever is perhaps the only means the household of the danger in which they dwell.

The cellar is more readily kept clean if it is cut up into several small rooms, instead of being left in one large, undivided chamber. Where it is not thus arranged it should at least be partitioned off on one side by bins to hold the various stores, in place of leaving them lie in heaps in corners. When bins are out of the question, barrels or large packing boxes form fairly tolerable substitutes. The coal is usually kept in the vaults provided for that purpose.

It is a great aid in the endeavor to obtain proper neatness in the cellar if the room is well lighted and ventilated. The windows may be kept shut in the daytime, but should always be left open at night to allow the fresh air to enter and purify the place. It is no cold that there is danger of freezing the supplies of food kept there. Even then the sashes should be unclosed night and morning long enough to permit a stream of air to pass admittance. By carefully following this plan much of the musty and earthy odor common to cellars may be banished. Wire netting should be tacked over the outside of the sash down in a way that may exclude the flies without hindering the opening of the sash. There should be a hook attached to the door that will prevent its being left ajar and a free passage to flies furnished by careless servants.

If there are no separate vaults provided for the coal, and it must be kept in the common cellar, large bins for this are indispensable. The coal should never be dumped into one corner of the cellar, whence its grimy dust will be carried to the upper floor by every one coming up from below. Nor should the wood, large and small, be thrown into an indiscriminate mass, but neatly piled, the kindling in one place, the logs intended for the open fires in another, and chips, sawdust, and shavings swept together and emptied into a barrel kept for the purpose. Nothing should never be heaped on the floor. They rot more easily there, besides being unsightly, and invariably leaving dirt for some one to sweep up. Barrels are also handy for holding as well as apples or pears. Both vegetables and fruit should be picked over often, and the rotten ones thrown away. The good ones will keep much longer for the precaution. The work may seem tedious, but it is almost essential, especially toward spring, when vegetables begin to decay rapidly. Health demands this as well as economy. Many a case of spring illness has been traced to a harmless looking barrel in the cellar, where disease germs are fostered in a mass of putrid vegetable matter.

It is also that the cellar is an omnium gatherum for useless articles of all sorts should be diligently combated. Whatever is not worth keeping in the certain hope of putting to service at some future time should be thrown away without hesitation. The cellar cannot look neat with a heap of lumber and old iron disfiguring it. Broken packing cases and stavelss barrels may be sent here to be split up and converted into kindlings as speedily as possible, while any boxes that may possibly be put to use are much better kept in the attic out of the damp.

A cellar floor should always be laid in cement. An earth flooring holds the dampness and is, moreover, very hard to keep clean. The cement can be swept, and even scrubbed, without trouble. The walls and ceilings should be whitewashed, not only to make the room lighter, but as a means of disinfection. The whitewashing should be repeated at least once a year. The floor should receive its weekly brushing with the rest of the house, and at the same time the cobwebs should be dislodged and all collections of rubbish removed.

The cellar must be supplied with shelves. Swing shelves are very preferable to those set in the wall, as there is less danger with the former of rats and mice having a chance to attack the provisions. One shelf should be kept for the milk and whipped cream every day after the cream is skimmed. Deposits of sour milk are always unsavory. The meats, vegetables, cakes etc., stored on the other shelves should always be protected by covers of wire netting. With all the care one may take, fly or two will sometimes succeed in effecting an entrance, and the mischief they can do in a short time renders the prevention worth while. A piece of gauze or muslin quite netting stretched over each pan of milk may also serve a fly from involuntarily suicide and thereby from waste. Poultry and meat that are hung rather a day or two should be incased in stout brown paper, or, better still, unbleached cotton bags. The shelves should be scrubbed off every week with a mixture of washing soda and water, then wiped dry.

It is a great convenience to the housewife if she can have a closet partitioned off and well stocked with shelves, where she can keep her pickles, preserves, jellies and jams. Upstairs closets are seldom cool enough, except when they are in so exposed a position that there is risk of their contents freezing in the bitterest winter weather. Here, too, can be placed the odds-end fruit, the box of oranges or lemons, the barrel of pineapples and other delicacies, that keep better in a cold place than in an ordinary pantry. The semi-gloom also helps preserve canned goods.

Drain pipes frequently traverse the cellar, and are likely, from the obscurity of the place, to escape observation than is their due. They should often be examined for leaks, and any such promptly checked. If there are open drains, they should be washed down with a strong solution of copperas and water. Should the odor from the drains refuse to yield to this and to chloride of lime or potash, advice should be respectfully a practical plumber, and the matter decided with out delay.—Christian Terhune Herrick in Harper's Bazar.

Care of the Cook Stove.

"Why is it that I burn out so many sets of stove linings?" some of you will ask me to tell you. Use a little more care than you have been using, watch and see that a clinker is not allowed to form on the linings, and if one does form, remove it carefully with the poker. At night the fire box should be crammed full of coal after raking out all the dead ashes and cinders, the damper closed. Fill your stove with coal above the top of the linings. Never put on coal when it is possible to avoid it; instead, use the poker freely and you will have a better fire and use less coal. Shaking the fire brisk it down and a good deal, and fill it half full of coal. Repeat in an hour. If the fire from any cause becomes dull, do not stir it over the top or put in wood, but rake out the cinders and open the drafts. At night put the fire in shape as soon as the coal for the night is put on, but let it burn a short time, or, as engineers express it, "until you think the coal is warm all through." There is less waste of coal, fuel and fire, and if the stove is a good one. The ashes should never accumulate in the fire pan until they are in the grate. If this happens even once, the grate will usually be burned out.

Always rake the range so that you can get all the heat needed without having the top red hot, as this will warp the covers and centers, and if a little water should happen to fall on the stove while so hot, the top of the range is very apt to crack. Keep the stove well black'd. All the pipes covered with grease turn them over and let the top of the lid come next the fire until the grease is all burned off. If the covers are red and the blacking will not stay, soften them, get wet, so that they will rust a little, and then black them. When buying a range, buy one that is moderately heavy and made of the best quality of iron. All the trouble of a heating stove or range should fit well; because if they do not, when the range has been used for some time will notice gas escaping, and will not be able to tell where it comes from.—Nellie Wiley in Good Housekeeping.

Labor Saving Hints.

I write to thank those who kindly sent directions for cleaning carpets that had become wedged in a pitcher. Perhaps it would be well to state that before any answer reached me, I experimented successfully by pouring the pitcher full of water, and by a steaming teakettle; by tapping smartly on the bottom of the pitcher the cup fell out. I think this the best way, as using an "loosed dirs," and that there should never be such an amount of trimming of children's clothing as to keep one always busy making, washing and ironing. Simplify, my friends, simplify, and I find time to tell and read stories, take walks, and even play with them out of doors and swing them sometimes.

I have adopted a novel method of washing dishes. A tub'ful of clean water is kept in the kitchen, into which all of the "sticky" dishes are dumped boldly and left until their turn for the second process. The tub is used only for this purpose. This saves time and labor. In washing "stuck up" kettles I use an old knife, kept for the purpose, to scrape them with, and never use my finger nails, as many people do. Where this is practised the finger nails are usually anything but "a thing of beauty." Use the knife instead of "a joy forever." I have seen finger nails from this practice broken, worn off, sore and blunt enough to "set one's teeth on edge." To wash bottles, rinse and quickly, turn in a cup'ful of fine shot into them; fill nearly full of hot lye and shake well. To have peas look green after cooking them, put in cold water and let them warm gradually to a boil. This is to be done when they are first put on the stove to cook. It is convenient to have four pitchers in the kitchen, one for each day. Two of them can then be spared for the wash every week.—Detroit Free Press.

The Wise Hostess.

A hostess should, of course, exercise a wise exclusiveness, such as Lady Palmerston described when she said she "passed Lord Palmerston's acquaintances by with a courtesy and a curtsey." No woman who entertains should invite her guests carelessly. The very respect which she owes to herself and her guests should prevent her doing so. A clever woman in London once said, "I am never flattered at being asked to Mrs. J——'s comps." No woman should allow her house to be degraded to a mart. She should winnow the chaff from the wheat.

A lady in entertaining has to remember always to invite those who can congenial, and those to whom she cannot afford to make her parties either political, musical or literary exclusively; but one should have a general idea of sets and of their tastes, and of who would like to meet whom. Especially is this important at a breakfast or a dinner, where the guests must sit and talk for two or three hours together. Here is the test ordeal of agreeability. To invite a vaporous, airy, foolish woman to sit next an Oxford professor, who has a speciality on which he thinks no one is ignorant, would not be understood, is to make them both miserable. To ask a young poet to sit next an old campaigner, who has nothing to say but the dissection of a caterpillar, who is given to social pathology, is to make both miserable and will ruin one dinner at least. To ask a busy politician to sit next an absent-minded professor would not be half as bad. Therefore a woman has much to consider before she begins to entertain.—Harper's Bazar.

Remedy for Poison Ivy.

People who have sought relief during the heated term at the various seaside resorts which dot the coast of New Jersey have suffered at intervals from a plague of musquitoes and black gnats. Others, who preferred the mountains and inland attractions, have suffered principally from exposure to poison ivy. The former found a remedy in pennyroyal and brush fires, but many of the poisoned came got no relief. They have not responded to treatment. As a rule, lime water, buttermilk and oxide of zinc ointment, into which a little white precipitate has been rubbed, will effect a cure. This year it seems as though the poison has had to run itself out.

A gentleman, however, who after suffering for ten days more torture than usually falls to the lot of man, finally got relief in the following manner: He saturated a slice of bread with water, and then spread over it a generous amount of salt. He plaster lay applied to the eruption and kept the application moist by dropping water upon the bread as fast as the moisture was absorbed or evaporated. This dissolved the salt crystals on the skin, and gave almost immediate and permanent relief. So badly was he poisoned that at one time he had on his body twenty-one of the characteristic pustulating blisters, leaves of bread.—New York Mail and Express.

The Dress of Children.

As a rule, the higher the position of the parents, the more simply the children are dressed. The rich nobility spend as much on the royal noble Prince of England's children annually as many people have accumulated abroad the unenviable reputation of loving vulgar display; but Anglomania has had the effect of introducing a love of simplicity. Teachers in French and German schools have been known to complain bitterly of the demoralizing effect produced by American girls upon the other pupils. The demoiselle or Fraulein, as the case may be, having been accustomed to the plainest style of dress and confinement to the house for tender years, is rendered envious and discontented by association with such free and independent young women clad in silk attire, as a rule, costume, with diamond earrings flashing in their ears and their fingers loaded with rings. While there will always be, in every community, a select few who will know how to dress simply on all occasions, where rich garments would mar them either, the masses of the larger cities, when they are waddling to their wealth with the gorgeousness of their robes and the profusion of their jewels.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Emerson and His Children.

Emerson was playful and winning in his ways with his children, but he did not often romp with them, and he discouraged their desire to romp with each other. He would put the case, and leave them to think and act for themselves; and he did not fear to inculcate, even at this age, the rule of his own doctrine of self reliance. To one of his daughters who was away from home at school, he writes:

"Polish every day and be done with it. For manners and for wise living it is a vice to remember. You have been educated, I trust, to some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. To-morrow is a new day; you shall begin it well and serenely, and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day for all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the rotten yesterdays."—Cabot's "Memoir of Emerson."

Girlish Figures Spoiled by Athletics.

It is the athletic girl, the new type of girl who goes in for pretty nearly all the sports her brother takes up, who is, if she has previously cultivated her figure, the worst deformed girl of all. There is nothing like athletics to develop the chest and to alleviate loose, to bring out the possibilities of curves, twists and abnormal developments in a modern girl. All British femininity is at present engaged in the making of manufactured Le Boucheres because he had the hardihood to declare that tennis playing girls were crooked. In a half dozen groups at Central park the other day I counted four players whose right shoulders were noticeably of different shape from the left, and six or seven in whom the same thing, though less obvious, had begun to manifest itself, the summer exertion enlarging the muscles and light clothing thrusting them out of place and accentuating the natural development of the body. Girls who row in corsets are a curious sight, the extra muscular development all taking place high up, where the blood has a chance to circulate, and making the shoulders lower above the rest of the body.—Chicago Herald.

A Troublesome Form of Beauty.

Mrs. Reformer Jennes-Miller's latest objective point is the bustle. In her magazine, Dress, she comments on the amusing alacrity with which women will, quickly, turn the latest whim of fashion in the defense of the bustle whenever that highly ornamental and pestiferously obtrusive article of dress is assailed. She quite overlooks the main question, which is not the question, but the constant solicitude of the average wearer when on the street. Single out any well dressed woman you happen to meet on promenade and follow her. If you follow her, you will observe that about once in every block of her walk she will give her bustle a dig, furtive or bold, according to her position. No woman is ever so much as two minutes at a stretch that her bustle is in the regulation state of discipline, hence her talent is forever on the rack.—Detroit Free Press.

Prevention of Wrinkles.

Evidently quite a number of us are growing old because we are interested in knowing how to prevent wrinkles. The best remedy is, of course, lack of care and absolute hard heartedness, for the emotions cause wrinkles. When they are just beginning to be traced in the silvery web of baby wrinkles, the old Creole recipe is really of some use. This is to take a small quantity of fine olive oil on one's fingers and rub the wrinkled place five minutes twice a day, continuing this until the wrinkles disappear. But with this, all the other things that keep women beautiful are necessary, most of all the use of plenty of soap and water.—"Bab" in New York Star.

To Fill Cracks in Floors.

Cracks in floors may be neatly but permanently filled by thoroughly soaking newspapers in water, and to a half pound of flour, three quarts of water and half a pound of alum mixed and boiled. The mixture will be about as thick as putty, and may be forced into the cracks with a case knife. It will harden like papier mache.—Boston Budget.

The best remedy for burns is claimed to be one of equal parts turpentine and whisky mixed. Wet a soft cloth or raw cotton and apply. It stops the pain instantly and draws out the fire.

The woman of New York have been granted more pardons than their sisters in any other state. The women of Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin rank next in order.

There is a prejudice against peacocks' feathers for household ornamentation, because old women say death comes to the house where they are displayed.

For ingrowing toe nails use equal parts of mutton tallow, castile soap and white sugar made into a salve. Apply until the swelling is down, then trim the nail in the center.

Said Lucretia Mott, when asked how she managed never to have any trouble with servants: "I never ask them to do anything I know they won't do."

The taste of fish may be removed very effectually from knives and forks by rubbing them with fresh orange or lemon peel.

If soot is dropped on the carpet, cover thickly with salt and it may be swept up without injury to the carpet.

Mrs. Grundy says that the conspicuously fashionable woman who is "charitable and kind" is a real curiosity.

Fleas, one who has tried it asserts, may be driven away by scattering flour of sulphur liberally about.

A teacup of lye in a pail of water will improve the color of black goods.

At the Queen's Fountain.

Near Invercmark, on Lord Dalhousie's estate, a fountain was some years ago erected in commemoration of a visit to the place by the queen. It bears this inscription, in gold letters: "Rest, stranger, on this lovely scene, and drink and pray for Queen Victoria. A Highlander" who shocked one morning to read the following addenda, traced in a bold hand, suggestive of the Lochaber battle-axe, immediately underneath the original: "We'll pray for Queen Victoria here, but go and drink her health in beer."—New York Tribune.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

NEW DESIGNS IN ORNAMENTAL PINS FOR COIFFURES AND BONNETS.

Fashions for Little Girls and Children.

A Wedding Present that Promises to be Very Popular—Decorated Combs of Gold and Gems.

A fashion article nowadays without the mention of decorative hair pins and combs would indeed be incomplete, for these ornaments have been adopted by society ladies in all the leading cities in this country. An occasion is now the way to match the sweet and serious morning."

From the age of 13 or 16 he thought they should be encouraged as much as possible to regulate their own conduct. He would put the case, and leave them to think and act for themselves; and he did not fear to inculcate, even at this age, the rule of his own doctrine of self reliance. To one of his daughters who was away from home at school, he writes:

"Polish every day and be done with it. For manners and for wise living it is a vice to remember. You have been educated, I trust, to some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. To-morrow is a new day; you shall begin it well and serenely, and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day for all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the rotten yesterdays."—Cabot's "Memoir of Emerson."

DECORATIVE COMBS.

The very newest style in this line are tortoise shell combs with gold tops that measure about two inches across. These tops are some of them replicas copies of the old fashioned high back comb of 100 years ago in all but size. It is needless to tell that these combs are exceedingly quaint and attractive. In the set is represented a beautiful comb, which consists of five graduated balls of gold mounted on a covered top of gold. Both balls and curved top are overlaid with delicate grain work. The other comb, illustrated in same cut, has a crescent shaped top, the inside portion of which is ornamented with grain work while the outer edge consists of gold rings interlinked. The knot pattern also figures on these combs.

Pleasing Styles in Bracelets.

Quite new bracelets are spiral ones with overlapping ends, enameled and set with gems. These there are bracelets, the overlapping ends of which are finished in imitation of Indian arrow heads with variegated gold. Woven wire bracelets, on which are set a square solid gold medallion incrusted with gems, are other novelties in this line. Open curb chain bracelets, in the center of which appear diamonds, rubies and sapphires, have appeared with new designs. Another novel arm ornament is a wide band bracelet with a rough surface, in which are set three stones of contrasting color.

A Quaint Wedding Present.

A quaint design in match safes likely to have a big run is the one that copies in silver an old shoe with rice sprinkled on top, the nails in the sole being represented by diamonds or other gems. This novelty furnishes a pretty and convenient gift to a friend on the eve of a voyage, and is appropriate for those who are on the occasion of a wedding. In a word, this bauble affords an elegant substitute for the literal throwing of an old shoe after departing guests and brides for good luck.

Ornamented Hair and Bonnet Pins.

In decorative hair pins appear many of the designs seen in bracelets, such as butterflies, flowers, crescents and the like, thickly studded with gems.

HAIR AND BONNET PINS.

Very popular, too, are the all gold pins, with their carved and twisted tops. These pins are useful not only for hair ornaments, but also as securing pins with which to fasten on one's bonnet or hat. In the cut is shown one of these popular pins; also two other models, which are likely to worn as hair pins and as pins for holding hats and bonnets firmly on the head. One of these represents a sword, while the other is a crook of dull gold.

Dresses for Young Girls and Children.

Dresses for young girls and children are made of similar materials to those used for ladies' costumes, except that checked and striped stuffs are chosen in these setting the part and following over a plaited underskirt. The tight fitting jacket opens wide over a plaited plastron finished off at the neck with a white lace or embroidered chemisette. Plastrons and cuffs of French vanity in satin, and the gathers, pleats or gaugings may be ornamented with rows of feather or honeycomb stitching worked in silk of an opposite color to the foundation or of the color of the trimming.

Blouses of colored silk or sephyr are much worn by girls of 4, 5 and 6, trimmed with embroidered lube starting like rays from the neckband. The upper skirt is finished off with several small tucks and embroidery, and the foundation skirt may be of satin de chine or velvet answering the neckband and cuffs.

Waistcoats are extremely in vogue, and corsages for children are arranged in front and fastened with buttons. Soft cords in the most fashionable, too, for children's dresses to be made with one, two or more waistcoats, and the effect is very good and piquante.

Of Interest to Amateur Milliners.

It may be interesting to the amateur milliner to know that to make loops of ribbon as well the two ends of each loop should be plaited separately, several silky folds, and fastened firmly together with threads or fine wire. Long loops for a hat trimming should have a piece of wire the color of the ribbon laid straight up the middle of one side of the loop.

Fashion Notes.

A silver bracelet of ball links, hand chased and oxidized, is a novelty.

Rugs seamed, pains in ornamental patterns seem to be the favorite piazza decoration for country houses.

Velvet, faille Francaise, moire and gros grain are materials that will figure in autumn millinery.

Among the newest ornaments for the hair are large butterflies and dragon flies made of feathers.

Knitted Petticoat for Little Girls.

In the cut given below is shown the pattern for a knitted petticoat which many of our readers will doubtless be glad to have for their little ones.

PETTICOAT FOR LITTLE GIRLS.

The material is white wool, the length seventeen inches, the width twenty-seven inches. It is knitted in five separate pieces that are afterward crocheted together on the right side, leaving a slit at the front and in the middle of the back. Cast on fifty stitches for the front breadth, thirty-six for each side breadth, and forty for the two back breadths. Knit and seam a two stitched afghan stripe for six rows, and then transpose the pattern. The lower border is knitted separately and crocheted to the skirt. A crochet lace edge the bottom.

Finger Rings for Men.

Rings are again worn on both hands by both sexes. While the third finger is the preferred one among men on which to wear rings, the little finger, in many cases, vies in its use as a depository for leading styles of rings for men are: a gold band with three stones imbedded therein, and a one stone diamond solitaire signet ring. When the gentleman confines himself to these two styles he usually wears one on each hand, the third finger being in each case the one that is decorated. Rarely, however, is he seen to wear a signet ring in a silver setting.—Jeweler's Circular.

A Difference in Salaries.

Gen. Wolseley receives as annual salary of $13,500 for holding the post of adjutant general of the British army, while Field Marshal Lord Molyneux, who holds a similar post in the army at home, nearly the same, receives only $6,000. The French adjutant general is paid $4,000.—Chicago Times.

An Incentive to Family Pride.

The tired man took a long pull at the water jug, replaced the corncob stopper, set it carefully down in the shady corner of the fence with his vest over it, and sitting down on the end of a projecting rail, while the boys gathered around him, began:

"Once upon a time I worked for a man out in Chemung county; and, I tell you, he was the meanest man I ever worked for. Take it Fourth of July, Decoration Day, or circus day, didn't make no difference what we was doin', nor how big the hurry was, he'd always kick on to his big wages and say: 'Jump in, boys, every mother's son of you; I won't have no man of mine workin' on a farm, when there's a circus or celebration anywhere around.

"Oh, he was a dandy man to work for; and someway his crops always seemed better than anyone else's, but I don't ever expect to work for his likes again."

And, having sagaciously planted these incentives to family pride in the hearts of his employer's sons, he picked up his hoe wearily and again led the attack on the luxuriant growth of weeds.—Life.

A Hopeless Task.

Sir Astley Cooper used to tickle the following anecdote of an Irish candidate before the examining board of the London college: "What is a simple and what is a compound fracture?" asked the examiner. The reply was: "A simple fracture is when the bone is broken; and a compound fracture when all the bones of the body are broken." What he meant by "all broke," "I mean," he replied, "brokkiate multibreakis, to be sure." "I returned the ass," said the wag, "smitherers." He turned sadly into the street, without expression of sympathy upon his countenance. "You don't know what it is, sir," cried the Irish. "I give you up."—Science.

A Serious Quandary.

City Editor (apparently troubled)—Do you mean to say, Mr. Stubyns, that you have completed this report of the horse race?

Reporter—That's the best I can do.

"Why, see here, you haven't even said anywhere that the track was cupsy or that a horse went into the air."

"Well, I didn't hear that the track was cupsy or that any horse did go into the air."

City Editor decisively—No matter; work it in somewhere. It sounds professional and your report lacks something anyway can understand it now.—Springfield Homestead.

Didn't Want to Own It.

There was a difficulty among the singers, and, it being rendered as a settled fact that the choir would not sing a note on the next Sabbath, the minister commenced morning worship by giving out the hymn of Watts, "Come ye to love the Lord." After reading it through he looked up very emphatically to the choir and said: "You will begin at the second verse:

"Let those refuse to sing
Who never knew our God."

They sang that hymn.—Musical Herald.

Land Calls Also.

Vol. 8, No. 80 PLAINFIELD, N. J., THE COLORADO OF THE EAST, FRIDAY OCTOBER 7, 1887. Price Two Cents

FOR PRINTING OF ALL KINDS FROM A CARD TO A POSTER, IN THE BEST STYLE, AND AT THE MOST REASONABLE RATES, TELEPHONE CALL NO. 42.

THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its want column daily furnishes a quantity of interesting reading and is the moment of procuring all kinds of employment and the best class of help. For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertisements pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all things it makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

ODDITIES.

—A large number from this city attended the shooting tournament at Dunellen today.

—The Borough Council will hold its regular October meeting in the parlor of Warren Engine Co. at eight o'clock this evening.

—Amos Lippincott, an Asbury Park tailor, has caught a bass weighing 19 pounds off the fishing pier.—Ex.—wonder how much greater the force of gravitation is off the pier than on it.

—The last game of base ball of the season will be played to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock on the Crescent's grounds, between the Twilights of Scotch Plains and the Actives of North Plainfield.

—The Master Masons of the Fifth District will visit Anchor Lodge of Plainfield on the evening of Oct. 25th, to work in the Master Mason Degree. Anchor Lodge is preparing to give the visitors a grand reception.

—From the reports of exchange it is to be judged that Rahway's firemen were shamefully intoxicated at Tuesday's Rollhouse fire in that city. They did more damage than good, and a whole chignon had to turn out to get the flames under control.

—Plainfield Council No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will hold its fifth anniversary banquet at Force's Hotel, North avenue Wednesday, Oct. 12. Members wishing tickets for friends ought to apply to the committee or of Woolston & Buckle's store, No. 2 North avenue.

—The Rev. Dr. VanDewater, General Missioner, will conduct a mission in Grace church, beginning Sunday morning and continuing for ten days. The public are invited to attend each evening at eight o'clock. The particular notice of the hours of the services will be given at the church Sunday.

—The contest for the sewing machine at St. Mary's fair last night was decided in favor of Miss Toy. The number of votes was as follows: Miss Toy, 1,080; Miss Murphy, 980; Miss Kiely, 650. The silver watch contest between Pacific Patterson Hickey of 81, Mary's T. A. B. Society and Adam Smith, will be decided to-night at 10 o'clock.

—The present October is signalizing its coming two full moons. This is the "harvest moon," which is always the full moon which happens nearest to the autumnal equinox, and hence it rises from night to night more nearly after sunset than any other moon in the year, and hence is favorable for the work of harvesting the late crops.

—It is asserted with some ground to reflect that the saloon-organ really does pay more than two cents for its "special service." It is whispered as a fact that the young man who furnishes the organ with its daily New York Telegram gets three cents for his services. And it is equally stated that the proprietors hardly mind the big expense!

—The call for the Democratic County Convention for Middlesex county was made at New Brunswick. The meeting is to be held at Turner's Hall on Dennis street, in that city Saturday, Oct. 29, when the candidates for Sheriff and Surrogate will be nominated. The Republican Convention will be held at the Assembly room, Masonic Hall, Oct 31.

—Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, the Warren Mission Industrial school opened last Saturday with 187 scholars and 18 officers and teachers. It is very desirable that all the classes should be arranged this week, and in order to do this, all who have intended to come to themselves with the school, either as scholars or teachers, are urgently requested to be present to-morrow.

—The first regular meeting of the Young Caugus Literary and Scientific Circle will be held in the parlors of the M. E. church Saturday evening, Oct. 8, at 7:45 o'clock. Any person who intends to unite for the coming Winter's work and who has not already sent in his name, is urged to be present at this meeting, that the organization may be fully completed at this time.

—Two years of prosperity at the Young Caugus Literary and Scientific Circle and it seems have served to make it known and establish reputation everywhere, and the appearance of Rudolph Aronson's Comic Opera Company here in that celebrated work will be anticipated with especial interest. "Erminie" will be presented here with all the accessories which characterized its brilliant run in New York. Complete sets of scenery and beautiful wardrobe will be employed, while a company of sixty persons, including a powerful chorus, will appear. Mail orders may be addressed care of the Secretary and Treasurer.

—William D. Johnson of Scott & Plainfield has mysteriously disappeared. He left his home on the morning of Sept. 24, to go to Sewaren, where he had a number of men at work. He was not, however, seen at Sewaren, and has not been heard or since he left his home. It is thought he may be at Savannah, Ga. There is no apparent reason for his mysterious disappearance. His business was prosperous, and investigation indicates that there is more than enough money due him on contracts to liquidate all of his liabilities. It is the general opinion that he is laboring under a temporary aberration of the mind.

S. V. Woodruff Arrested.

Samuel V. Woodruff, whose recent failure at the Coleman House, Asbury Park, was but a repetition of his unenviable work at Hotel Netherwood, is under arrest in Monmouth County for obtaining goods under false pretenses. An examination of the Coleman House books shows that Woodruff obtained,

The Firemen's Insubordination.

The action of the firemen in wrangling over hose Wednesday, when the dwelling of Geo. Leland was being consumed, thereby losing time which if properly used might have saved the building, has excited much comment, and, occurring at this time, causes much bitterness against the firemen.

Last evening there was an attempt made to hold a regular business meeting of the members of No. 2 Engine Co., but there was no quorum. The members present discussed the latest trouble the firemen have got into though the insubordination of some of its members. The discussion brought out the fact that the trouble at Wednesday's fire occurred through a misunderstanding.

Chief J. Erwin Waters was early at the fire and stood near Engine No. 3, which was stationed at one of the wells which are in that section, all the old firemen know, comparatively worthless. No. 2's engine and hose company were at the brook on Westervelt avenue because they knew that to be the best place in the vicinity for a good water supply.

Chief Waters, thinking that 3's was the only engine out, said, seeing that the men had insufficient hose:

"Why doesn't No. 2's hose carriage turn out?"

Meanwhile, over at No. 2's station lack of hose was also discovered, and orders were sent to Alert Hose Company to turn out. First Assistant Chief Lyness, who it is said was unfamiliar with the invisible standing orders of his superior commanded that No. 2's company give hose to No. 3. Four lengths—all that were asked for—were then uncoupled, but inasmuch as it is the custom and the law of the Department for those wanting hose to carry it themselves, it was left lying on the ground waiting for No. 3's men, who subsequently sent a horse and wagon for it.

No. 2's men claim that it was the duty of the other company to send a delegation with the commanding officer to carry away the hose, and that was the reason they did not take it themselves.

The imperative order of the Chief referred to is that the hose carriages should each carry hose for their own engine only.

When Mr. Lyness insisted that First Assistant Foreman Krewson should put his carriage at the service of the other company, he unhitched his horse and said:

"There's your carriage; take it."

As events proved, twelve minutes pumping at the well exhausted the supply, while if No. 2's company had been furnished with extra hose they might have done good service, for the brook was practically inexhaustable.

Concerning foul language attributed to Driver Robert Skinner, information came to Mr. Lyness and to Mr. Carney through only third parties; and, while they are firmly of the opinion that if the fellow did use the insolent words reported to be capable of being proved, they do not desire any injustice done him.

Horace Martin, ex-Foreman of No. 2's Company, made the sturdy remark at last night's meeting that the firemen are out of public favor, that they are not doing their duty to pursue is to bite the dust until they can prove their honestness of purpose and get back again.

Young Kinnary is a Minor.

Patrick Day, saloon-keeper, may regret last Saturday's business. If now turns out that young Kinnary, who proposes to sue for $1000 damages as related in The Press of yesterday's evening, is a minor. The latter Day the bills under the city ordinance to the penalty $100 Day or sixty days in the county jail or both.

Corporation Counsel Marsh says that in justice to Mr. Day the statement that the latter has been convicted four times of illegal liquor-selling is a misrepresentation. Two convictions against him are recorded in the City Court. From both of these Mr. Day appealed. The first appeal was, it is said, never tried on its merits. The Elizabeth court dismissed the complaint on motion of Mr. Marsh's assistant because the word "or" was used instead of the word "and" in the complaint, which read "ale or beer." It is proper to say that this mistake in the language of the complaint was not the mistake of the present corporation counsel, the complaint having been drawn before the term of office began. The other appeal taken by Day was tried on its merits and Day was convicted and fined.

The Public Library.

At the meeting of the Directors of the Public Library, held Wednesday evening, merely routine business was transacted. There having been no meeting in September the librarian's report for the months of August and September were read. The total number of volumes now in the library is 6,501. The home circulation in August was 1,276; in September, 1,309; total, 2,414. Amount received for fines in August, 89.45; in September $12.35; also four from subscriptions of residents of North Plainfield 83; total $23.35, which amount goes into the book fund. The present number of card holders is 870, which is a good number for the end of the first year of the workings of the circulating department.

Master Lyness Bow: They Bow.

Yesterday THE NEWS devoted considerable space to an article about the alleged Kinnary poison case, which really ought to have had very brief mention. It was given the length it had purely for the sake of correcting the many errors which had been published by the saloon-organ. Saloon-keeper Day has evidently been aroused to see his subjects, for last night they became very humble and cringingly supplemented their column notation of their previous issue with a most abject apology, speaking of the Day bill-harcourn in the most eulogistic terms which they in their frightened state of mind could command.

—The Democratic County Executive Committee of Union County have issued the call for the County Convention to nominate Sheriff, Surrogate, County Clerk and Coroners. It will be held in Elizabeth, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 20, and promises to be the most exciting convention held see the formation

In Hymen's Bonds.

Miss Mattie A. Jones of Lafirande avenue, and C. Arthur Bayuss of Seventh street, were married at seven o'clock last evening at the Crescent avenue church by the Rev. W. R. Richards. David H. Lennox was "best man" and Miss Carrie Rose, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The ushers were Messrs. Leonard Terrell, Roger W. Murray, Thos. Aldrich and James Hallock. A reception was given to the relatives of the happy couple after the ceremony and the bride and groom then started on their wedding trip through New York State to Niagara Falls. They will return next week. The bride's father, John Rose, presented the bride with an elegant three story house next to his own. In this new residence the couple will reside after their return from the tour. They will give a reception to their friends Thursday evening, Oct. 27. The following is a partial list of presents:

The beautiful musical novelty of the occasion of which so much was whispered previous to the affair was the singing of Mendelssohn's Wedding March by a chorus of sixteen.

The Republicans' Bombshell.

The Union County Board of Freeholders, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, charged the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas with illegally appropriating for their own use all the fees collected by the Court, and called on the Sheriff, County Clerk and Surrogate for a strict accounting hereafter of such fees. The introduction of a resolution to this effect, together with the charges made, created a sensation among the Democratic members, who were not prepared for any such move on the part of their watchful opponents, who have been preparing this bombshell during the past week. The resolution was unanimously carried, the Democratic delegation to oppose it. Following is the full text of the document offered by Freeholder West;

Whereas, It appearing that the lay judges of the County of Union have been receiving all the fees attached to the court in cases before them in the Court of Common Pleas, Oyer and Terminer, Court of Quarter and Special Sessions and Orphans' Court for the Judges and Sheriff and such fees equally between them, and that the Presiding Judges has been receiving certain fees for particular services rendered, and it further appearing that under the rules of the Court of Appeals said lay judges are only entitled to two-third's of the fees received by them, and that the other one-third belongs to the County, and

That said Presiding Judge is not entitled to any fees other than his salary as such Judge, and it further appearing that the county is entitled to the fees so paid to the Presiding Judges, and the one-third of all fees paid the lay Judges in all the several courts, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Sheriff, County Clerk and Surrogate be notified that this Board will hereafter require the payment to them of one-third of all fees paid to the Judges of the courts and hereafter paid to said lay Judges, and also all fees paid to the Presiding Judges, and that this Board will look to said County Clerk, Sheriff and Surrogate for an accounting of the same, and will hold them responsible for any such fees not so hereafter to become due and paid to said Judges after receiving notice of this resolution.

Reform Club Meeting.

At the meeting of the Reform Club last night, the Treasurer, Ethan Lanphear, reported that insurance on the Club's property had been secured to the amount of $6,500. Mr. Francis remarked that he thought this rather small.

"There are, I believe," he continued, "men in this town who will burn our building the first chance that they get. I've been expecting it for the last three years."

He recommended that the insurance be increased $2,000. This was put into the form of a motion, which was adopted.

A Fight at Cleveland's Banquet.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 7.—Edward C. Wall, Collector of Internal Revenue for this city, was present at the banquet tendered the President last night, as was also Joseph Vilas, a prominent railroad man and cousin of the Postmaster-General. Mr. Wall has a shrunken leg, which necessitates his using a crutch.

After the banquet was over, about half-past one a. m., they both were in the rotunda along with a throng of other men dressed in claw hammer coats when Vilas happened to stumble against Wall. In retaliation the Collector treated the railroad magnate and cousin of the Postmaster-General to an choice selection of personal vituperation as one ever has pain or pleasure of listening to outside the Dominion of Billingsgate. The result was that Mr. Vilas knocked Mr. Wall down, and all Milwaukee is wondering whether the result will be a duel or simply a change in the Internal Revenue Office.

W. BOURKE COCHRAN'S VICTORY.

His Successful Argument for a Stay in Jacob Sharp's Case.

ALBANY, Oct. 7.—Yesterday afternoon Chief Judge Ruger, of the court of appeals, listened to arguments on the motion for a stay of proceedings in the case of Jacob Sharp. District Attorney Martine and his Assistant, Delancey Nicoll, opposed the stay, while it was favored by Hon. W. Bourke Cochran, published. District Attorney Martine said that there had been no "sudden uprising" further, the grant of a stay is in practice against the exercise of the power undoubtedly possessed by the court. At this point Judge Ruger interrupted to ask: "Have you any authority for that statement?" Mr. Martine replied that except in capital cases there was no case on record to believed, in which the power of stay had been invoked. Judge Ruger said: "The exercise of that power is the constant practice of the court. The judges of this court time and again, whenever there has been the slightest chance of error, have granted such stays in criminal cases. Every judge has granted such stays, though there is no result of failure. Indeed, I know of no case in which such a stay has been refused by a judge of this court." At the conclusion of the argument Judge Ruger granted the application for a stay, and the case on appeal will be argued Oct. 19.

WESTERN UNION'S ACQUISITION.

Philadelphia to Take Possession of R. and O. Property To-Day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Jay Gould said upon leaving his office for the day: "We have bought the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph. We have paid for it, as arranged to do so, and the price was $5,000,000." Mr. Gould stated the price was to be paid in Western Union stock.

Morrison Swan confirmed Mr. Gould's statement, but declined to give the terms, saying: "That is our business. We own all its lines and property. The ownership took effect yesterday, although for convenience the lines will be run by the present officers."

According to Edward Lauterbach, the Western Union has not bought the B. and O. outright, but takes a fifty year lease, paying $5,000,000 in stock and $60,000 per annum to the B. and O. Railroad company, which is to keep the lines in repair. The contract, he says, is similar to that of the United States Express company for the B. and O. express system. This form of purchase avoids the taxes on corporations. It is as good as a purchase outright.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—In the common council yesterday a resolution was offered instructing the city solicitor to inquire into the consolidation of the Baltimore and Ohio and Western Union Telegraph companies, and the said consolidation, that the city take immediate possession of the property in this city of the former company, and collect the amount of the bond given by it to the city to secure its agreement not to merge with any other company.

HE CAN'T KEEP OUT OF PRISON.

Arrest of the Man Who Once Stole a Locomotive.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—James Wilson and William Payton, two noted pickpockets, were arrested in the crowd at Columbia theatre Wednesday night. Payton has served in several eastern penitentiaries. Wilson was arrested in 1871 in Philadelphia, on the charge of picking the pocket of Thomas Budd of $1,000. He was sent to New York, and in 1872 went to Sing Sing for two years.

In company with a fellow convict he seized the watch, and, under fire from the guards, ran to the railroad track and captured an engine, with which they made their escape, jumping off just before it was derailed and ploughed its way into the Hudson river recaptured in Philadelphia and sent back to Sing Sing. In 1874 Wilson was arrested for passing counterfeit money. He was sent to the penitentiary again on these charges, and after his release went to Canada, only to get inside the walls of the Kingston penitentiary.

Nipped in the Bud.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 7.—Arthur H. Snell, paying teller of the Fulton bank, this city, was arrested yesterday charged with defrauding the bank of $13,000 by cashing checks which he knew to be worthless. Edward Fuller, a brother of ex-Commissioner of Public Works W. A. Fowler, was also arrested as a confederate of Snell's, and warrants are out for others. It is supposed that the amount stated by the bank, $13,000, is too small. It is reported that the defalcation may reach $100,000. Snell's operations have been going on only a short time. His method was to make forged checks drawn in the name of actual depositors. By this means he could pay out large sums, but could not avoid detection very long, and it is supposed that the conspirators intended to make a quick and large haul and flee.

Sawdust Cause an Inundation.

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 7.—The canal of the Nashua manufacturing company burst its banks yesterday. It is the worst catastrophe that has happened to the company in thirty years. The break is believed to have been caused by sawdust which bored into the bank, letting in the water, which gradually increased in volume. Soon a hole in the bank 100 feet wide was washed away. The torrent swept into the river in front, carrying away trees and all the waste around. The mills immediately shut down, and there is no telling when they will resume work, as the damage will take weeks to repair. The disaster will cost the company thousands of dollars and will throw 3,000 employes out of work for an indefinite time.

One of Hunter's Forgeries.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The suit of the Union bank, of Mount Holly, to recover $5,300 from the Seventh National bank, of this city, on a note of James Long in favor of James Hunter, the defaulter, which note was claimed to be a forgery, was ended yesterday. The defendant paying over the [illegible] to the Seventh National bank to recover the amount.

THE MASTER WORKMAN.

HIS ANNUAL ADDRESS TO THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

An Exhaustive Review of the Work Accomplished in the Past Year—The Labor Leader's Opinion of the Anarchists.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 7.—At yesterday's morning session of the Knights of Labor a proposition to reinstate D. A. No. 126, of New York, and admit Master Workman Morrison to a seat in the assembly was quickly followed by the refusal of Mr. Powderly to put the motion. The Pittsburg delegation was appointed a special committee to report what action should be taken relative to the proposed monument to the late Thomas A. Armstrong. A God-speed was sent to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, in session at Terra Haute, Ind.

For over four hours in the afternoon the stillness in Harmonia hall was broken only by the voice of one man and frequent bursts of applause. It was a strong, clear voice when it started, but before the close it was hoarse and cracked. The speaker, or rather the reader, was Grand Master Workman Powderly, and the manner of his annual address to the general assembly. It was contained in a pamphlet of sixty-four pages of closely printed minion. Fifty-five pages were devoted to a history of the trouble in the organization during the past twelve months and about four of the remaining nine to suggestions for the improvement and development. The speaker started with the statement that the last session of the general assembly was amid the clamor of discontented men, the outgrowth of agitations and dissensions within the ranks, which were enlarged upon and scattered to the world by enemies within and without. To-day there was but one subject of interest in the way of the success of the convention, and that was of so unimportant a nature that he would not refer to it. The delegates understood this to refer to the Anarchist resolution, and there was applause and counter applause.

A sharp rap of the gavel restored order, and the speaker at once plunged into a history of the Chicago stock yards strike of last year, which was summarily ended by the executive board. This occupied the attention of the convention for over an hour. All the correspondence which passed between the grand master workman, the officers of the assemblies on strike and Messrs. Barry and Carlton, of the executive board, who visited Chicago at the time to investigate the trouble, was read in detail.

The speaker next went in the question of "The Order and Anarchy." He said:

I have never, as has been so often asserted in the press of the land, confounded socialism with anarchy. I draw a wide line of distinction between the two, as every reading, thinking man must. Whatever I have had occasion to say anything concerning anarchy it has been reported that I confounded socialism. I have said my say concerning either one, except from the public platform, and to my mind altogether too much prominence has been given to the utterances of persons. Within the order not enough of interest has been awakened until lately regarding the Haymarket affair to justify me in taking the stand, being so large and influential, could afford to pump with the presence of a few of the rankest anarchists in the order, and therefore, and because I have taken issue with these men in their efforts to make the order of the Knights of Labor subordinate to the element known as the Anarchist element I have been taken to task more than once. One of our most eminent members in speaking of these things, have said: "Powderly is only speaking for himself when he assails the Anarchist." I will lay the case before the general assembly, and when I have done so will ask of this body to say whether I was right or not. I will also ask the assembly to define the position of the order on the attempts that have been made to prostitute it to such base uses as the Anarchists would put it. I have so publicly uttered a sentiment regarding the course of the seven men who are condemned to death in Chicago. (Published Sept. 16, 1887.) I will now give my opinion. If these men did not have a fair trial, such as is guaranteed every man in the United States, then they should be granted a new trial. If they have not been found guilty of murder, they should not be hanged. If they are to be hanged for the actions of others, it is not just. The man who threw the bomb in Chicago should be hanged, and his accomplices should receive the punishment allotted to such offenses by laws of the state.

The speaker then went on to refer to his connection with the Anarchists of Chicago as affecting the Knights of Labor. He felt it his duty to warn the man who held such nefarious doctrines should have no control in the order, though he never went so far as to interfere in Chicago politics or advise Knights to remain away from Mrs. Neebe's funeral. In conclusion he said:

I have not in any way interfered in the internal affairs of the order, but various societies to which any of these men may belong, and in doing what I did I faithfully carried out the instructions received from my predecessor, and have lived up to the obligation I took when installed as master workman. I place them before you so that steps may be taken to put a stop to the interference of the Anarchists in the affairs of the order, and to remain there. I have never had a desire for revenge, or for any other purpose than to shield the order from the attacks of men who have grown insane on the subject of bringing the millenium to a few after they have blown the many to atoms. The resolution which we should pass is one by which it will be proved Anarchist be obliged to withdraw from this order or to be turned out.

That I have been denounced by these people is only because I would not allow them to dictate to the policy of the Knights of Labor, and whoever takes my place must do the same, or the order sinks into oblivion.

You can tell all the principal correspondents on anarchy; you know what I have done; you know my position, and I leave the matter with you for final action.

The Home club next came in for a large share of consideration, the speaker denying that he was under the influence of any clique within the order.

Mr. Powderly recommends the order to urge upon congress the adoption of the postal telegraph system and a department of labor.

The Last Sad Rites.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 7.—The late Thomas A. Armstrong, the well known soldier, labor leader, editor and politician, was buried yesterday with imposing ceremonies. After services in the Fifth Avenue M. E. church the casket was taken to the Union station, where a special train of five coaches conveyed the funeral party to Steubenville, O., the place of interment. An immense concourse of citizens and friends were in waiting at that place and accompanied the remains to the cemetery.

THE PERSONAL LIBERTY PARTY.

A New Party Organized in the Netherlands.

ALBANY, Oct. 7.—The Personal Liberty party entered the field of politics yesterday with a full state organization, and prepared to take a hand in the coming election. The movement originated among German societies in the larger cities, who felt that the customs and habits peculiar to their race, and generally observed in the fatherland, were interfered with by the strict enforcement of the Sunday laws. Mayor Hewitt's edict that the saloons might be closed and beer gardens might without harm be opened at certain hours on Sunday after noon gave impetus to the discussion, and has led to an organized effort to secure the amendment of the laws so as to permit the opening of the saloons between 2 p. m. and midnight on Sundays. There were about 150 delegates present at the state convention yesterday, representing, according to the secretary's figures, 75,836 members of German societies. The Personal Liberty party organization to devote its energies to securing the election of senators and assemblymen who favor a "continental" Sunday. All candidates who will not support their willingness to vote against any candidate for the legislature who does not pledge himself to favor a modification of the excise law so as to permit the opening of the saloons at certain hours on Sunday, and the convention adjourned.

THE EXCOMMUNICATED PRIEST.

Bishop Moore Appeals to Rome in Behalf of Dr. McGlynn.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—It became known yesterday that Bishop John Moore, of St. Augustine, Fla., had sent another application to the pope to have the case of Dr. McGlynn reopened. When Cardinal Gibbons was in Rome he received from Dr. Burtsell, Dr. McGlynn's counsel, a defence of Dr. McGlynn's course. It was addressed not to the prefect of the propaganda, as it should have been, but it was intended as a formal defense, but it was in the shape of a letter to Cardinal Gibbons. Cardinal Gibbons therefore did not hand the letter to the proper authority, but communicated its contents to Cardinal Simeoni as a document in the case. Cardinal Gibbons was in no way authorized to act as an intermediary in the case between Dr. McGlynn and his archbishop, and scrupulously avoided interfering. He was surprised when the so-called "defense" arrived, addressed to him, and was annoyed when a few days later he received a cable dispatch from Bishop Moore asking the cardinal to request the propaganda to suspend sentence until the defense could be forwarded to the proper authorities in Rome.

Bishop Moore has all along insisted that the private audits should reopen the case, and yesterday he forwarded a second request to Rome, asking that Dr. McGlynn's counsel be heard, and that the sentence of excommunication.

THE CHARGES AGAINST HIM DISMISSED BY THE COURT.

Going to Court in Civic State, with the Insignia of Office—An Unseemly Struggle in the Courtroom—Mr. O'Brien Failed to Appear.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—The prosecution of Lord Mayor Sullivan yesterday for publishing in his newspaper, The Nation, the report of the meeting of the suppressed branches of the National League, has broken down. Mr. T. Healy, M. P., was counsel for the defense, and raised the point that the proof of the holding of the meeting and of the nature of the business transacted on that occasion was necessary before the magistrate could convict. The presiding magistrate, Mr. O'Donel, agreed to this view and dismissed the summons. The counsel for the crown thereupon gave notice of an appeal against Magistrate O'Donnel's decision.

The lord mayor and the members of the Dublin corporation, together with Mr. T. Sexton, M. P. and high sheriff for Dublin, all of them arrayed in the high robes, uniforms and badges of their offices, drove to the court house in a state procession, preceded by the city marshal wearing his gold embroidered coat, cocked hat and sword. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed among the immense crowd.

A scene occurred at the beginning of the trial, which arose out of the High Sheriff Solomon's demand that the city mace and the city sword should, in accordance with the rules and regulations on the subject, be placed on the table during the presiding magistrate, in order to indicate that in the court house, as everywhere else within the city boundaries, the Dublin corporation is supreme. The police attempted to prevent the placing of the city emblems on the table, and an unseemly struggle took place, the police seeking to clandestinely remove the sword and mace, while the municipal officers, headed by Mr. Sexton, resisted them, and sought to effect their purpose by placing them on the table. After several fruitless attempts success was effected, and the mace and sword were placed in front of the seats reserved for the corporation officials.

Editor William O'Brien, M. P., who had also been summoned for publishing the objectionable reports in his newspaper, United Ireland, did not appear to answer to his name. The crown will state to-day its intentions with regard to him.

When the lord mayor emerged from the court house after the trial he was received with tremendous cheering. The civic procession was reformed and the lord mayor was escorted back to the Mansion house, before entering which he addressed the assembled people.

AFTER THE RACE.

ENGLAND WILL SEND OVER ANOTHER CHALLENGE.

The New Boat Will Be Designed by Mr. Watson and Will Probably Be at the Second Class—Mr. Charles Sweet, a Young Lawyer, Will Have It Built.

HOSE who have supposed that England will be satisfied to let America's cup remain unchallenged for next year have made a great mistake. It was scarcely forty-eight hours after the Thistle had been whipped by the Volunteer the second time when every yachting man in New York was talking about another challenge. The challenge has not, of course, been formally presented yet, but there is no question that it will be. The name of the man who proposes to try and wrest the cup away from America is Mr. Charles Sweet, a young marine lawyer, of New York and London. He is a Scotchman, born at Ayr, and is a thorough yachtsman. He is a member of the New York Yacht club, but in view of the challenge he will present he has resigned his membership. It is not necessary for him to do this, but he thinks that under the circumstances it will be the proper thing for him to do. He is also a member of the Royal Ocean Yacht club and the Royal Thames Yacht club. The challenge will probably come through the latter club.

It is understood that the designer of the new boat which Mr. Sweet is to have built will be Mr. G. L. Watson, who designed the Thistle. Mr. Sweet said in a recent interview that he thought the Thistle could be improved on in many ways. He is in some doubt as to whether the new boat will be of steel or wood, as there are advantages about each material not possessed by the other. She will, of course, be a keel boat, and will probably be of the second class, to rank with the Titania and the Shamrock. Mr. Sweet is of the opinion that it will be very hard to build a keel boat of the same size as the Volunteer to outsail her in windward work. The young lawyer is the owner of that fast little craft the Clara, which Capt. Barr sailed over the finishing line first on several occasions. Capt. Barr will probably command the new boat.

There has also been much talk about a challenge from Mr. William Muir, of Dumbarton, Scotland, the owner of the Madge. It is quite possible that he also will challenge for the cup, but Mr. Sweet's boat will probably have the preference, but it may happen that the two boats will race against each other for the honor of challenging for the cup.

BEFORE THE BULLETIN BOARD.

There has been considerable dispute among yachtsmen as to the relative merits of the Thistle and Volunteer before the wind. So far as windward work is concerned every one, of course, admits the superiority of the Volunteer; but in the two races for the America's cup it was difficult to compare the sailing of the two yachts before the wind. The first half of the course was a beat to windward, and the Volunteer got so far ahead of the Thistle when the stake boat was turned that the sailing conditions of the two boats were entirely different. For instance, in the second race the Volunteer rounded the stake boat seventeen minutes ahead of the Thistle, but as the finish line was but twelve minutes ahead. It would thus appear that on the return the Thistle gained five minutes on the Volunteer, but Capt. Haff declares that as a matter of fact the distance between the two boats at the finish was just as great as at the turning point. The difference in time, he says, was due entirely to the increase in the wind. The wind, which was blowing five or six miles faster at the finish than it was at the turning point, of course, enabled the Thistle to cover the distance quicker than if the wind had not freshened. Another reason, he says, is that the Thistle had the benefit of the increasing velocity of the wind, she being two miles astern and of course felt it first.

Mr. Burgess, when he heard what Capt. Haff said, thought there might be some truth in it, but he was not prepared to state positively that he considered the Volunteer the faster boat before the wind. Everybody is hoping now that there will be a race between the Thistle and either the Mayflower, Puritan, Atlantic or Priscilla.

The excited crowds that gathered in front of the bulletin boards in New York, as illustrated in the cut that accompanies this article, showed that the interest in yachting is increasing every year.

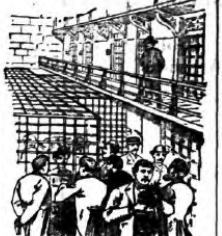
The "Next of Kin" Business.

"How very rarely we hear of a new friend," was the observation which a gentleman made recently. "It is always the old thing dished up a little differently. The frauds are daily exposed, and yet continue to succeed. Why, look at the 'next of kin' business. It has been exposed a thousand times, and yet the dupes are as plentiful as cranberries in a Jersey marsh. It was practiced as early as 1699 by Mr. Dallas, when he was our minister at the British court. There's a family in this city and their connections throughout the country who are gladly paying up their 'assessments' toward the recovery of a fabulous fortune. Their glib attorney will enjoy one or two pleasant trips to Europe at their expense, and that will be the end of it. It's an old fraud, but it seems to flourish like a green bay tree."—Philadelphia Call.

THE CONDEMNED ANARCHISTS.

Their Quarters in Cook County Jail Described.

While their friends are making every possible effort for them, the seven condemned Anarchists, Spies, Fielden, Schwab, Engel, Lingg and Neebe, lie in the cells of "Murderer's Row" in the Chicago jail, watched day and night by keen detectives.



IN COOK COUNTY JAIL.

As shown in our engraving, friends and visitors are admitted during certain hours. Male friends come with cheering words; women with flowers and delicacies, and a daily visit is paid to Miss Nina Van Zandt, the fiancée of August Spies. Our illustration, taken from Frank Leslie's, shows the cells occupied by the condemned Anarchists, as follows: 21, Neebe's cell; 22, Lingg's; 23, Engel's; 24, Spies; 25, vacant; 26, Schwab's; 27, Fielden's; 28, Fischer's; 29, Parsons'.

Two more chances still remain to the condemned men—the writ of error to the United States supreme court and a commutation of sentence by the governor. The latter may be regarded as the more doubtful. As the appeal must come in the first instance before Justice Harlan, whose circuit includes Illinois, his career and ability as a lawyer are thus incidentally made of interest. John M. Harlan began his political life as a Unionist of 1860-61, and took ground with Robert J. Breckenridge, Archibald Dixon, Col. Brastor, Gen. James Shackelford and others in holding Kentucky to her place in the Union. After many and various services to his state, rising through the successive legal ranks to the most important law offices of the state, was, on the 29th of November, 1877, commissioned by President Hayes as associate justice of the supreme Court of the United States, and in the division of territory which was assigned to the Seventh judicial circuit, by which the states Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, with the addition, in the universal interest excited by the cases of the Anarchists, he has already been appealed to for information. Declining, of course, to give any extra-judicial view on a case likely to come before him, he added that the appeal, if made, would come under section 709 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which provides that a "final judgment or decree in any suit in the highest court of a state, where any title, right, privilege or immunity is claimed under the constitution or any statute of the United States, and the decision is against the claim, may be re-examined and reversed or affirmed in the supreme court of the United States upon a writ of error." In a criminal matter such cases have precedence on the docket to all cases to which the United States is not a party.

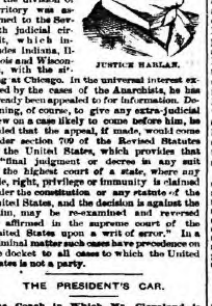
THE PRESIDENT'S CAR.

The Coach in Which Mr. Cleveland is Making His Western Trip.

When President Cleveland made ready for his western trip now in progress he bought tickets for himself and party, applied for regular Pullman car berths on the regular trains, and calculated generally to travel "like Jacksonian simplicity." But the railroad magnates promptly reversed all the first and convinced him by cogent arguments that that scheme would not do at all. They insisted that no railroad company would be justified in taking the risk of exposing the president in that way, and that they must be allowed to provide more safeguards than they could on the regular trains. They asserted that in an era of cranks and train robbers a president was necessarily in more danger than other men, and would endanger those he traveled with unless special care could be taken. Furthermore, the usual demonstrations would not suit the schedule of their regular trains. In short, they insisted on preparing a special train of three cars, and these have been built at the Pullman car shops in Wilmington, Del.



PLAN OF THE CAR.

Of the three the first car, the Allaretta, is the luxury composite car, with compartment for baggage. Next to it are an elegant library, smoking room, wash room and barber shop. The second car is the ordinary Pullman used as the Pennsylvania Central, but remodeled on the vestibule plans that is, so one may pass directly through to either the forward or hinder car, as from one room to another. The hinder car, the last car in the one on which elegance is lavished, as it is for the exclusive use of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. The rear room is for observation, with broad plate glass windows through which the landscape may be viewed. It is upholstered in mahogany and blue plush. Next are the sleeping and dressing rooms, finished in white staple and furnished with a large folding bed and all the toilet conveniences. In front of this is the main saloon, for use on dining and sitting room, finished in oak with the old gold carpet and upholstery of terra cotta silk plush. At the forward end of the car is the kitchen. Thence to start it five long and illuminated by electric light. When we add that Mrs. Cleveland can pass from one car to the other as easily as from one room to another in the White House, it will be apparent that the distinguished pair can enjoy on their trip with "all the comforts of a home."

POSSIBLY A PRINCESS.

A LADY WHO CLAIMS TO BE VICTORIA'S DAUGHTER.

She Says She Was Born in Windsor Castle—The Book Which Tells Her Story Just Out—Pictures of the Queen and Her Alleged Daughter.

New York has recently learned that it numbers among its inhabitants a wandering princess. This lady resides at 135 East Tenth street, and is known as Mrs. Kent. She declares, however, solemnly and emphatically, that she was born in Windsor castle on Nov. 21, 1840, and that Queen Victoria is her mother and the late Prince Albert was her father, and that she is really Victoria, Adelaide Maria Louisa, princess royal of England and duchess of Saxony.

MRS. KENT.

This very startling assertion she has written out in the shape of a book of circumstantial manner in a book which the well known and reputable house of Bedford Clark & Co. has just brought out. In this book, however, the names of the real people who figure in the story are changed just enough to conceal the identities of those mentioned. In conversation Mrs. Kent does not hesitate to tell the real persons concealed under these fictitious characters. In the book England is called Fairland, the Count de Lundi is called Count de Lentz; Lady Anna Campbell is down as Lady Anna Crawley, and so on.

Whether Mrs. Kent's story be true or false, she undoubtedly believes it to the letter. Her resemblance to Queen Victoria is also marked. The portraits most prejudiced against her, most skeptical of her story must admit that she looks enough like Queen Victoria to be her daughter. As an offset to this, however, one must remember that the queen has by no means an unusual face. It is decidedly German, and does not differ materially from hundreds of other German women's faces. Mrs. Kent may not be, as she believes, princess royal of England, but in manner and speech she is undoubtedly of high birth. Her voice is sweet and cultivated, and retains a decided but attractive German accent. Reckoning by photographs, her face is not unlike that of the late Empress Frederick, and does not bear a Vanity Fair likeness. The Paris papers took up her story and talked about it extensively. She says she has been followed by detectives in this country and all over Europe. In Paris she was persecuted outrageously. There she was known as the Comtesse de Lundi; but now she uses her maiden name of Kent.

Mrs. Kent came to the United States last May, and has been busy ever since preparing her book and engaging a publisher. Her object in coming to America is to publish her book, make money and pay off the debts she was obliged to contract in Paris. She has barely enough funds for her immediate living expenses when she arrived. She lives at a modest boarding house. She also asserts that Pope Leo XIII is in possession of the records establishing her story.

MARSHAL PHOEBE COUZINS.

The First Woman Who Has Ever Held the Office.

A great "forward step," as the woman suffragists would say, has been taken, for a woman has been appointed to a purely executive office, an office of honor and dignity. Miss Phoebe Couzins is now United States marshal for the judicial circuit embracing the eastern district of Missouri, Justice Samuel F. Miller being the circuit justice. Miss Couzins was made marshal by her father part of the time he filled the principal office, and for the last four months did nearly all the work. There was a question of about $2,500 compensation for extra services rendered by him, and the problem was solved by this order, read by Justice Miller on the bench at St. Louis, and properly entered on the journal:

"In being made to appear to me, the circuit justice for the eastern district of Missouri, that there is a vacancy in the office of marshal of said district, by the expiration of the term of office appointed Phoebe W. Couzins to be said marshal, to hold the office until an appointment is made by the president and the appointee is duly qualified, and no longer. Witness my hand as circuit justice of said district this 29th day of September, 1887.

"SAMUEL F. MILLER."

Many women have at various times filled offices under the government, and have been queens, regents and empresses, but always by right of birth. This is the first instance of the appointment of one to high executive functions where the duties must be done, not by proxy, as a queen might act, but in person. Miss Couzins was born in St. Louis in 1842. She and was tested in childhood for executive talent; she entered the St. Louis high school at the age of 11 and graduated at 15. In 1869 she entered the law department of the University of Washington, graduated in 1871, was at once admitted to the bar in Washington, and also became admitted to practice in the courts of Arkansas and Dakota and finally to the United States district court at St. Louis. She has now established an important case in court, but has had much practice as counsel, and been prominent as a lecturer in the cause of woman suffrage. She has given the coveted fee of $200,000 and entered on her duties to the general satisfaction of her fellow citizens of St. Louis.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

The first recollections of Sophia Adelaide, as the abdicated baby was called, are of the Castle of Ischl, in the Tyrol, with "Lady Anna" and the Count de Lundi, whom she speaks of in the book as Count de Lentz, and whom she was taught to call "father." When she was 3 years old he was brought home murdered.

In the meantime a man whom she was taught to call "Uncle Edward," but who was in reality, she states, her father, Prince Albert, of England, husband of the queen, was a frequent visitor to the house at Ischl, and between him and the little girl "Sophia Adelaide," as she was called, there grew up the warmest affection.

Then the count's brother, Lady Anna and Sophia Adelaide went to live at Lady Anna's home in the north of England. Then the little girl was sent to the convent of Nymphenburg, in Bavaria, and afterward to Schleissheim. From there she was taken to Italy, to the Convent of Sacred Heart at Milan. Later she traveled in Italy with Uncle Lundi and Lady Anna, whose health was failing. They all came to this country. Before they left Uncle Edward came around and took them an affectionate farewell, and said that when he and Sophia Adelaide were all alone she might call him "father" if she would do so in a whisper.

From this country they went to Quito, the capital of Ecuador, from thence to New Orleans, from New Orleans to Dayton, O., where Uncle Lundi was stricken down with the cholera. When his physicians assured him that his case was hopeless he sent for Sophia Adelaide and told her the secret of her birth. He had merely taken charge of the child after his brother's death, and was in no way responsible for the criminal part of the work. In order to better protect the friendless girl who was then 15 years old, he sent for a priest and made her the Countess de Lundi. A few hours after the ceremony he was dead; and two days later Lady Anna died. Both were buried in Dayton.

Sophia Adelaide and her maid then went to New Orleans, to live in the family of Mr. Pierce, a friend of the late Count Lundi. While there she received letters from "Uncle Edward," who urged her to return to England, and assured her of a safe "retreat." The "retreat" did not allure her. Finally Uncle Edward wrote that she would prefer to remain in America for a time, at least. He grew angry at her refusal, after writing her a few mandatory letters ceased to write her altogether.

Since then she has lived mostly in Europe. For the last few years of her life were spent in France. In Cincinnati the forlorn princess married a lawyer, whom she had engaged to write for her affairs. She was subsequently divorced from him, and, she says, he then married her maid.

For a long time, when she wanted money, she wrote to Uncle Edward Bonverie, Colehill vicarage, Wiltshire, England, and got it. He died in 1875. John Brown, the queen's faithful henchman, also died, and then came the end of all, and once when the queen was ill John Brown took Sophia Adelaide to Windsor castle to see her, but after her father's death was sent away in the morning, because the queen was better.

After John Brown died she got no more money. Then she has written to Queen Victoria and to the Prince of Wales, but receives no reply. In Berlin she met Bismarck and understood that she became well nigh desperate. She wrote to the crown princess and asked to be taken into the royal household as a governess, a position which was accepted. In Paris M. Mendes, of The Gil Blas newspaper, and Lesclede, private secretary to Gambetta, received something about her, which was suppressed in England and Germany. Edmund Yates spoke guardedly of her in The London World, and was silent in Vanity Fair. The Paris papers took up her story and talked about it extensively. She says she has been followed by detectives in this country and all over Europe. In Paris she was persecuted outrageously. There she was known as the Comtesse de Lundi; but now she uses her maiden name of Kent.

Mrs. Kent came to the United States last May, and has been busy ever since preparing her book and engaging a publisher. Her object in coming to America is to publish her book, make money and pay off the debts she was obliged to contract in Paris. She has barely enough funds for her immediate living expenses when she arrived. She lives at a modest boarding house. She also asserts that Pope Leo XIII is in possession of the records establishing her story.

FOUR BEAR STORIES.

A bear weighing 500 pounds was killed on first river, near Albany, Ga., by the children, who never saw a bear in their neighborhood before.

Daniel O'Connell, of Stamford, Vt., was attacked by a bear near North Adams, Mass., and was bit as badly wounded when his dog came to his rescue and caused it to escape. The dog has not been seen since.

A man was going over the Rocky mountains for pine logs, driving a wagon. On the top of a large log by the side of the road was a young bear, and the mother was not far up the mountain on the approach of the team. The cub not moving, the mother came along back of the load and giving it a push with her nose started up the mountain again, expecting the cub to follow. But the little one made no move. The old bear then came back the second time, and taking up the cub in her paws, gave him several cuffs. The cub then obeyed orders and followed the old bear in a gallop up the side of the mountain.

A passenger train on the Florida railroad stopped some fifteen miles from Cedar Key to prevent a collision with some cattle, when a black bear came trotting leisurely out of the woods. The engineer, seeing his game, ran and entered the express room, where he found three strings of fish and some bacon, all of which went quickly into his maw. When the train started on the bear was still in the car at the door. The bear soon became tired of his ride, and looked about for means of egress. Nothing looked as ruin-table to attack as the window in the side of the car, which was protected by iron rods about a half inch in diameter. He selected one of these, caught two or three of them in his jaws with his paws, and, giving them a big broke and twisted them off clean. His body was then forced through the aperture and struck the ground like a rubber ball. He turned two or three somersaults and ambled off into the woods.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

A little boy who had been used to receiving his elder brother's old toys and clothes, recently asked his mother, "shall I have to marry his widow when he dies?"—Boston Transcript.

A musical dog trotting down the street attracted the attention of a 5-year-old, who observed: "Gosh! mother, that dog's got his tail-pipe on backwards."—Detroit Free Press.

"Can you tell me why the lions didn't hurt Daniel?" inquired the Sunday school teacher of the tough little boy. "'Cause Daniel was a prophet and knowed his business," was the startling reply.

"Say, mam," said a studious little African, "of Chiny am straight down froo on de odder side, and we are all whizzin' roun' as roun' on dister earf, what am de reason dat we nebber gits darf"—Washington Critic.

Minister (dining with the family)—You never go fishing on Sundays, do you, Bobby? Bobby—Oh, no, sir. Minister—That's right, Bobby. How, can you tell me why you don't go fishing on Sunday? Bobby—Yes, sir. Because you're bound to be bothered with me.—New York Sun.

Freddy had been repeatedly told that he must not ask people for money. One day he met Mr. Williams, and made a direct personal appeal from the small boy. "Mr. Williams," said Freddy, "do you ever give five cents to little boys what don't ask for 'em?" He got the money.—Detroit Free Press.

Alcott and Emerson.

A. Bronson Alcott has kept a journal ever since he was a boy. Among the earliest entries are the following: "Went in swimmin' today. Read Pinto when I'm in' off and got stuffy. Numbered." "Today began Kriddel's study of the Greeks tragedies, but Ralf Emerson came round and we concluded to go after Chipmunks."—Burlington Free Press.

Public Schoolboy (to Gen. Sir George, G. C. B., G. S. I., V. C., etc., etc., etc.)—I say, grandpapa—a—would you mind just putting on your hat a little straighter? Here comes Colegrave—he's awfully particular—and he's the captain of our eleven, you know!"—Punch.

Tramp vs. Vegetarian.

A tramp called at a house in a Chicago suburb a few mornings ago, and asked for some cold victuals. He was given a plate of oatmeal mush, some raw dried prunes, a tomato and a saucer of hominy, the whole without seasoning of any kind.

"I—I—can't you let me have some milk, and some sugar, salt and pepper?" inquired the embarrassed tourist as he surveyed the spread.

"Milk is not wholesome," replied the lady of the house, sweetly, "and we never use condiments. I can let you have some cracked wheat if you like."

"Haven't you any meat?"

"Oh, no; we never use meat. It is not fit for the human stomach. Would you like some grass?"

"Is this the kind of stuff you live on?"

"Certainly, my friend. Meats, sausages, gravies, condiments of all kinds and heating foods have a tendency to injure the coating of the stomach, impart an unnatural condition to the system, and—why, here! let me read a chapter of this book to you. I can show you in half an hour"—

With a yell of consternation the tramp fled. As he went out through the front gate he paused long enough to write on the gate post with chalk these words: "Kranks! Keep away!"—Chicago Tribune.

Not Very Conversational.

There is an American in the customs service in China who is quite a character. His cookness and assurance have tried the patience of Sir Robert Hart, the imperial director of customs, any time these twenty years, but he is still there. He never could learn Chinese, and when a stranger said inadvertently that the customs man should know the language to some extent he didn't learn it. He was always doing something wrong, or against the rules. On one occasion Sir Robert Hart was in Shanghai, and, walking down the Bund he met the American, whose coat was as a southern's ever is, for the season, ordered.

"Well, sir," said Hart, "will you have the goodness to explain why you are not at your post in Amoy?"

"Certainly, Sir Robert. I am traveling with a No. 1 Mandarin on duty."

"What! You can't be of much use. How do you expect to get on without talking to him?"

"How can you get on without talking to him?"

"Well, you see, Sir Robert, he's dead."

He was escorting the body of a dead mandarin to his family places.—San Francisco Chronicle.

No Family Objections.

Mrs. De Mullion—My poor friend, how can I console you!

Mrs. De Corner—Console me! What about?

Why, Then it isn't true. It was reported at Mrs. De Fashion's party last evening that your son had eloped with an actress."

"Yes, that's true. We told him we thought an elopement would look better than a public wedding."

"What! You didn't object!"

"No, indeed. Mr. Medcalf had cornered in the wheat crash, and we are both glad the poor boy has found some one to support him."—Omaha World.

Hope Wanted.

"Eh! Going on a journey? I expected to be hailed a friend with a grip-sack.

"Only a short trip. Going out to the County fair."

"Got anything to exhibit there?"

"Oh, no. I'm going to make the big speech of the opening day."

"You! What in flaxseed do you know of agriculture?"

"Nothing. It will all be about the Revolutionary war—George Washington—old pioneers, and my patent stump puller. They don't want any agriculture in it."—Detroit Free Press.

Interior Decoration a la Turque.

"I'm going to have a corpse of my father hung over the mantelpiece," remarked the proud owner of a new and luxurious mansion, as he expressed his perfect satisfaction with the decorating of the library.

"Oh, pardon me, it is impossible!" exclaimed the architect. "The room is York Pink."

"All right," said the master of the house gravely. "Of course, we wouldn't spoil the decorations. But if I have the artist touch him up a little, and put a fez on the old gentleman's head, you'll let him in, won't you?"—The Epoch.

Just the Very Place.

"Where are you going to locate?" asked one young doctor of another.

"I don't know. I was thinking of going to X——."

"Don't do it. They tell me there is general sickness there."

"That's just it. Blackleaf's produces malaria, you know."—Washington Critic.

A Premature Malady.

"I saw at once," said a physician who had been called in consultation, "that Dr. Pellett's diagnosis was wrong, but as he was in charge of the case of course it wouldn't do for me to interfere."

"Did he mistake it?"

"Oh, yes—died of professional courtesy"—a very common and fatal disease."—Harper's Bazar.

Going! Going!

To the last hungry "shoster"
Left in senior class!
All his hearty compotation
Are failed and gone.
Oh, why do skills "shoot"
Never in his sight?
Cause he'll feed on the leanest,
What's too fat to learn.

THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its want columns daily furnishes a guide to intelligent reading and is the means of procuring employment for all kinds of help. In all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

Considering Street Repairs, House Numbering, etc.

Mayor Cooley presided as usual at the regular October meeting of the North Plainfield Borough Council last night. Present—Councilmen McGee, Milne, McCutchen, Riker, Weaver, [illegible]—Councilman Shaw.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Petitions were received as follows:

From property owners on Dearfstreet requesting better sidewalks from L. M. French's place to that of Anna Evans.

Referred to Committee on Streets.

From property owners on Washington avenue asking for better sidewalks on Washington avenue from the bridge to Rockview avenue. Referred.

From residents of Washington avenue, through Mr. McCutchen, asking that the sidewalks on the westerly side of Washington avenue from Linden avenue to Park Place be repaired as needed.

Referred to Committee on Streets.

From Peter Cooley, Geo. P. Dupee, A. W. Haviland and G. W. McCutchen, asking that Washington avenue from the bridge at Green Brook to Rockview avenue, and Rockview avenue from Grove street to Madison avenue, and Madison avenue from Rockview avenue to the bridge, over Stony Brook, be macadamized, to the depth of six inches in the centre sloping to the sides to the extent of 16 feet in breadth, the signers of the petition guaranteeing to pay the cost thereof not in excess of 40 cents per running foot.

The petition was, after considerable discussion, in which all took part, laid on the table until Tuesday evening, October 11, when an adjourned meeting will be held. Meanwhile Mr. F. A. Dunham, C. E., will be instructed as per resolution to survey the avenue to the bridge; over Stony Brook, in macadamized, to the depth of six inches in the centre sloping to the sides to the extent of 16 feet in breadth, the signers of the petition guaranteeing to pay the cost thereof not in excess of 40 cents per running foot.

Mayor Cooley made a verbal report regarding the numbering of the streets. He said that Mr. Baker, who has been engaged to take charge of the matter, awaits instructions. It will, he thinks, be better to have large maps prepared showing each block and lot map as he goes along, and in any case there will be considerable expense. Now whether this expense should be charged directly to the residents (or to the Council) is a matter which needs to be settled at once. The Mayor further thought that the work ought to be thoroughly done now, and wanted to know if it wouldn't be better to have all vacant lots numbered, too, as well as the houses.

Councilman Milne suggested that the ordinance relative to the matter would have to be altered, for it now calls for a number for only every fifty feet, while on Somerset street and other thoroughfares there is a building on every twenty-five feet front. He asked if it would not be advisable, too, to continue the numbers from where the city's numbering left off at the borough line of Somerset street, for instance, instead of beginning with No. 1 and having similar numbers on each side of the line.

Mr. Milne also remarked that it might not be a bad idea to give corner lots a number on each street they faced—as is customary in cities.

Mr. Weaver agreed with Mr. Milne on many points, but thought that the borough's numbers ought to begin in all cases with No. 1, regardless of those on the Plainfield side of the line.

On motion of Councilman McCutchen the Mayor's report was referred to the Committee on Streets, who will be asked to report his opinion as to the best method of numbering the streets.

Mr. McCutchen reported for the Special Committee on Rules for the Governing of Committees. He said that his report was incomplete and asked that it be laid over until the next meeting.

His request was granted.

Councilman Milne, of the Committee on Licenses and Marshals, said that no arrangement could be made with Mr. French for having the borough lockup in his property and that no place more suitable than the present one had been secured.

The following peddlers' license applications were granted: Sigismund Kutz, James Stewart, Jacob Halburn, Jasper Wilson.

Councilman Milne of the Finance Committee reported as follows:

Balance in hands last report	$350 01
Indebtedness at " "	283 48
Paid out during the month	111 18
Balance now on hand	$238 83
Present total indebtedness	$283 48

A bill of J. H. Wilson, for paving material, for $88.04, was received and referred.

The report of the Committee on Streets and Public Roads was received and ordered on file as follows:

During the month the repairs on Somerset street, from the Hillman bridge to the borough line have been completed. On this there has been placed about 275 tons of second size stone and 161 loads of dirt. The total cost for material and labor is $469.60. The distance covered by these repairs is about 2,145 feet. On Washington avenue between Myrtle avenue and Prospect Place the gutters were ploughed out and cleaned. Similar repairs were made on Grove street and Manning avenue, and on Harmony street. On the Green Brook road a slight washout was repaired. On Grandview avenue and Grand street the Board of Freeholders furnished pipe for culverts and laid the same, consulting in the filling in and grading of the roadway by the Plainfield Improvement Co.

The sidewalks in front of Frank Brown's on Sycamore avenue and of Mr. Johnson on Cleveland avenue will be repaired by the borough and the expense charged to the owners. Mr. Young has contracted to do the work at 15 cents per square foot. The Superintendent will proceed immediately after notifying residents to repair sidewalks, when they have not complied with the Council's orders.

On motion adjourned.

WAS HE SMUGGLED?

All About the Plot to Make Away with "Murphy."

Last Tuesday Detective "Edward J. Murphy" went before the Grand Jury at Elizabeth to testify in the "fire-bug" cases, and was informed that they would not be ready for him for several days. Tuesday evening he was in the bar-room of Laing's Hotel, in company with Robert Skinner, who was first arrested as one of the "fire-bugs" and afterwards discharged for want of evidence, but is held as a witness under $500 bonds. There were other firemen in the lot.

Councilman Carey heard that Murphy was in the saloon, and a story got in circulation that there was a plot to get him out of the way, so that he could not appear before the Grand Jury.

The councilman, who is faithfully watching the city's interests, went into the saloon and, calling "Murphy" aside said, "Can you see that those men are trying to use you," to which "Murphy" replied that he was on his guard and hunting after more evidence. He promised to see the Councilman later. The Councilman departed and soon after received word that harm would come to "Murphy."

Edward Crater, of Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, residing on Second street and employed by the Central Railroad Company, on the Jersey City piers had gone with "Murphy" to Rahway, and the stable, have a team of horses was hired and about midnight the two returned to the barroom, drank something and then drove to Newark, returning only last night.

The Grand Jury meanwhile wanting "Murphy," subpœnas was left at his house with his wife, but she did not know of his whereabouts, and he did not receive the sum mons.

Corporation Counsel Marsh requested that nothing be said in the local papers about the matter yesterday, as he feared it might hurt the prosecution. The saloon men acted faithful to its pledge, the saloon-organ being as usual false and saying enough to slur.

Corporation Counsel Marsh now requests us to say in behalf of the prosecution which is being conducted by Prosecutor Wilson., that they have full confidence in "Murphy," who has been with those able lawyers in Elizabeth all morning, and fully accounted to them for his absence, returning this afternoon. Mr. Marsh is particularly desirous of putting an end to the rumors intended by the saloons and "firebugs" sympathizers to injure the detective.

A Merry Welcome for Both.

A large number of people gathered in the chapel of the Park avenue Baptist church last evening to welcome home Mr. and Mrs. Asa R. Dills, the pastor and his wife. Over the platform was the motto exercise blackboard usually stands was the word "Welcome" in different colored flowers. At about half-past eight, Mr. and Mrs. Dills entered and walked to the foot of the platform, where they stood for the usual half-hour being introduced and shaking hands. Indeed so much hand-shaking did friends give them, that an old gentleman well-known as a punster got off the following: "Did you know Mr. and Mrs. Dills had changed their creed?"

"No; I did not. How have they changed it?"

"Why they were Baptists but now they are Shakers."

Another joke on Mr. Dills is that "He followed his calling and went to Providence for a wife.—Well, he got a good one any way.'. About all that could be heard after the introductions were over from the feminine set, was "Isn't she just lovely!" Everyone unanimously voted her "the ideal pastor's wife." At about ten o'clock refreshments were served in the way of cream, cake and fruit. During the evening David Runyon and his sister, Miss Elmer, played selections on the violin and piano, and Miss Bigelow and Miss Coard played a duet. The reception was over at half-past ten.

Messrs. Frank Heysinger and Harry Dorrance acted as ushers during the evening.

In a quiet way last night a purse of $120 in gold was donated by friends to the happy couple, and the minister was given the pleasing information that his salary had been increased from $1,200 to $1,500.

Wrong Again.

Foreman Thomas H. Keller of Engine Co. No. 3, called on us this morning and asked to have the mis-statements which appeared in the saloon-organ of last night in reference to his shooting a boy on the grounds of the Middlesex County Gun Club corrected. Mr. Keller says that the boy was engaged in trapping pigeons for him, and just as he shot, the trapper suddenly stood erect and received the charge shot in the top of his head. He was taken to Dr. Brakeley's office in Dunellen and the wounds were dressed and a half-hour afterward the boy was again back on the grounds, where he remained all day Thursday and again yesterday, apparently none the worse for the wounds. The saloon-organ last night came out with an exaggerated account, stating "that a boy had been shot by Mr. T. H. Keller, receiving some thirty shot in his scalp," etc. Mr. Keller felt bad as the matter stood in the first place, without being misrepresented.

BOUND BROOK.

John Grose, jr., of New York City spent a few days this week with his cousins, the Messrs. Plummer, on the mountain.

Mrs. Lizzie Hyde of East Orange spent Monday with her niece Mrs. John W. Reed.

Miss Addie Thomas of Dunellen enjoyed the Sunday festivities at Mrs. Jordan's last week.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

TOPICS THE READERS OF THE NEWS FIND TO TALK ABOUT.

Is the Junior O. U. A. M. Know-Nothingism?

To the EDITOR OF THE NEWS—I wish to ask a few questions about the Junior O. U. A. M., lately installed in this city, and to direct the attention of your many readers thereto.

The object of the "Order" as I learn from your report is to establish a distinction between Americans and foreigners and to bring about the complete isolation of the latter from all social, political and business advantages to this great Republic.

Now sir, what do they mean by foreigners? They must mean either the citizens of other nations or American citizens of foreign birth. To put mind the object of the "Order" is know-nothingism, pure and simple. No man acquainted with the inexhaustible resources of this country can ever fear competition with other nations. The real object of the "Order" is to array a small class of our citizens, including of American citizens of foreign birth from all commercial advantage in the State, contrary to the letter and spirit of the Constitution and therefore illegal.

No matter what may be the accident of the cradle, nor the locality, every man regards no man a foreigner who has become a citizen on the conditions laid down therein; and while exploiting the rights of any class of our constitution, good citizens should be slow to co-operate in any movement pre. ed for more monopoly would violate the Constitution and dishonor the blood of our fathers. We are free brothers in this land of liberty. Our lands. It is an insult to call us such. We are citizens of this great Republic prepared to stand by it with our lives. To regard it is an insult to distinguish between Americans and foreigners in the rights and business relations of citizens of this country. It is the way to destroy the very foundation of the Constitution and to declare war against our best citizens for our liberties, while others are held up as pet. down to the base men who lately gave 30 days and $50 fine for drunken stupor. The hunters informed the proper authorities, but an investigation which has just been completed by the Grand Jury failed to find the men or any evidence as to the murderers. The victims, who had evidently been robbed, were buried in one grave.

Negroes Burn a Bridge.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 8.—Isaac Mackfield and Wm. Strather, both colored, were arrested yesterday charged with setting fire to a railroad bridge a few miles west of this city, Wednesday night. The bridge was burned just before the arrival of the west bound passenger train, but was discovered by a section hand in time to flag the train and avert a catastrophe. The object of the negroes is supposed to have been robbery.

Murderers Meet Their Doom.

Ft. Barrn, Ark., Oct. 8.—Reuben Green, alias Calijo, a Creek Indian, and Silas Hampton, a Chickasaw indian were hanged here yesterday for murders committed in Indian Territory. Dressed in neat new black suits, white shirts and standing collars, the two men were conducted to the gallows, walking erect and unconcerned when they ascended the steps to the death-trap without a tremor.

Jessie Lied Dying.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A feeling of profound sadness prevails here among those who recollect Miss. Lind (Goldschmidt's) brilliant career on the lyric stage, over the news, for which there is no authority, that she whose voice charmed so many nations now lies helpless and "slowly, but surely sinking."

Incendiaries at Rahway.

RAHWAY, Oct. 8.—At midnight Friday several large lumber sheds owned by D. D. Tompkins & Campbell were destroyed by fire. Cause, incendiary. Loss, $4,000; fully insured.

STATE NOTES.

At a recent meeting of the State Board of Health in Trenton, Dr. Hunt gave it as his opinion that the recent cases of the several ing diphtheria is the saddest hasting up of houses where vegetable matter has been accumulated during the summer. Cellars are allowed to lie around in cellars, etc., during the summer till they finally wither. The fires built in the fall cause the decayed and rotten the vegetable matter, and a peculiar dampness from it at once pervades the house. Dr. Hunt says he has investigated the subject at considerable length.

SEVEN GHASTLY CORPSES.

Hunters Find Bloody Relics of an Awful Crime.

HURLEY, Wis., Oct. 8.—Evidence has been brought to light of a horrible crime or series of crimes in this place. The place is filled with dives of the lowest possible character, some of which were burned in the terrible fire of last August. One of these was located in a rear part of the main street.

A day or two ago some men went on a hunting expedition up this vacant lot, and missed one of their dogs. A search for the animal resulted in his discovery near a ruined dive where a horrible stench was experienced. The dog had in his mouths a blood stained and tattered silk cap such as is commonly used by train men. The fact that there were human tufts of human hair adhering to the jagged rent in the cap together with the dog's anxiety to return to the spot induced the hunters to institute a search.

Right behind the ruins of the old dance-house under some logs and a slight covering of earth they saw the decomposed corpses of seven murdered men. They lay just as their slayers had thrown them; some with gaping wounds, showing that they had fought hard for their lives, while others lay as if all resistance was paralyzed by the fear of death. The hunters informed the proper authorities, but an investigation which has just been completed by the Grand Jury failed to find the men or any evidence as to the murderers. The victims, who had evidently been robbed, were buried in one grave.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1887.

LONDON'S BLOOMIN' BOODLERS.

An Exciting Meeting of the Board of Public Works.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—An exciting scene occurred at the meeting of the Metropolitan board of works yesterday afternoon, and it is probable that the affair will lead to disclosures of crookedness in the transactions of several members of the board, the existence of which has long been suspected, but evidence of which has thus far been unobtainable. In the heat of discussion Mr. Kaevil, a recently appointed member of the board, deliberately walked up to Mr. Shepherd, who has represented the Bermondsey district since 1881, and struck that gentleman a heavy blow upon the face, at the same time exclaiming: "D——n you, you have called me a liar many times recently, and I'll have no more of it!"

Order was quickly restored by the other members present, but a storm of recriminations followed, and threats of exposure were freely hurled at several members whose conduct can in no no means above reproach. Lately there has been a great deal of talk about these members in connection with deals similar to that of the Broadway railway in New York, and the conviction is rapidly growing that some of them will soon have to appear in court and tell what certain curious items of public interest that have hitherto been kept in the dark. The board controls the whole of London outside of the city proper, and the full extent of the operations of a shady character is practically unlimited.

Charges Nearer Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The action of the Jersey City board of finance and taxation in returning the pay rolls of the board of public works to that body without approval has caused much speculation in that city. An expert is examining the accounts of the board of public works, and it is alleged that when his work is finished a large deficiency will be found to exist, some reports placing it at between $100,000 and $200,000. Another meeting of the board of public works will be held next Thursday, when it is expected the whole matter will be made public.

THE VICTORIOUS YACHTSMEN.

Boston's Reception to Paine and Burgess in Historic Faneuil Hall.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—The public reception by the city to Gen. Paine, owner, and Edward Burgess, designer, of the yacht Volunteer was attended by a crowd as numerous that before 3 o'clock last night Faneuil hall was filled to overflowing and many were unable to gain entrance. The yachts which defeated "Puritan," "Mayflower" and "Volunteer" were displayed, and a floral yacht and cup rested upon the platform.

Mayor O'Brien, who presided, introduced Gen. Paine in a neat little speech. The owner of the champion sloop was loudly cheered as he stepped forward. He returned his hearty thanks for the reception and said the gathering was proof of the great interest felt by the people in the competition for supremacy in yachting. The Thistle, he said, was undoubtedly the best boat that had been sent to compete for the America's cup. He had never underestimated her abilities. To have beaten her a vessel was built of which Capt. Burgess should be proud as designer, and Capt. Haff as the sailor, of the victor. The crew had done noble work. Hearty applause followed Gen. Paine's brief remarks.

Mr. Burgess was then introduced and also received a great welcome. He made a short speech, but briefly expressed his appreciation of the attention shown him. Short speeches followed by Governor Ames, ex-Mayor Prince, William Everett, Charles Levi Woodbury, Rev. E. A. Horton and Thomas J. Gargan. Rev. J. Minot Savage read a poem appropriate to the occasion, and the crowd then passed in line across the platform, shaking hands with Messrs. Paine and Burgess.

Japanese Workingmen.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Minister Hubbard, in his annual report of the foreign trade of Japan, states that the total import and export trade for 1886 amounted to $72,000,000, which is an increase of about $14,000,000 over that of 1885. He says there is great poverty among the lower classes. Good laborers can be hired for from fifteen to twenty-five cents per day, and they will "work like dogs" for $3 a week and board themselves. Minister Hubbard says that the Japanese authorities discriminate against American and in favor of German, English and French people in the award of the largest and most profitable government contracts. Nevertheless, the people of Japan trade with Americans by many millions more than with any other country.

Gus Williams' General Denial.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—Gus Williams, the German comedian, now filling an engagement at the People's theatre, was informed last night that he had been entered against him in New York by the Cupid Matrimonial agency, for fees due for services rendered in securing him a wife. Mr. Williams was completely taken by surprise, and at first thought it a joke, but was soon convinced that the company was in dead earnest. He says he never heard of the company before, and that he courted his wife, Emma Marlborough, himself, and married her in New York last December. He has sent the letters and telegrams to his lawyer, Samuel Barnard.

"Warlike Preparations."

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The excitement occasioned by the report of the death of the Sultan of Morocco and the departure of French troops from the frontier of that country is rapidly increasing. Spain seems determined to maintain her prestige in Morocco, and preparations of formidable proportions, which are reported to be "warlike" and not warlike, are being pushed rapidly to completion at the Spanish naval stations and military depots. The suicide has been succeeded by his 16-year-old son, who took the oath of office over the dead body of his father, and immediately upon assuming the throne appointed his favorite Moorish grand vizier.

Re-Prisoners of War.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The New England survivors of Southern military prisons held their annual meeting here yesterday. It was the largest and most enthusiastic since the society was organized, and included veterans from every state in New England. Officers for the ensuing year were chosen. It was voted as the sense of this association that the discharge of the Union prisoners of war and the diseases contracted in prison should be recognized [illegible] that this association believes [illegible] the G. A. R. in attendance.

THE FEMALE WORKERS.

RESULTS OF MRS. L. H. BARRY'S INVESTIGATIONS.

The Only Lady Member of the Knights' General Board Presents Instances of Cruelty to Female Operatives—Secretary Litchman's Report.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—A handsome woman, with keen, dark eyes and a commanding figure is Mrs. Leonora Barry, of Amsterdam, N. Y., the only general worker of the Knights of Labor who is a lady. Mrs. Barry is the general investigator of the condition of working women, and she is doing somewhat startling report to the general assembly yesterday. She gives instances of the cruel treatment of the working women of Paterson, N. J., in the linen thread works. Mrs. Barry found that in one branch of this industry women are compelled to stand on a stone floor in water the year round, most of the time barefoot, with a spray of water from a revolving cylinder flying constantly against the breast, and the coldest night in winter as well as the warmest in summer these poor creatures must go to their homes with water dripping from their underclothing along their path, because there could not be space or a few moments allowed them wherein to change their clothing.

There are some phases of Mrs. Barry's discoveries which are not touched upon in her formal report—women and girls who orderly says cannot be read over before the audiences of men. There are stories of starvation on a beggarly wage, of poverty-stricken working girls who could not stretch their weekly pittance so as to keep body and soul together. Much of what Mrs. Barry found out is unwilling for her to tell, save in general terms.

Every nook and corner of the numerous ante rooms connected with Harmonia hall were thoroughly searched yesterday before the assembly opened its fourth day's session, and extra sentinels were placed on the stairways.

The reception accorded to Chairman Powderly when he entered was the heartiest he has received during the week, and was taken as an indication that the personal feature of his address had created a reaction in his favor.

General Secretary Litchman presented his report. The number of members reported in good standing at the last session was 702,924, and the number of members in arrears 38,755. This made the total membership and will be held next Thursday, when it is expected the whole matter will be made public.

LONDON ANARCHISTS PROTEST.

A Man Who Would Like to Rid the World of Judge Gary.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A combined meeting of Anarchists and Socialists was to have been held in Cleveland hall, London, last evening to protest against the hanging of the Chicago Socialists. When the time arrived for the opening the doors were found to have been locked by the landlord, the tenants of the hall—the Communistiker Arbeilbildungsverein—not having paid their rent. The meeting was adjourned to an adjacent hall, occupied by a club of Communists. William Morris, the poet, presided. In his speech he said that the Chicago cases showed him how soon the veneer of civilization over mere brutality was removed and the human beast exposed. A man named Bartlett, of the Socialist league, moved a resolution protesting against the sentences passed upon the Chicago Anarchists. He was supported by several speakers. One, named Seymour, said that every Anarchist at the Chicago meeting ought to have thrown a bomb at the police, and he hoped that all would do so if the sentences were carried out. If he were brought before Judge Gary he would consider it his proudest duty to rid the world of such a "villian." The resolution was carried.

Resignation of Commissioner Kernan.

ALBANY, Oct. 8.—Hon. John D. Kernan, chairman of the board of railroad commissioners of this state, has filed his resignation of the office of commissioner, to take effect on Nov. 1, 1887. The reason for this resignation is Mr. Kernan's desire to resume his practice of the law, which he will do in the city of New York in connection with his brother, James R. Kernan, of Utica, and his father, ex-Senator Francis Kernan. Hon. William Poucher, of Oswego, is considered the most formidable candidate for the vacancy.

They Are Still Balloting.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 8.—For three days past the Republican convention of the Sixth judicial district has been in session, and has failed to nominate a candidate for supreme court justices to succeed the Hon. Douglas Boardman, of Tompkins county, and the Hon. Francis Gilbert, of Broome county, both of whom served acceptably as judicial honors. Up to last night 195 ballots had been taken without reaching a decision, and they are still balloting.

Our Government Will Investigate.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 8.—Gen. John Bidwell has received letters from Durango, Mexico, giving details of the murder of his brother, Leon, near there, by Mexican bandits a few weeks ago. The United States consul has been ordered from Washington to investigate the case. The letters state that after robbing and killing Baldwin the bandits murdered a wealthy native citizen at one of an old man, whose son they kidnapped and are holding for ransom.

Murdered at His Post.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Oct. 8.—Yesterday morning the body of Horace Brownell, aged 70, watchman at the crossing of the Wisconsin Central road, was found lying in the door of the building which the watchman occupies. A bullet, supposably from a rifle, had passed through Brownell's body and gone through a window. It is thought that he could not have been murdered for money, and no other reason can be assigned unless it was done by some enemy.

Delays Over Flatt's Demurrer.

ALBANY, Oct. 8.—The argument on the demurrer in the case of the people of the state of New York vs. Thomas C. Platt has been postponed again out of deference to the wish of Mr. Platt's counsel until Wednesday next week, when it is set down for argument before Justice Learned, of Albany. It was to have been argued before Judge Potter to-day, but yesterday on the part of the defendant counsel were asked for by Mr. Platt's counsel.

EUROPEAN TACTICS ADOPTED

Effectiveness of Jesse Pomeroy's Methods Demonstrated.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 8.—The reports from Webster county, the scene of the recent rioting, the brutalities in Ireland, are in progress in O'Brien county, this state, has been received with incredulity. A correspondent of the Register has interviewed with an interview with one intelligent resident of O'Brien county, who confirms and much more Webster county. The lands by succession became the quasi property of the Milwaukee and St. Paul road, and Close Bros., now the Western Land company, are the road's lessees. Correspondence between Secretary Teller and Governor Sherman led the public to believe that the lands were open to settlement, and 140 families, chiefly Scandinavians, squatted thereon. The statement is made that about 100 families have been evicted, and that the rest will be removed in November. Many details of brutality and harshness in the August evictions are furnished, the most notable cases being those of the Swedish settlers, Lindberg, Lane family, and Mr. Cooper. The O'Brien Relator says the Finch family locked their doors against the intruders, but the doors and sides were broken in and the members of the family were carried out and compelled to spend the night in the open air, and during the heavy rain and compelled to spend the night there, and in the morning took such shelter as the family could find for her.

MRS. HARPER'S SEARCH REWARDED.

Hunting Four Years for a Runaway Husband—Captured at Last.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Samuel Harper was arrested last evening at the instigation of Mary Harper, who came here from New York city yesterday. Harper was married to the woman who caused his arrest seventeen years ago, and for a time lived in New York city, where he was employed as doorkeeper by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the Grand Central depot. He was discharged for having thrown his wife on a hot stove and holding her there long enough to inflict injuries which nearly caused her death.

After his dismissal Harper took his wife to Terrytown, and there became enamored of a woman named Alice Carney, and eloped with her to this city, where he has been living with her, giving out that she was his wife.

Mrs. Harper has been searching for her husband for four years, and gained a trace of him about a week ago through friends of Harper's at Terrytown. Her two sons by Harper died on July 1 in, in round lots, 885,000. Add to this nearly 50,000 who are in arrears and the membership of the order would be 935,000 July 1, 1887. This would indicate an apparent decrease of about 195,000 members. The receipts for the fiscal year ending July 1, are $886,231, giving with the balance on hand, a grand total of $908,647.

Our Government Will Investigate.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 8.—Gen. John Bidwell has received letters from Durango, Mexico, giving details of the murder of his brother, Leon, near there, by Mexican bandits a few weeks ago. The United States consul has been ordered from Washington to investigate the case. The letters state that after robbing and killing Baldwin the bandits murdered a wealthy native citizen at one of an old man, whose son they kidnapped and are holding for ransom.

Murdered at His Post.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Oct. 8.—Yesterday morning the body of Horace Brownell, aged 70, watchman at the crossing of the Wisconsin Central road, was found lying in the door of the building which the watchman occupies. A bullet, supposably from a rifle, had passed through Brownell's body and gone through a window. It is thought that he could not have been murdered for money, and no other reason can be assigned unless it was done by some enemy.

Delays Over Flatt's Demurrer.

ALBANY, Oct. 8.—The argument on the demurrer in the case of the people of the state of New York vs. Thomas C. Platt has been postponed again out of deference to the wish of Mr. Platt's counsel until Wednesday next week, when it is set down for argument before Justice Learned, of Albany. It was to have been argued before Judge Potter to-day, but yesterday on the part of the defendant counsel were asked for by Mr. Platt's counsel.

MICHAEL DAVITT TALKS.

GREAT SUFFERING PREDICTED IN IRELAND THIS WINTER.

He Intends to Jump Into Work for Ireland Immediately on His Return, and Then Expects to Jump Into Jail—Still Confident of Success.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—Michael Davitt, the champion of Ireland's rights, passed through this city yesterday on his return from Minneapolis to New York, where he stops at the Gilsey house until next Wednesday, when he sails for Ireland.

The great leader of the Irish broke his protracted silence with press representatives, and, while awaiting his train, spoke hopefully of success, but sees hard times to come in Ireland. He stated that his refusal to be interviewed was because he had but a limited time to go to the northwest and back again, and that he knew there was not of a nature that could be published in detail just at present. He did not care to give the exact programme that had been decided upon, but his mind was fully made up to his meeting the representatives of America's organized army of workingmen at Minneapolis. "I intend to jump into work for the cause of Ireland," he said, "as soon as I arrive there. Then I expect to jump into prison. As I know not how long I may be allowed liberty, I intend to improve every moment. I will exert every energy in our cause. The coming year is the trial year, and requires that the greatest work of the Irish people be done. Upon it depends the success or defeat of our movement will be determined. Personally, I believe that a victory awaits us.

"I have declared in many more sensational speeches than Mr. O'Brien, but it was the policy of the government to select him as their victim. Probably he was the editor of United Ireland. They thought that by first selecting him they would arrest his influence and silence his utterances. But the effect has been just the reverse. Instead of frightening the people thousands of them were inspired to support O'Brien. Our cause is daily receiving increased support.

"The crops in the Irish provinces is very poor. The crops and the harvest have been poor, and they have a hard winter before them. With March will be an important month for us. The rent question will then come up. The people have no money, and I do not see how the rents can be paid. It will be a serious time for Ireland, but as I said, we are not discouraged, and still hope that we will eventually be victorious."

Disobeying Orders.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The Knights of Labor, Assembly 70, of shoemakers, has ordered the drivers of fifteen stone wagons to strike Wednesday for a new bill of wages to go back to work. The men refuse to do so, and will probably be expelled from the order.

Paying for the Frontier Shooting.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Count Von Munster, German ambassador, called upon M. Flourens, foreign minister, yesterday and handed him $12,500 on behalf of the German government, to indemnify the family of Bridgeon, who was shot by Kaufman at Raon-sur-Plaine.

"Wheeler's "Finances."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 8.—Trustee Erwin of the insolvent firm of H. R. S. Wheeler & Co., iron importers, has issued a statement, showing total assets, "supposed to be available some time," $151,640, and liabilities shown by the books, $1,251,443.

To Protect American Citizens.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Admiral Chandler has telegraphed to the navy department that he has sent a vessel to the Carolinas to investigate a reported massacre of Spaniards and Americans by natives, and to protect Americans upon that island.

A Rich Find.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 8.—The schooner Peregrine White, while off Cape Sable recently, picked up a large grayish mass which a chemist in this city pronounced to be ambergris. The specimen weighs 125 pounds and is worth $30 an ounce, or $59,000 in all.

Glassworkers Compromise.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The green glass blowers east of the Alleghenies, who have been on strike since Sept. 1 for a 10 per cent. increase in wages, have accepted an advance of 5 per cent., and the closed factories will be reopened within ten days.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Salicylic Acid Condemned as a Food Preservative—Why Man Soon Grew Bald.

Salicylic acid in various forms, particularly salicylate of soda, has been extensively used in the preservation of food within the last few years. Many recipes for preserving fruits and food, which have been peddled through the country, contain salicylic acid. The impression has prevailed that in the small quantities in which the drug is used it is quite harmless. Good Health states that recent investigations show the contrary to be true. This subject has been under investigation in France much more extensively than in this country; and the matter was finally brought to the attention of the central committee of hygiene. A thorough investigation was made, which resulted in the recommendation that the government should prohibit absolutely by law the use of salicylic acid or its compounds, even in small amounts, in any article of food or drink. This would seem to set the matter finally at rest.

Too Frequent Shampooing.

It is the opinion of the senior editor of The Science News that the practice of frequently washing the head in warm or cold water, or both, with or without the adjuncts of soap, alcohol, ammonia or perfumery, is deleterious, and promotive of early loss of the hair.

Men are continually washing the head. Many do this night and morning under the false notion that it is necessary to cleanliness and promotive of a vigorous growth of hair, and when alarmed at its rapid disappearance in early life they are at a loss to understand the reason. Women do not shampoo or wash the hair as often as the other sex, and consequently they are, in a large degree, exempt from baldness in middle life.

A Poultice for Poisonous Wounds.

A slice of raw salt pork is an old fashioned poultice. An improvement upon it now suggested is raw, fat salt pork and onions, equal parts, chopped up together, and applied in a thick layer to wounds made by poisonous bite or the teeth of dogs or other animals. Such wounds are not only very painful but dangerous. The above poultice is said to extract the poison, allay the pain and inflammation and heal up the flesh in a way superior to drugs, and in a wonderfully short time.

The Normal Gait of Man and Woman.

Dr. Gilet de la Touretta finds the average normal locomotion in persons whose gait is unaffected by nervous disease to be, for men, twenty-five inches length of space; for women, twenty inches; the step with the right foot somewhat longer than that with the left; the lateral distance between the feet in walking, about four and a half inches in men and about five inches in women.

Antiseptic Mouth Wash.

Most of the damage to the teeth by fermentive and putrefactive processes in the mouth takes place at night during sleep. A physician recommends that the mouth be rinsed well, before going to bed, with the following mixture, which completely sterilizes the mouth, cavities in carious teeth, etc.: Thymol, 4 grains; benzoic acid, 45 grains; tincture of eucalyptus, 3½ fluid drachms; water, 25 fluid ounces.

A Test for Sewer Gas.

A simple test for sewer gas: Saturate unglazed paper with a solution of one ounce of pure white wax in a pint of pure sweet oil. Let it partly dry, then expose in the apartment where sewer gas is suspected. If the latter is present in any considerable quantity the paper darkens or turns black.

A Healing Substance.

A drop of warm mutton suet applied to cold sores, at night upon retiring, soon causes them to disappear. Mutton suet is also an excellent remedy for parched lips and chapped hands. For cuts and bruises it is equally good. Its healing properties make it useful in these little accidents and ailments so common to children.

Cocaine for Whooping Cough.

Dr. Richard, of Halle, is reported as having treated whooping cough with remarkable success by penciling the pharynx three times daily with a 5 per cent. solution of cocaine.

A Simple Nervine.

Cream of tartar water, sweetened, not only cools the blood but is a wonderful nervine, as the French know, who always sip sweetened water.

Remedy for Hiccoughs.

The application of a bit of ice to the lobe of the ear is one of the remedies in vogue for hiccoughing.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Manners and Customs Practiced in Polite Society.

When a lady leaves town for the season, as usual, or for a short trip, she sends p. p. c. cards to each of her friends only as she is indebted to for unacknowledged civilities, accompanying them with her temporary address. If she sees fit. Upon her return, mere acquaintances are not supposed to show any consciousness of her presence until she is ready to resume social life, which she does by sending out her visiting card with her reception day engraved upon its left hand corner. Such is the convenient etiquette of large cities.

After a prolonged absence, strict etiquette requires that the card be left by a lady in person upon all acquaintances and friends with whom she wishes to resume her former intimacy. But, instead of this wearisome round, the briefer threads of social intercourse may be taken up by sending out invitations for an afternoon tea.

About Weddings.

It is the place of the bride's parents to furnish the wedding invitations. The groom is supposed to furnish his ushers with gloves, ties, and sometimes scarf pins. For an afternoon wedding the groom's dress should be a black frock coat, a white four-in-hand tie and gray trousers. Gray or brown trousers, a frock coat and dark four-in-hand tie represent the correct dress for a father who escorts his daughter to the altar. At a home wedding, as at church, the minister faces the company, which brings the bridal couple with their backs to the guests. The groom generally presents some souvenir of the occasion to each of the bridesmaids. Fans, rings, bangles, miniatures, prayer books and lamps have served when nothing else could be thought of. The bouquets of the maids and the boutonnieres of the ushers are the gift of the bride. If she desires an unusual fashion or fabric for the bridesmaids' toilet she provides them also.

Hints Here and There.

It is generally in bad taste to point at persons or objects even at any entertainment.

Persons in heavy mourning rarely go where evening dress is necessary.

Palm trees in pots and orange trees are favorite and appropriate house decorations for weddings.

It is now the proper thing in serving an elegant dinner in course to have a separate style and design of plate for each course.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

SILICIFIED WOODS THAT RESEMBLE JASPER AND AGATE.

The New System of Cremation by Electricity—Interesting Experiments with Coins Based Upon the Principle of Inertia—Entertaining Facts.

Experiments upon the principle of inertia are numerous and some of them vastly entertaining. The cuts here given illustrate two amusing experiments described in Le Nature, and so simple as to be easily repeated by any reader.

FIG. 1.—EXPERIMENT WITH COINS.

Fix up a dozen different coins on a plate and place close to the person round you to deposit them in the same order upon the table at one sweep. The uninitiated will try in vain. In order to succeed in doing this lift the plate a few inches above the table, lower it quickly sight inches and pull it toward you, and the coins, losing their support, will fall upon the table in their original positions.

FIG. 2.—EXPERIMENT WITH COINS.

This experiment recalls another of the same kind and one that has found favor with youthful experts. It consists in bending the arm as shown in Fig. 2 and placing a pile of coins upon it. The object is to quickly throwing the arm forward and catching the coins in the hand. With a little practice and skill a person can thus catch with his hand a dozen or more superimposed coins without a single one of them dropping to the floor.

Jasperized and Agatized Woods.

The petrified woods of Arizona, resembling jasper and agate to a wonderful degree, have of late attracted much attention from scientists and others. The remarkably large assortment now that furnish them jasperized and agatized woods has led to a desire to utilize the same for art objects such as have never before been seen. Many attempts, both here and abroad, have been made to produce perfect sections of these silicified trees, and the attempt as regards the polishing of large sections is about given up when American ingenuity and perseverance at last conquered.

Mr. George F. Kunz, at the New York meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, exhibited some of the finest sections of silicified trees that have ever been polished, showing up their beauty of coloring and polish, but also for their large size. The following objects were exhibited: One column cut transversely across the tree, the heart was visible on two sides of the column, the rings radiating from it in all directions. It is 13¼ inches wide and 21 inches high, and is a most remarkable piece of lapidary work. Five sections measuring 25, 19½, 24, 17½ and 13 inches respectively in diameter, with such a high polish that when turned with the heart toward the light a perfect mirror was formed. The color of all was unsurpassed. They were cut by a gang of seven saws and polished on wheels 14 feet in diameter, at Sioux Falls, Dak., the power being furnished by water from the falls.

Prevention of Noise.

To those who carry on any operations requiring much hammering or pounding, a simple means of deadening the noise of their work is a great relief. Several methods have been suggested, but the best are probably these: 1. Rubber cushions under the legs of the work bench. Chambers' Journal describes a factory where the hammering of fifty carpenters was scarcely audible in the room below, their benches having under each leg a rubber cushion. 2. Kegs of sand or sawdust applied in the same way. A few inches of sand or sawdust is first poured into each keg; on this is laid a board or block upon which the leg rests, and around the leg and block is poured fine dry sand or sawdust. Not only all noise, but all vibration and shock, is prevented; and an ordinary anvil, so mounted, may be used in a dwelling house without disturbing the inhabitants. To amateurs, whose workshops are almost always located in dwelling houses, this device affords a cheap and simple relief from a very great annoyance.

Curious Fact in Photography.

Dr. John Vansant, of the United States Marine hospital at St. Louis, claims to be the first to have taken photographs by the light of fireflies. He placed twelve fireflies in a three ounce bottle, covering its mouth with fine white lobinet. The average duration of the flash of each insect was half a second, and the luminous area on the abdomen was about one-eighth of an inch square. The time of exposure was fifty flashes.

How Fishes Influence One Another.

In a lecture on "Marine and Fresh Water Fishes" Mr. W. A. Carter said that fish have the power of influencing one another by sounds and action. He had observed a shoal of carp following the lead of a single one which, frightened by a noise, fled to a quantity of food at a considerable distance away. He had also noticed that certain fresh water fish, such as trout, were subservient to a ruler, which might be seen swimming at the head of his tribe. The same was possibly the case with some marine forms, like the herring and base.

A New System of Cremation.

Advocates of cremation have recently had their attention called to the feasibility of incinerating dead bodies by electricity. The electrical crematory is said to be the invention of a Sicilian. The heat is generated by a dynamo of a pattern similar to that used in the incandescent electric light system, and succeeds in evaporating, as it were, the body in until nothing remains.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

The Household Stock—A Homemade Wood Mortar—Various Recipes.

The kinds of the most convenient to the popular variety of this universal household pet. The exquisite song of the German canary surpasses that of any other sort, and the bird is usually more hardy than the long or French canary.

*The canary bird's principle food is a mix*ture of canary and rape seeds. Chickenweed, hilltop, cuttle bone, watercress, given occasionally, is a valuable addition. In winter a little sweet apple is good. Old and musty seed should be avoided. The seed and water dishes should be of glass or china and kept clean. Cuttle-fish should always be fixed in the cage, as its salty taste gives the bird increased relish for its food.

Cleaning Fine Laces.

To rub fine laces while washing them is ruinous. The following is the best method of cleaning and doing them up:

A thick blanket of soft rags is sewed around a bottle and on this the lace is pinned. The bottle is then placed in a bath of soapy warm water, after soaking for twenty minutes it is boiled for some time and allowed to cool. It is dipped in several baths of clear water, and all the dirt seems to be removed. The lace is then removed from the bottle and, after part of the water is driven out by gentle pressure, it is hung up to dry. When still slightly damp it is ironed on a hair cloth covered with flannel, and fastened there with lacepins. This demands skill and patience. A pin is passed through each loop and a twist is given before the pin is fastened. When quite dry the lace is sponged with a weak solution of gum arabic, which gives a fresh, new appearance when dry again.

Sealing Up Jelly.

The new process of tying cotton batting tightly over the top of the glasses or bowls is now advocated for keeping jellies as well as fruits, instead of sealing up with paper and white of eggs. It takes very much less time. Paper dipped in spirits of any kind or moistened on one side with white of egg is generally placed on top of jelly before sealing it up to keep it from molding. Another way to prevent mold is to pour melted mutton tallow or paraffine over the top. It is claimed that no such precautions are needed when batting is used, as it will also prevent mold.

A Use for Old Frames.

The narrow oblong frames that were so commonly used in country houses, several years ago, for holding texts and mottoes, may be otherwise utilized now that the latter have become out of fashion. Turned around so as to hang panel fashioned they make a nice frame for two cabinet photographs. Let the space between the photographs be the same as the distance between them and the frame. Surround them with a pretty mat cut out of the heavy tinted paper that can be got for that purpose.

Cherry Stain.

Cherry represents one of the most popular of woods. Amateur cabinet workers, desirous of staining some of their handiwork in the fashionable color, should use for the foundation coat, venetian red, mixed with turpentine and oil, adding a little burnt sienna, if the stain is not dark enough. The colors ground in oil are considered preferable to the powder colors for staining. Apply the stain very thin, so as not to hide the grain of the wood, using a cloth instead of a brush and rubbing it thoroughly into the wood.

Peach Preserves.

To make peach preserves with a real peach flavor, the peaches must be ripe but not at all soft. Allow about one pound of sugar to three of peaches. Put the sugar and a little water into the preserving kettle, and when it dissolved dip in the peaches, one small piece from three to six pounds at a time. When they are clear take them up into jars, fill up with syrup and seal.

Bartlett Pears.

Many housekeepers think that Bartlett pears look most attractive when put up by themselves. The heart was visible on two sides of the column, the rings radiating from it in all directions. It is 13¼ inches wide and 21 inches high, and is a most remarkable piece of lapidary work. Five sections measuring 25, 19½, 24, 17½ and 13 inches respectively in diameter, with such a high polish that when turned with the heart toward the light a perfect mirror was formed. The color of all was unsurpassed. They were cut by a gang of seven saws and polished on wheels 14 feet in diameter, at Sioux Falls, Dak., the power being furnished by water from the falls.

Prevention of Noise.

To those who carry on any operations requiring much hammering or pounding, a simple means of deadening the noise of their work is a great relief. Several methods have been suggested, but the best are probably these: 1. Rubber cushions under the legs of the work bench. Chambers' Journal describes a factory where the hammering of fifty carpenters was scarcely audible in the room below, their benches having under each leg a rubber cushion. 2. Kegs of sand or sawdust applied in the same way. A few inches of sand or sawdust is first poured into each keg; on this is laid a board or block upon which the leg rests, and around the leg and block is poured fine dry sand or sawdust. Not only all noise, but all vibration and shock, is prevented; and an ordinary anvil, so mounted, may be used in a dwelling house without disturbing the inhabitants. To amateurs, whose workshops are almost always located in dwelling houses, this device affords a cheap and simple relief from a very great annoyance.

Curious Fact in Photography.

Dr. John Vansant, of the United States Marine hospital at St. Louis, claims to be the first to have taken photographs by the light of fireflies. He placed twelve fireflies in a three ounce bottle, covering its mouth with fine white lobinet. The average duration of the flash of each insect was half a second, and the luminous area on the abdomen was about one-eighth of an inch square. The time of exposure was fifty flashes.

How Fishes Influence One Another.

In a lecture on "Marine and Fresh Water Fishes" Mr. W. A. Carter said that fish have the power of influencing one another by sounds and action. He had observed a shoal of carp following the lead of a single one which, frightened by a noise, fled to a quantity of food at a considerable distance away. He had also noticed that certain fresh water fish, such as trout, were subservient to a ruler, which might be seen swimming at the head of his tribe. The same was possibly the case with some marine forms, like the herring and base.

A New System of Cremation.

Advocates of cremation have recently had their attention called to the feasibility of incinerating dead bodies by electricity. The electrical crematory is said to be the invention of a Sicilian. The heat is generated by a dynamo of a pattern similar to that used in the incandescent electric light system, and succeeds in evaporating, as it were, the body in until nothing remains.

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

HOW IMPUDENT BLACKBIRDS STEAL CORN AND BUILD NESTS.

A Candy Man Much Liked by French Boys and Girls—Story of Some Kind Hearted Children—A Rabbit and Two Fox Terriers.

While out on an exploring expedition one day during the summer just past, some kind hearted children found a tiny baby rabbit that appeared to be quite lost, and brought it home with them.

THE KISS OF PEACE.

They fed it with milk from a spoon, and succeeded in keeping it alive. It was put for safe keeping into the paper basket (one of the tall Japanese sort), and when let out for a scamper in the drawing room it would come to call like a dog. Now, in the house were two fox terriers. It was rather a question as to how the little bunny would be received, but they were at first very cautiously and judiciously introduced; and now the rabbit runs quite fearless, for the rabbit drives away the dogs from the hearth rug in the bravest way when it thinks they have too good a place. Not only that, but it sleeps on them when they are curled up, and actually licked the face of one of them—kissed it, in fact—an operation the terrier could hardly understand, as it was quite unlike fighting. This bunny is the most delightful little creature in every way, and unless any unforeseen accident occurs, it will thrive, for it seems quite happy in its new home.

A Perplexing Problem Solved.

Three Moslem brothers were heirs to their father's cows, seventeen in number. By the Mohammedan law of inheritance the eldest brother was entitled to one-half, the second to one-third and the youngest to one-ninth of the whole number. As the animals could not be divided without destroying them, the subject was referred to the decision of Ali, the commander of the faithful. The caliph added an ox to the number, and then made the division. This gave each brother more than his share—the eldest nine, the next six and the youngest two—and left to the prince the ox which he had added.

Egg in a Bottle.

It is a peculiar sight to see a hen's egg in a bottle with a narrow neck. The wonder is how came it there? Would you like to know? Well, then, soak an egg in vinegar for four or five days—the longer the better—and the shell will dissolve in the vinegar, leaving a brownish film instead. It will be soft, and you can pinch it as you can a rubber ball, and will bounce like a rubber ball. When in, pour cold water on it, and then drain off the water, and in a day or two the shell will harden again, and people will wonder how it got in there.

Origin of the Word Picnic.

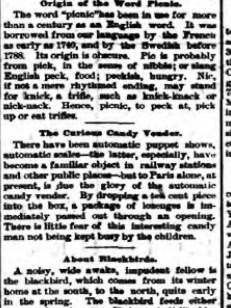
The word "picnic" has been in use for more than a hundred years in English speech. It was borrowed from our language by the French as early as 1760, and by the Swedish before 1788. Its origin is doubtful. Pic is probably from pick, in the sense of nibble; or slang English peck, food; peckish, hungry. Nic, if not a mere rhythmical ending, may stand for knick, a trifle, such as knick-knack or nick-nack. Hence, picnic, to peck at, pick up or eat trifles.

The Curious Candy Vendor.

There have been automatic puppet shows, automatic zoological gardens, especially, have become a familiar object in railway stations and other public places—but to Paris alone, at present, is due the glory of the automatic candy palace. By dropping a ten cent piece into the box, a package of lozenges is immediately passed out through an opening. There is little fear of this interesting candy man not being kept busy by the children.

About Blackbirds.

A noisy, wide awake, impudent fellow is the blackbird, as he comes from its winter home at the south, to the north quite early in the spring. The blackbird feeds either upon seeds or insects. He is much disliked by many farmers, because he steals their grain. When the corn is in milk the blackbirds descend upon the fields like a black, sweeping tempest, strip off the husks, lay bare the corn and leave little but the cobs.



THE BLACKBIRD.

Most small birds are afraid of large birds. The blackbird, however, is a curious exception. It often builds its nest in company with the fish hawks' nests. Of course all blackbirds cannot build in fish hawks' nests. Many occupy tall trees, generally in companies of from fifteen to twenty. The nests are made of mud, roots and grass, and are lined with fine, dry grass and horsehair. They are about four inches deep and contain five or six dull green eggs, spotted with olive.

The Ghastly Flame.

Numbered with easy experiments in chemistry is the one by which a ghastly flame is produced. Burn in a saucer half a gill of spirits by which have added two or three teaspoonfuls of salt and a pinch of saltpeter. Put out all other lights, and the faces of the company assembled round the small emblem will assume a ghastly aspect.

Advent of the Pistol.

Till about 1460 all pistols were hand guns or wheel locks.

WOOD BASKET.

The design is of wood and easily made. The handle is of barrel hoop. The sides are ornamented with a valance of cloth and beaded with black, bronze and blue beads, the edge being button holed with gold colored silk. The space between the valance and the basket is covered with black, bronze and blue beads, the edge being button holed with gold colored silk. The space between the valance and the basket is covered with black, bronze and blue beads, the edge being button holed with gold colored silk. The handle is covered with red and beaded

TO COUNTY FAIR ORATORS.

He started for the county fair, the ambitious candidate,
While his rival went a-fishing with a flask he labeled "bait;"
"Upon the sun tanned sons of toil my heart with pleasure dotes,
I love their simple ways," said he, "and venerate their votes."

He arose before the people, but their eyes were all agog,
In strained expectancy to see the thousand dollar hog:
"My fellow countrymen," he said, in accents loud and full—
A deep, stentorian, mighty roar came from the Durham bull.

"Good men from Gretsock county, and brothers, one and all!"
At this the champion donkey brayed from out his neighboring stall:
Just then the horse race was announced; the people scattered wide,
And a sympathetic Jersey cow looked up at him and sighed.

Thus left in solitude alone, he staggered to the rail;
A cow began to taste his coat and masticate its tail.
He seized his tailless covering and from the stage withdrew,
And squandered all his money on a three card monte man.

Such fate the luckless candidate had on that direful day,
And next his rival at the polls bore all his votes away.
"We want no man to govern us," each farmer said, "I wow, Who'll let himself be all et up by any durned old cow!" —S. W. Foss in Detroit Free Press

Plantation Philosophy.

Men an' women is diffunt, but putty much all boys is brickle.

It ain't whut er man is dat makes him happy in dis yere worl'. It's whut he thinks he is.

Folks may talk ez much ez da please erbout all people bein' crusted skul, but it ain't er fack. De game chicken's meat is better den de shanghai's.

Ez we git old we kain't do nigh so much work ez we could we'en we wuz young, but it peer like we do it better. De apples on er young tree grows bigger den da do on er old tree, but da ain't so sweet.

It is er mighty hard matter fur us ter see de bad p'ints in er thief dat is willin' ter lend us money, ur de good p'ints in er bones' man dat kin 'fuse ter do us favor. Dar ain't er weaker raskil in dis yere worl' den human nature'.—Arkansaw Travaller.

Song of the Money King.

I'm a modern Money King ('tis a wondrous pleasant thing!)
And I rule men with a scepter made of gold.
I would encourage my state for a kingdom small or great,
If I lived to be a jubilee year old.

How I pity Kalakaua, once a royal rogue, but now
Poor old penniless repenter just deposed,
And the czar, who eats by proxy, and considers all one fare,
With a tendency to make him indisposed.

But I rule by sov'reign right, and I smile at dynamite—
He can't hurt to dimple what I rat;
For I cannot lose my rocks while I keep my eye on stocks,
And pretend to be a stranger to the street.

So I wish to have it known that no shaky foreign throne
Can allure me till the bank is wholly burst;
And while blest with failing health (and accumulating wealth)
I'll sign myself, Yours,
Makesamillion First.

—Paul Pastner in Tid Bits.

A Foolish Question.

Omaha Man (in England)—Thinks a spacious fair sort of a home. I believe I'll take it for the season.

Englishman—Come! 'ome! that's no 'ouse, sir.

"No house, eh? What is it then, a stable?"

"That's one of the queen's palaces."

"Oh! now it's empty."

"Yes, it stands h'empty most of the time."

"I wonder what rent she wants for it?"

"Hasked! You couldn't afford less 'an a million pun, sir."

"A million pounds! Great Scott! I wonder if she thinks this is Los Angeles."—Omaha World.

Well, Can You Pronounce It?

I stopped yesterday to price some very beautiful pearls which were exposed for sale upon a fruit stand.

"What sort are they?" I asked, "and how much do you charge for them?"

"Fifteen cents apiece," replied the vender briefly. "They're the real ducky dangle kind."

It took me till morning to make out that he meant the "Duchesse d'Angoulesse."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

All the Requisites.

Omaha Dame—Johnny, what did you do with that quarter?

Johnny—Spent it for education.

"Education!"

"Yes'm; went to see the 'Battle of Gettysburg.'"

"I told you I'd take you there myself next week."

"I couldn't wait. Dick an' me is gettin' up a amateur magazine an' I'm to write the war articles for it."—Omaha World.

The Calaboose.

Her dainty waist, her pretty form,
Were hidden from my view
Beneath a blessed garment true
Was beautifully blue.

The lace upon it clung about
The turnings of her mouth,
It ravished all my senses and
It put my wits about.

"What call you this despite thing—
This girt of Beauty's gear?"
I murmured, and she laughing saith
"It is my calaboose."

A calaboose—Oh, idiot mine!—
My palsied wibbly rail
At sight of it—how can it thus
Put hope to sudden sea-sail?

I've stopped the comedy for this—
I've stopped it, I confess,
To tell you that the calaboose
Is not a prison place.

It's not a place where culprits are Confined in durance vile,
But where the fairest of the fair
Are kept in durance smile.

Then, if you've been a naughty boy
And wish to be forgiven,
Just ask your mother to take you
To the calaboose of heaven.

JOTTINGS.

—A young man who undertook to "run" a Park avenue saloon Saturday night was given the "grand bounce" by the proprietor.

—The new fence recently erected around the Catholic Church Cemetery on Berckman street greatly improves the appearance.

—At eight o'clock to-night the Exempt Firemen's Association will hold a meeting in Alert hose company's house, providing a quorum is present.

—The dead dog that has laid so many days on South Second street near Plainfield avenue still furnishes a fragrant but unpleasant perfume for residents in and passers by that section.

—Two Plainfield boys on the second mountain counted four thousand crows at the rookery, and then got confused, estimating that those not counted would amount to as many more.

—A number of young people from this city yesterday visited the mountains in search of chestnuts, but as a general thing found them very scarce.

—The protracted meetings at the Methodist church, which were begun last week, are to be continued every evening this week, commencing at 7:45 o'clock.

—A young man named Wilson, while walking along Richmond street yesterday afternoon, slipped and severely wrenched his right ankle. He was taken to his home.

—Rev. Dr. Vandervoort is to conduct a special service at Grace church, Dean Rolman, rector, every evening during the present week. There will also be special afternoon services for children.

—A large barn and its contents, belonging to Conrad Sazer, at No. 51 Delaware street, Elizabeth, was destroyed by fire Saturday. The loss is fully $500. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

—The vicinity of the new Pond Machine and Tool Works appears to be a favorite Sunday afternoon walk for residents of this city. During yesterday hundreds of persons inspected the new buildings in process of erection.

—The sky over New Market yesterday afternoon was dark with black birds migrating towards the south. The flock was fully a mile long, and the birds chattering sounded like the clattering of the wheels of a freight train over steel rails.

—The "Rosedale" Company, in which were Joseph Haworth and Miss Sidney Armstrong, disbanded Saturday night after the performance in Miner's Theatre, Newark. Mr. Hayden, the manager, was losing money and gave two weeks' notice of disbandment.

—The Rev. R. S. Holmes, D. D., will give a public talk at the regular meeting of the Boys' Senior Society of Christian Work. The meeting begins at eight o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Young men of the city are most cordially invited to be present.

—Cornet, violin and piano with specially good singing and short talks by young men will be features of the Young Men's Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening at eight o'clock. Mr. E. E. Bos will conduct the meeting.

—The management of the Music Hall, having at great pains induced Mr. Aronson not to raise the prices for "Erminie," do not purpose to have the prices practically increased by speculators in tickets. At the sale of seats, which begins to-morrow, no more than ten tickets will be sold to any one person. Tickets bought of speculators will not be received at the door.

—Dog-catcher Babbett pounced upon a large specimen of that canine savage yesterday afternoon, and after a struggle landed it in the pound. The dog was trotting along by the side of a little step-daughter of Mr. Griffen and knocked with his head such signs of distress that Mr. Babbett thought that she would go into a fit. He therefore let the dog get go, but that doesn't say that the dog couldn't be bagged.

—Thos. E. Perrine, of Bodman's Station, has bought the 50 acre farm at that place owned by the late members of this city. The farm lies just at the station and adjoins Mr. Perrine's present farm. This now makes Mr. Perrine one large farm of about 300 acres. The F. R. R. has been solicited by the farmers near Bodman's, some of whom are large shippers, to have a turnout placed at this point.

—Members of the W. C. T. U. and the Y's were busy Friday and Saturday putting their new quarters in East Front street in order. The [illegible] observed and the ladies [illegible] to be located by Sleigh, on the opposite side of the street. They expect to make their home very pleasant and attractive. The rent is said to be $25 per month, of which the W. C. T. U. will pay $12. This was to have been $18, but in consideration of [illegible] making the building the rent was [illegible] down.

—The West Jersey Press has this to say about a matter which caused much comment throughout the State: "There appears to be some misapprehension abroad in regard to what was said by the Press in reply to the question put to that paper last Monday Call whether the Press preferred Mr. Phelps to Mr. McPherson for United States Senator. In saying that we did, most decidedly, we made no reference to General Sewell, for the reason that he was not in any manner referred to. We said only what we meant and meant only what we said, as we are in the habit of doing without consulting anybody. The Newark Advertiser places a forced construction on our meaning for which there was no occasion."

"FIRE-BUGS" ABROAD.

A $5,000 Incendiary Fire at the Bloomington Post Office.

About two weeks ago a fire broke out in the general grocery store of Theodore Hodge of Bloomington, and was discovered in time to save the property. The groceries were rescued unfit for use because tainted by the smoke from some burning kerosene, but Mr. Hodge had some difficulty in securing a settlement with the insurance company, as he demanded the full insurance on his stock. The matter was, however, finally settled, and the work of refitting the store occupied until last week, when it was reopened for business.

Last night about 12 o'clock the store was again discovered in flames. The firemen from Bound Brook, which adjoins Bloomington, were so promptly on the ground that, with the assistance of the neighbors, the store was again saved, but the adjoining dwelling caught fire, and the flames got such headway that it was necessary to tear it down in order to save other property. The dwelling was a part of the estate of Israel Coddington and was occupied by William Coddington, a painter, who is one of the heirs.

Next to this dwelling is a large double dwelling occupied by Ayers Coddington and Thomas J. Bissell, the latter a public school teacher. Mr. Bissell was absent at Newark at the time, and his neighbors assisted in removing his furniture on the street, fearing that the flames would also extend to this dwelling, which, however the firemen succeeded in preventing by their energetic work.

The loss will reach $5,000, and is covered by insurance.

The Hodge store, where the fire originated, is the Bloomington Post Office—Hodge being the postmaster. The cause of the fire is stated as incendiarism.

Expecting even a more serious conflagration, the authorities telegraphed to Somerville for assistance. The firemen of that place, though, could not come on account of a local alarm, which, however, proved to be false.

PERSONAL.

—The many friends of City Judge Ulrich will be sorry to hear of his sudden illness. He has not left the house to-day.

Mrs. Belle Wooden of Le Roy, N. Y., has been spending a few days with her brother, Ira Riker of North Plainfield.

Ramaiti, a native Hindoo lady, will deliver a lecture at the First Congregational Church Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

Edward Campbell, who has been visiting with his family on West Second street for the past two months, returned this morning to Washington, D. C.

A reception will be tendered the members of the Trinity Reformed Church Tuesday evening by Mrs. E. M. Demarest at her residence in Craig Place, North Plainfield.

Jennie, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bird of West Second street, met with a painful accident last week. She fell from a chair and fractured her collar bone.

Annie Mocraft of Pruden's alley, who is about fourteen years old, some months ago attempted to jump rope 100 times and injured herself so that her legs have swollen to twice their natural size with dropsy brought on by the strain.

Cranford's Little Romance.

The Cranford correspondent of the Rahway Advertiser says: "R. B. Beder, who died very suddenly on Wednesday morning, was a well-known New York lawyer, and rather eccentric in his ways. A few months ago the wife died and shortly afterward he began to look around for a companion. It is said he began a romance with Miss Lottie Denman and made a proposal of marriage, but the young lady did not take kindly to the the proposition. Mr. Beder then turned his attention to another of the fair sex of our village, with whom he was not successful. He made a proposition of marriage, and promised to leave her all his property. He made her costly presents of diamond earrings and a handsome gold watch and supplied her with all the money she needed. On Thursday last Mr. Beder went to the house and called the house of Mr. Beder's adopted daughter and exhibited a will which left the old gentleman's property to his young fiance. Lawyer George H. Bruce, who was connected with the deceased, was present, and announced that he would contest the will. The young lady in question then concluded to give up the claim, it is said, rather than submit to a public exposition of the particulars of the old gentleman's courtship."

A Colored Man on the Warpath.

Edward Mills, colored, finished serving a thirty-days' term at Somerville last Saturday morning and returned to Plainfield in the afternoon with the avowed intention of "getting square" with the officer who was the means of sending him to jail. To further this intention and enable him to have the the proper amount of courage, he proceeded to fill up with "the ardent" and then started to look for the officer who arrested him. He found him in the person of Special Police Sterling, who wasn't in the humor to be whipped and who promptly caught Edward, and, in spite of a determined resistance, locked him up in the borough jail. Sunday morning Mayor Cooley sentenced him to 60 days at Somerville, where he was taken this morning by the marshal.

—A new house is being erected on East Front street on the site of the one lately burned and formerly occupied by Geo. W. Hand and family.

—Now is the time the small boys turn old leaves in the way of cigarettes and bon-fires and burn themselves once in a while also.

—The young lady who desires choice perfumes and the young man who wishes to make a handsome present invariably look over the stock of the fancy department at Pfeil & Randolph's, where all customers are treated with promptness and courtesy. Those desiring to know more have but to read the advertisement in another column. The firm's reputation as dispensers of only first class and carefully conducted and mistakes are strangers there.

Prof. Holmes' Farewell.

Prof. R. S. Holmes addressed the meeting at Reform Hall last evening, making his farewell address in the hall on the temperance question. He dealt particularly on the evil effects of division in temperance work, and pointed out where such division prevented success. No sooner do all agree upon the necessity of crushing out the rum than diverse opinions as to the method paralyze all efforts. In bidding farewell to his hearers, he thanked them for the courtesy they had always extended to him. He and President French had joined the club about the same time, and he had like him been true to the pledge then made. He was going to a locality where no liquor was sold from one end of the county to the other, which he hoped would be the case at no distant day in Plainfield.

President French made the closing appeal, and in the course of his remarks alluded to the W. C. T. U., to whom he said the club was indebted, for it was to the efforts of the noble women that the club was first organized. He knew of no request of the women that the club had not granted, and knew that the club had done all in its power to make everything agreeable and pleasant for the women—even going so far as to offer to build for them as a room to the hall, if they wished to have a separate building. He knew that the club had position, but kindness and affection for the W. C. T. U. for the good they had done, and if there should ever be any matters of separation, it would not be the fault of the club.

Mr. French paid earnest tribute to the pioneer of the late John B. Finch, Esq., and said that there was more liquor sold in Plainfield to-day than ever before, and in conclusion appealed earnestly for signers to the pledge.

There was a small audience present, due probably to the rainy night.

The Great Labor Party.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church delivered last night an impressive sermon on the text: "We are workers together with God"—1 Cor., 3: 9.

The Christian church—he said—is the great united labor party. We are entirely distinct from this other party of which we hear so much, and Jesus Christ is our Grand Master Workman. He labored diligently at the creation, bringing matter out of void, and has been busy ever since keeping the worlds in motion.

In the work we can have no part. We may kick up at the stars and count them and classify them, but we can neither destroy one or make another. We can be impressed with the grandeur of this whirling earth, but we can neither hasten its revolutions nor lessen its speed.

It is God's hand that is running the machinery of the universe and were he to stop for a moment it would revert to primeval chaos suddenly as cosmos was first brought just as out of it.

And yet we, in our various branches of industry are working jointly with him for the same end—the Glory of the Lord God Almighty.

The sermon was concluded with an eloquent description of the eternal reward awaiting faithful doers of the Word.

After the religious services of the evening Mr. Schenck announced that his efforts of the morning had resulted in the subscription of $1,200 to the church debt. "A mortgage for $600 has been given to Steven Dey. To pay this the Women's Society has already raised $2,000. Then they have raised two thousand dollars for the parsonage fund. We lifted up the third today. Now let us go and lift fourth. The debt cleared, and I am so earnest in the matter that I'll mortgage my best hat—if it is a poor one—to get the last dollar."

Subscription blanks were then passed out, and the returned later.

A Friend" Set Right.

To THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—In reply to the article in Saturday's Evening News, headed "More about that separation," and signed "A Friend," permit me to state that I am a member of the Executive Committee of the Reform Club that there are many inaccuracies in the statements made therein, and the whole tenor of the article is calculated to do much harm, where presumably such is not intended. Let me, therefore, make the following corrections, in the hope that all future discussions through the medium of the press, may be conducted with a deep feeling of interest for the noble women of the W. C. T. U., whom I believe to be sincere, and they deserve much more than sympathy with the Reform Club.

It is impossible for the Club to permit the W. C. T. U. to have the use of the Reform Club Hall any evening during the week, it being used as a reading room by the Club. The Executive Committee has always complied with, its every request, and has never refused the use of the Hall in any manner to my knowledge, to the Executive Committee of the W. C. T. U. Having furnished the Hall with fifteen dollars per month with an additional five dollars per month for the occupancy of the room daily for their regular meetings. Neither have the Executive Committee ever offered to build an addition to the Hall.

I am informed by several members of the Union that at the meeting where they voted to have a separate room, the young lady in the house of their own, where they might do more effective Christian work—that meeting was unanimously in favor, and the motion was carried with but one dissenting vote. True this was "no new thing," for last March a committee from the Union met with the Executive Committee of the Club for the purpose of increasing the facility of having rooms of their own; and the general expression on the part of the women present was that they preferred to have co-operation with the Club. The majority of the Executive Committee were impressed with the sincerity of their appeal, and Club were notified by a letter addressed to President French, and signed by the corresponding secretary of the Union, to be present at their anniversary. Therefore, the statements that the members of the Club were "grieved on account of not being invited," is not correct.

I am pained in the conviction that the members of the Reform Club have manifested the devotion of the Union to the cause of Christianity and temperance, with them God-speed in their good work, and I trust many years in the future, as in the past, we may clasp hands in this most noble work "For God, and Home, and Native Land."—MARTIN I. COOLEY.

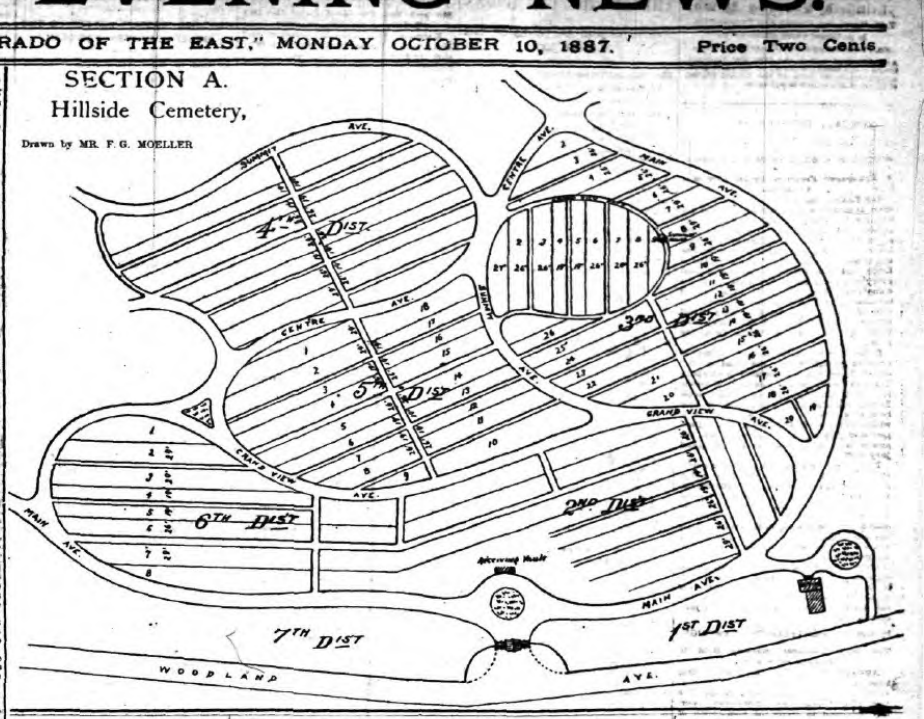
Mrs. John Jacob Schlitz, formerly of Duer street, North Plainfield, who figured so prominently in a bigamy case here a few months ago, died in Philadelphia yesterday. Her remains will be brought to this city to-morrow for interment.

—"Bi" hoyssay that the road for about two miles outside of New Brunswick is nothing but ruts, and that when you meet a road hog who forces you into the ruts or off your wheel—as one did some wheelmen the other day—it is no easy matter to get on your "Bi" again.



Plainfield's Beautiful New Cemetery.

We publish the foregoing excellent map of Section A, Hillside Cemetery, in which a number of prominent Plainfielders have secured plots for their remains to be interred in when they have departed this life.

The Hillside Cemetery Association of Plainfield, N. J., was organized and incorporated under the State General Laws of July 3d, 1886, with the following as incorporators, Messrs. Job Male, Charles Potter, jr., Augustus C. Baldwin, Mason W. Tyler, Lemuel W. Serrell, A. D. Sheppard, John W. Murray, William B. Wadsworth and Alexander T. Gilbert.

Mayor Male was elected President and Ex-Councilman Gilbert, Secretary and Treasurer.

Forty-five acres on Netherwood Heights were purchased, surveyed and laid out; the work being under the supervision of Mr. F. G. Moeller, landscape engineer, and on Saturday, June 25, 1887, the premises were opened to the public.

The grounds and improvements have to this date cost $22,000, and a large force of men are at work continually adding attractions to this beautiful sepulcre of the dead.

Over $13,000 have been realized to date from the sale of plots, and among the purchasers are the following citizens of this locality:

Augustus C. Baldwin, Benjamin O. Bowers, Brodrow Brothers, John M. Bettman, Martin I. Cooley, William H. Charleson, Frederick F. Chase, Charles W. Dodd, Dr. George W. Endicott, John P. Emmons, Alexander T. Gilbert, Stephen A. Gimus, George H. Goddard, Charles A. Runner, J. M. Harriott, Seymour Hall, William H. Hillman, William L. Jones, B. M. Leland, Charles W. McCutchen, John W. Murray, Job Male, Isaac L. Miller, Robert S. Manning, Charles Mathews, Amanda T. Manson, L. L. Martin, F. H. Martin, Charles Potter, jr., Isaac W. Rushmore, Nelson Runyon, George H. Rittenhouse, Lemuel W. Serrell, Sinclair Stewart, Mrs. Joseph Stockbridge, John E. Stewart, Kimball H. Stiles, G. E. Shipper, John Ulrich, William B. Wadsworth, Charles D. Wadsworth, Charles S. Wise, Frank S. Wells, Emil Waltman, Joseph W. Wise, Mason W. Tyler, John B. Dumont, Orville T. Waring, Alexander M. Runyon and A. D. Sheppard.

The cemetery overlooks Plainfield and it is a very popular resort with driving parties in quest of the most beautiful scenery in this vicinity.

The Messrs. Ford & Stiles, the practical embalmers at No. 29 East Front street, have a large elegant map of the cemetery and have the sale of plots, as has also the superintendent on the grounds; and from Mr. Stiles we learn that about all of the section shown in the map has been taken up, and that a new section is soon to be opened.

To those who have not yet visited this latest addition to the many attractions of Plainfield, no better time than the present can be selected to view the surrounding country in all its autumnal beauty.

—The Chautauqua Literary Scientific Circle held their first regular meeting for the coming year in parlors of the Methodist church. A large number of persons joined the circle making the total membership sixty-seven. The officers elected to serve for one year, are: President, Stephen Osborne; Vice President, Mrs. R. C. Dingee; Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, Frank T. Chamson; Recording Secretary, Mr. H. L. Dorrance.

—Aaron King, a well-driver of Elizabeth and Annie Frisella, a pretty maid of Roselle, wanted to be married, but Annie feared her friends and relatives would object so they went over to Rahway quietly Wednesday night of last week, to find a priest. As they couldn't find a priest they got Rev. J. Cowins, who answered just as well, and after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. King stepped at Walter Baird's and Annie went to Roselle and Aaron to Elizabeth. When Annie's Roselle friends read this article they will know for the first time that their pretty girl friend has become Mrs. King.—Ex.

A Deadly Bar-Room Brawl.

MADISON, Ind., Oct. 10.—A bloody fight took place in Ed. Corle's saloon yesterday morning in which several men were injured. James Terp, a clergyman, was very badly cut up and is not expected to live. Wm. Berenger was shot three times. John Cisco, son of the ex-marshal, was badly cut. The fight started in the saloon and then the men went into the street to fight it out.

A Somerset County Job.

A wonderful example of the endurance of pain and suffering in man has come to light in the southern section of Somerset County, ten miles from New Brunswick, at a place called Ten-Mile-Run. Benjamin C. Cortelyou, sixty-eight years old, was injured by the fall of a building in Illinois on Sept. 29, 1858, his back being broken. No one believed that he would live; but he did, and was conveyed East and taken care of by relatives at Ten-Mile-Run. Here he has passed a life of agony, helplessly confined to his bed since the day of his injury, twenty-nine years ago. For the past six years he has been unable to sit up in bed, and has received the constant attention of a nurse. During all of that time he has had 300 separate attacks of erysipelas. Cortelyou says he has taken 300 boxes of pills and 3,000 ounces of laudanum during his confinement to ease the pain he almost constantly endures. His wife and two children have died since his illness, and his two remaining daughters are living in Illinois and have written him but once since he took to his bed. For twenty-six years Cortelyou has reposed on his right side, from which he is unable to move or to be moved. His case is puzzling the doctors of a wide expanse of country, who predict that he may live for many years to come.

—Wheelmen who ride where trees overhang the road cannot call their wheels the "silent steeds," as the dry leaves with which the ground is now covered keep up a constant crackling, which is rather pleasing, unless the leaves happen to cover a hole or rut.

—The attendance at the fair for the benefit of St. Mary's church Saturday evening was very large and a number of useful and ornamental presents were disposed of. To-night the drawing for the Prelate clock, barrel of flour, set of china, a lamp and numerous other articles, takes place.

WHOLESALE BRIBERY IN CALIFORNIA.

A Newspaper Proposes Lynch Law as a Curative.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—The San Francisco atmosphere is murky with partial disclosures of wholesale and indiscriminate bribery. Occasionally gleams of light have appeared, but the air is still heavy, although heroic efforts are being made to clear it. The storm has been a long time gathering, but so fierce and wide-spread has it proved that everybody is astonished and shocked. It has come from many directions. The Sharon divorce has furnished one storm center. The case of Mrs. Wright vs. the Geary street cable railroad director, and the Feusty case, better known as that of "Little Pete," the third.

In the Sharon case the alleged attempt to bribe Judge Sullivan was the sensation. Ex-Judge Evans, who was declared by ex-Judge Terry to be the culprit, has made a public statement emphatically denying the charge. Scientists studying Judge Terry, who is now here, reiterate the charge, and says he is willing to lay the facts before any authorized person or persons. It is understood that the matter will be investigated by the grand jury to-day.

These alleged corruptions becoming public at the same time has created a feeling indignation among the better class of citizens, and will, no doubt, result in a thorough investigation, and the punishment of those criminally connected. The organization of a vigilance committee to hang on the levee the most important malefactors was freely discussed and strongly advocated by one of the morning newspapers.

There is a strong movement on foot to organize a committee of citizens, whose duty it shall be to see that the investigation is made in the most complete manner and that full justice is meted out to judge and jury corrupters.

HUGH O. PENTECOST'S CAMPAIGN.

The First Political Meeting Held in Newark on Sunday.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 10.—For the first time in the history of this city a political ratification has been held on Sunday. The Grand Opera house was thrown open yesterday afternoon to ratify the nomination of the Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost for mayor by the United Labor party. Long before the meeting was called to order by Herbert Beggs the theatre was crowded to its utmost capacity, many ladies being in the audience. It was evident that those present were thoroughly imbued with the principles of the Anti-Poverty party, for seldom have speakers received so cordial a reception as was accorded those yesterday afternoon.

When the Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost was introduced he received a perfect ovation. Men threw their hats into the air, while the ladies, following Mrs. Pentecost's example, rose from their seats and waved their handkerchiefs. During the meeting a collection was taken up, amounting to $79.62, which is to be used to help defray election expenses.

The first speaker was Henry George, who spoke at length on anti-poverty, but revealed no new facts. He was followed by Judge F. Bedford Maguire, of San Francisco, and Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost, but when Ernestus Potter, the Port Chun schoolmaster, was announced, nearly one-half of the audience left the building. A number of letters of sympathy and encouragement were read, and some allusion would be made to the trouble with the police in New York on Saturday night, but not a word was uttered.

CHANCES OF AN EXTRA SESSION.

Opinions That the Financial Situation Will Make It Necessary.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Saturday was the last day of the purchases of bonds by the government under the last circular of the treasury department. Secretary Fairchild has declined to say whether he will continue to buy bonds if another week is threatened. He has been doubtful of his authority to take this step, and in the event of his being called upon to relieve a financial stringency before the president reaches he will call upon the attorney general for an opinion. The danger of a financial panic, in the judgment of many, is now over past.

Two weeks ago, when the department was urged to come to the relief of the money market, the president was advised by many prominent Democrats to call an extra session of congress. It is believed that when Mr. Cleveland returns from his southern tour the arguments in favor of calling a special session of congress will be more forcible than will be in force. If congress does not meet until December it will be practically impossible for the bonds to be purchased after the first of the middle of January. The contest of Thoebe for Carlisle's seat will take up some time, and Mr. Carlisle, it is believed, will not feel inclined to announce his committees before that matter is settled. By calling congress together in November they will be able to settle down to regular work before the holidays.

THE REPORTER TOOK A FALL,

And T. M. Healy Told a Meeting How to Treat Landlords Thereafter.

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—A League mass meeting was held at Longford yesterday. During the proceedings the platform collapsed and a government reporter was injured. Mr. T. M. Healy, member of Parliament, chaffed the reporter on his first trial of a plank bed. Mr. Healy then said that there would soon be no landlords left in Ireland. He would deal with the landlords in securing their rights as he would in driving rats from a hayrick. The landlords were more bothered by the plan of campaign than they were by the killing of bullocks. The deadliest place to hit them was their pockets. He would tell the mortgagees of Lord Granard would not leave him a brass farthing to bless himself with. The Irish were strong enough to subdue the paltry loyalist crew.

Eight Boycotters Fined.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Judge Snell, in the police court, has rendered his decision in what is known as the "musical boycott" case, finding the defendants, Linde, Wilde, Pistorl, Callan, Caldwell, Sloan, Fallon and Fisher guilty of conspiracy, and imposing a fine in each case of $25, or, in default, a sentence of thirty days' imprisonment. The case is one of the first tried in the district, and excited much interest among labor organizations. The offense of which the defendants were found guilty was a combination to prevent [illegible] Krause and [illegible] from obtaining employment, the refusal to pay a fine [illegible] on of which he was PORTRAITS AND SKETCHES OF THE DETROIT TEAM.

The "Giants" Who Proved Themselves to be Finely Named—An Effort to Secure the "Wolverines" for Staten Island. The American Association.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The season of 1887 in the National league is ended, with Detroit in the lead, Philadelphia second, Chicago third, New York fourth and Boston fifth. The New York club must undoubtedly be the strongest team in the league, as they have finished in first place. It is a fact that the "Giants" have made $75,000 to $80 year, and there is good reason to believe that the amount has not been over-estimated.

The Detroit club has, for the past seven years, worked intelligently and assiduously for the position it has now attained. It did not at the commencement of the season it jumped to the front and has held it to the close. The salary of the team exceeded $50,000 yet the profits of the season will be between $20,000 and $40,000. It looks all comfortable in the Detroit camp. In fielding and batting averages, which accounts, in a great measure, for its successful record.

The Detroit club entered the league in 1881, taking the place of the Cincinnati team, but, after the first season, its record was not such as to cause any fear of the pennant leaving the home of the Wolverines until 1886, when it gave the Chicago club such a fine race for first place. The record of the club and the place which it occupied since it entered the league is as follows:

FOUL MURDER ON LONG ISLAND.

An Old Woman Killed and Her Husband Wounded by a Neighbor.

BRENTLEY, L. I., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Helena Schauff-ert, aged 80, was murdered Saturday evening by George Goublein, a neighbor. The facts in the case are related from the boundary of their land. Goublein lay in wait and when the old woman was crossing his field he shot her, and then ran his saber through her body. He then laid beside her where she was killed, and covered the body over lightly with earth. Goublein remained concealed near the spot until old Carl Schauff-ert started out to look for his absent wife. As the husband passed by Goublein shot at him also, wounding him in the hand. Schauff-ert fled and notified constable and citizens, who captured Goublein and unearthed Mrs. Schauff-ert's body. Goublein confessed the murder, but said the woman first threatened to kill him, and that Schauff-ert attacked him with a club. Goublein's own family disappeared some time ago, and many believe they are murdered. He is locked up.

George Francis Train in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—George Francis Train gave a lecture yesterday afternoon in the Princess theatre, in behalf of the condemned Anarchists, to a large audience of people. His remarks were mainly incoherent, but sparkled with bits of quaint humor. They were received with great enthusiasm, and he was spoke of beasts and dynamite which fiercely attacked the press the applause was deafening. Train showed method in his madness, and was guarded in his remarks. During his address he was watched by a detail of detectives, who occupied front seats.

A Great Musical Teacher Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Maurice Strakosh, Mme. Patti's original vocal teacher died Saturday. M. Strakosh was originally quaintly at midnight. He had been suffering from asthma of late and had a somewhat sharp attack at the beginning of June last, but he rallied quickly and thought himself well. He was a man of much enterprise and wealth, and he may change his mind before next spring. The men who have declared themselves willing with the club and made it famous are W. H. Watkins, who enjoys the prominence of having brought out some of the leading players in the league, Charles Bennett, the clever catcher, and without whose great services the club could not have won the pennant; Charlie Getzein, the famous pivoted curve pitcher; Dennis Brouthers, who led the "big four" from Buffalo; James L. White, the Christian of the ball field, who has six times been on teams that won the championship; Sam Thompson who went from Indianapolis to strengthen Detroit's team; Edward Hanlon, who besides being a famous fielder, is said to be the best field captain in the business; John C. Rowe, who originally studied baseball in Harrisburg; Fred Dunlap, probably the best general ball player in America; Charles Gamzel, whose fame rests on his long reach, large hands and great record as a backstop; Peter Conway, the down-shoot pitcher of the team, more used by the New York club, it is said, than any pitcher in the league. Charles H. Baldwin, the left handed pitcher, who,

THE AMERICA'S CUP REMAINS IN AMERICAN HANDS.

Graphic Account of the Big Yacht Race From Our Special Commissioner—Pictures of the White Winged Contestants—How the People Witnessed It.

NCE more an American yacht has carried off the palm of victory, and once more the American eagle screams. Our last defense has not come-a-cropper, or sends us the following accounts of the races between the Thistle and the Volunteer.

Such a fleet as assembled to witness the first race between the Scotch yacht Thistle and Boston's pride—the Volunteer—was never seen before in historic New York harbor, with its long train of yachting associations. The morning was hazy and the wind was light.

Pretty soon a cat's paw came creeping over from Staten Island, and a nautical man, who was standing on the bow of an excursion steamer, observed that he thought there would be a race after all. Then a lot of little puffs came following after, and the breeze that everybody had been waiting for had come. A little late, to be sure, and not very much of it, but enough to make the Thistle's wings flap and to send her through the water like a great white bird that had been frightened. Bomb went the starting gun, and a small boy, who stood on the bow of a diminutive tug, gave vent to his enthusiasm by taking off his hat and shouting, "Last year, Gallagher!" Across the line the Thistle went, and then came the queenly Volunteer, and the race had begun. Liberty leaned down through the haze from Bedloe's Island, and no one would have been surprised if she had thrown up her hands and let out a genuine American war whoop. Just then a fleet of ducks came sailing over from Manhattan Island, high up in the air, swiftly they flew along, looking like the keel of a little fleet that had got lost on the long line was over Bedloe's Island it stretched out, the two ends came together and—"Hello!" said the nautical man. "Look at those ducks. They've made a 'V,' and so they had; not a very perfect 'V' perhaps, but good enough to remind everybody what the initial letter of the Volunteer's name was. The ducks gradually faded away in the haze over New Jersey and everybody turned their attention to the two yachts as they skimmed along over the surface of the water. A little tug boat carrying the Caledonian club came shoveling along. The Scotch pipers on board made everybody merry, and a man on top of the boat just aft of the wheel house was executing a hornpipe to the great delight of a small circle of Caledonians who stood around him. From the flagstaff at the bow of the boat fluttered a bright yellow flag bearing in its center the defiant figure of a lion who was pawing the air and looked as if he was prepared to jump out of the flag at any minute.

Slowly the Volunteer hove abreast her lead. When she rounded the Sandy Hook lightship, which was the turning point, the Thistle was half down astern.

Back over the course came the Volunteer, and met the Thistle, which was on her outward course. As the two yachts passed the Volunteer's balloon jib, which had been sent up in stays, was sheeted home. It fluttered out in the breeze for a moment and reminded one of a saucy belle shaking her handkerchief to her vanquished rival.

As the stately American yacht came home to the finish the view that was presented to the spectators of Fort Wadsworth was something the like of which had never before been seen. Down came the Volunteer toward the finish with every thread drawing, almost dead before the wind. Never was there a grander picture presented to human eyesight. The numerous fleet of vessels, large and small, of all kinds and quality, the banners on, floated around idly, and down through the midst of them, with her huge sails towering above the rest, came the American boat. Scarcely a ripple she made in the water as she tripped along before the breeze. Whistles, horns, guns, and the pandemonium let loose. Guns were fired, horns were tooted, and human lungs did their utmost to swell the tumult. Nearly everybody waited for the Thistle to come in, and the same scene was again enacted. The crowd hurrahed for the Scotch boat, her plucky captain and her gallant crew, and then the excitement died, and vowed they had never seen such a sight before.

The day on which the second race was sailed opened up nicely, with a smart breeze coming in from the eastward over the Long Island shore, the two yachts flew over the starting line, jumping over the waves like two race horses in a single heat. Their course was twenty miles dead to windward.

A little tug boat struck out from the fleet and took a bee line right out to sea. It was the stake boat. Right after it went the fleet, and when the little boat let go her anchor the others clustered around it and waited for the yachts to turn and go back. Down toward the stake boat came the Volunteer, and around it she went amidst the deafening sound of whistles and guns. Then her topmast lowers went out to windward in a straight line, and the great sail bellied out and caught the breeze, and she spun along at the rate of ten knots an hour. Seemingly unaffected was the crew of the Thistle, and the big fleet turned tail and made for the finish.

The lightship hove in sight dead ahead, and the great crowd along the bows of the big side wheelers to get the best view of the finish. The lightship keeper was so excited that he missed the first gun, and nearly pulled the hammer out of the bell that hung by the mainmast; and then the Volunteer went by with a big broom tied to her jib boom, and the people threw up their hats and shouted "Hooray!"

The second great race was over, and the America's cup will stay where it is for the present.

THREE GRAND ARMY MEN.

Gen. Slocum of Brooklyn, Gen. Grier of St. Louis and Maj. Warner of Kansas City.

Notwithstanding the rain, which interfered so materially with the Grand Army encampment at St. Louis, the great gathering was in the main a success, and people will hear the portraits of Gen. Slocum of Brooklyn, Gen. Grier of St. Louis and Maj. Warner of Kansas City, who were at various times named as desirable candidates for the office of grand commander.

Gen. Henry W. Slocum, of Brooklyn, was born at Delhi, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1827, was graduated at West Point in 1852, and was assigned to duty as lieutenant of first artillery and was stationed at Charleston and in Florida. After a few years in the army he resigned his commission and began the practice of law. At the breaking out of the war he organized the Twenty-seventh New York infantry, which he commanded at the battle of Bull Run, where he received several wounds. He was promoted to the position of brigadier general and commanded a brigade *in Franklin's division. He com*manded the First division, Sixth corps, in the Peninsular campaign. After that he was promoted to the position of major general. He was in Pope's campaign and followed Lee into Maryland. He carried Crampton's Pass by assault, and captured a number of prisoners. He succeeded to the command of the Twelfth corps, and took part in the operations on the Rapidan and in the battle of Gettysburg. In 1863 he was assigned to the command of the department of Mississippi. He was then transferred to the command of the Twentieth corps in Sherman's army. Five days after he received the surrender of Atlanta. In Sherman's march to the sea Gen. Slocum commanded the Army of Georgia, while Gen. Howard commanded the Army of the Tennessee. Gen. Slocum is now a member of Rankin Post, G. A. R., at Brooklyn. He is prominent in Democratic political circles, and *in the last national con*vention was among the candidates for the presidential nomination.

Gen. D. P. Grier, of St. Louis, organized a company in Rock county, Ills., in May, 1861, and as captain tendered it to Governor Yates, of Illinois. He served as captain in the Eighth Missouri until August, 1862, participating in the battles of Fort Henry, Fort Donelson, Shiloh and Corinth. On the arrival of his regiment in Memphis in August, 1862, Capt. Grier was ordered to report to Governor Yates at Springfield, Ills. There he was commissioned colonel of the Seventy-seventh Illinois. He commanded this regiment in the battles of Chickasaw Bluffs, Arkansas Post, Port Gibson, Raymond, Big Black, Champion's Hill, Jackson, Mississippi, and the siege of Vicksburg on May 19 and 22, and through the siege of Vicksburg. Then he was assigned to the command of a brigade in the Thirteenth army corps, and his command took part in the march and siege of Jackson under Gen. W. T. Sherman. In 1864 the expedition to capture Forts Gaines and Morgan was organized under command of Gen. Gordon Granger, and Gen. Grier had command of the land forces in the capture of both of these forts. For this service he was brevetted brigadier general by President Lincoln, and in the spring of 1865 was assigned to the command of the First brigade, First division, Thirteenth army corps. He commanded this brigade in the assault on Spanish Fort and Blakely, which resulted in the surrender of the city of Mobile. He was then assigned to the command of the Third division, Thirteenth army corps, and held this command until the final muster out in August, 1865. He served in the field continually from May, 1861, to August, 1865.

Maj. William Warner assisted in raising Company C, Thirty-third Wisconsin infantry. He was elected first lieutenant of the company. Upon the organization of that regiment he was elected adjutant. During the siege of Vicksburg for gallant services he was elected captain of Company D, Thirty-third Wisconsin. Afterwards, upon the recommendation of his superior officers, he was appointed major of the Forty-fourth Wisconsin infantry. He was in the Western army all the time under Sherman, McPherson and Gen. A. J. Smith of St. Louis, and he took part in a number of celebrated battles, acquitting himself bravely in all of them. Maj. Warner is a resident of Kansas City, where he is engaged in the practice of law. He was one of the two Republican members of the Forty-ninth Congress from the state of Missouri, and was re-elected to the Fiftieth Congress from a Democratic district.

CLAIM OF MRS. KENT.

SHE SAYS SHE IS QUEEN VICTORIA'S DAUGHTER.

An Alleged Morganatic Marriage on the Part of Albert Edward, the Prince Consortand Change of Babies Averred. Some Weak Points of the Story.

HERE is considerable excitement in New York over the story told by a woman with a strong voice, lady-like manners and a generally cultivated appearance, to the effect that she is the legitimate and eldest daughter of Queen Victoria. She was born Nov. 21, 1840, at Windsor Castle, that about the same time a daughter was born to the Countess Lundi, in Germany, who had been the morganatic wife of Prince Albert, by a lady of the highest German women about the queen the child of the countess was substituted for the little princess, and the latter, who had been christened Sophia Adelaide, taken to Posey, France; that when she was nearly grown she was acknowledged privately by her father, Prince Albert, but that for reasons of state he allowed the fraud to continue, and this lady first learned the full extent of her wrongs while residing in Dayton, O.

Now all of itself this story resembles rather the wild phantasies of an opium dream than any occurrence in the world of actual fact; but when one examines the lady's proofs the matter assumes a different aspect. It is reasonably certain that she is or has been a person of mysterious consequence. She speaks French, German and English fluently, though the first is most natural to her; she has a clear, mild gray eye, a complexion of the clear blonde German type and a general air of refinement and intelligence. But the one striking fact in her personality is her resemblance to Queen Victoria. Even in the purest polus of the blood she is the image of what the Queen's pictures show her to have been at the age of 47. The standard picture of the queen, as she was in 1845—familiar to most Americans—shows this resemblance, but the one here given with the picture of the queen taken most lately shows a closer similarity even. One might easily be convinced that these are photographs of the same person at different ages. The alleged princess, or "eldsman," as we may say, is known in Europe as Countess di Lundi, but in New York she is known as Mrs. Kent.

She begins with her earliest recollections in an old mansion at Posey, France, where she was in charge of Lady Anna Campbell. In her 8th year the revolution of 1848 broke out, and her supposed father, the Count di Lundi, was murdered. Then Lady Anna took her to the north of England, where she met Prince Albert, whom she was taught to call Uncle Edward. From there she was taken to the Ursuline convent in Sussbia, where she acquired an education. Then a younger brother of her supposed father, Count de Lundi, took charge of her and Lady Anna, and many years of wandering followed—in Italy, the Isle of Bourbon and South America. Once she revisited England and saw Prince Albert, who told her he was her father, but gave no information of her mother. New Orleans was finally selected as a place of permanent residence for the strangely constituted family —Count de Lundi, Lady Anna, Sophia Adelaide and two servants—but the choice fell on one there and drove them northward, they finally locating at Dayton, O. There the younger Count de Lundi died; but not till he had told Sophia Adelaide the whole full particulars of her birth, parentage and exclusion from her rights as princess. On his deathbed he was married to the girl of 15, that she might inherit his property. It was also revealed to her that the older Count de Lundi had married her supposed mother, the German countess, and that the latter died soon after. Although, according to her account, Prince Albert sent for her to return to England and go thence to Europe, she feared to do so, she should be shut up in a convent, but went to France as Countess de Lundi and resided there several years. All this time she had been receiving a liberal annuity from England, but this was now cut off. At length she succeeded in interesting some French writers in her case, then went to England and secured the support of John Brown, the queen's favorite servant, but Brown died in 1882, and after some vain attempts to get recognition she returned to the United States.

This curious narrative, which has been brought out in book form by Belford, Clark & Co., of New York, is married by two affidavits, one of which gives the names of many persons and places are thinly disguised, on the plea that harm might be done by publishing them correctly; the other, that a circumstantial statement is given of the loss of nearly all her documents by the burning of the steamer Rainbow. Just before his death the young Count de Lundi informed her that her full history had been written, with the consent of Prince Albert, and deposited in 1853 with Pope Pius IX by the older Count de Lundi. Her friends have never been able to get a perusal of these papers.

Who, then, is she? A few think she is really an illegitimate daughter of Prince Albert, and many that she is akin to the queen by irregular descent from George III. It must be remembered that the queen and Prince Albert were cousins, on the former and this Sophia Adelaide might inherit face and form from a common ancestor not far removed. It is easy to believe she is a real Guelph, though not a princess. But who is she?

Expedition to East Greenland.

Lieut. Hovgaard, the Arctic traveler, who made the northeast passage with Nordenskiold, is already preparing for his expedition to East Greenland next summer. His ambitious purpose is, if possible, to complete the exploration of the northwest coast, join his discoveries with those of Lockwood, and thus finally determine the outlines and extent of the great island. He also hopes to ascertain if there is any truth in the story told by east coast natives that far north a strait runs clear across Greenland, cutting it into two islands. If there is any truth in this report, the western end of the strait must join Melville bay, which would be very happy news.—Chicago Times.

MY FRIEND AND I.

My friend and I, two souls agreed—
His way I take as he doth lead,
Or in some path he may not know
He follows me, and thus we go.
And mutual honor we concede.

My friend hath moods; ah, strong, indeed,
As if an autocrat decreed
His purpose; but we part not, though,
My friend and I.

Myself so strong my rule to heed,
As captives to my behest bleed.
We dare to each the answer "No,"
For friendship ever breaks, and so
We give to each the highest meed,
My friend and I.

COFFINS MADE OF PAPER.

Novel and Ingenious Methods by Which Paper Is Being Utilized.

"Here is a very neat style of coffin," remarked a manufacturer of such articles to a reporter. "It is the latest thing out, and is truly quite pretty.

The coffin did not seem to be different from the ordinary kind of casket. It was plain in style and finished in rosewood, tastefully lined. The handles were of solid silver, and the inside was handsomely covered with cushioned trimming of white silk, neatly quilted. By a close examination it was seen that any modest man of simple tastes could offer no objection to being buried in.

"What do you think of it?"

"It's a neat appearing job of a coffin, but I don't see anything remarkable about it."

"Lift one end of it."

The reporter complied, his back, grasped the handles firmly and put his strength into a great lift. The casket rose as though it were made of painted air, so light was it, and the experimenter narrowly escaped falling on his back.

"It feels as though it were made of paper. How do you make them so light?"

"It is made of paper," answered the manufacturer; "compressed paper. It is cheaper than wood, can be pressed into shape, is more durable and can be made much more quickly and easily. The veneering is of another piece of paper, very thin, which is painted to resemble wood by machinery. When the coffin is finished it is varnished and trimmed, and then it is ready for occupancy."

"How did you happen to invent it?"

"I didn't invent it, but almost any one ought to have done so. Paper has been used for car wheels for years past. Doors are now made of the same substance. Two thick paper boards, compressed and molded into panels and glazed together with glue and potash, and then rolled through heavy rollers, are coming into use. They are better than wood, in that they will not shrink, swell, crack or warp. They are made water proof with a mixture.

"Boats are also made of paper," continued the manufacturer, "and for certain kinds of racing they are better even than the ordinary kinds of wood, and far cheaper."

"You will soon make your whole coffin out of paper?" suggested the reporter

"We are not far away from that now," replied the man, "for we are making every glass from linen or cotton, modified by chemical action. When the glass is made it is dipped in a preparation of camphor and alcohol. It can then be colored and cut into transparent sheets that are remarkably tough and can stand double the strain of the ordinary glass. You, sir, it will not be long before the only coffins for sale will be those houses for the living, can be made from the foundation to the roof entirely out of paper. Who says we are not an inventive race?"

The Clerk Walked Out.

A clothing dealer in an interior town had occasion to visit the city to purchase goods. While he was gone a customer came into the store to buy a coat. A salesman waited upon the customer and showed him a coat plainly marked $7. The customer tried it on and said in a pleasant, confiding way: "I want a good article, and I can afford to pay a little more." The salesman showed him many coats, and, finally, having removed the tag again offered him the $7 coat which had fitted him at first, and said: "Here is a coat, a fine article, just your fit, which I can sell you for $12." The coat was again tried on, the young man seemed pleased, paid his money and went away. On the merchant's return the salesman, with a smile of triumph all over his countenance, rushed up to him and boasted what he had done. The merchant looked grave. He only said: "Does anyone know about the customer?" A little boy had recognized him as a workman in a neighboring factory and remembered his name. The merchant sent for the young man, told him that he could not afford to give him back $5 and the privilege of returning the coat if he chose, and then said to the salesman: "Now, sir, I will pay you your week's salary and I want you to go. If you cheat my customers you have not principle enough not to cheat me. If I can't have my people sell goods honestly I will go out of business. Good day, sir."—Dry Goods Chronicle.

Collapse of Roller Skating.

"I have never seen a business collapse like roller skating," said an Ann street merchant. "You see these new nickel plated roller skates. It cost from $3 to $3 to manufacture them. The average price a couple of years ago was $5 a pair, and now I can't sell them at seventy cents.

"You see the whole business has collapsed, from Maine to California. The public got it into their heads that the rinks were public nuisances, and acts were passed in this city and that city suppressing them, or making the terms of existence so onerous as to virtually to force them out of the business. It was hard on the rink proprietors, and hard on the people who made skates. We second hand dealers have been having by it, for the goods are almost given to us."

"Who are your customers?"

"It's funny, we do, but I know that the colored population is developing something of a tendency toward roller skating! In the colored quarters of the city half the children may be seen on the sidewalk and with roller skates. Don't know why they should take it up when the whites are giving it up; but it's about all that saves the roller skate business now. Ah! here comes a customer."

He was colored, and looked like a prosperous waiter. He glanced for a moment at the nickel plated seventy cents a pair, but finally contented himself with a second hand thirty cent pair.—New York Sun.

A Startling Fact.

An investigation recently made by the German home office into the condition of the German workingmen brings out the startling fact that the custom of working seven days in the week, instead of six, is becoming very prevalent. Brakes on Scotch Vehicles

Remembered Eve.

The responsibility for the sins of the world rests on men and women alive, as we are reminded by the quaint saying of a little Sunday-school girl.

She was rather young, to be sure, to be taught the meaning of the text, "By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin."

But the teacher did her best and told, as simply as she could, along this one man and what he did, and what were the consequences of his sin to the human race. She must get the story well when a shy, grave faced little girl interrupted her, by saying:

"Perhaps she's a lady, too."—Binghamton Republican.

Still the Style.

An enterprising Yankee, who owned a large chair manufactory, had occasion one day to show a friend from over the water through his establishment.

THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its varied column daily furnishes a quantity of interesting reading and is the means of procuring all kinds of employment and the right class of help. For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertising pays far better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

—No. 3, Vol. 2, of the Young Men's Christian Association's Bulletin is being circulated among those interested in the work of the organization. It gives eight pages of readable news.

—The contract is let for a three-story brick store building of very handsome style for Thomas H. Love at Westfield, by B. Fogate, architect; N. Wilcox and A. B. Clark, contractors.

—A general fight at Partinson's on Johnston's drive, Sunday, resulted in black eyes and bruises for several young men. It was a regular bar-room brawl and several Plainfield rowdies were implicated. Is it true that liquor is sold at the place Sundays and every other day, and that Partinson has no license? If so, why is it not stopped? Partinson was formerly a special night watchman in Plainfield.

—A meeting of the Plainfield Firemen's Association was held in the Alert Company's parlor last evening. Several candidates for membership were elected. A resolution was offered to appoint a financial secretary, but action thereon was deferred until the next meeting, which will be held in the parlor of Gazelle Engine Co. on the first Monday in November, at which time the amendments to the constitution and by-laws will also be acted upon.

A. Kinch, $2,000; Hon. Alfred Mills, the balance, $4,500, to make $25,000.

—The first parade and inspection in ten years of the Fire Department of Rahway occurred yesterday under most favorable conditions. The firemen vied with each other to make it a success and credit to the city. They were given encouragement on every side, and the city vied them with an appropriation for music. The day ended a gala one in every way. Lincoln Hose, of Perth Amboy, and the Raritan engine of New Brunswick were guests of the department and participated in the parade through the principal streets. Many houses and stores were gayly decorated. Crowds were on the streets, the frequents manifested their satisfaction by cheers. The day's festivities wound up with a grand ball last night at Washington Hall.—Ex.

Samuel Brouwer of Dunellen died this morning of paralysis. He was almost seventy-nine years old.

Sophia B. Greenman died Monday morning at her late home on Central avenue. She was eighty-five years of age.

—Evidently the local industrious little crossing-sweepers have retired from business. The street cross-walks to-day are very muddy.

—A man known as "Sailor Jack" and another named Dowd had quite a lively set-to on West Third street shortly after five o'clock yesterday afternoon. Result—a large crowd, bloodshot eyes. No arrests were made.

—Little Plainfield, with about half the population of New Brunswick, can get such attractions as Aronson's Comic Opera Co. in 'Erminie.' Why can not such a company be induced to visit this city? —New Brunswick Home News.—The people of "little" Plainfield know how to appreciate good things, and New Brunswick's population are content with things not as first-class as those which Plainfield demands. That's why.

—An exchange remarks that one of the ridiculous sights of the hour is to see girls in short dresses going about town wearing bustles, that it is no more ridiculous than to see them on a grown woman, and that they are health destroying devices, too. Dr. E. H. Bemis of New York, says: "As the frame of a bustle is almost invariably made of iron or steel it will readily be seen that to have a magnet in the base of the spine, behind, as she is constantly stealing vital force or magnetism must be injurious. High-heeled shoes, hairpins and bustles produce more headaches than the people are aware of."

—The attention of the public has been already called to the Union County Branch of the States Charities' Association, but the Correspondence Committee wish to emphasize the importance of the work which grows upon the hands of all engaged in it. If it were wise for the society to lay before the public facts which have already come to their knowledge, it is felt all would be deeply interested. The committees generally have been working during the summer season and the fruits of their labors will be made public at the next meeting. Over seventy copies of the Constitution, with a circular letter, have been sent to the influential residents of the county hoping to excite interest. The Committee on Correspondence are: Mrs. B. Williamson, jr., Mrs. H. L. Pierson, jr., Mrs. C. A. Marsh, Miss C. D. Nuttman, Mrs. W. B. Daland.

—At two o'clock this morning Night-Watchman Hoagland heard a cry issue from the residence of Mrs. Amelia Cox, 43 LaGrande avenue. He walked about the place but saw nothing out of the way and heard nothing more of an unusual sort. Later his investigations showed that a cellar window had been forced in, and on the floor was the bloody print of a human hand. Robbers evidently had been at work, but had been frightened away by the appearance of Mr. Giese.

There is No Mistake About It.

The Elizabeth Herald says that Senator Livingston, the new state chief of the "Democratic party was the rum party," and indicates that the Republican press of the county are abusing him before that gentleman is nominated, with a view of preventing his nomination. We have not seen anything in the Republican press to give the impression conveyed to our Elizabeth contemporary. The renomination of Senator Livingston, the Herald very well knows, is all fixed, and also that he is regarded the strongest man in the party—as he properly ought to be—and that Livingston, and for this he should be thankful, it is time enough to show what he did. He knows well enough when, where and under what circumstances the country was made. Meanwhile we wonder, for well, that is no more than the Herald of Democracy can really expect. The Herald looked to THE NEWS about a year ago, and never questioned. The Senator was not seeking office then, but was in the heyday of his power. He was although the Democratic party generally, although there are a good many Democrats who are heartily well-disposed to acknowledge it.

The Herald then suddenly realized that temperance sentiment is growing all over the county, and seems trying to hedge, and ride a rum mule and temperance horse. But it forgot that at Gov. Abbett's speech at a mass meeting in Newark last Friday night. He did not make any pretense that the Democratic party was not the rum party, but catered to the saloons, in his remarks, and neither does the Senator. The Herald should be more careful lest it should offend the saloon vote, from which so much sustenance was drawn, but without which we think the party would in the end be better off. The rum traffic is causing too much desolation to be defended for the sake of votes. Only last week the Herald itself has said in an ungarnished moment that "beer and anarchy are inseparable." It is a good sign of times when it is forced to conceal hopes of success through saloon influence, even in the case of a stronghold as Elizabeth. Hitherto there has been no concealment about it. But the Herald should watch closer the policy pursued by such leaders as ex-Gov. Abbett, as shown in his speech reported in full in the Newark Journal, owned by him and run for him by his son and Col. Harvey, who formerly was in charge of the New Jersey edition of the World.

Messrs Frank L. G. Martin and Frank D. Heyniger of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, started on their wheels Sunday at five o'clock and rode through Dunellen, New Brunswick, Franklin Park, Kingston, Princeton, and Trenton, to Pennington, where they attended service at the First Presbyterian church, after which they returned home by way of Hopewell, Plainville, Belle Mead, Somerville, Bound Brook and Dunellen, arriving in Plainfield about six o'clock, just in time to escape the shower, having ridden 86 miles.

Mrs. Charles Schlitz, formerly of Plainfield, was buried to-day at three o'clock in the Methodist cemetery. Mrs. Schlitz died in Philadelphia Saturday morning at three o'clock of a complication of diseases, including enlargement of the liver. Mrs. Schlitz accompanied to attend her Dr. Wright of Philadelphia, and after her death had her remains brought here and buried. There was some question as to the legality of her marriage to Mr. Schlitz, he having left Plainfield on account of trouble caused in the case. He says he will now locate here again.

Mrs. Anna P. Thorn of East Second street is eighty-six years old. She was born at New Dover, near Rahway, the eldest of six children of Thomas Brown, a farmer, and was married in her youth to Jacob Thorn, who was a resident of Plainfield. He and William C. Ayres of West Second street were among the first builders located here. Mr. Thorn was full of enterprise and built many buildings here. One of the last buildings he erected here was the City Hotel, which he owned for many years, the estate still owning the two frame buildings adjoining on Park avenue. The hotel house was built in the large Thorn dwelling next west of the Matthews's property, on Grove street, and the building, and which he occupied at the time of his death, some ten years ago. Mrs. Thorn, who resides with her son-in-law, Mr. Sarah P. Johnson, is now eighty years old and is also a widow, had one daughter and two sons. The daughter became the wife of Jarvis A. Freeman of Broadway, and died some twelve years ago. The two sons are still residents of Plainfield, where they are in business. The elder son, Albert George Thorn of East Second street, is fifty-seven years old, married in 1856 to Miss Cornelia Van Dayn, then of Bound Brook, and has two children—a son and daughter, Mrs. Edward Hall of Park avenue, is the younger son of Mrs. Anna P. Thorn and has been married three times, having buried two wives. He is present wife formerly resided in New York.

Goodwin—Robinson.

Miss Hattie M. Goodwin of Plainfield and Joseph W. Robinson of New York were married by the Rev. C. L. Goodrich at 8.30 o'clock last night at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin No. 3 New street. Mr. C. C. Jeffries of Rahway was "best" man, and Miss Josie W. Martin of West Second street was bridesmaid. After the ceremony a reception was given to the relatives and friends of the happy couple. The ushers of the bride were Messrs. Edward Goodwin, of Park avenue, is the younger son of Mrs. Anna P. Thorn and has been married three times, having buried two wives. He is present wife formerly resided in New York.

The bridesmaid was also dressed in a dress of blush-rose bne, over which was an over-dress of white lace. The men were the correct fashionable dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left town to-day for Boston. They will travel for the present, and have not yet selected a permanent future home. The presents were numerous and elegant.

Among the invited guests were:

Mrs. Alfred Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Shotwell, Mr. F. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Graham and daughter, all of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. King of New York; Mrs. Benjamin Bloomer of New Rochelle; Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Sams and Mrs. Chas. Miller and daughter of Jersey City; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mundy and son and Mr. M. One Way to Raise Money.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Plainfield are desirous of raising money for a new building, which will have every attraction for young men and which will include a gymnasium. They might adopt the plan for raising money now under consideration by their New Brunswick brethren. It is an old idea applied in an original manner and is said to be promising of success. It is explained as follows:

The plan consists of selecting one member, who will be known as "A," who in turn selects four, "B's." The "Bs" select sixteen "Cs" and the latter pick out sixty-four "Ds," who will in their turn name two hundred and fifty-six "Es," and the latter will name ten hundred and twenty-four "Fs." "A" starts out with a contribution of 40 cents and names the sum of 10 cents to be collected from each of the "Bs," or the same sum total which he has given, and so on.

Suppose the Association, for example, wishes to raise $136.80. This is how it would be accomplished:

1	A	40 cents	40
4	B	10 cents	40
16	C	10 cents	1 60
64	D	10 cents	6 40
256	E	10 cents	25 60
1,024	F	10 cents	102 40
		Total	$136 80

Should it be necessary to raise a larger sum the geometrical progression will have to be doubled. It will afford a study to the association, and while the study grows interesting the money will be coming in—at least it is to be hoped that it will.

That Unmanzled Dog.

Investigation by the authorities has developed the fact that the unmanzled dog over which Dog-catcher Babbett had so much trouble yesterday is not the property of Arthur Griffen but belongs to Mr. W. L. Pattson of Ninth street. The animal is much smaller than that of Mr. Griffen and its appearance is said to be sufficient to frighten a stranger, although the dog may be friendly enough.

When Mr. Babbett caught it it was gamboling at the side of Mr. Patton's little girl, who was much grieved at the capture of her monstrous pet. On this account Mr. Babbett let the dog go again, and this morning Mrs. Patton made a complaint against Mr. Babbett, laying her side of the case before Mayor Male. His Honor had, however, already looked into the matter and his reply was ready.

"Madam," said he, "Mr. Babbett was justifiable in catching your dog, for it was unmanzled and was not led by chain or rope either. It was running freely about the street, contrary to the law, and Mr. Babbett will do no more than his duty if he captures it the very next time he sees it roaming publicly about, unmuzzled."

St. Mary's Fair.

The attendance at the fair for the benefit of St. Mary's church last night was even larger than on any previous occasion and the receipts were correspondingly large. The following persons were the lucky winners of some of the presents, all of which were not disposed of last night. Miss Annie Duryee, Rockview avenue, a Bible; John Roth of Exchange Alley, a photograph album; Miss Lizzie Carney of Third street, an ice cream freezer; Mr. Powell, of West Front street, a handsome lamp; Benjamin Gavin, a comfortable; Miss Sarah Ennis, a large wax doll; Miss Kate Ennis, a tea set; Mrs. Carney, Church street, two pictures. The fair is closed until Thursday evening, when the hall will be thrown open and the remaining articles drawn for.

STATE NOTES.

Michael Sullivan, fourteen, whose parents live on Lafayette street, Jersey City Heights, has been missing since the day of the firemen's parade last week.

Lavinia McKean, wife of John McKean of Belvidere, who was released on bail from prison in State prison for bigamy, has secured a divorce from her husband. Maggie White of Oswego, who married Mr. McKean was illegally married a few months ago.

Two freight trains on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad came in collision on the bridge at Grove and Nineteenth streets, Jersey City, at three a. m. Monday. The trains, which were going in opposite directions, met on a curve. Engineer Wilson, of the Lackawanna road, had been carelessly left open. Four of the cars of one of the trains were thrown from the track. The other train was not damaged.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has equipped all their trains with the Phelps' Induction Telegraph system, which is operated by the Consolidated Railway Telegraph Company in conjunction with the Western Union Telegraph Co. Dispatches may be sent to all parts of the United States and Canada, while the train is in motion, with the same facility and certainty as in any telegraph office. Regular Western Union rates are charged, with 10 cents additional for train services.

Jonas Robinson of Pattenburg, Hunterdon county, N. J., a lad of the boy who, almost seven years ago, swallowed a peanut shell and afterwards became a great sufferer, was taken to Philadelphia ago after the boy swallowed the shell he vomited it, together with a lot of corruption. For the first time in seven years of pain. For a time his condition was critical and his death was expected at any moment. The boy's health rallied and weight increased from 120 to 150. In June last an eruption appeared on the side of the young man's body at the hip, which soon threw a large hole appeared, and through this the most offensive discharges of pus have since been constantly running. At one time the young man had a hemorrhage at the mouth and through the nose. The blood flowed upward through the latter a distance of three feet, and for an hour he lay between life and death. Gradually, however, the wound also pass through the hole. The young man's weight is now being steadily reduced. He is tall, large-boned, and his friends fear that, owing about the house, is frequently feverish, and sleeps fairly well. At times he experiences considerable pain. He has long enjoyed the skill of the best doctors of Hunterdon. The affliction of the young man is a horror not beyond with the world's goods. He said last if his means permitted he would place his son in the hands of some surgeon and have an operation performed. Not being able to do so he is obliged to see the boy waste away

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 11.—A terrible accident occurred early this morning on the Chicago and Atlantic road near Hunch's Station. Thirty-one persons were killed and a large number injured.

A Pythias for Anarchists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Fred Fischer is a German teamster living at 58 Clauer street; he is a hard drinker, and for some time past has been on a prolonged spree. Last evening he did not appear at the supper-table and his brother started in search of him. After a short search he found Fischer hanging by his handkerchief to the roof of a small Summer-house in the rear of his dwelling. When cut down and resuscitated Fischer became very angry and said his brother had ruined his plans, and that he had hung himself in order to take the place of one of the condemned Anarchists. He was locked up charged with disorderly conduct.

A Woman Sues the Mormons.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Phoebe A. Whitlock commenced suit in the District Court of this county against the whole Mormon Church and the successors and assignees of the late Brigham Young for the possession of three lots in Omaha. Her petition alleges as the basis of such action the existence of a certain deed, executed in April, 1856, whereby the Florence Land Company conveyed the lots to Brigham Young as trustee of the Mormon Church. She claims that the deed has long since ceased to have any force or effect as against her, and prays that the Church and Brigham Young's heirs be forever debarred from asserting any claim on the property.

Minister Manning Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Thomas C. Manning of Louisiana, United States Minister to Mexico, died at his residence in this city this morning in his room at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He had been ill since Tuesday night and suffered extreme agony. Impaction of the intestines caused his death.

The President appointed Judge Manning of Louisiana, successor to Henry R. Jackson of Georgia, as Minister to Mexico in September, 1885. Mr. Manning was born at Edenton, on Albemarle Sound, N. C., fifty-six years ago. He was a graduate of the University of North Carolina and a learned and successful lawyer.

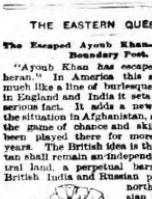
THE EASTERN QUESTION.

The Escaped Ayoub Khan—An Afghan Boundary Post.

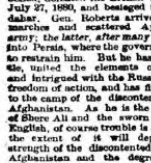
Ayoub Khan has escaped from Teheran. In America this sounds very much like a line of burlesque poetry; but in England and India it sets forth a very serious fact. It adds a new difficulty to the situation in Afghanistan, and prolongs the game of chance and skill which has been played there for more than forty years. The British idea is that Afghanistan shall remain an independent and neutral land, a perpetual barrier between British India and Russian power on the north; the Russian idea appears to be that the region shall be open on the north and unfriendly to the British on the north, and circumstances of late favor the Russian idea. The important fact is that Afghanistan does not possess a stable and centralized government capable of enforcing treaties and maintaining neutrality. The name represents a region rather than a nation, and the ameer is only nominal chief, many of the local chiefs being practically independent and often hostile.



AYOUB KHAN.

Early in Victoria's reign a British army, with an immense train of camp followers, was completely destroyed in attempting a retreat from the country—as we well known. The British brought the Cabul disaster. After a reconquest of the country and many years of negotiation the British viceroy of India, Lord Lytton, declared war against Shere Ali, the ameer, and compelled him to abdicate in 1879. The British set up his nephew, Abdurrahman, as ameer, but the latter's cousin, Ayoub Khan, son of Shere Ali, rebelled, defeated the British at Maiwand, July 27, 1880, and besieged them in Candahar. Gen. Roberts arrived by forced marches and scattered Ayoub Khan's army; the latter, after many reverses, fled into Persia, where the government agreed to restrain him. But he has, little by little, united the elements of discontent, and intrigued with the Russians to secure freedom of action, and has finally escaped to the camp of the discontented chiefs in Afghanistan. As he is the son and heir of Shere Ali and the open enemy of the English, of course trouble is apprehended; the extent of it will depend on the strength of the discontented elements in Afghanistan and the degree to which they and Ayoub Khan are sustained by the Russians.

From a London illustrated paper we take the accompanying cut of pillar No. 53 of the series of pillars set up by the commission appointed to fix the boundary between Russian possessions in Asia and Afghanistan. These pillars are numbered in regular order, beginning at Zulfikar on the Herirud, where the boundary starts from the west, and this one is on the top of a round hill, distant about sixteen miles to the west of Dowlatabad. They are built of brick, the bricks being generally found in the old "robats," or caravanseries, now in ruins, which were along the lines of route in former times. The pillars are erected on earthen bases, and are all plastered and numbered. All pillars are about sixty-five feet apart, and are about sixty-five of these pillars, which have been erected to mark the line so far as it has been determined. From Andkhui, its present termination, to Khaun-i-Ab, on the Oxus, the portion of the boundary agreed upon at St. Petersburg will require about a dozen more pillars, and a small expedition, it is understood, will be sent from India to look after their erection. The pillars on the now altered line, between the Khushk and the Murghab, will have to be taken down and placed again on the new line. The direction of these boundary marks required the use of a good many camels to bring bricks and other materials, and employed a number of the Turkomans.



AFGHAN BOUNDARY PILLAR.

The lower part of the frontier, it will be remembered, ran from a point west of the Khushk, by Chamak-i-Rasid northeastward, to a point on the Murghab below Maruchak. The Russian boundary posts already running along the line of the frontier between the Khushk and Murghab how have to be moved forward, in pursuance of the new arrangement, about eighteen miles, to the line agreed to in Herat, giving the Russians a corresponding advance in the direction of the so-called "key of India." The new frontier will run from a place called Chahil Dokhtar, on the Khushk, northeastward along the high bordering Badghis, across the river Khushk at a point called Tut Sheikh, on to a place called Karaoul Khaneh, at the junction of the small river Kaisor with the Murghab. The area of this valley pasture land now ceded to Russia, and restored to her Sarik Turkomans, is 1,800 square versts, or 814 square miles. At first the British government proposed to give Russia only about twenty square versts at this point. In return the ameer receives about sixty square versts, or twenty-seven square miles, at Khoja Saleh and Khaun-i-Ab. Bosaga is to be a Russian and not an Afghan post. This is the Russian account of the transaction.

Church [illegible] Tales are very considerable top of the highest interest.

THE BURNING QUESTION IN BRITAIN.

Liberal Leaders to Formulate a Programme—Chamberlain's Crimean Act.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Mr. Gladstone, Earl Spencer, Earl Rosebery and Mr. John Morley are at Harwarden, where they held a conference with other Liberal leaders to-day. It is believed that they will deliberate upon the scope and form of an important pronunciamento which Mr. Gladstone will put forth in his speech at Nottingham next week.

The Liberal-Unionists, who will meet in London next Monday, will be presided over by Lord Hartington, and particular attention will be given to discussing the policy of the government and its failure to enforce the crimes act in Ireland.

It is expected that a cabinet council to consider Irish affairs will be held at the end of next week, but probably more than one Irish question will enter into its deliberations. Conservatives generally are of the opinion that parnell will come before the end of the month, compelling a considerable modification of the crimes act.

Mr. Chamberlain, accompanied by Mr. Jesse Collins, left Birmingham for a tour of Wales, last night. The Welsh idea of handling and applause at the railway station, both gentlemen being treated to an ovation.

Objectionable or Impracticable.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—The conference of William Ashmead Firmage and all of the other officers of the International Typographical union, and sectional delegates from all over the country, was in session all of yesterday and to-day. It is generally understood among the craft that the conference will declare that the nine hour and six hour laws, enacted at Buffalo in June last, and which were to go into effect Nov. 1, have been found to be objectionable to most union printers, if not altogether impracticable in their entirety. It is therefore probable that such steps will be taken as will insure the annulling of the laws, or at least that will postpone the date of their going into effect, to allow further consideration of the questions involved.

An Express Safe Robbed.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 11.—A heavy robbery of the Pacific Express safe somewhere between Little Rock and northern Texas, on the Iron Mountain road, occurred several days ago. The robbed safe was one with a combination known only to agents at principal stations. A few days ago, on reaching Texarkana, this safe was in the messenger in charge of this safe had his way bills checked "O. K." He said he had to go to Dallas and that the superintendent there would see him. He went, returned, then went to St. Louis and thence to Illinois. Down in Texas, a couple of days later, the discovery was made of the robbery. The amount is not exactly known, but it is safe to be $60,000.

To Get the Insurance.

BERSLAU, L. I., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Catherine Lang, wife of Sebold Lang, a hotel keeper of this town, yesterday went before Justice Lewis, at Babylon, and confessed that her husband had gone away to Pennsylvania after removing a quantity of the furniture. He then fired the remaining furniture in the center of the room and poured kerosene oil over them, leaving her to set fire to the building in order to obtain the insurance. She became afraid to do so and went away and went to the justice. Efforts will be made to arrest Lang and bring him back. The building is large, and with the stables, etc., is valued at $10,000. It is insured for about $7,000.

Wants to Sue the Boodsmen.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 11.—Ex-Chancellor Runyon appeared before Chancellor McGill in this city yesterday and applied for permission to sue the boodsman of Gideon Lee, executor of the estate, valued at $60,000, of his brother, David Lee, of South Orange. David Lee shot himself at his home in South Orange. His will made his brother Gideon his executor. As Gideon was a non-resident he was forced to give a bond for $60,000. The heirs of the estate are not satisfied with his accounting, and hence the application made yesterday. Senator William D. Edwards, of Jersey City, resisted the application, and decision was reserved.

Nuns Want to Teach.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—Two Sisters of Mercy, who have been teaching in the parochial school in Father McTighe's church, in the Thirty-third ward, went to see City Superintendent Lucky yesterday. They asked some general questions concerning the examination which is required of applications as teachers in the public schools must undergo, but did not make any formal application to be examined. It is certain, however, that these two will undergo the examination and then apply for positions as teachers in the school of which Father McTighe has been elected principal.

John J. O'Brien Superseded.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In the civil service examination for the office of chief of the bureau of elections of this city, the examiners have named three out of the seventeen competitors as eligible. They are all old soldiers: Edward Gilon, standing 92.04; T. F. Rodenbough, standing 91.82, and R. R. Mott, standing 90.09. John J. O'Brien, the present incumbent, stood 100, but the law requires that preference be given veterans, and Mr. O'Brien will lose the place. Mr. Gilon is a tax assessor, Mr. Mott is deputy aldermanic clerk, and Mr. Rodenbough was a brigadier general in the war.

Will they Muzzle Citizen Train?

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—William Train, whose name has been frequently mentioned of late in connection with George Francis Train and his lecture, called at the mayor's office by invitation yesterday, and was informed by Mr. Roche that Mr. Train was generally known as a man offunsound mind, but that the ignorant and vicious who heard him speak accepted his crazy utterances as gospel truths. The mayor said that the statutes applied to just such cases, and that if Citizen Train could not be muzzled within the bounds of reason it would be necessary to stop the speeches altogether.

Sir Charles Tupper Unseated.

HALIFAX, Oct. 11.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian minister of finance and canada, acting high commissioner in England, was yesterday unseated for Cumberland because of the bribery and other illegal practices of his agents at the last general elections. If he seeks re-election he will probably be successful, and may be returned almost unanimously. He left for Ottawa last night to communicate his views and wishes of the imperial government and Chief Fisheries Commissioner Chamberlain to Sir John Macdonald.

Murdered for Her Money.

MIDDLEBROWN, Ky., Oct. 11.—A cold blooded murder was committed at Jeffersonville, Sullivan county, on Saturday. Mrs. Ulrich, a widow, aged 80, was found dead in her house, having been shot by some unknown person. The premises had been robbed afterward, a purse and other valuables being taken, but $70 sewed up in Mrs. Ulrich's clothing overlooked. A half John Allen, an Englishman suspected of the crime, has been arrested.

FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

ST. LOUIS DEFEATS THE DETROITS BY A SCORE OF 6 TO 1.

An Exciting Contest—More Than Thirteen Thousand People Present—Wet Grounds, and Mud on the Base Line—Portraits of the St. Louis Team.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—The first game for the championship of the world was played here yesterday between St. Louis, the champion club of the American association, and Detroit, the champion of the League. It rained almost to the time of calling play, and the mud on the base line made running difficult. A crowd of 13,000 or 13,000 was present. The excitement was intense, and as the home club had matters all its own way from the start there was unbounded enthusiasm. Caruthers pitched a great game, four hits and one base on balls being all that were received off him. Two umpires officiated, Gaffney calling strikes and Kelly base decisions on the bases, and then changing positions when Detroit was at the bat. First inning: Browns—Latham opened with a hit and made a beautiful steal to second; Gleason got a base on balls, and a wild pitch put the runners on second and third. O'Neill's hit sent Latham home, Comiskey gave White a fly, and Caruthers' hit brought Gleason in. Foutz and Welch went out from pitcher to first. Detroits—Richardson, after three strikes, fouled out, Twitchell and Rowe went out from second to first.

No more runs were made until the fifth inning, when Comiskey made a hit and Getzein's wild throw sent him to second. Caruthers hunted the ball and beat it to first and stole second. Foutz's fly scored Comiskey and sent Caruthers to third. The latter was caught between third and home on Welch's grounder to Rowe, but was not touched out until Welch had got around to third. Robinson made a three-bagger to left—the finest hit of the game—Welch scoring. Bushong's hit sent Robinson home, and batted to Richardson, who overthrew first, and Bushong scored. Gleason was thrown out.

The Detroits made their only run in the ninth, when Getzein opened with a two bagger; Richardson sent him to third with a fly to right, and Twitchell brought him home. Rowe hit to Gleason and a double play brought the game to a close.

A Mania That Made Him a Savage.

TORONTO, Oct. 11.—In August last Edward Graham threw a dipper of vitriol into the face of Sievert, a young man employed by him in this city. Sievert was blinded and terribly burned. Graham is a lunatic, who has on different occasions exhibited a mania for inflicting cuts and scratching pain on his fellow men and on animals. Yesterday, at the trial, a man testified that Graham, while working for him, used to treat the cattle with excessive cruelty. His object in doing this was, it is thought, to see them suffer pain. No other object than to see the effects of the deadly work of the vitriol on young Sievert can be imagined for his assault on the man, with whom he had no previous association. Graham was sent to the penitentiary at Kingston for life.

Wanted to Thrash the Lawyer.

DUBLIN, Oct. 11.—During the Mitchellstown inquest yesterday Mr. Thomas J. Condon, member of parliament for Tipperary, leaped from his seat into the vacant space in front of the bench and threatened to thrash Mr. Morphy, counsel for the crown. Being prevented from laying violent hands upon Mr. Morphy, the infuriated commoner spat in the counsel's face and cursed in the coarsest Billingsgate style. Condon was afterward examined and testified that the police did everything in their power to provoke a row at Mitchellstown, and declared that he saw them use their batons before the riot began.

Lockout Temporarily Averted.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The threatened lockout of shoemakers has been averted for the present. The manufacturers decided to lock out the men unless the Knights of Labor suspended those members who refused to obey the order of the district assembly to return to work. The assembly having represented to the manufacturers that the rules of the order require trial in such cases, the lockout is postponed a week to give time for that purpose.

No. 6's Demands Generally Granted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The printers were generally successful in yesterday's demand for an increase from forty to forty-three cents per 1,000 ems for composition, and forty cents per hour for overtime. The only two establishments where no concession are DeVinne & Co. and Trow & Co. The men at DeVinne & Co.'s remain at work pending arbitration. Trow & Co.'s men are out.

"Breakbone" Fever at Tampa.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Postmaster Eigg, at Tampa, Fla., telegraphed the postoffice department that the disease prevailing there is not yellow fever, but a severe type of "breakbone" fever, and that fumigating the mails would not have any effect or prevent the spread of the disease. On the strength of this dispatch postal clerks have been ordered to run into Tampa as heretofore.

AWAY WITH A COACHMAN.

Woman Found Dead at Niagara Falls by Her Father.

LOCKPORT, Oct. 11.—A sensational elopement case occurred at Niagara Falls, Ont., last week which promised to be unusually interesting. Miss Annie L. Wood, age 19, daughter of Amos Wood, of Philadelphia, ran away several weeks ago with her father's coachman, Howard Wagner, and went to Niagara Falls, Ont. The girl first obtained employment as a servant. She then went with Wagner to a hotel near Suspension bridge on the Canadian side. On Thursday last week Mr. Wood found his daughter in the hotel. Yesterday he demanded that she return home with him, promising forgiveness. By a ruse, Wagner and the young woman left the hotel in a hack and were driven to the American side, where they were married by a justice of the peace. Wagner gave his name as Howard H. Smith. The father followed and found the pair as they were coming out of the home of the justice. He learned that his daughter had been married under a fictitious name, that rendering the marriage void. He took his daughter aside and persuaded her to go with him. When the two left Niagara Falls last night a seemingly perfect reconciliation had taken place.

Jonathan Cone Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Capt. Jonathan Cone died yesterday morning, age 84. He came to Bristol, Pa., from Connecticut, thirty-five years ago, and since that time has been actively engaged in steamboat transportation on the Delaware river. During the war he had charge of the transportation of troops and provisions on the Potomac river. He was largely interested in Cape May improvements and in real estate in West Philadelphia and other parts of the city. He was the inventor of life rafts, which were exhibited at the centennial show in 1876, and other life saving devices.

Conspiring to Defraud the Government.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 11.—Clayton Emerich and John Martin were before United States Commissioner Rogers yesterday charged with conspiracy to defraud the government by introducing a diseased cow into a herd of sound cattle. James McDevitt, the United States gauger at the distillery, has testified that he had received information that a diseased cow belonging to Martin had been put in the herd of Emerich for the purpose of disabling the herd, and that Martin had admitted the fact. Both men were held.

Suspension of a Bank.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 11.—The banking house of Morton E. Post & Co. suspended yesterday, owing to inability to realize on loans. They say they expect to pay dollar for dollar when the loans are settled up. They claim $600,570 assets against $404,300 liabilities. The suspension has caused and causes little excitement, but a great many poor people who were depositors will suffer. The firm has been in business in this city for about ten years, and has always been considered safe. The bank at West Cliff, Colo., is also closed.

The Thistle Going Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Scotch cutter Thistle is still lying at anchor off the house of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club at Tompkinsville, S. I. Mr. Bell has decided that he will probably be able to obtain a higher price abroad for the champion English yacht than he could in America, and consequently she will be ready for sea by Thursday morning. Yesterday the crew were busily engaged in unraveling all racing gear and getting ready the storm rig.

Mr. Gilbert's Beneficence.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 11.—William L. Gilbert, of Winsted, who has given $400,000 for the erection and maintenance of an orphan asylum in that place, has decided to give the town a public academy, and is arranging plans for the structure. The orphan asylum, which will be a model of the Gilbert home, will be completed in a year. Mr. Gilbert's public benefactions will reach upward of $500,000. He is past 80 years of age, but is still actively engaged in business.

A Murderer Found Guilty.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 11.—The jury in the case of James H. Jacobs, charged with the murder of Elmer E. Quigley on the night of Dec. 31, 1886, were discharged by Judge Patterson on Saturday afternoon and retired at 5:20, but they did not agree upon a verdict until 11:20 yesterday morning, after being locked up for forty-two hours. Their verdict was murder in the first degree, and it gives general satisfaction. Counsel will file reasons for a new trial.

Fatal Explosion of a Soda Fountain.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—Louis Sorocco, an Italian, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a soda fountain. He was employed at Louis Calla's soda water manufactory on Grand street, and was engaged in charging the fountain with gas when the explosion occurred. Calla was standing beside him and was knocked down, but not seriously injured. The building, a one story structure, was badly damaged.

A Court House Burned.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Oct. 11.—On Saturday night the court house of this county, situated at Boyne city, together with all titles, records, etc., was destroyed by fire, supposed to be of incendiary origin. The location of the county seat was the occasion of a hot fight between Hunt, Jordan and Boyne City, and threats of violence were frequently indulged in.

Mail Robbers Found Guilty.

TRENTON, Oct. 11.—James Johnson and William Langtry, two of the seven men who robbed the mail car between Bristol and Pennsylvania, were convicted in the United States district court yesterday. Their counsel procured a postponement of sentence until to-morrow morning and in the meantime will prepare to argue a motion for a new trial.

Celebrating Its Settlement.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., Oct. 11.—The centennial celebration of the settlement of this county began yesterday. The town is gaily decorated. Governor Beaver to-day received a grand military and civic procession. Addresses will be delivered to-morrow by the governor, Hon. Galusha A. Grow, Chief Justice Williams and others.

George Bancroft's Sister Dies at Sea.

A COURT HOUSE ROMANCE.

MARRIED BY THE COURT THAT ACQUITTED HIM OF MURDER.

A Young Man Accused of Causing the Death of His Sweetheart's Uncle—The Jury Said it Was a Case of Justifiable Homicide.

COPPERVILLE, Miss., Oct. 10.—The circuit court of Calhoun county, recently convened, has had the climax of a romance at the close of its session. The last case on the docket was that of the state against Robert and Simon Woodward, who were indicted for the murder of Archie Douglass, an old man who lived eight miles east of this place, on the Vann's Mill road.

In June of last year Bob Woodward, a youth 20 years of age, began paying court to Alice Douglass, a niece of the Archie Douglass who was killed. He soon gained her affections, and, under a fictitious name, approached the uncle, asking his consent to an early marriage. Douglass immediately flew into a passion, and ordered the young man to leave the house, and at the same time to have no further intercourse with the girl. Bob Woodward, however, had taken down the Vann's Mill road.

STARVING TO DEATH.

A FEAT NOT EASILY ACCOMPLISHED IN NEW YORK.

What the Man Who Looks After the City's Paupers Says on the Subject—Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

"How can a person starve to death in New York city?" was asked by a reporter of Superintendent Blake, who looks after the city's paupers. Mr. Blake didn't stop to think before he said: "You can't," and then he added: "That is, you can't unless you want to real bad. Of course, if you lock yourself up somewhere where no one can get at you, and don't eat anything or make any noise to attract attention, you may succeed in dying of starvation; but that's about the only way you could do it in New York. If you would starve, take my advice and don't try it in New York; you are sure to be caught at it.

"There is no red tape about the relief of destitute people in this city. In the first place, the city doesn't do it all. The city gave no thought to either relief several years ago. All the city does for poor people is to send them to the workhouse. But, naturally, information of people who are in need of immediate assistance usually comes to me. Generally the neighbors are the ones who find out the case, and they either come here or inform the police. In either case the action is immediate. I always send a messenger directly around to the office of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, and in ten minutes after I hear of the case a visitor of that society is on her way with provisions and medicine for the relief of the sufferers, while if it is considered likely to be a hospital case, I also send one of our ambulances at

NECESSARY RED TAPE.

"After the immediate necessities of the family or person are relieved then comes the red tape. The society's visitor looks up the matter and reports to her superiors. For the city an investigation is made, and it is ascertained whether the persons are legally a charge upon this municipality or belong somewhere else. Generally they are recently arrived emigrants, for then the Castle Garden authorities must look out. But in any event the sufferers get good food and careful attention until responsibility for their permanent care is fixed.

"Actual pauperism is comparatively rare in this city, much as we hear about poverty. The poorest part of the city are inhabited by people that live like pigs in a pen, not because they have to, but because they want to save money. The workhouse is kept full, but it is chiefly with men and women who go there rather than work. Of course many honest and respectable persons come here to ask for relief. In every such case I endeavor to send them away unprovided to try for work again. I tell them for heaven's sake to keep out of the workhouse—to work at anything at which they can pick up a penny rather than degrade themselves by becoming public charges. For it certainly does degrade them. Nine times out of ten it ruins them, and they go back again and live chiefly because of the start that is sent up twice a year for six months each time.

"It would probably surprise people to know that many of men who, because they cannot find work at their trade, will come here for and before they will try to get work at anything else. Of course I always refuse to give commitment, and direct them where they go to get laboring or other work if they fail at their trade. In most cases they take my orders, but sometimes I appeal to a sense of pride and get a commitment anyhow. Women are still worse. Practically a woman can always get a living if she is willing to do domestic work for her board and clothes. There's no excuse for their going to the workhouse, and I tell them so every chance I get."

THE WORK OF RELIEF.

John Bowne, whose aspect mingles the venerable with the benevolent, is the general agent of the New York Association for improving the Condition of the Poor, on which Superintendent Blake depends to relieve cases of extreme destitution. It has been in existence well toward half a century. It expends about $25,000 a year in its work of relief, of which 60 per cent. goes directly to the people aided and 40 per cent. is consumed in expense. Mr. Bowne said:

"There are 17 of the society in relieving cases of destitution coming to our knowledge through the charities department of the city or in other ways. The visitors on their regular rounds whenever they hear of a case give aid immediately and report it afterward. A visitor sent out on information brought to the office at once gives food and medicine with her. I do not think it is possible for a person who really wants to live to starve to death in New York. Even in a house, the neighbors are always at hand to give aid, and the police are sure to discover a case out of doors. In most of the cases reported in the papers as of starvation, alcoholism has more to do with it than lack of food. Our money is collected chiefly through a canvasser, who is employed regularly. Most of it comes from individuals. Comparatively little is contributed by the churches, because we urge that such church should look after its own poor, and they are getting to do so very generally.

"The saddest cases we have are not those in which abject poverty is the feature, but those where misfortune overtakes people of ideas of cultivation and good position to destitution. Such are often restrained by pride from asking aid until the last possible moment, and they rarely apply to us far as to starve to death rather than seek help."

Vocal Studies Abroad.

A reputable physician, who has made a careful study of the effects produced upon young American women who have gone abroad for vocal studies, says that only about one-sixth of the number ever return with as good voice as when they left, and less than half of the number with an improved voice. Only those in poor health are shown to have really improved in voice by a prolonged change of climate and study in Europe. His advice is that American ladies should always live and study the "Italian method," so far as possible, with Italian teachers here in their native land, and go abroad as foreign artists visit us, never remaining a sufficient length of time for the climate and living to change their system and voice, more especially while they are in their "teens."—Globe-Democrat.

Mr. Gladstone's Pocket Money.

This is the latest story about Mr. Gladstone, which is given by the London correspondent of a Manchester paper: Chatting the other night with the keeper of a second hand book stall in one of the streets leading out of Holborn, the following interesting little story came out. Mr. Gladstone is a frequent purchaser at this book stall, but he never has any money with him. Mr. Gladstone will not let him carry any about him, because he spends it so recklessly, buying any curiosity that takes his fancy, so long as the loose cash holds out. The shopkeeper in question, however, gives the right honorable gentleman a note of his purchases and the money is always punctually sent next day.—London Society.

GIFT OF A VANDERBILT.

A Building Presented to the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons.

On the western half of the block bounded by Ninth and Tenth avenues, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth streets, New York city, now stands the finest medical college building the world has, and the old College of Physicians and Surgeons, after some eighty years of existence and occupying six different buildings, has fixed at last, thanks to the liberality of the late William H. Vanderbilt and the added donations of his children. He donated $500,000 for the college building proper; his daughter, Mrs. William D. Sloane, and her husband have built the Maternity hospital and endowed all its beds free in perpetuity, while the young Vanderbilts, brothers, have built the Vanderbilt clinic as a memorial to their father. All these stand upon the western half of the square, while the eastern half is occupied by the Church of the Paulist Fathers and the educational institutions connected therewith. On the 20th of October last the main building was thrown open to the alumni of the old college, nearly 500 being present with appropriate addresses by Mayor Hewitt and others; and in the evening there was a grand banquet by alumni and invited guests. The college is now formally located in its new building, and was opened to students Oct. 3.

It is the unanimous opinion of traveled physicians that no medical college in the country excels it in its structure or completeness of furnishing, and very few equal it. The main entrance is on Fifty-ninth street and the structure is an imposing one of brick; the southern wing is 143x43 feet, the northern 96x48 feet and the middle section 96x55 feet, the two wings falling back on the cross streets to leave an immense open court. The area covered is 15,428 feet. On the Ninth avenue end of the front is a bronze plate set into the wall, with inscription specifying date and donor, and elsewhere are tablets giving the main facts of its history. One of these reads thus:

Locations of college since its foundation:
No. 15 Robinson street, 1807-20.
No. 19 Magazine street, 1820-13.
No. 3 Barclay street, 1813-37.
No. 67 Crosby street, 1837-56.
No. 10 East Twenty-third street, 1856-87.
No. 437 West Fifty-ninth street, 1887.

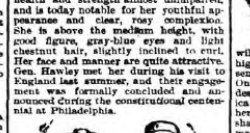
From the center of the Fifty-ninth street front one ascends a short flight of steps to the main hall, which is floored with small tiles and the sides slabbed with polished marble. To the left is the reception room and general gathering room for students; then the study room and all the usual appurtenances of the first floor. There is one room devoted entirely to skeletons. Above are the lecture room, recitation room, professor's private room, etc., and above all the dissecting room, 140 feet long and 36 feet wide, and thick set with iron tables with slab tops, of which there is enough for five students and the demonstrator. This room is thoroughly ventilated and so arranged as to be kept perfectly clean. In the basement are revolving fans which drive the fresh air into every room, and the whole building is lighted by the electric light. In the basement the medical college is provided for with the best appliances of modern science; and the building is one of the glories of the city.

SENATOR HAWLEY'S SWEETHEART.

Miss Edith A Horner, a Noted English Nurse.

Senator Joseph R. Hawley is going to get married and the sentimental public is mightily interested in the matter, for the senator has all the elements of a romance. Not only is the lady an object of great personal interest and a real heroine—a woman with a history—but the acquaintance and courtship was in midocean, on a European voyage. Of course the groom in such cases is of no consequence, even if he is a senator or president; the public wants to know all about the prospective bride, and in this case there is quite enough of character and incident.

Miss Edith A. Horner is an English woman but 30 years old, and yet as an organizing nurse she has won great honors. After achieving some reputation as hospital organizer in England, she was chosen director of nurses to accompany Gen. Wolseley in his Nile campaign. There her bravery and ability, her gentleness and still more her endurance and devotion to duty were so conspicuous and valuable that she received high honors and was awarded medals by various societies. A surprising fact is that she returned from the arduous campaign with health and strength almost unimpaired, and is today notable for her youthful appearance and clear, rosy complexion. She is above the medium height, with good figure, gray-blue eyes and light chestnut hair, slightly inclined to curl. Her face and manner are quite attractive. Gen. Hawley met her during his visit to England last summer, and their engagement was formally concluded and announced during the constitutional centennial at Philadelphia.



BRIDE AND GROOM.

Miss Horner came to that city with her co-director, Miss Fisher, they having been selected by the authorities to organize the nurses' department of the hospital. They found the hospital in bad condition, owing to the previous incompetency and change in management, and in a few months had it in a high state of efficiency. Miss Horner will retain her place at Blockley hospital during the winter, but November, and the wedding will take place soon afterwards. It is scarcely necessary to state that the "happy man" is the able and eloquent senator from Connecticut, in the prime of life, popular and respected, with fair chances for the highest honors.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

MEETING OF THEIR GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT MINNEAPOLIS.

The Gathering to Be a Most Important One in the History of the Order—The Labor Temple That Is Now Being Built—T. P. McGaughey.

The General Assembly of the Knights of Labor of America opened in Minneapolis Monday, Oct. 3. Minneapolis has been always a great labor field and it has probably more successful and thoroughly organized workingmen than any other city of its size in the country. The first work of organization was commenced in 1872, and since that time the labor movement has been steady, strong and decidedly progressive.

MINNEAPOLIS LABOR TEMPLE.

When this city was first chosen as the meeting place of the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor it was intended that the delegates should be assembled in the handsome brick structure now in course of erection, to be known as the Labor Temple. But the building was not finished in time to allow the meetings to be held there, and the large Washington rink, capable of seating 20,000 people, was secured in which to hold the opening session and the entertainment, the business meetings were held in Harmonia hall.

The evening of the opening day was devoted to a general entertainment of the district assembly of the Washington rink. Master Workman Powderly and President A. J. Streeter, of the Farmers' alliance, delivered addresses, the former on "The World as Knighthood Would Make It." President Streeter chose as his subject, "The People of Their Own Farms."

At the opening session in the morning Governor McGill delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the state, to which Mr. C. H. L. Ichman response in behalf of 500 voices sang "Labor Gives All." During the evening the Knights visited the industrial exhibition and were shown the various attractions the city affords.

The meeting will probably last between two and three weeks, and undoubtedly will be the most notable convention of the kind of organization that ever was held.

Mr. J. P. McGaughey, of Minneapolis, secretary of the general co-operative board of the Knights of Labor, is one of the most prominent of the Knights and has done much for the cause of labor.

J. P. M'GAUGHEY.

Minneapolis is a recognized labor center and has the distinction of being the only city in America whose workingmen have erected for their own exclusive use a labor temple.

CRISPUS ATTUCKS.

The New Monument to Be Put Up Near Boston.

Crispus Attucks is to have a monument. It is not all certain whether he was more Indian or negro, and it is almost certain that he was a reckless rioter; still he is to have a monument. It was his good fortune to be shot dead by a British soldier on the 5th of March, 1770, in what is now called "Boston Massacre," which such sterling patriots as John and Samuel Adams looked on as the repulse of a riot. But he is to have a monument because the demonstration against the British soldiers in which he lost his life was the outgrowth of a great idea and the beginning of a revolution by which that idea triumphed.

CRISPUS ATTUCKS' MONUMENT.

The monument will stand either on State street, in the city proper, or on City square, Charlestown, and will be of white granite, seventy-four feet high above the base. The tablet representing the massacre will be of bronze. On the upper face, chiseled in granite, are designs representing the genius of America triumphing over despotism, and beside her the eagle. On the summit of the shaft are the names of those killed in the massacre. The design is by Robert Kraus, sculptor of the Theodore Parker monument, and the monument, costing not more than $10,000, is to be paid for by the state pursuant to resolution of the last legislature. The names of the other victims were Samuel Gray, Jonas Caldwell, Samuel Maverick and Patrick Carr.

Value of Middle Names.

I heard a long argument once which went to prove that every father who did not give his son a middle name was greatly in error. Said the long winded speaker: "It doesn't matter about girls—girls marry and take another name—but every man, to amount to anything, should have a middle letter, and it's mean if his father doesn't give him one. Think of James Brown running for congress! He'd stand a 40 per cent. better chance if his name happened to be James K. Brown."

After he had "had his say," and it did seem for a while as if he had the right on his side, a little man in the corner rose for information with regard to Henry Clay, and Daniel Webster, and Charles Sumner, and Washington Irving, and John Adams, not to mention the immortal "George" or "Thomas Abe," to say nothing of Napoleon Bonaparte. The conclusion of the whole matter seems to be that our names for good or bad are what we make them.—Good Housekeeping.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

Judge Rea, of Minneapolis, Elected by the G. A. R.

Judge John P. Rea, of Minneapolis, chosen commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, is a native of Oxford township, Chester county, Pa., where he was born Oct. 13, 1840. His father owned a woolen factory and he passed his time there and attended school until September, 1861, when he went to Piqua, O., where he taught school.

JUDGE REA.

When the war broke out he became a member of Company B, Eleventh Ohio infantry. He served with this regiment four months and then commissioned second lieutenant of Company I, First Ohio cavalry; was promoted to first lieutenant March 12, 1862, and in April of the following year to the rank of major. He served in the regiment three years and four months and was absent only ten days, seven as prisoner and three days on sick leave.

After returning from the war he entered the Wesleyan college at Delaware, O., and graduated in the classical course in June, 1867. During the vacation of 1866 he entered the office of O. J. Dickey, of Lancaster, Pa., as a law student, and was admitted to the bar there in August, 1868. He became associated with Judge Dickey, and in March, 1869, was appointed assessor of internal revenue for the fourteenth district of Pennsylvania, which office he held until it was abolished by law in 1873. In 1869 he was married to Miss Emma Gould, of Ohio, and they have no children. He continued practicing law in Lancaster until December, 1, 3, when he removed to Minneapolis.

Judge Rea's cousin, John A. Ta[illegible] G. Wilcox, James L. Heudry, Cl[illegible] Landry and Judge Rea purchased [illegible] of the Minneapolis Tribune, and at this sketch became the s[illegible] in May, 1876, a controlling [illegible] Tribune, when a majority [illegible] chased by The Pioneer Pr[illegible] Tribune was converted into [illegible] paper. Judge Rea continued [illegible] until May, 1877, when he re[illegible] practice of law and became a [illegible] of the firm of Rea, Rea, Woolly & Mitchell, subsequently Rea, Mitchell & Shea. In November, 1877, he was elected judge of probate and served for four years. In April, 1888, Judge Koon resigned his seat on the bench of the district court of this district and Governor Hubbard appointed Judge Rea. Judge Rea has always been prominent in the Grand Army. He is a member and past commander of George N. Morgan post. He is a Republican.

THE IRISH PATRIOTS.

Portraits and Sketches of Four National Leaguers Now in America.

Arthur O'Connor, one of the Irish patriots now in America, may be regarded as Mr. Parnell's special envoy to the United States; he is the intensely practical man of the Irish league. Born in 1844, in London, while his parents, Kerry people, were temporarily there, he is familiar with both islands, and an earnest and able worker for home rule. He is unusually well informed in matters of public interest, and is a clear, forcible writer, his address calm and his success in parliament is due, not to oratory, but to perfect mastery of the subject and power to put keen, incisive questions.

Sir Thomas Henry Grattan Esmonde, also now in America, belongs to the middle class aristocracy of Ireland, owning an estate of some value, with rental barely sufficient (when his tenants can pay it) to sustain the position of a modest gentleman. His father, Sir John Esmonde, was member of parliament for Waterford for twenty-five years; his mother was a daughter of Henry Grattan and grand daughter of the noted Irish orator and statesman, the Henry Grattan of 1775–85. The young man was born Sept. 21, 1863, and from his earliest years has been a thorough Irish patriot.

Edmund Dwyer Gray, the third of the trio, is but 41 years old, yet he has been an active worker for twenty-one years and an Irish leader most of the time. His father, Sir John Gray, was for over forty years proprietor of the Freeman's Journal, of Dublin; he was the personal friend and ardent co-worker of Daniel O'Connell, the supporter of the tenant league movement of 1850–5, and in its prime took up the reform of the Dublin municipal government, for which last work he was knighted by the queen. When he died in 1874 the son stepped at once into his place on The Freeman's Journal and succeeded to his leadership. After being mayor of Dublin he entered parliament in 1870 as member for Tipperary.

Michael Davitt, also now in America, is already well known in Indiana. He was born in 1846, in County Mayo, and his father, a small farmer, was evicted by the landlord when Michael was but 4 years old. His early years were spent in toil and poverty, but he has developed from them a strong character. His father emigrated to America and died in Pennsylvania; but Michael remained to take part in the Fenian movement, for which he suffered fifteen years' imprisonment. On the 20th of April, 1879, he began the organization of the Land League in the neighborhood where he was born. He comes for rest, while the other three propose an active campaign. A reception and banquet will be given by the league of New York to the four gentlemen on arrive, and the three first named will enter at once upon a campaign to enlighten public opinion on Irish matters.

Witty and Pathetic.

Mingled sadness and wit in the world is of no domestic application. The melancholy of humor never weak and commonplace, and the satire and death with decorum and dignity. In a rustwy accident shows usually feeble misery, and physicians testify that not one patient in a thousand shows terror while dying. But the number of men who in the face of death and eternity can so control their faculties as to indulge in trifling, witty remark have been extremely rare.

Every schoolboy remembers Sir Thomas More's jest, when the executioner begged the executioner not to cut off his beard "for it had committed no treason," and the saying of Charles the Second for being "a most unconscionably long time in dying."

A niece of Franklin, who had been noted for her wit and courtesy, died a few years ago in Philadelphia, at the age of 98. In the very moment of death, a friend felt her body, which was cold to the heart.

"Ah," murmured the witty old lady, "I was dying so beautifully, and you brought me back! But never mind, my dear, I shall try it again."

A finer instance was that of a Spaniard, a friend of Cervantes. Having, blind of one eye, was a skillful tennis player. One day a ball struck him on the remaining eye with such force as to crush it. Knowing that he was blinded for life, he turned to his companions.

"Buenos noches, senores (good night, gentlemen)," he said, with a bow, and left the field.—Youth's Companion.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

A Hint.

They strolled along through the wood together,
A manly youth and a maiden fair,
Gathering leaves, in the autumn weather,
Tinted with colors most rich and rare.

He said: "You are much like the autumn leaves,
With your cheeks of red and your hair of gold;
And your heart the frost that the leaf receives
Ere its hues are seen, for your heart is cold."

The maiden answered: "It may be so;
You've known me long and perhaps know best;
But the frozen leaf soon thaws, you know,
After 'tis gathered and properly pressed."
—New York World.

An Ignorant Californian.

Omaha Man—Live in California, eh! Wonderful boom going on there, I hear.

California Man—Boom!

"Yes. Don't you know what a boom is?"

"I never heard of one. What is it?"

"Why, prices of real estate way up in the air; everybody valuing his ground at a small fortune a foot."

"That's queer. There's nothing of the kind in California. Everybody is starving and can't give their land away."

"Well, well! What business are you in there, any way?"

"I'm a tax assessor."—Omaha World.

Fate Was Against Her.

"Will you be mine?" said the ardent youth;
"Will you, oh! fair maiden say?"
As she looked at him with a mocking smile
And pertly tossed her head.

He slipped on her finger a sparkling ring
And drew her to his side:
"Two noes mean yes, you saucy minx."
Exultingly he cried.

He held her fast; he watched her frown—
Then pout—then blush and stammer;
The dear girl couldn't stand a siege
Of love and English grammar.
—Chicago Tribune.

A Valuable Invention.

Brown—How are you getting on with your patent fire escape, Smith?

Smith—I won't be able to push it much until my leg gets better. But it's a big thing.

Brown—What's the matter with your leg?

Smith—I broke it while testing the fire escape.—New York Sun.

How It Was Done.

The cup's been here
High forty year
With all the world agin it,
An' there don't float
No bottle boat
That's good enough to win it.

Our folks don't go
Much on the blow,
But, gods an' little fishes!
We know our biz,
An' that 'ere is
The set ur skimmin' dishes!
—Chicago Courier.

A Fraud.

Detroit Man—Hello, Bub! What's the extra out for—baseball game?

Newsboy—Naw—railroad accident—dozen people killed—want's copy?

Detroit Man—This newspaper business is a fraud. They print an extra on the least provocation. It's shameful.—Tid Bits.

Not Like Us.

Said he, "I want no yacht, I'm content with what I've got,
I care nothing for baseball, owe no person,
And my feelings—the hot weather doesn't rile 'em;
I write not for the papers, care not for fortune's capers"—
Poor madman! They slapped him in an asylum.
—Tid Bits.

A Plausible Reason.

Postmasters say that more letters are mailed in September than in any other month of the year. September is the month when husbands dop their winter coats, and find in the inside pockets the letters their wives gave them last winter to mail.—Norristown Herald.

To His Landlady.

Now at my bedroo window
I sit in study brown,
I cannot bear to leave thee,
Yet I must jump the town.
I hope thou will not hear me,
Breathless I case around.
All's well! I gently lower
My trunklet to the ground.
—Tid Bits.

A Phenomenon.

Old Lady (leaving Brooklyn elevated road)—Which is the shady side of the car, young man?

Brakeman—Well, to tell you the truth, there ain't no shady side. We run so fast an' make so many curves that the sun shines on both sides at the same time.—New York Sun.

Not What He Expected.

I cannot see
What there is in me
To make you love me, love, said he;
Then answered she,
Quite candidly,
That's what my friends all say to me.
—Boston Courier.

The Idea!

"Mr. Brown, I'd like to see you," said a New York man to another this morning.

"What about?"

"On business."

"On business! Why, great Scott, me don't you know that the race between the Thistle and Volunteer comes off today?"—Washington Critic.

Buried Treasure.

Lawyer—Your uncle makes you his sole heir, but the will stipulates that the sum of $100 must be buried with him.

Heir (slightly—for all man was eccentric, but his wishes must be respected, of course. I'll write a check for the amount.—New York Sun.

The Season's Change.

The fresh gale and the balmy air,
The odd touch in the grove,
Have had their day and must give way
To the corner near the stove.
—Washington Critic.

He Had Game Legs.

Robinson—Hello, Jones! Been away shooting for a couple of weeks, haven't you?

Jones—Yes.

Robinson—Well, what did you bag?

Jones—My trousers.—Burlington Free Press.

Please Out.

The baseball player soon will be
A relic of the past,
For winter now is coming on
And freeze him out at last.
—Electric Light.

Keeping Things Quiet.

Passenger on Brooklyn elevated road to brakeman—Why don't you call the stations?

Brakeman—There's a baby sick, sir, over on Fulton street and I've been requested to make as little noise as possible.—New York Sun.

Sometimes.

The British salt whistles,
Her rails at his back—
The shrewdest of Thistles
Will sometimes get stuck.
—Washington Critic.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

The House Numbering Matter Settled.—The Macadamizing Scheme Taken From the Table and Speedily Put Back.

The regular each member of the Plainfield Common Council was occupied last evening at the continuation of last week's adjourned session, and Mayor Cooley and his six Councilmen, Messrs. McGee, Milne, McCutchen, Riker, Weaver and Slater, were not long in disposing of the business that came up before them.

The regular order of proceedings being dispensed with Councilman McCutchen called from the table the resolution concerning the macadamizing of portions of Washington, Rockwood and Madison avenues and asked that Councilman Slater, who had given the subject considerable attention, be permitted to give his views on the matter.

"Mr. Dunham, the civil engineer," said Mr. Slater, "has made a careful survey of the three roughfares which it is proposed to repair, and has given an estimate of the cost and grading for only the grading of the sixteen feet where crushed stone is to be laid, shows that the cost to the projectors of the plan, including the laying of the stone, will be forty-four cents per running foot, or four cents more than they have proposed to pay. The grading of the roadway at the sides, from the macadam edges to the curbs, will cost $96.90. It is a question whether that ought not be paid by the borough. If all the expense be put upon the private projectors it will run as high as forty seven cents per foot."

MR. MCCUTCHEN DISAPPOINTED.

Mr. McCutchen said that it was disappointing to find that the cost would be greater than was so reasonably expected, and stated that he had no authority as yet to stipulate for a rest of over forty cents per running foot.

Then as a sudden thought struck him, he asked if the Councilmen would have any objection to giving an informal expression of opinion on putting the matter of macadamizing out at private contract under the supervision of the Committee on Streets.

"Such a plan would be satisfactory to me," said Mr. Slater. "As I understand it the citizens who propose this thing want it done anyway and are willing to pay for it. All that I see necessary is the passage of a resolution which will cause them to cover the entire expense."

"Oh," was Mr. McCutchen's ejaculation, "the contracting parties would fully identify the Council."

"I don't think," said Mr. McGee, "that Council ought to have any objection to accepting a paid street from the hands of those or any other gentlemen."

MR. MOORE'S PLAINFIELD GIVE A LIFT.

"It is the borough's duty," was the opinion of Mr. Milne, "to help this scheme along all that they can. And if they have any money in the street fund still unexpended I think that they ought to contribute it as their share towards bearing the expense. I understand that there is such a sum of nearly $300 which can readily be spared."

"Well," said Mr. McCutchen, finally, "I don't see that the matter is in any better condition than it was at our last meeting. I therefore move to reobtain the resolution."

His motion was unanimously carried.

The next matter that came up for consideration was the proposed amendment to the ordinance for numbering streets.

Mr. Milne reported that a conference with Mayor Cooley and Mr. Baker—who has been given charge of the numbering—resulted in the conclusion that it would be difficult to make an amendment covering all disputed points.

WHY NOT COPY AFTER PLAINFIELD?

"It is considered better," he continued, "to follow the example of our Plainfield neighbors and first learn from experience exactly what will have to be reached by official action. One thing that was agreed upon is that it will be better to give all numbers on the easterly and each street upon which it has frontage. It is still a question how to number where a street like Somerset extends over into Plainfield."

"It's my opinion," said Mr. Weaver, "that we ought to begin the number on Somerset street at our own line and pay no attention to numbers on the other side of the brook. Plainfielders want us to continue numbering from where they left off. It's all a plan of theirs to count in the inhabitants of North Plainfield so that those on their side of the line may have advantage of the free delivery system."

MR. WEAVER OBJECTS.

The Councilman said this with considerable warmth, as it struck him that the postal advantages would extend on both sides of the brook, inasmuch as the postoffice of Plainfield includes both the city of Plainfield and the borough north of it.

In pointing out the advantages of working harmoniously with Plainfield in the matter the other Councilmen showed that as a matter of simple business policy it would be advisable to make the borough's street numbers, on such highways as Somerset street, correspond to those of Plainfield.

"For," it was stated, "it would certainly cause great confusion were there to be on this side of the brook duplicates of numbers on the other side. In the matters of printing bill-heads alone trouble would be caused. What if if were stated No. ——, so-and-so, North Plainfield, or a corresponding number, Plainfield, no one can deny that there would considerable trouble arise—especially at the postoffice."

OBSTINATE MR. WEAVER.

"I must insist said Mr. Weaver, "that we ought to proceed regardless of things across the line. Let them change the name of their portion of Somerset street, if necessary, but let us have all our numberings begin at No. 1."

Mr. Weaver was, subsequently, the only one who voted against Mr. McCutchen's motion to place the entire matter in the hands of Mayor Cooley and the Committee on Streets, with instructions to follow out the letter of the ordinance as their discretion. The motion as adopted included an amendment making it imperative to begin to number at the dividing line of streets such as Somerset, giving numbers successive to those last given on the Plainfield side.

A petition presented by Mr. Riker asking for a crosswalk on Somerset street opposite Grandview avenue and a sidewalk on the western side of Somerset street from Green Brook road to Linden avenue, was referred to the Committee on Streets.

A communication from the Mayor accompanied by his check for $50, in payment for the borough's violation of the borough ordinance to date, was filed and the check ordered transferred to the borough fund in the hands of the clerk.

On motion adjourned.

The W. C. T. U. Explains.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—At the request of our W. C. T. U., and also with a personal desire to satisfy the public as to the position which we have taken, and the reasons therefor, I respectfully ask the use of your columns for the following statement.

Considering the growing needs for enlarged accommodation for some of the important branches of our work, as long ago as March I offered a resolution at one of our meetings, upon which, at that time, no action was taken, but which enlisted the attention of some of the members of the Union, who instructed the Secretary of their Executive Committee to desire from our Union some explanation—and a meeting was arranged between their committee (four of whom were present) and a committee of five appointed by our Union, of which committee I was chairman.

At that interview our work and our needs were fully explained and endorsed by the majority. From then until now, and even that time have we been considering the matter hopefully and prayerfully awaiting developments as to what was best to do in anticipation of again resuming our work in the Fall. At the meeting of our Union last Tuesday, Oct. 4th, Mrs. Opdyke offered a similar resolution to the one I had before presented, with a suggestion that a committee be appointed to report upon and secure some suitable rooms or house, which was immediately followed by an unexpected offer (through Mrs. Taylor) of the desirable accommodations at No. 55 East Front street, of which we knew nothing until then.

Grateful for this answer to our prayers that the way might be opened, the Union appointed a committee to investigate with power to secure the same if convinced of their adaption to our needs, and report at the meeting the following Thursday afternoon.

On Thursday morning, Oct. 6th, this committee met at the rooms and after a satisfactory examination decided to accept the very favorable terms at which they were offered to us as temperance workers. The report of this committee was presented at the business meeting the same afternoon.

In regard to the unkind criticisms which have been made, I would say, as one whose interest in temperance everywhere, and especially in the welfare of the Plainfield Reform Club, is second to none, I am unquestioned, that we, as a Union, are both willing and ready, as we have ever been, to co-operate with any and every Christian temperance work, looking as we all are to the banishment of intemperance from our homes and our land. MRS. YATES.

A Collision on Front Street.

About eight o'clock last evening William B. Smith of Dunellen, started in company with his wife to come to Plainfield in his phaeton. He is an enterprising dry goods merchant in the village and had just locked up his store. After driving about 200 yards to the farmer with a hay-rigger wagon, drove from the opposite direction.

Mr. Smith tried to turn as much out of the way as possible, but there was not room, and the wheels of the two conveyances became locked. Mr. Smith's horse got so excited as to turn the phaeton on its side, throwing out Mrs. Smith and bruising her. Mr. Smith firmly held the reins while the work of demolishing the phaeton by the horse was in progress. The wheels of the vehicle were smashed and the phaeton generally wrecked. The horses attached to the hay-rigger were also smashing things generally, and, as it was intensely dark, the terror of the unfortunates may be imagined.

Mr. Coles, who keeps a feed and coal store in Dunellen, was just closing up his store, and carried a lantern. He hurried to the scene and helped extricate the animals and save Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who are cordial in their words of praise of him. Mr. Smith saying that but for Mr. Coles' timely assistance there was very little hope of his wife or he escaping a runaway accident.

The farmer assisted in holding Mr. Smith's horse while the conveyances were being disentangled, and promptly paid all damages as claimed by the injured party. It is supposed that the farmer was returning home after being up all night and day selling hay, and had fallen asleep from exhaustion. He expressed great regret over the mishap and exhibited the utmost kindness and consideration. As the street was lighted such accidents might be avoided.

The Republicans in Action.

The Plainfield Republican Association held its second meeting of the Fall at their rooms on Front street last night. President E. R. Pope occupied the chair and Secretary John R. Doane recorded the minutes.

A motion was made and carried that the Association appoint delegates to the Republican State Convention at Trenton. Oct 19. Messrs. E. R. Pope, Augustus Frase, W. R. Codington, J. B. Coward, Frank E. Marsh, George M. Stiles, B. F. Coriell, A. Vanderbeek, T. O. Doane and W. R. Potts were subsequently appointed to attend the convention, with power to supply vacancies.

A report from the Republican Club of New York was laid on the table until after the Trenton meeting.

Adjourned at 9.15 until Tuesday evening, Oct. 18, at 8.30.

Next Tuesday evening the Republican primaries will be held as follows: First Ward, Republican headquarters, Front street; Second Ward, Bryant school building; Third Ward, Park House; Fourth Ward, Laing's Hotel.

WASHINGTON, D. "Firebugs" Out West.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—Detectives have returned from Columbus, Kansas, where they yesterday succeeded in capturing after a desperate struggle, two men who, it is alleged, blew up the magazine containing 27,-000 lbs. of powder belonging to Hamilton & Timberlake of this city. The crime was committed last April, and was the beginning of a series of inwise acts, such as the burning and robbing of houses and stores. The city authorities of Columbus employed the Detective Agency to ferret out the criminals. The names of the men captured are Fred Cooper and John Hulett, two coal miners. Both are very young.

Will Miss Garfield Jilt Him?

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 12.—It is rumored that the real cause of the postponement of Miss Nellie Garfield's marriage is that the young lady does not intend to marry Mr. Brown at all. An intimate friend of the late Gen. Garfield, and since his death, of Mrs. Garfield and the family, said, when reference to the matter: "There is probably no further use in attempting to conceal the true reason for the sudden departure of Mrs. Garfield and daughter for Europe. The real reason is a rupture which has occurred between Miss Nellie and Stanley Brown, the young man who expected to become her husband this month. Mr. Brown was Gen. Garfield's private secretary. He appears to have no particular prospects, and not a great deal of money. As the wedding has long been looked forward to as a certainty by friends of the family, the trip was made to escape the embarrassment of the situation."

OUR MINISTER TO MEXICO DEAD.

E. C. Manning Stricken With Fatal Illness at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Thomas Courtland Manning, United States minister to Mexico, who came home a week ago from his home in Louisiana to attend the meeting of the Peabody educational fund, and was taken sick immediately on his arrival, died yesterday morning at the Fifth Avenue hotel. No one was at his bedside except a nurse. He had not considered his sickness serious, and had refused to have his wife notified. At the time of his death, however, she was on her way here, and is expected today.

Mr. Manning was born in North Carolina fifty-six years ago. He was graduated at a university in that state, and studied law there. He went to Louisiana in 1855, and bought large tracts of land. At the opening of the war he identified himself with the Confederate cause, and after holding several places of trust in that government he entered the Confederate army. He became a justice of the supreme court of the state after the war. He was active in politics. President Cleveland appointed him minister to Mexico in September, 1886.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Secretary Bayard yesterday received a dispatch from Representative Reed, of Pulaski, at New York, announcing the death of Minister Manning. Secretary Bayard acknowledged the receipt of the dispatch by a telegram, in which he said:

"I fully share the sense of our country's loss of an able and honorable public servant."

FOR THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Detroit Wins the Second of the Series, Score 5 to 2.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—Although yesterday was a cold, disagreeable day, from 12,000 to 15,000 people saw the Detroits play a very good game and win by a score of 5 to 2 in the world's championship series. The home team's rank errors, particularly those of Latham and Boyle, gave Detroit their first four runs. The work of the Browns was almost lifeless as compared with that of Conway, their fielding, except that of O'Neill and Caruthers, being wretched and their base running very like. Both pitchers were hit freely, but had Foutz received proper support, the hits against him would not only have been few, but the Detroits would not have made more than one run. Hanlon, for the visitors, earned a run on splendid base running, stealing second and third.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Earned runs—St. Louis, 2; Detroit, 1. Two-base hits—Bennett, O'Neill, Foutz. Three-base hit—Wood. Double plays—Brown and Robinson; Rowe, Dunlap and Gruber; Foutz and Comiskey. First base on balls—White, Robinson, Hanlon, Latham, Gruber, Brouthers and Richardson, O'Neill. Wild pitches—Foutz, 1. Time of game—Two hours. Umpires—Messrs. Kelly and Gaffney. To Fight the Personal Liberty Party.

ALBANY, Oct. 12.—Twenty-six clergymen, representing all religious denominations in the city, held an all-day conference yesterday to devise means to oppose the Personal Liberty party movement looking toward the opening of saloons on Sunday from 1 p. m. until midnight. A committee was appointed to prepare for a mass meeting at the earliest practicable date, at which resolutions are to be framed and forces arrayed to be sent out sought by the Personal Liberty party and urging Christians throughout the state to use their influence against the candidates that party supports. All the Albany clergymen will preach upon that subject next Sunday.

A Grand Jury Vindicated.

TRENTON, Oct. 12.—A sensation, out of which the foreman of the grand jury stands in the county court here yesterday, when Lawyer W. D. Holt objected to the swearing in of the grand jury. He asked that the administration of the oath be postponed twenty-four hours, as serious charges had been made concerning the impaneling of the men. Chief Justice Beasley said such a motion should be based on affidavits, and he dismissed the jury for four hours to give the lawyer time to produce the affidavits. At the end of the four hours Lawyer Holt and two associates came into court and withdrew their objections and complaint. The jury was sworn in promptly.

Drowned in the Hold.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 12.—About 10 o'clock last night the fishing steamer George W. Beal was run into in the East river by a tug and nearly cut in two. There was a crew of thirty-three men on board, under Capt. William R. Benjamin, all of whom escaped except Henry Griswold, who was asleep in the hold when the crash came. The Beal was towed at Greenpoint, L. I. The wreck floated to a dock, where the men were taken off.

Flood in Texas.

BROWNSVILLE, TEX., Oct. 12.—The Rio Grande was never so high as now. The country along the river is flooded. The bottom lands are under water. It is reported that a hurricane is moving westward over the gulf. This cause much anxiety. Matamoras is under water, and the storm is so severe there that the steamer Lucena has been unable to come in from the bar, where she has been lying two days.

ROASTED ON THE TRACK.

A FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD WRECK AT KOUT, IND.

A Passenger Train Halted for Repairs, is Telescoped by a Freight—Fire and Cremation Follows — The Result of Criminal Negligence.

KOUT, Ind., Oct. 12.—Erie express No. 12 pulled out of the Polk street depot, of the Chicago and Atlantic road, at 1:45 o'clock Monday morning. Conductor Parks was in charge and Engineer Connor and Fireman Willetts were on the locomotive. The train was made up of two Pullman sleepers, a day coach, a fruit car and a baggage car. The night was dark and misty and the rails were slippery. The train had been out of Chicago but a few moments when Engineer Connor discovered that his engine had broken her eccentric strap. As this mishap is of frequent occurrence Connor continued on his trip by reaching over one side of his engine. The speed of the train was lessened to such an extent that Boone Grove, a dismal prairie station fifty miles out of Chicago, was passed two hours late. While the crippled passenger train was running through this bleak stretch of country, a heavy refrigerator train, which had been overtaken in its long line of cars, was thundering along at a great rate of speed a few miles behind. John Dorsey was the engineer of the freight train, and it is said, had orders to look out for the passenger train. After passing Boone Grove Engineer Connor stopped his train at a water tank, two and a half miles west of that village, or midway between here and Boone Grove. As soon as he had keaped from his engine he threw up the distant semaphore lamp, nearly half a mile in his rear. The sign to warn the freight that the express train had stopped for water. He had not been at the tank more than two minutes when he heard the freight thundering behind. He gave the signal to stop, but with slippery rails a heavy train runs at a furious rate. It was too late to warn the train, which was creeping down at a tremendous pace.

Engineer Dorsey had failed to see the big red semaphore light, and his engine tore through the rear end of the train. It crashed into the rear Pullman coach. Before the collision occurred Dorsey and his fireman saw the lamps burning on the doomed express coaches, but it was too late to avert the disaster. The two men leaped from their cab, and then the crash came. The engine of the freight plunged far into the rear Pullman that its upper works dropped off in the center of the coach. The concussion drove the second heavy sleeper into the day coach, which was reduced to splinters. The platforms of every car were torn away, and thus wrecked; the ends of each coach were broken like eggshells. The cars of the freight train were driven in every direction. The upper works of the engine were torn away, the tender thrown across the track, and piled high with the wreckage. The debris were hundreds of pounds of meat. There were Baker improved heaters on the express train, but notwithstanding this supposed improvement over the old stoves, the fire in the heater quickly set fire to the upholstery of the rear Pullman, and in five minutes a flame which at first was scarcely larger than a ribbon spread to the ceiling, and soon enveloped the shattered couches and their screaming occupants. The light from the flames illumined the sky for miles around and startled the farmers, who had not yet gone to bed. Through the rain and mud the rescuers came.

Meantime the crews of both trains, who had escaped with but slight injuries, were hard at work dragging the helpless passengers from their blazing prison. Nearly all were pinned to the floor by the heavy timbers of the coaches, where they were pinned and crushed by the heavy timbers and irons of the wreck. One man, the head of a Bohemian family, lay between the baggage car and the day coach. A brakeman had been driven through his neck, and, thus impaled, he perished, while his family lay writhing in frightful agony beside him. The fire burned with the appalling rapidity of all railroad fires.

Re-enforced by the farmers and their sturdy boys the train men set about their work with a will. There was water close at hand, and rainfall after pailful was dashed into the crackling mass.

The railroad officials claim that there were but twenty passengers on the train, but the men who stood near the wreck declare that the screams and appeals of mercy came from double that number of human beings. The Pullmans, although the first to receive the shock, did not leave the track, but turned where they stood. So far as known not a life was lost in these coaches. There were but few persons in the berths, and although all were hurled into upon the other, all escaped through the windows before the flames burst through the flooring. It was in the day coach that the slaughter was great. The frail box was smashed to atoms. The sides flew out and the heavy roof sprang into the air and then came down upon the score or more of human beings who by passed beneath the seats.

A middle aged Irish lady who was in the day coach with her husband a sister, and thus imprisoned she was burned to death.

Dr. William Perry, of North Judson, his wife and a little daughter were asleep when the crash came. The physician was hurled from over the seats and piled them with the other unfortunates in the front end of the car. Dr. Perry fought his way through the debris for life. He succeeded in getting half of his body through one of the windows, but the timbers of the roof, which had fallen down, held his legs in the vise like grip. Below the doctor's man lay his wife and child. They had hoped that the husband and father, who had ventured his way so near to freedom, would come to rescue them. When they realized that their doom was irrevocably sealed they screamed frantically and drove the father wild with their piteous appeals. Another effort was made to drag the doctor from the window, but a wave of flame drove the rescuers back upon the prairie, where they watched the struggles going upon in the window sill and finally disappear from view.

Dr. W. C. McKee is a prosperous looking, intelligent man of 38, who promptly responded in the dead of night to call to go to the scene of the wreck, three miles from his residence. He rendered noble service, and in the hope that it may help to give his experience, but stated that to the best of his knowledge it would not be overstating the facts to say that the collision had cost the lives of fully thirty persons. He said shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning when he reached the wreck, and he immediately began to get to the sufferers in the wreckage. Those who were badly hurt when the crash came, he said, must have had little chance for their lives, so quickly had the cars taken fire and so thorough was the work of the flames.

A gentleman from Taunton, Mass., who was on his way home, was sitting in the first car asleep at the time of the collision, and miraculously escaped. "At one place," he said, "there were two or three women, apparently all together, and we tried to get them out. They were shrieking in a manner to freeze one's blood, for the fire was coming nearer to them all the time. We worked as long as we could, but could not get them out, and the fire seemed to envelop them. We finally released their grasp. To keep from desperate scenes I left the car. Others did the same, and finally found that they were simply spectating. The wreck burned to the tracks, no facilities being at hand to extinguish the fire. A car load of the injured was taken from the wreck this forenoon. They were maimed, burned and bruised in some quite badly."

—Every possible source of information is being pursued by the railroad people, so that the exact loss of life may never be known; but it is positive that ten charred bodies have been recovered and at least thirty persons have been injured, while it is positively asserted by survivors that from fifteen to twenty more lives were lost.

The identified dead are Dr. William Perry, North Judson, Ind., Mrs. Perry, —— Perry, child of the above, and a family of six named Miller, from Dundee, Ills.

Two Trains Wrecked in Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—There was a wreck on the main line of the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, at Warren, O., about 5 a. m. yesterday. The Erie express, running forty miles an hour, ran into and open switch, crashing into a long freight train standing on the siding. Engineer Charles Fessenden, of Kent, jumped from the cab and was thrown five car lengths away, and Fireman William Adsit jumped to the tender. The express engine crashed into the freight, wrecking both badly. The express cab was splintered to atoms. The freight train was damaged along its entire length. Engineer Fessenden had his leg broken by jumping. Fireman Adsit was terribly scalded.

NEW YORK KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Election of Grand Commandery Officers for the Ensuing Year.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The parade of the Knights Templar, in session in this city, which occurred yesterday afternoon, was a brilliant pageant. There were about 1,000 Knights in line, and their appearance called forth words of commendation on every side. The marching of Monroe commandery, of Rochester, and Apollo commandery, of Troy, was especially fine. These two organizations gave an exhibition drill at Riverside park during the parade, which was witnessed by about 4,000 people. The gate receipts were given to the orphan asylum of the city.

At the meeting of the grand body officers were elected: Thomas E. Hasbhurst, Troy, grand commander; Austin C. Wood, Syracuse, deputy grand commander; Foster M. Masten, of Utica, grand generalissimo; George McGown, Palmyra, grand captain general; Cornelius L. Twing, Brooklyn, grand prelate; George F. Lozier, Rochester, grand senior warden; Edward L. Gaul, Hudson, grand junior warden; Ralph C. Christiance, Ithaca, grand treasurer; Robert Macoy, Brooklyn, grand recorder; John B. Banning, Brooklyn, grand standard bearer; James W. Bowden, New York, grand sword bearer; Horace A. Noble, Buffalo, grand warden; William C. May, New York, grand inspector.

In the evening a reception and ball at the Butterfield house was tendered to the grand commandery by the officers of Utica commandery. It was a largely attended and very enjoyable affair.

THE TELEGRAPH DEAL RATIFIED.

Unanimous Action of Western Union's Board of Directors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The board of directors of the Western Union Telegraph company met this morning in the rooms of the Western Union building. Nearly the full board was present. Jay Gould, Dr. Norvin Green, Gen. Sheridan, ex-Governor A. H. Cornell, George Gould, Russell Sage, John Jacob Astor, Cyrus Field and John G. Moore were among those participating. The meeting was called especially to consider the matter of the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph purchase, as it was necessary to ratify the action of the executive committee in making the purchase. It was well understood that the ratification was certain, and it was made unanimous.

After the formality of the ratification had been concluded the subject of the annual report, which will be given to the stockholders and the public to-day, was taken up. The committee on audit presented its report, the committee held a short session. It is believed that no change will be made in the present board of directors. No trouble is expected from any dissatisfied stockholders, as the purchase is conceded to be a politic move. A breeze may be raised, however, by increasing the capital stock by $5,000,000, to cover the cost of the purchase, which is expected to be made under six months' time.

American Production Crowded Out.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Consul Bissinger, of Beirut, Syria, writes to the department of state that no sailing vessel or steam er carry the flag of the United States between that port of Beirut since 1880. The flag of the United States as an emblem of commerce is almost wholly unknown in this part of the world. Up to 1880, he says, American sailing vessels, bringing petroleum and returning with a various assortment of Oriental goods, were numerous. Now the whole business in the petroleum trade between the United States and Syria is carried on under a discrimination against that article of commerce and in favor of Russian petroleum. Though Russian petroleum is inferior to the American, a determined effort has been made to capture the Syrian market, irrespective of immediate pecuniary results.

Conflicting Opinions on the Fever.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Dr. Wall, president of the Tampa, Fla., board of health, telegraphed to the state hospital service yesterday that the disease prevalent there is unquestionably yellow fever, despite a popular belief to the contrary, and that the contagion has spread over part of the city, while the local authorities are doing nothing. One more death is reported. The president of the Florida State Health Protective association has telegraphed that citizens and physicians of Tampa are not satisfied that the disease is actually yellow fever, and an assistant to Dr. Guiteras should be ordered to Tampa to determine the question. Surgeon General Hamilton has ordered Dr. Guiteras to Tampa as soon as he can be taken away from Jacksonville, to give his experience, but stated that to the best of his knowledge it would not be overstating the facts to say that the collision has cost the lives of fully thirty persons. REV. T. P. SPRECHER.

The Cleveland Clergyman Who Will Succeed Beecher.

It is said that the pastorate of Plymouth Beecher's great congregation—have their theological eye on Cleveland and the Rev. Dr. Samuel P. Sprecher.

The Euclid avenue, or more properly, perhaps, the First Presbyterian church of Cleveland, is a red brick building, rather commonplace without and quite elaborate within. The pastor of the congregation until quite recently was the Rev. W. V. W. Davis, now of Worcester, Mass. When Mr. Davis resigned his pulpit there was talk of the trustees of the church began to scan the list of clergymen in their own denomination east and west. Many of them are millionaires and they wanted a first class man. Word came from the Pacific coast that Dr. Sprecher might be induced to come east. The telegraph was quickly overcome, and within a few skirmishing, almost, an electric contract was made and accepted, and as fast as steam could carry him Dr. Sprecher found himself in Cleveland.

The terms were $5,000 a year and parsonage. The parsonage fronts on Euclid avenue, and would bring $1,200 a year rent and plenty of applicants. Dr. Sprecher was not a candidate for the vacant pastorate, but was suggested for the place by a former pastor, who at that time was pastor of a large church in San Francisco.

Dr. Sprecher has only been in Cleveland a few months, but in that short time he has delighted his congregations, and the congregation in turn has delighted him. It was a case of love at first sight, and both pastor and people are happy in their new relation. A Cleveland man says: "The opening date Dr. Sprecher took the old-time Sunday evening, and heard his second lecture on 'Christianity and Modern Thought.' Every pew in the church was filled, and the fashionable members were present in all the glory of their silks, feathers and broadcloth. Heretofore it has been impossible to draw this class from their homes on Sunday evening service. They would roll up to the church doors Sunday morning behind spanking teams and be ushered to pews, but at night they positively refused to stir from their elegant homes. Now they go morning and evening, for the spiritual and intellectual food that awaiting them is too good to be missed."

There is a great store of magnetism behind the sermons which this man delivers. Of medium height, of pale cold, with a smooth, dark face, a high, round brow, black hair and eloquent eyes. Dr. Sprecher would hold attention if he said he didn't touch men's minds and hearts by what he said. All his sermons are highly intellectual, as well as deeply spiritual. They are characterized by logic, earnestness, philosophy and broad learning, and thereby captures all who listen.

On the 7th day of October Dr. Sprecher will be forty years old. He was born at Harrisburg, Pa., and his parents were Lutherans in religion and German by descent. Many of Dr. Sprecher's ancestors and college professors, and he was early given to understand that he was to follow in their footsteps. Educated at Wittenberg college and theological seminary, he became a Lutheran preacher at the age of 21. At 23 he changed his views on baptism, and joined the First Presbyterian church at Utica, N. Y. When he was 40 he went to Oakland, Cal., and became pastor of the First Presbyterian church there. In 1886 he first made a favorable impression as a pulpit orator and an earnest Christian worker. Three years later he removed to San Francisco and accepted the vacant pulpit of Calvary church, where he remained until called to Cleveland.

Dr. Sprecher's family consists of Mrs. Sprecher and four children—two sons and two daughters. The oldest son is visiting in Cleveland at this time. He lives in Detroit. He is a member of the Detroit boat owns and manages a stock ranch. Dr. Sprecher away from the church is just as popular as when he is in it. He is a jolly companion, a very entertaining conversationalist and a delightful relater of quaint and humorous anecdotes. If he ever had a talent for the stage it is at this vehement protest of all who know him.

CHARLES DICKENS, JR.

The Man Who Is Most Able to Portray His Father's Characters.

Charles Dickens, jr., who comes to this country to read from some of his father's famous sayings, is not so young as some of our readers may perhaps imagine. He was born in 1837, and is, therefore, 50 years old. The younger Dickens has displayed some talent as a writer, and the books that he has compiled show evidences of considerable literary ability as an orator is more pronounced. His success as a reader was immediately established when he first read from his father's works in London, where CHARLES DICKENS, JR. he first read selections from "Dombey and Son" and "Tom Tarwer's Party." Since then he has devoted himself to the study of elocution. Mr. Dickens is in possession of the carefully corrected proofs from which his father was accustomed to read, and which he rehearsed at family parties. Young Charles was often present, and the impressions he received from hearing his father read have undoubtedly much to do with the inimitable way in which he portrays his father's characters.

Since the separation between Charles Dickens and his wife occurred, the younger Charles wisely decided to remain in England. Both children were fully approved of by his father, who afterward welcomed his eldest son to his home and made him his heir.

Charles, jr., received a good education, and was for some time under the care of Miss Coutts, now the Baroness Burdett-Coutts. He is the present proprietor of All the Year Round, which enjoys as large a circulation as it did under the editorship of his father.

Negro Characteristics.

I think I have found the secret of the negro's slow work. In picking out the cotton crop; they seem to be utterly indifferent as to whether it is lost or saved, picking in most cases barely enough to pay for meat and bread, and as many farmers throughout the country are complaining that they can't get the negro to work, I will give them the benefit of my discovery. This is Saturday, and, unlike the New York holiday statute, custom among the negroes has made not only Saturday evening holiday, but they take the whole day. So I methought myself to try and have some of them as they passed my field. Taking a seat upon the fence by the roadside, I offered to hire many as they wended their way to their farms, but to all declined, as that Saturday and they must have rest. Finally an old gray headed fellow came along, and after much parleying I shamed him into the idea of working. Said he would go a far one. Asked what I would pay him. I told him fifty cents per 100. He shook his head, and said: "No, boss, I tank you; but can't work for dat."

I said well, as a starter, and to induce others, I'll give you seventy five cents per hundred, but he must not let the others know what I said to him. "No, no, no, boss, I can't pick for dat," and he started to leave me. "Hold on," said I, "$1 per hundred. What say you to that?" "Whoo and whoo, boss, I pick we can't trade." "Well," said I, "what will you pick for?" "I'll pick for twenty five cents a hundred, boss." "Well, tell me, you old fool, you don't want to pick for that twenty five cents, when I offer you $1." "Well," said he, "boss, I speck you's like de balance of de white folks, you mean not pay me no more, and I don't want to work so much."—Burnsville Cor. Selma (Ala.) Times.

Another Idol Shattered.

Another thing not generally known, the elucidation of which may prove highly edifying to dwellers on the north side in the vicinity of Lincoln park, is the manner in which they have been victimized by an innocent appearing clerk in a drug store in that locality, and the clever clerk, who is now working in another section of the city, told the joke to a reporter the other day as follows:

"The combination of syrups you asked for in your note was a new one on me. I used last season in compounding the syrup for a brand of soda I was having a heavy run on, and which I called the 'Mikado.' The 'Mikado' craze was at its height, and of course the new brand of soda became popular at once. I had the syrup in a large bottle, placed out on the showcase in full view, in order to carry out the deception I took the tag from a bundle of clothes, just in from a Chinese laundry, and after ornamenting it with a broad border in red ink, and putting several smaller fantastic touches to it, I pasted it on the bottle of 'Mikado' syrup. That settled all questions as to the genuineness of my Japanese syrup. But one day, while a couple of young gentlemen and their girls were drinking a glass of my 'Mikado,' a Chinaman came in, and the first thing he spied was the label on the bottle of syrup. He walked up, and, examining it curiously, enunciated just audibly: 'Four shirts—two collar—five pair' socks.' Of course the little party who were drinking 'Mikado' at the fountain tumbled. For a moment they all looked as foolish as I felt, and then they all laughed and I ordered up. That almost settled the craze for 'Mikado' soda, however."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A Coquette in the Bud.

Flossie is a dear, little golden haired creature, with large blue eyes, dainty red lips and the roundest, pinkest cheeks in the world. She loves her papa and mamma dearly. Her pretty ways and sunny smiles endear her to a host of playmates, and her gentle thoughtfulness of others makes her the pet of an indulgent, doting household.

"Mamma," said the little one softly one day as she nestled lovingly in her mother's arms, "I love to walk with Mamie Brown."

Tears sprang to the mother's eyes at this proof of her darling's unselfish nature. Mamie was a poor little crippled girl, whose plain, pinched features were in painful contrast to Flossie's bright beauty, and her attire, though always neat, was very plain and inexpensive.

"And why does my little Flossie love to walk with Mamie?" asked the mother.

"Because she is so plain and her dresses are so shabby," artlessly lisped the little one, "that when we are together everybody notices only just me."—Binghamton Republican.

Cæsar's Advance.

Cæsar made it the rule of his life always to be in advance of his enemies," says a historian. We know a man who used to do that during the war. His efforts to keep in advance of his enemies gave him a great deal of healthy exercise, set his blood in lively circulation and finally preserved his life; but it played the mischief with his good reputation. —Somerville Journal.

HOW TO WALK WELL.

THE POSITION OF THE BODY IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE.

Self Training Before a Full Length Mirror—Throwing Out the Chest—A Transformation—A Positive Relief—To Shoulder Braces Needed—A Quick Walk.

To walk well, then, requires cultivation and exercise of the muscles of the entire body. The very position of the body is of importance in walking. Can you walk well? Have you ever criticised your self? Let us see. You can be the best critic if you will listen.

Stand before a full length mirror. Notice your appearance, down to your very feet. Now turn sideways, and look carefully. Don't you see how your shoulders and hips are carried forward? You carry your head very well, but are you graceful? Now, keeping your exactly natural position, walk slowly back and forth past the mirror (which should reach the floor). When you step, does not your heel come down first, and does not the toe rise last of your foot when you walk up to the mirror facing it? Now stop, turn your profile to the glass, and, without moving the body, look at your reflection. Don't you see how your shoulders and hips are carried forward? You carry your head very well, but are you graceful? Now, keeping your exactly natural position, walk slowly back and forth past the mirror (which should reach the floor). A Slight Mistake.

A lady called at the hotel to see Mrs. Bouncault the other day. Mrs. Bouncault has always a little table-cover filled with crackers and cakes and jellies and things that come in very convenient once in a while. Mrs. Bouncault was out and the lady sat down to wait for her. Looking at these dainties as the time flew by and Mrs. Bouncault did not appear, she was tempted beyond endurance and started to skirmish among them. She found a pot of marmalade. It was very nice. She took a cracker and covered it with marmalade and enjoyed it. She took another, and another, and more until she had made a serious inroad on the Dundee dainty. Mrs. Bouncault not arriving, she put her card on the table and went away. Next day she met Mrs. Bouncault, who apologized for not having been home.

"Oh, I had a nice time," said the lady; "I ate all your crackers, and really I never tasted such delicious marmalade."

"Marmalade!" said Mrs. Bouncault.

"Yes, marmalade. I found a pot of it and nearly finished it."

"Marmalade! That wasn't marmalade. That was cough mixture."—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Reporter's Rise.

They tell a good story at the Press club about one of the natural reporters of The Herald. Some three years ago there was a young journalist employed in the capacity at a salary of $15 a week; a collision had occurred between two steamers and some lives had been lost. The young reporter wrote a florid description, in which he used the words, speaking of the moment when the vessel collided, "the scene that followed baffles description." Young Bennett was at home and went for him.

"Why did you not describe the scene that followed, instead of saying that it baffled description?" thundered the great man.

"Why, it did baffle description."

"What do you in an, sir?"

"That it baffled the description of any $15 a week reporter."

Bennett raised his salary.—New York Truth.

Wasn't Satisfied.

"What's the nationality of them?" said a tall woman with a determined eye as she pointed her parasol at the elephants in the circus which recently exhibited at Sioux Falls.

"African, mum," replied the man in attendance.

"Awful light colored for coming from Africa, seems to me," continued the determined eyed woman. "And see here, you just tell the owners of this show that I say I think they've got a mighty poor lot of rascals—all of 'em single humped except one. When I pay fifty cents, besides myself and $1.25 for the children to see a show I want to see some double humpers and less hair rubbed off on 'em 'cause it exists! You just tell 'em what I say!"—Dakota Bell.

The Spirit of the Age.

Omaha Man—This country is all right just as it is. Omaha folks have nothing to complain of.

Detroit Man—Oh, well, Omaha is very primitive, you must remember. In places like Detroit, where people keep up with the age, we find that the lakes which did well enough in the old days are all wrong now. We need new ones.

"Can't imagine what."

"Well, for one thing, we want the churches to charge fifty cents admission on Sundays."

"Eh! Why?"

"Their free showouts interfere too much with the ball games."—Omaha World.

A Bad Spell.

A few months ago an old gentleman was seen reading a notice on a fence on the south side of Austin avenue. A friend passing, said:

"Why don't you have the notice put in the daily papers where people can read it?"

"Ward," said the old gentleman, "if I took it to the town paper office there no paper fellers would spell it spelled wrong, and I'd somebody would think I didn't have no education."

The notice read: "Blowe for rent Inchoir on preymess."—Texas Siftings.

Looking for Work.

Approach of Autumn.

The Autumn days are drawing near,
The dying glories of the year,
When Isaac unveils the ripened sheaves

JOTTINGS.

—St. Mary's fair closes to-night.

—A communication from Mrs. Patton, will appear to-morrow.

—North Plainfield Republican primaries to-night. See advertisement.

—Tuesday next is registration day. Every person entitled to the right of suffrage will do well to remember this.

—Tuesday night gave us the first killing frost of the season. The thermometer went within three degrees of the ice point.

—Arouse 'n's Erminie Opera Company arrived in this city on the 11:30 a. m. train, and are stopping at the City and Laing's Hotels.

—Special services for the month of October was held in St. Mary's church last night. At the conclusion of the rosary, Father O'Sullivan preached an instructive sermon from last Sunday's Gospel. He took for his text the words "Many are called but few are chosen." The congregation was dismissed with the benediction.

—The Immigration Bureau of Marysville, Cal., sends a report of the condition of Yuba and Sutter counties with a request for the names of those who would like to learn of California lands and products. California is a long way off, and there are few people around here who have to look beyond New Jersey for prosperity.

—There are over a hundred unreserved seats at Music Hall which may be taken by the first comers for Erminie to-night. The company played at Orange last night. People went from Plainfield to see the performance. They saw sixty-two people in the cast and declare that the attraction surpasses anything ever produced here.

—The great success of the State Teachers' Association held in Trenton has induced the committee to decide on the capitol as the place for this year's session. The Trustees of the State Normal School granted them the use of the Model School building for the last time. The time appointed is December 28-30.

—Miss Kittie Manning of Bryson returned recently from a short visit to Chicago.

—Democratic leaders of Somerset County held a meeting in a Somerset street liquor saloon last night, to decide upon delegates to be chosen at the primaries Friday night. Among those present were several office seekers from Somerville. Some of the North Plainfield Democrats refused to support the ticket if the same man was permitted to handle the boodle as handled it last year, and it is alleged that the kickers are to have their own. The saloonist will sport the boodle. The women also who fighting them rely upon principle.

The Royal Arcanum.

From eight o'clock last evening until midnight the most bright members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, indulged in gay festivities connected with their fifth anniversary banquet. William J. Leonard, Regent of the Council, presided. Speeches were made by Supreme Regent McDowell of Jersey City, Grand Regent Chadwick of Elizabeth, Grand Secretary Alberts, Past Regent Miles of Asbury Park, Deputy District Grand Regent Grant of Westfield, Ex-Deputy Grand Regent Cooper of Scotch Plains, and Messrs. Winton Randolph, E. L. Morris, J. H. French, Seymour Marsh, W. H. Lyons, jr., Rev. Mr. Love, A. W. Rand, B. F. Corsell and H. A. Thorne, all of Plainfield Council.

The object of the order is purely benevolent, and during the evening a collection was taken up for the Muhlenberg Hospital. Over $30 were raised.

W. H. Lyons, jr., H. M. Stockton, L. B. Woolson and the Rev. E. M. Rolman were be Committee having the affair in charge

"Murphy" to the Rescue.

Detective "Edward J. Murphy" to-day saved the life of John Voucher, night-operator in the telegraph office at the Dunellen railroad station. Voucher attempted to get into a wagon that was standing on North avenue this morning when he missed his footing and fell at the horses' heels.

"Murphy," who was standing near by, rushed foward and dragged the prostrate man to the sidewalk just as the frightened animals began kicking furiously. A moment more and Voucher's brains would probably have been dashed out. As it was a vicious hoof just grazed his head.

Mr. "Murphy" caught hold of the bridle as soon as Voucher was out of danger and prevented a runaway.

Voucher is the man who was reported by the saloonists to have had trouble with Mr. "Murphy," Sept. 5.

Firemen's Relief Association.

Messrs. T. O. Doane, President, E. M. Marsh, Secretary, O. T. Waring, Horace Sherwin, J. A. Hubbard and Wm. Harding, of the Firemen's Relief Association, met at the Gazelle Engine House last evening. It was reported from delegates Doane, Cock and Hubbard that the recent State Convention held at New Brunswick was harmonious and enthusiastic, the interests of firemen being fully discussed.

The Treasurer submitted his report for the month as follows:

REPUBLICANS IN EARNEST

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF THE COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A Night of Speeches and Cheers—Forceful Arguments for the Party's Success—"Gep" Frasee Shouts for Joy.

The hum of conversation in the Republican Headquarters last night sounded like the buzzing of the busiest bees, and if one had heard all that was said he would have thought that the talk was talismanic of thorough work on the part of the Republicans during the coming campaign.

At eight o'clock the voices ceased. C. M. Goddard, President of the Young Republican Association of Union County, rapped on his desk and called the meeting to order. Secretary C. C. McBride announced that applications for membership had been received from J. H. Doane, W. R. Codington, and Chas. E. Vail, all of Plainfield. On motion the applications were referred to the Membership Committee.

The following delegates to the State Convention to be held at Trenton, Oct. 19, were announced: E. M. Wood, J. F. Glasby, Kent E. Sterns, E. Frank Carson and James Mc Master of Elizabeth; C. E. Reed and H. S. Force of Rahway; Edgar R. Pearsall of Westfield; John Ulrich and C. M. Goddard of Plainfield. Power was given each delegate to furnish a substitute in case he cannot attend.

A communication announcing that a National Republican Club Convention will be held at Chickering Hall, New York City, December 15, 16 and 17, was read and ordered on file. Then came a

SPEECH BY FRANK BERGEN,

City Attorney of Elizabeth, who addressed the assemblage for about forty minutes.

"It must be gratifying to all Republicans," he said, "to see thus early in the campaign the formation of political clubs by young Republicans throughout the country. True, there has been no candidates nominated, no canvasses made, but there has been a spontaneous uprising of the party which is a glorious harbinger of a happy victory. And why not? When did the Republicans since their organization in 1856 ever fail of success?—save three years ago when by a crank's miracle an Ex-Sheriff from Buffalo was raised forward, placed by a majority of the people the Presidential chair, which he has since left to wander over the country. And such a man as Mr. Cleveland is! Suppose in his travels he were to halt for a moment at Plainfield, and in response to the public curiosity were to step out upon the rear platform of his car and address the people. What would one expect to hear him say? Wouldn't he talk about the current issues? Wouldn't he speak on live political topics? I rather think not. He would be likely to get off something like this, which I have compiled with the aid of an encyclopedia:

A LITTLE CYCLOPEDIA EXTRACT.

"Plainfield is a city of the United States in Union county. This would be news to many Plainfieldians. It lies at the foot of Watchung Mountain, on the right side of Green Brook, which is a tributary to the Raritan river. It is a residential suburb of New York, from which it is distant by the Central Railroad twenty-four miles. Its local manufactures, the annual product of which in 1875 the town was laid out, and in 1869 the city received its charter. In 1870 its population was 5,095; in 1880 it was 8,135. A railroad consisting of narrow iron bands bound to wooden logs passes through the place. Two miles south west of the beautiful city is Washington Rock, a point of vantage from which the great men of yesterday used to survey his troops."

"Would James G. Blaine (cheers) or John Sherman (applause) or any other Republican indulge in such silly twaddle in a public speech? Wouldn't he instead speak on topics of the time?

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE PARTIES.

"There is a vast difference in the capacity for statesmanship of the men of the two parties. The Republican party is made of Democrats rule sufficient to last them for the rest of the century. They have learned that if there is any virtue whatever in politics and I think that there is it is to be found with the Republicans or nowhere.

"The Democratic party is the home for the desintegrating and dangerous class. It is in their ranks that are found the Anarchists and Socialist with their felt designs against society. The Democrats are strongest in the slums of great cities. A Democrat is a man who hates something. A Republican is one who loves the right. If a man has a grievance he either joins the Democrats or becomes a Mugwump and gets ready for work.

THINGS LOCAL AND OTHERWISE.

"Now this Fall there are to be State and County officers elected and the successful ones must be Republicans. The last House of Assembly with its rough and-tumble fights gave the people all they want of Democratic method and fell at the hands of popular governance.

"There is a Senator to elect. And the Democrats talk of nominating a Plainfield man who has already cut his throat by uttering certain ideas. Union County certainly doesn't want to continue the vacancy that has existed the last three years. Any vacancy because I have yet to hear of any activity of which Mr. Livingston has been guilty since his locate. Let his place be taken by a Republican and we have secure from whom to choose.

"Then, too, we have to elect a Republican Clerk and Surrogate. We want to break up this nice little ring that is cheated about the nice little Court House with its dome and its little band of Justice pointing down from the weather vane. That ring has been getting too cheeky to ask to stay and we won't give them a chance, whether they ask or not.

"And finally let me congratulate you upon your entering the field thus early in the season. The campaign is only begun, you know, and I firmly believe that the close of the coming campaign will witness a sweeping Republican victory."

"Yes," shouted Gershon France, amid the applause which followed the close of the speech, "and Jim Blaine'll be at the head of it."

The next speaker was

of Elizabeth, who said that the Union County Association had been organized hardly a month, but was already hard at work for the more effectual success of the Republicans. The Club has no particular candidate to push, no axe to grind. Its sole purpose is to aid in electing the nominees of the party.

Mr. Carson received the history of his party, compared it favorably with that of the Democrats, and pointed out some abuses of the present administration. At the mention of the fisheries question Gershon France's voice was again heard.

"It's a shame!" he cried, "and"—his sense of justice struggling with his conscience, which told him that it was naughty to swear—"and," with a sudden burst, "it's a d—n shame!"

THE HON. GEO. T. PARROT,

also of Elizabeth, followed Mr. Carson with a few remarks. He predicted rich results from the organization of the Republican clubs and from the young men especially. The Democrats he called camp-followers, always trailing in the rear of their opponents, picking up the crumbs that have fallen by the way. The Republicans he denominated as the really strong men of the nation, while the Democrats he thought were deficient in statesmanship. His remarks, if the Grand Army of the Republic again made and the shout, "rah! rah! rah!" sounded through the room and a few moments later at the reference to the man from Maine brought forth from "Gep" the information that "Blaine'll get that. Eh!"

MR. FRAZIE HILARIOUS,

The meeting came to a close soon afterward. All the speakers were given enthusiastic cheers, and Mr. Frazee with his original, quaint sayings, came in for his share. The next Association meeting will be held in the Arcade building, Elizabeth, next Friday at 8 p. m.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Asa Collier, who was quite ill yesterday, was able to leave her room this morning.

Mr. W. Graham of London, the champion English shooter, is a guest at Laing's Hotel.

The first foot-ball match of the season was played on the Park-avenue grounds Monday afternoon. Boys from Mr. Leal's college beat the Public School team by a score of 42 to 0.

Pundita Ramabai, the accomplished young Hindu lady who will visit Plainfield this week, will be given a reception this Thursday evening at the home of Councilman and Mrs. William Taylor.

Mrs. Shilton and daughter of London, England, are stopping at the City Hotel. They are on their way around the world and will visit several of the United States' larger cities. During the Winter they will remain in Australia, and in the Spring will proceed to the continent of Europe, visiting Naples, Genoa, Madrid and other places. From thence they will go home.

Major J. C. Paul, General Manager of the Woodruff Sleeping Car Co., invited Dr. George Bryant, Mrs. George Bryant, General Manager of the High Bridge Division of the New Jersey Central Railroad, to accompany him in his new car, the "Yosemite" to Lake Hopatcong for a day's fishing. They left Tuesday evening and returned last night. In fishing they caught sixty-two pounds of fish. The largest pickerel caught weighed five pounds, the largest bass four pounds.

Last evening a quiet and pretty wedding took place at the residence of Edward White of East Second street, of the dry goods firm of J. E. White & Son, the contracting parties being Edward White, Superintendent of Sewers, agent in that city of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and Miss Hattie L., youngest daughter of Mr. J. E. White, Rev. Dr. Ketchum officiating. The happy couple left on the 8:45 p. m. train last night for a trip South. Upon their return about two weeks hence, they will reside in Plainfield.

Mr. E. H. Walker, for many years Statistician of the New York Produce Exchange, has joined the editorial staff of Bradstreet's, the well-known commercial and financial newspaper published in New York, to which he will give his exclusive services. Mr. Walker is perhaps the best-informed man in the country on the statistics of grain, flour, provisions, live stock and kindred lines. He is the author of the only complete records of this kind in the country, and the inventor of the only system of statistical record. With his aid, in addition to the original work in that direction which Bradstreet's has done and has projected, that journal must become indispensable to all interested in those subjects.

The annual gathering of the family of Mr. J. C. Ammerman at his residence in Washington Valley, on Oct. 1, was the twenty-third reunion, and he celebrated the seventy-ninth year of his age. The family, by birth and marriage, numbers twenty-eight; of these eighteen were present, as follows: Nine children, eight grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter; and nine grandchildren and one great-grandson absent. There was also Mr. Ammerman's only remaining brother, with his daughter and her husband. In the twenty-three years of celebration death has entered the family but twice. Of like names the family contains four Kates, three Johns, two Jacobs and two Williams. Mr. Ammerman is still quite vigorous and frequently walks from his house to Bethlehem Church. That he may live to see the 31st of October many more times, is the wish of his friends.

Somerset County Freeholders.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met at the Court House Tuesday, all members present. Mr. Ballentine reported bridge near Wm. J. Moore's about completed. Mr. Bolmer made report for Hillsborough. The Finance Committee reported expenditures for current year to date to be $41,436,88; cash on hand, $740.02. Two bills of Wm. Hardgrove, aggregating $67.40, were laid on the table. A claim by Richardson & Fanning for filling for bridge, amounting to $284.10, was disagreed to. Bridge Committee reported on new iron bridge was authorized to place guards on side of same. Bill of David Sanderson, for $92.00 for work on roads, etc., from 1882 to 1884, was rejected. On motion of Mr. Ballentine it was ordered that the present Sheriff receive same compensation as Janitor as former Sheriffs for like service. It was agreed that the board meet Oct. 24, at 10 a. m., at the Seaman pull property. An invitation to participate in the Fifteenth Regiment reunion was accepted. The County Collector was authorized to borrow, not in excess of $10,000, in anticipation of taxes.

The Pond Tool Works.

Messrs. A. F. Mowry and H. Hess, of the Pond Tool and Machine Company, of Worcester, Mass., were in town recently looking at the progress of the new works. They stated that every effort is being made to put two hundred hands at work by the first of November. The two men will eventually take up their residence here.

A $25,000 Fire.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—James Blackwell's furniture factory, Nos. 105 to 109 Throop street, was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The machinery and contents were all destroyed. The loss is estimated at $25,000, and is only partially covered by insurance.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The steamer Newport with the remains of the late Gen. Kilpatrick on board, arrived here to-day, accompanied by his widow and daughter. The body is to be interred in the military cemetery at West Point, Gen. Sherman to deliver the address.

A Mayor Turns Slugger.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—The city council chamber was turned into a prize ring last night and Mayor Reed was the John L. Sullivan of the evening.

The Mayor felt insulted at something said by John M. Atherton and stated that if Atherton meant that he was guilty of buying votes he lied. Atherton snatchbd up a drinking glass and threw it at the Mayor, who, with a heavy cane pounded Atherton over the head, bringing much blood. When quiet was restored, Dr. Bullock, president of the Board of Councilmen, reprimanded the Mayor and the latter made at him, striking him with his fist, but doing no damage. Charles Kremar, wharf-master, then took a hand and knocked the Mayor down with a chair. The row was finally ended, but considerable blood had been spilled, but no serious damage done. This is the fifth fight in which Mayor Reed has been since his election three years ago.

CLEANED OUT THE BANK.

A CONNECTICUT CASHIER SPECULATED WITH THE FUNDS.

Loss Not Less Than $75,000, and Possibly $150,000—He Had Apparently Led an Upright Life—Other Concerns Involved.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 12.—United States District Attorney Stanton and United States Marshal Bates went to Stafford yesterday and arrested Edward S. Hicks, cashier of the Stafford National bank, for an alleged defalcation of $75,000, said to have been used in personal speculation. Hicks was invested in the stock of the bank. Hubbard and Farmer matter. Hicks heretofore has borne an unimpeachable character and has been a prominent man of the town. He is 35 years old. Hicks was brought to Norwich yesterday and arraigned before United States Commissioner Tiffney.

In the same building with the Stafford National bank, which had a certified capital and surplus of $255,000, was the Stafford Springs Savings bank, with a capital of about $77,000. The savings bank was a stockholder in the national bank to the amount of about $60,000. Hicks was also secretary and treasurer of the savings bank. He absconding $72,000 for his own private speculation, and it is thought that when the outstanding drafts are returned it will run the figures of his shortage to about $150,000. If this be true the savings bank is ruined, and the majority of the stock of the national bank will be wiped out, necessitating its suspension. The bank has a surplus fund of $30,000 in addition, according to false entries, so that it is almost impossible from the mass of confusion to ascertain a fact.

Senator Thomas Forman says: "When I examined the Stafford National bank I discovered that check had been drawn in favor of Hicks, cashier, on the Third N. S. national bank of Springfield, Mass., to the amount of $40,000. I then suspected something was wrong, and upon further investigation discovered that the cashier had made away with the cash.

The exact amount of the deficit can be ascertained only when the checks that have been drawn from New York and Boston banks are presented and statements rendered by the banks. The total loss to the institution will not exceed $75,000, and Hicks will have cash enough to cover the deficiency. The capital stock of the bank is $200,000 and the surplus $40,000, while the undivided profits are $15,000.

A large number of false entries appear on the books, consisting of overstatements of amounts due the bank from its New York and Boston correspondents.

The papers charge R. S. Hicks with having embezzled $50,000, and with having made a forgery showing as due from the National Bank of Redemption of the city of Boston the sum of $55,324.83, whereas the amount thus due on that date was only $5,000.

The cashier was found in the bank at the time of his arrest, and, although he had previously made a straightforward confession of his misdemeanors, he appeared somewhat embarrassed. The penalty for such an offense is imprisonment for not less than five nor more than ten years, and the term of the United States district court will be held in Hartford on the first day of December next, and if the accused is bound over after the preliminary hearing, the case will go before the grand jury.

The Vermont Lumber company, of which Hicks was treasurer, with a capital of $70,000, is involved to an extent unknown. The latest investigation shows that the bank is practically ruined, having only $11,000 in cash on hand in the vault.

Hicks was born in Tolland, Conn., and has lived about twenty years in Stafford, which he has aided in building up to its present flourishing condition. He was an influential member of the Episcopal church and was in every sense a public spirited citizen. He has been connected with the bank since 1872. The Stafford Agricultural society, of which he has been one jury for many years, it is also believed, will be badly involved.

FUNNY STORY ABOUT A KEY.

Why the Government of the United States Once Suspended Payment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The quartermaster general's office has been removed from the building on the southeast corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street to the new state, war and navy building. The premises vacated will be changed into a hotel, and no work is done for an addition to a row of old buildings on Pennsylvania avenue is to be torn down. The row is very old, though still substantial. It includes No. 1424 Pennsylvania avenue, and in that building was once the treasury of the United States. There was no surplus then, as there is now, and the balance of the government were kept in a vault which was locked with a key as large as the key of a bastile. The treasurer lives several miles out in the country, and beyond the reach of any will except every evening. One day, owing to inclement weather or sickness, he did not come to town. At least he was not there in time, and the government of the United States had to suspend payment until the next morning.

Four Counties Swept by Flames.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—In the past four days forest fires have been raging in Sonoma, Alameda, San Mateo and Santa Cruz counties, all in the vicinity of the Bay of San Francisco. Reports from various towns in these counties say the fire is raging fiercer than ever. In Alameda thirteen miles have been swept clean. Several fine farms have been wiped out of existence. The grain is covered with canvasses of all kinds of dead animals. In San Mateo several bridges and the public school house have been destroyed. In Santa Cruz two box mills have been destroyed. The fire has swept valuable farms out of existence and thousands of cords of wood have been consumed. From Sonoma comes the worst report. The flames have travelled ten miles in the past twenty-four hours and devastated everything in their path. Many families have been made homeless.

Appointment of a Receiver.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A receiver has been appointed for the United Secret Telephone company, which was incorporated in 1880, with an authorized capital of $5,000,000, to operate the J. Harris Rogers telephone.

BANKERS TALK OF THE SURPLUS.

Prominent Financiers Give Their Views on an Important Subject.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—The American Bankers' association opened its annual meeting at the Grand Opera house here yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. About 300 representatives of the leading financial institutions of the country were present. Chairman Logan C. Murray, of New York, called the association to order.

John J. Knox, ex-comptroller of the United States treasury, delivered an address on the surplus and the public debt. M. Knox gave a comprehensive history of the American public debt from the time of the Revolution to the present and of the present surplus in financial circles. He dwelt at length upon the different theories advanced to account for the surplus.

Beriah Wilkins, of Ohio, delivered an address on "How to Avoid the Accumulation of Surplus in the Future." He said the question could no longer be put aside, and that prompt, thorough and heroic measures must be adopted by the 51st congress, which assembles in December next. After citing various plans that had been suggested, including the distribution of the surplus among the states and appropriations for great public works, he said it must be done largely by a reduction in custom duties.

The following paper was adopted:

Whereas, The failure to agree upon a proper extradition treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the return of a class of criminals who seem to be ever found with us, and

Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of the country that the class of criminals known under the designation of defaulters and embezzlers have unanimity taken advantage of the present law in reaching the British possessions, where now, in Canada, there are large numbers residing;

Therefore, Resolved, That the executive committee are requested to appoint a committee on behalf of the association to represent to our state department the great evils now existing and to urge the early amendment of our extradition treaties with Great Britain so that the existing evils may be abated and better laws enacted to secure their swift return.

John Sherman, Comptroller Trenholm, Gen. William T. Sherman, William W. Crapo, H. K. Gould, J. Procter Knott, John A. Kasson, Carl Schurz, Secretary Fairchild and others, after which the convention adjourned. In the evening a reception was tendered the delegates at the Monongahela house.

MR. ROBERT GARRETT RESIGNS.

He is Simply Carrying Out a Long Cherished Plan.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13.—Robert Garrett's absence from the finance committee's meeting was explained yesterday when his resignation was presented to the board of directors at the monthly meeting. It was a surprise, for to the minds of some of the old directors and stockholders, who were friends of John W. Garrett, the father of the late president, Ohio railroad existing without a Garrett at the head of it seemed an impossibility.

The resignation, in which he stated that it had been his intention to withdraw from it when the time became opportune, was received, and resolutions of regret offered.

The finance committee's report recommended that no dividend be declared on the $15,000,000 common stock of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, the other directors were surprised. Several of them had not expected this. The recommendation was promptly adopted, as was also the authorization of the payment of a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. on the stock of the Washington branch. Mr. Burns will remain the head of the corporation at the wish of the Morgan syndicate for a month or two, and at the annual meeting Mr. Spencer will be elevated to the presidency. Mr. Garrett was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Col. Thomas. The rate of 5 per cent. dividend on the stock of the Washington branch does not in any way benefit the stockholders, as all the stock of the Washington branch is owned by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in Maryland.

A Branch Railroad to Watertown.

WATERTOWN, Oct. 13.—An agreement to give all freight and passenger business for a period of ten years to the New York Central Railroad company, if it will build a branch to this city, has been signed by nearly every manufacturer and business man in this place. The only condition is that a freight tariff no higher than that which they are now paying shall be charged by the new road. Many people here believe the road will be built, as those who have interested themselves in the matter to the extent of circulating the agreement say the Central people are considering the feasibility of building a road from Oswego to Alexandria bay. Should they do so they will receive substantial encouragement from this section.

Parting with the Deputy Marshal.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Gen. Lester B. Faulkner, ex-deputy United States marshal, was feted before Commissioner Fairchild and United States District Attorney Lockwood, yesterday afternoon, to arrange the matter of Mr. Faulkner's future. He, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Faulkner, the defendant's wife, and Mr. William Hamilton, of Dansville, qualified in the sum of $2,000 on his bond, and the defendant was excused from the guard company of the deputy marshal. Gen. Faulkner will appear before the grand jury at the December term of the United States court, to be held at Auburn on Nov. 15.

The Heroes of Three Wars.

BALDWINSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 13.—All the people of northwestern Onondaga took part in the dedication of the soldiers and sailors' monument here yesterday afternoon. The monument commemorates the heroes of three wars who lived in this region. After the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United States troops, Gen. Alvin P. Hovey, W. P. Goodelle, of Syracuse, delivered the oration, and the monument was unveiled.

TALE OF A BANK ROBBERY.

REVIVING AN OLD STORY OF A CASHIER'S DEATH IN 1878.

The Cruel Suspicions Under Which the Murdered Man's Family Suffered Cleared at Last—Startling Burglary—A Son Accuses His Father.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The World to-day publishes a twelve column confession of Charles Francis Stair, concerning the murder of Cashier J. W. Barron, of the National Bank of the Republic, of this city, on Feb. 22, 1878, and the robbery of the bank.

The robbery and the death of Barron caused a great sensation at the time, and the mystery attending the matter has never been cleared up. Barron was found on the evening of that holiday, lying bleeding and unconscious in the bank vault. The door of the vault was open, but the funds had not been touched, and only $200 in money and a $500 bond were missing from the cash drawer. The story was started that Barron had committed suicide to avoid exposure of some misconduct towards the bank. This was never proven, but the family of the dead man have suffered socially on account of the allegations.

The account says that a young man named Charles Francis Stair has now made a statement to be read in the case of Frank Stair, with Oliver Smith, alias Cromwell, a well known criminal, and four men named Andrews, Thompson, Scott and Keely, were the robbers. Stair gives the police minute impressions of all the locks in the building where the bank was located, and took advantage of the holiday, when the building was almost deserted, to gain entrance by false keys. On opening the vault room door David Stair found himself face to face with Barron, who had been in the cashier's room and returning with a scuttle in one hand and a shovel in the other. The vault door was unlocked, and the cashier was apparently arranging to count the funds and verify the accounts. Stair at once struck him several blows with a slungshot, rendering him unconscious, and then Cromwell came up and helped Stair gag and bind the senseless man. The robbers did not dare stay to ransack the vault. They took a key from Barron's pocket, opened the cash drawer and took the loose cash and hurriedly fled. The other members of the gang had been on watch in and near the building, and on learning that the cashier had been slain they decided to flee. Young Stair had waited a few miles away with a wagon. All found their way thither and drove to Solon, Me., where they separated. They did not know that Barron was dead until the next day. Young Stair heard all the details of the robbery from his father and Cromwell. He believes that some of the gang have since been freed from defalcation in order to divert suspicion from themselves. Young Stair has under arrest at Franklin, Me., where he made the confession. He was traced there by a detective from Maine. It is believed that the others involved will be captured.

FRANKLIN, Me., Oct. 13.—David L. Stair was arrested here yesterday for alleged complicity in the Dexter, Me., bank robbery. He was taken to Maine. He has resided here for several years. For many years. He formerly lived at Medway. It is not known here where he lived in 1878, when the crime was committed.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR PROCEEDINGS.

Approving the Blair Educational Bill and the Eight Hour Law.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—When the ninth day's session of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor was opened yesterday morning the delegates were treated to a neat little speech from General Master Workman Powderly, who congratulated the assembly upon the good work so far accomplished, and expressed his confidence in the wisdom and ability of the convention. A lengthy report from the committee on legislation was submitted and taken up by sections. The clause pledging the support of the Knights to the Blair educational bill and to a measure extending to letter carriers the provisions of the eight hour law was unanimously adopted.

The assembly also gave its seal of approval to the Forest bill, authorizing the settlement of lands under the homestead law, and allowing settlers to borrow $500 from the government, to be repaid in annual installments of $100, the loan to bear 3 per cent. interest. Another report from the same committee, which was adopted, declared that all government securities should be printed according to the highest standard of art, upon an improved hand roller press, and that all government building contracts should be prefaced with a stipulation that all wages should be paid in cash, at least once a month. Foran's bill on lake shipping was approved, after a motion to strike out the word "foreigners" from the measure had been defeated.

The recommendations in Mr. Powderly's message favoring public telephones and telegraphs, postal savings banks and the creation of a department of labor were concurred in and a resolution was adopted declaring that the legislation should be urged in the legislatures of every state as well as in congress.

The Right of Free Speech.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 13.—Ex-Governor Abbett summed up for the Union Hill Anarchists yesterday. He held that the Sunday meeting, which was dispersed by police, was lawful. It made no difference whether the speakers attended the meeting were Anarchists or not. All men have a right to meet and peaceably discuss public questions. He declared that if a policeman attacked a man without cause, the person attacked had a right to defend himself even to the point of killing the officer. This was not a question of whether Anarchism was right or wrong. It was a question of free speech, and free speech was a bulwark of American liberty.

Secretary Whitney's Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Secretary Whitney, in his forthcoming annual report, will give an elaborate description of all vessels now being constructed or about to be constructed for the navy. This will include the five great monitors, the cruisers, gunboats, the new class of torpedo vessels, the dispatch ship and cruiser, the pneumatic dynamite gunboat, and the torpedo boat. The total amount appropriated for them is $27,300,000. The ships will be ready, as a rule, within or next to be built or nearly completed, will make a fleet of over twenty vessels of modern type.

Lives Lost in a Gale.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Oct. 13.—The fishing schooner Ethel Swift, arrived from Grand banks, lost two of her crew in dories in the gale of Aug. 30. She spoke a French fishing brig from St. Malo, France, which had lost her entire crew except the captain, the cook and one boy.

To Defend the Anarchists.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—It was learned at the Knights of Labor office that P. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, had finally engaged to assist the general in presenting the case of the Chicago Anarchists before the United States supreme court.

THE PRESIDENTIAL JOURNEY.

Brief Visits at Various Cities, and Nothing but Sunshine.

OMAHA, Oct. 13.—President Cleveland's visit to this city was most opportune, and more people were enabled to see him during his stay of one hour and a half yesterday than at any other time that could have been selected. The grand marshal of the imperial Knights of Pythias, of Nebraska, was in session and many thousands of the Knights were in the city.

The presidential party arrived on time at 10:50 a. m. and left at 12:25 p. m. No demonstration beyond cheering, the waving of flags, bunting and handkerchiefs was indulged in. The president was the subjected to the indiscriminate hand shaking forced on him elsewhere.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 13.—The reception to the president and Mrs. Cleveland in this city yesterday is said to have been the warmest and most enthusiastic of any since the tour began. The train reached this city from Omaha at 4:05 p. m., and was announced by the ringing of bells, firing of cannon, blowing of whistles, and the shouts of 25,000 people who had gathered at the station. The wildest enthusiasm was shown by the people, and such a time was never seen in this city before.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13.—Amid the discordant shrieks of dozens of locomotives, the more or less musical notes of several bands, and the cheers of thousands of people, the presidential and matrimonial party alighted from their special train at the Union Station last evening. For hours an eager crowd had besieged the station, in the hope of catching a glimpse of the chief magistrate and his accomplished wife. As soon as the train came to a halt, its occupants were literally mobbed by the surging crowd amid a deafening din. The vehicles formed in line, and preceded by the Kansas City Light cavalry and the Flambeau club, moved up the bluff to Broadway and thence to the Coates house. All along the line of march the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. The sidewalks were crowded, and the overflow in the streets was so great that the cavalry was obliged to fall back close to the carriages. One policeman was pulled right off the line of march amid a deafening din. The vehicles formed in line, and preceded by the Kansas City Light cavalry and the Flambeau club, moved up the bluff to Broadway and thence to the Coates house. All along the line of march the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. The sidewalks were crowded, and the overflow in the streets was so great that the cavalry was obliged to fall back close to the carriages. One policeman was pulled right off the line of march amid a deafening din. The president and Mrs. Cleveland rode in a splendid barouche drawn by six gray horses. The president removed his hat as soon as he took his seat, and both he and Mrs. Cleveland acknowledged the greetings of the populace with repeated bows and smiles.

LADY BRASSEY NO MORE.

A Woman of Rare Talent in Many Fields Passes from the Scene.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A cablegram received from Cape Town yesterday announces that Lady Brassey died on Sept. 14, on board her yacht Sunbeam, from fever contracted on the Australian coast. She was buried at sea.

Lady Brassey was beyond question the foremost woman traveler of her time. Her medium stature, she carried herself with singular erectness, and both her robust physique and sun browned face bore testimony to a remarkably strong constitution and vigorous health.

Lady Brassey was married to Sir Thomas Brassey in 1865. She was an excellent horsewoman and often hunted with the East Sussex hounds.

Besides her "Voyage in the Sunbeam," which gave Lady Brassey her literary reputation, she previously wrote two books for private circulation, "The Flight of the Meteor" and "The Voyage in the Eothen."

Wanted to Be Imprisoned.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A deputation of unemployed workingmen waited upon Justice Ingham at the Bow street police court yesterday and informed him that they desired to be imprisoned as disturbers of the peace rather than be forced to go to the workhouse as paupers. Justice Ingham, after a brief parley with the deputation, said: "You don't deserve compassion. Leave the court." The deputation left the room and, forming again in procession, marched to the Mansion house accompanied by a strong force of police. The lord mayor refused to receive them and they were forced to retire, shouting their denunciations of turtle fed officials and despotic capitalists.

Mexican Bandits Killed.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—A dispatch from Brownsville, Tex., says: Private advices state that the ranchmen on the Mexican side have killed five of the abductors of Senor Berrera in Stark county and at once killed them. Senor Berrera, it will be remembered, was captured by the bandits near the ranch on the Texas side of the river and held eight days, until $1,500 was paid by his family for his release. The men who have been instrumental in killing the particulars of a plot to capture Mr. Yturna, of this city, one of the most prominent merchants and ranch owners of the frontier.

The Majority Report Acceptable.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 13.—The railroad committee of the senate submitted its report on the Hazen bill yesterday afternoon. The Crime of Street Preaching.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—In the superior court yesterday the case of the Rev. W. T. Davis, charged with a violation of the city ordinance in preaching on the common without a license, was disposed of, the defendant being fined $50 and costs each on four complaints. INSANE ASYLUM ON FIRE.

SIX WOMEN ASPHYXIATED OR TRAMPLED TO DEATH.

Two of the Dead Unrecognizable—Three Others Badly Injured—Origin of the Conflagration—Heroic Conduct of the Physicians and Attendants.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 13.—The northern Ohio insane asylum, near the southern limits of the city, was the scene of a horror tonight. While 350 of the inmates, in charge of the employes, were being marched to the dining room, the cry of fire was raised. Stifling smoke swept through the room an instant later and flames shot up all around. There was a stampede, a wild rush of insane people for places of safety. The poor unreasoning creatures shrieked with fear and scrambled for the doors, but became bewildered in the smoke and were soon as helpless. The brave and cool headed attendants, groping amid the smoke and flames, succeeded in rescuing all but six of their charges. These, all women, were either asphyxiated or trampled to death, and their lifeless bodies were found upon the floor after the fire had been subdued. Three others were badly injured. Two of the dead are unrecognizable. The names of the others are Mrs. Margaret Pitts, Miss Jennie R. Hall, Miss Eveline Scribner, Miss Clarissa Cottle. Some of the injured are Miss Caroline Knowlton, cousin of Charlotte, perhaps fatally; Miss Mary Ogle and Miss Jane Block.

The fire started in the laundry and attendants' quarters, which adjoin the chapel, and was soon gotten under control. The loss will be large. Both the asylum and the carriages of the physicians and attendants the loss of life must have been very great, and but for the prompt action of the firemen the flames would have spread to the adjacent buildings with the great main buildings, which are among the finest in the state.

THE RAILROAD DISASTER AT KOUT.

The Officials Refuse to Furnish Further Information.

KOUT, Ind., Oct. 13.—It is about settled that no one will ever know definitely how many persons perished in the Chicago and Atlantic wreck. The estimates continue to vary from thirty down to ten.

The list of dead now includes the following:

The injured are: Dr. Charles Wright, Mrs. E. Ayres, Engineer Dorsey and Fireman Wright, Conductor Cole. None of the injured are in a serious condition, and are doing well.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Oct. 13.—Testimony before the coroner here at the horrible collision on the Chicago and Atlantic road, near Kout, began with the deposition of J. B. Parks, conductor of the passenger train. Parks is a healthy, strong constitution and vigorous health.

Wanted to Be Imprisoned.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A deputation of unemployed workingmen waited upon Justice Ingham at the Bow street police court yesterday and informed him that they desired to be imprisoned as disturbers of the peace rather than be forced to go to the workhouse as paupers. Justice Ingham, after a brief parley with the deputation, said: "You don't deserve compassion. Leave the court." The deputation left the room and, forming again in procession, marched to the Mansion house accompanied by a strong force of police. The lord mayor refused to receive them and they were forced to retire, shouting their denunciations of turtle fed officials and despotic capitalists.

Mexican Bandits Killed.

ST. Senor Berrera, it will be remembered, was captured by the bandits near the ranch on the Texas side of the river and held eight days, until $1,500 was paid by his family for his release. The Striking New York Printers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The pressmen and feeders employed in DeVinne & Co.'s printing house, where The "Century" and other magazines are published, quit work at noon yesterday and joined the compositors. These men struck on account of the refusal of the book and job typesetters in their demand to make all printing bills "card offices." They were followed by others of the same trade last evening. The pressmen on Town's directory office, and on A. D. Little's publishing house left work, to remain away until all of the demands of all are acceded to.

WOMAN AND HOME.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO THE CARE OF THE KITCHEN FLOOR.

Cooking and Temperance—A Useful Garment—Married Women's Lives—Some Simple Remedies—Selfish Parents—Need of Hygiene—Household Hints.

The care of the kitchen floor is something in which all good housewives are interested, for a kitchen is never attractive where this has been neglected. No matter how neat and orderly the rest of the room may be, if the floor is not clean the room never looks tidy. It is said that a nicely polished stove and a clean kitchen floor are the badges of good housewives, and, however true this may be, certain it is that the care of these articles goes a good way toward giving to the room a tidy appearance.

Many women, in washing a white, unstained floor, use for that use the hot suds from the boiler that is left after getting through the family washing, which is a very poor plan, indeed, for the tendency of suds is to darken the color of the boards and not thoroughly rinse off the clear water afterward. As these women seldom think of rinsing the boards, the floors of their kitchens always have a dark, unclean-lived for appearance.

To keep a floor nice and clean is not such very hard work if one goes about it properly. Be sure to have a clean flannel cloth to begin with, for those made like flannel for baby's purpose and old flannel underwear is just the thing. Hot water has long been the standing rule for washing floors, and with plenty of soap and energetic use of the scrubbing brush the floor can be made as white as it is possible to whitening the floors; but the best authorities now say cold water is the best. Use a pail of clean, cold water put in two tablespoonfuls of ammonia. Sweep thoroughly before commencing to wash the floor. If the floor is very dirty some good soap can be used, but usually the ammonia is sufficient. No scrubbing brush is needed, for the ammonia more than takes its place; and really, if this liquid never did anything but banish the scrubbing brush, it has accomplished something for which all womankind should be thankful, for of all the articles in the household for making drudgery, the scrubbing brush stands at the head.

The rag under the stove should be thoroughly cleaned before the rest of the floor is touched. Begin the floor at one corner of the room, and, if convenient, work toward the door. Use plenty of water, and only wash as small a piece of the floor at a time as you can conveniently without doing much reaching. Have a dry, clean cloth especially for wiping, and always wipe down the length and with the grain of the boards. If wiped across the boards the floor is apt to be streaky. In washing each piece wash beyond the joining line, so that when done there will not be a dark mark between them, which there surely will be if this is not done carefully.

Some women prefer using a mop for this work, while others declare that they cannot use one, and would much rather go down on their knees to do it. For a woman who uses it properly a mop is the best thing for washing the kitchen floor, or, in fact, any floor. Any woman who uses clean, soft cloths and plenty of ammonia water, and good soap, if desired, in mopping the floor, will have just as nice, clean floor as her sister next door who does it in the old way, besides saving a great deal of strength and time.—Boston Budget.

Good Cooking and Temperance.

The condition of the poor in so called civilized countries is for the most part wretched chiefly because the masses know nothing of the proper methods of preparing food, or of the selection of it. They, as a rule, waste their food, and its extravagant and injudicious purchases, and then they spoil half they buy through their culinary incapacity. Out of these spoiled meals—out of all this indigestible, unpalatable food; out of the drugs which such barbarous cooking breeds—arises the craving for drink which drives thousands and tens of thousands to the saloon for comfort and consolation.

It may confidently be asserted that not 10 per cent. of the men who drink do so solely because they relish liquor. When such a positive love of drink exists it is generally a symptom of disease. Men are led to drink or driven to it by external conditions most often, and in this is another reason for the misery and than the miserable dieting which is the common lot of the poor. The man who knows that he has a wholesome, savory meal awaiting him at home is not likely to linger at the saloon. The life which grows up about the latter place is not a natural one. The customers of the bar seek that place as an alternative quite as often as because they like it. They are fugitives from discomfort, from bad and repulsive food, from dirt and evil surroundings; not sed dom from the foul moods bred in their womenkind by misery and ruin and beer. Women are driven to drink by the hopelessness of looking at home for their husbands and children. Their ignorance of cooking and housekeeping thwarts all their efforts, and they attribute the neglect in which they vegetate to their poverty, and fall back on the saloon as a source of forgetfulness.

Teach them or their daughters to cook, and at once light is let in on their darkened lives. They then hold a talisman which will bring their husbands from the rum shop, and keep them at home, which is more. They can then establish a happy life at their own circle, and the nucleus fixed, new means of extending the wholesome influence will develop of themselves. The whole character of the average working man on the improved, elevated, sweetened, by this one instrumentality. Teach the girls to cook, and an immense deal of friction will be removed from the domestic life. Temperance and wholesome food are mutual allies and partners, and bad food is the greatest incentive to drink that can be named. By all means let cooking in the common schools be heartily approved and supported.—New York Tribune.

A Useful Garment.

A pretty apron is one of usual shape, pleated into a waistband, with a full back or plastron front, gathered at the top or bottom. The apron is left the whole width of the goods at the lower part, and a small slope cut off giving it a full sweep at the under line edge, until at the waist the gore cutting is about three inches wide. A few plaits are fixed in the waist of the apron at each side, making a rigid holding-in for the center. Stitch on a two and one-half inch band for the waist, sew first on one side and then on the other, so that no rough edges are left. Cut a piece for the bib, turn up the lower edge on the right side and run in two gathering threads. Draw up to about six inches in length, and sew the edge to the lower edge of the apron band at the back, stitching the upper edge of the band to the bib, so as to hide the upper row of gathering thread. Turn down the upper edge of the bib two inches on the wrong side and make two rows of stitching about one-half inch below the edge, so as to leave a little frill above. Add a little band of stuff, six inches long and inch deep; fix it at the back, and arrange the gatherings on this, drawing up to fit the band in length. Sew pick up many items that will injure them in the future. Do you want your boy to grow up pure, honest, sober and industrious? Begin your work in the home at home, and keep at it. Good laws and good schools can never take the place of the old-fashioned family training.

We cannot afford to have a lot of tobacco hearts and congested brains pushed into society and business circles. The great problems and gigantic concerns of this age demand men with the best developed brains and physical and mental health. We must have them at any cost. If they cannot be produced under our present system, let us go back in some degree to the old common sense simplicity of our fathers. It will not hurt the youngsters; it will be their salvation in more ways than one.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Knowledge of Sewing.

A generation ago it was thought shocking if a girl married having no knowledge of sewing. Instruction in how to cut and make her own underclothing, and to do plain and fine mending of all kinds, was esteemed an important part of a young woman's education. Although sewing machines were practically unknown, most mothers made all their own and their children's and husband's underwear, and every thing in their line in great excellent supersided home sewing, it is probably cheaper for a woman to buy garments ready-made than to spend her time in fashioning them herself. But, even if it does, it seems the ability to do the work should an emergency arise that would compel her to attempt it. Many a girl has married in utter ignorance of any sort of mending, darning and repairing garments, and has been forced to teach herself with infinite pains to fashion the tiny garments in the baby's outfit.

Even if one has no skill in cutting and fitting, she should at least perfect herself in all branches of mending, from laying a patch by the thread to darning stockings well. The last is an accomplishment owned by few. Nearly any nursery maid will profess herself fully competent to mend stockings, whose darning in the shape of twisted bobs, knotted thread, and pulled fabric would disgrace the merest tyro in the art.—Christine Terhune Herrick in Harper's Bazar.

Buying to Good Advantage.

"Never buy anything because it is cheap," was one of Poor Richard's maxims, and a good one, too. This does not forbid that forethought that looks forward into the future, and selects what one knows can soon be used to good advantage. At the end of a season dressmakers and tailors often mark remnants at broken lots of standard goods may be obtained for a very low figure often, and if one has children or can forecast her own needs for their materials she may often buy to great advantage. Care should always be taken, however, to purchase standard goods, and not those made for the use of one season, which will be sure to look very much out of place the next.—Boston Globe.

Need of Hygiene.

Besides being well ventilated, our houses should be full of light and sunshine. Floors should be kept clean and walls and ceilings frequently freshened. Sleeping rooms should be furnished with rugs instead of carpets, that they may be thoroughly cleaned each week. Chamber utensils and crockery should be kept scrupulously clean, and when possible the windows of sleeping rooms should be left open during the day and nearly or quite closed at night. In cold weather an opening of an inch at the top and bottom of a window is sufficient. Persons should never sit or sleep in a draught of air.

Every sleeping room should have outside window, opening at top and bottom, and sunshine at some part of the day; also means of ventilation. It would be better for people to live in tents the whole year round than in some of the damp, dark places in which they are huddled in our cities, where are no possibilities of cleanliness or pure air.—Mrs. E. G. Cook, M. D., in Democrat's.

Gardening For Women.

That unhappy divorce between Eve and Eden has surely not been handed down to her daughters. For this the master to this end than the miserable dieting which is the common lot of the poor. The man who knows that he has a wholesome, savory meal awaiting him at home is not likely to linger at the saloon. The life which grows up about the latter place is not a natural one. The customers of the bar seek that place as an alternative quite as often as because they like it. The Upright Piano.

Don't place an upright piano with its back to the wall. Set it across a corner, the back to the room. Place a mirror in the back, draped on either side with embroidered Oriental muslin. Groups collection of handsomely potted Oriental plants in front of this, and you will have converted an essentially ugly piece of furniture into a "thing of beauty and a joy forever" to everybody but your parlor maid.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Napoleon's Tribute.

Perfect love is ideal happiness; both are equally visionary, fugitive, mysterious, inexplicable. Love should be the occupation of the idle man, the distraction of the warrior, the rock of the sovereign.—Napoleon.

by hand and arrange to set well. The hems on the apron and the upper edge and sides of the bib can be trimmed with work or lace, or torchon insertions, feather stitch, etc., can be employed to decorate. A neat way to fasten the bibs is to stitch two narrow bands about an inch wide, and fasten them at the back of the two upper corners of the bib, pass them over the shoulder, and fasten to a button of the dress about half way down the back. When the dress is not fastened behind, cut the bands long enough to cross in front, and sew on two buttons, placed one each side of the button that fastens the waist of the apron. This apron looks very pretty when made in black silk, and is trimmed with lace, or bib bibridged with lace and the lower edge gathered and sewed outside the band, so that a full frill of lace falls below the waist. Bows of ribbon or ribbon waistbands are added. With an apron to match a morning gown, the latter will last clean half as long again.—Philadelphia Times.

Lives of Married Women.

American women marry too early and live too seclusive lives. They leave school out of school before they have settled down as wives and housekeepers. The cares of a family are devolving on them before they have gained strength to properly perform them. One reason that our female ancestors lasted longer and had better health was that their minds were not so much hurt nor the nerves so highly strung. They had the full use of their powers. Their physical health was better; their constitutions stronger. Those that had not much mental activity generally had sufficient physical exertion to counterbalance it.

Most women know not enough of the laws that govern health and of the diseases most liable to befall children. How often do we see previsions manifested by a sickly wife and mother that, by a knowledge of the laws of health and strict observance of them, might be strong and healthy, and fitted for her responsible and arduous duties! The majority of married women, with families of small children, need more relaxation and a greater variety of innocent recreation. Many of them become so chained down in body and mind by the mention of household cares and labor that their health and spirits sink beneath the load, and in appearance, strength and spirits they grow prematurely old. Some housewives suffer much annoyance from bad servants, and some perform drudgery for which they are unfitted. The indoor labor performed by many American women is appalling. What affects the body influences the mind. When one is worn and irritated it acts on the other. English women usually have better servants and more help than we have. They are trained thoroughly for the special departments of house and kitchen work. English women walk and ride more, marry later, and have by nature better constitutions.—Virginia Penny in Courier-Journal.

Young Housekeepers Should Know

That buttermilk will take out mildew stains.

That bottles are easily cleaned with hot water and fine coal ashes.

That cut apples and old tablecloths make the very best of glass cloths.

That it is well to keep large pieces of charcoal in damp corners and in cellars.

That three teaspoonfuls of kerosene put in the wash boiler will greatly assist in the last rubbing.

That if the hands are rubbed on a stick of celery after peeling onions, the smell will be entirely removed.

That nuts will not warp or crack open if the process is taken to put a pail of water into each, directly after use.

That chloride of lime should be scattered, at least once a week, in the sinks and in all places where sewer gas is liable to lurk.

That it is an excellent plan to have a penny bank, to be opened once a year, when a book or picture is bought for the contents may be used in any way desired.

That one pound of fine tobacco put into a pail of boiling water and allowed to partially cool, when put on to paint with a soft brush, will brighten the colors and remove surface dirt.

That turpentine and black varnish put into any good stove polish, is the blacking used by hardware dealers for polishing heating stoves. If properly put on it will last throughout a season.

That table linens should always be hemmed by hand. Not only do they look more dainty, but there is never a streak of dirt under the edge after being laundried as with machine sewing.—Mrs. W. H. Maher in Good Housekeeping.

Some Simple Remedies.

For a sore throat, cut slices of fat, boneless bacon; pepper thickly and tie around the throat with a flannel cloth.

When stung by a bee or a wasp, make a paste of common earth and water, put on the place at once and cover with a cloth.

For a cold on the chest, a flannel rag rung out in boiling water and sprinkled with turpentine, laid on the chest, gives the greatest relief.

When a felon first begins to make its appearance, take a lemon, cut off one end, put the finger in, and the longer it is kept there the better.

For a cough, boil one ounce of flaxseed in a pint of water, strain and add a little honey, one ounce of rock candy, and the juice of three lemons; mix and boil well. Drink as hot as possible.

Often after cooking a meal a person will feel tired and have no appetite; for this best time egg and milk light, and a little milk and sugar, and season with nutmeg. Drink half an hour before eating.

For a burn or scald, make a paste of common baking soda and water, apply at once and cover with a linen cloth. When the skin is broken, apply the white of an egg with a feather; this gives instant relief, as it keeps the air from the flesh.

At the first signs of a ring round, take a cupful of wood ashes, put in a pan with a quart of cold water, boil ten minutes, then put your finger in the pan, keep it there until the water begins to boil, or as long as it can be borne. Repeat once or twice if necessary.—L. L. in Good Housekeeping.

Selfish Parents to Blame.

A generation or two ago plain American fathers and mothers took it for certain the fanciful idea that the state should take charge of every body's education, morals and habits. Every one of them objected it was their duty to keep an eye on their boys, and in cases of misbehavior they resorted without compunction to a tough hickory or a barrel stave. Now, it is the fashion for young, old Georges and Georgianas to say that the father who has had been told that his sixteen-year-old boy was in danger of having a congested brain from the smoking of cigarettes, he would have rushed the youngster out into the back yard and salled into him with a stick. In those days people didn't appeal to societies to do their parental duty for them. They simply made a family affair of it and straightened it out satisfactorily.

The cause of all this is that there could be no great improvement in morals until we restored the thorough and efficient system of family education and government which formerly prevailed. What we must apply directly to this cigarette evil. If boys are to be allowed to be their own masters, choose their companions and dispose of their time, we may rest assured that the majority will

What Pleases Him.

Blinks—Ah! How do do, Jenks? Rocking-horse famous, I see.

Jenks—Well, my name has been in the papers a good deal lately.

"So I have noticed. How do you like it?"

"It makes no change in my daily life except that my mail is overburdened with liver pad circulars."—Omaha World.

He Had Been There.

Robber—Your money or your life!

Victim—Well, look here, you may shoot if you like, but I'm cleaned out; I have just brought my family from the seaside and—

Robber—All right, young man; I know what that means. Pass right on!—Life.

A Trick of Speech.

Tricks of speech grown into mannerisms often betray people into blunders absurd enough. One instance of this comes from a town in Maine, where dwelt a man who qualified his reply to every question with the word "handy" twisted into some sort of a conditional rinse. It was even asserted that he proposed to the lady who became his wife by declaring "I would like to marry her "if she could make it handy," but this very likely is a fabrication of invidious gossips.

Calling recently at a house, of which the late master was lying unburied in the parlor, the visitor was asked if he would like to see the remains of his old friend.

"Well, yes," he answered, "that is, I'd like to see them if you've got 'em 'round handy. If you haven't, it's no matter."—Boston Courier.

What He Meant.

"Witness," said a lawyer in the police court the other day, "you speak of Mr. Smith being well off. Is he worth $5,000?"

"No, sah."

"Two thousand?"

"No, sah; he hain't worf twenty-five."

"Then how is he well off?"

"Got a wife who s'ports de hull fam'ly, sah!"—Detroit Free Press.

Rotation in Office.

Omaha Man—Will you reopen your summer hotel next season?

Summer Landlord—I shall be here, but not as the lessee. I have obtained a job as head waiter.

"Eh! You don't say so! Who will be the lessee then?"

"The head waiter I had this season."—Omaha World.

Not So Serious, After All

Colored Doctor—I guess it ain't so serious, sandy; will a little cure I reckon de old man 'll pull through all right. Aunty—Thank heaben, doctah! I was awful 'sheered, case dar wasn't a cent in the house fo' to buy enny mo'nin' wif.—Springfield Homestead.

On the Right Road.

Stranger—Will you kindly direct me to the hall where the Anarchists meet?

Anarchist—Yes, mine friend, you will be welcome.

Stranger—You are anxious to get there as quick as possible?

"Yes, I will but wrath ven you dink of dese things. You make bombs, eh?"

"Oh, no."

"Wot you vant mad dot hall, eh?"

"I am superintendent of a lunatic asylum, and am hunting for an escaped patient."—Omaha World.

The Kind Hearted Cur.

Tramp—Your landlord contemplates a trip the ugly cur eventually, I hear?

Jones—Yes, he will visit quite a number of the great western cities.

"So I answered. One of them, I see, is Chicago."

"Yes."

"I have long desired to testify my appreciation at your persistent, and if it is not too late I think I will forward him one of my better own sides."—Omaha World.

None in Stock.

Grocer (to new boy)—What did that lady want, James?

New Boy—Salt mackerel. I told her we hadn't any.

Grocer—Great Scott, James! I told you we had a dozen kits come in fresh this morning!

New Boy—Yes, sir, but she didn't want 'em fresh; she wanted 'em salt.—New York Sun.

No Ear for Music.

Sister Clara practising at the piano—Wasn't that young Mr. Featherly, Bobby, who spoke to you on the street just now?

Bobby—Yes, he's going home to dinner.

Sister Clara, simulating indifference—Did he have anything particular to say?

Bobby—He asked me if that was the piano tuner in the parlor.—New York Sun.

A Kinder Mucus Never Lived.

Passenger on front platform—That sign one looks like a pretty good horse.

Driver—A kinder animal never lived.

Passenger—Kind? How so?

Driver—He kinder bites and kinder kicks and kinder wants to run once in a while.—New York Star.

The Wild West Here.

Fired with feelings that foam in their frenzy,
Filled with a fury consumed and consuming,
The name in her goodness of wild indignation
Pours down on thy head; her wild tempest of song
With a whirlwind of passion and power and pathos;
With a melodic zeal and inebriate will;
In a coherent torrent of libation and fashion,
She hushes the bare knee of bold Buffalo Bill.

For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertising rates pay better than those of all the other papers pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all that upon its columns daily testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

JOTTINGS.

It was 11:15 o'clock last night before the opera of Erminie was concluded in Music Hall.

—Mr. Howard, the vocal instructor, has an announcement among our special notices to-day.

—Detective "Edward J. Murphy" evidently believes in the doctrine of returning good for evil. He followed it out yesterday.

—There will be a sociable given by the Young People's Association of the Crescent avenue church, this evening, in the church parlors.

—Since heavy frosts have been the feature of the night, the gardens around the residences of those who have not yet taken their plants in-doors look ghastly with gossamers and lines.

—The Junior Order, United American Mechanics, held a business meeting in the Sons of Temperance rooms on East Front street at eight o'clock last evening and transacted routine business only.

—John Kenney, the North avenue boot and shoe dealer, favored his customers this morning with selections ground out of the musical instrument that caused so much merriment at St. Mary's fair last night. Clerk M. J. Whalen turned the crank.

—The Presbyterian Synod of New Jersey will open its convention at Asbury Park Monday, Oct. 17, at 11 p. m. All Presbyterian ministers and elders of the State are invited to be present. The Synod will be in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

—Mr. C. T. Kissam has resumed the regular sessions of the Workers' Training Class of the Y. M. C. A. The meetings are held each Sunday morning from nine to quarter after ten o'clock. Young men desiring greater efficiency in Christian service will find this an important means, it is said, of acquiring the same.

—A sixteen-mile bicycle race will be contested by Frank L. C. Martin, Frank D. Hedinger, Marion Ackerman and George W. Morrison, of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, to-morrow. The course is from New Market to East New Brunswick and thence to New Brooklyn, the prize for the winner being a gold medal.

—Alden B. Bigelow of Cranford has been named by the Prohibition Executive Committee for State Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William B. Wood. The committee have also nominated Charles W. Bleecker of Linden for Coroner instead of Dr. Joel Connard of Cranford, who also declined to be a candidate.

—The officers, directors and committeemen of the Y. M. C. A., upon invitation of Mr. C. T. Kissam, will meet at his residence on Dunellen avenue Saturday afternoon from four to eight o'clock. Let all who have not already signified their intention to be present, arrange to devote at least a portion of their time to this important gathering.

—The New Jersey Cycling and Athletic Association of Roseville have for some time past been circulating a petition among the various clubs of the State, requesting subscriptions to a fund to enable the Roseville Association to pay off a five-hundred-dollar mortgage on their track, which is due to-day. If the money is not forthcoming the grounds will be sold.

—The Emerald Benevolent Association connected with St. Mary's church held their regular October meeting last evening, with President John Sheahan in the chair. After the transaction of routine business the candidate for membership was initiated into the Order and Daniel C. Nolan, William White and John McCarthy were elected as delegates to the State Convention to be held at Perth Amboy, on the 25th instant. The meeting then adjourned.

—Tom H. Parkinson, a former special policeman who has a shanty up on Johnston's drive, called on us to-day and says that the drunken row between some young men, which occurred last Sunday there, was several hundred yards from his place, and that the young men were from Scotch Plains. He also claims that no liquor is sold at his place. There are others who state the contrary, and give the place a very bad name. If there has been or is liquor sold there the court is now in session at Somerville, and the constables should do their duty. That is what the people pay them for.

—On September 8th, the saloon-organ published a long tirade of abuse of Detective "Murphy" on the statement of a drunken night operator at Dunellen named Voucher, and said derisively of "Murphy" for his great services in the capture of the Plainfield "Brutes," "Pay the unfortunate police and let him go." Time seems to have fully vindicated "Murphy," for it was this same Voucher as we recorded yesterday, whose life was saved by this same "Murphy" quickly dragging him from beneath horses' feet, where he had fallen too drunk to go further. Just as Mr. "Murphy" happened along, and it is from such sources the vilification of "Murphy" sprang; but isn't that the nature of the "animals"? Apropos, why are such persons as Voucher allowed to be telegraphic operators at railroad stations? What proof is there that he will not be the cause of some fearful railroad accident some night? People will feel timid about traveling on the railroad if it appears that the company is so careless about whom it employs. The matter should be promptly investigated.

—A correspondent wants to know who first sported a surname.

The songs of "Erminie" will soon be like the "Mikado" songs—chestnuts.

—Now all the hunters have had a taste of woodcock they are anxiously awaiting the rabbit season and a light fall of snow.

—Ezisull claims that he sells the best merino underwear for the price; for men, women and children. See his new advertisement.

—The last of the mission services now being conducted at Grace Church will be held for men only, Monday night at eight o'clock. Dr. Van Dewater, the missionary, will preach on "Purity."

—Constable Smith was arrested this afternoon by Policeman Lynch, on complaint of Chief Dodd, charged with having gambling on his premises on Aug. 20th, 21st, 27th and 28th, and was held by Justice Nash under bonds. He will be given a hearing Monday at 2 p. m.

—Two colored men with banjos gathered quite a crowd on Somerset street last night. They began to sing, but were told by a constable to "drv up and move on." Their brunette mettle quivered with indignation, but when the constable threw back his coat and exposed his shield they stole silently away.

—Erminie was played to a large audience at Stillman Music Hall last night. The company was got up for the road, and were a rather a tough-looking lot, with but few exceptions, but the people saw Erminie, and those who saw not the original were delighted, the others disappointed, but all agreed that the scenic display was beautiful.

—Two "Bi" boys rode to Rahway last evening and stayed till about 5:30 before starting for home. Of course at that time it was getting dark, and they had no lanterns. Their return trip was hardly enjoyable. They lost their way and subsequently stumbled upon a road covered with four or five inches of sand—which, even if it was hard to ride through, broke the force of their headers. They arrived in Plainfield, however, in time to go to the theatre.

—A good joke was recently played on a young man who is very superstitious. Some flour was sprinkled on his pillow and a small dinner bell fastened to the springs of his bed, and when he retired, if he stirred, the bell began tinkling, which so frightened him that actually he laid awake and trembling during the night, afraid to get up to see what was the cause of the mysterious noise. In the morning he was guyed about his pale face, and was escorted to his room and shown what it was that had frightened him. He followed more freely and said, "I thought it was Mephistopheles."

The Close of the Fair.

St. Mary's Fair closed last night. As usual, it was well attended. The list of prizes drawn is as follows:

Sodality table—Set of china, Miss Gussie Loughlin; set of silver, Nora Callahan; silver cake basket, John Bannon; lemonade set, George Force; pin cushion, Dr. Boone; statue, Mrs. Barry; quilt, Mr. Jones.

Dramatic Association table—Castor, John O'Reilly; doll, Patrick Lawlor; pictures, Emma McIntyre; pond lily plaques, Mrs. M. Egany.

St. Mary's T. A. B. table—Preach clock Dr. Boone; ennary, Sarah McNally; pair of blankets, Martin Roth; umbrella, J. C. Watson; boy's suit of clothes, Katie Morris; barrel of flour, R. H. Burt of Newark.

Rosary table—Dinner set of 100 pieces, Mrs. Dr. McElroy of 140 Sixth street, New York City. She will present this to the Rev. F. E. Smyth of St. Mary's rectory. Handkerchief case, Maggie McBride; silver cake basket, Alice Ennis.

After the fair the Dramatic Association procured musicians and serenaded the Misses Carney of West Third street.

North Plainfield Republicans.

The Republicans of North Plainfield met in the basement of the public school building last night for the purpose of electing delegates to the convention to be held at Somerville, Wednesday, Oct. 19. Charles Place was elected Chairman and H. Newton Spencer was placed in the Secretary's chair.

The delegates appointed were: Isaac Brokaw, H. N. Spencer, J. Worth Coddington, Thos. Rutledge and John Sowwin. Subsequently Mr. Goodwin withdrew and Chancellman Alexander Miller's name was substituted. Mr. Goodwin was then made first alternate. The delegates have power to fill vacancies in their Committee.

Plainfield's Cordial Welcome.

A reception was tendered Pundita Ramabai the native Hindoo woman who is to lecture at the Congregational church at eight o'clock to-night—by Stephen Cahoone at his residence at the corner of Broadway and Kensington avenues, last evening. A select circle of friends were present, and the evening passed pleasantly.

The lecture of to-night will be on the subject of "The Condition of Women in India." Pundita Ramabai is Vice President of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Parlor-Meeting Committee of the Plainfield W. C. T. U.

A Baby Badly Burned.

Little Anna Barrett, two years of age, while playing near a bonfire at the front of her father's residence, No. 6 East Third street, yesterday, fell into the blaze and received painful injuries. Her eight-year-old cousin, Josie, dragged her from the flames in time to save her life, but the girl-baby's right hand was roasted and her cheek, which in the fall had come in contact with a glowing cinder, was badly blistered. Her clothing was but slightly scorched. Dr. Boone attended the case.

Wanting Parents.

A little boy about three years old, fairhaired, wearing a blue dress having yellow dots, and accompanied by a black and tan dog, was found wandering about Leland avenue this afternoon, and were taken to Police headquarters, where Chief Dodd has them.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. R. O. Moffett and wife of Pine Bush, Orange Co., N. Y., are visiting Mr. E. D. Moffett of Orchard Place.

Miss Ida Springmeyer of Astoria, L. I., is spending a few days with her cousin, Carl Kaerth of East Second street.

The European tour of Clarence Watson of Crescent avenue is ended. He will sail from Liverpool for home to-morrow.

Ex-Councilman Cotter of West Front street is recovering from an attack of "window-and-ways." Some call it influenza.

Mrs. Phillpitt and daughter Ella, of Westervelt avenue, started this morning for Brooklyn, N. Y., to be gone two weeks.

Frank Voseller, son of the late County Clerk James S. Voseller, has secured a position with the firm of Marshall & Ball of Newark.

Dr. R. W. Anderson will leave to-morrow for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will probably reside permanently with the hopes of being relieved of bronchial trouble.

Col. Mason W. Tyler will deliver a lecture at Music Hall for the benefit of the Library Association some time in November. His subject will be, "The Constitution of the United States."

Rev. Mr. Goodrich will preach in the pulpit of Rev. Dr. Lewis in the Seventh Day Baptist church to-morrow. Dr. Lewis is detained in Wisconsin with a severe cold. He, however, expects to be home next week.

Mrs. C. N. Griffen, formerly of Plainfield but now of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., visited her brother, the Rev. W. E. Honeyman, of North Plainfield, to-day. She is on her way home from a trip through the West, where she stopped at Saint Louis, Kansas City, Hot Springs, Santa Fe and other points of interest.

The latest curiosity in town is John M. Crane of LaGrande avenue, "fresh" from the West. He had such a good time that he can't button his trousers at the waist by two inches. They do say that he waisted everything put before him. If he had stayed much longer, the chances are that the chair he so ably fills in New York as secretary of the Fidelity and Casualty Insurance Company would need its foundation strengthened to sustain the increased weight of responsibilities.

Something About Barnum.

To be considered of importance in these days of modern inventions and appliances, one must keep abreast of the times in which we live. That is what has made P. T. Barnum famous the world over, and made his show the greatest on earth. He has every thing in his exhibition that is new, and every act or novelty, animal, bird, or feature that has been invented, discovered, or unearthed in any part of the world is to be found in one of the big tents of his show—the Barnum and London united two shows. This season the show is larger in size and richer in novelties than ever before in its history, and has grown to such monstrous proportions that its list acts can be enlisted in nothing less than 3 rings, and its 300 expert performers are distributed all over the space allotted for the performances, in the air, the rings, hippodrome track, and every part of the ten acres covered by the big canvas. The show this year consists of a triple circus—three companies—museum of living wonders, two menageries, aviary, elephant pavilion, with a herd of elephants ranging in size from a dwarf to a mammoth; Roman hippodrome races, elevated stage performances, the remarkably life like reproduction of Jumbo, and his enormous skeleton, mounted by Prof. H. A. Wood, of Rochester; Alice, the discussable widow of Jumbo, from the Royal Zoological Gardens, London; the wonderful hairy family of Richmond, King Theebaw's nautch; Captain Paul Boyton's aquatic performances in a specially constructed lake of clear water; Reflying Ecuhnasium; hosts of European novelties, herds of giant camels 500 Norman draught horses, ponies, etc., 25 golden carved chariots, 70 railroad cars, 7 advertising cars, 800 people; all told, a daily expense of $7,000, and a capital of $1,000,000. The street parade, which can be compared to nothing of its kind ever seen before, represents $1,500,000 in solid cash, and will take place at 8 o'clock in the morning of Friday, Oct. 21, and two performances will be given, at 2 and 8 p. m.

Accidentally Shot.

A few days ago Elias Pope, a young son of David Pope of East Sixth street, met with a painful accident. He was engaged shooting at a target, and, after practising for awhile, set the stock of the rifle on the ground and rested on it, his right wrist and left hand covering the muzzle. While in this position with the rifle leaded and cocked, a playmate who was throwing stones accidentally hit the trigger with one of the missiles, causing it to explode the cartridge, the ball passing through young Pope's right wrist and left hand and striking him on the forehead, inflicting a slight scalp wound. The injured boy immediately ran to the residence of Dr. Pearfield, whither he could be traced by his blood. The wounds were dressed and he proceeded to his home, but declined to tell his parents how the accident occurred.

Old Rounders in the Toils.

Supplementary to sundry drinks of beer, Charles Williams, Albert Cook and Hugh Laing indulged in a fight on Front street, opposite the Post-office, last night. Policeman Grant heard of the row and gave chase to the trio. Cook he caught; the others escaped; but Williams was arrested the following day by Policeman Lynch, who found him in the office of the saloon-organ, where both he and Cook are employed.

City Judge Ulrich, although still suffering from illness, held a session of Court early to-day and speedily disposed of the cases. Williams was fined $25 and sentenced to sixty days in the County Jail. Laing and Cook got thirty days each, with the privilege of paying a fine of $10 each instead, if they can raise the money.

A Coal Driver Injured.

He received serious bruises on the head and chest and was, after having his wounds dressed, removed to his home on Church street.

—The start in the bicycle race to-morrow will be at four o'clock sharp. A "run" has been called by Capt. Martin for 3:15.

The Object of the O. U. A. M.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Please grant in your columns, for the edification of the public, the following in reply to the communication of "American Citizen" in THE NEWS of the 8th inst.:

The Junior O. U. A. M. was instituted in May, 1853, and since that time has steadily increased, and with the beneficiaries now attached is progressing more than ever. The order has for years existed, and exists to-day, as an order of united mechanics, recognizing everyone worthy of the title—mechanics, who work for a maintenance either by hand or brain, or both, as eligible for membership, and initiated and raised in exactly the form of every profession and calling. As an organization it recognizes no competition with those associations known as Trades or Labor Unions, and does not seek to control either capital or labor, but would, under existing law to a portion of its membership, as both are represented therein.

It is simply a thoroughly American organization, with a beneficial department attached. It is American to that extent that it admits none to membership except those who are native born, and it recognizes the fact that to the native born belong the first rights and privileges under our free institutions, and teaches to its members that principle of love of country that is inherent to all nations, not to that extent, however, that lays it open to the charge of bigotry, or to the aspersion that it does not, or would not, forget that our land should be an asylum for the oppressed of all nations, but claim that when it is sought as such, they should conform to our customs and institutions, and obey our laws, and not establish distinct nationalities, nor seek to retain upon our special system any of the customs and laws of the down-trodden countries of the old world, and therefore become a stumbling block to our national progress.

Rum-sellers May Not be Masons.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—The Missouri Grand Lodge of Masons took action last night on the question of the eligibility of saloon keepers and liquor dealers to become members of the Order. Several months ago the State Grand Master called a special session of the Lodge under his jurisdiction to expell all members who were in any way connected with the liquor traffic. The Naphtali Lodge of this city of which a dozen prominent liquor men were members, many of them being charter members, refusing to obey the order and the charter of the Lodge was annulled. The Grand Lodge sustained the order of the Grand Master. This order was based on a law passed by the Lodge a number of years ago, which set forth thereafter no saloon keepers should become members of the order.

Royalty's Big Blunder.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—When Princess Louise left here she promised on her return to England to urge upon her royal mother the conferring of some imperial honor upon Dr. Jas. A. Grant, who attended her as her medical advisor during her residence in Canada. Although Her Royal Highness did not forget her promise when she returned to London, nothing more was heard of it, until Lord Lansdowne was called upon to suggest the names of Canadians upon whom the Queen could fittingly confer an imperial title. Dr. Grant was again recommended for a "C.B." Now an important dispatch arrives from the Colonial Office, London, stating that Dr. Grant has been created a full-fledged Knight of the Order of the Bath (Sir. James), whereas it was only intended to give him the title of "C. B.," without the distinguished prefix of Sir. Sir James takes precedence over those who had far greater claims to a Knighthood, and who now have to take a subordinate position.

The Secretary's report shows that the Society has grown in one year from 21 to 55 members, and it was learned from the Treasurer's statement that $120 has been raised for church purposes. At the close of the exercises Mr. Hamilton, the Vice-President, presented the President with a handsome leather-upholstered study-chair.

A Levy on the City's Safe.

Ex-City-Judge Nelson Runyon has secured a judgment against the city for the bill of costs presented in September, amounting to $16.00. The Sheriff, armed with his document, entered the Town office Tuesday in search of the City Clerk, and the levy was made that day

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

TOPICS THE READERS OF THE NEWS FIND TO WRITE ABOUT.

Mrs. Patton Protests.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—If the framers of the laws of our city would seto have proper discrimination in the carrying of them out, the citizens, for whose comfort they are supposed to be made, would certainly enjoy them better.

The dog law, now in vogue, is good in itself, for the summer months, when it is confined to homeless, wandering curs, who so often infest our streets. But, if the law permits its agent to make a raid, at this season of the year, upon a dog, accompanied by his master or some member of the family, is it not time for this law to be changed. Citizens have a right to the public thoroughfares, and it is certainly hard lines if they cannot take a walk, accompanied by a favorite dog, without fear of being poisoned upon by the dog-catcher, whose main object is to put fifty cents into his own pocket.

The scene on Park avenue Saturday evening referred to in your issue of Tuesday, when Babbett attempted to take by force our pet mastiff, which was quietly standing beside his little mistress, a responsible person being also near at hand, was an outrage. The carrying out of a law, which requires a dog to be either chained or muzzled for twelve months in the year, is simply cruelty to animals. The Judiciary of the State has decided that dogs are property, for which the owner is responsible. Will the laws of the State permit a Common Council to authorize a man to deliberately seize, which is no better than highway robbery, such inoffensive property, when in the company of its owner or his servant.

—George S. Knight will appear at Music Hall on the 18th instant in his new version of "Rudolph" as re-written for him by Messrs. Brosnon Howard and David Belasco. There seems to be none but the most favorable report regarding Mr. Knight and his present conception of "Rudolph," some of the statements going so far as to class the actor very high and his work one of positive genuine. At any rate, the play itself is believed to have undergone such a radical change that it is pronounced among the several of Mr. Howard's dramatic triumphs.

The Trenton Emporium makes the sound suggestion that a good way for those delinquent tax-payers pay up would be to illustrate the tax-collector's published list with portraits of the delinquents.

THE CONNECTICUT BANK WRECKER.

The Deficit Larger Than Was at First Suspected.

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Oct. 14.—Excitement over the downfall of the Stafford Springs National bank continues to run very high. United States National Bank Examiner Foreman was here yesterday morning and said that the shortage was growing bigger and bigger. The latest investigation, he said, reveals the fact that the deficit, according to the exact figures, is $80,000, but there is no doubt that it is in excess of that amount, which further investigation will verify. Aside from the above, the bad debts accumulated by Lyon in addition to what is recorded in the books in the way of notes, making an aggregate of over $150,000.

In the judgment of well informed parties there will be little, if any, of the bank's $250,000 capital remaining after the week is cleared up.

It is known that the defaulter dealt heavily in stocks, and that $75,000 of the bank's funds has been forwarded to T. H. Brady, a New York broker, within three months, and, to hide his investings, the vouchers for the above amounts were concealed at the cashier's home instead of being kept at the bank.

He also dealt with N. Y. C. Belden, of Minneapolis, and another broker, who is indebted to the bank for $16,000. Very little can be ascertained regarding the broker in question aside from the fact that he is a lawyer and a friend of the embezzler.

Examiner Forman asserts that the Stafford Savings bank, which had an office for $50,000 deposited in the national bank, is the concern most extensively involved in the loss. The affairs of the saving bank are now being examined by officials, who will be able to render a definite account later.

The state of Connecticut and the town of Stafford are involved to the amount of $10,000 each, while the Mineral Springs Manufacturing company will lose about $70,000. The other amounts lost are comparatively small, being in sums of something like $1,000 and less.

Y. Ricks will remain in Hartford until to-morrow, when he will return to Stafford Springs.

THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

Railroads Can Carry Milk for Less Money Than 1,000 Miles Than 500 Miles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The hearing in the case of N. W. Howell et al. against the New York, Lake Erie and Western, New York, Ontario and Western, New York, Susquehanna and Western, and the Lehigh and Hudson River railroads, was opened at the interstate commission headquarters yesterday. The petitioners, in their complaint against these roads, allege unjust and unreasonable rates for transporting milk to New York city, and that there is a discrimination against milk producers near New York city by charging them the same rates for transporting milk as are charged for carrying it to New York from points further west. The entire day was spent in submitting testimony and examining witnesses.

The complainants put in a great deal of testimony in support of their charges, which the railroads, all of whom were represented by attorneys, introduced testimony intended to show that the cost for transporting milk for long distances was no greater than for short distances, and hence the necessity for a uniform rate of forty cents per can, or the same rate for a long as far as a short haul. Printed arguments will be submitted soon from both sides.

Discussing Telegraphic Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The subject upon which all congressmen who have arrived are the most in accord is, that it is expedient that some legislation shall be enacted by the Fiftieth congress looking to the control of the telegraph. No definite plan has been formed by any member so far as can be ascertained, but several have suggested that, as it is evident that attempts will be made to amend the interstate commerce law, it will be well to frame a clause in the legislation which will provide for the control of interstate telegraphs. It is urged that there will be more necessity for government regulation of the telegraph, now that practically all competition is ended, than there was before, and that justice and equality in the matter of transmission of messages is as important to the people as the provision in the interstate commerce bill, which regulates the railroads of the country.

Tragedy in Wisconsin.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Oct. 14.—This city is highly excited over the discovery of a shocking tragedy, which was committed near the city limits at an early hour yesterday morning. It seems that an unknown burglar entered the residence of Mrs. William Koehne and four daughters. He was discovered, and attacked the five women with a club, nearly killing all of them. The walls and floor of the house were spattered with blood, and everything indicates that a terrible struggle was made by the frenzied women. The assailant escaped after first threatening his mangled victims with immediate death if they made an outcry. A reward of $300 has been offered for detection of the criminal. The victims are in a critical condition.

The Money of the World.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 14.—A committee appointed by the American Bankers' association, in session in this city, yesterday reported that the latest commission has always taken the ground that both silver and gold are required as the money of the world, but that an international agreement only can settle the question of the relative value of gold and silver when coining is resumed. It further recommended that the coinage of silver dollars by the United States, under the act of congress of Feb., 1878, be suspended until the ratio shall have been by some agreement be settled by international agreement. The convention then adjourned finally.

What is a Laborer

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—United States District Attorney Dickey is likely to take a hand in the suit brought by John St. Kennedy, president of the St. Andrew's society, against the church of the Holy Trinity, for the purpose of testing the Federal law against the importation of foreign laborers under contract. Mr. Kennedy insists that the case of the Rev. R. W. Warren, who was engaged in England to be rector of the church of the Holy Trinity in this city, is similar to the case of the Scotch farmer Cummings, who was not permitted to carry out in this country a labor contract entered into in Scotland.

JERSEY CITY FRAUDS.

STARTLING DISCOVERIES IN THE BOARD OF WORKS.

Forty Thousand Dollars Worth of Pipe Paid for That Cannot Be Found—Mayor Cleveland Objected to the Business Methods.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 14.—S. W. Yalden, the expert accountant who has been examining the books and accounts of the Jersey city board of public works, submitted a report last night to the board of finance. It sets forth that the board cannot locate the has been an apparent "steal" of between $30,000 and $40,000 in the department of extensions and distributions. This department has charge of laying and repairing water pipe. The expert finds that pipe has to be purchased and paid for, which has not been laid and is not charged to any piece of work. Frauds have been perpetrated in the months just before election, tons of lead have been furnished which could not possibly have been used in any work in and claims have been paid for branches, hydrants and water gates which cannot be accounted for.

Records were supposed to be kept of the pipe laid and distributed at the pipe yard, but the records have been destroyed. Mr. Yalden was obliged to obtain his information from the billing of pipe purchased from the claims ordered paid, and of the quantity laid from the diagram books in the office of the chief engineer. The expert says that in addition to what is recorded in the books in the way of notes, making an aggregate of over $150,000.

In the judgment of well informed parties there will be little, if any, of the bank's $250,000 capital remaining after the week is cleared up.

A FAMOUS NOVELIST DEAD.

The Author of "John Halifax, Gentleman," Passes Away.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Dinah Maria Craik, better known as Mrs. Mulock, the author of "John Halifax," is dead. Mrs. Craik was born in 1826, at Stoke-Upon-Trent, and has been a novelist since 1849, when her first novel, "The Ogilvies," was published. She was the second daughter of her father and in 1857, when "John Halifax, Gentleman," appeared, a story which is universally conceded to be her masterpiece. Among other novels she has written are "A Life for a Life," "Christian's Mistake," "Two Marriages," and "A Noble Life," and among writings of another kind were collections of fugitive pieces, several books for young people, a volume of poems, and other works.

In 1865 Miss Mulock married Capt. George Lillie Craik, an editor in the English army and their married life, although the husband was some years the junior of his wife, was happy. Of late years she lived in the vicinity of Edinburgh. A few years ago she determined her name to be affixed to her productions, and "John Halifax" was claimed by Mrs. Granville Wylie, but in a letter to a gentleman Miss Mulock acknowledged the authorship of that novel and of the preceding volumes.

A Manager's Disappearance.

LYONS, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The strange disappearance of George A. Taylor, one of the prominent citizens of Sodus, has caused great excitement in that village. Taylor is proprietor and manager of the opera house in Sodus, and is interested in several industries in that place. He went to Rochester on Oct. 1 and was engaged in collecting about $900 in that city until Oct. 5, when he bade goodby to friends, and started for Sodus to return home. He never reached the station, and if he had been instantly swallowed up by the earth his disappearance could not have been more mysterious and complete. His family is distracted with alarm at his long absence. Circulars have been sent out and all his friends inquired of, with no result. Taylor is a temperate and unusually domestic man. It is believed that he has met with foul play.

Mr. Beecher Accepts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Thomas K. Beecher, the Greenback Labor party candidate for secretary of state, has sent his letter of acceptance to Chairman Jones. In it he says among other things: The question of a legal tender money and the regulation of its volume form together the highest function of government in this commercial age. The government delegates this power by law to act abdicates and becomes itself a subject. I am gratified that the voters of the state are to have such an assortment of doctrines and demands to choose from, profess and enforce at the polls in November—liquor, labor, land and money; these four, but the greatest of these is money.

In Jail at Dexter.

DEXTER, Me., Oct. 14.—Deputy Sheriff Mitchell reached Dexter at 6 o'clock last night with David L. Stain and Oliver Crunwell, the prisoners who were arrested Tuesday in Manchester for the robbery of the Dexter bank and the murder of Treasurer J. W. Barron on Feb. 22, 1876. From the moment the party left the Boston and Maine depot until the prisoners were secured in jail the streets of Dexter they were the center of attraction for thousands of curious people, who gazed at them, and then with various exclamations passed on.

BOULANGER ARRESTED.

ACCUSED OF ATTACKING THE GOVERNMENT IN THE PRESS.

He Charges That the Caffarel Scandal Was a Ministerial Plot to Injure Him. Gen. Caffarel Sentenced for His Connection with the Conspiracy.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Standard's Paris correspondent states that Gen. Boulanger has been placed under arrest.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Mr. Herron telegraphed to Gen. Boulanger at Montlucon ordering him to return forthwith to Clermont-Ferrand, his headquarters, and asking if the words attributed to him by the newspapers in connection with the Caffarel affair were correctly reported. The newspapers had alleged that Gen. Boulanger informed a reporter that he never doubted the prosecution of Gen. Caffarel was aimed at him-self. He stated that he defied the most minute inquiry into his conduct, and said that if he had been minister of war and Gen. Caffarel had avowed his guilt to him he would have off red him a revolver with which to blow out his brains.

Gen. Boulanger, in reply to Gen. Ferron's telegram, wired: "I have returned to Clermont-Ferrand. I am unable to procure the attendance of Gen. Taylor, one of the prominent citizens of Sodus, has caused great excitement in that village. Taylor is proprietor and manager of the opera house in Sodus, and is interested in several industries in that place. He went to Rochester on Oct. 1 and was engaged in collecting about $900 in that city until Oct. 5, when he bade goodby to friends, and started for Sodus to return home. He never reached the station, and if he had been instantly swallowed up by the earth his disappearance could not have been more mysterious and complete. His family is distracted with alarm at his long absence. Circulars have been sent out and all his friends inquired of, with no result. Taylor is a temperate and unusually domestic man. It is believed that he has met with foul play.

Mr. Beecher Accepts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Thomas K. Beecher, the Greenback Labor party candidate for secretary of state, has sent his letter of acceptance to Chairman Jones. The government delegates this power by law to act abdicates and becomes itself a subject. I am gratified that the voters of the state are to have such an assortment of doctrines and demands to choose from, profess and enforce at the polls in November—liquor, labor, land and money; these four, but the greatest of these is money.

The Union Hill Row.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 14.—Herman Taeber, after a trial lasting two days in the Jersey City court of sessions for assault and battery in a row at the skating rink in Union Hill on Oct. 3, when policemen prevented the holding of a meeting called in behalf of the condemned Chicago Anarchists, was found guilty yesterday. The jury was unanimous for conviction on the first ballot, but remained an hour away from the court room because they did not want to seem to decide the case too hastily. The verdict was received in silence by the people in the court room. Col. Abbett gave notice that he would move a new trial. Taeber is out under $500 bail. THE NEW BUILDING ERECTED IN NEW YORK FOR RAILROAD MEN.

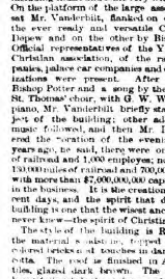
A Luxurious Club House, Fitted with Every Modern Convenience, Where They Can Be Amused and Instructed—And All for Ten Cents a Month.

VERY one knows of the liberality which is often manifested by capitalists toward their employés or toward those who have indirectly helped them to build up their enterprises. This is strikingly illustrated by the donation of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt of the great building at the corner of Madison avenue and Forty-fifth street, New York, for the use of railroad men. It is indeed a magnificent building, handsomely finished, well equipped, furnished, and fitted for a club room, restaurant, social hall and reading room. According to the statement of Mr. Vanderbilt:

It will be under the control of a board of trustees, in which the several railroad companies centering at the Grand Central station will be represented. The trustees have granted permission to the railroad branch of the Young Men's Christian association of the city of New York to use the building for the benefit and enjoyment of persons in the service of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, the Wagner Palace car, the express, and of any and all companies that may be entitled from time to time to use the Grand Central station. The understanding is that the rules shall be adopted for its control as shall be in harmony with the purposes for which it has been founded and for the maintenance of that order and conduct which will insure to those coming within its walls the largest participation in its privileges. Its practical management will be in the hands of a committee composed of railroad employes. While it is desirable that as many as possible shall become members, I wish it to be distinctly understood that all the employés, whether members or not, will be heartily welcomed here at all times."

On the first floor is the great library with 6,000 volumes, and around it the bath rooms, parlor rooms and meeting rooms. Almost the entire third floor is given up to recreation rooms, all handsomely fitted up with chairs, lounges, tables, books and papers, and cheerful with light and warmth. On the fourth floor is an immense room with elegant single beds for railroad men compelled to remain over night in the city. In the reading room are the best files of ninety-five daily, weekly and monthly papers; in the social hall are checkers, chess, dominoes, a piano and other appliances for enjoyment, while elsewhere are the gymnasium, bowling alley and restaurant where the best of meals are served in first class style at moderate cost. The building cost $100,000 and is to be kept open daily, Sundays included. All persons employed on the railroads centering at the Grand Central depot, Forty-second street, are entitled to all the privileges of the building for the small fee of ten cents per month, and the management is by a board of trustees. In the large hall or assembly room there will be lectures and concerts, addresses by eminent speakers and practical scientists; there will also be classes in drawing, penmanship and vocal music; the latter, it is peculiarly stated, includes the practice of musical intonation in calling out the names of stations, so passengers can hear them above the noise of a moving train.



VANDERBILT'S GIFT.

On the evening of Oct. 3 the new building was "dedicated" with imposing ceremonies, including music and some very witty speeches. By the platform at the upper end of the room sat Mr. Vanderbilt, flanked on one side by the ever ready and versatile Chauncey M. Depew and on the other by Bishop Potter. Official representatives of the Young Men's Christian association, of the railroad companies, palace car companies and other organizations were present. After the Young Men's Christian Association, of the railroad companies, palace car companies and other organizations were present. After the Young Men's Christian —The Elizabeth Prohibitionists met last night at Red Ribbon Hall and nominated a full city ticket, as follows: Mayor, David W. Silvers; Chosen Freeholder, Lewis M. Jaquett; Fifth Ward, Frederick Foster; Sixth Ward, G. E. Willis; Seventh Ward, A. P. Bowyer; Eighth Ward, J. O. Hoyt. —A very vague law is being commented upon, which is, in effect, that it is unlawful in this State, for any who sell farm and garden products to allow the basket or package to go out of his possession without first demanding and receiving a sum of money equal to its full value; the money to be refunded upon the return of the basket or package, provided the owner's name is displayed on them. The penalty is twenty dollars and costs, to be sued for by any person. This is what the wise men at Trenton laid down as the law last Wednesday, and they meant that grocers, etc., should not dispose of their customers' baskets, without first obtaining full value therefor, but the law is drawn in such a way that anyone can not loan even his own baskets.

Ramabai and Her Cities.

Pitiful was the condition of the women of India as described by Pundita Ramabai—herself a high caste Hindoo woman—at the First Congregational church last evening. As many listened to her story as the building would hold. On the platform near her sat Mrs. Wm. Taylor, wife of the Councilman, Mrs. Jerome Bonnell and Mrs. M. M. Powers. The Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the church, conducted the devotional exercises of the early evening and introduced Ramabai.

The woman was clad in a neat-fitting dark English dress. Over this was thrown the very handsome shawl so peculiar to the fashions of India. She spoke our tongue well and gave evidence of an excellent vocabulary. The foreign accent of her voice was rather more pleasing than otherwise. And thus she spoke:

The value of a high caste woman in India depends on the number of sons she bears. Until she has a son she is of no account. Marriages are made when the bride and groom are but babies in the cradle. These marriages are performed by the American betrothal. The real wedding does not, of course, occur until the parties have become of age, but these betrothals are as binding upon the woman as Christian marriage ceremonies—they make her a wife until death. And she is branded if she does not be his widow and can marry no other. The man has the privilege of marrying many women as he likes. And then: widows—India is full of them—some being infants—comparatively few being really mature women.

The crafty priesthood of the country have created the belief in the minds of the people that each soul has many, many lives, and that when a person dies he is speedily born again in another body. The belief prevails that every widow had been a criminal in some former life and that she is punished as she has to submit to horrible cruelties at the hands of relatives and friends who, while they pity her, dare not further dare to enforce on her the punishments which they religiously believe she has done.

The high caste Hindoo woman leads an indeed miserable life. She has restrictions on her which do not bind those of the lower castes. All the distinctions cease but that. If she be born into the family of a Brahmin she is high caste; if not, she is low.

The law makes child-widows, for they have divorce and may re-marry. But for the hundreds of thousands of high caste women there is no such relief and the widow must either kill herself to end her misery or become a drudge to the family and die a moral death. Is it a wonder that the widows used to embrace the chance to burn herself on her husband's funeral pyre?

There is great difficulty in successful mission work in India. The most protest against invasion by the missionaries, for they know that the Christian religion will take away their high prerogatives and will place woman on equality with them. And the only way of effectively reaching these women is through their fellow country women. And my friends are those I have a plan. It is this:

We purpose establishing a school for women in India, which shall be devoid of creed. As an educator we will not be interfered with, and education will be but the forerunner of a religious revolution. While we will do all that we can to quietly introduce the Christian faith, it will not depend upon its adoption at our school. We will rather work up to that gradually. We want $75,000. That will keep the school going for five years and after that we expect to be able to keep ourselves. In England, which I first visited, we were offered a plenty of advice but not a great deal of money. The mission societies there offered to take entire charge of the work, but insisted upon the adoption of the faith of the church of England. Knowing that any denomination would work well with the failure I come to America and have interested many in the work.

Ramabai circles are being formed as I travel about. We have now seven. The centre of the system will be at Boston and the Board of Directors, who will have control of the funds, will consist of such men as E. E. Hale and Lyman Abbott, and such women as Frances Willard. The organization will be completed by Nov. 1; and I desire that those interested in forming a circle here remain after the benediction.

The appeal of Ramabai resulted in the organization of a circle immediately after the lecture. It was stated that each one becoming a member is expected to pay for the Ramabai School one dollar a year for ten years. The giving of ten dollars in a lump entitles one to life membership. Smaller or larger sums are, of course, acceptable from others.

One of Julia Bulkley, Principal of the Public School, stated that Ramabai had addressed the pupils Friday morning, and that at noontime a little girl had brought five cents for the Indian women. Ramabai said that that reminded her of the widow's mite, and said that the pupils would be permitted to sell his countrywomen and their children of this little one's offering. She desired her thanks given to the generous-hearted child.

The following is the list of members constituting the local circle:

Life members—Mrs Julia E Bulkley, Mrs. George F. Opdyke, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley. Dollar-a-year members—Mrs. B. D. Buriingham, Mrs. W. H. Sampson, Mrs. J.W. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Leonard, Master Elbert and Miss Gertrude Leonard, Mrs. John Loal, Miss Elizabeth M. Waters, Miss M. Lilian Newman, Mrs. W. F. Adams, Miss Florence Stowell, Miss Emma Adams, Miscola Tomlinson, Miss Fay Young, Mrs. D. T. Horne, Mrs. Scott Cook, Mrs. J. C. Stewart, Mrs. W. A. Wyckoff, Mrs. M. A. Mosher, Mrs. Mary S. Olsen, Mrs. F. M. Miller, Mrs. F. D. Miller, Miss A. T. Sinclaire, Miss Lucy H. Everett, Mrs. Dr. Kimball, Miss Clara Dunn, Miss C. B. Yates, Miss Pessenger.

The next meeting will be held—the president. The wife of the late Dr. Burlingham was chosen to fill that place.

Mrs. Isaac F. Randolph, Mrs. L. Warren Randolph, Mrs. Josiah Manning, the Misses Mary and Low Randolph all of Plainfield, and Mrs. David Townsend of Newark—says the Bound Brook Chronicle—were entertained at dinner, Friday by Mrs. W. B. R. Mason.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis of West Virginia, will be the speaker at Reform Hall Sunday evening. He is a brother who has been employed by the State Alliance of Minnesota, and is a man said to be brim-full of interesting sayings. He is stopping at the residence of Freebridger Hubbard on Seventh street.

Resolved to be a Man.

John Boutcher, the telegraph operator at Dunellen, has been a cripple since he was seven years old, from scarlet fever, which deprived him of the use of his left hand and left leg. He is thirty years old and has been in the employ of the Central R. R. since 1876. He was telegraph operator at the Bound Brook dimster, in 1883, where seven persons including Com. Garrison's son, were killed, and General Grant, who was aboard, barely escaped. He was also operator at the wreck at Mattawan, in 1888, in which an express broke in two and jumped the track, but at which no one was injured. He has been at the Dunellen station since last December, during which time there have been three railroad accidents, for which it was his duty to hold trains. He called on this morning feeling deeply heart over the reference made to him yesterday, which he feared would cause his discharge. He says that on Thursday he was riding on the beer wagon of Vanderhoof, brewer, of Somerville, and while the horses were standing on North avenue, near Force's manufactory, in which he was employed, the driver had been drinking, he attempted to mount to the seat. The near horse moved when Boutcher put his hand on the animal's flank. This threw Boutcher under the animals' feet, from which he was rescued by Mr. Force and Mr. Murphy." Boutcher insists that he was not drunk, Spectators say he was. We give his story. He promised to give up drinking and keep away from the saloon. We think he means to keep his word, though his good resolve did not come in until the saloon keeper, after cutting all his money, turned the helplessly drunken cripple loose upon the street to be trampled to death, but for Detective "Murphy" rescuing him.

Plainfield Bicycle Club.

A meeting of the Trustees of the Plainfield Bicycle Club was held last evening. T. S. Burr was elected President and Robinson Pound was made Secretary. The following committees were appointed: House Committee—J. M. Crane, D. M. Runyon, T. S. Burr. Membership Committee—E. B. Ackerman, R. Pound, W. H. Milliken. Auditing Committee—J. B. Martin, J. H. Cooley, J. A. Worth.

It was decided to hold meetings hereafter on the first of each month. Five will constitute a quorum. In case of the absence of both President and Vice President, members will take preference as chairman in the following order: President of the Board, Chairman of the Rooms Committee, Chairman of the Auditing Committee. The dues formerly demanded—$10 initiation fee and one dollar per month—will still be the rule. The lady associate members will be charged no initiation fee, but will be required to pay four dollars per year. Non-resident members will have to pay six dollars a year, but no initiation fee.

Inventive Jerseymen.

Patents granted to citizens of New Jersey for the week ending October 11, 1887, compiled from the official records of the United States Patent Office:

J. C. Brooks, Paterson, shuttle supplying mechanism for looms.

Leo Daft, Plainfield, electric locomotion and method of starting (two patents).

M. Davenport, Englishtown, poultry brooder.

J. W. Hyatt, Newark, reducing valve.

Fred Jacob, Newark, bottle stopper.

W. H. Kelley, New Brunswick, grate bar.

W. M. Mackay, Newark, water heating attachment for hot-air furnaces.

Robert Parvell, Summit, fire engine.

R. B. Pole, Camden, steam engine.

C. P. Sheehan, Newark, button and machine for making (two patents).

H. F. West, Gloucester City, machine for doubling and twisting yarns.

A Gambling-Den Constable.

Constable Garret P. Smith, whose arrest for keeping a gambling den was chronicled yesterday, could secure no bondsman except Justice of the Peace Vincent W. Nash, who went his bail in the sum of $300 before City Judge Church.

Smith was, it will be remembered, fined $30 for a similar offense the 30th of last April. The extreme penalty of the city ordinance is $100 fine and thirty days' imprisonment.

It seems queer business for a Justice of the Peace becoming the bondsman for such a character. What a fine specimen of a constable, too! But then people elect such characters to office, and "if you lie down with the dogs, you must expect to get up with the fleas."

A Bomb Shattered the Car.

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 15.—The Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio mail and express which left here last evening was stopped four miles out of the city by three masked men. While two covered the engineer and firemen with their pistols the third ran back to the mail car and threw a bomb against the door. The explosion which followed shattered the door and side of the car into splinters. The agent was dazed by the shock, but was uninjured. He recovered, however, enough to pour a charge from a double-barreled shot gun into the breast of the robber, who had jumped into the car, killing him instantly. The two on the engine hearing the report fled, the mail agent firing his remaining load after them. The train then returned to El Paso.

Norwhall who presented, for the members of Mr. Holmes' Bible Class, a high-standing lamp of polished brass with a handsome shade of yellow satin. Mr. Holmes made suitable response.

POWDERLY IN THE ASCENDANT.

Bitter Opposition and Violent Attacks of No Avail.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 15.—The details of the secret session of the Knights of Labor assembly on Thursday afternoon have leaked out, and the reason for the lack of a press committee report is at once evident. One of the liveliest discussions of the convention was indulged in. The committee on boycotts introduced a resolution favoring the action of Master Workman Powderly and the executive board in declaring the St. Louis stock yard strike off. This was the straw that broke the backs of some of the delegates from District Assemblies 24 and 57 of Chicago. They came here with a feeling of bitterness against Powderly and the executive board, with the exception of T. B. Barry, who represented the executive board in the strike. When the committee reported as above it was more than they could stand. They offered a substitute resolution roundly censuring the action of the general master workman and the executive board. Charles F. Lieb, delegate from District Assembly 24, made a vehement speech in support of the substitute. He said that the action of Powderly and other members of the board had interfered in the matter and had defeated the purposes of the stock yard employees. He said that the only man on the board who had treated the matter fairly and whom joyed the full confidence of the Chicago delegates was T. B. Barry. Mr. Barry, he said, had done all in his power to aid the men, and had he had authority, or had he not been tied down upon by Powderly and other members of the board, the strike would have been won. George A. Schilling, also a delegate from District Assembly 24, made a very fiery speech, in which he roundly scored the general master workman and the executive board.

T. B. Barry was called upon to make a general review of the circumstances and his connection with the matter. In his remarks he stated that the men were right, in his opinion, here gained their point without any expense to the order, and further that he thought the demands of the men were just. Delegates from District Assembly 57 spoke upon the matter. They were positive that the strikers should have been successful had they been allowed to stay out. George Bowman, of West Virginia, spoke in favor of the substitute.

General Master Workman Powderly took the floor and said that when the entire matter came before the executive board it would be decided whether or not Gen. Bowman should be the legal representative of the Knights of Labor. The Railroad members of the Chamber of Deputies have decided to make Gen. Boulanger a candidate for that body at the coming November elections. Further complications are imminent.

Rumors are persistently circulated to the effect that Gen. Boulanger has resigned his commission.

Gen. Broye will succeed Gen. Boulanger in the command of the Thirteenth Army corps during the temporary absence of the latter.

At the sitting of the budget committee yesterday M. Cavargnac stated that Gen Boulanger in December last ordered an outlay of $5,000,000 for the purchase of war material reserves. This clothing, M. Cavargnac said, had not been authorized by the chamber of deputies, and was therefore illegal.

M. Mazeau has tendered his resignation as minister of justice.

Eggs Filled with Arsenic.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Margaret Seitz, aged 56 years, was found dead in her bed yesterday morning at her residence, 2307 North Front street, and the policy were notified that her death was due to poison. An investigation showed that on Tuesday last Mrs. Seitz, assisted by her little 10 years old son, Eva Hoffman, aged 8 years, Benjamin Hoffman, 6 years old and Harry Hoffman, aged 4 years, were cooking for the entire week eggs purchased from the store of James McLaurly, No. 2304 Front street, who was arrested, and stated that in order to rid himself of rats, he had filled them with arsenic, and placed them in the barrels with the others. Mrs. Reitz, being in the habit of purchasing cracked eggs, was given some of these that she ate in mistake for good ones, with the above result.

The Mayor of Jack Hussey Acquitted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The jury in the case of Policeman Edward Hahn, the slayer of Capt. Jack Hussey, brought in a verdict of not guilty early yesterday afternoon. On his way to the Tombs, after Col. Fellows' summing up on Thursday, Hahn said to the officers in charge: "It's all up; they have got me now. It will be the opinion of many others that a long term of imprisonment, at least, was in store for Hahn. There were a few who thought he would be convicted of murder in the first degree; others were sure that the verdict would either be murder in the second degree or one of the higher degrees of manslaughter. Not one was interested in the case thought that he would go scot free. Hahn's counsel were anxious.

The Crown Prince's Cancer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Dr. Wolfred Nelson, of this city, who has just returned from Europe, where he went when he was in Baden-Baden, just before he started for America, he was assured by physicians and other gentlemen who had trustworthy sources of information that the condition of the Crown Prince Frederick is unquestionably precarious. It is admitted now that he is suffering from cancer of the throat, known as tobacco smoker's cancer. The case is very similar to that of Gen. Grant.

TO THE BOYS IN BLUE.

IMMORTALIZING PRIVATE SOLDIERS AT GETTYSBURG.

Dedication of a Monument to the Fourteenth Regiment of Brooklyn at Gettysburg Battlefield—Work of the Memorial Committee.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 15.—"In all ages of the world's history and in all countries the veneration of the people for their military heroes has sought expression in costly monuments built in honor of great commanders. In this country the disposition is to commemorate the private soldiers of the civil war and services of our citizen soldiers, upon whom the defense and funding of our civil war mainly fell." These words of the New York commissioners on Gettysburg monuments addressed to the last legislature, and illustrated on the 18th and 19th, when Pennsylvania will dedicate a handsome Meade statute in Fairmount park, Philadelphia, and New York, by separate statutes dedication, will commemorate the statue erected by an enlisted man of the Fourteenth Brooklyn on the spot where 300 soldiers of that regiment fell in one short conflict at Gettysburg.

STATUE SURMOUNTING MONUMENT.

"It was an accident," General Fowler says, "that fixed the dedication of the Fourteenth's monument on the day following that of Meade, but it is worth more than the usual use of the veterans and of the active soldiers of our regiment naturally wish to see the ceremonies at Fairmount on the 18th, and now all the veteran association of Gettysburg on the 19th, making but one trip. Our choice is that of an enlisted man, because the humble soldier should be glorified as well as the great. But for the bravery of the private army of the Union we would've no such monument. The Fourteenth Alfred M. Wood, now major of Brooklyn, and the 14th Brooklyn, now Brooklyn Battalion, were among the first Union troops in Washington, where delegations advanced to welcome the "Brave Fourteenth out of the Wilderness."

GEN. JOSEPH B. CARR.

Gen. Fowler took command at Bull Run, where Col. Wood was wounded, and led it to the end. The statue of the Fourteenth is like the memorial erected on the field by New York commands, except a work which took part in the battle, Cowan's First New York Battery. Colonel Ellis erected a stone and tablet last July; the Ona Hundred and Fifty-seventh infantry dedicated a like memorial a year ago, and the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth regiment, known as the Orange Blossoms, dedicate a handsome statue of Col. A. Van Horn Ellis in 1884. This latter was erected by Orange county, where the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth was recruited. The memorial work now being done extensively on Gettysburg field is all under direction of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial association, incorporated in 1864, amended 1865, 1885. The association has power to acquire titles, and at present owns 300 acres of battlefields and cemetery, being the line of battle. The territory surveyed by the government as the field of operations comprises twenty-five square miles. The Memorial association is managed by a board of directors elected by the stockholders, together with ex-officio directors from states contributing to the funds. The governor of Pennsylvania is ex officio president of the association, and the governors of all states appropriating money are directors. Gen. James A. Beaver, governor of Pennsylvania, is now president; David A. Bandler, of Gettysburg, vice president, and the following are directors: James B. W. Crawford and Hugh McCurdy, of Pennsylvania; Gen. H. A. Barnum, New York; Gen. Frank D. Sloat, Connecticut; Gen. E. R. Rhodes, Rhode Island; Gen. Charles L. Young, Ohio; John C. Linehan, New Hampshire; Gen. Byron R. Pierce, Michigan; Gen. Lucius Fairchild, Wisconsin; Gen. Silas Cosgrove, Indiana; Col. John B. Batchelder, Massachusetts. Several states have appropriated money to aid the association in buying land and the right of way Pennsylvania gave $10,000; New York, $10,000; New Jersey, $5,000; Vermont, $2,500; Massachusetts, $5,000; Rhode Island, $1,000; New Hampshire, $1,000. Every other state will surrender it to the Battle Field Memorial association, custodians of the grounds. It unusual battle will go down on the occasion in the shape of a war worn banner presented to the Fourteenth regiment by the ladies of Brooklyn in 1861 and carried through the war. On the field where the monument stands the staff of the state flag given by the ladies was shot in two and was so securely spliced after the fight that it was carried until the regiment came home, and the colors will float from it at the dedication.

The monument is of Rhode Island granite and is a fine one, costing $4,000. The funds come from the Veteran association and the state government. Many of the veterans are still living. The inscriptions, four in number, tell the story of the struggle to the commemoration in this enduring stone.

No. 1. On this spot, at 10 o'clock a. m., July 1, 1863, this regiment participated in the repulse of Davis' Mississippi brigade and the capture of a large portion of that command. Took into the engagement 356 officers and men and by the war department record lost during the three days 207.

No. 2. Erected and dedicated A. D. 1887.

No. 3. The Fourteenth regiment, New York state militia (82nd New York volunteers), entered the United States service April 18, 1861, participated in twenty-two engagements with the enemy and was discharged on account of the battered, in 1864.

No. 4. July 1, first engaged the enemy between the McPherson house and Reynolds' grove; subsequently retired to this place and engaged Davis' brigade; remained at the railroad cut at Seminary Ridge until the final retreat; had a running fight through Gettysburg to Culps Hill. On the evening of the 2d, and the morning of the 3d, went to the support of Greene's brigade and was heavily engaged.

The number in life size of a soldier in action at the command "Handle cartridge." The uniform is peculiar to this regiment. The Fourteenth adopted French light infantry tactics at the time Col. Hardee, of the regular army, adopted them for use in America. With the new tactics came a uniform known as the Chasseur, consisting of a jacket longer and lighter than the common infantry jacket, cap with straight fore piece and pompon, and a red crown. The pants were red with white leggings and the uniform was a marked one and conspicuous on a score of fields in the Army of the Potomac, where this regiment served its time out. The names of twenty-two battles are on their battle banner, as follows: Bull Run, Blun's Hill, Falmouth, Spottsylvania Court House, Rappahannock Station, Salem Heights, Gainesville, Groveton, Manassas Plains, Chantilly, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Port Royal, Fitzhugh Crossing, Chancellorsville, Seminary Hill, Gettysburg, Mine Run, Wilderness, Laurel Hill, Spottsylvania.

The regiment had offered its services April 18, 1861, and on May 1 went into camp in a Brooklyn square, ready for duty. It finally took record for three years, and when the road opened through Baltimore in May, went to Washington and was mustered by the United States, May 23. The time spent in the Brooklyn camp was not counted, and more than three years later the regiment entered in the campaigns of 1864, fighting and losing men at Wilderness and Spottsylvania, and left the field May 28 with but a remnant.

MUTINY ON BOARD A SHIP.

THE THRILLING AND EXCITING VOYAGE OF THE OCCIDENTAL.

Officers Urging the Men to Disobey Orders—The Captain Stabbed to the Heart—Many of the Crew Down with Fever.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The American ship Occidental has arrived at Port Townsend from Acapulco, Mexico, after a passage of thirty-eight days. From her officers and crew is learned an exciting story of the sea which has not before been told. On Jan. 29 the Occidental sailed from Cardiff, coal laden, for Acapulco, under command of John Williams, who was accompanied by his wife and two children. The first days of the voyage were pleasantly passed until March 16, when John Craine, the first officer, issued a petty command which Seaman Angus Sullock refused to obey. This was the beginning of one of the most thrilling and exciting voyages that has taken place for several years.

The officers, aside from the two already mentioned, urged the crew to disobey the master's commands. On March 16, in latitude 13 degs. 6 secs. north, longitude 30 degs. 31 secs. west, while Captain Williams was on the forecastle head, he had some angry words with John Johnson, able seaman, about his insolent conduct and disobedience of orders. The captain's attention was engaged aloft when Johnson came up behind him with a drawn sheath knife, and seizing him by the throat, plunged the weapon into his heart. The captain called out: "Craine, I am murdered by Johnson!" Jumping off the forecastle's house and running aft to the cabin door, he fell in his wife's presence and died.

Rumors came that the crew were going to take command of the ship, but fortunately they had no navigator among them. John Johnson finally surrendered and was ironed, but was released by the crew. The dead master was buried at sea by Carpenter Lund. Second Officer Craine assumed command of the Occidental, and that was about all, as he dared not assert his authority for fear of his life.

The murder of the master did not end the trouble by any means, and the ship was headed for nearest port, Valparaiso, where the murderer and personal participants in the troubles were turned over to the American consul, and imprisoned, awaiting advices from Washington. All but three members of the crew were left in Chili. A new crew was shipped, and Mrs. Williams and her family came to Acapulco, where the ship was delayed in quarantine by the Mexican authorities for fifteen days. The Occidental was finally released and her cargo discharged, when John Craine was succeeded by William Crane, who assumed command of the ship Harvester. Craine was attacked with delirium tremens and sent to San Francisco with Mrs. Williams. The carpenter died at sea after leaving Acapulco of yellow fever. He was on board the Occidental when her master was assassinated.

The Occidental's opponent in combine against the Occidental. While crossing the Gulf of California a storm came on and carried away over one-half the sails. Before leaving the Mexican port the crew refused to do duty. They were locked up by the American consul, and finally consented to go aboard and perform their duty. When eleven days out from Acapulco all but four of the seamen were taken sick with Mexican fever. It was with the greatest difficulty that the ship was navigated to Port Townsend. The sailors injured in the mutiny were taken to the Marine hospital in that place.

His Remarks Were Exaggerated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—A report was industriously circulated yesterday that Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central railroad, had stated that the present boom in real estate speculation and the railroad building which would be necessitated in the near future would result in a financial panic. This statement had the effect of unsettling business on the Exchange here, and, in response to inquiries, Mr. Depew telegraphed the following from Lake Louise: "I said nothing about cyclones or crashes. Did think real estate in new towns overdone and railroad building premature. I said I was going to offset the general prospects, while personal inspection of Vanderbilt lines demonstrates that they were never in better financial and physical condition. Business earnings on soundest basis."

Mr. Beecher's Temporary Successor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—It was announced at the regular prayer meeting in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, last night that Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of The New York Christian Union, would act as pastor of the late Henry Ward Beecher's church until such a time as a permanent pastor can be selected. Dr. Abbott is to preach mornings and evenings on Sunday and be present at the Friday evening prayer meetings. He is not a candidate for the permanent pastorate, and will not undertake any other pastoral duties than those indicated. A permanent pastor will be selected in January.

Sympathy Expressed in London.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—An immense meeting, called for the purpose of expressing sympathy with the condemned Chicago Anarchists, was held in Finsbury park yesterday. A large number of Anarchist and Socialist speakers addressed the crowd, prominent among them being the Russian Anarchists, "Stepniak" and Prince Kropotkine. The speeches were of a highly inflammatory character. Prince Kropotkine declared that if the condemned men were hanged their comrades would be justified in retaliating in kind. Other meetings of similar nature and purpose are announced to follow.

Two Dead Bodies in the Rains.

TOLEDO, Oct. 15.—Goodwin & Co.'s planing and saw mill at Cygnet, this county, was burned to the ground on early hour yesterday morning; loss, $10,000. The bodies of G. McCall, a well known contractor, and William Faughner, were found in the ruins burned to a crisp. Two other men sustained serious, and probably fatal injuries, by jumping from a third story window. McCall leaves a wife and child at Fostoria. Faughner lived at Ginger Grove, Pa., and was unmarried.

Sisters of Charity as Teachers.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 15.—City Superintendent Luckey yesterday began the examination of eleven Roman Catholic Sisters of Charity who have petitioned for certificates to teach in the public schools. The request came from the directors of the Thirty-third ward schools that the Sisters be commissioned. Mr. Luckey was unable to say when the Sisters would be appointed should certificates be granted them.

Heavy Damages Awarded.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Some time ago Jerome Staring sustained injuries by being thrown from his wagon, his horse having been frightened by employes of the Western Union Telegraph company, who were then at work removing wires. He brought suit for $20,000 damages against the company, and the jury yesterday morning brought in a sealed verdict giving plaintiff $9,000.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

Deep Sea Fishes—Strange Depths at Which They Live.

Fishes are not very common in deep water, and until lately it was thought there were none, chiefly because of the immense pressure being one ton per square inch for every 1,000 fathoms. As sunlight penetrates about a mile down, vegetable life also ceases, and as a consequence deep sea fishes are carnivorous. The most voracious often eat their own offspring. While others are in search of animalcule, which, like a constant rain, settle down from the higher waters. Some are blind, some have ordinary eyes, others have phosphorescent protuberances to furnish them light. Sir C. Wyville Thompson (of the Challenger) says that "animals of all the marine invertebrate classes, and probably fishes also, exist at the bottom of the ocean." So far the greatest depth reached by a dredge in which fish were inclosed is 2,900 fathoms; but the species thus obtained belongs to a species which seems to be abundant in upper strata of the Atlantic and Pacific, and was therefore most likely caught by the dredge in its ascent. The next greatest depth, viz., 2,750 fathoms, must be accepted as one at which fishes undoubtedly do live, the fish obtained at this depth of the Atlantic showing by its whole habit that it is a form living on the bottom.

Monuments and Spires.

The Washington monument at the national capital is the tallest structure in existence that has been raised by human hands, being 555 feet. The Eiffel tower is 984 feet high—more than the crest of the pyramid of Cheops, which, prior to the completion of this latter, was the highest building in the country," claimed precedence in height over everything that man has raised. The other most lofty structures are: Antwerp cathedral, 476; Strasburg cathedral, 474; tower of Utrecht, Holland, 464; St. Stephen's steeple, Vienna, 460; St. Martin's church, Bavaria, 456; pyramid of Cephanes, Egypt, 456; St. Rose, Lima, Peru, 454; Lincoln, England, 410; St. Paul's, London, 404; St. Peter's, at Hamburg, 393; cathedral at Florence, Italy, cathedral, 373; Seville cathedral, 360; pyramid of Sakkarah, Egypt, 356; Notre Dame cathedral, Munich, 348; dome of the Invalides, Paris, 347; Maigeburg cathedral, 344; St. Mark's, Venice, 325; Asinelli tower, Bologna, 314; Trinity church, New York, 285; column at Delhi, India, 239; Porcelain tower, China, 243; Canterbury tower, 235; Notre Dame, Paris, 233; Bunker Hill monument, 220.

The Second Law of Motion.

If there is no resistance to the motion taking place in two different right lines, whether inherent in the body or external to it, those effects do not interfere nor does either diminish or suspend the effect of the other. In other words, when a force acts upon a body in motion, the change of motion which it produces is in the direction and proportion to the force impressed. The Indian summer comes and sets in. The leaves fall. Acres upon acres of the forest are taken to the Marine hospital in that place.

Visible Stars.

Stars of the first six magnitudes are visible to the naked eye on clear, moonless nights. The number visible at any one time will vary with the position of the heavens for more correctly, of the earth). The number of stars of the first magnitude between the north pole and 35 degs. south of the equator, which includes all which culminate at greater altitude than 18 degs. for the middle states, is as follows: Longitude, 1; 2d second, 48; third, 152; fourth, 313; fifth, 854; sixth, 2,010; total, 3,378. Hats, who gives these figures, says, however, that there are 1,000 more which he can see with his naked eye. We might say that perhaps about two-thirds of the above number (3,391) would, on the average, be visible at any one time.

The Golden Rule.

Do unto others as you would be done by. This sentiment Christ uttered in his sermon on the mount, when he said: "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." (Matt. vii, 12.) It was not original with him, however, but was essentially common property made. Confucius said: "Do not unto others what you would not have others do to you." And Hillel, fifty years before Christ, said: "Whatever is hateful to you would be done by."

The Names of Days.

Sunday is the day which became this day was anciently dedicated to the sun or its worship. Monday signifies day of the moon or day sacred to the moon. Tuesday from Tuesco, the deity of our ancestors, the god of war, and dag, a day. Wednesday from Woden, the highest god of the Germans and Scandinavians, and dag, a day. Thursday from Thor, god of thunder, and dag, a day. Friday from Fria, the goddess of marriage, and dag, a day. Saturday from Saturn and dag, a day.

Buried Cities.

The cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum were overwhelmed by the eruption of Vesuvius, accompanied by an earthquake, Aug. 23 and 24, A. D. 79. At the time the principal buildings were uncovered, at a depth of 20 feet, public spectacles were exhibited. The whole city and surrounding country were buried by the ashes. For fifteen centuries the place was entirely forgotten. After which the first accidental upturning of a vase led to its rediscovering.

Early Shavers.

The earliest reference to shaving is found in Genesis xli, 14, where we read that Joseph, being summoned to Pharaoh, "shaved himself. So shaving must have been a custom long enough before that occasion. There are also several allusions as to shaving in Leviticus, and the practice is alluded to in many other parts of Scripture. The Romans never wore beards.

The Waters of Lethe.

In the mythology of the Greeks Lethe's waters had the power of forgetfulness, from which souls drink before passing into the Elysian Fields, that they may forget all earthly sorrows.

Built His Own Tomb.

The first burial in St. Paul's cathedral was that of its builder, Sir Christopher Wren. He was buried in the extreme east of crypt. The earliest statue erected was that of Howard, the philanthropist.

Masterpiece of Sculpture.

The most beautiful piece of statuary in existence is the statue of Apollo Belvidere. It was found in a temple at Antium and for 300 years has stood in the belvidere of the Vatican, Rome.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Violent Temper an Agency of Disease. The "Cigarette Eye."

A medical correspondent of a daily newspaper gives a hint to families returning home to houses that have been practically unhabited during a long vacation. He has seen, he says, more than one outbreak of sore throat occasioned, in his belief, by families coming home to inhale air that has crept into the house through drain traps from which the water has evaporated. He recommends that upon entering the house after it has been wholly or in part shut up windows and doors should be thrown open and water taps turned on. Another writer adds a caution as to the water existing in the cisterns, stating that if six weeks the water in the cistern and in the leaden pipes is wholly unfit for use and should always be drawn off. A draught of cistern water should not be one of the initiatory of polluted air from disused drains may neutralize all the good of the summer holidays.

Straightening Irregular Teeth.

Irregular teeth are so disagreeable in appearance as to totally ruin what might otherwise be a handsome countenance. They may be caused by the early removal of baby teeth, hereditary tendency, disease or sickness before the teeth were formed, want of exercise to make the body grow, and diseased roots of the first set which push the second set out of position. In spite of all these causes the annoyance of irregular teeth may be much lessened or all put a child early and under the care of a competent dentist. He can straighten the growing teeth with much less trouble than later in life. And though the operation may be tedious and somewhat painful, it is one for which children will be grateful in after years.

Practice of Medicine in Minnesota.

Under a law recently passed in the Minnesota legislature the restrictions placed upon the practice of medicine in that state will be more severe than in any other part of the United States. All persons who wish to practice medicine must pass an examination before a board of nine persons, irrespective of whether they hold regular diplomas or not, and only those who have taken three courses of medical lectures will be permitted to the examination.

Making Paper Adhere to Metal.

The following formula for a mixture which can be used for metal, glass or wood, is given in Revue Photographique: Gum tragacanth, 30 grammes; acacia gum, 120 grammes; water, 500 c.c. Dissolve, filter, and add 25 grammes of glycerol dissolved in 125 c.c. of glycerine; then add enough water to make up the bulk to 1 liter. This bath will keep a long time.

Tracing Trichinæ in Pork.

The best mode of tracing or finding trichinæ in pork by means of a microscope, says Scientific American, is as follows: Cut a very thin piece from one of the ends or by means of a very sharp knife or razor. Press it between two glass slips, and examine by transmitted light. The coiled trichinæ may be readily distinguished from the muscle fiber.

Easy Way to Repair a Boiler Furnace.

When you have to repair your boiler furnace, says The Stationary Engineer, and cannot get any fire clay, take common earth mixed with water, in which you have dissolved a little rock or other salt; use same as fine clay; the furnace will last fully as long.

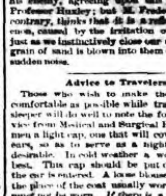
To Write on Glass.

An ink that will write on glass can be made from aniline violet or fuchsine dissolved in water and mixed with three times its weight of borium sulphate.

Self Mutilation of Animals.

An article in a recent number of La Nature discusses at length the power possessed by crabs and some other animals of casting off a limb when roughly injured or irritated. The description is accompanied by an illustration which we reproduce, showing how this act, for which the name "autotomy" is suggested, may be of use in allowing the animal to escape from its enemies.

M. Parize tried the experiment of placing a common crab near a large octopus, which is found on the coasts of Brittany and lives largely upon these crustacea. The octopus seized the crab by a claw with one of his tentacles, but as soon as the crab felt the pressure he quietly abandoned the unfortunate member and hurried away to a safer locality, and, if crabs have any sense of humor, doubtless laughed at the chagrin and discomfiture of the octopus, who was defrauded of his dinner in such an unfair manner. Fortunately the crab suffers little inconvenience from his self mutilation. In a short time a new limb is reproduced, fully equal to the old one, and ready to be abandoned in its turn if occasion requires. Lobsters and some other crustacea possess the same faculty, both of self dismemberment and reproduction of lost limbs. Certain spiders, on the contrary, although they can cast off their legs if necessary, never recover them, but remain partially crippled for the remainder of their lives.



OCTOPUS AND CRAB.

M. Parize considers that autotomy is largely a voluntary act and that the animal deliberately sacrifices his limb to escape from his enemy, agreeing upon this point with Professor Dugès; but Dr. Alvarez, on the contrary, thinks that it is a reflex phenomenon, caused by the irritation of the limb, just as unintentionally does one open when a grain of sand is blown into them or start at a sudden noise.

Advice to Travelers.

Those who wish to make themselves as comfortable as possible while traveling in a sleeper will do well to note the following advice from the Medical and Surgical Record: Procure a light cap, one that will cover over the ears, so as to serve as a nightcap, will be desirable. In cold weather a woolen cap is the best. Now, just as soon as you are in the car is entered. A loose blouse should take the place of the coat usually worn. Slippers must not be worn. If there is a draught in the car, face it, do not let it strike the back. Have the last made with its head toward the engine; this dust will then be driven to the rear, where it will do the least harm. But be sure to have a sufficient quantity of bedclothes to keep warm. A soft, loose knit woolen hood is the best headwear for women; this should be worn at night also. It should be warmer in winter than in summer months. The corsets should be removed at night and a loose woolen wrapper worn for a nightdress. Let stocking supporters, as well as everything band around the waist, should be removed.

Delicately Expressed.

No finer thought was ever passed than this: Knowles put into the mouth of Virginius. Correctly quoted, it reads:

I hear a voice so soft that nothing comes
'Twixt it and silence!

Restrictions on the Practice of Medicine in Minnesota—How to Discover Trichina in Pork—A Plan Devised for Adjusting the Zero of Thermometers.

Thermometers are known to alter with time, and Mr. Andrew Haddon has devised the plan for adjusting their zero, which is illustrated in the figure.

In this apparatus the thermometer tube is fastened at one end to a movable plate which can slide in the tube, so as to enable any one to adjust his instrument so as to agree with a standard thermometer, or with any other in his possession. The figure shows one of Mr. Haddon's in-

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

Suggestions About Hard Wood Floors. How to Serve a Fashionable Dinner.

Housekeepers are and plasterers in the serving of meals marks the American household of today, and many styles of dishes and plates are thus brought into requisition. Pleasantly does the fashion set on silks in shape and decoration, and meats and other dishes were served entire upon the table. A fashionable dinner is now served in courses with a separate design and style of plate for each course, the decoration being usually suggestive of the course to be served. No dishes appear on the table. The carving is done by the butler and the dishes served direct to the guests.

The order in serving a dinner of courses is usually as follows:

Oysters, soups, fish, entree, roast, game, salad, dessert, cream, coffee. Oysters are served on plates for the purpose. Five oysters in the usual number. Soup is served in a deep plate resting upon a flat plate, both of which are served and removed together. Fish plates are beautifully decorated with suggestive designs of different species of fish, coral, marine plants, etc.; a small crescent shaped plate for the fish bones accompanies these. Fish sauces are served in gravy boats and passed. For the roast the plate is of largest size and flat. Pineque shaped plates are much used for the dessert. Ice cream is served in cut glass dishes.

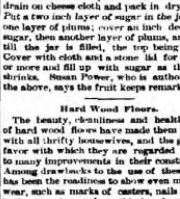
Heavy cut glass now represents the most elegant of fine glass for the table and is used for a variety of pieces, including the salad bowls, individual jelly cups and salts, bonbon dishes in old shapes of loaves, crescents, etc., as well as finger bowls, decanters and wine glasses. In fact the glass is quite as important an item in the artistically decorated table as the china.

A New Method of Keeping Plums.

An easy way of keeping plums that are firm and not over ripe is to cut out the stones, drain on clean cloth and pack in dry sugar. Put a two inch layer of sugar in the jar, then one layer of plums; cover an inch deep with sugar, then another layer of plums, and so on until the jar is filled, the top being sugar. Cover with cloth and a stone lid for a week or more and fill up with sugar as the fruit shrinks. Susan Power, who is authority for the above, says the fruit keeps remarkably.

Hard Wood Floors.

The beauty, cleanliness and healthfulness of hard wood floors have made them popular with all thrifty housewives, and the growing favor with which they are regarded has led to many improvements in their construction. Among the defects in the use of these floors has been the readiness to show even moderate wear, such as marks of casters, nails in shoe heels, etc. A remedy to this has been found in using the end of the wood instead of the side for the surface of the blocks, as it has long been known that the fine wearing surface of wood is on the end of the grain.



END WOOD DESIGN FOR A FLOOR.

An end wood design for a square room, reproduced from Decorator and Furnisher, is shown in the cut. Hard wood floors are to be seen in the finest class of houses, and continued trial only makes their advantages more manifest. Besides their durability, hard wood floors, especially those of end construction, have a beauty of color and grain which recommends them to the eye, and when used in conjunction with a plenitude of rich and heavy carpets, rugs and mats filling the requirements of a perfect floor.

Apple Pickles.

Peel enough apples to fill a jar of any size you may choose and preparing by the following receipt enough vinegar to cover them, pour it over the apples boiling hot and repeat the process for six successive days. The apples are not clear and tender by that time, turn the whole jarful into a ball metal kettle, and boil until the fruit is sufficiently soft to pierce with a fork. To each four pounds of fruit, which will about fill a gallon jar, put three pounds of brown sugar, one quart of cider vinegar, a tablespoonful of celery seed, a tablespoonful of powdered cinnamon and half dozen whole cloves.

Green Tomato Pickle.

For an excellent pickle of green tomatoes cut a peck of tomatoes in thin slices, sprinkle with salt, using about two teacupfuls, and let stand about two days; then drain off the brine, slice a dozen onions thin and mix together a fourth of a pound each of mustard and mustard seed, and an ounce each of ground cloves, allspice and pepper. Put the tomatoes, onions and spices into the preserving kettle, in layers, and cover with good vinegar. Boil slowly half an hour or until the tomato looks clear.

Brandied Fruit.

Peaches and pears for brandying should be peeled, and plums pricked to prevent bursting. Make a syrup with three-fourths of a pound or a pound of sugar, as is preferred, to a pound of fruit, using a small cupful of water to a pound of sugar. Let the syrup come to a boil, put the fruit in and boil five minutes. Remove the fruit carefully and let the syrup boil fifteen minutes longer, or until it thickens well; add one pint of brandy to four pounds of fruit and take the kettle from the fire. Pour the hot syrup over the fruit and seal.

Brown Sauce.

Brown sauce is an important source of savor in the cooking of the cheaper meats, and is greatly relished by all children and many grown people, with potatoes, rice and hot bread. Now, brown sauce is made in common parlance, a good, brown gravy. A little meat dripping and a little butter are placed over the fire, when hot a spoonful of flour is sprinkled, after which is poured on, a little at a time, enough boiling water to make the gravy, which is boiled and seasoned with salt and pepper.

Chocolate Caramels.

Two cupfuls of New Orleans molasses, two cupfuls of coffee sugar, one cupful of milk, butter the size of an egg, one large cupful of grated chocolate, to be stirred in when the mixture thickens. Flavor with vanilla. Pour on buttered tins and when nearly cool mark off into squares.

Two Points in Preserving.

Fruit that is to be preserved may be kept from turning a dark color by dropping it into cold water as fast as peeled.

Never let metal touch fruit and handle it as little as possible, is the rule of an authority in all sorts of fruit preserving.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

Nancy,
Her head is full of fancies,
That pretty head of Nancy's,
Of olden time romances
Of which brothers there are very six.
Adown her dreams there's dances
A vision that entrances
That tender heart of Nancy's,
And takes it in a canter.

Adown her dream there's peasant
A charge of knights with lances,
All smitten with the glances
Of Nancy, I will swear.
The question that she grants is
That little hand of Nancy's.
Though, in real life, the chance is
Her knight will have red hair.
—Boston Globe.

The Family Supplied.

"You love my daughter?" said the old man. "Love her!" he exclaimed passionately, "why, sir, I would die for her! For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish, a bleeding, bruised mass, upon the rocks two hundred feet below!"

The old man shook his head.

"I am somewhat of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."—New York Sun.

A Singular Woman.

She does not boast, makes no display,
But modestly she fills her station,
Though she's an object, people say,
Of wonder and of admiration.
An adored vision, maiden fair, or wife,
So every one declares that's most her,
She never added in her life
A postscript when she wrote a letter.
—Boston Courier.

A London View.

First English Lady—The paper says a number of American cities are being decorated and the streets are crowded in honor of the visit of a man named Cleveland.

Second English Lady—Dear me! Who can he be?

"Pat me see. They call him a president."

"Well, if they make such a fuss over a mere president what a jubilee they will have when Buffalo Bill gets back."—Omaha World.

Consolation.

The odor of the flowers we soon will miss,
The songs of birds, the sweet and smiling skies,
But consolation we receive in this,
The season's here for squash and pumpkin pies
—Boston Courier.

Behind the Times.

Mrs. Highmind—I suppose you go to church?

New Nurse Girl—Oh, yes, ma'am; every Sunday.

Mrs. H.—What texts does your minister choose, usually?

N. N. G.—They're all from the Bible.

Mrs. H.—I see; one of those old fashioned preachers.—Tid Bits.

The Season's Boree.

Every season brings vexation
With its jury and jubilation,
And this autumn, sweet comer,
Brings the thumping and the pounding
Piano pieces, too, sounding,
That were silent during summer.
—Boston Beacon.

Martyrdom.

Robinson stood on the corner, his attitude expressive of pain.

"What's the matter, Robinson?" inquired Dumley, who chanced to be passing. "Rheumatism again? You look sort of twisted."

"No," responded Robinson, "my wife has just made me half a dozen new shirts, and I've got one of 'em on."—New York Sun.

One Pleasure Succeeds Another.

And are the days of summer missed,
The vermant mead, the leafy grove?
Of course not; we can now play whist
And euchre by the parlor stove.
—Boston Courier.

A Marked Change.

Young Mr. Waldo—Your friend, Miss Walnut, looks somewhat sleepier than when she appeared on my last visit to Chicago, Miss Breezy.

Miss Breezy—Yes, I was saying to mamma only last evening, at the Baconian class, that Clara looked a trifle corn fed.—New York Sun.

Slightly.

Jest of age is Jones' sweetheart;
When he asked the little wit
If she loved him, she said pertly,
"Just a bit, a little bit."
—Tid Bits.

Just a Small Piece.

Chicago Young Lady (to dry goods clerk)—Can you let me have a sample of this silk?

Clerk—Certainly, madam. How large a piece would you like?

Chicago Young Lady—Oh, about the size of a pig's ear will be enough, I think.—Tid Bits.

The Same Old Chestnut.

The summer lights are dying,
And not without a reason,
For summer months have passed away,
And others are in season.
—Merchant Traveler.

Making Fast Time.

"Can you direct me to the Adelphi Hotel?" asked a stranger.

"Follow your nose, sir, for half a mile and you'll be there."

"I dodo believe I can. It's riddled so fadet I can't keep up with it," exclaimed the stranger, wiping his eyes.—New York Sun.

Logic.

The man who rides on the road,
A bicycle going by,
To prove going you have weight
A low weigh can must be.
—Tid Bits.

A Comfortable Assurance.

Passenger (on a Texas railroad)—Are we likely to reach Waco on time, conductor?

Conductor—Depends on the train robbers, Thanks, please.—New York Sun.

The Choicest.

All else I've most do, you know,
And loving hearts must sever;
But like the Jew of Eugene Sue,
I travel on forever.
—Mail and Express.

A Remarkable Dog.

There is a dog in Louisville that chews gum. Its conduct is all the more remarkable from the fact that it never went to Yassar college.—Norristown Herald.

Born So.

Barber to customer—You are quite bald, sir.

Customer (who isn't conversationally inclined)—Yes, I was born that way.—Epoch.

An Epigram.

"Silence is golden," said the sage.
But that was long ago;
The golden of that saying of
Is, "money talks," you know.
—Boston Courier.

—Mike Sweeny, the hackman Saturday night slapped Ramonetti in the face for demanding payment for oysters Sweeny had just eaten at his place, and a row ensued, which attracted a crowd and Policeman McCan, who arrested both men. The piece shortly opens at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, for a six months' run with the same cast with which it is to be given here to-morrow night.

PLAINFIELD'S BICYCLE FLYERS.

Ackerman Makes Nearly Sixteen Miles in Fifty-four and a Half Minutes.

Capt F. L. C. Martin, Marion Ackerman, and Geo. W. Morrison, all of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, started at 4:12 Saturday afternoon from the Park entrance to New Brunswick and return, the distance being stated as about sixteen miles, over forked roads crooked, rough and hilly. The riders are three of the Club's flyers, and how they flew may be judged when it is stated that the journey was made in fifty-four and three-quarter minutes by Mr. Ackerman, closely followed by the others, Mr. Martin being second.

It is said to have been one of the prettiest of races—the three machines, first one ahead and the other, lapping almost all the way, until within about two miles of the finish when Mr. Morrison shot ahead about twenty-five feet; but, coming to a fork in the road, and not knowing which road to take he—not having been over the road before—was compelled to fall back to second place. Each road one hundred yards of the finish Mr. Ackerman, who was last, sighted the Plainfield Club members waiting at the line to greet the racers, and instantly spurted, gaining first place, just as Mr. Morrison got into a wagon rut, while looking up a moment to see where the noise came from. Before he could get out of the rut he was fifty feet behind, or about three revolutions of the wheel. The vanquished and members all joined in cheers for Mr. Ackerman, who received a gold medal as a deserved testimonial of his hard-earned victory.

On the road the racers had some exciting adventures. At one point an ugly teamster undertook to block the way with a team of mules, but the mules seeing the three racers, led by Mr. Martin, coming on at such livemanded speed, were plunged and kicked, despite the frantic efforts of the teamster to quiet them. At another point two fine horses pasturing had got out on the road, and seeing the approaching racers friskily started on a run ahead of them as if for a race. But as the machines quickly gained on the horses, the latter astonished or frightened ran to the side of the road. On some parts of the road the racers had to ride on cobbles—the machines fairly jumping over them. But all got home safely without a mishap, delighted with the exhilarating hour's outing.

The Four O'Clock Meeting.

A very interesting and well attended meeting was held yesterday afternoon at four o'clock in Reform Hall by the W. C. T. U., conducted by Sealy Edsall. Miss Lizzie Brooks presided at the organ. Enthusiastic addresses on evangelistic temperance work were made by Mrs. J. C. Downs, State president of New Jersey W. C. T. U., Rev. Dr. Conningham, of this Plainfield W. C. T. U., Hon. and Mrs. Chauncy Shaffer, Mrs. J. W. Yates and others.

Mrs. Downs said among other things that of all the thirty-nine different departments of the W. C. T. U. work, she regarded the evangelistic department the most important of them all. The W. C. T. U. was born in prayer, and it would be a sad day when they forgot this important fact, and left their first love. She loved this department, and here could be enlisted all the different elements of the work, and such a force ought to be as large as cannot be done in any other part of the work. All agree that evangelistic efforts are commendable and beneficial always, and so more can be intrusted in this department than in any other.

Teachers' Meeting.

The Somerset County Teachers' Association held a meeting in the North Plainfield Public School last Saturday morning. There were about 100 persons present. The meeting was called to order about ten o'clock by Mr. J. J. Gaius, President of the Association. After the opening exercises the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. A ballot on business forms was given by W. A. Coddington, followed by a general discussion. Mr. B. C. Gregory of Newark, delivered an address on State Reading Circle. The Association then adjourned for dinner.

The afternoon session was called to order at 1:40 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. W. M. Griffin of Newark delivered an address on "New Education." Committee on Resolutions offered thanks for use of building and Committee on Music. Adopted a resolution of condolence on the death of one of their members. Mr. R. S. Doyle read a paper on "School Law." The meeting then adjourned to the first Saturday in February, 1888, at Raritan, N. J.

The Reform Club.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis, a West Virginia minister, delivered an interesting temperance lecture at Reform Hall last evening. He said that the best way to increase the work was to educate the children of the country to understand the effect of alcohol upon the human system. High license, he claimed, and local option had failed to check the total abstinence —prohibition—is the only remedy for the saloon-evil.

After the lecture it was announced that the speaker at next Sunday's meeting will be Mr. S. A. Hadley of Netherwood, who is engaged in the work of temperance among the commercial travelers of the country. Thursday Oct. 27, is the date set for the first of a series of interesting lectures on various subjects. This course has been chosen to add interest to the Thursday evening meetings. The speaker on Oct. the 27th, will be the Rev. W. E. Honeyman, whose subject will be on his trip among the Mormons. The Rev. Dr. Ketcham will deliver the second lecture of the course.

—The German Gesang und Turning Society have received for their new $30,000 building on Somerset street, ten monster stones by freight, weighing 58,040 lbs or nearly three tons for each stone. The stones are red granite from Italy, and are bought over as ballast in vessels and sold very cheap to get rid of them. Some of the stones have been already unloaded in front of the lot.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

TOPICS THE READERS OF THE NEWS FIND TO WRITE ABOUT.

The Junior O. U. A. M. is Snowmothingism.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS:—Having taken so long to formulate a reply your readers expected from the Junior O. U. A. M. something more than skillful evasion of a simple question which the mere reading of their resolutions would suggest. I challenged them to determine who were the foreigners whose competition they conspire to destroy; and I accused them of knowthingism as a logical consequence of their avowed objects. The question remains unanswered and the allegation undenied and good. Let us analyze the reply such as it is.

1st. They commence by referring to the institution of the order in May, 1853, and its progress since then, but they give no statistics. Now, I turn to the American supplement to Chambers' Encyclopedia, Vol. 6, page 194, and under that date I find the following record: "Knownothingism, or the political party of the United States which was organized in 1853 and in 1854 carried several of the States, elected 100 members of Congress, and elevated Millard Fillmore for the presidency, taking as its name the 'American party.' It was organized for the purpose of opposing the naturalization of foreigners. After 1856 it rapidly disappeared from existence." Knownothingism has remained unchanged except in wardrobe and in name.

2d. They disclaim connection with the Trades or Labor Unions or any intention to control labor or capitol. In other words, they disclaim to be the clergy of industrial, social, commercial or otherwise, and yet in their resolutions they state their object to be "to maintain the principles of true Americanism, to shield them from effects of their competition in any department; to obtain labor for American men, to encourage American homes and all this to the exclusion of foreigners whom I have already shown can be no others than the so-called working classes." Which is, in substance, no mean an intention to control capital and labor, words have no meaning.

3d. In a subsequent "county-ous" lines and eight distinct ideas, requiring the lungs of a giant to utter, they give us the fundamental principle of a doctrine of inherent rights and which by designating "liberty" requirements, as in "to the native born belong the rights and privileges of our free institutions." The O. U. A. M. should remember they are not living under the federal system, neither are they in England under the law of primogeniture but under the combination of the United States where the youngest son has equal rights with the eldest and the youngest citizen with the oldest. We have inherent rights so far as we are the representatives of our ancestors. These are the inherent requirement, but a more right of conquest, and the power to distribute or donate that right is in the constitution, which can be altered by what it has received, viz.: citizenship not birth hereditament.

4th. The O. U. A. M. teaches its members that the right to "protection" from what is inherent to all "Nations." Yes but the use of this power supposed unjust aggression, but legitimate competition amongst citizens of the same nation is not unjust aggression.

5th. The O. U. A. M. "offers no asylum to the oppressed of all nations." Are we to understand by this that they are invited to slavery to the "Americans" with the privilege of adoption. It reminds one of the old nursery rhyme, "Will you walk into my parlor said the spider to the fly."

6th. The O. U. A. M. wound up with the old knownothing rant of danger to our sacred institutions, viz., laws, institutions, our national progress, etc. Who made our customs sacred? Who framed our constitution? Who designed our institution and made our laws? I feel proud to narrate an historic fact that the best blood of our battle fields, the best brains of the forum and senate, and the best muscle in the national progress of the land belong to those who could say, "foreigner by descent, I hate oppression; American by adoption, I love liberty."

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

Comparisons.

THE NEWS long ago established its reputation for excellence, but it seems to have dawned on the rather obtuse intellects of the proprietors of the saloon-sheet only last week. A hand bill containing a beautiful miniature of THE NEWS, the standard of the Plainfield people, was circulated and unfolded with the New York Sunday papers yesterday hereabouts, and a miniature of the saloon-sheet printed beside it in such good company was thereby smuggled into respectable families, to whom the obnoxious sheet could not be even given away, so repulsive is its very appearance. The hand bill said "That intelligent people read the paper that gives the news," and "The prosperous advertiser uses the paper the people read." As THE NEWS is the only local paper read by all our people, and used by advertisers to the exclusion of all the other prosperous advertisers, it isn't necessary to issue a hand bill on Sunday to tell people that. They read the overwhelming evidence in these columns every day of the week. In the hand bill is an appeal for advertisers to advertise in the saloon-sheet. But the doctors don't take their own medicine. Experience has taught them what every prosperous advertiser in Plainfield long ago found out—that an advertisement in such a disreputable sheet doesn't accomplish the object, and all, like even the owners of the sheet, after a fair trial, discarded it as n. g. We don't need to call the people's attention to the merits of THE NEWS. It speaks for itself.

The saloon-organ makes "a compact on for a day." Here is a comparison for every day. Five columns of THE NEWS contain 21,800 ems of news by measurement EVERY DAY, while the saloon-sheet's 6 columns contain only 19,000 ems. We need go no further. The saloon-organ issued the hand bill infolded with its regular edition, but evidently finding that the "Comparison for a Day" was exceedingly flattering to THE NEWS, they had the hand-ing cut off in the lot sent through the Sunday morning papers. We are indebted to our neighbor for the kindness (?) in trying to help us advertise our advertisers. They enjoy it hugely. We, too.

—All members of the Reception Committee of the Y. M. C. A. are urged to be present at their business meeting this evening at nine o'clock.

—The Republican City Executive Committee held a meeting Saturday evening, and took steps towards securing a proper registration of voters.

—According to no law an authority than Gray—in Congdon's botany, the buckwheat plant is one month tenacious of life, remaining many years in fields where it has once been cultivated. Its blossoms are filled with honey and prove a great attraction to bees.

The Union County Grand Jury Presents 26 Indictments.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 17.—The Grand Jury brought in twenty-six indictments at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and then retired for the consideration of further business. It is understood that bills have been found against all the Plainfield "fire-bugs," but of course this will not be known until to-morrow morning, when the prisoners will be brought into court to plead.

Half a Million Fire.

JAMESTOWN, Chautauqua County, Oct. 17.—The Kent House, the Lake View House and many cottages are burning at Lakewood, on the outlet of the lake. The fire is extending so far at half a million dollars. Assistance has been asked from Maysville and other neighboring towns.

The wife of John Cole of Hackettstown gave birth to a child October 6, and a day or two after she was taken with diphtheria and died on Tuesday. The baby died on the estimated, and on Thursday, before the funeral arrangements were completed, another child of the family was stricken with the disease and M. Cole's sister, Miss Clara Stephens of Mount Olive, aged 16, died from the same cause on Wednesday. Miss Stephens's home and boarder in the house have the disease.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lucy Kennedy of San Francisco, Cal., is visiting at Mr. R. R. Miller's on Ninth street.

Miss Lily Parish of St. Louis is sojourning at the elegant home of that most excellent Plainfielder, Hon. James Clark of Seventh street.

Mr. B. Smith of Shawmut avenue, Boston, Mass., has come to permanently reside in Plainfield, locating on Evona avenue, with his family.

The Young People's Association of the First Baptist church will hold a social at the residence of George F. Brown, Grove street, Thursday night.

Justice J. Oakley Nodyne, who is also overseer of the poor of Plainfield, says that Mrs. Beard, arrested Friday for drunkenness, does not depend upon the city for support, as reported.

The first reception of the pupils of Rodman's seminary, Mrs. R. C. Dingee, Principal, took place Saturday evening. The committee on entertainment consisted of Miss Daft, Miss Hanchett and Master Clarence Titsworth. The entertainment consisted of games, dancing, etc., and all seemed to highly enjoy themselves.

The friends and relatives of Mr. E. D. Hatfield were pleased at his residence in Fanwood to celebrate his 91st birthday, yesterday. Mr. Hatfield, although so aged, is in possession of all his faculties, and is bright and lively, enjoys good health and a good appetite. He is the father of seven children, one of whom is Mrs. Hoagland of East Front street. All his children are married, and four have families. His oldest child is now 67 years old. There were his seven children, eleven grandchildren and two great grandchildren at his residence last evening—quite a re-union.

Rev. Dr. Ketcham, Rev. Messrs. Honeyman and Hunter and Mr. N. Lovell, started this morning as delegates from this locality to attend the annual meeting of the Synod of the Presbytery of New Jersey, which convenes at three o'clock this afternoon in Educational Hall, Asbury Park, and continues in session about three days, with some 500 delegates from all over the State in attendance. An Exciting Runaway.

John H. Albert, baker, on Cottage Place, was in his wagon this morning on North avenue when the breechin broke. The horse began to kick violently and ran away, turning into Park avenue and running toward Front street. Going but a few rods the railroad bridge a train passed overhead, greatly adding to the horse's fright. Mr. Albert, finding that he could not stop the animal jumped from the wagon, when near Fourth street, fearing for the safety of the injury. Cakes and bread were strewn over the thoroughfare and the wagon was somewhat injured, The horse with only a few cuts and bruises was caught corner of Fourth and Washington streets.

—The regular business meeting of the "Y" will be held in their parlors, 55 East Front street, on Wednesday evening, at a quarter before four, instead of four o'clock. Miss Mary Mather, formerly of this city, at present National Secretary of the Health Department of the W. C. T. U., will address the meeting. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

—The fair for the benefit of St. Mary's Church netted about $1,000. The net proceeds of the last evening proved to be the most successful held in that parish for many years past. The net receipts were $2,210, and the result is very gratifying to Father Smyth and the members of the congregation.

—The trial of the case of Chas. W. Dodd, vs. Garret Smith for alleged illegal liquor selling and gambling on Aug. 28th and 29th last was called this afternoon and upon Mr. Smith swearing that a material witness was not on hand was adjourned to Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

SHOT ON THE WAY FROM CHURCH.

A Chicago Banker Probably Murdered by His Stepson.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Mr. Stephen W. Rawson, a well known banker of this city, and connected with the Union Trust company, was fatally shot on Sunday morning near the Third Presbyterian church, at the corner of Ashland and Ogden avenues, by his stepson, Ralph W. Glaymaker. The shooting occasioned great excitement, as it occurred as the worshipers at the church were proceeding homeward. Mr. Rawson, who had attended services at the church, started toward the south entrance as the great organ was still thundering its finale, and started diagonally across Ogden avenue on his way to his residence at 496 West Monroe street. Glaymaker, who had been loitering in the vicinity of the church for nearly an hour, when he saw Rawson come forth, ran along the avenue until he was within eight feet of the banker. Then he drew a large nickel plated revolver from one of the pockets of his overcoat, and grasping the handle of the weapon with both hands, fired into the back of the helpless man. He fell from the force of the blow and knees, but before he struck the earth another bullet was lodged in his body. The young assassin did not advance as he fired, but stood just where he had fired on the gutter. When his aged victim fell Glaymaker turned his revolver down upon the prostrate body and fired three times in succession. He did not move while he was being urged the five cartridges in his revolver. Glaymaker was arrested.

Meantime the wounded banker had risen to his feet unassisted, but he could not stand, and was compelled to lie down on the grass plot in front of the church. As soon as possible a carriage was procured and he was removed to his residence and received surgical attendance. It was found that all five bullets had taken effect. Four of them were removed, but the fifth it was deemed best not to probe for, owing to the low vitality of the sufferer. It was not believed last night that Mr. Rawson could recover.

It is stated that the shooting comes from domestic troubles. Mr. Rawson recently applied for a divorce from his wife, America L. Lee, to whom he was married twice. The stepson, Ralph W. Glaymaker, or William R. Lee, as he was sometimes called, took his mother's part, and was greatly incensed against Mr. Rawson by Mr. Rawson against her. This indignation, it is thought, inspired him to do the cowardly and bloody act.

THE PRESIDENT AT BELL MEADE.

Southern Hospitality at the Famous Stock Farm.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 17.—Nashville has put on its holiday attire, and presents a decidedly picturesque appearance. The presidential party has spent most of the day very quietly at Gen. Jackson's mansion at Belle Meade, a typical southern home. The hospitality of its owner, the beauty of its surroundings, and the thrilling incidents which mark its history justly merit for Bell Meade this title.

It is the birthplace of more than one who has served his country and been honored by his fellows, and within its beloved precincts and handsome paddocks have gone forth that superb string of thoroughbreds that have proved the admiration of the country and the fortune of their possessors. Belle Meade now comprises the finest stock farm in the south and embraces about 4,000 acres of the richest soil.

Yesterday morning, after a late breakfast, the President, Mrs. Cleveland and Col. Lamont, accompanied by Gen. Jackson, took a stroll about the grounds and visited their pet, "Uncle Bob," the famous keeper of the stud, was delighted with the opportunity afforded him to exhibit the "flyers" under his care, and made the most of it.

Father McTighe Changed His Mind.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 17.—Rev. Father McTighe, pastor of St. Malachi's Roman Catholic church, whose recent election as principal of the Thirty-third ward school engendered public school created intense excitement in both Catholic and Protestant circles, gave out for publication yesterday afternoon that he would resign the principalship of the school to-day, citing as a reason that the sisters had refused to proceed with their public examinations of the pupils in each day of the school. After a long consultation with his confrerer, Father Tobin, he was prevailed upon to reconsider the matter. Another effort will be made to secure a private examination of sisters for the positions of teachers. Should this fail an attempt will be made to secure lay teachers for Catholic young ladies residing in the ward. The new turn of events has intensified the interest in the situation, and the end is not yet.

One Man Rides Two Stages.

He was held in default of $2,500 bail.

Dead in a Pool of Blood.

PATTERSON, N. J., Oct. 17.—Thomas F. Cook, age 38, of No 38 Jefferson street, was found dead in a pool of blood in the alleyway of his house in the rear of Main street late on Saturday night. He was formerly a clerk in the treasury department at Washington, but had been out of employment lately and had been drinking heavily.

Deserted Her Guilt.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 17.—Hattie Walstern, who was arrested here on suspicion of having killed Dr. Harlan, the dentist and well known sporting man, and also of having fled from the scene of the fatal crime, made a confession of her guilt Saturday night. Afterward she attempted suicide by taking poison, but was alive at a late hour.

Working Hours and Pay Reduced.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 17.—The 1,800 employees of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad shops at Topeka were notified Saturday of a reduction in their working time from ten to nine hours a day with a corresponding decrease in pay. This will result in a saving of over $2,000 a week to the company

COMMITTEE OF NECESSITY.

ORGANIZED TO SECURE THE PUNISHMENT OF BRIBERY.

Akin to the Vigilantes—Encouraged by the Successful Prosecution of New York Boodlers—A Presidential Aspirant Said to be the Leader.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Never since the early days of the Vigilantes has San Francisco been so thoroughly aroused to the realization of the enormity of bribery existing in its midst as now. What little success was obtained in meting out punishment to a few of those implicated only seems to have whetted a desire for wholesale clean-up of the pursuit of judge and jury bribery.

One more step was gained in this direction during the past week, though not so advantageous as it would appear on the surface. The conviction of Jury Briber Emerson, who pleaded guilty of an attempt to bribe a juror in the "Little Jack" case, was hailed at first as a great victory, but mature reflection has made clear the fact that his conviction was really a vicarious sacrifice for insuring the safety of others who hold a higher position than a lawyer's clerk. It has been a matter of public comment that he was paid a large sum of money to forego trial and plead guilty, in order to prevent a thorough investigation of the case, which would undoubtedly lead to dangerous disclosures, and implicate the masters of a ring of jury fellows than their employed, but generally stated to be Chris A. Buckley, of Bush street. This justicious disposal of Emerson, and the gagging of the same influence, of "Little Pete," who is now imprisoned at Folsom for bribery, will possibly prevent the moral probe entering further in a direction which might lead to the door of Buckley and his principal lieutenants.

The alleged attempt to bribe Judge Sullivan in the celebrated Sharon divorce case has come out of sight like a meteor appearing in mid ocean when Judge Sullivan testified before the grand jury that no such attempt was made. While ex-Senator D. S. Terry, who made the charge, had to admit that the basis of his allegation was merely a street rumor, and so an anxiously anticipated sensation fizzled out. Another effort at a sensation one, is now being followed in an effort to punish some of those charged with attempted jury fixing in the Wright vs. Geery street boodle case. Ex-Watchman Hall, that Creighton, already convicted in this connection, has fled and that the principle witnesses have left the country, are the principal explanations of those believed to be the instigators of the crime is being vigorously carried on. These are R. F. Morrow and James McCord, the former a reputed millionaire, and the latter also a wealthy man, with the powerful influence of prominent persons at his command. It is thought many express small hopes of escaping a conviction result in either case, yet others say: "If millionaires have been convicted in New York and Chicago of similar crimes, why should they not be convicted here?" To such an extent are the best people of the city awakened to the state of affairs that a secret organization has been formed, said to have as its head W. T. Coleman, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the chief magistracy of this country, and who has figured as leader of the Vigilantes in their good work of the early days. It is known as the "Committee of Necessity," and is composed of 100 members, who subscribe $5 monthly to a fund which is to be used in aiding the grand jury in its work of purifying municipal matters in general and prosecuting bribery cases in particular. The latest phase of the Morrow case was his being cast into jail on Saturday, notwithstanding that he was under $50,000 bonds to appear for trial. The prosecution evidently does not mean to take any chances in the matter.

Reading Knights Satisfied.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 17.—The Knights of Labor coal miners' district assembly met here yesterday, was attended by 300 delegates, representing the employes of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad. The work performed by the convention was the filling of vacancies on the color blind tests. The present action of the company in reference to color blindness was favorably received. The convention passed resolutions condemning the action of coal operators in their treatment of the strikers and the Pinkerton detectives, with the exception of William B. Lundy, the engineer, were only slightly hurt. Lundy was badly injured internally. The roof, which was loaded with coal, fell in, and the groaning and sighing of the wounded men, as they uttered heavy groans, gave way slowly from its fastenings, otherwise all the men might have been killed.

When Obedience Must be Rendered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A letter from Archbishop Corrigan was read in all the Catholic churches in this city yesterday, calling upon all pastors to urge their congregations to contribute liberally. Collections to be taken up on the last Sunday in October to be presented to the pope on the occasion of his jubilee. The archbishop also reminds them of duty to obey the holy father, not only in purely theological matters, but also in matters of discipline connected with the church.

Justice Overtakes a Thief.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—Two years ago the vault in the city collector's office in East St. Louis was entered by burglars and $43,000 in scrip and $8,000 in cash stolen. Exchequer Dorsey and Cashier Wyman were arrested on an indictment charging him with entering into a conspiracy with a professional burglar, Charles Coleman; Lloyd Bates, the burglar; Dr. Eugene Johns, and a liquor seller, P. Eagan, for the purpose of plundering the vault.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN IN ST. LOUIS

He Announces That He Has Become a Roaring Lion.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—Yesterday morning an elderly man of somewhat aspect entered the Southern hotel and inscribed the following on the register: "George Francis Train, from Rocks-town," which the clerk inferred was a reflection on Chicago's mayor. In the afternoon Train lectured in the workingmen's hall to about 200 Anarchists and Socialists. His subject was: "How to Save the Republic from Anarchy, Revolution and Chaos." The first remedy, he said, was to release the seven condemned Anarchists, the second to quit voting, and the third to guarantee free speech. "Fourteen years I have been playing with the rabbits and children in Madison square," he said, "but now the tide that comes in every man's affairs has come in mine, and I am a roaring lion. A great change, isn't it? I don't care for these seven men, but the principle of free speech that they represent I am defending."

Train further then went on to predict a state of things in which cyclones, panics, and crumbling stock markets were the chief features. He denounced Chicago in the strongest language, and was particularly severe on Mayor Roche. He announced that if treated right he would make his home in St. Louis and play the city against Chicago. He has rented the Apollo theatre for three nights next week, and will lecture on the coming reign of terror. The police have not yet interfered with him, but probably will do so if he continues in the present strain.

THE STATUE TO GEN. MEADE.

To be Unveiled To-morrow.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—All arrangements for the unveiling of the equestrian statue of Gen. George G. Meade to-morrow have been completed. The general committee having the dedicatory and other ceremonies in charge met Saturday afternoon at 206 South Sixth street, and heard final reports from all sub-committees.

Col. John E. Biddle will be chief marshal, and Gen. B. F. Fisher will be his chief of staff. A number of Gen. Meade's staff officers have accepted invitations to assist Col. Biddle and Gen. Fisher, who will select members of the staff. The cavalry post, No. 33, will report mounted to the department commander of the Grand Army as his personal guard.

The route of the parade will be from Broad and Spring Garden streets, up Spring Garden to the park entrance northwest to the statue, which will be unveiled. North of Memorial hall the comrades will march in sections of eight. Each post has secured a band of music. Each of the military organizations will have a band, as will also the several cadet corps. Col. Theodore R. Westerfelten, chairman of the reception committee on invitations, said fifty general officers of the Union army had accepted invitations to be present at the unveiling.

A Canadian Minister on Commercial Union

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 17.—Though one of its members, Hon. A. G. Jones, represents the state, the government has at last fixed its position in regard to the agitation now going on in connection with the commercial union movement. In the course of his remarks at a public banquet tendered him at Montreal on his return from France, Mr. Chapleau declared that the government said: "Commercial union is an idea which can never prevail in Canada. It is impossible in its present premature state. It started in the United States for revenge. The latter made a large fortune in the States, now sought naturally as the father of this movement. It could not succeed, because it would destroy our Canadian industries and our Canadian nationality."

A Child's Fearful Death.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 17.—The 3-year-old daughter of H. W. Compton, superintendent of the Toledo public school system, met with a terrible death Saturday evening. The little one was playing in the parlor of the family residence, and her mother left the room and in a few moments she heard a scream from the child. Returning to the room she discovered that the little girl had fallen into the open natural gas fire which was burning made a large furtune in the States, now sought naturally as the father of this movement. It could not succeed, because it would destroy our Canadian industries and our Canadian nationality."

Concerning the Knut Disaster.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 17.—Dr. Charles L. Wright, of Huntington, Ind., a surgeon of the Chicago & Atlantic railroad, has resigned his position and states that in doing so his sympathy goes with those who remain in the company's employ. Dr. Wright adds that he was badly injured at Knut and sought to communicate with his friends by telegraphing, but this favor the company refused him. He says the officials are forced to take unsafe locomotives on the road, and that on the night of the accident Engineers Dorsey and Wyman were refused a supply of sand before leaving Chicago.

Married His Father's Bookkeeper.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 17.—The young couple, who said they were from Norwalk, Conn., were married by Justice of the Peace Wood in Jersey City late on Saturday night. The groom was Frederick Thomas Lee, aged 21, and the woman said she was Elizabeth Frances Reynolds. Farrar, who is a well known young fellow, told the justice that his father was a wealthy woolen manufacturer. The woman whom he married, he said, was a bookkeeper in his father's employ. Justice Wood said the couple acted a little timid, and were anxious that the marriage should not be made public.

The Cafferel Scandal in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—Quite a flutter of excitement exists in French Canadian society here over the decorations scandal in France. This is owing to the fact that many French Canadian statesmen, politicians, lawyers and professional men wear the ribbons of the decorations in question. Senator Beniveau, who was buried Saturday, wore the legion of honor, which it was openly charged had been purchased by him from friends of Gen. Boulanger.

ACCUSED OF SIX MURDERS

THE DEXTER BANK ROBBERS' HISTORIES LEAKING OUT.

A Sheriff Relates a Terrible Story—Poisoning Their Victims in Order to Secure Money—Fourteen Years of Undetected Crime.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—It may not be possible to fasten upon Stain and his gang the murder of Cashier Barron, of the Dexter bank, but there is already enough known about them to send them probably to prison for the full term of their lives. It is charged that at least six murders and as many big robberies committed during the last fourteen years can be traced to these men.

About four years ago a farmer named Messenger, in Norfolk, Mass., was found murdered in his house and about $1,800 in money was missing. The gang was living in a house twelve miles from Messenger's house. Young Stain, who has confessed to Sheriff Mitchell his share in a good many crimes, says that one morning he, his father and Cromwell went to Norfolk, where the old man Messenger was known to have come into the possession of a large sum of money. They arrived at Norfolk in the evening. Young Stain drove the horses and remained with them while the other two went on foot to the house of Messenger. They returned not long after, bringing a small bag which contained the money. They divided the booty in the wagon. They said they did not get as much as they expected, but Stain's share was about $500. Young Stain says his father told him they did not kill Messenger, but that he would probably die.

Sheriff Mitchell says the murderers got into the house while Messenger's wife and daughter were absent, and found him in bed. He refused to tell where his money was but a thorough search by him terribly alarmed him and bound him with a rope to the bed. They then searched the house and at last found about $1,000. There was $500 more secreted in an old clock, but the robbers failed to find it. The detectives who worked on the case noticed at the time that the bed was saturated with lye or saltpetre, as in the case of Barron, at Dexter.

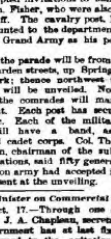
Sheriff Mitchell relates a horrible story about Cromwell and the elder Stain. Young Stain says that a farmer named Goodale, of Medfield, was picked out by the gang as a good one to operate upon. They determined to secure Goodale's farm, which adjoined one owned by Stain. Cromwell and young Stain went to Steele's place one day, taking with them a bottle of whisky, in which had been put a heavy dose of arsenic. When they reached Steele's house they engaged the old man in conversation and offered him a drink of the poisoned whisky, with he took and died soon after. It was part of the scheme that young Stain should marry Steele's daughter, live with her a little while, and then kill her and secure the farm; but the young man refused to carry out his part of the plot, and so it fell through.

Another murder was committed in a similar manner. A man named Hammond owned a farm adjoining Stain's, which the latter coveted. Stain determined to murder him. The gang went to his place with poisoned whisky and found the farmer busy in his barn handling an ugly bull. The animal pinned Hammond to the barn, but did not injure him. The poisoned whisky was administered and Hammond died. The gang made it appear that the bull had inflicted injuries which caused the farmer's death. Stain failed, however, to get possession of the farm.

DELANCEY NICOLL'S POPULARITY.

A Character by His Party Which He Has Well Earned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Young Men's Democratic club had issued an address urging upon the Democratic organizations of this city and county the nomination of Delancey



ASST. DIST. ATT'Y NICOLL.

Nicoll as the proper candidate for district attorney, in view of the fact that it is generally conceded "that the present able and distinguished district attorney will be promoted to the criminal bench, in recognition of the important services he has rendered to the city by his courageous administration of the duties of his office." The address continues: "Mr. Nicoll has demonstrated his peculiar fitness for the discharge of the important duties which, especially at this time, devolve upon the district attorney of this county. His course has particularly recommended him to the party, since he has shown that in the discharge of his duties as a public prosecutor neither wealth nor political influence nor power can secure immunity from punishment. He represents in this community the principle of a vigorous, courageous and impartial enforcement of the criminal law. He has no entangling alliances of wealth or influence. If it should happen that through personal friendship or local interests or the accidents of a convention the nomination should go to another candidate, there is grave reason to fear that the failure to nominate Mr. Nicoll would be considered by the party as a repudiation of principles of which he stands to-day before the people as the most conspicuous representative."

Murder and Robbery.

CAIRO, Ills., Oct. 17.—A widow named Moore, aged about 60 years, was murdered Saturday at her home near Woodville, in Ballard county, Ky., just across the river from here. She was living with her two grown sons, who had gone out into the field to work, and when they returned found their mother lying on the floor, face downward, with the back of her head beaten to a jelly. It was evident that the object of the murderer was robbery, as the house had been ransacked. There was a large sum of money in the house, but the murderers failed to find it.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 17.—The sixty-fourth annual stated session of the Presbyterian synod of the state of New Jersey began in Educational hall on Third avenue this morning. Nearly 300 ministers will attend the meetings to be held during the week. The synod will take decided action upon the subjects of Sabbath desecration, temperance and other leading questions.

EVIDENTLY SOLID FOR POWDERLY

It is Probable the Finding and Firing Will Have to Badge.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 17.—The storm rain which set in Saturday, and which continued almost without intermission until this morning, broke up several delegations in that city, and kept the delegates within doors. The rotunda of the West hotel was crowded from morning to night, and the scenes of Saturday in the assembly and the proceedings of the past week were discussed with vigor. The leaders of both sides worked hard to secure supporters, the anti-administration men making the most of the argument that the proposed concentration of power in the hands of the general master workman would be fatal to the Order, and to the principles for which it was established. It is charged that at least six murders and as many big robberies committed during the last fourteen years can be traced to these men.

About four years ago a farmer named Messenger, in Norfolk, Mass., was found murdered in his house and about $1,800 in money was missing. The gang was living about twelve miles from Messenger's house. Young Stain, who has confessed to Sheriff Mitchell his share in a good many crimes, says that one morning he, his father and Cromwell went to Norfolk, where the old man Messenger was known to have come into the possession of a large sum of money. They arrived at Norfolk in the evening. Young Stain drove the horses and remained with them while the other two went on foot to the house of Messenger. They returned not long after, bringing a small bag which contained the money. They divided the booty in the wagon. They said they did not get as much as they expected, but Stain's share was about $500. Young Stain says his father told him they did not kill Messenger, but that he would probably die.

Sheriff Mitchell says the murderers got into the house while Messenger's wife and daughter were absent, and found him in bed. He refused to tell where his money was but a thorough search by him terribly alarmed him and bound him with a rope to the bed. They then searched the house and at last found about $1,000. There was $500 more secreted in an old clock, but the robbers failed to find it. The detectives who worked on the case noticed at the time that the bed was saturated with lye or saltpetre, as in the case of Barron, at Dexter.

Sheriff Mitchell relates a horrible story about Cromwell and the elder Stain. Young Stain says that a farmer named Goodale, of Medfield, was picked out by the gang as a good one to operate upon. They determined to secure Goodale's farm, which adjoined one owned by Stain. Cromwell and young Stain went to Steele's place one day, taking with them a bottle of whisky, in which had been put a heavy dose of arsenic. When they reached Steele's house they engaged the old man in conversation and offered him a drink of the poisoned whisky, with he took and died soon after. It was part of the scheme that young Stain should marry Steele's daughter, live with her a little while, and then kill her and secure the farm; but the young man refused to carry out his part of the plot, and so it fell through.

Another murder was committed in a similar manner. A man named Hammond owned a farm adjoining Stain's, which the latter coveted. Stain determined to murder him. The gang went to his place with poisoned whisky and found the farmer busy in his barn handling an ugly bull. The animal pinned Hammond to the barn, but did not injure him. The poisoned whisky was administered and Hammond died. The gang made it appear that the bull had inflicted injuries which caused the farmer's death. Stain failed, however, to get possession of the farm.

Methodist Church Burned.

RAHWAY, N. J., Oct. 17.—The Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church in Central avenue was badly burned yesterday morning. The fire was caused by a defective flue. The church is located in a thickly settled part of the city, and a high wind caused great fear of an extensive conflagration. The efficient work of the fire department alone prevented it.

PROCLAIMED MEETING.

GENERAL O'BRIEN ADDRESSES THE MULTITUDE.

The Proclamation Burned—The Police Completely Outwitted—Balfour Protected by Detectives—The Proceedings Enthusiastic, but Orderly.

DUBLIN, Oct. 17.—There was fun all over Ireland to-day. The government has again been put in the position of having itself laughed at, so Ireland will laugh while it may. The proclaimed meeting at Woodford, county Galway, has been held despite the activity of Dublin Castle and its scurrying thither of policemen on confiscated jaunting cars.

This was the unwelcome news that met Mr. Arthur J. Balfour, surnamed the Bloody, when, closely guarded by two detectives, he landed at Kingstown yesterday morning.

The scene of the meeting is owned by a rich one. It is a little town and Lord Clanricarde owns all the neighboring lands. He is one of the hereditary bondsmen of Ireland whose title is none the better that it goes back to Norman times, when an English king gave one De Burgh a grant of Irish lands in Galway. They have held on to some of it ever since, and the present lord's tenants have refused to pay his rackrents, and many and bitter have been the fights this summer, when he evicted many families. The "plan of campaign" was put in operation. The tenants paid the reduced rents the office of Clanricarde's agent in National league trustee, and Woodford has been a "hot corner" ever since. Hence when Balfour's Dublin minions made up their minds to hold a meeting in the Woodford branch of the league and were followed by another proclamation forbidding the people to meet yesterday to hear William O'Brien and other popular persons, it was felt that it would be worth while to defy Dublin castle if ever it was defied.

Woodford has but a small police barracks and a handful of constables, but reinforcements to arrive yesterday morning were hurried on to the number of 400. It is away from the railroads.

On Saturday evening the little town was quiet as usual. The telegraph so reported. Before midnight Woodford could not be "shouted up," and the officials in Dublin were alarmed.

The meeting was organized regularly and William O'Brien began his speech. A strong force of police surrounded the hall to prevent their right to meet and discuss their grievances. They were there to prove that free speech could not be muzzled in Ireland or the league put down. They were there to show that the Irish people defied Tory coercion.

"Here," said he, holding up a poster, "is Balfour's proclamation forbidding you to meet in Woodford to-day."

Loud groans and jeers answered this. Holding it up for the people to look at, he went on:

"And this symbolizes what it amounts to." As he spoke he threw the proclamation into the flame of a torch. As it blazed he flung it from him, and the crowd, wild with excitement, stamped the ashes into the ground.

Other league meetings were held yesterday in several western districts without opposition.

Three Men Drowned.

MACHIAS, Me., Oct. 17.—The schooner A. McNichol, which sailed from Machiasport from Boston yesterday, reports that at Boothbay on Saturday she took in tow a disabled boat with three men and the captain, Walter Libby and two hands, Elbridge Foster and Melvin Holmes, got into it to bail it out. The sea was rough and the boat capsized, throwing them all into the water and all three were drowned. The bodies of the men, who were all residents of Machiasport, were not recovered.

Reporters and Common Soldiers Spoiled It.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 17.—The reception that was to have been given to Sheridan at the regular army of Northwest and Sweden by the Minnesota club has been declared off, because the party was accompanied by so many reporters and officers of common rank. The club didn't want to be imposed upon, and it refused to banquet the visitors. The exhibition drill of Company D, that was to be given in the armory, has been declared off also.

Dedicating a Church.

WEST HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 17.—St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, at Central avenues and Traphagan street, was dedicated by archiepiscopal authority with impressive ceremonies. Bishop Wigger was expected to officiate, but a dispatch was received stating that he was ill in bed at Newark. Father Grieff, the pastor, conducted the services. The church is a frame building and cost $40,000.

Connecticut's Y. M. C. A. Convention.

NORWICH, Oct. 17.—The Twenty-second annual convention of the Connecticut Young Men's Christian association met in this city yesterday. The meetings have been largely attended. Charles A. Jewell, of Hartford, and John Blair, of Waterbury, were chosen members of the state committee to fill vacancies.

Measles Attacking Royalty.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Great anxiety prevails in court circles over the condition of the Princess Louise and Maude of Wales, who are ill with measles in Copenhagen. The ages of the princesses are 20 and 18 years respectively, and the dangerous character of the disease, their ofore, is enhanced.

BASEBALL CHAMPIONS.

THE ST. LOUIS BROWNS AND THEIR RECORDS AS PLAYERS.

Biographical Sketch of Each Player and What He is Nicknamed by the "Boys." Their Records "On the Diamond." Association Champions for Three Years.

HE St. Louis Browns have for the past year enjoyed the proud distinction of being the champion baseball club of the world, having defeated the Chicago club (the champions of the league) in a series of games at the end of the regular season in 1886.

This year they have won for the third consecutive time the pennant of the American association, and they are now contending with the Detroit club (the league champions this year) for the world's championship.

There is one marked difference between the members of the St. Louis ball club and their opponents (the Detroits) in the contest for the the world's championship. While the latter are mostly large, heavy players, the St. Louis players are, with three exceptions, directly opposite in their physical makeups. Only three of their men weigh over 170 pounds each.

O'NEILL. GLEASON. LATHAM.
PRESIDENT VON DER AHE. CARUTHERS.
FOUTZ.

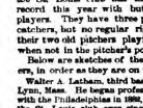
The style of playing of the two clubs is also as different as the weights of the two clubs. The Detroits win their games mostly by their heavy batting and fine team work, while the St. Louis club win because "they play ball all over." They lead base association clubs (with one exception) in every point—batting, fielding and base running. The Cincinnati club alone equals them in fielding.

Another marked contrast between the clubs is the number of players each has on its salary list. As is well known, the Detroit club has more men on its pay roll than any club either in the league or association, while the St. Louis club has made its splendid record this year with but eleven regular players. They have three pitchers and two catchers, but no regular right fielder, one of their two old pitchers playing that position when not in the pitcher's position.

Below are sketches of the St. Louis players, in order as they are on the batting list:

Walter A. Latham, third baseman, was born in Lynn, Mass. He was professional ball player with the Philadelphias in 1882, and has been with the St. Louis club ever since—five years. His nickname is "Arlie," and he is also frequently called "Monkey" Latham, on account of his incessant chattering and coaching. He is the best known coacher in the United States, and many people visit the ball field as much to see Latham's antics and coaching as to view the game. He is the clown of the ball field, but his bright, pleasant sayings never interfere with his wonderful stops and pickups at third and his daring base running. He is not a heavy batter, but usually a safe one.

William Gleason, short stop, is a St. Louis boy, and started ball playing with the Dubuque (Iowa) club, in 1879, with Capt. Comiskey. When the the latter joined the Browns eight years ago Gleason came with him. He has been there ever since, doing good work both in the field and at the bat. This official record shows that his work has been of much value to his club.



WELCH. COMISKEY. ROBINSON.
BUSHONG. BOYLE. KING.

James E. O'Neill is left fielder, and the largest member of the Browns. He was born in Woodstock, Canada, and played his first engagement with the Metropolitans, of New York, in 1881. He then played in the New York league team, and joined the St. Louis club in 1883. He leads the association in batting, and is considered by many the heavi st batter now playing ball. He has, without doubt, the finest fly-out of any player on the diamond, being tall, finely formed and carrying not a pound of extra weight. He is known as "Tip" O'Neill by all base ball men.

David L. Foutz, the tall, slim pitcher and right fielder, has been with the Browns three years, and to his pitching and batting qualities they owe many a game. "Long Dave," as he is called, is a native of Baltimore, and began playing with the Leadville nine in 1879. He afterwards joined the Bay City (Mich.) club, which was then in the Northwestern league. He is a very earnest, careful player, and one of the heaviest batters among the pitchers of the country.

Robert L. Caruthers is a Chicago boy and has played in the St. Louis club for four years. He came to them from the Minneapolis club, with whom he started in 1883. He is a very difficult pitcher to hit, as the Chicago club learned last season, and also plays right field when not pitching. He bats left handed and is a hard hitter.

Curtis Welch, the middle fielder, is an Ohio boy, and was born at East Liverpool. He started with the Toledo, O., club in 1883, and joined the Browns the next season. Besides being a fine fielder, he is very handy with the bat, and is the second best batter in his club.

Wm. Robinson, "Little Robby," fills the position of second baseman as near perfectly as can be done. It is almost impossible to drive a ball past him. His one handed stops are the finest in the country, and his every position, except that of pitcher, and do it well. He was born in Philadelphia, and began ball playing in the Northwestern league with the Saginaw, Mich., club. This was in 1881, and he next joined the Baltimore Unions. He has been with the St. Louis club the past three seasons.

Charles A. Comiskey, first baseman, is also captain and manager of the team. Besides being one of the very best of basemen, he has no superiors as a captain and manager, the veteran Anson of the Chicagos alone dividing honors with him. His home is in Chicago, but he has been with the St. Louis Browns eight years, seven of them as captain, and as general manager the last four. He began with the Dubuque (Iowa) club in 1877. Capt. Comiskey, as a rule, is rather quiet, but when occasion calls for it he can supply a rich fund of sarcasm whenever necessary. The St. Louis club would seem like a new organization without Comiskey in it.

Albert J. Bushong ("Doc") is another Philadelphian. He began his successful catching for the last eight years, having begun with the Worcester (Mass.) league club in 1879. From there he went to the Providence (R. I.) club, and three years ago he came to the St. Louis club. He is one of the most successful catchers now playing. He is a dentist by profession, and practices in St. Louis when not engaged in playing ball.

Charles King, the third pitcher of the club, is a native of St. Louis. He began ball playing with the Jacksonville (Ills.) club in 1885, and in 1886 played with the Des Moines (Iowa) Western League club. He joined the Browns this season, and his excellent work shows him to be one of the best of the younger crop of pitchers.

John Boyle, the eleventh man, has a phenomenal record as a catcher. He is a Cincinnati boy, and was on the Red Stockings' pay roll the latter part of 1886, but did no playing with them to speak of. Reds' Manager Hankinson's reason for thugh Nicol (the famous little right fielder and base stealer), and the Browns soon found they had a treasure in Boyle. Their regular catcher, had a finger badly broken, and young Boyle stepped in and caught forty-two consecutive games, besides eight or ten exhibition games. He plays like an old veteran, and is a great favorite.

A STATUE OF LEIF,

Son of Eric the Red, the First Man Who Came to America.

Leif has a monument at last, and we are glad of it; for this discovery has been sadly neglected. American boys usually begin their history with the statement thus expressed in the lines of good old Peter Parley:

Columbus was a sailor brave,
The first that crossed the Atlantic wave;
In fourteen hundred and ninety-two
He made discoveries not a few.

But as a matter of bedrock fact we now know that the Norsemen did discover America about 1000 A. D., and that long before. Disregarding all the earlier discoveries as reported, it is a well proven fact—and the Norwegians and Icelanders do well to be proud of it—that in the year 1000 Leif, the son of Eric the Red, explored our New England coast, and on his return gave a very fair account of it. It has been asserted and vehemently argued that the repors of this voyage of Leif, and of an alleged earlier voyage, were detailed in the manuscripts of the Icelanders; that Columbus found and read them in one of his voyages there, and that he is in no sense whatever entitled to the honor of discovering there was a continent to the west of Europe and east of Asia. Sir John Mandeville, however, had already demonstrated the probability of that fact in his celebrated address; but he made one curious error in concluding that the globe is $1,000 miles around instead of 24,912. But leaving all that aside, it is a fact as well established as any fact in history that Leif Ericsson—that is, Leif the son of Eric—did visit the New England coast in the year 1000, and that his brother followed several years later, exploring the coast for hundreds of miles, so that the fact of there being a "new world" was known to a certainty long before Columbus visited Iceland and learned the particulars.

LEIF.

But, as Professor Redpath well observes in his History of the United States, "An event must be judged by its consequences. From the discovery of America by the Norsemen nothing whatever resulted. The world was neither wiser nor better. Among the Icelanders themselves the place and the very name of Vineland were forgotten. The curtain which had been lifted for a moment was carefully drawn again over the sky, and the new world still lay hidden in the shadows."

To this an exception must be taken. The scandinavian sea voyages were thoroughly reported and the reports carefully recorded; and some knowledge of them did spread to the reading men of Europe, and Columbus did gather some of his facts and some records enough to stimulate his inquiries on the subject. Therefore Leif Ericsson is justly entitled to a monument. It is a present to the city of Milwaukee from Mrs. J. T. Gilbert, and stands in Juneau park at the head of Martin street. Another statue of Leif is soon to be unveiled at Boston, and the figure of that bold rover will be a copy of that in Boston, the replica by Miss Whitney, of Boston. It is of bronze, weighing 1,200 pounds. The granite pedestal on which the statue stands is eight feet square and weighs fourteen tons. As our illustration shows the figure, as conceived by Miss Whitney, is strikingly bold and lifelike. Of course we do not know the features of a Norse sea king of 900 years ago, more or less, but we may well believe that Miss Whitney has designed him about as he ought to look to fill the fancy of an enthusiastic historian.

A BIG WAR SHIP.

The Most Formidable Ironclad Ever Constructed.

Her majesty's turret ship Trafalgar, recently launched at Portsmouth, Eng., takes rank as the largest armor clad vessel ever constructed for the British navy. She is undoubtedly the most formidable ironclad ever built. Although there are some huge Italian war ships which exceed her in tonnage displacement and in heavy gun power, not one is as well protected. When she is ready for sea her displacement will be nearly 12,000 tons, and she will cost not far from £900,000, or $4,500,000. Her length is 345 feet, and she is 73 feet broad. In her fore and aft bunkers 900 tons of coal can be stowed. She will carry four 67-ton 13½-inch breech loading guns, eight 6-inch breech loading guns, six 50-pounder quick firing guns, eight 6 pounder and eleven 3-pounder Hotchkiss quick firing guns. Her turret guns will fire projectiles weighing 1,250 pounds, with a powder charge of 630 pounds. She has eight torpedo tubes, four above and four below the water line.

THE TRAFALGAR.

The Trafalgar will carry two twin screw propellers, sixteen feet in diameter, each one driven by an independent set of triple expansive engines, with a 6,000 horse power for each set. The weight of this machinery is about 1,680 tons. She is indeed a formidable addition to the British navy.

A French traveler has thoroughly explored the Orinoco river, and finds that its sources are surrounded by a fan shaped chain of mountains, which he proposes calling the De Lesseps range.—Arkansaw Traveler.

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

A SHORT STORY ABOUT A DOG MISER WHO HOARDED MONEY.

Description of Plants That First Entrap and Then Kill Flies and Beetles—How a Merry Owl Spent the Whole Night Long.

Sumberwil with other strange plants are the sundews or fly catching plants. There are two sorts of sundews, one with round leaves on a long stalk; the other with leaves that are spoon shaped. The round leaves usually lie flat upon the ground, while the long leaves raise themselves into more or less erect attitudes.

PLANTS THAT CATCH FLIES.

In both kinds the leaves are covered all over with what for convenience we may compare to crimson hairs, but which are not hairs, being too thick and fleshy, each of which is tipped with a tiny knob. This knob is surrounded with a clear sticky fluid like gum. This gum the flies and small insects mistake for honey. But, alas! when they alight in search of the honey they find only a death trap. When the poor insect finds out its mistake and attempts to move off, the sticky substance holds it down. The more it struggles the worse becomes its condition. All the knobs on their hair like stalks bend themselves and slowly bending over the poor fly, cover him with their stickiness. Not only have all the knobs bent over and got their captive into the middle of the leaf, but the leaf itself raises its edges so as to form a hollow in the center. Into this hollow will now be poured out an acid fluid, which will soften and dissolve the poor insect, so that the harder parts of his shelly coat, and then the leaf will absorb this beetle soup and the whole plant will be flourished by it.

How Wooden Spools are Made.

Golden Days tells how wooden spools are made: Birch wood is preferred. The birch is first sawed into sticks about four or five inches and seven-eighths of an inch to three inches square, according to the size of the spool to be produced. These sticks are thoroughly steamed. They are then put into lathes, and the blocks are dried in a hot air kiln. At the time they are sawed a hole is bored through them. One whirl of the little block against sharp knives, shaped by a pattern, makes the spools at the rate of one a second.

A small boy feeds the spool machine, simply placing the blocks in grooved, which throwing out the knotty or defective stock. The machine is automatic, but cannot do the sorting. The spools are revolved rapidly in drums, and polish themselves. For some purposes they are dyed yellow, red or black. They are made in hundreds of shapes and sizes.

When one sees on a spool of thread "100 yards" or "200 yards," these words do not signify that the thread has been measured, but that the spool has been gauged, and is supposed to contain so much thread.

A Dog Miser.

A California exchange is responsible for the following story: Dandie was very intelligent and frequently received money to buy his own bread from the baker's. But Dandie received more money than his needs called for, and so he took to hoarding it. This his master discovered in consequence of the dog appearing one day with a breakfast roll when it was known that no one had given him any money. This suspicion aroused, search was made in the room where the dog slept. Dandie appeared quite unconcerned until his bed was searched, when he seized the servant by her dress and tried to drag her away, and he became so violent that his master had to hold him. Seven pennies were found hidden in the bed. Dandie did not forgo his saving propensities even after this; but he exhibited a great dislike afterward for the servant who had discovered his board, and in future was careful to select a different place of concealment.

An Elephant's Memory.

Some twelve years ago, an elephant belonging to a circus found itself at Hythe, in Kent. While passing a shop in town the tradesman good naturedly gave it a meal of potatoes. Some months since the same elephant returned to Hythe. About 4 o'clock on a fine summer morning it escaped from its quarters in the show, and visited the old shop. Finding it closed, the wise beast lifted the door from its hinges, and then leisurely helped itself bountifully to apples, potatoes, and other good things. Having either satisfied its appetite or cleared out the stock, it bent its steps homeward, when it was met by its keeper, who had started in search of it. On the following morning, at the same hour, it tried to repeat the visit, but its intentions were balked by the keeper's vigilance.

The Cheerful Owl.

An owl sat perched in an ivy bush,
And a cheerful owl was he;
With dance and song,
The whole night long
Was spent right merrily.

THE OWL AND THE HARE.

The hare came to listen; the oldest hare
Right up at the bush stared he.
"That music so airy
It must be a fairy."
"Oh, no," said the owl, "it's me."

Philosophy from the Bar.

Counsel to Prisoner—Say, old man, I want a little to-night. Get to be a rich girl to the country, and want to do the right thing by her. How does a dollar strike you?

Cabman (on whom flies never light)—What's the matter with shoving up a V, and riding the rights thing by both of us?—New York Star.

A Dead Sure Thing.

Employer—See here, Dennis, it was only last week that you got off to attend your cousin's funeral.

Dennis (interrupting)—Faix, so I did, sur, but the old fule come to loife agin. Lit me off this once, and I'll bury him dead or alolve.—Texas Siftings.

She Didn't Appreciate Him

The funny man wrote him a humorous joke and he thought the wit was immense, and he chuckled, "A big phenomenal stroke. Ah, this is genius intense!" For the wit was so rollicking, weird and wild and full of such original power, he lay down and rolled in the grass like a child, and laughed for nearly an hour. Then he took the joke in to read to his wife, and said: "Now, wife, listen and hear the funniest joke you have heard in your life, I prithee wheel toward me thine ear." He began to read with a lusty strength, and her face, which was round as a squash, it stretched away out to a cucumber length as she said, "What bosh! what bosh!" And when he came to the point of the joke he burst into a loud guffaw, but she said, in words like a thunder stroke, "What miserable trash. Oh, pshaw!" Then her face grew long as a baseball bat, and as black as the oven door, and her forehead stretched up through her towering hat, and her chin trailed on the floor. But the joke went forth in the world's wide throng and was copied o'er and o'er, but thereafter her face remained so long that she couldn't go through the door.—Yankee Blade.

Why She Tarried.

At a leading summer hotel during the past season Mrs. D. was among the last guests to leave, taking her departure only when, with the lst of September, the closing of the hotels became imminent.

"Why is this thusly?" asked a friend. "I thought you were going to Bar Harbor for August?"

"Yes," said Mrs. D., "we did talk about it, but in the first place we were perfectly comfortable where we were, and in the second I noticed that everybody who left was duly picked to pieces by those who remained, so, like the love in the fable, I staid to protect my reputation."—Philadelphia News

A Boom in Love.

"I'm in on the boom," he said. He had been hovering around her for several months. "I'm in on the boom; I've got a lot."

"So have I," she said. "I've got a lot, too."

"But I haven't any sand," "

"No, I don't think you have," she said.

There was a pause. It struck him as how was meaningful, so he added up a little closer, and, taking her hand in a kind of bashful way, whispered:

"May—I—pass—you—put our lots together."

And "love's first snowdrop" simply covered both lots.—San Francisco Chronicle

A Rude Little Boy.

Mrs. Hendricks sat breakfast—I was trying to tell you, my dear, Mrs. Hobson called, and——

Mr. Hendricks—This coffee is cold.

Mrs. Hendricks—Mrs. Hobson called and called——

Mr. Hendricks—You must tell that butcher not to send my more such steak.

Mrs. Hendricks—I will. As I said, Mrs. Hobson called——

Bobby—Needn't I go to school today, ma?

Mr. Hendricks sternly)—Robert, you mustn't interrupt your mother when she is talking.—New York Sun.

Missing Two Professions.

First Highwayman—Heslo, Jim; what are you looking so blue about?

Second Highwayman—Run against a streak of bad luck.

First Highwayman—How was that?

Second Highwayman—Held up a plumber last night; thought he'd have lots of rocks, you know.

First Highwayman (surprised)—Well, hadn't he?

Second Highwayman—Hadn't a red cent. He said we just had been paying his summer's ice bill.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

A Musical Evening.

De Browne—Thanks, very much, for the song, Miss Smythe. You have a divine voice. Do you know why the song you have just sung is called the "Swany River?"

"I fancy," she replied, lightly touching the keys, "it is on account of the swans there. I think swans are so beautiful, Mr. De Browne."—Texas Siftings.

She Liked the Boys Best.

Mother (nursery dialogue)—Nellie, I have told you a great many times not to romp with Tommy, and you must obey me.

Nellie—Could I play with him if he was a girl?

Mother—Perhaps.

Nellie—But I wouldn't want to.—Burlington Free Press.

More Than It Was Worth.

Robinson—What was the amount of your doctor's bill, Dumley?

Dumley—I paid him $200.

Robinson—Two hundred dollars! That's too much.

Dumley—He saved my life, you know.

Robinson—Yes, I have to be saved your life. But $200, Dumley! That's too much.—New York Sun.

A Lesson in Geography.

Teacher to boy who had to be corrected frequently—Can't you tell me where the Blue Ridge is?

Boy rubbing his shoulder)—No; but I can tell you where the black and blue ridge is. He is treated more righteously than ever.—Texas Siftings.

She Would Sailing Operate.

"Trim the boat!" exclaimed Mr. Popjoy father sharply, to his wife, while they were out for an evening row.

"Don't be unreasonable," retorted Mrs. Popjoy. "You know I haven't got the material with me."—Burlington Free Press.

—The New York Sun Sunday devoted nearly a column referring to its enterprise in publishing an account of a base ball match, twenty minutes after the game had finished, and about an hour ahead of any other paper. The New York Sun is a mighty big paper, and very enterprising. It has a big field and New York is the center of news. The game was played about five miles away. The Sun refers to it as the quickest achievement on record. Not quite. It was at the rate a mile every four minutes. That is very good. But in the great international yacht race THE NEWS published a two column account within twenty minutes after the Volunteer crossed the line. The distance was about twenty miles. THE NEWS therefore got ahead at the rate of about a mile a minute, or four times faster than what the Sun says is the quickest achievement on record. And this was not all. THE NEWS had the account published about an hour ahead any of New York paper, in fact as we know, of any other paper in existence. We did this by the aid of homer pigeons and the telegraph. Plainfield isn't quite as big as New York, nor the NEWS establishment quite as big as the Sun, but we get there just the same.

Grace Church.

Rev. Dr. VanDeventer, the general missioner of the Parochial Mission Society, finished last evening the ten days' mission he has been holding in Plainfield at the Grace church. He conducted the services for men only. His address was on "Parity of Character," the text being "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." Matthew X, 5:8. There were about 150 present. The address was given the most earnest attention by those present. He will proceed to Grand Rapids, Michigan, to conduct a mission there for fourteen days, with four religious services each day. All the services over which he has presided while here were well attended and great interest expressed. The collection on Sunday morning amounted to $185, which was donated to the society represented by Dr. VanDeventer.

PILLS FOR THE PILL.

A Disquisition on Scribes and Other Things. Detective Murphy's Letter to the People of Plainfield.

The saloon-organ is still writhing under our complete exposure of its fraud upon its few readers. This we did by publishing what to deceive these readers it professed was its "Special Telegraphic Service." We published it side by side with New York Evening Telegram matter, which was word for word the same, and the source of the so-called "specials," published in the Telegram six hours before. By way of retort it publishes in parallel columns its message and ours as a comparatively trifling local event, and heads the article "Stop Thief!" While never we miss any event of interest, to be found in any of our exchanges—the saloon-sheet included—we use the scissors as all editors do, re-edit the matter and give it the following day to our readers. Our contemporaries make the same use of our columns, as they are welcome to, and as the saloon-sheet very well knows. In fact, that sheet appropriates matter from these columns with an exceedingly generous hand, but we don't object. It does not hurt us, and it may do the public some good. All newspapers are run that way. That is not the point. This is: no respectable newspaper practices barefaced fraud upon its readers, and deliberately lies to them day after day. That is what we showed the saloon-sheet to be guilty of. We don't object to its republishing what we gather, even though it wait four months to do so as in the case of the Pike family remarkable relationship, when it suppposed people had forgotten all about the story, which, starting with us, had traveled through the country from one end of the country to the other; nor the arrival of the Pond people, the Holmes episode, and the thousand and one things copied from us into the saloon-sheet, sometimes weeks afterwards. We copy in the same way what is worth copying. It is our business to give the news. That's what we are here for, and we gather it from every source—even from so obscure a one as the saloon-sheet. If we do not publish it one day, we will another, as our space permits, for a day never passes that we have not a column or two more items in type than a newspaper has room for, looking over the most panicky partner when it comes to help. We may sometimes err in judgment and betray faults we wish we did not have; but we never practice deception.

It is much to that. Now we suggest that the writer of "Stop, Thief," look into a looking glass. It need not be French plate, and, as he looks therein, let him see if he cannot behold the image of a thief.

One who recently worked as a clerk in Tiffany & Co's New York, and robbed them, and to escape arrest for robbery had to leave New York City;

One who came to Plainfield some years ago became unknown here, and made such notoriety that no woman who values her reputation would be seen in his society;

One who while at his constant practice of maligning respectable women, married or single, one night was slapped in the face and knocked down in the street by a one-armed man for traducing to him his best girl, and caused a separation between the couple;

One who stands with a greyhaired man at the depot making lewd remarks of every respectable woman of Plainfield, going on the trains, and these being foremost ladies of our best society, in philantropic work, attributing assignations as the object of their visits to New York, and lewdly criticising their persons as they went up the steps of theears and disclose their shoe tops;

One who objects to having $18-per-week respectable machinists from the press works enrolled as members of a proposed military company, because they are mechanics. One who is a $12 per-week dude, owing but never paying any one who will trust him, and poses as a "managing editor."

One who is despised as morally rotten by every respectable man, woman and child in the community and has an established reputation as a contemptible sneak, a low-lived blackline, and everything that is unmanly and cowardly.

One who, but the same age as the editor of THE NEWS, is prematurely old from a life of debauchery and an imbecile rake, while the one he would refer to is in his prime, from a life at least aimed to be right.

If the writer of "Stop Thief" cannot see this faithful picture in the mirror is it not only fair to assume that he is hopelessly blind. But this mild dose of much more of the same kind which it is necessary to refer to now may prove medicine that will either kill or cure. We aspire to lift the fallen and lead the blind. Before he does, Apropos, read the following:

Here is what Mr. "Murphy" himself says:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Am I not entitled to redress from that villainous sheet that seeks continually to malign me?

Or, Why is it they do this? Why do they try to cry me down, and baffle me in all my efforts to do good for the people of Plainfield? Didn't they want the dog-bugs abated? Did the people did not want the work done? They did, but they don't believe in it. I have had life so nerve them, and am I not entitled to something beside constant scurrility and efforts to baffle me in my work—and above all things a newspaper doing such work. I consolidate it a thing disgraceful. No matter what I am or have been. I have faithfully and successfully performed the work the public required to have done, unless the scamps of the press give away enough to enable the defense to baffle Justice in punishing the fire-bugs. I will say now that my name is not known as Worsley, the contemptible sheet to the contrary notwithstanding. Neither is it Murphy. When the fire-bugs are convicted I will give it to you, if there is any interest in knowing, but you have faithfully served by me, as have also Councilman Carey, Col. John Scott, Capt. Dodd and others kept me up when I might have given up in disgust. You have my history in the beginning, as you requested, and upon your promise not to disclose it without my permission. That shows my confidence in your integrity, and you have faithfully kept your pledge, as I knew you would. You can use the history entire but you.

(Signed) E. J. MURPHY.

—The Democrats of the Second and Third Wards will hold their primaries in Democratic Hall this evening at half past seven and eight o'clock respectively.

"FIRE-BUGS" PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Jackson and the VanNest Brothers at the Bar of Justice.

Plainfield's quartette of incendiaries—John M. Jackson and Theodore, Horace and Lewis VanNest—stood up in a row in the prisoners' dock at the Union County Court House in Elizabeth, this morning, and responded "not guilty" to every charge brought against them. The four were all dressed as nearly as circumstances would permit. "Hot"—which is the name which cronies of Horace give him—was the dude of the lot. He wore no vest, but his coat was thrown carelessly back, showing a glossy white shirt front. His auburn hair was curled and oiled and twisted into dainty ringlets. Jackson looked rather seedy and his face wore a rather anxious look. His fingers continually twitched nervously and he lounged awkwardly at the back of a chair. The others stood erect, facing the Court with a boldness that was almost defiant.

Jackson and Theodore VanNest were first charged by Prosecutor Wilson—who marked the indictment as No. 17—with setting fire to McCutchen place. Then came document No. 18, accusing them of incendiarism at the Frazee and Daniel H. Lee place, Aug. 28. This is the fire at which Jackson was caught in the act by Councilman Carey, Detective "Murphy" and Policeman Lynch. Indictment No. 19 was against Jackson, Horace and Lewis VanNest, and concerned is the Camon Parse fire, March 15.

Lewis furnished bail in the sum of $1,500. Robert E. Brandt of Evona became his surety. Mr. Brandt is reported as saying that while he believes that Horace and Theodore VanNest are guilty, he has the firmest faith in the innocence of Lewis, and will spend half his fortune to secure his acquittal.

County-Attorney Fred. C. Marsh of Elizabeth and Lawyer A. D. Miller of Plainfield appeared as counsel for the accused.

After Court was adjourned Lewis walked alone to the railroad station, where he was joined by two men who made mysterious allusions to the recent scheme for getting Detective "Murphy" out of the way. Van-Nest was uncommunicative, however, and walked silently away. Others tried to get into conversation with him on the train home, but throughout the trip he stood on the rear platform of the last car and never once opened his lips.

Lewis is at present in the employment of the Pond Tool Works Co.

Trial in all the "fire-bug" cases was set down for Oct. 27.

Sketch of a Dying Distinguished Plainfielder.

James Bullman and John Johnston came from Scotland to this country sometime near the beginning of the present century, and established themselves as tailors and were merchants in New York City, becoming among the oldest and most reliable houses in the business. The Johnstons resided on Washington square. John Johnston had two sons, one of whom, John Taylor Johnston of this city, is now in his sixty-seventh year, and the other, James Bullman Johnston, died suddenly of pneumonia in New York and was buried but a few days ago, in the sixty-fourth year of his age, although in perfect health ten days previous, and expecting to live to follow his elder brother to the grave.

In 1846 John Taylor Johnston was married to Miss Jeffreys, a woman remarkable for her beauty and accomplishments generally. Miss Colley's father died a few years ago at Morristown, where he owned an extensive and elegant villa.

After the marriage Mr. Johnston went to Europe on his wedding tour, spending a year there, and upon his return in 1847 located in Somerville for a few months, and also became interested in the Central railroad. His place at Somerville occupied but about two and a half acres.

Mr. A. D. Mellick of Broadway had charge of all the real estate of the Central railroad, and purchased Mr. Johnston's in 1862, to remove from Somerville and locate in Plainfield. As far back as a quarter of a century ago, Mr. Mellick had a large property at Mason, Ga., and after whom our Berekman street is named.

Mr. Berekman was in the nursery business and was sorely perplexed, as to what to do. Mr. Berekman had visited Europe in the interance to the Union he feared his Southern property would be confiscated, and if he went South he feared he would likewise lose his property here. To save himself he therefore had his Plainfield property transferred to his wife's name. Beyond Brooklyn, Mrs. Berekman, who bought it from him for her. She and their children remained on the property while Mr. Berekman journeyed to the "Queen City of the South" at once. This was at the outbreak of the war. The separation did not suit, as the wife became anxious to dispose of her property and join her husband. It consisted of spacious dwelling, at present occupied by Mr. Johnston, and about hundred acres of land, and was purchased for $16,000. To this property Mr. Johnston, the purchaser, added by degrees about fifty-five acres, to the amount of about seven hundred acres.

John O Stearns prior to 1847 had built the Central Railroad from Elizabethport to Somerville. It was built in the cheapest possible manner, with flat iron rails, to the sickness of occasionally coming up through the cars and striking people. The rails thus acting were called snake heads.

Mr. Johnson and friends of his purchased the road in 1847, and at once commenced rebuilding it, extending it also to Easton, and making it the splendid road it is at present. Mr. Johnston not only built this, but he also invested largely in real estate all along the line of the road, but he especially envisioned Plainfield until it became "The Queen City of New Jersey," because of its healthfulness, its beauty and position as a place of residence generally, and it is this grand man, who is now passing away.

A few weeks ago it was stated he would not survive another week, but he still lives, though it is thought that he will not linger much longer. He is all one of his many good works will grieve to learn.

Wholesale Druggists Fail.

John F. Henry of Brooklyn and Henry E. Bowen of Nethenwood, N. J., constituting the firm of J. F. Henry & Co., wholesale druggists of No. 34 Park place, New York, are reported by New York papers to have assigned yesterday to Otto Frickenhaus of Brooklyn. Preferences were given to the National Park Bank and the importers' and Traders' National Bank for amounts not stated.

The Children's Play-Ground.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—There is no doubt but that Plainfield needs the same, have you any idea of the condition of the play-grounds about the Fifth street school?

It has been paved with sharp stones, and left without covering. Should a child fall and injure its face, stockings are cut and torn, and little ones are in danger of serious wounds.

If nothing can be done, the scholars will each cheerfully bring a pailful of sand, if so requested. OBSERVER.

—A notice of the forthcoming Y. M. C. A. course of entertainments, crowded out to-day, will appear to-morrow.

—Last night some one unknown broke a window in the carpet factory on South avenue near Netherwood, and entered the building, maliciously disconnected some parts of the machinery, and the injector on the boiler, so that work was delayed about an hour this morning.

—Mrs. Jane E. Ludlow, the maiden sister of ex-Gov. George C. Ludlow, of New Brunswick, died at Portsmouth, Va., on Sunday. The body will be taken to New Brunswick for burial to-day, the interment taking place from the ex-Governor's residence on Albany street, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. to-morrow.

—John, son of Patrick Day of West Third street, was taken to the insane asylum the 19th of last April. Oct. 12 he was discharged "cured" but broke from his father's home to-day and created considerable excitement on the street. Policeman Lynch took him in charge and the young man was returned to the madhouse this afternoon.

THE WOLVERINES VICTORIOUS.

The Game Now Stands 5 to 2 in Favor of Detroit.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—The seventh game of the world's championship series was played on the league grounds at Philadelphia yesterday. Fully 10,000 people were present and the greatest excitement prevailed. The Wolverines were again the favorites of Dame Fortune and captured the battle after an interesting fight. Detroit now has five victories to two for St. Louis, and the followers of the Wolverines could not be more happy. Following is the score by innings:

St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1—2

Detroits, Base hits, 7; earned runs, 2; errors, 2; battery, Baldwin and Bennett. St. Louis—Base hits, 10; earned runs, 0; errors, 1; battery, Carruthers and Buckley.

Impaled on an Iron Rod.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 18.—Ernest Tendelmann, a Bee line employe, was the victim Sunday of a horrible accident. While standing on a platform loading coal one car engine tender his foot slipped and he fell head-foremost fifteen feet, striking a switch target rod, which, entering at the shoulder, was driven clear through his body. There was a knob on the end of the rod, which had to be filed off before the man was extricated. It took thirty-five minutes to remove the body, and during the entire time of this horrible impalement the man withstood the torture, conscious of his situation and of the efforts being made for the relief of the sufferer. The rod was about an inch and a half in diameter. Tendelmann was removed to the hospital, and notwithstanding his terrible injuries, at the late hour last night the physician expressed a hope of saving his life.

Novices Forecasting the Weather.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Chief Signal Officer Greely in his annual report complains of lack of funds during the last half of the past fiscal year, growing out of the failure of the deficiency bill last winter and which necessitated reports which have been furnished for years had been regularly distributed in the interests of agriculture, commerce and navigation, and of the weekly forecasts and storm warnings, he reports that through restrictive legislation he has been compelled to permit new officers to serve their apprenticeship in predicting the weather at the expense of the whole country. Consequently novices at the work have at times made errors that subjected the service to criticism.

Against the Exclusion of Women.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A large and remarkably earnest meeting was held at Irving hall last night, to protest against the exclusion of women from voting. The meeting was arranged in a hurry, and the speakers were all men, though many women were in the audience. Addresses were made by Hamilton Wilcox, Judge Robert H. Stanson, Edward H. Cole, Rev. Mr. Burgess, Dr. George H. Everett and Wilson Macdonald. Resolutions reported by Mrs. Anna Randall Diehl were unanimously passed, demanding that inspectors of election receive a vote from every woman who takes the voter's oath.

Reiterating His Charges.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 18.—Henry S. Little publishes to-day a fifteen column reiteration of his charges against Senator McPherson of bargaining to secure the election of Mr. Sewellas senator, in return for business favors. New alleged proofs are also presented, including what purport to be photographic copies of letters from Senator McPherson bearing on the subject. The attack is a very bitter one, and Mr. Little declares that Mr. McPherson ought to shoot him if the charges are not proved.

Five Years for Embezzlement.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—In the United States district court yesterday William Herbst, formerly president of the First National bank of Glenrock, Pa., convicted of embezzling the bank's money, was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary. BURIED UNDER THE RUINS

FIVE MEN KILLED AND THIRTEEN SERIOUSLY INJURED.

A Catholic School House Collapses—Building That Had Been Pronounced Dangerous—Father Kirner Who Was Superintending, One of the Injured.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A building intended for a parochial school house fell yesterday when half completed, and five men were crushed out in the wreck. A score of other men were more or less injured. The school house was to have been attached to the mission church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, in One Hundred and Fifteenth street, near Lexington avenue, whose pastor, Rev. Father Aemilianus Kirner, was superintending its construction. This was carried on with the zeal that befitted Father Kirner's energetic character, but incompatible with safety in building operations.

The responsibility for the disaster is directly placed upon the reverend father's shoulders, by the fact that he was warned of the dangerous features of his method of building, but persisted in them. His disregard of the warning was, of course, due to a lack of appreciation of its value. That he had no appreciation of the risk that he was running is shown by the fact he was consequently in and about the building while the work was going on, and was one of those seriously injured by its fall. He was up at the top of the structure when it fell, and was dug out of the ruins very near to the body of a man killed in the wreck.

The school building was intended to be 30x100 feet on the ground and four stories high. It was also intended to be the home of the parish priests, who are now quartered in a little frame affair just the other side of the church. The plans bear no architect's name and are supposed to have been made by the priests with some slight help. A radical defect in framing was in the non-length of the span of floor beams, which reached the whole thirty feet across the building. Under the building laws they should have had a central support of brick piers, and, without that permanent provision, should at least have been temporarily braced and stayed while the work of building was in progress. They were entirely unsupported, however, except at the ends, where they entered the walls on the first floor, but these walls were braced from one story to another with studding joists.

The side and rear walls of the building had been completed, and eighteen and eleven bricklayers were at work on them at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Father Kirner was there overseeing them their foreman, Timothy Lynch, and Isaac Third avenue, being at work with the rest. Scattered through the building, from the mortar mixers in the cellar to the bricklayers on the top, were fifteen laborers. Twenty-seven men in all are believed to have been the entire force at work in the building. With a slight preliminary rumble and shake the structure went down with them. An instant later a cloud of dust and a shapeless mass of fire and broken timber lay where had been the top of the towering walls and half completed building.

The men carried helplessly down in the wreck were many of them buried in the debris, some by timbers and bricks that crushed and mangled them to death. Others, though covered by the same beams and scattered materials, lay in such a way as to be protected from the weight of ruins on top of them.

The walls fell from east to west and out over the sidewalk. On the west side the falling bricks overwhelmed a little frame tenement, three stories high, and a boy and three horses were in it, and the little shop was crushed down upon their heads without warning. William Blumer, the proprietor; William Jacobson, Lorenzo Alfiere, Gregore Winderl and Florian Dumm, of the workmen, escaped serious injury, but Henry Reinitz of One Hundred and Seventy-fourth street and Franklin avenue, Morrisania, was killed. The horse he was shoeing belonged to an iceman, whose son, Edward Levy, 14 years old, of No. 245 East One Hundred and Twelfth street, had brought it to the shop. The boy's leg was terribly crushed and mangled. All of the horses were killed.

The survivors in the blacksmith shop who were able to help, and an unascertained number of the workmen who had in some way, they knew not how, escaped serious hurt in the fall and were able to free themselves from the ruins, went to work at once to dig out the dead and injured. A rush from every direction to the spot brought many willing helpers, and Policeman McPhail arrived with them and sent out a fire alarm. An ambulance call followed, and then, as it became known how many were probably in the ruins another call for three ambulances was sent out, which was answered from the Harlem hospital, the Ninety-ninth Street hospital, the Manhattan hospital, and the Presbyterian hospital.

The first man dug out was Father Kirner. He had been thrown forward over the sidewalk, and was jammed down and covered up under a lot of beams, but not touched by bricks. He was taken to the house of Dr. Egan, at No. 230 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, unconscious, and it was first supposed, mortally injured. He was attended by several priests, and when he recovered sufficiently to have the sacrament administered that was believed to be all that could be hoped for. But under a relapse into unconsciousness Dr. Kirner was again restored, and it was at length declared that he had a good chance of recovery. No bones were found to be broken, and internal injuries were not indicated. The principle trouble seemed to be a concussion of the spine. Very near the place where the priest was found a body was dug out. It was afterward identified as that of John Durkin, a bricklayer. With Durkin was Edward Welch, one of the injured, and the latter would clutch upon his companion's coat was so strong that it was loosed with difficulty.

The efforts of the firemen had been in the meantime re-enforced by the firemen Battalion Chief Reilly, Foreman Falvey, and the men of hook and ladder truck 14 and engine and carpet work. They dug out of the ruins sixteen men in all, four of them being already dead, making, with the dead horse-sheer, five bodies. This is a list of the dead and injured, according to last night's returns:

THE DEAD.

John Durkin, bricklayer, Seventy-second street and First avenue. Paolo Gobberti, laborer, 30 years old, 416 East 113th street. Girolano Laurin, laborer, 113th street and First avenue. Antonio Mort, 113th street and First avenue. Henry Rustz, blacksmith, 25 years old, 174th street and Franklin avenue.

THE INJURED.

Frank Bannon, bricklayer, fractured leg. Removed to the Harlem hospital. Dominick Carter, laborer, 40 years old, 221 East 104th street, severe internal injuries. Taken to the Manhattan hospital. Dominick Congress, laborer, fractured skull and contusions, 424 East 113th street. Harlem hospital. John S. Conway, laborer, 17 years old, 34 East 119th street, injury to the head. Harlem hospital. Giuseppe Curto, laborer, 119th street and First avenue; severe internal injuries. Manhattan hospital. Florian Dumm, bricklayer, 30 years old, 320 West 125th street, slight injuries to the head and arms. Taken home. T. Grogan, laborer; fractured leg. Harlem hospital. The Rev. Father Aemilianus Kirner, pastor of the church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, 415 East 115th street. Both legs broken, a contusion of the spine, and several internal injuries. Hospital. Joseph Kiernan, 25 years old, 204 East Seventy-third street. Harlem hospital. Martin Levy, 14 years old, 245 East 112th street, fractured leg. Harlem hospital. Joseph Manz, laborer, severe injury to the head. Taken home. Edward Welch, truck driver and Antonio Mort, severe injuries to the head. Taken home. Robert Young, scalp wound. Taken home.

The first stages of the work, the laying of the foundations and building two stories of the walls, was done under the foremanship of a man named Kelly, who resigned or could not be obtained last night. Foreman Lynch, of the bricklayers, who succeeded Kelly, escaped with not very serious hurts, though he was for a time unconscious.

BRAKEMEN IN CONVENTION.

Mr. Wilkinson Explains Their Attitude on Strikes.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—The fourth annual biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad brakemen opened in this city yesterday morning. About 300 delegates were present from every section of the United States and Canada, and they were accorded a hearty welcome by the local labor unions. The feature of the day was the grand parade, which took place in the afternoon. About 2,000 men were in line, including the members of the city government, militia companies, trades unions, benevolent societies, the brotherhood delegates and a large number of brakemen from along the line of the Erie and Lackawanna roads.

After the parade Mayor Bayless delivered the address of welcome at the Opera house and Grand Master S. W. Wilkinson, of Peoria, Ill., read his annual address, which was a lengthy and eloquent appeal to the brotherhood to stand and vote together, and briefly reviewed the progress of the order from its organization in a caboose at Onondta, this state, four years ago, to a present membership of 10,000. On the subject of strikes he said: "We present all our grievances to the proper committees, and if they fail, we, in conjunction with them, endeavor to arrange matters by arbitration, but if that fails we then strike or quit, as it pleases us. We believe this is a liberty that this nation teaches all of its children."

The first business session opened this morning. The sessions will be secret and will last about five days. It is understood that many radical changes in the constitution will be made.

Protesting Against the Police Attack.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—About 7,000 persons assembled in Union square last evening to protest against the action of the police in dispersing the meeting of the Progressive Labor party on the 8th inst. The meeting was called under the auspices of the Progressive Labor party, but many others not connected with that party were present. Two district organizations of the George party, while passing on their way to the county convention, stopped in the square and gave three cheers for free speech. The police arrangements were such as not to excite the Socialists. The squad in waiting was kept in the rear of the cottage stand, so that they could not see the red flags which were waved triumphantly in the faces of the speakers' stands. Superintendent Murray was on hand and was assisted by Inspector Steers and Capts. Alsire, Reilly, Clinchy and Carpenter. A force of several hundred men were held in reserve at different points around the square, without being obtrusive.

Failure of a Wholesale Drug Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct 18.—John F. Henry & Co., wholesale druggists, assigned yesterday, giving preference only to the National Park bank and the Importers and Traders' bank for overdrafts. The firm has been carrying a heavy indebtedness since their failure in 1878, which was caused by the assassin's failure of E. J. Dunning, the note broker. Dunning owed the firm $100,000, and none of it has been collected. No information as to assets and liabilities is yet obtainable. A member of the firm says they will be able to liquidate in full if granted an extension. A petition was presented to the court. The failure in 1878 was for $794,000, and their assets were $350,000. They compromised at 37½ cents on the dollar, payments extending over two years.

Shoemakers to be Locked Out.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Shoe Manufacturers association last night it was voted that, in consequence of the action of D. A. No. 70 in refusing to discipline the hand of shoe men who went on strike without the sanction of the joint board of arbitration, the manufacturers committee would at once dissolve the board and discharge their hands. There are twenty-three firms in the manufacturers' association, and it is expected that by Thursday 5,000 shoemakers will be locked out.

Dropped Suddenly Dead.

NYACK, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Peter E. Blauvelt, a well known resident of this place, while walking to his home last evening was taken with a hemorrhage and dropped dead on the sidewalk. His health had not been good for some time past, but his sudden death was not expected. Mr. Blauvelt was a few years ago engaged in the meat business in New York city and was known by nearly every one in Washington market. He acquired considerable real estate in Nyack and retired from active business in easy circumstances.

The Price of Apostacy.

DUBLIN, Oct. 18.—At a meeting of the Dublin corporation yesterday, Lord Mayor Sullivan denounced Mr. Chamberlain for his attack upon Mr. Gladstone in his recent speeches and characterized his action as part of a scheme to influence the passions of the people. Mr. Chamberlain, he said, would have done well to have heeded the eloquence to the furtherance of his suit with a Tory countess, whose hand he was led to believe he would obtain as the price of his political apostacy.

Wandering in the Graveyards.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 18.—Elmer J. Miles, the missing real estate dealer, who is 70 years of age, has returned to his home. During a temporary aberration of mind he wandered off, and, as near as can be learned, has been going through the different cemeteries reading the inscriptions on the tombstones, in order to find his son's grave. His son is in an insane asylum.

Four Deaths from Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Marine hospital bureau is informed by Deputy Collector Spencer, at Tampa, that there were five new cases of yellow fever and four deaths reported yesterday and that several cases were reported at Ybor City, opposite Tampa. The hospital at Tampa has been opened and put in operation. Everything is quiet.

Dr. Boniware Dead.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Dr. J. B. Boniware, a leading surgeon and physician of this city, died yesterday evening of malarial fever, contracted during the late civil war. He was assistant surgeon of the One Hundred and Seventy-seventh N. Y. volunteers. He was born in Kentucky.

POWDERLY HAS RESIGNED

THE CRISIS IN THE ASSEMBLY REACHED YESTERDAY.

All the Officials Follow the Master Workman's Example Except Barry and Bailey—Probability That the Session Will Last Through the Week.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 18.—General Master Workman Powderly and every one of the general officers, save Messrs. Barry and Bailey, tendered their resignations to the general assembly of the Knights of Labor yesterday afternoon. It was the last gun in the two days' fight that had been waged in the assembly to oust Barry and Bailey from the executive board.

When the assembly reconvened yesterday morning, Mr. W. H. Bailey got the floor, and in an impassioned speech went over the whole ground of the charges. He arraigned Powderly in severe language, and alleged that the general master workman has been doing work at the order's expense. Certain charges were also made against General Secretary Litchman, which that official promptly denied. When the investigation was over and the assembly was ready to vote on the amendment to the constitution which had provoked it all, it was discovered that, owing to a technicality, a three-fourths vote would be required to pass instead of a two-thirds vote as had been supposed. The amendment, it will be remembered, was to cut the executive board down to four members, these to be appointed by the general master workman, subject to the general assembly's approval. There was not strength enough in the Powderly forces to pass it by a three-fourths vote. A change of base was necessary. Powderly called the second officer in the order to the chair, and said: "I tender to the assembly my resignation and I call upon all the other general officers to do the same." Every general officer except Barry and Bailey then resigned. The latter very vigorously protested that they saw no occasion to resign and did not intend to do so. A Powderly delegate on the floor of the hall then offered a resolution, which passed by a vote of 116 to 47, demanding the resignations of the general officers. Again all were forthcoming except those of Barry and Bailey. A resolution refusing to accept the resignations was adopted with a rush.

The administration faction regard the officers who are with Powderly as indorsed by the order, while Bailey and Barry are regarded as having been given a very doubtful light. The fight against these officers is not over yet, if all accounts are true.

When the convention opened yesterday morning, the end of the assembly was still far out of sight. The session in the forenoon was devoted to the old subject of reorganizing the executive board, and the debate was red-hot, as usual. Bailey, one of the "anti" members of the general executive board, did the most of the talking, and was very vehement. Bailey and Barry are evidently determined to stand or fall by their own strength or weakness, and on using every means in their power to prevent their displacement by the administration. No vote has been taken on the question and there is no telling when it will come, for every hot blooded speech and charge but adds to the complications to be unravelled and settled. After the present subject of discussion is exhausted the reports of the various boards of arbitration remain to be heard, and it is not impossible that the sessions will last through the week.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18.—Francis and George Bishop, brothers, aged 18 and 20 years respectively, residing at No. 110 South Wolf street this city, went gunning yesterday morning on Back river. Hearing a scream, he rushed up and found his brother lying on the ground with the ribs of the left side torn away. The wounded boy died almost instantly. A coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental shooting.

THE PRESIDENT IN CHATTANOOGA.

Some of the Original Transparencies Which Were Not Furnished.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 18.—The president drove about the town yesterday for about an hour in a drenching rain. Large crowds had gathered in the streets, upon whom the dampness seemed to have no depressing effect whatever. They cheered lustily and cried themselves hoarse. An attempt was made to keep the carriages in line, but by the time it had passed three blocks it was broken up by a wild hoodlum mob which followed the president's carriage through slush and mud in defiance of the marshals on prancing steeds and policemen with uplifted clubs. A fine looking old darky in the rags barebreasted, his only protection being an umbrella, held in the hand of the member of the reception committee sitting on the opposite side of the carriage. But as the rain descended in greater fury he covered his head and insisted upon the umbrella being taken down. Mrs. Cleveland, at her side, held bravely out, with the water pouring down her bonnet strings. Long before this the gorgeous marshals presented a deplorable appearance. Hats and their feathers trailing behind them, their waists out sashes, powdered gauntlets and rusty pumps dripping with water. When the Villas, Col. Lamont and law partner Hilmel tried hard at first to keep up with the procession, but soon gave up in despair and returned to the starting house.

The state of Tennessee has by general consent furnished the most original matter seen yet in banners and transparencies in the course of the tour. Here are a few of them: "Our Grover; he has filled the bloody chasm." "Sheriff, 1871; mayor, 1876; governor, 1882; president, 1884; excelsior, 1886." "Our president; the first to pay his fare." "There are no flies on us, Mr. President." But "Public office is public trust" has been a favorite every where.

Criticising His Intemperate Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Commoner O'Connor's bailiffs are pouring in a very doubtful light. The fight against these officers is not over yet, if all accounts are true.

WHAT POPULAR STORY WRITERS EARN BY THEIR PEN.

Grinding Out a Library of Five Cent Literature at the Rate of $40 Worth Each Day—Salaries of Noted Writers and Editors.

To have pointed out to you "the most popular American author," and then not to recognize him either in the flesh or by any portraits you have seen, is a trifle surprising. If you had previously thought you knew the faces and figures of all the American authors you ever heard of. The man who sits beside or out ahead on a corner near the city hall of or Brooklyn, apparently waiting for that carriage which the poorest of us keeps—a horse car. He was a short man of medium build, dressed in a suit of blue serge, wearing a fashionable white straw hat, tilted a little over the ear, and carrying a cane. He looked rather like a shrewd commission merchant or grain broker than like an inspired ward of literature.

"Where Howells never was heard of," said my friend, "where the fame of Longfellow has not yet reached and where Robert Louis possession as it unborn, that famous author is admired, if not everywhere loved. He makes $10,000 a year by his writings."

Versed at my ignorance and with my curiosity keenly whetted, I inquired his name only to learn that it was Harland P. Hadley, a name I never had heard in my life. The whole truth was grudgingly delivered by my informant, who at length freed his mind in this wise:

Halsey is the writer who signs the nom de plume "Old Sleuth" in one of the popular weeklies. Fifteen years ago he wrote a story called "Old Sleuth, the Detective," and it achieved a success so great that afterward he adopted the name of the hero for his own pen name, and ever since he has been receiving not stories always about "Old Sleuth," until he has now written something like 200 volumes of the literature. Wild as is his circle of type he devotes it within it by the production of more ambitious literature, and to that end, or as an approach to it, has just finished a temperance tale.

How strange this all is! We have never read of Halsey in the magazine articles upon "the literary movement in New York," have never seen his name in the familiar articles upon the spirits of the Authors' club. Yet he is the leading writer for a paper that boasts of 250,000 circulation and four times that number of readers—say 1,250,000 a week. It seems quite likely that, as my informant said, "his books are to be found in the cabs of the locomotives, in the garrets of the sewing girls, in the kitchens of the land, and the factory hands of the average New England mill town would rather see him than Bismarck or Tennyson."

And $15,000 a year! That is almost $300 a week. Why, I may be unlocsing a secret, but it is none the less a fact that the prince of our novelists, William D. Howells, is paid only $10,000 a year by Harper & Bros., and he is considered fortunate to get that sum, though in order to do so he had to surrender all chance of earning extra money by means of a contract in which he agrees to give all his gifted creations to that firm. And Rev. Edward P. Roe, petted favorite of the middle class of novel consumers, the man who is supposed to prose on of his metaphorical heels on the neck of the reading community, does not earn a penny more than $10,000 a year and did not more than begin to make that much until his publishers tried the experiment of printing "Barriers Burned Away" in twenty cent form in a limited edition of 100,000 volumes. I say "limited" because they destroyed the plates when that number was printed, to force the public to buy the higher priced edition of old fat $1 a book. I believe in case it wanted more after the twenty cent books were sold. This was followed by the same experiments with "He Fell in Love With His Wife." Both succeeded perfectly, and now Dominie Roe makes $10,000 a year.

Who else does as well as that with his pen? Editor Stone of the old Journal of Commerce of this city draws exactly that sum for his salary, but then he controls the paper and pays himself, and he is not a novelist. What novelist makes it? Mr. Mayo W. Hazeltine, James J. Cummings, Col. Cockerill and George Alfred Townsend are credited with earning $10,000 a year, which is also the salary of more than one of the metropolitan editors in chief. This is money made with the pen or with the management of the pens of others, but it is not by novel writing, and it is not $15,000. Brander Matthews and Henry C. Bunner, the editor of Puck and author of many delightful entertaining books are credited with $7,000 or $7,500. Both could make more if they were not too conscientious and better satisfied to live easily and pleasantly. The newest claimant for popular favor among novel readers, Mr. Henry Harland, the young lawyer and ex attache of the surrogate's court, who writes under the name of "Sidney Luska," has not yet pushed his income up to the $5,000 mark, but he is very young yet—not more than 25—and he is only making his first bows and shouting for the first bouquets shot from the thick of his applauders.

I have not mastered the secret of Mr. Halsey's story telling, unless it be that there is an adventure in every 1,000 words, an arrest, a shooting scrape, a surprise or a ruse. But the style is easy to analyse. It is that of the repeating rifle, bang, bang, bang, as fast as you can pull the trigger, with pauses for reloading at the end of each short chapter. It might be called the Gatling gun mode of writing.

It is a sign of the times and a good omen for the country that in this author's works there is no word or suggestion, plot or theme, that could stir an unholy appetite or bring a blush to a pure woman's face. It is not so much a sign of the times that this author is no Bohemian, but a solid, practical man of affairs, of family and of high repute. Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., lately departed, was all of this, and he was the king of popular writers, just as Mr. Halsey is now. Cobb never earned more than $100 a week, but he lived in the country, where such a sum goes a great way. His home was a pleasant cottage, and he drove a horse that Mr. Bonner gave him. He lived well, though modestly, and neither in his life nor his will offered a wrong example.—New York Star.

Burdette Homesick at Bryn Mawr.

How people who move away from Iowa get homesick once in a while is exemplified in the close of a letter on another subject by our Hawkeye humorist to Dr. Magoun the other day: "I expect to spend the rest of my 'traveling days' in my Bryn Mawr home. It is very beautiful here. But once in a while I get a little tired and homesick, and I want to look over a long, wide, billowy stretch of prairie, shut in only by the circling sky and hear the wind whisper and sing through the wild grasses, and feel as though the world was 1,000 miles wide and reached from Alibi to Ackley. Then the whole longing of the prairies inspired me to write you a busy man, a letter as long as a wire fence 'Finally, brethren.' "—Des Moines Register.

A POSTAL NOVELTY.

How a Man in Paris Can Dispatch His Mail Matter.

Theodore Child writes to The New York Sun that Paris has the best letter dispatch system in the world, the letters being shot through small tubes to all the central points of the city by the propulsion of compressed air, in 1866 the pneumatic tube service was laid, and now their total length is 115 miles, while several more are in construction. To send a quick message, says Child, a petit bleu, as they are called—that is a dainty little blue tinted envelope—into the nearest post office box, and no matter what part of the city it goes to, before it is 15 minutes old you may inscribe quite a communication. Last year 3,168,020 such messages were "piped through," and the postal revenue thereon was over $147,000.

Our engraving represents the principal machinery. The pipes are of drawn iron lapwelded, with an interior diameter of two and nine-sixteenth inches. Where practicable they run in the sewers, being bracketed to the walls; but as the sewers connect at all sorts of angles and the pipes can only turn on a curve of ten feet, they must often leave the sewers. Elsewhere the tubes are laid in the ground at a depth of three and a half feet. In these tubes run little trains of message boxes, made of sheet iron with leather closely fitted over it. Each box will hold twenty closed messages, box and contents weighing twelve ounces. The box is fitted with a rubber "pneumatic washer" or circular flap of leather so flexible that the pressure of the air behind causes it to swell out and fit tight to the interior of the tube. Each train of several message boxes is properly inserted in the tube, which is the upward prolongation of the main tube underground, one piston closes the pipe behind the train, the train having to the underground pipe by gravity) another opens a connection with the reservoir of compressed air, the air rushes in and drives the train to its destination. This is the simplest explanation that can be given; of course the apparatus is much more complex than this would indicate, as it must receive as well as transmit, and be provided for many functions and contingencies. It is of equal interest to learn that at many stations the air is compressed at very trifling cost by the force of falling water. All the sewers are from fifteen to twenty-five feet below the street there is abundant fall from the water main at the station, and by a very ingenious machinery the air is compressed at trifling cost by the use of a surprisingly small amount of water.

There are ninety-two stations or pneumatic postoffices in the city, and on the main lines are double tubes; on these the trains run in both directions and on the side lines every fifteen minutes, so the average time of a message from sender to receiver is but half an hour. The total cost of the entire system down to the last of December, 1886, was returned officially at 5,955,000 francs, or very nearly $1,200,000; but it is now much more, as extension is in rapid progress. The cost of running the tradesmen and making repairs last year was 581,971 francs, or very nearly 10 per cent. on the cost of construction. Their use is growing rapidly, for although tubes were laid in 1866 the system was not nearly perfected before 1880. Berlin also laid tubes in 1866, Vienna in 1875 and London in 1868; but these systems were more complicated and only used for ordinary mail. The convenient card and dainty petit bleu, delivered at the door of the addressed as soon as a messenger boy can carry it from the station, are known only in Paris.

SIR JOSEPH WEST RIDGEWAY.

The Successor of Sir Redvers Buller as Ireland's Under Secretary.

Col. Sir Joseph West Ridgway, who will succeed Sir Redvers Buller as under secretary for Ireland, succeeding Sir Redvers Buller, is in the prime of life, being but 43 years old. He is the son of an Anglican clergyman, and was born in 1844. An article of his which recently appeared in The Nineteenth Century created a profound sensation, and this, together with his new position, has brought him into prominence. In his article Col. Ridgway contends that the contention of Russia into Asia is but a step in the SIR J. WEST RIDGEWAY. of transmission of civilization, that Russia's influence in that direction is the result of human progress, and that to check it would not be productive of good results.

When Col. Ridgway was 16 years old, in 1860, he entered the Indian army as ensign. He was made lieutenant in 1862, captain in 1869, major in 1880 and brevet lieutenant colonel in 1881. He has filled several political appointments under successive viceroys of India and at one time was under secretary to the government of India in the foreign department. During the Afghan campaign of 1879 and 1880 he served with Sir Frederick Roberts, and in 1884 he was selected by the Marquis of Ripon to command the Indian section of the Afghan boundary commission. He held this command on the famous march from Quetta to Bala Murghab, to meet Sir Peter Lumsden, who came from England through Persia. When Sir Peter returned to England in 1885 Col. Ridgway was appointed British boundary commissioner. In November, 1885, he met the Russian commissioner at Zulfikar, and during the next ten months 250 miles of frontier were demarcated. The joint commission only separated in view of insuperable difficulties in connection with the last few miles of the frontier. For his services in this affair he was created Knight Commander of the Star of India. Last year he went to St. Petersburg and conducted the negotiations on behalf of the British government for the completion of the last few miles of the Afghan frontier, and, after eight months of discussion, he succeeded in making an arrangement which has been apparently satisfactory to both England and Russia, and averted the armed struggle which appeared so likely to take place at one time.

WHIST RULES IN RHYME.

If you the science desire of Whist would know,
Unto this great precept be prompter flow:
Treat your own hand as to your partner's joined
And; lay, not one alone, but both combined.

Your first lead make your partner understand
What is the chief component of your hand;
And hence there is necessity the strongest
That your first lead be from your suit that's longest.

In this, with ace and king, lead king, then ace;
With king and queen, king also has first place;
With ace, queen, knave, lead ace, and then the queen;

But, save four small ones, ace should first be seen;
With queen, knave, ten, you let the queen precede;
In other cases you the lowest lead.

Ere you return your friend's, your own suit play;
But trumps you must retain without delay.

When you return your partner's lead, take pains
To lead him back the best your hand contains.
If you received not more than three at first;
Then one of these will be the proper thing.
But if you hold the master card, you're bound
In most cases to play it second round.

Whene'er you want a lead, 'tis seldom wrong
To lead up to your weak, or through the strong.

If second hand, your lowest should be played,
Unless you mean "trump signal" to be made;
Or if you've king and queen, or ace and king,
Then one of these will be the proper thing.

Mind well the rules for trumps, you'll often need them;
When you hold five, 'tis always right to lead them.

Or if the lead won't come in time to you,
Then signal to your partner so to do.

Watch also for your partner's trump request,
To which, with less than four, play not your best.

To lead through honors turned up is bad play,
Unless you want the trump suit cleared away.

When, second hand, a doubtful trick you see,
Don't trump it if you hold more trumps than three;

But, having three or less, trump fearlessly.

When weak in trumps yourself, don't force your friend,
But always force the adverse strong trump hand.

For sequences, stern custom has decreed
The lowest you must play, if you don't lead.

When you discard, weak suits you ought to choose,
For strong ones are too valuable to lose.

Young Fame Abbott and Patti.

Persistency more than luck, perhaps, sent the girl time and again to Patti's hotel in Paris.

"I do not wish to see her," la diva cried. "I do not care for the great secret she says she has for me. I wish no secrets. Well, let her in," she consented in a moment of good humor.

The girl entered in an unpretentious gown, with her secret in its pocket.

"What is this secret?" asked Mme. Patti in not over gracious tones.

"Only this, madame," the fearless girl replied, drawing a small twenty-five cent fan from her pocket. "Will you write your name upon it?"

La diva winced, she frowned, then broke into a peal of laughter as she wrote in delicate Italian letters "Adelina Patti." "I can sing a little," our Emma modestly declared.

"Well, let me hear you," and the great singer of the world leaned back on her cushions and listened. "Take these," she cried at the end of the simple songs, unfastening some jewels from her ears. "And these," later on, she said, handing her some letters to Mapleson. The little twenty-five cent fan has a place among Emma Abbott's treasures. It was her maiden of success to Mapleson and Gye, with the latter of whom she made an engagement at Covent garden.

Oddly enough the days which popular superstition deem unlucky have always the reverse to Emma Abbott. Friday is her best day and thirteen her luckiest number.—New York Sun.

"R, THERE!"

Reuben Rodney's Refined Romance Respecting Rhoda Remington.

Reuben Rad way reared roses, red radishes, rutabagas, raspberries, rye, rosemary, rhododendrons, raised rustic racks round rural retreats.

Rhoda Remington raised rugs, ripped roundabouts, rolled rags, read romances runic rhymes; rambled round rugged ruins.

Rhoda's respectable relatives rented Reuben's rear rooms, rare, retired, restful, refined.

Retreat! Radiant red roses, ravishing red lilies ran riot, royal ranunculas rustled ragged robbins reared rebelliously, reeds rattans running raceplans reveled.

Recent rains rendered Reuben restless, ruinahgas rotted, red radishes rusted, Reuben's ruler reduced Reuben's rates. Reuben rebelled, resisted roughly, resented rudely, resigned.

Remembering Rhoda's ragged rugs, Reuben reckoned raveling rugs repaid.

Relentless rains roared, railroads rumbled, ruin rioted ravenously, reductions resulted.

Rhoda, rarely raveling rugs, rashly ransacked ready rodless ruins; read rural romances, reckoned restful.

Reuben rapidly reaping ripe rye, reaches Rhoda's retreat.

Here, radiant, rosy Rhoda retires, rambles round, rallies, returns.

Rascally Reuben, ranking rank rye, regards Rhoda; raves, recapitulates, recounts.

Relieved Rhoda refuses, reflects, regards Reuben reproachfully, remorsefully Reuben remonstrates. Rhoda retorts resentfully, Reuben retracts, replenish.

Rhoda reconsiders, replies retaining Reuben's ring, ribbons, roses, raven ringlets, renders Reuben reparation.

Reuben's ruler relents, pain retires, relatives, Rhoda, Reuben rejoice.

Rash readers run—reunion results.

Respectfully, RATTLEBRAINED RUTH.
—The Colonel.

A Learned Wife.

She knows every modern ism and, as from a human urbeau, each theosophy and philosophy is reflected from her sniff:

Knows the standing, scope and status of the lecturer, Kant, and Hyde, in philology and psychology she wades in and goes it blind.

She will talk you to paralysis with her "chemical analysis," with "trichotomy" and "philosophasm" on her victim she will bounce!

She will kill you if your killable, with her sounding, thirteen syllable, ancient, alien, sesquipedalian words no fellow can pronounce.

But her husband, helpless sinner, eats his bread and water dinner, luckless fellow in the cellar, thro' his lone dyspeptic days;

For his lovely wife is switching piles the tables in the kitchen with the lexicons of old Mexicans and thirty chopsticks.

And without a curse or clamor thro' large piles of Sanscrit grammar with agility and ability picks his way 'round like a cat.

And the table is his "physic" and he greet wifely and answers, with complacency and patience he conceals it with his hat.
—The Yankee Blade.

A Tremendous Achievement.

—Tid Bits.

Her Ambition Realized.

A city missionary relates this interesting and not wholly uninstructive tale in connection with his labors among the destitute. The incident recurred last summer, but the moral is of a continued application that keeps it fresh.

He found in the course of his examination of a certain district a woman who was not only wretchedly destitute but seriously ill besides. She seemed a very decent and not undeserving person, an impression which accorded with the reputation given her by her neighbors, and the missionary interceded himself in her behalf, calling, his aid a couple of ladies who were members of the Associated Charities. Everything needful for the comfort of the woman was done. Her room was kept in order, she was provided with a nurse, the young ladies brought her delicacies, and when at last the patient was thoroughly convalescent, they prevented her with $5 as a help toward starting once more on the way of earning her own living.

A day or two later the missionary called, and was pleasantly received by the poor woman, who evinced due gratitude for all the kindness she had received. Then with overflowing satisfaction and an absolutely childlike delight, the pauper produced from a closet a new and remarkably gay bonnet.

"There," she said, beaming with satisfaction, "don't you think that is pretty? All my life I've wanted a bonnet with a feather in it, and when I got that $5 all at once I said to myself that now was my chance to have one. The man asked $7 for it, and I told him $5 was all I had and he'd have to let me have it for that, and true as you're alive he did."

The missionary looked at the bonnet, regarded the woman, opened his lips, and wisely recognizing the futility of remonstrance, closed them again. The story is literally true, and very likely it will be matched by any city visitor of long experience.—Providence Journal.

Hotel Swells.

See the city hotel swells,
Bowing swells,
What asinine assurance each attitude now tells!
How they ogle, ogle, ogle
All the girls who pass the door,
And each soothes, relish regale'll
Keep it up till he'll foreswore!
Dashing swells,
"Mashing" belles
From early morn till late at night in front of the hotels.

Donkey swells,
Monkey swells!
Oh, why don't the proprietor come out and mash these swells?

The Third Assembly District Republican Convention will be held in the Republican Association rooms, over the City Bank, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member of Assembly.

—Three young women who are at present guests at the Park House, walked in four hours to Metuchen and back, a few days ago, starting at two o'clock in the afternoon and returning at six. The distance is three miles, but they say that they were not the least bit tired. The girls after their tramp, which gave them a good, healthy color and hearty appetite, went to prayer meeting.

—The Emerald Benevolent State Convention opened at South Amboy yesterday, and will conclude its business to-day. The delegates representing Branch No. 8, of this city, were Messrs. D. C. Nolan, William White and John McCarthy. Mr. White was chosen as secretary of the Convention and Mr. Nolan was elected chairman of the Auditing Committee. The reception given was harmonious throughout and Mr. J. Carmody, of Lambertville, was elected president of the State Association for the ensuing year.

—Preparations are being made by the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church to have a large fair, to be held in the new Sunday school, which is being built in the rear of the church, and which, the ladies say, will be completed, promises by the first of December to have sufficiently finished to hold the fair in. The Minors', or Young Men's class, of the school, intend to have a grocery store, where dry groceries will be sold for the benefit of the school. They will also have a paper during the time the fair will be held, which will be about a week, the paper to be called the "Minor."

—The successful, the influential country paper of the present is clean, and constantly exercises delicate discrimination, tact and care in the publication of items personal in their bearing. On the contrary, what we call coarse and foolish personalities, what filthy, sensational trash, is published in many of the great daily papers that glorify themselves on their purity. The city paper is too far from the localities which it scandalizes to be regardful of people's feelings and it panders to so large a vulgar element that it can much better afford to be unscrupulous than the rural weekly. But the well conducted country paper cannot depend on the reliable for support. It must have the respect and patronage of the better class of people.—Ex.

Registration Day.

Yesterday was registration day in this city, and the number of voters registered in the various wards is as follows:

First Ward	351
Second "	330
Third "	256
Fourth "	544
Total	1,473

The Board of Registration will meet again on November 3, and any citizen who did not register yesterday will do well to avail himself of that opportunity.

SIMPLE JUSTICE.

Irritated by repeated assaults of our North avenue contemporary—notably by an item headed "Stop This!" because of an alleged clipping of a news item from our contemporary—and other personal abuse lately heaped upon this paper, we were betrayed into a retort of the same kind in yesterday's issue.

We had been informed of the matters stated by men of reputable standing last who, we have since learned, were enemies of the party supported, to be blinded to, and who were perhaps too willing to credit slanderous reports. THE NEWS acted in perfect good faith. We have, however, since then been interviewed by friends of the person referred to, who we think are in a better position to judge of the truth or falsity of the averments, and have been assured by them that the serious insinuations are untrue.

Desiring above all things that no man should suffer by reason of anything published in this paper, even though it be published on the faith of information from a reputable source, as in this case, as soon as we learned that our information was incorrect, as above stated, we resolved to set the matter right before the public.

We determined to see the gentleman personally. We have seen him and are convinced that his friends have spoken the truth. We are further assured that he never was in the employ of Tiffany & Co.

And now we congratulate our readers that by reason of our misinformed course in giving our opponent opportunity to disprove the statements of his enemies, we hope that we have rid Plainfield of all personalities in journalism. Our esteemed contemporary has met us in manly fashion, and we have rewarded the compact that personalities shall be dropped. We know that our readers will commend our course.

PERSONAL.

Charles Bock and family, formerly of East Second street, have returned from an extended tour through Europe.

Mrs. Harry S. Barnes, now of Arlington, N. J., but formerly of this city who has been visiting relatives here for several days, returned home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Webb, who made the City Hotel their stopping-place last winters are both in their old quarters, having just returned from a mountain trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Robinson, will, it is expected, return Saturday from their wedding tour, and will reside with Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. Geo. Goodwin of New street, for several days.

The following are the members of the Somerset County Republican Executive Committee elected at the Convention at Somerville yesterday:

Branchburg—J. V. D. Myers, three years.

North Plainfield—First District, Isaac Brokaw, two years; Second District, Henry N. Spencer, three years.

Teachers Wanted.

The one great need of the Warren Mission Industrial School at present is a re-inforcement of teachers. The school has launched boldly upon the Winter's work, with some sixty-five or forty more, and all in good working order, excepting those which are yet destitute of teachers. While there are already engaged in the work, some thirty teachers, besides the eight officers, and among these, many faithful ones, yet there are not enough to carry the system successfully, and the lack of teachers proves a hindrance to the progress of the school. Surely this good work will not be allowed to suffer for the want of helpers. A word to the numerous friends of the school will be sufficient, and it is hoped that this hint will bring the needed workers to the rescue next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Warren Mission Chapel.

The march by the scholars at the close of the week's session, receiving special attention and is being made vastly more attractive, as visitors repeatedly testify.

The singing has been conducted during the past year by Miss Lilian Dorman, and as a special favor she has been induced to lead again this year until after the holidays, when Mrs. Asa Collier will succeed her, and take charge of the music.

The Fifteenth's Re-Union.

Somerville was a gay place to-day—alive with soldiers and their friends. It was the occasion of the re-union of the 15th N. J. Volunteers, and as to-day is the anniversary of the Battle of Cedar Creek it was a most fitting day. Delegations were present from this city, and Col. Julian Scott was also on hand to exhibit for the first time his much-less painting of "Sheridan's Ride," showing the moment of his arrival on the field and the meeting with the Sixth Corps. Col. Scott has studied the ground thoroughly, and the landscape is true to nature. The drawing of Sheridan and his charger is very spirited and conveys a vivid idea of his appearance after his famous twenty-mile ride. The picture is a fit companion for the masterpiece, "Battle Scene of Cedar Creek," painted by the same artist, and sold to the State of Vermont for $10,000.

—"A Bunch of Keys" will be presented at Music Hall Oct. 22. It is as funny as they make 'em and draws crowded houses wherever it goes. To see "Frost" fly up and down the hotel stairs is a whole circus in itself.

What Mr. Harder Thinks.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—I have read from time to time articles in THE NEWS relating to so-called dissentions between the Plainfield Reform club and the W. C. T. U., over each soon de plumes as "A Friend," "One of the Club," etc. I have now before me one from "A Friend." I wish to ask what this "Friend" is or can be. Is he a temperance man or in favor of the saloons? If the former, why doesn't he encourage "the cause" and not hurt it? Why wash soiled linen before the public? The public—that is, the respectable portion of it—I should think would be sick and tired of these senseless bickerings. Let us stop this nonsense and go to work, and help "rescue the perishing." I don't believe that God or the Devil is pleased to see brother swords-points. I do believe and know that the great majority of supporters of both societies are in favor of the W. C. T. U. movement, and I have talked with those whom I know are interested for and in the good of the cause. I have testified my views somewhat, and say that if the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Plainfield think they can increase their usefulness by having rooms apart from us, I say let them go, and God-speed them. They are a noble set of women and the F. R. C. would never have been born if it hadn't been for the W. C. T. U. of Plainfield. So—in behalf of unsoiled and ill-used—do I cry the good citizens of Plainfield a rest, and if you have anything to say come out with your name and let us know who you are for we may mistake you for a friend of the saloon and not a friend of the good-will and sobriety. F. C HARDER,

One of the F. R. C.

P. S.—I must also deny "A Friend's" assertion that the F. R. C. was not invited to the union's last anniversary. I know better; I helped me to take the word of one of the W. C. T. U. F.C. H.

"Y's" at New Headquarters.

The regular business meeting of the "Y's" was held in their new rooms, at No. 55 East Front street, Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 3:45 o'clock. The meeting was opened by the singing of a hymn after which the Rev. C. L. Goodrich conducted a very interesting exercise consisting of prayer and Scripture reading. The President, Miss Burnett, then introduced Miss Mary Mather of Wilmington, Del., the National Secretary of the Health Department of the Y. W. C. T. U. who gave a very interesting talk on "Hygiene." The routine business of the Society was then carried on.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and approved, the following members were appointed to fill vacancies: Misses Jessie Morris, DeQuincy Cadmus, in place of Miss Lillian Morris, resigned; Miss Josie Drake, on Visiting Committee, in place of Miss Belle Duryea, resigned; Miss Fay Young alternate with Miss Hattie Burnett as delegate to attend State Convention. The following committee was appointed in confer with a committee from the C. L. S. C., in regard to renting of rooms to the latter Society: Miss Lowrie, Miss Burnett, Miss Borden, Miss French. On motion adjourned.

—The Union County Courts opened at ten o'clock this morning with Judges McCormick, Harper and Ryer on the bench. After the disposition of a few civil cases Judge McCormick notified the petit jurymen that they would not be required to attend Court again until Tuesday morning next at ten o'clock a. m.

Pittsburg Wants Detroit's Men.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—President Nimick of the Pittsburg baseball team was here yesterday endeavoring to negotiate for the transfer of Anson, the Chicago first baseman and captain, to his team. It is stated that he offered $15,000 for the player named and that President Spalding of the Chicago demanded $35,000. Mr. Nimick is also anxious to transfer the entire Detroit nine to his town, but local sports are of opinion his efforts in that direction stand no chance of meeting with success.

Preferred Shot to Jail.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.—At the opening of the Criminal Assizes at Brockville yesterday Judge O'Connor sentenced a well-known bad character, George Hoover, to seven years in he penitentiary for larceny. He asked the judge to send him to the infernal regions, but His Lordship replied that he had no wish to do that. Hoover expressed a wish to kill himself there and then.

Typhoid Causes Panic.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Oct. 19.—A terrible epidemic of typhoid fever is raging in Iron Mountain Village on the Menominee River Railroad, one hundred miles south of here. There were two hundred cases yesterday, and new cases are reported every few minutes. Physicians are working night and day with help from other towns. The deaths are numerous. The authorities and physicians are at a loss to find from what cause the epidemic comes. Poor water and defective sewerage are generally blamed. A panic prevails and many are leaving the place.

Father Kirmer Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Father Æmilianus Kirmer, the priest attached to the Church of Our Lady, of Mt. Carmel, and under whose immediate supervision the illegal erection of the collapsed school building in Harlem was carried on, died this morning at St. Francis Hospital, whither he had been removed from the house of Dr. Egan. He had been carried to Dr. Egan's house after being extricated from the ruins on the day of the catastrophe.

Crowds still surround the ruins on 113th street and workmen are busily engaged in hunting for other possible victims. It is not thought that any more bodies are buried in the debris.

A Murderer's Appeal.

VINCENNES, Ind., Oct. 19.—Macey Warner was on trial here to-day for the murder of Frank Harris. The prisoner, who is the most desperate character in the vicinity, said when the Judge charged the jury: "Your Honor, and gentlemen of the jury. When I was 15 years of age I was sent to the House of Refuge. From there I escaped and returned to Indianapolis where a policeman attempted to arrest me and I shot him. For this I served five years at Michigan City. When released I was employed by a commission house at Indianapolis and was sent to Vincennes to assist in shipping poultry. While there, a sallow-keeper put me out of his house, followed me into the street and struck me. I shot him dead and was sent to the prison in this city for twenty-one years. Frank Harris insulted me and I cut his throat with a shoe knife. I do not want to go to prison for life and desire you either to acquit me or bring in a virdict of death."

The jury have not yet returned a verdict.

The Y. M. C. A. Course.

Five Illuminated Lectures by Mr. Ragan, three of Prof. W. C. Richard's brilliant Science Lectures and four concerts by the New York Philharmonic Club will be comprised in the program of Y. M. C. A. entertainments for the coming season. Mr. Ragan is well-known in Plainfield, but he will this year present new subjects and more brilliant pictures than ever before. By his aid we shall roam "Here and There in London," spend "A Summer in Spain and Morocco," catch "Glimpses of Scotland," take to "Rambling in Rome" and visit the "Yosmite and Yellowstone," in five evenings. These lectures are grandly illustrated and have everywhere been enthusiastically received. Young folks are instructed; old folks travel without fatigue, and all alike are charmed by viewing these glorious pictures.

Prof. Richard's Science Lectures will cover entirely new topics, and when we have recalled his fascinating brilliancy of last winter's course we need hardly add another word of comment. Our young people will especially be gratified with this part of the announcement.

A music-loving people will take delight in the announcement of the high-class concerts of the Philharmonics which must take precedence of all the musical events of the season in our city. A prominent vocalist will assist at each concert—that favorite of Plainfield, Mme. Anna Louise Tanner being booked for the first one.

Full particulars will be duly advertised; the sale of tickets to be as usual at Reynolds' pharmacy.

STATE NOTES.

A lunatic who is described as a German, thirty years old, weighing 150 pounds, without hat, coat or shoes, is frightening the women and children and creating the utmost consternation View, five miles west of Paterson. He runs wildly about crying "I want grass. I feel like grass and the best grass." It seems impossible to capture the madman.

In the Camden Criminal Court, Friday, Judge Scudder sentenced Joseph Cunningham to one year for mayhem in having bitten off a finger of Alfred Coltman, his brother-in-law. Cunningham committed the biting during Anderson's wife. George Cooper, a young colored man, was convicted of an assault with intent to kill John Johnson of 750 Sycamore street.

The post master at Barnegat gives this report of the state of affairs in his office: "For the last year the books and office have been open as best it could, for three reasons—I have been borne sick suffering from a stroke of paralysis, and my daughter has been down sick with the asthma, while the clerk has been sick and a new one is on hand to be broken in."

Harvey Fletcher, a burly negro of Cranbury was lodged in jail at New Brunswick Friday charged with having driven a woman away from her home a white girl named Ella Erwin. Ella is only 14 years of age and is pretty, amiable, and has always borne a good character over her and accomplished her ruin. The facts have just come to light. The people of Cranbury are indignant with the brute who ran away and was captured early this morning by Constable Silvers.

The outlook for the employes of the Singer Manufacturing company during the coming winter is not promising. The amount of work turned out during the past few months has far exceeded the demand as to cause a supply on hand which will seriously affect the change.

Mr. Singer has given notice that they have laid off, and the indications now are that the long Christmas holidays of the employees will be still further lengthened this year.

GLADSTONE'S BIG SPEECH.

TREMENDOUS CROWDS GREET THE ORATOR AT NOTTINGHAM.

His Journey a Triumphal March—The Grand Old Man Delighted by the Ovations—He Annihilates the Tories and Their Policy.

NOTTINGHAM, England, Oct. 19.—William Ewart Gladstone, the grandest of all old men and the leader of the Irish movement, begin yesterday in earnest the fight which millions of Americans will watch with eagerness, and for the success of which every good American will earnestly hope. Coercion and Toryism in general, and Salisbury, Balfour, Goschen and Liberal-Unionists in particular, are the enemies whom the Grand Old Man wants to bring into camp, and his journey yesterday like the one he will have gathered them all in before he rests from his labors.

He had spent the night at Sir Edward Watkin's place at Northendon. Sir Edward has been hitherto a confirmed Unionist and Gladstone hater. He is, figuratively speaking, Gladstone's first bird. His change of heart was great, and to prove it he used his power as a great railroad magnate, and had a special train ready to take the grand old guest to Nottingham.

When the train got off with the Grand Old Man he left two deputations on the station platform steeped forever in Gladstonianism, howling, cheering in a perfect frenzy of political exultation. At every little station there was a crowd patiently waiting for a glimpse of the big man as he went whizzing by, and there was also the biggest cheer that the crowd could raise to express what they would have said if they had had a chance to say anything. It was a great day and a proud one for the Grand Old Man. He loves his popularity dearly, although he did not hesitate to sacrifice it temporarily for the sake of home rule, and every burst of cheers from the crowded stations made his eyes brighter and his face younger.

The height of grandeur to which the old man rose before the journey's end cannot properly be told in ordinary language. At Sheffield the crowd was enormous. Men with the prime of factories on them, and women who had brought even their babies to enjoy the sight of the popular hero struggled for standing room on the platform, and all along the line it was not to have stopped would have been cruelty, so the train slacked up, and the other half of Mr. Gladstone and his heavy fur lined cloak came out of the window. He could only say a few words, for the cheering which the crowd felt bound to do took up nearly all the available time; but the words were just the ones needed, and when the Grand Old Man drew himself back into the car there was such frenzied shouting and waving of things that women, rather than not wave anything, waved the babies in their arms, although such handling is bad for babies.

When the time came for the train to go it was impossible to start it for fear of killing some one. Men and women fought to get near Mr. Gladstone's carriage, and clung to the train like swarming bees, cheering and shoving, until all wonder at their enthusiasm was merged into astonishment at the power of their lungs. At last, in sheer desperation, the engineer started his train very slowly, and by this means, that it was not until the train was well out of the station that the last Sheffield enthusiast had thrust his hand into the carriage to shake that of the old man. It was a fitting farewell.

A last run of twenty miles brought the Grand Old Pilgrim to the end of his journey and the climax of his triumph. Here in Nottingham, of its 300,000 inhabitants, all but sour Tories and Invalids were out jubilating. A branch of Tories tried to organize a disturbance against the tumultuous discordant. They were squelched with a suddenness that made their sourness more pronounced. It was a moment several days in advance of the Grand Old Man that he drove through cheering crowds all the way to the big hall, packed with 2,000 delegates of the National Liberal confederation, who were waiting for him, and who rose when he appeared, and with all their power of lung joined a big band in pouring out: "See, the conquering hero comes!"

When it was through, the Grand Old Man began a careful dissection of the Liberal Unionist and Tories which lasted an hour and three-quarters, and left of his and Ireland's enemies not anything to speak of. It was a speech in the old man's best style, solemn and impressive, every point put with admirable force and every one telling with encouraging effect upon the audience.

In the great speech, Mr. Gladstone said he would tell them plainly that he was not there to say smooth things. It was a deplorable fact that a feeling of the great Irish question, which might have been settled last year, had there been a disposition, to discuss it in a spirit of candor and fairness, had again been set aside and was still pending, its difficulties aggravated, and the prospects uncertain. He had a way told the Conservatives that the choice lay between coercion and home rule. The Conservatives had told them that home rule was an idle dream, but events had shown that it was not. A coercion bill had been passed against combinations, against the liberty of the press, and the right of public meeting, and not against crime. The Irish spectacle was now a grave and serious one, and if it continued it would drive Ireland into such a state that the difficulties of the government would become almost insurmountable.

He denied that he proposed home rule simply to advance Liberal interests. He wanted a statuary parliament in Dublin, subject to Imperial supremacy. There was nothing to prevent any reasonable man from agreeing with the Liberals' Irish proposals. The immediate necessity of the day was to watch the way in which Ireland is now governed. If the government persisted in their rash and foolish policy it would naturally lead to practical independence, and render it the highest degree difficult, even for Englishmen and a parliament truly representing their best and most enlightened conclusions, to deal rapidly and beneficially with Ireland.

Only one word could describe the present system of Irish government. It was "impartiality." The events of the last three weeks in Ireland would not have been tolerated in England. He condemned the action of the authorities at Mitchelstown. He admitted having used the words "Remember Mitchelstown!" That affair must and would be remembered.

UNVEILING THE STATUE.

THE MEMORY OF GEN. GEORGE G. MEADE PERPETUATED.

A Grand Military Pageant—Many Distinguished Guests at the Ceremonies—Ex-Attorney General Brewster's Speech of Presentation—Reception and Banquet.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—In the presence of a large concourse of people, among whom were numbered many of Philadelphia's most foremost citizens and distinguished public men of the state and nation, the bronze equestrian statue of Gen. George Gordon Meade, erected in Fairmount park, was unveiled yesterday afternoon. The military pageant was a grand affair. Among the distinguished men present were: Gen. William B. Franklin, of Hartford; Gen. John Newton, New York city; Gen. W. S. Rosecrans, Gen. John M. Schofield, United States army; Gen. H. W. Slocum, Gen. James B. Fry, Gen. D. McM. Gregg, Gen. L. A. Grant, of Minneapolis; Gen. J. C. Tidball; Gen. Orlando B. Wilcox, Gen. Francis A. Walker, and the Hon. John C. Gray, of Boston; Admiral T. A. Jenkins, United States navy; Col. R. Bruce Ricketts, Gen. John F. Taylor, the governor of Pennsylvania and staff, Gen. Tom L. Kane, Gen. Herman Haupt; the governor of New Jersey and staff, with all the members of Gen. Meade's staff.

At 3 o'clock the ceremonies at the statue began in the presence of a large assemblage. Hon. Edwin H. Fitler, Mayor of Philadelphia, presided over the ceremonies. The music at the inauguration was by the First Regiment band. Divine invocation by Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, D. D., bishop of Pittsburg, was followed by the singing of the patriotic hymn "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," by a chorus led by Col. C. C. Sorgdrell, in which the audience joined and made the welkin ring with the inspiring notes. Mayor Fitler then rose and opened the exercises in a well timed address, after which ex-Attorney General Benjamin H. Brewster delivered the speech of presentation, in the course of which he said:

"If you they consider this memorial of this patriot, this gentleman, this upright man, this triumphant soldier. We knew him, or knew of him, from his earliest school, to the glories of his matured manhood. Those who were his kindred and intimate loved him and respected him for his simplicity, gentleness and manly tone of his nature. We were all proud of him living, and we all mourned for him when he died. His death was felt as a common sorrow, and to this hour it is ever mentioned with emotion as a common calamity."

The grandsons of Gen. Meade, Master George Gordon Meade and Master George Gordon Meade Large, then advanced from the platform to the front of the statue of their distinguished ancestor, and at a given signal, the great white canvas was removed by the two lads, revealing the beautiful outlines of the monument. As the general's figure, seated upon his charger, was exposed to view the large audience broke up into outburst of applause that rang through a genuine wood for squares away. The statue was then received by Hon. George H. Boker on behalf of the commissioners of Fairmount park. He spoke in glowing terms of the long and earnest efforts on the part of the Fairmount Part Art association to adorn the park with the bronze memorial of the dead chieftain.

After music by the band, Maj. Gen. John Gibbon, of the United States army, arose to deliver the oration of the day. Gen. Gibbon came to this city all the way from Vancouver barracks, W. T., to perform this sacred duty to the memory of a deceased comrade. The orator reviewed in detail the life and distinguished military services of Gen. Meade, and spoke with a sense of pride of the beautiful monument that had been raised to perpetuate the memory of the soldier whose military career was so closely identified with this closing struggle and victorious termination of the rebellion. The exercises closed with the singing of the Doxology.

A reception and banquet to visiting guests was tendered by the Fairmount Park Art association last evening at the Union league.

Why He Opposes Henry George.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Patrick Ford is out in a long article explaining why he now opposes his old friend Henry George. He says it is simply because, as he understands it, Mr. George attacks the Catholic church in defending Dr. McGlynn. Mr. Ford believes the George land theory is right, and he says Mr. George is as far above the ordinary politician as the Statue of Liberty is above a Tom Thumb. He cannot, however, join forces with any one who attacks the Catholic church.

Didn't Produce Their Contract.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The five girls imported from Belfast to work in Ross, Turner & Co.'s twine factory, and who were allowed to remain under a contract recovery as to whether they came under the contract labor law, were recently discharged because their work did not give satisfaction. They sued the firm for breach of contract, but were non suited yesterday, no proof of a contract being produced.

Why He Assigned.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—Timothy Brown, dry goods dealer, assigned yesterday to Frank Goodlett. His assets are estimated at $80,000. The cause of the failure is owing to his inability to meet a loss of about $100,000, occasioned by fire a short time since. Everything is now right about the payment of insurance money.

Nineteen Men Supposed to be Lost.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Oct. 19.—The fishing schooner Rebecca Nickerson is supposed to have been lost on the Banks with her crew of nineteen men, during the great gale of Sept. 3. All the rest of the fleet has returned safely.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR CONVENTION.

They Will Finish Up Their Business and Adjourn To-day.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 19.—Contrary to the reports of the early morning, no effort was made yesterday in the interest of the Knights of Labor to reopen the fight that ended the day previous in a defeat for the administration, and it is now settled that the two "D's"—Bailey and Barry—will remain on the board for another year. There was only two episodes yesterday that occasioned a breeze. The first was a resolution proposed by Delegate Dickert, of Michigan, a representative of the labor assembly, declaring that in refusing to tender their resignations, as requested, Messrs. Bailey and Barry had forfeited the confidence of the general assembly.

This had scarcely been read when there was such a storm of hisses and groans that Powderly hesitated for a moment before putting it to a vote. When he did so it was rejected almost unanimously. Shortly after there was another speck of trouble over a proposition to empower the general secretary to employ and discharge employes in the general office for cause, subject to the approval of the executive board. This also met Bailey considered this another stab at them and so did their friends. An excited debate followed. Questions from every part of the hall were put at Secretary Litchman. He said that it was no more than fair and just that he be given the power asked. One of the charges brought against him by Bailey and Barry was that he had discharged a man employed in the office without authority. He did it because the employe in question was a confirmed drunkard and unfit for duty. He also had given out the secret circulars and other matter that had "mysteriously leaked out" of the office during the last year. The general offices were at the mercy of these fellows. They were retained because Bailey and Barry would not vote to discharge them. The debate was carried on in this vein for an hour, when the motion was put and lost.

Considerable business of a routine character occupied the remainder of the afternoon session.

This evening the convention will come to an end. An exposition of the many courtesies which have been extended to the representatives of the press from abroad by Mayor A. Ames he was yesterday presented with an address of thanks. Subsequently, at their invitation, he occupied the center of a group of visiting correspondents, which was photographed as a reminiscence of the occasion. He will also be presented with a copy of the photograph, enclosed in an elegant frame.

What They Will Not Concede.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The first national convention of the Employing Printers' association of the United States convened yesterday afternoon in this city. About ninety delegates, representing the principal cities east and west, were in attendance. A speech of welcome was made by Mr. H. H. Kohlsaat, of the Chicago Typothetæ, in which he said that "any yielding, inflexible opposition to the nine-hour system is our determination." He also stated that the object of the convention was to form a strong organization to resist the unreasonable demands of those employed in the trade. After some routine business a permanent organization was effected with the following officers: President, R. H. Smith, of New York; vice-president, L. S. Lawson, of St. Louis; secretary, William Johnston, of Chicago.

Shurtevant was accordingly given that term yesterday by Judge Stevens.

The woman was 29 years old. Evans was her lover. They quarreled about a month ago and did not meet again until last night, when Evans sent for her. She came to the door of the house, and after talking hotly a few minutes Evans shot her.

Killed by the Cars.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 19.—Samuel Voll rath, an employe of the Pennsylvania railroad, aged 21 years, was killed at this place yesterday morning. He tried to board a freight train about 7 o'clock, but made a misstep and fell under the cars, and a projecting piece of iron ripped open his abdomen. He was brought to his home in this city, where he died shortly after 10 o'clock.

GEORGIA'S FAIR CAPITAL.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIBUTE TO ATLANTA'S ENTERPRISE.

Eloquent Tribute to Mr. Cleveland by the Southern Orator, Mr. Grady—Exercises at the Piedmont Exposition—Later Festivities.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 19.—The president said his party did not breakfast till very late yesterday morning. At 11 o'clock President Collins and Vice-President Grady, of the exposition, called at the president's rooms and escorted the president, Mrs. Cleveland and Postmaster General Vilas to the capitol, where they entered the governor's room and were received by Governor Gordon. The visiting governors, the supreme court of the state, the members of the governor's staff, the United States officials, the municipal authorities and the members of the legislature were presented to the city's guests. This ceremonial over, the distinguished visitors, escorted by Governor Gordon, Senator Brown and Colquitt, and accompanied by the visiting governors and many other people of distinction, proceeded to Piedmont park, the exposition grounds. A national salute was fired as the procession entered the gates of the inclosure and proceeded to the speakers' stand. The families of welcome to the president began with a prayer by Rev. Dr. Bartlett, of the Presbyterian church, after which Mr. H. W. Grady, vice-president of the exposition, in a brief but eloquent speech, extended a welcome to the president as follows:

LADIES AND MY CONSTITUENTS: I shall have the honor of introducing to you to-day the greatest ruler on this earth. No king, nor emperor, nor czar holds a place with the president of the American republic. The right of inheritance cannot confer, nor bold usurpation win, an equal honor to that conferred upon him to whom by the peaceful and unchallenged suffrage of this people, their highest commission has been given. It is the most sacred political trust that can be confided to human stewardship. As for this exposition, it is enough to say that a tenfold more pending for the growing cotton crop of this section that seventy days ago was supplanted in this field by these buildings.

"The exposition is an evidence of the growth and prosperity of the Piedmont section, and, Grade as it is, it is an evidence of a rehabilitation without equal in our industrial record. Much of this is due to the confidence begotten by your election and justified by your administration. I see promise you, sir, in the name of these good people, a cordial welcome to the highest and noblest esteem—the right to look into the faces and hearthe cordial welcome of more southerners than any living man of any man has ever seen assembled. My countrymen, I present to you your president."

The president in response said:

The efforts of Atlanta in the direction of an improved condition of trade and business have not been selfish nor unjustified. The first national Cotton exposition of 1881 and the National Commercial convention of 1883, both inaugurated within her limits, and to which people were held here, were of great direct advantage to a large section and of great benefit to the entire country. To-day Atlanta holds another exposition to which the people of Georgia and neighboring states are invited here to display their products and their manufactures and to give proof of their resources. The occasion calls for and to the best results. All of Georgia's neighboring states still feel the impulse of the Cotton exposition of 1881 and the Commercial convention of 1883, and I trust that the present exhibition may prove of as great benefit as these to the material welfare of the large section of country which has contributed to its success.

After the president had concluded his remarks there were loud and prolonged calls for Gov. Gordon, in response to which that gentleman spoke briefly to the multitude. The public reception at the fair grounds was a pleasant affair.

Drowned in the Hudson.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The body of a woman was found floating in the Hudson river at Cornwall yesterday morning. Articles apparently from a canal boat were also found. It is thought she supposed that a canal boat was sunk in the neighborhood. The dead woman had on no hat or shoes. The body had been in the water about six hours. No marks of violence were found on it. Air getting in the clothing kept the body from sinking. The coroner is investigating the case.

A Murderer Arrested.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Perry Drake, indicted for the murder of the Rev. Mr. Ryan, and his connection with an organized band of cut-throats and robbers, reached here last night under charge of detective Burnett and a strong posse. No warrants have yet been issued for Dan Cunningham, who it is alleged, was one of the robbers. Officers are after other suspected men. Great trouble is expected, as the officers have gone into a vendetta, and rival factions are after each other.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The National Employing Bricklayers' association began its second annual convention yesterday afternoon in this city. About 200 delegates were present. BUFFALO'S HANDSOME MUSIC HALL.

Dedicated to the Music by a Grand Public Festival.

BUFFALO, Oct. 19.—Music hall, by far the finest in the city, and erected by public subscription, was dedicated to the Muses last evening by a grand musical festival, in which a number of well known artists and a chorus of 600 voices took part. The whole was led by Professor Walter Damrosch and his grand orchestra of eighty-two members of the New York Symphony society. The performance was "The Golden Legend," with Miss Earle, Miss. Hastreiter, Herr Alvary and Herr Heinrich in the leading parts. The hall was crowded and everything passed off without a hitch.

The hall, acoustically considered, is a great success, and artistically, when finished, will be a credit to the designers. Every note was clearly heard in all parts of the immense auditorium, and the beauties of the lines of the large chorus was beautiful. The main hall with the gallery will seat 2,100 persons. There is also a concert hall with a seating capacity of 1,000. In the building is located the German Young Men's association, Orpheus society, the Saengerbund, and kindred vocal organizations, and there will be a cafe on the first floor.

The original music hall was erected at a cost of $250,000. It had many flaws, however, both architecturally and in its acoustic properties, which it was decided to correct a new hall on the site of the burned structure it was determined to remedy those defects. The new building cost $300,000, and all that science and skill could do to make it a source of pride to the city and a favorite with musical societies was done without regard to expense. The result, the music hall fully answers the demands made upon it last night, and every one went away well pleased. The future will undoubtedly harmonize out the present week and bids fair to be a great success, both financially and in a musical sense.

Five Thousand Men Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—District Assembly No. 70, Knights of Labor, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon declared a strike among the 5,000 wage workers who are employed in the twenty-two shops of the Shoe Manufacturers' association. The cause of this proceeding is the fact that the manufacturers, when asked some two weeks ago by the board several shoe employes to increase their pay, failed to do so and left the matter in the benches. A lockout was to be declared by the association to-day. The Knights got wind of the scheme on foot, and at their meeting yesterday issued a special order declaring a strike in the twenty-two shops that are members of the shoe association. The order was issued at 3 o'clock, and at 4 o'clock, and the passers by wondered at the hands walking out of the shops an hour before the regular hour. The news of the strike spread rapidly and the subject was freely discussed at the Knights of Labor meetings last evening. The boards indorsed the district's action.

How to Solicit a Contribution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The feature of the meeting of the board of commissioners of the Jubilee, Monday night, was the report made by Secretary Propper of his interview with Civil Service Commissioner Eddy, in which the commissioners had indorsed the project of the formation of a national association, and had promised to personally contribute to its funds. No mention of Coler, who was on the street, and not at his office, for whoever came to him at his office to ask a contribution would be liable to indictment for violating the law. "I asked," said Mr. Propper, "how we were to ask a contribution from the president unless we direct a letter or called on him for that purpose. Mr. Eddy replied: 'Just direct your letter to Oak View, saying that you didn't want to put yourself in the position of violating the law, and I will guarantee the president will laugh and send you a check.'"

Denis Kearney Exhibiting Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Denis Kearney began his anti-Chinese campaign last night by a speech in Dare Opera House. His remarks about the hated Orientals were so vulgar that some of the ladies present left the hall. Deputy Sheriff Dan Lowrey, the eloquent and highly educated Chinese writer, Wong Chong Foe, and several other naturalized Chinese Americans occupied prominent seats and applauded Kearney's sentiments. The worst of his most extreme assertions. This aroused the Californian to his old time frenzy, and he fairly disported about the stage in his anger. The audience was a much animated and noisy one.

Three Criminal Cases in New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 19.—Peter Coffee, indicted for the murder of Station Agent Charles Way, was to have been tried yesterday, but owing to illness of a witness the case went over until next term. GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 19.—The schooner Herman Bobson, Capt. Lawson, from Grand Banks yesterday, reports: "Sept. 30, fell in with French fishing sloop Pierre, off St. Pierre Miquelon, in latitude 44 deg. 20 min., longitude 51 degs. 20 min; water logged. Boarded her and found ten men drowned in the cabin, and being rough to make to do anything with her, or recover bodies."

The Governor's Veto.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 19.—Governor Sawyer has vetoed the Hazen (Boston and Maine railroad) bill. It would require 204 votes in the house to pass the Hazen bill over the governor's veto. The original vote for it was 226 on the first ballot and to get the additional 26 votes needed. The Boston and Maine expect, however, to secure the passage of a modified bill.

An Oxford meteorologist seeks to prove that the European and American magnetic poles are coincident with the centers of greatest cold for the two continents, and that the shifting of the magnetic poles is due to the same series of astronomical and geological causes which produce the secular changes in climate.

At various magnetic observatories on the continent of Europe slight disturbances were registered, which apparently were connected in time with the late earthquakes. M. Mascart believes that a more careful examination of the records of different observations will show the connection which may exist between the two disturbances.

At the San Servolo lunane asylum, reached by gondola from Venice, very complete and scientific histories of cases are required and recorded. The skull of every patient is accurately examined and measured, no less than fifteen different measurements being taken, according to the Italian craniometrical system, and recorded in the history.

All the fine flowers seen at exhibitions are obtained by the plants being "disbudded," as the method is technically known. The expert florists instruct amateurs, who select special kinds from the cut flower tables that they must not be disappointed at finding them half the size when the flower unless they pinch off all the buds but one on each shoot just as soon as the buds can be seen.

Paint is found better than calcimine or whitewash upon the walls of a kitchen, since the steam from the washing or cooking has less effect upon it, and also because it can be more readily cleaned. Before painting, the wall needs to be washed with soapsuds, then covered with a coat of dissolved glue, which must be allowed to dry thoroughly before the paint is applied, the work being done well and quickly with a broad, flat brush.

Screws that are too small for separate treatment may be cleaned as follows: Take one pound of screws and place them in a small box—a cigar box will do; put a small quantity of oil on them and shake for a minute; then put a piece of cotton waste in the box, and repeat for a minute; finally put a handful of fine dust in the box and shake for another minute or so, and remove the sawdust by sifting it from the screws in a fine sieve. The screws will be found as good as new.

From all accounts of the "silver make" of Honduras it most resembles quicksilver in its movement. One traveler tells of a specimen four inches long and about the size of fence wire which it was impossible to hold when taken in the hands. The statement is repeated, which is said to be made on good authority that fowls are not unfrequently shortly after can have the pleasure of doing so again, as in a few moments one will wiggle through the alimentary canal, and can perform the feat many times without tiring.

A fight for $1,000 a side and a purse of $1,500 is being arranged between Tod Wall, middle weight champion of England, and George La Blanche, the Marine, to occur near Boston the latter part of November. If Wall has not been overestimated by the English sporting press the Marine has a big contract on hand.

There will be a number of new race tracks next year, if certain plans now under consideration are carried out. The proposal is made to have a circuit in New York state, comprising Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester, Utica, Albany, and a track in Massachusetts, located at Worcester. The last named city would be a fine location for a race track. The city is just midway between Boston and Springfield, and within an hour's ride of each.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

ENLARGING DRESSES FOR FAST GROWING CHILDREN.

New York Fashions for Autumn Weddings—Full Descriptions, with Illustrations, for Making a Bride's Toilette and Bridesmaids' Dresses.

The cuts presented in this issue represent New York fashions for autumn weddings as illustrated and described by Harper's Bazar. Ivory white satin, faille Francaise moire antique and soft reppel silks are the fabrics of rich wedding gowns prepared for this season. Their trimmings in some instances is lace in flounces of round point lace, wide breadths of valenciennes, or of embroidered lisse broad enough to drape the entire front of the skirt. White satin with lace flounces and garniture of lilies of the valley with orange blossoms is the typical gown for a bride whose maids will wear pink rose tulle, making the tableau at the altar white and pink instead of the white and gold groups seen last year.

BRIDE'S TOILETTE.

The bridal gown shown in the first cut is of pearl white soft repped silk trimmed with white lace and a moire sash. The front of the skirt is laid in wide side pleats, and nearly covered by a deep lace apron, which is caught by pleats on the left side; the train is plain and very full. The long pointed corsage is cut square at the top, and opens over a lace plastron gathered above and pleated to a sharp point below; the elbow sleeves are also cut off square near the top, and filled in with lace which falls in a pleated frill below. The collar is made of rows of pearls. The sash of moire ribbon is folded to follow the outlines of the pointed corsage, and falls in loops and fringed ends on the left side. A cluster of orange blossoms is low on the left of the waist, and similar flowers are placed in the folds of the tulle veil, which is long, full, with plain unhemmed edges, and is arranged to leave the face uncovered. White undressed kid gloves, white stockings, and white satin shoes with lace rosettes. Bouquet of orange blossoms.

Bridesmaids' dresses are fashionably made of moire with broaded stripes and lace. When there are a number of bridesmaids each pair wears a different color. These dresses are made with a short bouffant skirt, lace flounces and a long pointed waist, with Pompadour square neck and short sleeves; a small hat of lace and a basket of flowers carried in the hand complete these Dresden china costumes. White moire Pompons with lace skirts and moire sashes will also be worn by bridesmaids. A group of six bridesmaids have chosen Suede colored China silk for three dresses and buttercup silk for the other three. Pretty dresses of white organ valling with full vests of Alencon lace have revers of white moire and moire straps fastened by gold buckles; with these are stringless bonnets of lace, with gold quills thrust through a large bow of white moire ribbon; the bouquets are of bluish roses and maidenhair ferns. A pretty and simple dress for a maid of honor, or for several bridesmaids, is of white satin surah, with a very full short skirt, shirred at the top and not trimmed otherwise. The full gathered waist has a sash of white moire ribbon tied behind, and the bouquet worn in the corsage is of yellow roses. A short tulle veil falls just below the waist. Bridesmaids wear tan colored Suede gloves, with slippers of the same tan kid and stockings to match; these complete dresses of any color as well as white toilets.

BRIDESMAIDS' DRESS.

The bridesmaids' dress represented in the cut is of white Bengaline and Valenciennes lace. The skirt is trimmed with lace, a ruche of pinked moire around the foot and a sash of moire ribbon. The long waisted bodice is made high about the neck and has a full lisse vest with revers on each side and a bow of moire ribbon on the top. The short tulle veil is fastened by a cluster of white flowers. Long gloves and slippers of tan colored undressed kid, with silk stockings of the same shade.

How to Enlarge Children's Dresses.

Mothers complain of not knowing how to enlarge girl's dresses when they grow rapidly, yet we think this cannot be so difficult a task with the prevailing fashion of open bodices with a colored plastron of another material. Pleated plastrons are often carried to the edge of pointed bodices, and an answering trimming added to the front of the skirt, or the fronts of a bodice that is too narrow may be turned back above, lined with a different hue and a gauged stripe set on from the revers to the waist; these, however, should be edged with the material of which the skirt is composed to give a tasteful effect. A tucked chemisette of muslin, tulle or stamine in white or cream should finish off such a dress. The back and front of a yoke grown too small may be enlarged by setting in four stripes of any pretty material, one down the front, a seam at and third round the arm hole and the fourth down the back.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Tam o' Shanter hats, cigar cases and match boxes were the men's favors in a recent military hop at the West Point hotel.

Golden and china asters are now sold by children who carry them in strings, and worn by those on fashionable parade to a great extent.

So many tall candles in the drawing room of the "house beautiful" now suggest preparations for a high mass or a "low wake."

Some women now wear a fine net over the back hair, possibly fearing if the hairpins drop out some tiny curls might be lost.

In many fashionable houses the propriety of having clean hands, or wearing gloves, is suggested by the white enameled furniture.

Too many people are said to sacrifice their health for the canonized beloved, which is somewhat more fashionable than is desirable.

An everlasting electric watch is the latest thing out, so to speak, and would seem to be specially well adapted for the use of the hired girl.

In dessert knives the acme of elegant ones are those with solid silver blades and pearl handles with the owner's initials inlaid in gold.

Would be swells and Anglomaniacs, who for a time discarded watch chains on the waistcoat, are beginning to display them once more.

The sealskin craze for 1887-88 has commenced, and greater than ever will be the fashion of "London dyed" garments of all [illegible].

DEACON BURDETTE.

His Witty Talks Out o' Meetin' Upon Timely Topics.

"Papa," said Ethel, "I do not think you are just to Mr. Sophimcore; I was walking with him last night. His head is full of ideas."

"Yes, yes," said the professor, and went on reading the proof of his lecture on "Microscopic Thought," "we cannot realize the infinite littleness of the cicada bacteria, when we know that 30,000,000,000 of them occupy a space no larger than a pin's head." Yes, yes; as you say, he has a great many ideas; but they are"——gone on reading proof.

HE'ER FASHED THE VOLUNTEER AT A'.

"I am weary of this humdrum life," said Calliopus. "Why, what are you doing?" "Tuning lurdy gurdies." "Shake; I am writing speeches on tariff reduction."

BUT FARE YE WELL, AULD THISTLE BEN!

Young Mr. Sawhorse, first year in medical college; sees an editorial headed "The Danger of Apathy"—"The incomprehensible ignorance of these editors!" he exclaims grandly; "they write about things of which they know absolutely nothing. Now, you take apathy in time and there isn't a dangerous feature in it: the veriest quack can handle it." Puts on his hat and goes out to look after a case of incipient inertia.

YE AIRLINE MIGHT—I DINNA KEN.

Lawyer Bulldozer—Do you know anything about George Thorpe? Stupid Witness—Yes, sir. Lawyer B.—Ah, you do! Do you know any good about him? Witness—No, sir. "Oh, you don't! Well, then, do you know anything bad about him?" Witness—No, sir. "Then, for mercy's sake, what do you know about him?" "I know he died twenty years before I ever heard of him."

STILL HAE A' STAKE.

A Boston broker lost a wallet containing $15,000 on the street and a newsboy found it and brought it to the owner. The man struggled with a terrible temptation to be mean and scrimp for a moment, and then forgetting self and casting to the winds his greed of gain as he trampled the temptation under his feet, gave the honest boy permission to go on the Common and play every day. "We can trust you," sobbed the grateful man; "we know that you will keep off the grass." Oh, how often this opportunity to make others happy by a kind word, a gentle smile or some little act of kindness knocks at our doors and we heed it not, until it is too late. Oh, that more people were like the Boston man. (P. S.—They are.)

"WHEN HAME YE MAKE!"

Where, oh, where has the young man gone who graduation clothes put on, some time along the last of May, and owned the whole wide world for a day? And where is the sweet girl graduate, who planted an easy dread with fate and started out with a gigling flirt to turn the old world upside down? And where is last year's candidate, who had things fixed for this year's slate? Who carried around, as proud knives, great coupl of counties in his sleeve? And where is the scribe with a vaulting will who tried a long felt want to fill, and courted shekels and renown in a humorous paper in a bourgeois town? The lad has divided the world up fair, and holds but his own eight billionth share; the sweet girl grad. is a grand surprise, and congeals the world with well meant ennui; the candidate with the deathless "gall" is fixing himself for another fall; while the journalist with the haughty crest has gone the way of last year's nest. So year by year and day by day the world runs on in the same old way; the balloon that is biggest round about is the falldest one when the gas is out.

IT MAKE AN UNCO' LEEWAY.

There is one thing Ignatius O'Donnelly might have done very easily, if he had thought of it—he might do it yet—prove that Harriet Beecher Stowe didn't write the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" that is presented on the stage ten times a week all through and between the seasons. He could find plenty of copyists in the cast; the two Topseys, the two Markses, the two donkeys, and the latest company announces two Uncle Toms—these, with the four meat hounds, would give an ingenious man ciphers enough to prove anything.

AN SWAT WI' DREAD—

"Is there any lunsh in recognizing?" asked the teacher of a class. "There is," answered the smart bad boy. "And what is it?" "Owning an interest in one." He was kept in two hours.

REAL AND IMITATION BABIES.

A Boston woman evasive out in print to denounce what linguists call wash, popularly known as baby talk." Oh, well, that's to be expected in Beanville, where Joseph Cook is regarded as a model child's nurse and primary kindergarten teacher. We believe, firmly believe, that a baby who! which! that! is born with eye glasses and a theory should be called a babe at birth and addressed as sir or madam.

Out many your machine made babe! I know one long ago. His name was Henderson Ingraham Stillwether, and his parents called him that when he was in his cradle. He was but 5 years old when first I met him, down by the Hillside river. He said to me, "Excuse me, sir, but could you kindly enlighten me as to the character of this strange looking craft toward which our eyes are wending and, also, can you tell me whom does it belong?" I clutched the little monster by the neck and held him under the dingy boat for an hour. I suppose I was weak. He is mature, but she only said that "Henderson was very far advanced; his Uncle Donnison did not drown until he was 49." They didn't bury Henderson. They greased his feet and put the pages of a Colton's Atlas, and he fastened out and dried just like a fern. That's what becomes of that sort of children. I am glad I drowned him. I am looking around for more like him. People who wean their infants on dictionaries will do well to keep them under glass until I lose my romainsk. Waghorn Brooklyn Eagle.

Pictorial Shakespeare.

"The infirst of the finest shall teach me speed."—King John.

—Life.

A Mexican Joke.

Don Atanagenes complains bitterly of the conduct of his son. He replies at length to an old friend all the young man's escapades. "You should speak to him with firmness to call him to his duty," says the friend.

"But he pays not the least attention to what I say. He listens only to the advice of Sick. I wish you would talk to him."—Mexican Paper.

CITY COMMON COUNCIL.

NINETEENTH MEETING. - SPECIAL SESSION.

The Electric Light Company will Give Better Lights at a Saving of Over $800. - No more Flickering "Arcs."

When President Marsh's gavel fell at the Special Session of the City Council at 8:12 last night, three Councilmen were absent—Messrs. Voorhees, Dunnett and Taylor. Those present were Messrs. Bowers, Carey, Cox, Dunham, Marsh, Simpson, Waring and Wilbur. Mr. Dumont came in later. The President stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of considering the recent proposition of the Plainfield Electric Light Company to light entirely with incandescent lamps the districts now lighted. Mr. Bowers asked that Clerk Leonard read the communication from the company. The letter proposed the proper heading of not less than three hundred lamps of twenty-five candle-power, which will be kept burning from sunset to sunrise every night in the year. Each lamp will cost $14.00 per annum. Outside of this district and to Netherwood by LaGrande avenue it was proposed to place lights, if wanted, at a cost of $13.70 each, per year, all work to be done under bond with sixty days after making contract. The communication was signed by W. H. Moore, Manager.

Mr. Bowers, for the Committee on Fire, Water and Lamps, submitted a resolution accepting the proposition and directing Corporation Counsel Marsh to draw up a contract for one year, based on the one now in force, with the privilege of a renewal for two years; all work to be done under bond of $2,500 similar to the one now binding for the faithful performance of the contract.

Mr. Cox moved to adopt the resolution; Mr. Wilbur seconded the motion.

Mr. Bowers said that three hundred lights would cost $4,200 covering the same territory for which the city now pays $5,282, which sum includes 50 arc lights, six incandescent, 25 gas, 18 bridge and several gasoline lamps. Hence the new proposition if accepted would save the city $822 per year.

"The present hours of lighting," he continued, "are from dusk to two a. m., the 18 nights of the month, while the new arrangement will give 330, or over 100 per cent more.

Superintendent Moore being requested to tell the Council something of the poles to be used said that all poles now standing, including gas lamp posts would be put into service and all new posts would be of ornamental iron, tapering from the base to the top, with a fancy bracket holding the lamp, projecting over the roadway or sidewalk, the brackets to be placed alternately.

An informal examination of a map with the location of proposed lamps was then held. After it was over, the resolution presented by Mr. Bowers was withdrawn, and a new one presented and unanimously adopted as follows:

Resolved, That the Common Council on behalf of the City of Plainfield accept the proposition of the Plainfield Electric Light Company for lighting the streets of Plainfield with the system of incandescent lighting as offered by them of 285 lamps as located on map with the privilege of adding more from time to time, provided that such contract shall contain a certain stipulation that upon the failure of the Company to faithfully maintain one-half of the lights for a period of ten days at any time, then the Council may be at liberty to rescind the contract, and the company shall be liable for damages, that for every failure to light and maintain any lamp any night between dark and daylight the company shall further double the price for that lamp for that night, to be deducted from any bill paid the company for lighting; further that it shall maintain the twenty-five-candle-light power all through the night or that lamp shall be considered as not lighted; further that it shall be to the forfeiture; that the company expressly stipulate that they only claim the extension of the right to use the poles and maintain wires for domestic lighting during the existence of the contract with such tenants should be referred to the people, where it rightfully belongs, at as early a day as possible.

Another Temperance Split.

Twenty-five dissenters of Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, were organized by the Rev. A. G. VanAken of New Brunswick, Grand Worthy Patriarch of the State, into Plainfield Division, No. 231, last night. Grand officers from Elizabeth, including A. G. Hargan, were present, as was also a large delegation from Westfield, headed by Past Worthy Patriarch Miller. Lewis Wadsworth was elected Worthy Patriarch. The other officers will be appointed at the next meeting, Wednesday, October 26.

At the banquet after the organization services Jr. W. Pike presided as Master of Ceremonies and several speeches were made.

The members complain of shabby treatment at the hands of Janitor Osmond of the Knights of Pythias. They say that he was ordered by the Board of Trustees of the Knights to throw open their lodge rooms to the division. He kept the doors locked, however, and only through the kindness of Mr. J. B. Coward, who permitted them to use the Republican Association hall, did they secure rooms.

Democratic Primary.

The Democrats of the Fourth Ward held their primary meeting in Democratic Hall at eight o'clock last evening and elected delegates to the County and Assembly Conventions. Judge Nathan Harper was elected chairman, and Vincent L. Frazee was chosen as secretary. The delegates chosen are as follows:

County Convention—Messrs. E. D. Moffett, P. Casey, Daniel McCarthy, Peter Flynn, Jr., and T. H. Keller.

Assembly Convention—Messrs. Vincent L. Frazee, Michael Fields, S. A. Davis, Thomas Casey and Peter Galbraith.

Member County Executive Committee—Vincent L. Frazee.

The meeting was addressed by Judge Nathan Harper and James E. Mastine.

—The Rutgers College foot ball team defeated the Stevens at Hoboken yesterday by a score of 5 to 3.

The Fifteenth Re-Union.

The sixth annual re-union of the Fifteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, in commemoration of the battle of Cedar Creek, in which that regiment was engaged and nearly annihilated, was held at Somerville yesterday, and the day will long be remembered by the veterans and the citizens of Somerset in general as one of perfect entertainment and a continued flow of good feeling. Groups of old "vets" congregated on the corners and discussed their varied experiences while "in the army."

The reception was tendered not only to this Fifteenth, but to all the ex-soldiers in the county, the Third and Thirtieth regiments, by a committee of fifty prominent citizens of Somerville, with G. Snowden Cook as chairman.

About fifty—all that remained of the 1,600 volunteers who were mustered into the service—arrived in the city on the early train and were met at the depot by members of Wadsworth Post, G. A. R., and escorted to the post rooms.

The stores and private residences from the head of Main street to Raritan were beautifully decorated with bunting. Flags and placards bore the words of Sheridan when he first arrived on the scene of battle after his famous ride: "Move out at once, we shall be in our old camps to night." Others had these words: "Welcome, Fifteenth Regiment N. J. Volunteers." The boys who never turned their backs upon the foe."

Everybody admired the handsome picture made for the occasion by the always obliging Julian Scott, who ranks as the greatest artist in this country on war topics, with which he is familiar, and among the best in everything else he undertakes.

At about 10 o'clock the country folk began to arrive in town, and the crowd continued to swell until it was estimated that fully 12,000 people thronged the streets. Among the notable persons present were Gov. Robert S. Green, Congressman William Walter Phelps, Congressman James Nelson Pidcock, Senator John Roderick McPherson, Gen. Wm. J. Sewell, Gen. Rusling, Capt. Lewis VanBlarcom, Col. David Sanderson, Col. Thomas, Col. E. W. Davis, Assemblymah Geo. E. Pace, and Senator Large of Huntingdon.

The line of parade was formed on High street, right resting on Ross street, marching down to Main, up South South and down High to Raritan.

An address of welcome to the veterans was delivered by ex-Assembly James J. Bergen and responded to by Col. E. W. Smith, of the Fifteenth. Gen. Sewell of the Thirtieth introduced Gov. Green, who delivered a short address. Following Gov. Green came Congressman Phelps, and he was received with rousing cheers.

A large number of persons were present from this city.

Somerset's Republican Platform.

The following platform was unanimously adopted by the Somerset County Republican Convention held at Somerville on Tuesday:

We, Republicans of the County of Somerset, in Convention assembled, do express our confidence and faith in the Republican party both State and National, to legislate and govern in accordance with the best interests, and for the welfare of our people; and we hereby pledge to the party and its candidates our hearty support therefore.

We remember with shame the history made for our last House of Assembly by the Democratic majority, who, with good efficiency and even the public interests were made subservient to personal spite and mercenary ends; and we call upon the intelligence of our citizens to the disgraceful part taken therein by the member from our county in the corruption and defeat of honorable and representative in the Senate.

The Republican party being the party of progress and the promoter of industry and thrift, we believe it alone has a true interest in the welfare of those who depend upon their own labors for their support and advancement, and we pledge our support to all measures having that object.

We believe that the determination of all questions relating to the restriction or abolition of the liquor traffic by taxation or prohibitants should be referred to the people, where it rightfully belongs, at as early a day as possible.

THAT RAHWAY TRAGEDY.

DETECTIVES CLAIM TO HAVE IDENTIFIED THE VICTIM.

They Declare She Was Mrs. Annie Ingram—In Hot Pursuit of Her Husband. A Chain of Evidence That Seems Very Complete.

Jack Crawford, the Supposed Husband,—Died He Murder Her.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 20.—Detectives Gregory and Fitzgerald yesterday succeeded in establishing the identity of the woman mysteriously murdered at Rahway several months ago. The victim was Mrs. Annie Ingram, who two years ago came to America from Birmingham, England. She married while in England, but her husband lived only a few months after their marriage. While at Castle Gardan she obtained a situation with George Martin, of Metuchen, and remained there nearly a year. Martin's wife quarreled a great deal. Annie was frequently under the influence of liquor. She struck Martin, and destroyed nearly all his furniture. For this she was arrested, tried here and acquitted. She remained here and obtained work in the United States hotel. Her drinking habits, however, resulted in her dismissal, and she went to Mrs. William Fisher's at Five Mile Lock, where she remained only a few weeks. From there she went to Rahway, where she joined the family of Mrs. Peter H. Miller. While in Bound Brook she became acquainted with a man whom she married on Dec. 8. She left her husband on the next morning and went to Philadelphia, leaving all her effects behind. The man disappeared a few days later and has not been seen since. Who he is the officers refuse to say.

Shortly before she was murdered the woman returned to New Brunswick and remained a short time at the United States hotel, but disappeared suddenly and was not seen again. The detectives, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Stevens, of New Brunswick, visited Chief Kaeon's office at Elizabeth yesterday and examined the murdered woman's effects. Mrs. Wilson identified the rings as her property, she having loaned them to Annie when she married the Bound Brook man. The chemise had also been presented to the woman by Mrs. Wilson. Stevens this week for Canada. All those worn by Annie while at her hotel the last time. Both women were positive that the clothing shown was worn by Annie Ingram. The finding of Annie's purse, a knife, Mrs. Wilson said "yes," and minutely described the knife in the possession of the police, although it had not been shown. They both described the woman carefully, and the description tallied exactly with that of the dead woman. Late yesterday afternoon the detectives examined the trunk in Mrs. Davis' house. It contained several photographs of the dead woman and also one of Ingram, and a large package of letters was found, some of which were from the husband, Jack King, of 29 Teanet street, Birmingham, England. The officers would not say how the woman happened to be in Rahway, one brief reply refused to say who the man is whom she married in Bound Brook. They left the city on the 7 o'clock southbound train, saying that they expected to get their man before midnight.

RAHWAY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—A reporter saw Mrs. Wilson yesterday after she had inspected the clothing of the murdered woman, and had started on her way back to Bound Brook. She had evidently been instructed by Detective Gregory to reveal nothing. Nevertheless she admitted that she had identified the clothing and jewelry as those formerly worn by Annie Ingram, an English girl, who lived with a family named Fisher at "The Lock" in Bound Brook. The Ingram girl, she said, afterward lived with a family named Westervelt or Osterveit in Bound Brook, and a year ago was married. She undoubtedly disappeared with her husband. She did not connect the murdered girl with Annie Ingram until she saw a photograph of the Rahway victim, which she immediately recognized as Annie Ingram's counterpart. Then she told Detective Fitzgerald, of Bound Brook, her fears, and Fitzgerald and Gregory started to work the clew for the reward. She said she recognized some of the underclothing at the Rahway police station as some she herself made for the dead girl.

Later Information.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 20.—Mayor Daly of Rahway arrived here this morning accompanied by Detective Gregory, and went to Bound Brook to investigate the matter. The name of the supposed husband is Jack Crawford, formerly of Bound Brook. The marriage ceremony was performed by Justice Plummer of Bound Brook.

The Marauding "White Caps."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.—An effort is being made by Governor Gray and others to induce the United States District Attorney to prosecute in the Federal Court the band of night marauders in southwestern Indiana, known as the "White Caps." In the counties where they operate they have control of the courts, and all attempts to punish them have been unsuccessful. It is believed that the Federal statutes intended for the punishment of the Ku Klux in the South can be applied to the "White Caps," and the District Attorney is now preparing to begin an investigation into the depredations of the outlaws with a view to instituting prosecutions.

Homage to Queen Victoria.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 20.—The messengers in the civil service all signed the Jubilee address sent to Her Majesty by the civil service. A collection of fifty cents a-piece has been levied to help pay for the binding of the congratulatory document, but the majority of messengers have refused to pay up. They claim that there was no talk of assessing signers when the address was prepared.

"NIGGER EPH," THE "FIRE-BUG."

Indicted for Burning the Cook Lumber Yard.—His Plea, Not Guilty.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE NEWS.)

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 20.—Among the cases brought before the Union County Courts this morning was that of the State vs. Ephram Carman, the negro, "fire-bug" of Plainfield. He was indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday and was brought to the Bar to plead to-day. The charge was for setting fire to the Rafferty barn and Cook lumber yard. "Eph" began to make an elaborate address to the Bench, protesting his innocence, but was cut short and the plea, "not guilty," was recorded. Trial was set down for Oct. 27, which is the same day that John M. Jackson and Theodore, Horace and Lewis VanNest will be tried.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

In Full Blast This Afternoon.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE NEWS.)

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 20, 2:20 p. m.—A war cloud menaces the Democratic County Convention and this afternoon's session, which has just opened, promises to be full of sensational wranglings.

As early as quarter past one the street corners were blocked with knots of politicians —all arguing hotly. There are factious upon factions; there are stubborn delegates arrayed against others just as set in their choice; and in the selection of candidates for State Senator, Governor, Sheriff and Board Freeholders. Coroners there will undoubtedly be war to the knife. In the County Clerk's office at 1:30 the group which City Attorney Bergen calls "the nice little Court House ring" was in earnest concave, and a reporter who intruded was given to understand that if the ring was much fresher outside than indoors. When, at two o'clock, the "ring" adjourned to Library Hall, where the convention is being held, the faces of all were radiant and a telephone message saying, "Everything looks favorable," was sent to a trembling candidate.

[Convention is in session as we go to press.]

A Printer's $2,000,000 Legacy.

WACO, Tex., Oct. 20.—Joseph E. Hamilton, a printer of this city, has fallen heir to an estate the value of which is two millions of dollars, and perhaps three. The money was left by an uncle who went to California in 1850. The other day the lucky printer received letters from W. Y. Bliss, Public Administrator of Butte County, California, requesting him to prove up his identity and forward the papers, which he has done. Mr. Hamilton left this week for California. He is a good fellow and a general favorite with the fraternity here.

The Cyclone Coming This Way.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 20.—The cyclone which was born in the Gulf of Mexico, Monday, is rapidly coming toward the north. This morning the cyclone struck Augusta, Ga., and did considerable damage.

Lane—McNabb.

At seven o'clock last evening Miss Anna H. Lane and Joseph McNabb both of Bound Brook, were married by the Rev. H. B. Macauley, at the residence of Charles McNabb on Union avenue. The folding doors of the parlors were pushed apart, thus disclosing a beautiful arch which was artistically decorated. Then the bridesmaids, Miss Lane and groom came in and stood under the center of the arch while the ceremony was being performed. The bride was attired in her traveling dress which was a becoming steel-colored silk, handsomely trimmed. The groom wore a black Prince Albert suit. Many valuable presents were tendered, a reception was given the friends and relatives of the happy couple by Mrs. Henrietta Lane, mother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. McNabb left town at 8:30 p. m. for Washington, D. C., amid showers of rice and the ringing of the synadic old shoe. They will travel for the present, and have not selected a permanent home. The presents were numerous and costly.

Mr. McNabb has been engaged for a long time in clerical work at the New York office of the Central Railroad. He owns a beautiful residence on Mountain avenue, now occupied by the Rev. W. W. Jordan.

Among the guests present last evening were:

Mother and brothers of the groom; Robert W. McBride of Illinois; Chas. McBride, editor of the Elizabeth Journal; Miss McDonwald of Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. James Lane, Miss Anna Kershaw, Jacob Kershaw, Miss J. Thompson, all of Readington; Mr. and Mrs. John Whitbeck, Miss Minnie Smith and Phebe Lane, Miss Lizzie Whitbeck, George Lane, of Somerville; Miss Mary Doty of Pluckamin; Mr. and Mrs. Clickner, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Hickman, Miss Mary Hickman, Gaine Hoffman, Miss Mary McNabb, Dr. Compton and Mrs. Compton, Miss Lizzie F. Coddington, Wm. A. Coddington, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Coriell, Miss Anna McBride, Miss Carrie Blackwell, Mrs. Isaac Brokaw and Miss Alice Rockefellow, all of Bound Brook.

PERSONAL.

Senator Mills Lewis, of Warren County, Illinois, is spending a few days with his cousin George Lewis, of Woodland avenue, North Plainfield.

Mrs. John Schrope is confined to her house on Jackson avenue with a severe attack of diphtheria.

Charles, the four-year-old son of John Schrope of Jackson avenue, died this morning from diphtheria.

Robert Binnings, who is the engineer at the Electric Light Station, started up the engine at the Scott Press Works when they first began operations. He has traveled extensively, and upon his return last February from Australia was persuaded to engage by the Electric Light Company. He has a manner very pleasing and principles the best. The Company is fortunate to have such a capable man at the helm.

STATE NOTES.

Police Justice Tunison of Rahway has been charged by Mayor Daly with retaining fees, amounting to over $500, contrary to law.

A man's body was found yesterday floating in the Morris Canal at Cedar avenue, Jersey City. The was nothing on it which would aid in identification.

There came near being a suicide at Passaic Falls in Paterson on Sunday. It is now just about a year since John Farrell of Brooklyn, visiting the falls on Sunday with a child in his arms, fell into a deep crevice in the rocks and died at a hospital the same evening. The child fell with him, but was unhurt. On Sunday Farrell's sister went to Paterson to see friends and visited the scene of her brother's death. She was so overcome with grief that she made an attempt to throw herself down into the crevice. Her friends held her back just in time and hurried her away.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1887.

THE LAST DAY IN ATLANTA.

Bad Weather Does Much to Mar the Proceedings.

ATLANTA, Oct. 20.—Yesterday was rainy throughout. The president and Mrs. Cleveland entered their flower bedecked carriage at 11 o'clock and with an escort of cavalry and artillery made their way through muddy streets to the exposition grounds, three miles away. There were 40,000 beings waiting there, who cheered the city's guests, and who changed wearily from point to point in the rain awaiting their turn for ground to stand upon. The rainfall, though never severe, was persistent and the lowering skies gave no promise of change.

The procession moved slowly around the race track and stopped in front of the grand stand, where it was intended that the distinguished party should alight, but the president, after considering the mud through which it would be necessary to wade to reach the reserved place, determined for Mrs. Cleveland and himself not to venture. His carriage was then driven close to the inner railing, and there he awaited the passage of the troops in review of him. Umbrellas had been procured for Mrs. Cleveland and himself, but their companions, Messrs. Collier and Grady, occupying the front seat, turned up their collars, tipped their hats to the northeast, where the wind came, and braved the storm like Spartans.

There was a delay of one mortal hour. The troops were all on hand, but for some reason they could not be brought into position. Drums were heard beating in the distance, and every few minutes a mounted policeman came and drove little knots of people from one spot to another. At last a discharge of bombs, a burst of music, and the troops, perhaps 1,000 men, came marching and swung past the president, who stood up in his carriage, with an umbrella over his head, to receive them. When the column had passed the carriage was, with some difficulty, extracted from the soil, turned round, and the proposed military reception having been abandoned the party returned to town.

OGLESBY ON LAWLESSNESS.

Sympathizers of the Anarchists Can Draw No Comfort from His Speech.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Governor Oglesby made an address to the Locomotive Engineers' convention yesterday afternoon, which indicated pretty clearly his feelings toward the Anarchists. In trenchant words he denounced the lawless methods of the Reds. "There have been cases in this fair land," he said, "when hungry men with hungry wives and children at home have listened to the flashy sentences of men who thought they could interpose themselves between the laboring people and the steady march of law and order and of violence. Deeds of violence followed and, all too late, they found they were not potent enough to change the tide of affairs. Appeals to the justice of the people will always in the end result in justice, but violence and the outrage of the laws of justice will meet with inevitable punishment."

The governor was often applauded, and his remarks as to violence was understood to be a statement of his attitude in the case of the condemned Anarchists. Everybody present inferred from the governor's speech that the Anarchists stand a slim chance of pardon, or even of commutation of sentence.

Father Kirner Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The death roll of the fallen schoolhouse in One Hundred and Fifteenth street was increased by the addition of the name of Father Kirner, who was both the builder and projector of the structure, and Robert Levy, the 14-year-old boy who was in the Blackwell shop when it was crushed by the bricks of the west wall. The total number of deaths is thus brought up to eight. It is believed that all the other victims of the accident will recover.

The Times on Gladstone's Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Times says: It is a fact beyond question that Mr. Gladstone's oratorical performance beats the record of all the statesmen who ever attempted to govern a country by their gifts of speech. We stand amazed at the fecundity of language and physical endurance displayed by a man completing his seventy-eighth year. In substance, however, his speeches are deplorable.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Eugene Root, captain of the Twenty-sixth separate company, has placed under bail his stepdaughter, Miss Ella Otis, were arrested yesterday, charged with stealing a hive of bees and some honey from a farmer named S. Perth Amboy Coal Handlers Idle.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 20.—There is already considerable suffering among the coal handlers at Perth Amboy, owing to slight shipments of coal. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—George Francis Train, the American sovereign, who has been in this city lecturing since Sunday, threatens to sue The Missouri Republican for $100,000 for the editorial in yesterday morning's paper, suggesting that Citizen Train should examine the St. Louis insane asylum with a view of making it his permanent residence."

EXPLOSION OF NATURAL GAS.

Five Persons Fatally Hurt and Ten Others Occasionally Injured.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 20.—The 6×4 serious natural gas explosion in this city in two years occurred yesterday morning in the Hotel Allemanie and Bijou Theatre block on Sixth avenue. About 10:15 o'clock there were three terrific explosions simultaneously in the cellars of D. T. Reeks, opticians, Hotel Allemanie, and the Bijou Theatre. The concussion shook buildings for several squares, and broke every pane of glass window in the block. Almost instantly flames shot up from various parts of the block, but before they gained much headway they were put out by the firemen.

The Hotel Allemanie, the Bijou theatre and the block in which Reeks' establishment is situated, between the hotel entrance and Library hall, were all terribly shattered. An investigation showed that fifteen persons had been seriously hurt, five of them, it is thought, fatally. There names are: Jacob Dinger, gas employe, internally injured, legs and body scalded. Recovery impossible. Thomas Scanlan, gas employe, badly burned. Will die. Mike Mabranzi, Italian, gas employe, severely burned. May die. Blakn, colored, injured internally. Will die. N. T. Prohibiting Announcements of Meetings of Suppressed Branches.

DUBLIN, Oct. 20.—The police have warned the Irish news agents against exposing papers or placards containing any reference to meetings of suppressed branches of the National league.

At the Tuam fair yesterday thousands of head of cattle and sheep were offered for sale at ruinous figures, but, despite the exceedingly low prices, there were no purchasers, and the farmers say that they cannot continue business any longer and must take advantage of the bankrupt law.

His remarks were heartily applauded.

The mill owners locked out under the land act, sitting at Thurles, have in numerous cases reduced rents from 40 to 50 per cent.

A Terrible Predicament.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 20.—Two Burlington and Missouri freight trains collided near the village of Woodlawn, four miles north of here, about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The engine and a dozen cars were completely wrecked. The wreck immediately took fire, and Ben Davenport, a trackman on one of the trains, got his right foot caught between the engine tender and an iron bar. The flames were drawing nearer to him, and the only way to release him was to chop his foot off with an ax. He sustained the ordeal, and was brought here. His knee was crushed to pulp that it was necessary to amputate the leg above that point. The shock, in his weak condition, was very great, and at noon he was reported dying. The wreck was caused by the carelessness of the conductor.

Both leave a family of adult children.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 20.—The Eagle declares that Tuesday's registration was illegal, owing to the board of elections having made a mistake in interpreting the law. THE BROOKLYN VETERANS.

THE FOURTEENTH REGIMENT'S MONUMENT DEDICATED.

The Ceremonies at Gettysburg—An Imposing Memorial—Mr. Seth Low, the Orator of the Day—A Concert in the Evening by the Band.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—The Brooklyn veterans and visitors reached here at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, after an all night ride, for the purpose of dedicating the monument of the famous Fourteenth Brooklyn regiment, which dates its origin back as far as 1848. The party included veterans of the regiment under command of Gen. E. B. Fowler, who was at the head of the regiment in the battle. They were escorted by 250 men of the Fourteenth New York National Guard regiment, with a band and drum corps, Col. H. W. Bischoff being in command. The common council of Brooklyn, with ex-Mayors Low and Booth and a number of heads of Brooklyn's municipal departments and a number of ladies. On arrival the troops were marched to the Springs hotel, near the monument on the first day's field. A number of the guests were also quartered in the City hotel.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the exercises of dedicating took place at the monument, which stands at the old railroad cut near the Chambersburg turnpike. Rev. Dr. J. O. Peck, chaplain of the regiment, opened the exercises with prayer. Gen. Fowler presented Seth Low, the orator of the day, who spoke at considerable length to a large audience. A striking feature of the exercises was the very soldierly march by the troops of the Fourteenth regiment to the monument and return to the hotel, where a review took place.

The monument is one of the most imposing yet erected here. It is twenty feet high, capped with an eight foot statue of a private soldier obeying the command "handle cartridge." Grouped, like others of the State companies, is intended to perpetuate the tactics which were in vogue a quarter of a century ago and are now so obsolete. The die bears four bronze plates, those on the front and rear giving the name of the regiment, with the bridge, division and corps. On one side is the coat of arms of the state of New York, and on the other the coat of arms of Brooklyn. Full historical data appear on the four sides of the base in raised, polished letters. The Fourth Brooklyn regiment, the eighty-fourth in the New York line, belonged at the time of this battle to Cutler's brigade, Wadsworth's division, Reynolds' corps, and was one of the brigade which first went into action. Their first position was on the most advanced portion of the Union line, and they afterward moved by the right to the spot where the monument stands and where they participated in capturing the Second and Forty-second Mississippi regiments of Davis' brigade. Reilly's division of Hill's corps. Last evening the troops were off duty, the band giving a concert at headquarters.

Knocked Out in Five Rounds.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 20.—Harry Gilmore, of Canada, and Billy Meyers, of Streator, Ill., light weight pugilists, fought to a finish, Marquis of Queensbury rules, for $1,000 a side and an additional purse of $1,000. The fight took place at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at a place called St. Croix, about eight miles northeast of Stillwater and just across the Wisconsin line. It took only five rounds to knock out the Canadian. About $6,000 changed hands on the result, and Minneapolis sports dropped the big end of it.

Merely a Friendly Chat.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—It is said at the state department that the nature of the approaching fishery conference is generally misunderstood, and that the conference with it no authority or power. THE KNIGHTS WORK DONE.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO MEET NEXT IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Powderly's Temperate Views—Ideas Are Held by a Large Majority—The Position of Dictated Assembly 126—No Charters for the Chinese.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 20.—Three days work was crowded into one by the general assembly of the Knights of Labor yesterday, and everybody was tired when, at the end of a session which lasted 12 hours, the gavel fell and the convention declared at an end. The adjournment was effected too late to enable the bulk of the delegates to catch the evening trains, but by noon only Mr. Powderly and two or three of his associates in the management of the order were in the city. The administration party is on the whole well satisfied with what has been accomplished, although considerable regret is expressed that it was not strong enough to bounce the disorganizers and anarchists in the executive board. The anti's, on the other hand, while deriving some consolation from this particular victory, are brimful of dissatisfaction with the general outcome of the gathering and unsparing in their criticisms of the treatment which they received at the hands of the council.

There was a brief debate upon a resolution prohibiting the carrying of any other but state and national colors in Knights of Labor parades. This was opposed by Gen. Master Workman Powderly, of the Chicago, New York and Detroit delegates, but on a call of the roll it was adopted by a vote of 112 to 89.

Powderly's celebrated deliverance on the temperance question came up on a proposition to strike out that portion relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors at social gatherings given under the auspices of the order, but the advocates of temperance had things their own way, and the clause was allowed to stand by a vote of 108 to 89.

The committee on grievances and appeals regretted that in consequence of the volume of conflicting testimony it had been unable to reach a conclusion on the application for reinstatement from District Assembly 126 of New York and recommended that the question be submitted to arbitration. The committee on boycotts, however, thought the assembly was ready to comply with the law of the order, it could be restored to good standing by the executive board, thus leaving the matter where it stood at the close of the Richmond assembly.

The recommendation of the grand master workman that the boycott against the Richmond compelling all cigar makers belonging to the Knights of labor and the International union to leave one or the other organization be declared unconstitutional was straddled by the adoption of a resolution that all cigar makers who considered themselves aggrieved by the decision in question might, should they desire it, be reinstated without fee.

The general executive board was instructed to issue no charters to Chinese assemblies, on the ground that any other course would be detrimental to the interests of the order in the west.

In response to the request of District Assembly 208, of England, the general master workman was empowered to appoint a man from the order in that country to take charge of affairs.

A report sustaining the administration of General Secretary Litchman having been adopted, the committee on finance called attention to the fact that $400,000 had been spent during the past year, and recommended that the strictest economy should be exercised by the general board. Incidentally the accounts of some of the officers that had been called in question were indorsed.

The general officers were authorized to reimburse District Assembly 49, of New York, for the costs to be incurred in defending the members of the order who are under indictment in connection with the strike of the employes of the Old Dominion Steamship company.

The time of meeting of the general assembly was changed to the Tuesday following the second Monday in November. Indianapolis was chosen as the place for the next gathering.

Tom O'Reilly, in accordance with an old established custom, sang: "If You Will, You Won't, You Do Vow," the delegates joining in the refrain, and the convention was at an end.

Never Too Old to Elope.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 20.—Thomas Slater and his wife Elizabeth had a happy little farm house in Wyoming county, near Tunkhannock. Mr. Slater had a snug little sum of money in bank, some $1,300. On Tuesday he drew out of the bank $100, which he gave to his wife to do some shopping. Mrs. Slater went to town, and while there she met George Flaherty. The two returned to the Slater homestead, and in the absence of the husband Flaherty put on a new suit of clothes. Mrs. Slater and Flaherty left home and took the train for Wilkesbarre. Mrs. Slater paid the fare. Upon the arrival of the train here they were separated, and last evening they returned to Tunkhannock in charge of an officer. This is the oldest sloping couple on record. Flaherty is 67 and Mrs. Slater 58 years old.

The injured men were brought to this city for care and medical treatment. Hankins' leg was amputated at the knee. It is thought Cooney, Hankins and McFarland will die. Invoking the Law in Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 20.—The motion to appoint receivers for the Mormon church property was argued yesterday. It is claimed that the late Supreme Court Chief Justice Zane conveyed to different officials $25,000,000 worth of property of the church, leaving only about $250,000 visible; and the court is asked to order a receiver to take charge of the property. The defense claims, on the other hand, that the church corporation has been dissolved, and that its property is in the hands of trustees. The arguments will occupy several days.

WOMAN AND HOME.

A SHORT SERMON ON THE CHARMING ART OF LISTENING.

Importance of Dry Collars—A Bath Tub in Every Household—Parlor Tactics—Herb Vinegars—Napkin Etiquette—Soup for Brain Workers—Household Hints.

Some of the most popular women have neither beauty rank nor wealth to recommend them, or have known such ones their position in the hearts of their friends chiefly to the fact that they were the most charming of listeners. On the other hand, how many women of these whose handsomeness and happiness are marred by their ignorance of this accomplishment.

Let us give an illustration of our meaning. Where would you find a sweeter, brighter, more lovable young wife than Beatrice! As Benedict sits opposite to her by the fireside after dinner and watches her graceful head bending over her book, he may well feel proud of her. "I met Williams in the city today," he said presently. "Did you, dear?" says Beatrice, looking up from her novel. "Yes. He says he thinks that house of Parker's would be the very thing for us. There are six rooms—kitchen on ground floor, and a great striped garden." "A good strip of garden on the ground floor," repeated Beatrice dreamily, her eyes on the page. "I wish you'd listen to what I'm saying," says Benedict somewhat crossly. "If you'd rather read, of course." "But I would not rather read," answers Beatrice, closing her book rapidly and fixing her eyes on her husband with a well simulated air of profound interest. But she keeps her finger in the place, which Benedict perceives and draws his conclusions; and presently he gets up, feeling a little hurt, and says he is going over to have a smoke with Jones.

Nowhere will you find a better sister than Martha. She watches over the domestic affairs of her brother Theophilus with the greatest devotion. His gloves are always in their place, his coat always brushed; nor is he ever exposed to the mortification of putting on a soiled shirt and finding too late that it has a bit on lacking. In one respect only does Martha come short of the ideal sister. "Would you like to read something aloud to you?" says Theophilus, coming into the room where Martha sits by the fire knitting his winter socks. "I have got out the last number of The Asiatic with my article about the vowel sounds in Sanskrit in it." "Delightful!" cries Martha. Thus encouraged he begins to read, giving every word its due weight, as only authors do. Presently he is aware of a low under current of sound. He pauses, and catches the mystic syllables: "Knit one, purl one, knit two together." "I am afraid you find it a little dry," he suggested, wistfully. Martha protests that, though she is counting her stitches, she is listening all the while and enjoying it immensely. But the reader's pleasure is gone. Martha is an admirable woman; why does she not listen?

I was asked not long ago to pass a few days in a country house to meet the fiances of the eldest son, an old college chum of mine. The young lady was pretty, intelligent, accomplished; and I heartily congratulated Tom on the marriage he was making. But when I spoke to his brother in praise of his future sister, he said gloomily, "Wait a bit." I waited. The first day I thought her clever. The third day I found her not clever exactly, but vivacious and amusing. By the fifth I had grown heartily weary of the unceasing flow of her commonplace chatter. When, at the end of a week, I heard the wedding day was fixed, I found myself sighing involuntarily. Since their marriage they have often pressed me to go and stay at the Rookeries, but I like occasionally to have an opportunity of making a remark myself, and for this reason I have always refused the invitation. Poor Tom!—Chambers' Journal.

Danger of Damp Cellars.

The importance of having dry cellars cannot be too strongly urged upon the people. We recently visited an afflicted family at Phoenixville, near Pottsville, Pa., where five members of the family were ill with a typhoid disease, and two had died, making seven cases in all. We made a very thorough examination of this house, had the drinking water analyzed, and were forced by exclusion to the conclusion that the sickness in this case was caused by a damp cellar. A stream from a worked out mine kept the locality marshy and the cellar wet. To obviate this a drain had been run from the cellar to a neighboring creek. This drain had been stopped, and some inches of water had accumulated in the cellar.

Had this family known that dynamite was in the cellar they would not have slept easily until it was removed, but with this insidious foe to life and health, they ate and slept contentedly, until the favorite child, a boy of 11, was taken ill and died. Then, suspecting the damp cellar, the drain was cleaned out, but it was too late, the mischief was done, the family was infected, and all of the children had the disease. As I looked at the bereaved and saddened mother, I could but pity her want of knowledge, that had brought such affliction. The doctor could not cure, but the parents could have prevented. Do not live in a damp cellar an hour.—Annals of Hygiene.

A Suggestion in Parlor Tactics.

While you are arranging the parlor just have a thought for the visitors who must sometimes sit in the room, and carefully refrain from putting every object of interest beyond their reach. Of course, as a careful hostess, you never mean to keep callers waiting, but if they come when you are in the midst of planning dinner with the cook you must delay a little while they are reduced to staring out of the window, or to an involuntary effort to penetrate some insignificant household secret. The family photograph album is usually regarded as a sufficient resource in such like time, but is there not something akin to indelicacy in allowing strangers and ordinary acquaintances to turn over the likenesses of our nearest and dearest, perhaps to criticise them with the freedom of unfamiliarity or the sympathy natural to a lack of personal appreciation? The late Sam Slick, a book of good engravings, a household volume of poetry, to be a little old fashioned, a stereoscope and views of foreign scenes and a dozen other things are all good aids to the entertainment of any amusement. Moreover, they often suggest to the visitors and best topics of conversation more profitable and interesting than the state of the weather or the history of the kitchen.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Trials of a Girl of Fourteen.

Thank goodness, I'm nearly 15. I believe if I were to be 14 any longer it would run me crazy. I'm very healthy, like fun and boys, (in fact I like boys better than girls.) I am called "Tom Boy" at home, and think the name suits me. One of my great trials is this: If I go to climbing on the chicken coop mamma says, "You ought to be ashamed, a great big 15-year-old girl, thinking about beaux, to be climbing about like a boy." Then, again, if I walk home from town with a boy, mamma says, "You little 13-year-old child, not quit playing with dolls, to go flying around with a boy." I hate 14, because it is about this age a girl begins to squeeze her foot into shoes two sizes too small, and wear her gloves and bonnet in doors and out; and if a "fellow" gets me to go, how she worries how in the world it did get there. Another trial is this: If you are in company and anything funny happens, your mother pinches you and says, "Don't open your mouth so wide when you laugh," instead of enjoying a good hearty one. If there is anything I hate it is tight shoes, bonnet strings, and squeezing your mouth up to laugh.—Mae Batsell in Courier-Journal.

Stirring One with Another.

There are mothers who cannot see the use of sports, and who rather find fault with their boys for investing so much of their time and strength in them. They look upon the learning of the play insipid will save some misapprehension. Boys inherit an instinctive disposition to strive to achieve something and to indulge in contest for the sake of mastery. Their masculine forefathers for ages have been doing this in their struggle for existence, and their descendants of the same set have inherited the same kind of and similar activities, even before they are old enough to make them of any practical good in a day of civilization, when the availability of one's efforts is decided to a later age than it is in a more primitive stage of life. A boy is not fully and truly a boy unless he shows a good measure of this impulse. It was nature's gift to him, and its use is not only a gratification, but it has a training effect in fitting him for the strife of life in sober earnest. Only the impractical, clumsy boys those are likely to be who never habitually played with their fellows, and who never worked hard to excel each other at sports.—Good Housekeeping.

Boston's Daring Horsewomen.

Boston has shown of late that her women are not fond only of ease in their enthusiasm for out of door pleasures, and it is agreeable to note how much benefit as well as genuine pleasure the lady riders after the beagles in the Brookline hunts have got from the sport this fall. Some of the prettiest riding was by the young matrons. Fearless, graceful and daring are these fine riders, and, considering how little chance the New England climate gives them, it is altogether surprising that they ride so well. The sparkle in the eyes, the glow of health in the cheek, both signs bespeak the value of the graceful and healthful exercise. The excitement of jumping pasture bars and fences only lends an added zest to the sport, and that the enjoyment of it is known in these days in which to set off the grace and refinement of feminine beauty than the riding habit, and a wonder it is that the habit has not been more not painted in it. Our aunts and grandmothers remember the time when it was every society lady's ambition to be painted in the graceful attitude of playing on a harp. Why not now the equestrienne portrait?—Boston Post.

A Bath Tub in Every Household.

Every one needs a bath at times, and every human habitation should contain something for a complete immersion in water, and, since convenient and inexpensive portable baths, at comparatively few figures, are now extensively advertised for sale, there is little excuse for most people to be without this priceless luxury. In the long catalogue of diseases to which flesh is heir, says a well known Troy physician, scarcely one can be named in the treatment of which a bath is useless.

To those blessed with good health, a bath, as common sense appliance, gives thrift and growth to healthy functions, a brightness and delightful serenity, a clearness of mind and buoyancy of spirit. It is certainly a blessing to both mind and body. For the mental worker, it is a nerve tonic. A thorough application of cool water at proper temperature will calm and give strength and tone to his whole system. The indoor laborer, who gets but a scanty supply of fresh air, needs a bath as the most life giving invigorating elements of the open air.—Herald of Health.

Ladies' Reading Clubs.

The forming of reading clubs in social circles is becoming very popular the country through. A lady traveling recently in some of the interior towns in Massachusetts found them in every village she visited. She subsequently three or four in the same village. The membership varies from ten to twenty-five, the lesser number being the more often observed. The ladies form their club, select their books, and each one subscribes for some good periodical, which is sent to her address. Of course, no two members subscribe for the same periodical; thus, each one may read her own first at pass it on in systematic order. The club by this means is able, at a comparatively small outlay, to become familiar with the contents of all the best current publications. At the end of the season the club holds an auction, enabling the members to retain what is worth preserving, and the remainder of the periodicals and books are sold.—Magazine of American History.

Mistakes of Fashion.

One of the great mistakes of the present day is the paucity of underclothing that women of fashion indulge in; it is laying the seeds of many illnesses. Some have doffed petticoats of any kind, and are content with combinations and dresses. It is neither seemly nor good for health. Running into extreme would seem to be a characteristic of womankind. Some years ago they were overweighted with clothing, which, coming mostly from the hips, was in every way deleterious. Now they run so much into the contrary extreme that, unless the folly is nipped in the bud, diseases of the lungs, rheumatism and a long train of evils will run rampant. The disciples of woolen clothing would have nothing else worn; but some capital elastic vests have been brought out in thread which are quite worth thinking about. —Cassell's Family Magazine.

Plenty of Hot Water.

One of the most important and most neglected parts of the kitchen duties is the keeping plenty of hot water on the stove. Very few cooks can be taught to replenish a kettle as soon as it is emptied. The old lady who, when dying and almost speechless, beckoned her daughter to bend over her to receive her last words, and, being assured with her last breath, "Always—keep—the kettle—full—of—hot—water," is no subject for ridicule or boneyfree. Most of them have been in extremities where her course seemed to them entirely natural. To be in a hurry for the cupful of boiling water that is needed for a certain dish, only to find the kettle dry, is a tax upon the patience that is hard to meet. Insisting that the kettle must never be placed on the stove unless filled, and examination into the matter on every visit to the kitchen, are the only remedies for the trouble.—Christine Terhune Herrick in Harper's Bazar.

To Make Herb Vinegars.

The cheapest home made table sauces can made from the sweet herbs used for seasoning meats and poultry, combined with vinegar. Either the green or dried herbs may be used, although they are best just before flowering; be sure that no dust or insects are upon the herbs, cover a bunch with a quart of scalding hot vinegar, and let it remain on them until it becomes impregnated with their flavor; then strain off the vinegar to use at table and replace it with more; one bunch of good herbs will flavor three or four quarts of vinegar. The best known herbs are tarragon, thyme, savory, sweet marjoram, mint, celery, the lemon and parsley; take tarragon, for instance, which can be bought at the German herb stands for five cents a bunch and which makes an excellent table sauce.—United States Journal.

Good Housekeeping.

Etiquette of the Napkin.

A napkin should never be put on the table a second time until it has been rewashed; therefore napkin rings should be abandoned or relegated to the nursery tea table.

At a fashionable meal the guest does not fold his napkin. At a social tea or breakfast he may do so if the hostess set the example, but there is no absolute law governing that branch of the subject.

Never fasten your napkin around your neck; by so doing you lose your convenient to the hand and lift one corner only to wipe the mouth. Men who wear a mustache are permitted to "sew" the mouth with the napkin, and if it were a tearing pain, but for others it would look too masculine. Nothing is more unpleasant than a damp napkin. Never allow a napkin to be placed on your table until it has been well aired.—"Manners and Social Usages."

Soup for Brain Workers.

An excellent soup for the brain workers has its origin in Germany. It is esteemed as one of the most nutritious and appetizing soups known to the German gourmet. Put into a stew pan twelve onions, one turnip and a head of cabbage, a quarter of a pound of butter and a quart of white stock; stew till tender. Add another quart of stock, pulp the vegetables and boil with the soup for half an hour, stirring constantly. Just before serving add a half a pint of boiling cream and about twenty button onions, picked and boiled soft in milk and water. Season with salt and thicken, if desired, with rice flour worked with butter. Each of these ingredients may be ranked high as brain food.—New York Post.

Not by Design.

The idea obtains that woman's dress is a true exponent of her tastes. Don't believe it. Sometimes there isn't an atom of truth in it. The great majority of women all over our land dress as they can, not as they would, and when we see the blood curdling combinations in their clothings, and then met with, it is unjust to accuse them of defying the laws of taste through ignorance or pure indifference. Money is an important factor in getting up a wardrobe perfectly harmonious in color and fabric in all its details, and it will be found that economy or poverty is generally at the bottom of the matter when a woman is clad unbecomingly.—Garry Owen Gaines in The Interior.

No Such Thing as a Perfect Man.

It takes much grafting, and pruning, and watering, and training, and digging, and tender care, to produce the perfect plant. And it takes all this, and more, to produce the comparatively perfect woman. As to the perfect man—there are none of him. All the men in the world, all the money on the earth, all the water in the sea, would not produce even a dim likeness of that unknown creature. The word perfect in all its forms and derivatives has been omitted from the fairly bright lexicon of man.—"A Woman" in San Francisco Report.

Boiling Milk for Children.

While milk is kept on ice, in the milkman's can or in the domestic refrigerator, it is continually receiving the germs, becoming more and more infected with the germs of decomposition. The practical lesson from all this is the necessity of boiling milk or other artificial foods for children before it is given as nourishment. This cannot be too strongly impressed upon the minds of all concerned in the welfare of children, and the younger the child the greater the importance of observing the rule.—Globe-Democrat.

A Remedy for Tender Feet.

My remedy for tender feet is cold water—about two quarts—two tablespoonfuls of ammonia, one tablespoonful of bay rum. Sit with the feet immersed for ten minutes, gently rubbing, all the money on the limbs upward to the knee. Then rub dry with a crash towel, and all the tired feeling is gone. This recipe is good for a sponge bath also.—Myra Douglass in Detroit Free Press.

A polish for delicate cabinet work can be made as follows: Melt a pint linseed oil, half pint of old ale, the whole of an egg, one ounce spirits of wine, one ounce spirits of salts. Shake well before using. A little to be applied to the face of a soft linen pad, and lightly rubbed for a minute over the article to be polished.

Spirits of camphor will remove fruit stains of all kinds from white goods if applied before the goods have been wet. Wash and boil in the usual manner, and if you have not look for the stain, for it will not be there.

A faded carpet will get a somewhat new luster by putting a half tumbler of spirits of turpentine in a bucket of warm water and keeping the broom wet with it while sweeping.

In buying a washing machine, always take into account the strength of the person who is to use it. Some machines cause more fatigue than the old way of rubbing.

Don't grease a creaking hinge and stick it up with a remedy that is worse than the evil, but put a little graphite or soft lead pencil on the place of friction

"Meat and mirth," remarked a Scotch matron, "is a' bairn's want till they are married seven." She is a wise woman in her generation.

To remove grease from garments, dissolve a tablespoonful of salt in four tablespoonfuls of alcohol, shake well and apply with a sponge.

Lime water is good for chilblains. Use strong and hot. A saturated solution of alum in water, used hot, is also a curative.

For coffee stains try putting thick glycerine on the wrong side and washing it out with lukewarm water.

Iron rust comes off with lemon juice and salt, and the same kind of juice will remove stains from the hands.

Rub new tins all over with lard and heat through before using first time and they will not rust.

To clean tinware, dampen a cloth, dip it in soda, rub the ware briskly, after which wipe dry.

Why leave stains on cups and saucers and other dishes when ashes will remove them?

To clean piano keys, rub them with a little alcohol, applied with a soft rag.

Matches should always be kept in a stone or earthen jar, or in tin.

They Had Got Used to Babies.

"Say," said a woman wearing a faded yellow dress, as she came out of a western Dakota house which stood near the road, as we drove up, "you didn't see no young 'uns down the road, I reckon?" "No." "Couple of twins missin' again. I guess" and she surveyed a good sized flock who were playing around the house. "Or, hold on, I guess there ain't, either." She began singling them out with her finger, saying: "One, two, three—stand still, you brats, till I count you! —four, five—come back here, Ophelia, till yer counted—six, seven, eight, an' two at school makes ten, an' the baby is 'leven, an' two out'n the field is thirteen. All right, stranger, they're all here; I bowed two or three o' 'em had lit out, but the cousin is correct." "You have a large family, madam." "Lawks, family till you can't rest! An' say, do you know, what's a fact, gen'l'men, when the first one, Sheridan—here, out'n the field shuckin' corn now—when he was a baby what d'ye think me an' his old man used to do to him? Give it up, eh? Used to wake him up to see him laugh! Yes, sir; regular thing every time he went to sleep! Sometimes one big feed of us an' sometimes the other would sneak up an' chuck him under the chin an' say: 'Wake up, ol' bobby wheby, an' laugh ce cummin' little laugh for ce papa.' Didn't never wake up any of the other twelve? Well, not hardly, stranger—we knew a powerful sight more'n we did. Here, Washington, quit hurtin' yer little sister or I'll give you a welt side, you'll remember till yer 100 years old!"—Chicago Tribune.

Bill Nye's Favorite Literature.

In all I think I derive more comfort from Herbert Spencer than any one else. As Mr. Lincoln, during the dark and trying days of our great civil war, turned to the light and joyous comments of President Yancy, so I flee from my own earnest and profound research to the dry, crisp humor of Spencer, and more especially to that passage in which he characterizes evolution as "a change from an indefinite, incoherent homogeneity to a definite, coherent heterogeneity through continuous differentiations and integrations."

I never get tired of putting a damp towel on my head and reading this passage, for it enables me to forget everything else.—Boston Globe.

Times of Affability.

Female Suffrage Agent—I called to see if I could not induce you to join our suffrage association, Mrs. Politician.

Mrs. Politician—Indeed I will. I was opposed to the whole business until I happened to attend a mass meeting last evening, and now I want a vote just as quick as the law will let me.

"Yes, I saw you there with your husband. He seems to be very popular. But nobody was said at that meeting about woman's suffrage. What changed you so suddenly?"

"It just occurred to me that if I had a vote my husband would be polite to me during every campaign."—Omaha World.

Onto the Trick.

A rednosed looking man invaded the counting room of a lazy merchant on Madison street yesterday morning and handed him a card on which was written: "I am deaf and dumb, please buy a box of matches." The merchant shook his head and the pedlar turned to go. His look of deep dejection touched the heart of the business man and he impulsively called after him:

"Hold on! I'll buy a box."

The deaf and dumb man did not respond. Not he. He was an artist in his particular line. He simply happened again the afternoon of the same day and sold the penitent merchant two dozen boxes.—Chicago Tribune.

Same as Usual.

He sat at the end of the car and blew five loud and successive blasts on his nose. A man in the center of the car sprang up, located the man, and inquired:

"Was that a danger signal or only your usual way of blowing your brains out?"

"If you will get off the car I'll whip you in two minutes!" said the man with the nose as he turned very red.

"That settles it, and I sit down. No danger, believe—all keep your seats. It was only the usual blow."—Omaha World.

Fable of the Buzzard and the Fox.

A Fox who was cruising the Fields one day Encountered a Buzzard, who not only Jeered and Insulted him, but actually Dared him to Combat. A Peasant who came upon the Scene Expressed his Surprise that the Fox should Demean himself to such Conduct, but the latter replied:

"An Enemy not worth Burying is not worth Killing."

MORAL.

That's why so many Leaders remain Unthumped.—Detroit Free Press.

"I am going to whip you sir," he wrote, "for printing that piece on me.

I'll teach you to rail at a man of note—

My name is Smith," wrote he.

But when he came in with a whoop and a howl To seek the editor's blood,

A brawny printer caught him foul,

And stabbed him through with the office towel, And he fell with a heavy thud.

When the shot was fired Miss McDermott ran into the house, and after she had closed the door she heard six more shots fired, the bullets striking the house. A subsequent search for the tramp failed to find him.

—An exchange makes the following singular argument: When any great murder case, especially one in which the victim is a woman, fails to end in a conviction, the result is not merely disastrous for the time being, but it has a tendency to lead, to increase of crime throughout the State. Thus, the unpunished murders of Mary Stannard, Jennie Cranmer, and Rose Ambler, are said to have caused the present very high murder record in Connecticut. Sixteen murders have occurred since January.

—When in 1720 half a dozen young gentlemen at Oxford University began to read the New Testament in Greek and try to conform their ideas and behavior most strictly to the same, a young gentleman of the Christ Church College called out: "Here is a new set of Methodists sprung up!" Thus came the word now familiar throughout the world. From this small beginning, 158 years ago, has come a denomination from whose pulpits it is estimated thirteen millions of people are now preached to each Sabbath.

—Concerning "A Bunch of Keys," which will be presented at Music Hall Tuesday night, read the following from the Brooklyn Times: Politicians who sought relief from the strain of the campaign and a greater multitude who only sought amusement on several previous nights and had the straight tip where to find it, filled the Park Theatre last evening to enjoy the wild frolics of the Edouin-Sanger combination in "A Bunch of Keys." This curious and side-splitting burlesque already ranks as an old favorite in Brooklyn, but no matter how often it is produced, it never seems to pall upon the public taste, and the changes and improvements are so many and so apparent that it can scarcely fail to be as successful this season as it was last year.

A TALE OF TWO WOMEN.

DID THEY FLEE TO PLAINFIELD TO EVADE ARREST?

Something About the Mysterious Adventuresses Whom the Parisian Police Want.—Was Edward Jackson a Dupe?

The police of Paris have for some time been searching and still are hunting every nook and corner of that gay capital for two women who are wanted in connection with the mysterious scandal case in which prominent officials of the French army are implicated, and while the astute Prefect and his subordinates are in the midst of their investigations the hunted ones are said to be on this side of the Atlantic. Whether or not they made Plainfield one of their cities of refuge may be judged by reading the following story, the facts of which, when first whispered about, caused a great sensation among the few who heard them.

The doings of Mrs. Harriet Hayes, alias Mrs. Hare, alias many other names, have created a furore of excitement all through France.

The mother is a buxom woman of forty-five. She took a trip in the month of May, apartments within a stone's throw of the Hippodrome, and from all accounts she did her utmost to secure a good match for her daughter, a very beautiful girl about eighteen years old.

PECULIAR TRANSACTIONS OF MRS. HAYES.

When they removed to their new abode it was thought they were in very comfortable circumstances. They had a high rent to pay for their rooms, and although they had brought little furniture with them, various hints about gorgeous suits which were being expressly made for them by a fashionable dealer at a cost of several thousand pounds quite reassured their landlord and tradespeople. At first they lived in very good style and gave themselves tremendous airs, but little by little their pretensions vanished and it leaked out that they were engaged in all kinds of curious transactions. For a brief interval their prospects seemed to brighten. A wealthy merchant had been proposed as a suitor for the girl's hand, and one fine day, imbibed from head to foot in spotless white, she received the addresses but the project fell through. The man of business evidently did not like the look of things and so backed out.

THE PLOTTER WANTED ONLY $200,000.

He did well, for the person who had undertaken to bring the affair to a successful issue was to have received for his share of the spoils $40,000 out of the victim's pocket.

The little dream of infatuated Frenchmen over the mother and daughter launched out more than ever into shady transactions. Gen. d'Andlau became a daily visitor at their house, and the latter was sent out to his apartment at a late hour in the evening with mysterious missives for him. Still the pair did not prosper, and last year they made up their minds to go away for a time. They left their abode saying they were going to America and would return in six months, but they have not since been heard of in the street which they inhabited. The police, thinking they might be in Paris, are searching for them. Something has probably been found among Gen. d'Andlau's papers which renders their presence in the city desirable.

NOT AMERICANS, BUT ENGLISH.

It was supposed at first that the strange couple were Americans, but it now turns out that they are English. The daughter is described as a very beautiful blonde, tall and graceful, with a radiant complexion and fine gray eyes.

She studied for the operatic stage under Lamperti in Milan, where Baron Cantoni, the wealthy manufacturer, became her patron and paid enormous sums to the director of La Perga in Turin to persuade to let her sing Mignon, which proved a fiasco.

She afterward returned to Paris, where she studied under Ambroise Thomas, and soon afterward she plunged headlong into the career of the fashionable demi-mondaine. Her brother is a dismissed merchant of London and her uncle is a clergyman.

As a result of the career of the two, General Caffarel has been dismissed from the French Army for dishonorable conduct. And that is the part which he has acted, in which he has come from the other side of the Atlantic.

AND NOW TO BRING IT NEARER HOME.

On the morning of Monday, Oct. 16, there was registered at the City Hotel, Plainfield, Mrs. and Miss Shilton of London, Eng." Some of the members of that house noticed the twain at dinner and commented on the "decidedly pretty" face of the younger woman. It was found to be not a difficult thing to strike up a flirtation with "Jessie," as the girl was called, and many at once took an active interest in the newcomers to ascertain just who the new-comers were.

Some thought that the elder woman was rather bold of countenance, while "Miss Shilton" possessed, not exactly a combination of deceptiveness and slyness, but a something of manner that made you think that she was playing a part and was beginning to feel ashamed of it.

GOSSIPS EARLY BEGAN TO TALK.

"Mrs. and Miss Shilton" told several conflicting stories as to where they had been and would lead them. Gossips thought it strange that they should be traveling alone and wondered if they had no gentleman friends. Then it was stated that "Mrs. Shilton" was a widow bound on her way to visit a son in Missouri. Later it was said that she was journeying by stages to Australia. It was also understood that she wished to see only the principal cities of the United States and had stopped off at Plainfield by the merest chance. And so the different rumors ran.

Edward Jackson is employed at the Potter Press works and his wife attends to the business at his neat little notion store at the corner of Liberty and Fifth streets. His is an English family and to him "Mrs. Shilton" presented herself and daughter as friends of his sister, who lives over the sea.

EDWARD JACKSON PLAYS MINE HOST.

Mr. Jackson of course bade them welcome to his hospitality and went to many a little expense in their behalf. He called on them at the hotel, took them out carriage-riding, treated them to pleasant little "spreads" and gave them a right merry time—all because they knew his sister. At cards he is said to have frequently lost sums which they were not backward in pocketing, and the cost of occasional trips to New York City fell; it is reported, on him.

Well, the day came when all this had an end. A sudden expose of the Paris scandal threw the guests of the hotel—as they read the New York papers by, as if in fun, last Wednesday—into a flutter, for the description of the Hayes or Hare women corresponded so closely with the appearance of "Mrs. Shilton" and "Jessie" that several separately made up their minds that in "Mrs. and Miss Shilton" were the very personages wanted by the Paris police.

A SUDDEN RESOLUTION TO LEAVE TOWN.

The two women noticed the askance glances of the hotel-guests and "caught on" quietly to the comparison of notes made by observing ones. And at noon they signified their intention of leaving for Chicago. A few days previous they had spoken of visiting that great city of the West, but said that their stay in Plainfield would be prolonged indefinitely. In a talk with Mr. Jackson in regard, one of them had also been incidentally in a rather loud tone of voice what was the best hotel in Chicago. He replied that a good house was the Tremont. And right here, by the way, it may be stated that this and a few other conversations were carried on in a manner that was evidently designed that outsiders should hear them, while generally the two women spoke in an extremely low tone. A stray remark not aimed to strike the public was caught from the lips of "Mrs. Shilton." Mr. Jackson asked if she had found a place in America that she would like as a home.

"CONVENIENT TO DRIFT ABOUT."

"Oh," was the suggestive reply, "I find it very convenient to be able to slip from place to place. I think that travelling will suit Jessie and me first rate for a while."

"Jessie" caught her mother's eye and gave her a look full of meaning as though to say, "Don't give it away." "Mrs. Shilton" then changed the subject.

Mr. Jackson very willingly responded to a request to "see a man with whom they could reach relatives in Missouri," Wednesday morning; but when he saw them leave Plainfield on the 2:08 afternoon train, ostensibly for Chicago en route to Missouri, he didn't know that at the stations at which that train stops no desirable connections can be made for the West.

WHERE HAVE THESE WOMEN GONE?

The ticket agent doesn't know to what point their tickets would carry them, but he is sure they could not have gone beyond Chicago on them. Had they waited for the 2:10 train—which they did not—they could have gone to Philadelphia and there could have purchased through tickets to Chicago. From Manch Chunk and points between, the route would be intricate, roundabout and far more expensive. They had no trunks, but carried five valises. Mr. Jackson has heard from them since they left town, nor has THE NEWS, though it has tried hard to do so.

WHAT HAS "MRS. SHILTON" TO SAY!

A reporter called at Mr. Jackson's store and asked to see that gentleman, but he was not in. Instead a young lady behind the counter, however, volunteered all the information that the family possessed regarding the "Shiltons." And what they do know is very little. They can't even tell where the house is to which two women in black, who they are not from London, though they registered as if from that place. Indications seem to say that if "Mrs. and Miss Shilton" are not the women the Parisian police want, there is still something mysterious about them that needs explanation. Will "Mrs. Shilton" and "Jessie" call in a way to settle and settle the question that Dame Rumor has put before the public? THE NEWS is anxious to hear their side of the case.

To-Morrow's Races.

There will be trotting at the Driving Park to-morrow afternoon and the gentlemen connected with the association expect to have a very enjoyable time. The public are invited to be present, and as there are no admission charges the committee hope to have a large attendance. The races for the "Johnson Cup" will be postponed on account of the unavoidable absence of Mr. Noble's driver. But the following card has been arranged:

FIRST RACE.—TO WAGONS.

Edward Warring's.....Ledger
Mr. Zimmerman's.....Pon McCann

SECOND.

Mr. Moore's.....Little Dick
Mr. Chamberlain's.....Nellie
Mr. Osborne's.....Lady Love
Mr. Van Sickle's.....Seg Wah

THIRD.

Mr. Phillips'.....Little Gypsy
Mr. Stelle's.....Bay Mare
Mr. Osborne's.....Care Not
Mr. Kohler's.....Brown Mare

If the day should prove warm some fast time may be expected.

As many people are under the impression that the "Campbell Club House" is connected with the grounds, the committee would state that the Driving Park Association has no connection with said house.

Carriages may be driven inside of the track and a fine view of the races obtained from that point.

The grand stand will be open to the public and no charge made for seats thereon.

PERSONAL

John McAdoo, father of Congressman McAdoo, is said to be dying of cancer of the throat at his home in Jersey City.

Mr. L. M. French, the well-known carriage manufacturer of Somerset street, is expected home this evening after a week's business trip to Washington, D. C.

Rev. Dr. Lewis is home again from his extended trip West. Miss Mary, his daughter, who has been ill since last April—a period of four months—from blood poisoning caused from dreamt troubles, is also home. She has been at Spring Lake since last July. She was so low that her recovery was extremely doubtful. She is now able to move about the house. Dr. Lewis will occupy his pulpit tomorrow. He has lost his beard. Some say he has been smuggling; but all will recognize the same beloved divine, and welcome him in restored health, home again.

LATEST DISPATCHES.

THE NEWS controls the services of the American Press Association and the United Press, and is the only paper published in this section that possesses a Telegraphic News Franchise.

No Further Developments.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 21.—Nothing else is talked of here to-day but the identification of the murdered Rahway girl. The detectives will soon have the alleged murderer in jail. He was married to the murdered woman, Annie Ingram, on December 7, 1886, by Squire Dimers, of Bound Brook. There are no further developments, however.

—Antoine Shultz of Sterling, who was indicted by the Morris County Grand Jury for selling drinks to minors and by the small measure, has pleaded guilty and has paid his fine.

—The first section of the circus train did not arrive in Plainfield until 9:20 this morning. The second section was an hour later. A washout between here and Norristown, Pa., caused a long delay.

—As you enter Edsall's handsome dry and fancy goods store you will see at the right a very elaborate display of very pretty carpets and Symarna rugs, which is being offered at special low prices, as elsewhere advertised.

—Chief of Police Dodd and Detective "Murphy" took a day off yesterday and went gunning in company with a private citizen. Somebody shot two birds and Mr. "Murphy" is putting his detective wits together to find out just who the lucky one was.

WESTFIELD.

The proposed hotel has evidently knocked the bottom out of the real estate boom. The sand.—nothing more is heard of that scheme.

Mr. H. Bontus of Jersey City, who owns about twenty acres of the old Hanaman property along Grove avenue and Jerusalem road, purposes to put most of it in the market for building lots in sizes to suit the purchaser.

The Collector Person is scattering his little bills and one may hear murderous and groaning all around, while some cannot see how it is that their bills grow larger every year notwithstanding the increase of buildings and taxable property.

Some meek-chiet broke into the residence of A. Trask of Dudley avenue, last night, evidently thinking the kitchen only. Bedrooms were upturned and bureau drawers emptied, but seemingly nothing was taken. Entrance was effected through one of the rear windows.

The Republican primary held at the Town Rooms last night elected the following delegates to the Senatorial Convention: A. F. Grant, C. A. Smith, Chas. W. McClintock, H. M. Smith and J. T. Pierson. Alternates—S. W. Reese, J. H. Townley, Dr. Gale, E. R. Thomas, S. L. Tompkins and Wm. Hall. The Assembly Convention—Robert Mitchell, John W. Nelson, J. S. A. Wittke, Dr. Gale, David T. Pierson.

Notwithstanding the rain quite a number gathered at the meeting of the Citizens' Association Tuesday night. Ottnen Peckham was in his usual form and kept the audience in good humor with hard blows on the way things are now managed, claiming that the people do not get half value for the taxes they pay, owing to the putting of Township affairs into the hands of men who make their living out of the taxes.

"We are," he continued, "too easily led by men to make us promises which we do not fulfill them. We would have a business man at the head. Whenever we had them—as when Robert Parvin and Mr. Worth were on the Town Committee—the taxes went down; but we relapse too soon and go back-ward instead of forward. We must make our general road appropriation large enough so as to do away with the special tax in each district. It will be cheaper in the end, for it costs the township twice as much to stone a mile of road, than it does a private individual, as I know where a New Yorker who had plenty of stone offered to give them free whenever they were wanted for roads, but instead 25 cents a load was paid to another man because he is one of the eminent: and so there is a multiplicity of reasons why the taxes are higher.

Dr. Cooper and Wm. Willis, who are enthusiastic, on the local question, in their speeches stated that all these wrongs would be obviated under a borough government, as they did not believe it possible that the borough would elect seven rascals to tax us to death.

The Morning Land.

BY W. B. S. TALLON.

Tis, O! for a voyage to the Morning Land,
To sail to the sea the bourne,
Where the laboring breast forgets to strive,
And the weary eyes to mourn.
To sail at the Feast of the Deathless gods,*
With the loved and lost on yore,
Or bathe in the ocean of endless peace
That flows to the blissful shore.

Who catches a glimpse of the Morning Land,
In a vision's sudden gleam,
Who hears the harps of the Seraphs high delights,
Though it only be in a dream:
He can sing no more to the laser arts
That thrive in the world of sin,
For his hopes are fix'ed on a throne of light,
The last one's day just may win.

It were worth a voyage to the Morning Land,
Though our ship went under the sea,
Where the waters of Lethe fill the depths
And quiver two centuries;
Though Pain held many an agre,
Chained to his iron throne,
And the sorrowing mind rejected long
In the flames of the burning zone.

But there lived a Prince in the Morning Land,
And he loveth his subjects well,
And he breaks their grave from each death-cold bond,†
For he smiles o'er the lord of hell,
And he cannot the palaces heart to beat
With a life so strong and pure,
Nor death, nor the sins of God endure.
While the suns of God endure.

Dr. James T. Craig, aged 33, died in Paterson. His father is President of the Bank of Scotland, in Glasgow, and Dr. Craig before coming to America was a teller in the same bank.

The diphtheria epidemic in Burlington which has brought to have abated, has again become severe. Four deaths occurred on Monday night. Frank Bloomfield, a shoe manufacturer, lost his second child, and Editor Murphy of the Daily Reporter has another child almost dying. The total number of deaths has been 25. The children are kept from school, and some of the citizens will urge the school trustees to close the institutions. Secretary Hunt of the State Board of Health is now investigating the cause of the disease.

THE COURT HOUSE RING

Ruled the Union County Democratic Convention Yesterday.

The proceedings of the Union County Democratic Convention yesterday were disgraced by disorder and trickery at the ballot-box. They were extremely lengthy—unnecessarily so. The entire delegation, consisting of one hundred and ten members—was present, and a great deal of time was occupied in examining credentials, in calling the roll and in listening to the report of the Committee on Contested Delegations.

A stranger stepping into Liberty Hall would have known at first glance that the assembly was none other than Democratic, for the atmosphere of the place was suffocating with tobacco smoke and the room was an almost continual hubbub of noise and confusion. And yet a delegate called it a "mild" convention. There was much yelling and stamping of feet and innumerable outbursts of noise from the half-drunken crowd in the lobby, who shouted every time that they could muster up breath enough to force a cry.

It was as late as half-past four when the first ballot was taken for State Senator, and Robert L. Livingston was placed at the head of the ticket for a second term. He had but little opposition and polled eighty-two out of the one-hundred and ten votes. At the start Fred C. Marsh and James G. Morgan were his opponents, but Marsh's name was withdrawn before the first and only ballot, and Morgan got only twenty-four votes.

Robert Lord Livingston was born in Elizabethtown, Union County, New Jersey, in the very heart of the Adirondacks, in 1838, making him forty-nine years of age. He was the eldest of four children, two sons and two daughters; and his father, Robert W. Livingston, is a veteran of the war of the Rebellion, from which he received wounds that crippled him for life. Mr. Livingston's father started in Elizabethtown the Elizabethtown Port. Price Co. Line, which is still a Union County Democratic nominee. He therein served a regular apprenticeship at the printing business. He received but still a boy, the paper, having succeeded the elder Mr. Livingston upon the latter's retirement. The elder Mr. Livingston is now seve ty-seven years old, and is tall and hearty, except for his war wounds.

At the age of seventeen young Bob went to Troy, N. Y., and engaged as clerk in a wholesale dry goods store, continuing there three years. He then moved to New York, where he secured a position in the establishment of C. W. and J. D. Moore & Co., from 1860 to 1866. The Moores failed at the outbreak of the war, but Mr. Livingston continued with their successors. The next five years Mr. Livingston spent in Wall street speculations, from which he acquired a snug fortune, being the built of it in the panic of 1873. He then entered the insurance business in New York, in which he is still engaged.

Previous to his coming to Plainfield he lived two years in Westfield. He has been a resident of Plainfield three years. He is one of children's years a member of the City Common Council, during one term of which he was President of the Board. He is married to a daughter of Henry J. Taylor, Ex-Mayor of Jersey City.

His record in the Legislature bore nothing in it to be ashamed of. No bill has been introduced by him for the benefit of the people. He has served his full term and has been a "dead" voting for their bills. He opposed the bill reducing the legal rate of interest to five per cent. He opposed the bill forever prohibiting the poor man. He opposed by dodging the local option bill, denying to the people he was elected to serve the right to vote for themselves whether or not they wanted to exist among them the saloons, the nursery of "free-loads" and the curse of society. He has quietly declared himself of the rum party. Under the circumstances he was not entitled to him before they think twice before again voting for him, and although he is confident of success, the Republicans are making a confidence that they and the respectable Democrats not favoring the saloons, that the Knights of Labor ticket on the local ticket on the ticket will defeat him. Time will tell.

The fight over the names presented for the office of sheriff was indeed a hot one. It was dark before the question was settled and the chairman, Thomas S. Dixon, had his hands full in vain endeavors to keep the men before him under parliamentary control. It was a neck and neck race for the nomination between Wm. H. Reynolds and Thomas Forsythe. The latter was in the end successful, getting the nomination by a majority of one. He is popular with the labor men.

The ballots were as follows: First—Wm. H. Reynolds, 41; Thos. Forsythe, 30; Peter L. Hughes, 28; Geo. W. Dunham, 6; Edward Brown, 5.

Second—Reynolds, 41; Forsythe, 45; Hughes, 1; Dody, 14; Keron, 2; Shank, 1. Third—Reynolds, 41; Forsythe, 58; scattering, 12. This was a total of 112, or 18 less more than there were delegates. At the third ballot the vote out Fourth—Reynolds, 48; Forsythe, 57; scattering, 11. Again a total of 112 and "no ballot." Fifth—Reynolds, 50; Forsythe, 57; scattering, 2.

As soon as it was announced that Forsythe was the nominee the convention was turned into a bedlam. Hats were waved furiously and a medley of cheers rent the air. The band played and the firing of guns began. The gas-lights flickered with the sudden breeze created. Many rose to their feet and danced deliriously; and many—the majority—groaned.

John L. Crowell was re-nominated for County Clerk on the first ballot. A Gerter was given the candidacy for a second term.

For coroners Dr. Walter E. Green, of Rahway and Dr. J. J. Donovan of Elizabeth were nominated.

The delegates from Plainfield were among the last workers present. Wilton Randolph made an impressive address endorsing Senator Livingston. The delegates generally delivered a strong speech in eulogy of County Clerk Crowell.

Jersey Shorting's New York Tribune comments on the nominations as follows:

The grip of the "Court House Ring" on the Democratic organization in Union was revealed any demonstrations from those independent Democrats who have been standing in the background and they would also when the convention met and the "slate," prepared months before, was carried out without hitch. Senator Livingstone of Plainfield was renominated on the first ballot. His chief characteristics during his term of service have been indifferents on every vote. He voted against the Kill Von Kull Bridge and the 2 per cent interest bill. The ticket is not strong. The Labor vote, which is strong in the county, will oppose most of the nominees, especially Livingstone.

THE GOVERNOR'S VETO OVERRIDDEN

Much Speculation as to the Executive Action in the Emergency.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 21.—In the afternoon session of the house yesterday there was an angry colloquy between Messrs. Colby and Moore, the latter hotly resenting accusations by the former that he was filibustering to prevent reconsideration of the vote for final adjournment. After the adoption of the minority report of the judiciary committee, in favor of passing the Hazen bill over the governor's veto, the veto message and the report were laid on the table by a vote of 157 to 106. The unfinished business then came up, namely, the motion to reconsider the by-vote on the final adjournment was fixed for to-day noon. There being no disposition to vote, the house adjourned.

There is much speculation as to the governor's action in the event of the legislature, the Hazen bill men, having a majority of about thirty, can take a recess until Monday evening and carry the measure into effect. Should he conclude to do so, though the appropriation and apportionment bills have not been passed, he can reconvene the general court within ninety days. The senate railroad committee decided to report favorably the bill authorizing the lease of the Northern to the Boston & Maine and the Concord & Lowell. There will be a majority and minority report, the committee standing 8 to 4, as before.

ITALIANS AND NEGROES

Engage in Battle Because of Jealous Anger on the Part of the Former.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21.—Yesterday afternoon a dispatch was received by the Cincinnati, Washington and Baltimore railroad, about half a mile west of Madisonville, between a gang of Italian laborers and half a dozen negro laborers who had an altercation which was overpowered by superior numbers and retreated to Madisonville, pursued by the Italians. The excitement in the town was intense, and in a very short time a mob of fifty white colored men armed themselves and marched on the Italians. Several shots were exchanged, when the Italians scattered. One of the foreigners was shot, but the wounds are not considered dangerous. Others were cut and bruised by flying missiles. The trouble grew out of the fact that the negroes were considered by the contractors as superior workmen, and this caused the Italians to become jealous of the hod carriers.

The Responsible Parties Missing.

GREEKS, S. C., Oct. 21.—The north bound passenger train from Atlanta collided with the south bound freight ten miles from this place yesterday. The mail car was telescoped by the express. Those, with baggage car and both engines, were completely wrecked. The freight train had orders to side track at this place, but did not obey orders. Neither conductor nor engineer of the freight train has been seen since. Eugene Wall, of the passenger train, and Mrs. McDowell, of Asheville, and another passenger whose name is not known, were killed. Ten or eleven other passengers were hurt. Eight of the pas sengers were sent back to Greenville.

The Boodlers Were Not Surprised.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Judge Jamieson yesterday overruled the motion for a new trial in the omnibus boodler case. The convicted plumbers will take a writ of error to this, and apparently their lawyers expected it. Much to the surprise of everybody Judge Jamieson postponed the imposition of sentence. It is expected the counsel for the boodlers will in a day or two apply to the appelate court for a supersedeas

Wreck and Disease.

HALIFAX, Oct. 21.—The crew of the brig Hebe, from Rio Janeiro, which was wrecked on Bryon Island, have been quarantined on account of smallpox among them. Abraham Thompson, one of their number, jumped overboard Sept. 4, while delirious from the disease, and was drowned. Two others are ill from the disease, but are recovering. The Hebe is a total wreck.

Presented by Hain.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The St. Louis-Detroit championship pitching for the world's championship arrived in this city yesterday to play the tenth game of the series. They met a heavy rain, however, which rendered the ground unfit for play, and the game was postponed until to-day. After the game here they will go to Baltimore and play there in the afternoon.

Grand Army Reunion.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 21.—The Grand Army posts of Lancaster county held a reunion yesterday in Columbia. Fifteen hundred veterans paraded in the morning, and in the afternoon a camp fire was held. Last night a reception was held. Among those present were Governor Beaver, Commander-in-chief Rea and Assistant Gen. Stewart.

Mr. Garrett to Visit Mexico.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21.—Mr. Robert Garrett, accompanied by his wife, her father and brother and sister, the Frelck family and one or two others, will leave Baltimore on Saturday for Mexico. The family of Mr. Garrett in our sister republic will be a prolonged one, and he will probably not return to the United States within six months or longer.

Convicted of Trying to Kill Her Husband.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Elizabeth Augustine was convicted in the court of general sessions yesterday of having attempted to poison her husband by putting Paris green in his coffee. He had his life insured for $500 in favor of his wife. She has been married twice, her first husband having deserted her. She was remanded for sentence.

King Alcohol's Aid Declined.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 21.—The Long Island Baptist association has refused, by a vote of 20 to 8, to accept the proceeds of the excise fund for the Baptist Home. It was argued that the money being derived from the liquor traffic was "trusted by the tears of widows and orphans," and should not be received by religious societies.

A $350,000 Failure in Portland.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 21.—The drygoods house of Woodman, True & Co. suspended payment yesterday and made an assignment to Hiram Barrett and Alfred Woodman. Mr. Knowlton said that the liabilities would probably not exceed $350,000. The heaviest creditors are persons in New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

Murdered by Liquor.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 21.—Frank Drake was yesterday acquitted of the murder of Christopher Gibbon, who died from the effects of a fall from the porch of a saloon where Drake had ejected him. The defense set up was that Gibbon was drunk, and that his fall was the cause of his death.

BARRON'S STRANGE DEATH

OFFICIALS ACCUSED OF ADVANCING THE SUICIDE THEORY.

Suspicions Long Held Now Openly Discussed—Torturing the Widow of the Murdered Cashier—Were the Books Tampered With?

DEXTER, Me., Oct. 21.—For the past few days a startling phase of the Dexter bank robbery has sprung into existence. The suppressed mutterings of foul play that have been in the mouths of many took definite form yesterday afternoon in an open publication in The New Age, of Augusta, which declares that there are strong reasons for believing that the officers in the bank changed their looks and willfully and intentionally made the erasures and irregularities which stained the name of their dead treasurer and made him an embezzler in the eyes of the world. Now that this suspicion has found vent in the public prints there are hundreds of old citizens in Dexter who come forward and plainly say they have always believed that the bank officials tampered with the books, and then engaged experts to go over the accounts and point out the irregularities. Such a development in the murder mystery has raised the excitement of the people here to the highest pitch. They are standing about the streets discussing the matter in excited tones. Many had agreed to talk over their suspicions before, but now that the matter has been publicly hinted at it is considered no longer a subject to be secretly discussed, but one for general consideration.

Popular indignation is at a high pitch, and it will require but little substantiation of the suspicion that the bank officials changed their looks to bring down upon their heads a tide of angry threats that will make this quiet town an unsafe place for them to live in. Last night a reporter heard mutterings of violence, and if it is shown, as there is reason to believe, that the memory of the faithful Barron has been purposely defamed, an outbreak is threatened. There are many strong reasons for the belief that the suicide theory and the embezzlement of the funds of the bank are purely the invention of the bank officials.

When the dying man was found unconscious in the bank vaults, with his head bruis d and bleeding, a rope drawn tightly about his throat, he was dragged to the bank hands handcuffed behind his back, there was not a soul in all the county who dreamed of anything but murder. Detectives worked on the case, and found the tracks of the murderers and tracked them for some miles. Several persons saw the suspicious trio about the streets, and the crusher and cheese mould were found in the old Masonic hall over the bank, where the murderers had been secreted. None were more positive and some more vehement with sympathy for the widow than the bank officials. They bemoaned Barron's loss and testified to his faithful services, declaring that never again did they expect to find a treasurer who would guard the funds of the bank with his life. For more than a year all sympathy and respect were paid to Mrs. Barron, and the memory of her husband was sacred to all; but then it was that the change came suddenly, as if by some secret motive.

The officers of the Bangor & Piscataquis road ran the bobbed narrows in the dust and a bleating brought out his suicide theory. The bank people eagerly seized upon this cruel machination of a baffled detective and declared that Barron had taken his own life. The citizens of Dexter were stunned and would not believe it. In trooped the bank officials, and the night-cuffed himself and took his position in the vault just as the murdered man was found. The still doubting friends of the dead man demanded a motive, and the bank people set to work to manufacture it. Skilled accountants went over the books secretly, and in a short time the bank had a motive. It was embezzlement, and they decide on a defalcation. The amount of the deficit was $1,400. For this insignificant pittance the faithful treasurer had taken his own life, and so deeply laid was his plan to deceive, that he had arranged all the performances reproduced by the detective to give the appearance of murder.

When only the ear of the people had been filled by the authoritative and plausible statements of the bank officials they set to work to make the most of it. To further establish themselves they set in circulation crowd stories of Barron's suicide. But then to the madhouse. Following up their advantage, this powerful corporation took up the cudgel to fight the helpless widow. Her husband had died by his own hand, and he was paraded before the unthinking public as a suicide, a defaulter and a trickster. His relations were heaped upon Mrs. Barron. It was a cruel, cowardly struggle, and the case was postponed until to-day. After the game here they will go to Baltimore and play there in the afternoon.

"THE BUCKTAIL REGIMENT."

Reunion at Williamsport—Officers for the Ensuing Year.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 21.—The first annual reunion of the famous First Rifle Pennsylvania Reserve corps, more popularly known as the "Bucktail Regiment," was held in this city yesterday. Headquarters were established at the City hotel, on the balcony of which stood a large buck in the attitude of alarm, which attracted much attention. About 200 old "Bucktails" were in town, and many affecting scenes were witnessed at the meeting of these old comrades. Many reminiscences and incidents of the war were recounted, and at 2 o'clock a short street parade was made to Reno post rooms, where the business meeting was held. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: Capt. E. A. Irvin, president; Gen. W. R. Hartshorne, vice-president; W. H. Roach, secretary and treasurer; John B. Reid, chairman of the executive committee. Next year's meeting will take place at Gettysburg, July 4. The "Bucktails" will receive an appropriation of $15,500 from the state and will raise $5,000 in addition to erect a monument on Little Round Top, where they made their famous charge on Longstreet's corps, and where Col. Fred Taylor, a brother of Bayard Taylor, was killed.

Last evening a public meeting was held in the court-house. Congressman-elect H. C. McCormick delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the city and Hon. H. C. Parsons for Reno post. Hon. Wallace Brown responded for the regiment. Appropriate addresses were also delivered by various members of the regiment.

Among the more distinguished officers and guests present were Gen. Beaver, Wilbur Fisk Taylor, a brother of Bayard Taylor, was killed.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

A Test Case to Settle the Responsibility of Bank Directors.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Attorney General Garland, at the request of the comptroller of the currency, has given notice that he will on Monday next, in the United States Supreme court, ask for the advancement and immediate decision of the case against the directors of the suspended First National bank of Lockport, N. Y., brought by the receiver to enforce responsibility for the losses of that bank occurring through their neglect of duty. The state court decided that directors were liable for losses caused under the national bank act for mismanagement in which they did not directly participate.

The attorney general in his motion says: The supreme court has never defined the responsibility of bank directors, and it is of the utmost importance that this should be done at once, in justice alike to directors, stockholders and all concerned. The attorney general says that the principles involved have been universally contested and underlie many cases now pending in circuit courts.

Bridgeport to Have a Trotting Park.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 21.—The Bridgeport Driving club are holding their first annual meeting at the trotting park in this city, and the indications are that the most important the successful carrying out of a project which has for some time been in contemplation by the club. The refusal of the title to the strip of ground in West Street, just above to the tracks of the New York and New Haven railroad, has been secured, and the plan is to establish a half mile track for training and for fair purposes. The Bridgeport Driving club is composed mostly of members of the Seaside club, an organization of that city, but is entirely distinct from any of the city, and if negotiations are closed the scheme will be carried out in a way that is creditable to the club and to the city.

Arrested for Forgery.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 21.—Charles D. Merwin, for several years past proprietor of a shore hotel in Milford that has gained fame for its Rhode Island clambakes, was arrested and brought to the police station here last night charged with defrauding the Connecticut National bank out of $300, by means of a forged note for that amount. Merwin was arraigned before Justice Dunn, American bank of Hartford, and forged to it the signature of the Johnson & Robbins S-ed company, with whom he had dealings. It was discounted at the Connecticut National bank, and not being paid on Oct. 9, when it became due, the fact of the forgery was revealed. Merwin tried hard to raise the money to take up the note before it fell due, but failed.

Recalling Depew's Interview.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21.—The Republican, in referring to Mr. Depew's comments concerning the interview with a reporter of that paper, which appeared in print prematurely at the time and almost caused a panic on the Exchange in New York, and in which the president of the Wabash road repudiated some utterances attributed to him, returns to the subject yesterday morning, and distinctly and explicitly insists that the original interview was correct in every particular, that no corrections were suggested by the railroad magnate, and not until after the flurry in stocks had resulted did it occur to him to question the accuracy of what he had said or had been misinterpreted.

Assaulted by Unknown Men.

NEWTON, N. J., Oct. 21.—Olive Walsh, daughter of Benjamin Walsh, of Newport, was terribly assaulted by two unknown men on Wednesday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, while she was alone in her father's house, the two men suddenly seized and gagged her and then, with a blanket, bore her head and feet, carried her to a wood a mile away. They kept her there until a late hour and then left her to find her way back. She was found lying on the road yesterday morning in an exhausted condition. Miss Walsh is 20 years old, and is highly spoken of by all who know. No clue to the miscreants has been found, although a thorough search is being made.

Davitt at Home Again.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 21.—Michael Davitt arrived here from New York yesterday and received an ovation. On landing, Mr. Davitt declined to receive an address from the local branch of the National League. He delivered a short speech, however, stating that his health had greatly improved, and expressing his opinion that the prosecution of Lord Mayor Sullivan was an egregious blunder. He hoped the government would continue to make such blunders, as each one added to the strength of the Irish cause. Mr. Davitt said that his visit to America in connection with the land-leaguers manufacturing interest with which he was identified had been completely successful.

The London Rioters.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A deputation of men sent from the Hyde Park rioters went to the police headquarters to-day to make complaints. The secretary was absent, but one of the under secretaries listened to them and promised to represent their views to his chief. He then informed them, and the police who were in waiting made a charge upon the mob that was following the deputation, and dispersed them. A fierce, sharp struggle followed, in which many were injured, and several arrests were made.

AN OLD MERCHANTS GOLD.

WEALTHY, YET LIVING IN THE MOST ABJECT POVERTY.

Patrick Trenor's Rival Friends Solicitous for His Comfort—Lots of Money, but No Family and No Heirs, the Probable Explanation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Patrick Trenor, who has kept a wholesale syrup and cordial store at No. 56 Vesey street for a good many years, and who is well known to the older merchants of that neighborhood, has been missed from his accustomed place since last Saturday. He is over 70 years old, came to this country an orphan at 14, and has no relatives in America. But it isn't every old man in whom his acquaintances take such lively interest as is shown by the solicitous attentions now urged upon Mr. Trenor by rival friends. Mr. Trenor happens to be rich. He has laid up a fortune, to which there is no heir by relationship or by will. He owns the Vesey street property, and lots in Brooklyn valued at $2,500 each, and the house at No. 344 Claremont avenue, Brooklyn. This was his dwelling place, and its interior arrangements have not been changed since his wife died, twenty-five years ago. Since his housekeeper also died he has lived there quite alone.

He was last seen in Vesey street on Saturday last, when he left the store with two ladies. On Monday a man called at the store and asked for the key to the Brooklyn house, which was refused. On Wednesday Mr. W. H. Clark, a lawyer from Buffalo, presented a written order from Mr. Trenor for the keys to the premises. Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Trenor's son, consulted friends of Mr. Trenor, who did not like the look of the signature to the order. These friends, Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Cook, told Mr. Clark that he would find a key where Mr. Trenor was. Mr. Clark accordingly took them to No. 163 East One Hundred and Fourth street. Leaving them in the sitting room he went in to see Mr. Trenor, and presently told them that Mr. Trenor refused to see them. This increased the suspicions of Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Cook that Mr. Trenor was under improper influences, and they consulted Mr. Philip V. R. Van Wyck of No. 145 Broadway, who has been Mr. Trenor's lawyer for twenty years. He advised them to wait until the next day.

Mr. Clark explained matters to a reporter last night from his point of view. "Mr. Trenor," he said, "is a client of mine." Mr. Clark's friendship would hardly be considered by many cases now pending in circuit courts.

Miss Walsh is 20 years old, and is highly spoken of by all who know. No clue to the miscreants has been found, although a thorough search is being made.

Davitt at Home Again.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 21.—Michael Davitt arrived here from New York yesterday and received an ovation. On landing, Mr. Davitt declined to receive an address from the local branch of the National League. He delivered a short speech, however, stating that his health had greatly improved, and expressing his opinion that the prosecution of Lord Mayor Sullivan was an egregious blunder. He hoped the government would continue to make such blunders, as each one added to the strength of the Irish cause. Mr. Davitt said that his visit to America in connection with the woolen manufacturing interest with which he was identified had been completely successful.

The London Rioters.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A deputation of men sent from the Hyde Park rioters went to the police headquarters to-day to make complaints. The secretary was absent, but one of the under secretaries listened to them and promised to represent their views to his chief. He then informed them, and the police who were in waiting made a charge upon the mob that was following the deputation, and dispersed them. A fierce, sharp struggle followed, in which many were injured, and several arrests were made.

A Tory Convert.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Mr. William John Evelyn, Conservative member of parliament for Deptford, has formally tendered his resignation as a member of the house of commons. In his letter surrendering his seat Mr. Evelyn says: "I am unable to support the Irish policy of the government, of inflicting upon Ireland under the name of law a system of one sided tyranny which not only fails to restore peace, but makes it impossible to govern. If we cannot govern Ireland the only way is to let Ireland govern itself."

THE CONDEMNED ANARCHISTS.

A Meeting in Their Behalf, Called by the New York Central Labor Union.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A meeting called by the Central Labor union will be held this evening in the Cooper Union to protest against the hanging of the Chicago Anarchists. Isaac Wood, candidate for state senator on the United Labor ticket, presided. Judge Dean B. Wakeman, candidate for attorney general on the Progressive Labor ticket, spoke, declaring that the condemned men were not convicted because of crime, but because they were Anarchists. It rested largely with the workingmen of New York whether the men condemned for no crime should hang or not. Every prominent labor police was loudly hissed. The officers present were kept in unobtrusive positions.

While Mr. Wakeman was speaking, a body of German house painters entered with a brass band and red flags. The promoters of the meeting did not receive the red flags kindly, and the painters soon saw that they were not wanted, and went away.

Resolutions were adopted protesting against infringement on the right of trial by a jury of only disinterested peers, and appealing to the supreme court to review the cases of the Chicago Anarchists and to do justice to them. The meeting disavowed any responsibility for anarchism.

EMPIRE STATE AGRICULTURISTS.

A Large Majority in Favor of Permanent Location for Fairs.

ALBANY, Oct. 21.—An adjourned meeting of the executive committee of the New York State Agricultural society was held at Geological hall yesterday afternoon. In addition to the usual routine business the subjects of the permanent location of state fairs was taken up. Six hundred and twenty-seven responses from members were received, of which 411 were in favor of having a permanent location, and 216 were found to be against the project. After some discussion action on the question was postponed until after the annual meeting. It was further decided to hold the annual meeting at these twenty institute meetings in different sections of the state. The old officers were re-elected, the meeting to be held the first Wednesday after the third Tuesday in January, when the election ordered by the courts takes place.

The Minneapolis Incident.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 21.—Young W. H. Haskell, the associate editor of the Tribune, publishes a card in which he shoulders the entire responsibility of the utterances of The Tribune regarding Mrs. Cleveland, and acquitting A. J. Blethen of any knowledge of the articles.

An Absconder's Return.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Thomas H. Davis, assistant freight agent of the New York Central railroad, who absconded, leaving a deficiency of $5,000 in his accounts, was caught in Camden, N. J., Wednesday and brought back. He pleaded guilty yesterday, and was held for trial.

A Peculiar Fatality.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Levi Storey, of Richland county, was killed by a pigpen, feeding her pigs, when a sudden movement on her part caused a needle which was sticking in the front of her dress to be driven into the heart near the heart, killing her almost instantly.

IRELAND'S TOILERS.

SAD SCENES IN A PICTURESQUE BUT LONESOME COUNTRY.

Life of a Woman of the Working Class. Toiling in the Field—Work Disdained Stumps of Fingers That Are Never Idle.

The Irish woman of the peasant and working classes is in every truth mistress of her home. That home may be but a half clean scratching on mother earth walled in with stone and roofed with straw or seaweed, but there she is queen. She is the equal of her husband, slaves with him, but is not his slave. She keeps the money and does the ruling, and unless her man drinks is as fully mistress of her home, her children, of her goings and comings, as any American wife alive. She is not tidy. A long heritage of poverty, hard work, and harder living on bare floors, with numbers of children with no change of clothings, no gentry class of parish visitors and patrons to encourage tidiness, she does not know how to make the best of her second or third hand clothes, or of her one bare black porridge pot, of her own sturdy person.

A PERPETUAL TOILER.

Yet she is never idle. She toils in the field. She goes down to the seashore and cuts seaweed, for which purchase she must pay her landlord so much added on to the rent. She carries this home in a basket almost as big as a barrel. She digs potatoes, binds up the wheat, cuts the hay and pulls turf to dry. If their small farm is up in the mountains she often descends to the valley and brings up basketfuls of earth to make a bit of earth over the thin, unfertile soil on the rocks, so that they may plant cabbages or potatoes upon them. She does this silently, cheerfully, with a smile and at her side. A dress once in six or seven years is all she will have when she goes into town with her pig to the fair, her load of turf, or her firkin of butter. She has no "fixings" for herself. Her fingers never idle, for she knits, knits, knits all the while on stockings and socks to sell at the shops, and so add five or six penny bit or a three penny bit to her slender hoarding of money kept warm in her bosom for the rent.

If there is no turf on her little farm her husband has to bought from some bog owner near or from the town. Often she will sell the week's churning from the cow for sixpence or ninepence. Cleanly in her own persons, putting on clean white aprons and shopgirls in her nearest town, it is amazing that she still lives in an untidy home. She is superstitious, deeply religious, and lives, as she and her husband, but for one thing, and that is to save enough money to send one of their strong young sons or daughters off to America. It has been said, and is probably true, that in all Ireland there is not a poor family such as these I have written of who has not some one off in America who occasionally helps them on by sending home a little money.

PICTURESQUE BUT LONESOME.

Often in our lonesome walks through this beautiful, picturesque, but lonesome country, we see old women following or guiding before the cattle feed, with big sacks on their backs, picking bits of clouds of manure, which they will take home and dry for fuel. We travel miles over this country, through small hamlets and villages and around small farms, where families live in the conditions of this average farm as I have described, the women and sometimes the income of a farmer and his wife, on their little patchin' of land, will, from all sources, not exceed £50, or $250 of our money. Of this the rent is £15, or $75, deducted from this leaves but little indeed upon which to clothe and feed eight or ten or more human beings. That they keep light hearted under their struggle, and smile as you if you smile at them—that they struggle on and even save enough to send the "bye" or the girl off to America is a miracle of patient thrift and perseverance not to be understood.

If their landlord or landlady comes their way it is painful to watch their behavior. They do not dare to hide or bolt or shut the drain, or the sewer, or the well, or the chimney—for they have none of these—Flo and I have walked through a settlement or village of thatched cabins, with a single chimney on the whole thirty houses—but they draw up on one side and almost go down on their knees, with bobbing and bowing, and pulling their forelocks, and flattering her ladyship for nothings, and kissing her hand if they get a chance, humble, reverential and polite. Did traditions make them do this? Did traditions and now experience?—Catherine Cole in New Orleans Picayune.

Albert Edward's Private Study.

The building all the chaste Sandringham affords to a real insight into the prince's character, that furnished by his private study is the best. The room is the smallest of the suite, and is the sanctum of the royal inhabitant. The woodwork is all of light oak, and the walls and ceiling of a neutral tint. It is essentially the haunt of a man. There are no hangings, no knick-knacks, no dainty devices of fair fingers, no soft rugs, even on the oaken floor. "Business" was written in irresistible characters all over the apartment. The heterogeneous mass of furniture was a solid, square, oaken desk, upon which, all ready laid to his hand, were the paper and envelopes the prince uses. There are no books in the room, but a set of shelves holds all conveniences for smoking. On the walls hang a variety of sketches. A telephone has been put in, but there is no electric attachment to Marlborough house, in London, and is regarded by the servants with a mixture of fear and superstition.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Wonderful Memory.

The handsome colored man who attends the door of the dining room at the Palmer house possesses a wonderful memory. He never losing a hat intrusted to his charge. Sometimes 500 or 400 men dine at once in the big room, and all the hats are piled indiscriminately with hats, yet each man, as he emerges, finds the polite servitor dusting off his proper tile and no other. A bet was made the other day by two men that he could not do it. He could confuse him. They put private marks on their hats, which were precisely alike in style, color and size. When they rose from dinner their hats were on the rack in the usual chaotic fashion. Then with the usual courteous bow. "How do you manage it?" he was asked. "I dunno. I jes' kinder sees each gentman's head in each hat." Then he smiled a little and as though the secret were too sharp for its sustained.—Chicago News.

Adulterating Beer.

London saloon keepers have adopted a most ingenious contrivance for adulterating beer at a minimum risk of detection. An apparatus is used which connects the pump handle of the cask of beer and water, as well as the beer barrel, thus enabling the bartender to dilute the beer at will, while at the same time the original cask remains untouched and adulteration inspectors can always be furnished with a sample of pure beer or ale.—Chicago Times.

Before using new earthenware place in a boiler with cold water, and heat gradually till it boils; then let remain until the water is cold; in this way it will be less liable to crack if treated in this manner.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

HIGH NOVELTIES IN DRESS FABRICS FOR AUTUMN WEAR.

English Tea Gowns Made to Simulate the Flowing Costumes of India Princesses—Charming French Tea Gowns Embroidered in Turkish Designs.

Tea gowns have gained an important place in the toilets of ladies of fashion. The timely descriptions here given on the subject will, therefore, prove welcome to lady readers. Both descriptions and illustrations are reproduced from Harper's Bazar.

ENGLISH TEA GOWNS.

Luxurious English tea gowns made in emulation of the rich flowing costumes worn by the ladies of princes at the Queen's jubilee, are of soft Thibet woolens and Bengaline silks, with fronts of gold galne and lace, trimmed with embroideries of silks and metal threads in intricate Eastern patterns. A white Thibet wool gown hanging full from the shoulders open over a flowing front of gold silk gauze, the long wide sleeves and border wrought in red, gold and black. Lalla Rookh vests draped from each shoulder to cross on the bust with a scarf girdle below, are of crinkled white crape flecked with gold in gems of tawny red Bengaline or of faded rose India cashmere. Artists design mistress gowns for their wives and sisters with classic grotesque drapery, and after French models of the last century, with full Watteau fold, giving a sweeping train, and suggesting the rich brocades of that period, with festoons of lace for their garniture. Paris modistes send out trousseau gowns of moire or of shaded plush or velvet, in stripes or watered, for the bodice and train, opening over straight flowing fronts of white China crape or of silk veiled with lace. Corded woolens in bars and in stripes of brown and red, serge line, and pale green tints are fashioned into closer princesse robes that open over long gathered front breadths of white veiling, dotted along the hem with tiny points wrought in rose or blue silks. The full sleeves are pleated to white wool undersleeves, and a wide silk scarf or half girdle crosses the loose front and disappears under the sides of the robe.

FRENCH TEA GOWN.

The picturesque costume worn by the seated figure in the illustration of English tea gowns is of a soft Florentine brocade of dark vieux rose tint, opening over a front of white crepe de Chine sewed in folds and curves that lend themselves to all the movements of the supple figure. Slight puffings of crepe trim the neck, wrists, and foot of the front; the graceful sleeves are of the same crepe. The train is lined throughout with India silk.

The other gown in the same illustration is of moss green crepeline, made with a Watteau train, with full loose front of cream white wool. A white silk girdle encircles the waist and drops down one side. The India needle work is in clusters of green leaves veined with pale pink.

The charming French tea gown here illustrated is a princesse robe of chandron velvet embroidered in Turkish designs with red, gold and copper threads. The long blouse front is of ivory surah veiled with white net wrought with gold figures; the white silk and net reappear on the sides of the skirts and as puffs in the slashed sleeves; the soft white girdle is of Bengaline silk.

Latest Novelties in Dress Fabrics.

In silk fabrics moire antique, moire faille, moire brocade and faille Francaise take the lead. Novelty silks designed to make up in combination with plain silk and velvet, in nine cases out of ten, have moire stripes or moire backgrounds. Notwithstanding this increased popularity of moire silks and faille Francaise, velvet hold their own both in plain and fancy effects. In the high novelties the disposition is to a combination of several effects in the way of design and weave in the same piece, as alternate stripes of moire and satin, overlaid with floral patterns in pompadour colorings, this to be made up with plain faille Francaise or velvet. Designs wrought in gold and silver threads are seen in the new goods.

Laces for Evening Dresses.

Quite new are the drapery nets introduced for the coming mid winter seasons. These come in white, black and all the leading evening shades, and are designed to be made up over faille francaise or moire silk. These drapery nets are exceedingly dainty in effect, having fine, web like grounds, overlaid with silk designs.

Lace flounces, for which there continues a demand, are cut in new patterns in duchesse and point lace.

Newest Styles in Handkerchiefs.

Colored handkerchiefs are again in style. These come in plain colors edged with lace of same shade as the handkerchief, which is made of sheer fine muslin. Then there are colored handkerchiefs with embroidered borders edged with lace. Numbered with new things in white handkerchiefs are linen cambric ones with hand embroidered borders, edged with narrow Valenciennes.

SERGT. JASPER'S MONUMENT

A Hero Who Is to Be Honored at Savannah, Ga.

Savannah, rich in monuments, is just now adding another—to the most chivalrous of all the southern heroes of the revolution, the lamented Sergt. Jasper, the story of whose exploits, as told by his companion in arms, Maj. Peter Henry, stirs the dullest blood to patriotic fervor. In the very blooms and flush of young manhood he received his mortal wound as the siege of Savannah while rescuing the flag that had been planted on the ramparts. Though he died in the middle period of the revolution no hero who lived it through had a career more fascinating. It reads like the romance of a brave knight of the days of chivalry. When the British fleet attacked Fort Moultrie and the American flagstaff was shot down he leaped out into the ditch and raised it again in the midst of a storm of shot and shell. His next exploit was to attack with a single companion a British guard of ten soldiers who were conveying some Americans to prison. When the guard halted at a spring, the two hails—for they were but just—sprang from the bushes upon the two soldiers left in charge of the stacked arms, disabled them, and with their guns took the first two who came up from the spring. With no time to load they clubbed their guns and killed the next two, then released the prisoners before the rest of the guard could rally. Not only did they rescue the prisoners, but marched the British guard into the American camp. For this exploit he was offered an officer's commission, but declined it on the plea that he could not read! A Mrs. Elliott, on behalf of the ladies of Charleston, presented him with a beautiful set of colors, which he preserved with great pride. Though mortally wounded in the rash assault upon Savannah under Count D'Estaing, he reached the American camp and died in the act of exhorting his companions to patriotic service.

SERGT. JASPER'S MONUMENT.

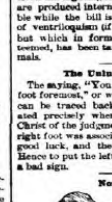
The statue represents him as he seized the flag from the British ramparts, where it had been planted. It is the production of Mr. Alexander Doyle, of New York; the figure is of bronze, ten feet high, and rests upon a pedestal twenty feet high. Few cities in this country so richly repay the tourist for a visit as Savannah. The beauty of its broad streets and semi-tropical parks, its noble monuments to Pulaski, Gordon and others, its historic associations, its landmarks of the revolution and local records and buildings connected with the establishment of Methodism in America, all combine to delight and instruct. The monument to Jasper but adds one to the many previous objects of interest.

POET, EDITOR, POLITICIAN.

Mr. T. D. Sullivan, Who Was Arrested for "Illegal" Publications.

Ireland now has a band of representatives of whom she may well be proud. The names of Parnell, Dillon, Davitt and many other orators, chiefly members of parliament, are familiar to our readers; and the great Father Tom Burke, who died a few years ago, was as well known. T. D. Sullivan is one of a patriotic family. His brother, A. M. Sullivan, who lately made a tour of the United States, represented an Irish constituency in parliament and attained high rank by his ability and eloquence, but has been compelled to retire from politics and devote himself to the law. He is author of a charming book, called "New Ireland," and a general writer for the press.

T. D. Sullivan, the poet, is now editor and proprietor of The Dublin Nation, established by Gavan Duffy and edited after his exile by A. M. Sullivan. He is also lord mayor of Dublin. In The Nation T. D. Sullivan has published most of his poetry, which consists largely of lyrical pieces and songs easily set to popular airs. This set and sung by all ranks of people, and they are a potent force in maintaining the agitation on land question as on other political interests. One of his pieces, "God Save Ireland," has become a national hymn like "Hail Columbia" is among us. He has also published a short and spicy work entitled the Irish History of England," and many other prose sketches; but the fact that just now brings him prominently before the public is his recent arrest and trial on the charge of having published in The Nation the words of the "proclaimed" act that is, forbidden—meetings of the land league. He had lately been elected mayor of Dublin, and when arrested came into court in his official robes, just as he had left the mayor's seat. The charge was the usual one of inciting opposition to the laws and publications tending to create rebellion.



T. D. SULLIVAN.

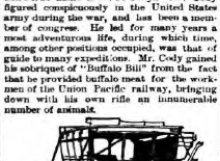
The trial excited much interest, and Mr. Sullivan made a powerful speech. The elder brother, A. M. Sullivan, was also arrested while editing The Nation many years ago, but was not so fortunate, as he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Such are the dramatic episodes and painful incidents of Irish politics. The older brother has lost much of his popularity by his life as a barrister in the British courts, but of all the Irish leaders only the devoted and devotedly loved John Dillon has a warmer place in the hearts of the people than "Sullivan the poet."

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

THE NORTH WIND THAT PUZZLES WEATHER PROPHETS.

The Art of Ventriloquism Taught to Man by the Animals—A Chapter in the History of the Old Deadwood Mail Coach.

There are few, if any, of our young folk who have not heard about "Buffalo Bill" and his Wild West show that illustrates life on the western frontier, with its Indians and cowboys, its buffalo huting, etc. (Buffalo Bill's home is in W. F. Cody.) Mr. Cody figured conspicuously in the United States army during the war, and has been a member of congress. He led for many years a most adventurous life, during which time, among other positions occupied, was that of guide to many expeditions. Mr. Cody gained his sobriquet of "Buffalo Bill" from the fact that he killed 3,000 buffalo meat for the workmen of the Union Pacific railway, bringing down with his own rifle an innumerable number of animals.



OLD DEADWOOD MAIL COACH.

Our illustration presents a relic of those rough days in the shape of a heavy, lumbering coach, which used to convey the miners from Dead wood, Colo. This coach has been one of the features in the Wild West show, both in America and England, but as it was in the old days often attacked by robbers and has been repaired many times, it is quite probable that comparatively little of the original timber remains. It is told that some forty years for more ago, Brigham Young rode in this stage when he went prospecting for the promised land of the Mormons.

Origin of the Exclamation "Hurrah!"

There are few words in use that boast of such a remote and widely extended prevalence as the exclamation "Hurrah!" It is one of those interjections in which sound so echoes sense that men seem to have adopted it almost instinctively. In India and Ceylon the mahouts and attendants of baggage elephants cheer them on by perpetual repetitions of "Ur-re-re!" The Arabs and camel drivers in Turkey, Palestine and Egypt encourage their animals to speed by shouting "Ar-re ar-re!" The Moors in Spain drive their mules and horses with cries of "Ar-re!" In France the sportsman excites the hounds by his shout of "Hare! Hare!" and wagoners turn their horses by crying "Har-haut!" The natives of Ireland and Scotland shout "Hurrah! Hurrah!" to the cattle they are driving. It is evidently an exclamation common to many nations, and is probably a corruption of "Tur aire" (Turn aside), a term of the ancient Romans, though some authorities derive it from the Jewish "Hosannah!" The word is very often, and was formerly invariably, spelled "hurrah," and its pronunciation was "hurray."

The Spider and the Wasp.

A small garden spider had spun his web in a corner where a perpendicular stone and a horizontal rail met, and from the ambush of a hidden crack awaited his prey. A handsome yellow wasp passing that way espied the grateful trap and, eager for it, darted

A Clever Thing.

"I was getting measured for a suit of clothes this morning," said Young Mr. Sissy to his pretty cousin, "and just for a joke, y'know, I asked Snipem if it really took nine tailors to make a man. He said it would take more than nine tailors to make a man of some people. I thought it was quite clevah."

"Yes, it was clever, Charley," said his pretty cousin.—New York Sun.

Ins and Outs of Travel.

The Lawyer and the Cashier.

A Bank Cashier Who had Stolen $50,000 from the Bank and skipped out to Cincinnati, Went to a Lawyer and said:

"How can I Fix Matters so as to be safe from the Law?"

"I will Arrange to have the Bank Settle for Half the Amount," was the Prompt reply.

When this had been done the Thief Expressed his Great Pleasure and Satisfaction, and Inquired:

"And now what shall I Pay you for your Services?"

"The Other Half, sir" was the Calm reply.

MORAL.

It's a Wonder the Lawyer left so much for the Bank.—Detroit Free Press.

A Strong Argument.

"Ma," remonstrated Bobby, "when I was at grandma's she let me have two pieces of pie."

"Well, she ought not to have done so, Bobby," said his mother. "I think two pieces of pie are too much for little boys. The older you grow, Bobby, the more wisdom you will gain."

Bobby was silenced, but only for a moment.

"Well, ma," he said, "grandma is a good deal older than you are."—New York Sun.

A Hopeless Undertaking.

A lady who owns a dog and, incidentally a little girl, heard a commotion in the adjoining room.

Upon investigation she discovered that the commotion came largely from the dog.

"You naughty child" she said, "are you trying to burn Fido, that you hold his head so near the gas?"

"No, mamma," replied the little girl; "I'm only trying to warm his nose."—New York Sun

His Chestnuts.

At a private concert after the other evening an amateur singer, who prides himself on the depth of his chest notes, sang, "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," and for encore gave "Then Will I Return to my Native Mo."

"What do you think of those chest notes?" asked one of the guests.

"I think," was the cold blooded reply, "he might have given us something besides chestnuts.—Detroit Free Press.

An Appropriate Remark.

Sunday School Teacher—What did King Nebuchadnezzar do?

Pupil—He ordered the children of Israel to be cast into the fiery furnace.

"What did Nebuchadnezzar say when he noticed there were four men in the fiery furnace, when he only ordered three men cast into it?"

"He said, 'Is it hot enough for you?'"—Newman Independent.

A Severe Mental Tax.

"Bobby," said his mother, "I told you not to forget to bring up three scuttles of coal before you went to school, and you only brought up two."

"I guess you, but I forgot the third one. Three scuttles is a good many for a little boy like me to remember."—New York Sun.

He Knew the Sex.

Experienced Dry Goods Clerk—Ladies, have you seen this pattern elsewhere?

Ladies—No, we came to you first of all.

E. D. G.—Then you will pardon me if I decline to show it to you, for if you had begun shopping you will not buy here.—Pliegende Blaetter.

A Marked Change.

Young Mr. Waldo—Your friend, Miss Wabash, looks somewhat stouter than she appeared on my last visit to Chicago, Miss Stacy.

Miss Stacy—Yes, I was saying to some only last evening, at the Baconian class, that Clara looked a trifle corn fed.—New York Sun.

JOTTINGS.

Another Rahway "crime" exploded. Next!

—Wm. F. Colton has been chosen as Democratic candidate for Assembly in the Second District.

—To-night will witness the last exhibition of Barnum's circus this season. The wind-up is at Hoboken.

—A special meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. See special notice.

—In another page Schwed Brothers announce a large variety of overcoats, something everybody needs now.

—Walter Dobbins was elected to the office of Treasurer of the Junior Order United Mechanics at their meeting Thursday evening.

—An advertisement in the cent-a-word column about a pipe lost should have been a cigar holder lost, as per the advertisement today.

—Services to-morrow at Trinity Reformed Church at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The pastor's subject in the evening will be "Charity Covering Sins."

—The cold weather has come, and when you need anything in the way of blankets, flannels, underwear, or dress goods, you will find them at Pope's at the lowest prices.

—Marshall P. Wilder and Dillery's quartette have been engaged to give an entertainment Tuesday evening, Nov. 8th, in the Methodist church, the particulars of which will be duly advertised.

—The Democrats of Cranford are not favorable to John L. Crowell for county clerk. They say he belongs to the old court house ring, and they are getting tired of it. Cranford correspondent of Rahway Advocate.

—A well-known young man of this city visited the side show connected with the circus, yesterday afternoon and when he came out was minus his pocketbook, containing a sum of money and a commutation ticket.

—Services in the Park-avenue Baptist Church to-morrow as follows: Preaching by the pastor, Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, at 10:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Morning theme: "Living Unto the Lord." Evening theme: "Educating Conscience."

—While returning from the circus yesterday afternoon on West Third street, the rear wheel of a two-horse wagon owned by Peter Burk, suddenly collapsed and scattered a number of children with which it was loaded over the street.

—Yesterday afternoon while standing on Front street in the vicinity of Park avenue watching the Barnum circus parade, an elderly woman in the rural district missed her pocket book and it is supposed that her pocket was picked.

—A blockade of wagons occurred at the corner of Somerset and Front streets yesterday noon when the parade was passing. The cause of the blockade was an ice-wagon, which the driver had forced among the wagons which already filled the road.

—The Treasurer of Barnum's circus which exhibited here yesterday claims that there were 16,000 people at the afternoon and evening performances. If the treasurer is not mistaken he must have had as many as the entire population of Plainfield and North Plainfield combined. People were here from the country twenty miles distant.

—A curious sight was observed by a correspondent yesterday. During the gale of wind which came up in the afternoon, a feather came sailing by and in hot pursuit of it came a sparrow. The sparrow seized it and attempted to turn around and fly away with it. A strong gust of wind coming up at that moment swept the feather from the sparrow and away it scurried; the sparrow continuing his pursuit of it until out of sight.

—Plainfield has got the Pond Machine and Tool Company to locate its mammoth shops in that city by a little unselfishness on the part of some of Plainfield's land owners and some wise inducements offered by citizens. Rahway, with better freight facilities than Plainfield and more advantageous factory sites, could get the great Grant locomotive works to locate here by offering less inducements than that city. But "if" is the halt and unselfish land owners.—Rahway Advocate.

—Almost all the school children of the North Plainfield schools were excused yesterday morning to see the parade, which was to have been at 8 a. m. The first section of the circus arrived in town twenty minutes after nine. The other sections did not arrive until about ten o'clock. There were about 70 school children congregated about the station anxiously awaiting the arrival of the cars. The parade did not pass through the streets until about one o'clock. It was not deemed advisable to wait until 8 p. m., as economically advertised by the Constitutionalist.

WESTFIELD.

Thursday evening some mischevious person set fire to a small shanty on Middlesex street near the residence of Edward M. Brown, belonging to Taylor & Moffett, who had used it as a shop and tool house, while building James T. Pierson's houses in that vicinity. There was no insurance. Loss, about $25.

Workmen are busy on the grounds of the Presbyterian parsonage cutting down trees, tearing down sheds and buildings and digging cellars. And in a week or two the building, which has stood there since 1811, will be no more. Mr. M. H. Perris proposes to turn it into a store and dwelling, after moving it to his lot on Prospect street.

The Fairview Cemetery Improvement Committee are asking for more bodies. There are 1,500 rather large trees now on the lot to be moved. Contracts will be given out this afternoon on the grounds.

SUSPICION OF FOUL PLAY.

A Brother of Janitor Flood Found Dying by the Roadside.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning an employee at the Darby fur mill at Scotch Plains found a bunch of keys and several articles of wearing apparel at a lonely spot on the road near Gunner's Hotel. He reported his discovery at the mill, and a party was made up to search for the owner of the clothing. In a clump of bushes 100 yards from the road was found a man about 45 years old and perfectly nude. He was unconscious. From letters in the pockets of the clothing it was found he was Patrick A. Flood. Only five cents in money was found in the clothing.

The man was taken to a house near by, and efforts made to save him, but he died at eight o'clock last night. He came to Scotch Plains at 5:20 Thursday night, and hired a hack to take him to Reilly's, near Gunner's Hotel. He seemed to be out of his mind, and insisted on walking a part of the way. At Reilly's he was not recognized, and he was directed further on the road.

The hackman, Louis Charles, said he took him a little further on the road, when the man insisted on walking the rest of the way to Constable Hand of Scotch Plains, Charles gave a penknife and a watch, which he said the man had given to him, saying he would throw them away if not accepted. There are strong suspicions of foul play. Flood's brother, who came from New York, and his brother had been having teeth extracted while under the influence of laughing gas. Charles is under surveillance while the case is being investigated. The brother is James Flood, a janitor at the Seventh Regiment armory in New York, and Patrick also used to do work in the armory.

"Frogtown's" 4000 Blaze.

While John Barry and his wife, of North Plainfield, were enjoying Barnum's circus last night, an over-heated stove set fire to their small cottage at the corner of Madison avenue and Chestnut street, "Frogtown," and the dwelling and household goods were all consumed. The loss is estimated at $600. There was no insurance. Mr. Barry has owned and occupied the place about two years. He is a "lather" in the employ of Mr. C. H. Hand, builder. The fire has left him nothing but the land on which his dwelling stood.

It was 8:45 when the alarm was sounded. Men from Warren Engine Co. No. 3 started out with their apparatus but went no farther than the bridge on Green Brook road.

Passers-by used to stop and admire the tasty out-door decorations at the Barry estate, and used to speak highly of the pretty arrangement of the flower gardens. Neighbors speak in the highest terms of friendship for the couple and express the warmest sympathy for them in their misfortune.

Barnum's Circus Attached.

Nelson D. Hodley, the drum-major of Barnum's circus, yesterday engaged Corporation Counsel Marsh to procure an attachment on Mr. Barnum's property, as that of a non-resident defendant, to secure a debt alleged to be due from the latter to the drum-major. The levy was made. A number of "the greatest show on earth" came forward and stated that he owned one hundred houses in Philadelphia and valuable properties in Asbury Park in this State. He finally paid enough money into court to secure the claim and costs, and the trial is to come off Dec. 1st. He stated that the man had earned the money demanded, but under his contract had forfeited the money by engaging in a fight.

A Political Wrangle.

The young Democrats of Warren Township are dissatisfied with the way the caucus was conducted in electing their delegates for the County convention, and vow they will get even with the leaders. This will, it is said, give a show in Warren for the Republicans to cut down, the Democratic majority to thirteen again, which they did about five years ago. According to all rumors L. A. Thompson for senator has the lead. This will probably make at least one for James J. Bergen. Surrogate Long is highly spoken of in Warren township and stands a good chance of being elected.

In the Somerset Courts Friday Judge Barrie sentenced to State prison three convicts as follows:

Felix Slater, colored, of Millstone, 15 years for rape on Carrie Alberson of Franklin township.

Morris Hannon, 10 years for rape on the O'Sullivan girl of South Somerville.

Christopher Lovering, 3 years for horse-stealing in the southern part of the county.

Smith Gets Another Stay.

The case of Chief of Police Chas. W. Dodd vs. Constable Garret F. Smith, in which Smith is accused of running a gambling den, came up before City-Judge Ulrich and a jury this morning, but was adjourned until Saturday, Oct. 29, at 2 p. m. The cause of the delay is the illness of a witness for the defense, who had to pay six dollars for witnesses' fees.

Robert B. Carter of Burlington, who spends portion of the summers in Plainfield, for the guest of his niece, Mrs. J. B. Carter of Scotch Plains, and whose genius as a correspondent has frequently been shown in these columns, during his former visits, is again on a visit here.

Annie Ingram Found Alive.

RAHWAY, Oct. 22—Detectives Gregory and Fitzgerald who were working up the Rahway murder mystery were astounded by a dispatch from Philadelphia this afternoon stating that the police there had not only arrested Frank Credeford, the suspected murderer of the girl, but also Annie Ingram, who was supposed by the evidence to be the girl. Credeford has been released.

A Collison in Hoboken.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 22.—The engineer lost control of the Boonton Express on the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad, on the Jersey City meadows this morning, and crashed into two Pullman palace cars. The stoves set fire to the wreck. Engineer James Dunn was killed, and E. Touse, a colored porter, was badly hurt.

Middlesex County Democrats.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 22.—The Democratic County Convention is being held at Turn Hall here this afternoon. James M. Parsons, the temporary chairman, called the convention to order and was made permanent chairman. Luther H. Tappen of Dunellen and Joseph Hayter of New Brunswick were made secretaries, and a platform denouncing the Republicans was adopted. The convention is in session as we go to press, and the delegates are having lively times.

J. Bayard Kirkpatrick of this city was nominated for Surrogate.

William F. Fisher of Sayreville, a brick manufacturer, was nominated for sheriff. His name has not been mentioned before, and he is an anti-Ross man. The Labor men combined with the anti's and defeated the Ross candidate.

A TALE OF TWO WOMEN.

A Vindication by Mr. Jackson.

To the EDITOR OF THE NEWS—Under the above heading in your issue of yesterday, you devote a column and a half of your most sensational type to the publication of a story about Mrs. and Miss Shilton in which persons who informed your reporter needlessly implicate me. The inference is plain, and I have to defend themselves and I feel it my duty as a friend, to contradict many of the preposterous statements made. The fact is that I went to Plainfield expressly for the purpose of spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jackson, but not Mrs. Jackson in very ill bed at the time of their arrival they decided to stay at the City Hotel to avoid giving her any anxiety. Mrs. Shilton did not present herself to Mr. Jackson as a friend of his sister's as Mr. Jackson had not previously been acquainted with Mrs. Shilton for many years. For that reason he made her and her daughter Miss Shilton his guests while they undoubtedly persuaded them to take up their residence here. He did not, however, play the part of host to them for any stakes and never spend one cent in taking them to New York, or in carriage driving; nor had Mrs. Shilton ever asked him for a loan to take them to Missouri. Mrs. Shilton has not a son in Missouri, and she has not gone to that State.

Mr. Jackson did not have supper at the City Hotel with them, agreed to and did not have conversation with them at supper. They did have baggage with them to the extent of eleven trunks. They did not leave Plainfield on the 2:08 p. m. train; nor did they leave on Wednesday; neither did they leave suddenly. Their friends in Plainfield, and also in New York, knew four days before they left that they would leave on Monday.

Mr. Jackson does know where they have is, and everything concerning them, including the money paid to from Philadelphia, as he purchased their tickets and put them on the train; and he heard from them since they left town, and will continue to hear from them.

To the question, "Where have these women gone?" I answer for them, it is no one's business but their own, and I must endorse Mrs. Shilton's remark, that "the people about the City Hotel have not the manners enough to mind their own business."

I think I have now given you all the information Mrs. Shilton and her daughter "Jessie," who, as THE NEWS states, is really handsome, but not at all inclined to flirt with anyone at the City Hotel. However, if any detective wants any information concerning the ladies it will be most cheerfully given by

Yours very respectfully,
PHILIP JACKSON.

(Mr. Jackson is an old and valued friend of THE NEWS, and is well-known here. The New York papers have been full for several days of the Paris scandal, which connected the name of prominent generals of France with two women, the description of whom people of Plainfield thought corresponded with the visitors. The New York papers are glad to get hold of such stories for the sake of the sensation. We are not, and have managed so far to steer clear of them, and keep a paper so highly prized as is THE NEWS. A new reporter, who comes to us from a leading New York paper, does not appear, judging by this instance, to have yet learned the settled policy of this paper, and got the matter as choice news. It so happened, also, that the editor, who was away, did not see the article until too late. We are glad, however, that Mr. Jackson has set the matter right. The reporter had visited Mr. Jackson's house in trying to carefully investigate the story, but it appears that the person who met him is not a member of Mr. Jackson's family at all, but was mistaken for such, Mrs. Jackson herself being too ill to see callers.)—ED.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

AT THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

James L. Miller for Senator—Fred. F. Glasby for Sheriff—Samuel L. Oliver for County Clerk and George T. Parrot for Surrogate.

The Union County Republican Convention was held yesterday at Elizabeth. It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic held for years. The presence of large numbers of young men among the delegates showed the good results of the organization of clubs throughout the county. There was throughout all the proceedings the fullest freedom of expression and action, and absence of anything like "bossism" or "ring rule." The announcement that Congressman Phelps would address the convention caused the space allotted to visitors to be crowded, so that the entrance to the hall was effectually blocked.

Collector Edward M. Wood, Chairman of the County Executive Committee, said that the committee had decided upon Assemblyman William H. Corbin for Temporary Chairman. The mention of Corbin's name evoked great applause. Ex-Assemblyman Elias B. Pope of Plainfield; George Wright of Rahway, and ex-Congressman Amos Clark, jr., of Elizabeth, were selected for Vice Presidents. Charles E. Reed of Rahway; Nelson Runyon of Plainfield, and Charles W. MacQuaid, of Westfield, were chosen for Secretaries.

The following committees were appointed:

Rules—J. B. Coward, J. K. Roll, L. W. Miller. Credentials—J. A. Hubbard, James T. Pierson, Mr. Robbins. Resolutions—J. A. Hicks, Joseph Cross, W. R. Coddington.

Mr. Bayard Kirkpatrick of this city was nominated for Surrogate.

Mr. Fred. F. Glasby, of Elizabeth, received a unanimous nomination.

Assemblyman George T. Parrot was nominated for Surrogate, on a motion of Delegate Ellis, of Elizabeth, his nomination was made by acclamation.

When nominations for County Clerk were called, Rahway presented Postmaster Samuel M. Oliver, of that city, while Plainfield nominated Assemblyman Chamberlain, of Rahway. Several said the Assemblyman would not accept the nomination. Plainfield, however, refusing to withdraw his name, Chairman Corbin ordered a ballot. Before it could be taken Assemblyman Chamberlain, who was in the hall, sent word to the Chairman that he declined. Postmaster Oliver was therefore unanimously nominated for Clerk.

The nominations for Coroners were given to Dr. Long, of Plainfield, and Dr. Miller of Elizabeth.

A committee brought Messrs. Miller, Glasby and Parrot before the convention. They all made speeches and were warmly applauded.

There was a stir when Chairman Corbin stepped forward, and cheers followed his announcement that Congressman Phelps, "candidate for United States Senator," would address the convention. Congressman Kean and ex-Congressman Clark led Mr. Phelps forward. He made a stirring speech and was heartily cheered.

Great cheering followed as the Congressman retired. He held an informal reception on the stage after the convention adjourned.

Eels Stop a Water-Mill.

Last night the miller at French Bros.' City Flour Mills, Somerset street, endeavored to shift from steam to water power, but found the huge wheel so clogged up with eels that it would not revolve. Long and difficult work cleared away the obstruction and the eels were counted and weighed. The number was 40; the weight was 66 pounds. Some of them are three feet long.

Considerable amusement was caused by the antics of a rat which tried to carry away one of the soft-finned fishes.

Fire at Westfield.

At four o'clock this morning a defective flue set fire to the three story double residence of Joseph Rogers and L. E. Hart, of Broadway and Central avenue, Westfield, and the building was almost entirely destroyed. The fire started on the second story of Mr. Hart's side of the house. The Rogers family were visiting Caleb Mills of Grandview avenue at the time. The loss is unknown but is wholly covered by insurance.

Victims of the Circus Fever.

A woman from Scotch Plains became intoxicated yesterday and was arrested. She paid a fine of two dollars to-day.

Policeman Lynch's watchful eye fell on a balloon peddler who had no license, early Friday morning. The peddler paid the license fee and was discharged.

James L. Miller,

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR STATE SENATOR

from Union County, a staunch Republican he was born in Warsaw, Wyoming County, N. Y., October 15, 1837. He is a member of the well-known firm of Frank Miller & Sons, New York, with which he has been connected for nearly thirty years. In 1864 he married a daughter of Rev. Abram Judge of Bethlehem, Penn., and has a family consisting of one son, Frank S., who is head of Co. B, Third Regt., N. G. N. J., and two daughters. In 1874 Mr. Miller removed from Brooklyn, N. Y., to Elizabeth, his property in Westfield and at once became interested in the prosperity of the township. Mainly through his efforts the Westfield Lyceum was organized and incorporated and a Village Improvement Committee formed. The present excellent roads, finely shaded streets, well graded sewers, and the perfect system and the business part of the township, the erection and maintenance of the public school and fine school house and many other improvements fully testify to the good work accomplished by these associations.

In efforts to promote the public welfare Mr. Miller is always found contributing by personal energy and financial support. Never seeking public positions or in any way seeking office to secure an election to any office, he has, notwithstanding, been placed in many positions of responsibility, and no question of the honesty of purpose or firmness in performance of duty has ever been raised against him.

Mr. Miller served his township in the Board of Freeholders in 1875-76-77-78-85-86, and for two years previous been a member of the Township Committee, for the past four years President of the local Board of Health, and Chairman of the Township Committee; to which position he has been re-elected, despite its direct opposition to his wishes, by the almost unanimous vote of all parties. And if the Democrats and Third Party people making assessments against him, Mr. Miller does not confine his energy to the material interests of the community, but takes an active part in promoting the moral and educational development. With his many cares, consequent upon his extensive private business and his many public duties, he is executor of several estates, and a trustee of various savings banks, commissions, etc., etc. He has in every instance performed faithfully, promptly and with discretion. That he is an active, useful and trusted citizen is evident from the foregoing, and those who know him best are the most enthusiastic in presenting his name as the right man to represent Union county in the State Senate.

The following letter is from Robert R. Sinclair of Westfield, who has a host of friends throughout Union county. He is one of the editors of Harper's Weekly, and a man of calibre generally.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS:—It gives me great pleasure to endorse in the highest terms of my neighbor Mr. James L. Miller. He is a successful business man, and is honest, capable and fearless in well-doing. I know of no one who would represent us with greater credit. He has always been strongly elected to public office but is in no sense a politician. If the nomination comes to him it will be solely without his solicitation or effort. And if elected as I have no doubt he will be by a handsome majority) he will regard his election as a call for service and will use his best trust to hold. I am sure he will be faithful. Very truly yours,

ROBERT R. SINCLAIR.

Westfield, N. J. Oct. 13, 1887.

The following extracts are from a letter written before Mr. Miller's nomination, and the writer, Mr. Ripley, is his neighbor and a prominent New York lawyer.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Oct. 17, 1887.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS:—

Mention has been made of our townsman, Mr. J. L. Miller, as a candidate for the State Senate, and I desire to say that he is in my opinion a probable candidate and generally by way of inquiry as to his availability. My answer is that he is personally a fine fellow and uniformly has been, without any hesitation.

Mr. Miller is a good man; I will vote for him if nominated, and do all I can to promote his nomination."

Mr. Miller has been a resident of Westfield for the past ten or fifteen years, during which time he has been a prominent, active and efficient citizen. He has been built many offices and of various kinds. He has been selected for his fitness, without solicitation on his part, to represent the township in the senate action, not only of those who elected him, but of the general public. He is not and never has been a politician. Democrats, as well as Republicans are insisting, now-a-days, more and more, that good men only shall have their votes. Mr. Miller has proved. He has been elected many times by the voters of Westfield, and the confidence in him as a trustworthy and competent public officer is constantly increasing. If he should be elected Senator, his duty would be performed fearlessly, honestly, ably and faithfully. He would do credit to his party and to all who support him.

Very truly yours,
CHAUNCEY B. RIPLEY.

We take the liberty of making the following extracts from a letter sent us by an equally prominent Democrat with a request to publish:

A PROMINENT DEMOCRAT'S SAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Mr. Miller is a Republican, but I would rather fill any office he would accept; believe he would make a cool, level headed, judicious and honorable Senator. I shall, therefore, feel pleased to vote for him, notwithstanding our political views differ. Would be glad to see every man in our Senate like him. Yours, J. L. Millers.

Westfield, N. J., Oct. 16, 1887.

Here is what the Rahway Advocate says:

James L. Miller of Westfield is not only a good Republican himself, but every member of his family is an enthusiastic Republican. When the W. C. T. U. tried to pass an endorsement of the Prohibition candidates for years ago Mrs. Miller, who is the president of that organization, gave the unwise members of the Union such a quiet but withal rebuke that the endorsement was withdrawn.

—Mr. E. L. Steffen will lead the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms Monday evening. Short talks by young men on "Success in Business and Success in Life" and a musical programme will be interesting features of the meeting. Topic: "What Jesus is doing for me."

CHAMPIONS OF THE WORLD.

The Detroit Club Victorious in Eight of the Eleven Games Played.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The tenth game in the series between Detroit and St. Louis for the baseball championship, and of this series was played in the city yesterday forenoon, with the following result:

St. Louis	2	0	0	0	3	1	4	1	0	—11
Detroit	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	—4

Base hits, St. Louis, 18; Detroit, 9. Errors, St. Louis, 3; Detroit, 3. Batteries—St. Louis, Carruthers and Boyle; Detroit—Getzein, Bennett and Bennett. Umpires—Gaffney and Kelly.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 22.—The St. Louis Browns were compelled yesterday afternoon to relinquish their claim to the title of champions of the world, as they were defeated by the Detroit team by the score of eight times in the eleven games played. The rival clubs reached Baltimore about 2 o'clock. Both teams were partially applauded as they entered the field.

Gleason scored for the Browns in the first inning by being hit by the pitcher, Baldwin's first delivery. Comiskey, Robinson and Latham followed in the second inning on White's overthrow to first base, stole third, and scored on Richardson's error. Thompson muffed O'Neil's fly in the fifth, and the latter scored second on an out and home on White's error. For the Detroits Rowe reached first on Carruthers' error, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on Welch's bad error in dropping an easy fly from Thompson's bat. They made three runs in the fourth inning on two singles, two errors, a long drive for three bases, and Twitchell's home run drive over center field fence; four in the fifth on singles by Thompson, Rowe, Twitchell and Hanlon, aided by Richardson, Gleason's error, and two force hits. Singles by Richardson, Rowe and White, Hanlon's base on balls and Comiskey's error netted the Detroits in the sixth, and Richardson scored in the seventh on a hit, a steal, and two put outs. The game was marked by rather loose fielding on both sides, each club having been charged with seven errors by the heavy batting and clever base running of the Detroits. Bennett hurt his hand in the first inning, and clipped places with Gunzel. The score is as follows:

St. Louis	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	—3

Base hits, St. Louis, 6; Detroit, 19. Errors, St. Louis, 4; Detroit, 7. Batteries—Detroit, Baldwin and Bennett; St. Louis, Foutz and Boyle. Umpires, Gaffney and Kelly.

THE ALARM IN CHICAGO.

WILL THERE BE BLOODSHED ON THE 11TH OF NOVEMBER!

The Most Expensive Preparations Made to Provide Against Such Calamity Fails to Allay the Feeling of Anxiety—Vacant Houses in the Vicinity of the Jail.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—"I am opposed to jail sentences, especially now," were the ominous words uttered in the criminal court of this county yesterday by State's Attorney Julius S. Grinnell, when sentence was about to be passed upon one who had been guilty of a petty infraction of the law. The time in which the words were uttered, and the sentimental dropping out of other incidents, all go to show that, as Now 11 approaches, the authorities of Chicago are redoubling their vigilance, and are making every preparation to head off what they believe to be inevitable. Since the 5th of last April it is shown that the Anarchist element will realize the folly of such a movement. In plain language, the four leaders suspended that they will on an outbreak on the day the seven convicted Anarchists ascend the gallows, and that the scenes which will follow the hanging of the condemned Anarchists are significant. That this is not an exaggerated view the words Mr. Grinnell uttered show, and only a few days before this significant utterance he came almost similar language—in fact, it was more positive in its tone. He said: "In view of what is to take place in the Cook county jail on Nov. 11, I would prefer that Cotton's sentence should be made so as to expire before that date, because it is desirable that as few prisoners be in the jail at that time as possible."

The feeling of alarm is not confined to the authorities. It has spread throughout the city, and especially is it manifested in the vicinity of the county jail. This building is not near the business center of the city, but is located on the north side, two blocks away from the river, and runs along the east side of the edifice is Dearborn avenue, a street which, only a few streets to the north of the gloomy structure where the fated seven are locked up, runs into one of the most fashionable boulevards of Chicago, lined on either side by costly residences. In the immediate vicinity of the jail are the residences of many of the wealthy. Location has been considered so good, being hardly a quarter of a mile from the great wholesale and retail district, that the lands lords have had not the slightest trouble in finding tenants, but in the last two months, or since the Illinois supreme court refused to grant the writ of Anarchist a new trial, a marvelous change has been going on. House after house has been vacated, and the landlords are vainly seeking in the justice courts to enforce their broken leases. In three instances, at least, the tenants boldly declared that they felt that their lives and those of the members of their family would be unprotected, owing to residing in close proximity to the jail. One nervous man declared little belief, from what he had seen in walking from the corner of Dearborn street at night, that there was a well defined plot to blow up the jail with dynamite. Others feared that, despite the vigilance of the authorities, a mob might batter down the jail and set free the Anarchists, or at least precipitate one of the bloodiest riots of the century. Therefore it is that the signs "To Rent" can be seen on the doors and windows of dwelling houses for blocks around the jail.

The most expensive preparations have already been made by the sheriff and chief of police to provide against any such calamity as is feared, but the apprehension of the public is not allayed. Day and night policemen patrol the streets adjacent to the jail, inside the building a squad of deputy sheriffs have been divided into three watches of eight hours each, and the coming and going of every visitor is closely guarded. The first and second regiments of the national guard will be held under arms at their armories on the day set for the hanging, and it is said that Governor Oglesby has been asked to order these citizen soldiery to be in readiness to march to the jail at a minute's time. Capt. Schaack, who did so much to trace out the conspiracy of murder and rapine of which the Anarchists were convicted, is confident that he knows all that the authorities to tide over the hanging without trouble, but others who are in a position to know say Schaack assumes confidence he is far from feeling, and that he feels that his own life is daily in peril. Wherever he goes he is shadowed by detectives, and even when he walks the streets in the crowded business section in broad daylight he is not lost sight of by his guardians for a moment, so strong is the fear of the Anarchists' power lurking in wait for him. Judge Garry goes calmly to and from his judicial labors, evidently without fear, and the same can be said of State's Attorney Grinnell; but it is a fact, nevertheless, that at the earnest solicitation of their personal friends, detectives are also watching them, although Judge Garry strongly protested against any safeguards being thrown around him, and Mr. Grinnell laughed at the report that he was being constantly followed by police men shadowing apprehension. There is the most trustworthy information that in the wholesale district arms and ammunition have been provided in a number of places, and preparations made to barricade the buildings on short notice. Altogether the outlook for Nov. 11 is a cheerful one for the residents of Chicago.

Inspector John Bonfield, of the police force, is also hated by the friends of the condemned Anarchists, and precautions have been taken to protect his life. The Anarchists say that Bonfield is largely to blame for the massacre at the Haymarket, and that he, if any one, should be hanged for what took place on that fatal night. They say he was ordered by both Mayor Harrison and Chief of Police Ebersold to disperse the crowd home, and that both of his superiors then left the Desplaines street station, that then Bonfield, to keep himself before the public and gain a reputation, ordered out his command and proceeded in person who, little there was left of the crowd. Then it was that some weak brained individual threw the bomb which killed seven officers, and that had Bonfield obeyed his orders there would have been no collision, and that had there been any conspiracy Bonfield would have known of it, and would have been provided with a bomb and have thrown off the face of the earth every policeman present that night. Bonfield is very unpopular with the masses, as he has on several occasions brutally clubbed people and compelled his men to do the same thing. He has been assigned to the most trying duties of the police force by saying that such action was necessary to prevent riots.

Insanity and Suicide.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 22.—David R. Kellogg, of Spuyten Duyvil, N. Y., shot himself dead at the Crocker house yesterday. He was 30 years old, a graduate of Yale, and had spent eight years in the law office of Lord, Day & Lord, New York. About a year ago mental aberration developed, and he was confined in an insane asylum at Hartford for six months. It was thought that he was cured, but of late he had again acted strangely.

ARGUING FOR THE ANARCHISTS.

Points on Which Counsel Are Going Before the Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Long before the hour set for the hearing yesterday before Chief Justice Harlan of an application of a writ of error in the Chicago Anarchist case the conference room of the United States supreme court was uncomfortably crowded with lawyers and newspaper men, who were waiting to hear the proceedings.

ROGER A. PRYOR.

John Randolph Tucker, Gen. Pryor, Gen. B. F. Butler, Capt. Black and all the other counsel for the condemned prisoners were present and in whispered conversation. The application was made in open court by Gen. Pryor. The points on which he relied to show that the case involved Federal questions which would give this court jurisdiction were three:

First—Petitioners challenged the validity of the statute of Illinois, under which the trial jury was impanelled, on the ground of repugnancy to the constitution of the United States.

Second—Petitioners asserted and claimed, under the constitution of the United States, the right otherwise to have the special jury for the decision of the state court was against the right, privilege and immunity so asserted and claimed.

Third—That by the action of Illinois the state court enforced against petitioners a law whereby the privileges and immunities of petitioners as citizens of the United States were abridged, contrary to the fourteenth amendment of the Federal constitution.

Pryor then cited their trial for a capital offense, petitioners were compelled by the state court to be tried by a jury impanelled contrary to the provisions of the constitution of the United States.

Fourth—That by the action of the state court in said trial, petitioners were denied "the equal protection of the laws," contrary to the guaranty of the fourteenth amendment of the Federal Constitution.

The chief justice directed to have printed record of the proceedings in the court below such parts of the record as contain the points raised. He added that the court would be prepared to announce its determination upon petitions for hearing Monday. The court is prepared to have the printing done at once. The remark of the chief justice to Gen. Pryor that the only question the supreme court to consider is the validity of the Illinois statute prescribing qualifications for jurors is taken to indicate that the court will consider only that one point.

A SQUIRREL'S EXPENSIVE ABODE.

Lined with $5,000 of Farmer Maloney's Hard Earned Cash.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 22.—In the town of Morris, near Waterbury, lived an eccentric farmer named John O. Maloney, 65 years old, and a bachelor. All his life he has been a miser miser, and has been believed to be well to do. His friends have cautioned him against keeping his money in the house or about his person, and advised him to deposit it in some bank. Mr. Maloney has smiled knowingly, and has remarked that any person who attempted to rob his premises would have a mighty big hunt before they did so. About six weeks ago Mr. Maloney died, and diligent search was made, but nothing could be found in the house. Mr. Maloney he was supposed to have secured. It was finally concluded that the eccentric old man had been robbed during his last sickness. Several persons were suspected of having taken the money, but no proofs could be obtained.

A few days ago James Wilson and Paul Nash, both of Morris, were out hunting, and shot at and wounded an enormous gray squirrel, which crawled into an old box that was curiously perched between two branches of a tree. Both boys ran up the surprised animal. One of the men climbed the tree, and with considerable difficulty reached the box. Having stopped up the hole into which the squirrel had crawled, he turned his attention to his companion. When the latter opened it he found the squirrel stretched out dead in a pile of chewed up bank notes. He called his companion, and together the two set to inspecting their treasure, found that not a single bill had been left intact by the squirrels, and it was impossible to tell the denomination of a single one. Persons who have examined the mutilated bills are of the opinion that there could not have been less than $5,000 in the box. Persons who have examined the room having seen Mr. Maloney going toward the tree on different occasions, and there is no doubt but that the money found was hidden by him.

Knights to Work for Reduced Hours.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21.—T. V. Powderly arrived here yesterday morning, and remained until this afternoon, when he started for northern Michigan. Last evening he delivered a lecture. In the course of a conversation he said he was well satisfied with the result of the Minneapolis convention. "Of late years," continued Powderly, "Without them the order would be too tame to live. I do not think Barry and Bailey will cause any further trouble, and I can say that the organization is now free from the obstructives aggravated. We never get half as loud as congress always is. This year the order will devote itself principally to trying to effect a gradual reduction in the hours of labor. I do not favor having too many irons in the fire, and think the order should concentrate itself on one thing at a time."

Opinions Differ.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton returns to the attack in regard to the interpretation of the civil service law, and says that clerks of both parties may work together, contribute for political purposes, and that members of such political organizations are eligible to appointment by the civil service commission boards. These views are in direct conflict with those expressed by Mr. Oberly. Mr. Edgerton fully expects the president to sustain him, and cannot believe but that Commissioner Simpson will side with Mr. Oberly, thus leaving Mr. Edgerton in a minority.

Panic on a Ferryboat.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The ferryboat Cascaus, plying between New York and Hoboken, collided with and sank the tugboat Hawley at 6:30 o'clock last evening in the North river. The crew of the tug were rescued. There was a panic among the passengers on the ferryboat, but only one man, Barney Williams, of Orange, was injured, and he received only bruises. The Secaucus was not seriously damaged. The blame for the collision seems to rest with the pilot of the tug.

Three Men Killed by an Explosion.

BRYN MAWR, Pa., Oct. 22.—The boiler at the portable saw mill belonging to the Porter & Ellwood company, exploded yesterday afternoon, instantly killing William Ward, Lewis Keelly and Joseph McCann. They had just landed a raft of logs, and were standing in front of the boiler to warm and dry their clothing when the explosion occurred. The mill is a total wreck.

A GALE IN NEW ENGLAND.

THE MACKEREL FLEET FORCED TO FLY FOR HARBOR.

The Steamer Alleghany Blown on Shore During the Gale, but No Loss of Life Reported—An Abandoned Schooner Reported.

HARWICH, Mass., Oct. 22.—The steamship Alleghany, of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company, running between Boston and Baltimore, was driven ashore during the gale Thursday night about three and one-half miles southwest of the Chatham lighthouse. In all there were sixty-three persons on board, consisting of the captain, John C. Taylor, his officers and crew, and eight passengers. The steamer was in charge of Pilot Nickerson. Yesterday afternoon five of the passengers were landed, and the other three, as the ship had at last reached a safe harbor, remained on board, where they are now. The Alleghany was caught in the northeaster which swept along the New England coast and did great damage to shipping.

SCITUATE, Mass., Oct. 22.—A large vessel, probably a three-masted schooner, is at anchor off Fourth Cliff with only her foremast standing. A yawl is also burning, and as she is pitching violently. Her main and mizzen masts are gone close to the deck, and her rail appears to be badly smashed.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Oct. 22.—A heavy easterly gale raged from Thursday midnight until noon yesterday. Then the wind shifted suddenly to the northwest, blowing heavily from that quarter for two hours and causing a heavy sea outside. A dozen coasting schooners, fifty mackerel fishermen, and a large number of fresh fishermen anchored here for a harbor.

The steamtug Underwriter arrived with the barges Lone Star and Solon and the brig Annie Shoof, from Boston for New York, in tow. The Underwriter found the schooner Mary E. Woodhull aground and abandoned outside of Long Point, drifting toward South Truro. It was the intention of Steamer The Woodhull has a cargo of lumber, and is full of water. Her sails are blown away, her bulwarks and after cabin damaged. Her deckload is gone, and a part of it is floating under her lee. The Woodhull is of 150 tons register, and was built in 1867 at Riverhead, N. Y.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Oct. 22.—The schooner Ida A. Jayne, with lime, for New York, from Rockland, is ashore on the east side. The crew were saved. The vessel seems to be tight.

DEMOCRATS OF NEW YORK CITY

Put a Union Ticket in the Field, with Fellows for District Attorney.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The executive committee of Tammany Hall and the County Democracy agreed yesterday afternoon upon Col. J. R. Fellows for district attorney. The selection of Col. Fellows was in the nature of a compromise, the County Democracy refusing to give up Fitzgerald for Nicoll and Tammany refusing to give up Nicoll for Fitzgerald. The balance of the county ticket is as follows: For justices of the supreme court, Morgan J. O'Brien, Abraham R. Lawrence; for justices of the city court, Henry P. McGown, William Franklin Pitshke; for additional criminal court judge, Randolph B. Martine; for surrogate, Rastus S. Ransom; for comptroller, Theodore W. Myers; for president of the board of aldermen, George H. Forster; for coroner, Michael Jean and Edward Mooney.

The County Democracy county convention last night accepted the action of the conference committee. There was much enthusiasm displayed. Col. Fellows made an appropriate speech.

The Tammany Hall County convention met last night and adopted the report of the conference committee on the nominations. The only expression of dissent was by Mr. Mulvy and a few others in regard to Mr. Fellows being nominated instead of Mr. Nicoll, but this opposition was quietly suppressed and the ticket ratified.

Girard College to Be Sued.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 22.—Mrs. J. Arnoux Romestal, of this city, is a niece of the famous Stephen Girard, founder of Girard college at Philadelphia. She is the child of Girard, was Stephen's youngest brother. She sold yesterday of a suit to be entered against the college to recover part of its funds for about a dozen of the descendants of the founder, most of whom live in France. Her story is that Girard left property worth $140,000 to many heirs, few of whom received any of it, and it is now worth $750,000. She asserts that her father did not receive his portion, and that it, with other parts of the bequest, have been misappropriated. She has letters from heirs interested, and is confident that the intended suit can be pushed to a successful conclusion.

Don't Rush Into Print.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—In replying to a complaint made by a correspondent to the effect that an unnecessary hardship had been imposed upon a claimant by a clerk in his office, in the injudicious use of a circular, Commissioner of Pensions, Gen. Black, after expressing his willingness to rectify the wrong thus inadvertently done, says: "I say that, if other of my friends and other applicants are interested in any matters pending before this bureau would, as you have done, call my attention to the errors of judgment on the part of the clerical force, instead of denouncing me and the bureau itself in the public press, there would be a better service and a cleaner record, and a more wholesome state of public feeling."

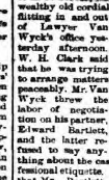
THE CASE OF PATRICK TRENOR.

An Evident Desire to Avoid World-Big Notes in His Estate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—W. H. Clark and his brother, Dr. Clark, are brothers-in-law of E. P. Stowe, who has Patrick Trenor, the wealthy old cordial maker, at his home, were flitting in and out of Lawyer Van Wyck's office yesterday afternoon. W. H. Clark said that he was trying to arrange matters peaceably. Mr. Van Wyck threw the labor of negotiation on his partner, Edward Bartlett, and the latter refused to say anything about the case on the ground of professional etiquette. It was learned, however, that Mr. Bartlett had agreed that Clark should put an extra padlock on Mr. Trenor's store door and keep the key.



PATRICK TRENOR.

A reporter saw Mr. Trenor at Mr. Stowe's house in the evening. He was eating a frugal supper, consisting of toast and tea and apple sauce. He said that he was contented where he was, had enough to eat and his own wits. Mr. Trenor said that Mr. Van Wyck was not his attorney, but almost immediately admitted that he had occasionally consulted him about his affairs.

Ebenezer Cook, who was for many years one of the best known druggists in this city, and who has been an intimate friend of Mr. Trenor for many years, said that about four weeks ago Mr. Trenor told him that he was being pestered to death by people who wanted him to make his will, and that he did not like it. Mr. Cook advised him to turn the next man who mentioned the subject out of his store, and when he felt like it to write his will. He did not think the inmate of his property and call in some of his neighbors to witness it. Mr. Trenor said it was a good idea and he would do it.

MINNIE BROWN'S NOVEL SUIT.

She Secures a Verdict for Wages Promised Her When on Strike.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 22.—A case which is somewhat novel in its character was tried at Rome this week, and on Friday was decided by a young lady named Minnie Brown, who was employed in the knitting mills at Little Falls at the time the Knights of Labor were struck by the action of the Manufacturers' association. She claimed that a man named Orlo Bates had induced her to quit work in one of the mills by promising to pay her wages during the time the lockout should last. She fulfilled her part of the agreement and received some money from Bates, but when he refused to pay the balance brought this suit. Bates claimed that he was acting for the Knights of Labor organization, and did not become personally responsible for the payment of Miss Brown's wages during the time she remained unemployed. A number of witnesses were sworn in the case, and it was something of a surprise when the jury rendered a verdict in favor of Miss Brown for $67.50. On a previous trial the jury disagreed. The case will probably be appealed.

Shortell, of Chicago, was appointed chairman of the executive committee.

The bond is signed by George French and Robert Garrett.

LONDON'S UNEMPLOYED.

A CONFLICT WITH THE POLICE ANTICIPATED.

Extraordinary Precautions for Keeping the Crowds in Check—The Overworked Police to be Assisted by the Military in the Event of an Outbreak.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The warfare between the unemployed workingmen and the police will probably culminate to-morrow, when the leaders of the former assert that they will hold meetings at Trafalgar square and other places in spite of the police, and will resist to the utmost any attempt to prevent them from expressing their opinions and maintaining their rights. The police are becoming weary of the constant strain and harassment to which they are subjected, and are in no mood to temporize with the crowd, which, although they have found it comparatively easy to hold in subjection thus far, they are still doubtful of being able to control alone should the mob find competent and determined men to lead them. Many of the police force are on the sick list as the result of fatigue, injury and exposure in keeping the crowds in check, and the constabulary, left to itself, is really less able to cope with the mob than it was a week ago.

The city police authorities have given abundant evidence of their apprehension by keeping their men continuously on duty since last Sunday, and have signified that they realize their crippled condition and the ability to meet an extraordinary emergency by consenting to accept military assistance. The military guard within the walls of England has been doubled, and in the event of a continuance of the trouble the police will be assisted in restoring and preserving order by a strong force of soldiery. The latter, however, will only their side arms. All the soldiers in and about London have been ordered to be in their barracks to-morrow. All furloughs having been rescinded and applications for leave denied.

Many persons are inclined to throw the blame for the whole matter of the recent demonstrations upon Mr. David E. Plunkett, Q. C., member for Dublin university, whose utterances in parliament during the last days of the session were calculated to foment precisely the state of affairs that now exists, and the leaders of the idle men have made good use of the Irish Tory's remarks in their harangues to their followers in justification of their course.

The "Texas" of a Steamboat—How It Derived Its Name.

The term "texas," applied to the hurricane deck of a steamboat, and its origin on the Mississippi in 1845. When boats were first built the pilot house was placed on the hurricane deck. Finally, in the above mentioned year, the pilot house was placed up higher, and underneath it was made a room or two, with about six or eight berths in it. When a tough passenger came on board and had sufficient money to pay his cabin fare, the clerk, instead of handing to the steward a cabin passengers, gave him a bunk in this little cabin, and sometimes it would be filled with some of the worst rogues in the country. Finally the captain of the boat, owing to the toughness of the room, christened it Texas, after the state of Texas, which at that time was noted for its wild cowboys, robbers and the like. Boats of late years, and especially the large ones, are built with a full length texas, which is occupied by the officers and crew.

Great Armies.

The imperial army of Germany, including the Landwehr and Landsturm or new volunteers, would make a war strength of about 2,650,000, added to which those not trained on account of not being up to the standard at the time of drilling, the total available force of all classes would be 5,670,000. The Russian army on a war footing numbers 2,300,000 and of the militia instructed and levied only in time of war, were added, the total available war forces would amount to about 3,300,000. This gives Germany an excess of 2,670,000 over Russia. Therefore the German army is the largest. France has a war force of about 2,500,000 at her disposal, and, taking into account the various classes of citizens and men who have been discharged with, the total number amounts to 8,750,000. This still leaves Germany the largest. The actual standing armies of these countries, however, is much smaller, that of Russia being in 1885 reported at 800,000 men; Italy's permanent force is put down at about the same number.

Buckshish.

Over all India, and the east generally, the natives lose no opportunity of asking for "buckshish." The usage is such a complete nuisance that the word is sometimes answered by a blow; this is termed "bamboo buckshish." Buckshish has taken up a very firm residence in Europe—may, in fact, owe a much larger scale than that of Asia, he said to have always had an existence there. Buckshish is a very important item in the revenues of officials and high positions of considerable importance, as well as in those of their humbler brethren. During the recent visit of the shah of Persia to England what potentate discovered that "buckshish" was by no means peculiar to the east.

The Home of Washington.

Mount Vernon originally contained the farm buildings and the mansion house which was built by Lawrence Washington, elder brother of George, and inherited by him in 1743. He named the place after Admiral Vernon, under whom he had served in the British navy. When it subsequently passed into the hands of George Washington the mansion was enlarged and the estate improved, and when he died, in December, 1799, he was buried there. Mount Vernon is in Fairfax county, Va., on the Potomac river, about eight miles below Alexandria.

Small Gold Pieces.

For several years gold half dollars and quarter dollars were issued in San Francisco, on private account. The real value of the half dollar was 46 cents and that of the quarters 20 cents. They are not now in circulation and the value of any that are to be found now must be determined by the desire to obtain them for collections. According to the last annual report of the United States mint director it appears that in the Philadelphia mint there were executed 1863, 6,016 one dollar gold pieces.

Mme. Bonaparte.

Elizabeth Patterson Bonaparte was born in Baltimore in 1785. She was the daughter of a wealthy merchant, and was married to Jerome Bonaparte in 1803. Napoleon commanded Jerome to forsake his wife, but the young man would not do this until 1807, when the French council of state annulled the marriage and Napoleon granted her a large pension. She had one son, who was educated abroad. She died April 4, 1879, leaving a large fortune to her grandson.

Wood Wall Paper.

Wood wall paper cut to the thickness of paper, and by a peculiar process stuck on the paper, which serves as a protection against the influence of the walls on the graining and color of the wood. So delicate is the machinery for forming this veneer that 200 leaves may be cut out of an inch square of maple wood, and 125 cut of wood of open grain, such as oak and nutwood.

Three Great Evils.

The "pope's bull against the comet" is said to have been issued by Calixtus III, who, shortly after the appearance of Halley's comet, in 1456, ordered that the church bells be rung daily at the hour of noon, and that the supplication, "Lord, save us from the devil, the Turk and the comet," be added to the litanies. This expression has long since been omitted.

The Last Rose of Summer.

This exquisite bit of music verse (if we except "Home, Sweet Home") has worn better than any other English ballad. The music was taken from a Sicilian air and ingrafted into the opera of "Martha." The words were by Tom Moore, and are among the most delightful and contain the most delicate sentiment of any written by that captivating writer of ballads.

Origin of a Common Word.

The earliest use of the word bubbub is found in Spenser's "Faerie Queene," 1590.

Now, when amid the thickest woods they were,
They heard a noise of many hunters shrill,
And shrieking Hubbubs them approaching were,
Which all the forest did with horror fill.
—Bk. iii. Canto X. section 43.

Not Convicted.

Aaron Burr was not, as is often supposed, convicted of treason. He was arrested at Natchez and tried at Richmond for his attempt to establish a government of his own in the Mississippi valley, but was acquitted on the ground that he had not borne arms against the United States.

Quadam.

This Anglicized latin word signifies formerly, anciently, heretofore. "My quondam schoolfellow" means my schoolfellow years ago.

The Yacht America.

It is a fact not generally known that there is not a cent's worth of the material of the old America in the present craft. She was entirely built over again in England prior to 1850, and half built over in America six years ago.—The Epoch.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

THE TRICK OF INK CHANGED TO WATER EXPLAINED.

The Peculiar Diseases to Which Animals in Confinement Are Subject—How Sticklebacks Construct Nests and Protect and Care for Their Young.

As soon as the pairing season sets in the first care of the stickleback is to provide the nest. He is an ingenious little builder as any bird, and furthermore does all the work without aid from his partner. First he collects a quantity of delicate fibrous material, the tiniest roots, fragments of dead plants and water weeds; these he mats with his mouth into an irregular circular mass, somewhat depressed about an inch and a quarter in diameter. Then he covers the top with similar materials, and leaves in the center of one side an aperture to act as a doorway. As he builds this he glues the fibers together over them with his body, he cements them firmly with the slimy mucus that escapes from his skin.

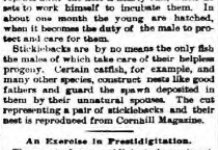
STICKLEBACKS AND THEIR NEST.

In a few hours the nest is completed and the little architect sets out in quest of a partner. This partner, when found, he pushes with his head into the nest. In a few minutes she lays two or three tiny transparent yellow eggs, after which she leaves the nest through a hole bored with her snout opposite to the one by which she entered. The nest has now two doors, and the eggs are exposed to the cool stream of water which entering by one door flows out at the other. This by keeping up a fresh and constant current supplies them with the oxygen necessary for hatching. Next day the little sultan brings a new partner to the nest, and a few more eggs to his stock of spawn. This operation he repeats until the nest is nearly full, when he sets to work himself to incubate them. In about one week the young are hatched, when it becomes the duty of the male to protect and care for them.

Sticklebacks are by no means the only fish the males of which take care of their helpless progeny. Certain catfish, for example, and many other species, construct nests like good fathers and guard the eggs deposited in them by their unnatural spouses. The cut representing a pair of sticklebacks and their nest is reproduced from Cornhill Magazine.

An Exercise in Prestidigitation.

The secret of a prestidigitator's most curious trick is made to appear an exceedingly simple operation by Le Nature, in which occurs the explanation here given.



INK CHANGED TO WATER.

The prestidigitator places upon a table a glass half full of ink—a liquid that has every appearance of being ink. He shows the spectators a white card; dips it into the glass and takes it out stained with black. (See cut.) This done, he covers the card under a napkin or handkerchief; then he suddenly removes the latter and the glass is seen to contain a clear liquid, which is water. (See cut.) The card is then shown to every astonishment when it is well performed; but nothing is easier than to repeat it.

There must be poured into a tumbler, and the lower part of the latter is lined with a strip of black cloth, flannel or cashmere, up to the level of the liquid. At a certain distance off this gives the water every appearance of being ink.

Previous to this a card has been prepared by coloring a third of one of its sides with black ink. When this card is shown to the spectators it is presented to them white side foremost. After it has been dipped into the alleged ink, it is turned around so as to show the inked surface, and it then appears as if it had really been immersed in ink.

Then the glass is covered with the fabric, and the latter is inserted into it far enough to allow the fingers to grasp the black lining and quickly remove it, and thus make the black liquid appear as water.

Experiments of the same nature may be more scientifically performed by means of chemical precipitates. Add tincture of iodine to syrup of starch and nitric acid, and you will obtain a red liquid having the appearance of wine. Pour into the mixture a solution of hyposulphite of soda, and you will obtain a milk white liquid, and the wine will seem to have been converted into milk. Put some iodide of potassium in an aqueous solution of a salt of mercury (the bichloride, for example), and you will have a red precipitate of iodide of mercury. An excess of the reagent dissolves the precipitate, and the color disappears. This also is a very pretty curiosity, since the two liquids have the appearance of water.

Diseases of Animals.

Nine-tenths of wild animals in confinement are said by a medical writer to be subject to heart disease. All wild animals have their calamities. Elephants, says Popular Science Monthly, are subject to many diseases, the most common of which is known as rheumatism. Monkeys and baboons generally die from bronchial affections and heart disease, and suffer much from typhoid fever. Animals of the feline race are most subject to dysentery and heart disease, and their prey, deer, antelopes, etc., are most liable to the same afflictions. Animals of the canine tribe are the healthiest, but too many wolves must not be kept together or they will eat one another.

A Familiar Name.

The term "porterhouse steak" originated from there having been first made a specialty in a London porter house.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

A Fine New Regenta—Decorative Fabrics—A Lamp Mat—Cost to Wash a Dress.

Among the most inexpensive decorative materials may be mentioned canton flannels and felts. Printed canton flannels now come in such handsome designs and fine colorings that they may be used in many instances with quite as good effect as more costly fabrics. In addition to this they wear well. The same may be said of felts. They are now made in very fine quality and very desirable colors, and there is hardly a more durable material for decorative purposes, such as portieres, curtains, etc.

Vienna Bread.

Vienna bread is made with patent flour, compressed yeast and milk or milk and water mixed. Neither potatoes nor ferment should be employed. The following is a typical recipe: To every eight pounds of flour take three quarts of milk and water (half and half), three and one-half ounces of compressed yeast, two ounces of salt. Mix the warm water first with the milk, so as to give it a temperature of from 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. Add enough flour to make a weak sponge, and take care it is not of greater consistency than batter. Crumble the yeast and mix it well in. Let the sponge stand about three-quarters of an hour, add the remaining flour slowly and also the salt. Next thoroughly kneed the dough and set it to ferment for two and a half hours. The bread is glazed by introducing a jet of steam into the oven.

A New and Handsome Begonia.

A new and handsome variety of the fine tuberous begonias that are steadily gaining favor as window plants and bid fair to rival the geranium in popularity is the Louis Bouchet. It is a brilliant orange scarlet in color. A florist affirms that this double begonia is the coming plant and will, within a short space of time, be seen in every market and window, as geraniums are to-day, only of a still finer quality it requires is propagation like the dahlia. Neither disease nor insects seem to attack it, and it grows into a neat lovely shaped plant. Its beauty of color, abundance of lovely blossoms and pretty habit of growth will, it is thought, secure it unusual favor among this already popular class of window plants.

The Care of Lamps.

Oil in a lamp should never be allowed to get down below the one-half the depth of the reservoir. The wick should be soft and completely fill the space for it, but without crowding. A lamp should neither be sunk deeply in the wick nor exposed to a draught. In extinguishing the flame the wick should first be turned far down and then a sharp, quick puff blown across and not straight down upon the flame. When lamps cease to give a good light it is often because the perforations are choked with carbon and dust. Boil the burners for half an hour, using a good tea-spoonful of washing soda to a quart of water. Rinse and dry. This usually remedies the difficulty.

Marsh Mallows.

A recipe for home made marsh mallows is as follows: Dissolve half a pound of gum arabic in one pint of water and add one-half pound of fine sugar; place over the fire, stirring constantly until the syrup is dissolved and all the consistency of honey; add gradually the whites of four eggs well beaten; stir the mixture until it becomes somewhat thin and does not adhere to the finger. The surface to be breaded must be covered with linseed oil and the powder then applied with a brush. The amateur will generally find it more satisfactory to use the ready made gilding or bronzing liquids.

A Very Dainty Doyley.

An attractive little doyley is finished with a band of drawn work three-quarters of an inch wide, with the edges buttonholed to keep the thread in place, inside of which is worked a row of forget-me-nots in blue silk.

To Stain a Common Wood Floor.

The easiest way to stain a common wood floor is probably by applying a mixture of one part turpentine and two parts raw linseed oil, colored to the desired shade with burned umber or powdered sienna.

Favorite Model for Fancy Lamp Shade.

An attractive form of the fancy lamp shade, which is one of the first of decorative objects that strike the eye upon entering a room and should therefore be particularly pretty, is the plaited shade. This is the favored model for the tissue paper shades so much in vogue and is equally well liked in the more durable effective material. Perhaps one secret of its popularity is that it is very readily made.

The shade represented in the cut consists of a foundation of net on a wire frame or one of the cheap paper shades, on which is mounted pale rose colored satin or silk, laid in fine plaits, gathered in closely at the top and finished with a plaiting of rose colored moire ribbon. A notched plaiting of silk is set on with a heading around the lower edge and a graceful sprig of roses and leaves is fastened on by a bow of similar ribbon.

PLAITED LAMP SHADE.

Lace can be used for the bottom of the shade instead of ribbon, and fruit for the ornament in place of flowers, or any other changes that one's fancy suggests. A sprig of paper flowers is generally employed when the shade is made simply of colored tissue paper.

Hints Here and There.

Bolsters are again made flat as well as round, pillows are made larger, though not quite square.

A dish of fruit or a low mass of flowers in the center is the prettiest of simple decorations for the dinner table.

Boiling water made strong with ammonia and applied with a whisk broom cleans willow chairs admirably.

With a long handled gauze wire soap shaker one can easily make suds quickly and conveniently, but can use up every old end of soap.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

A French Secret in the Complexion—Vegetable Remedies.

In the learned papers read at the recent International Medical congress before the most eminent physicians of this and other countries were many items of interest to the unprofessional mind also. Dr. Gibbon, U. S. N., stated that the diseases which are truly climatic are rare and malaria is not one of them; local unsanitary conditions cause more disease than does climate. For example, the death rate of the Italian army has been reduced one-half by the drainage of the Roman marshes.

Dr. Marston, of England, was of the opinion that while malaria might in some instances be spread by the atmosphere, the supply, yet the influence of freshly disturbed soil was a great cause of it.

In considering the treatment of hay fever, Dr. Thomas, of Baltimore, thought that cocaine, though it gives temporary relief, endangers the tissues when persistently used.

Dr. Wilson excludes, from experience in 101 cases, that vaccination during the incubation period of smallpox will either prevent the attack or so mitigate in force as to insure the safety of the patient.

In the opinion of Dr. Lester, pneumonia is an infectious disease, and is influenced by malaria and unsanitary surroundings.

Dr. Webber, of Cincinnati, thought that cocaine, though it gives temporary relief, endangers the tissues when persistently used.

Dr. Wilson excludes, from experience in 101 cases, that vaccination during the incubation period of smallpox will either prevent the attack or so mitigate in force as to insure the safety of the patient.

PARK AVENUE.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

Hard Luck.

Your eyes glowed on me, and your dancing hair
Flew backward from a dainty and lofty brow;
My eyes dropped low before your fond itinerary,
The music shrieked and moaned—I hear it now;
I hear the measured steps, the swirling trains
That such sore pitfalls make for thoughtless speed,
Surging beneath the soles of heedless swains,
And bringing them, too oft, to grief indeed!
I hear your heart, wild throbbing on the curve
Of my bare arm, as you upheld my weight
Through that swift vortex of a man's fine nerve,
The calm and glorious strength that mocks at Fate.
Not so! For down with blinding crash we go;
A passing level has rent my flounce in twain,
The fall has burst apart my satin sleeve
Our waltz is done. I shall not dance again!
—Puck.

A Child's Thoughts.

Little Emma's mother was entertaining company. In the course of conversation one of the guests used the exclamation "Lord!"

Fixing her solemn, reproving eyes upon her the child asked gravely:

"Mamma, does she mean the Lord that I know?"

One day her mother reproved her quite sharply for not changing her shoes. After a moment's reflection Emma said:

"I wish you would be real good to me, mamma. I fink you would like it after you got used to it."—Detroit Free Press.

Perseverance Rewarded.

I tried to kiss the lively maid,
But ne'er resisted;
But I was the least afraid,
And so insisted.

She said, "You're mussing all my hair,
Likewise my collar."
I promptly said, "I do not care"
She said, "I'll holler!"

The hand with which the maiden sweet
Her ripe lips shielded
I caught in flight—victory was complete:
She sweetly yielded
—Boston Courier.

Time's Revenge.

Mr. De Lone (on being introduced)—Miss Coquette and I have met before.

Miss Coquette (coldly)—Yes, I remember now.

"We will let bygones be bygones, for time heals all wounds and no doubt I was a very silly boy at that time."

"Boy!"

"I must have been; it was ten years ago, and your reason for refusing me was that you were old enough to be my mother."—Omaha World.

Autumn.

Now torches gleam from wood and wield
And buckwheat cakes are browning,
The asters white the pasture field,
Rich plumes the lobsters are crowning,
The Spanish chestnut in burrs falls
No longer now are looking,
And farmers compact their signs
"All trespassing forbidden."
—Yonkers Gazette.

True Love's Devotion.

Chicago Girl (to eastern young man)—You are quite sure, George, that my wealth has not influenced you?

George—Ah, no, dear; it is love alone.

Chicago Girl—And will you move to Chicago?

George—Move to Chicago! Why, I would move even to St. Louis for your love, my dear!

After that she no longer doubted his devotion.—Epoch.

A Queen of the Ballet.

At the play the other night,
She, a vision of delight,
Our hearts had set a-thumping by her glances,
But the charm was soon dispelled,
For a boy behind us yelled:
"Oh, golly, see the way that grandma dances!"
—Boston Budget.

An Electric Touch.

Mr. Crimsonbeak—You have truly an electric touch.

Miss Passenfanther (at the piano)—Oh, sir, you flatter me.

"But it is true."

"What makes you think so?"

"Why, I read the other day that electricity would always put a person out of time."

She fingered the keyboard no more that evening.—Yonkers Statesman.

Ah, There!

Utahi of all the farming west;
If Idaho I'd go there;
I'd Nebraska better chance
If once I had a show there.
Sho, there!
—Commercial Advertiser.

On the Safe Side.

"Charley," said a young wife, "is there really any such person as the fool killer?"

"Oh, I guess not; I don't know," said Charley, who was reading the morning paper.

"Well, Charley, all I wanted to say is please don't go out after dark any more until you find out."—Washington Critic.

The Open Season.

Now the sportsman goes forth with his gun
In search of a fair squirrel fun,
But returns home anon
With his powder all gone
And his fingers less numerous by one.
—Boston Budget.

Self Evident.

"Mamma," said a young lady, just home from school and gazing upon Alexander Harrison's "Open Sea," "is this an oil painting or a water color?"

"Sh," answered her mother with a look of surprise and chagrin. "It's a water color; don't you see she wasn't"—Chicago Tribune.

Freckles and Tan.

No more in rural novice are hid
Sweet Etta, May and Fan;
They're home again and getting rid
Of freckles and of tan.
—Boston Courier.

Awkward. Very.

Young Simpkins—If the devotion of a lifetime will prove to you the strength of my love, Ida, it shall be yours. Can you desire more? Can you——

Gladys—That will be all——

Young Simpkins (instinctively)—Ca-a-ash! Tid Bits.

The Poor Cashier.

Cashiers, from medical report,
Are seldom very strong;
Their longest ages are very short,
Their short-ages are long.—Tid Bits.

He Wanted the Best.

Artist (to Mr. Porcine, who is to have a portrait painted of himself)—Are you particular about the background, Mr. Porcine?

Mr. Porcine—Certainly. I want the best canvas that money will buy.—Epoch.

A Unanimous Opinion.

First Yachtsman—Oh, the Volunteer is the best yet.

Second Yachtsman—Yes, indeed; the Volunteer is the best yought.—Omaha World.

At the conclusion of the parade a collation will be served the visitors at the club-house.

—It is understood that the effort to reduce the legal rate of interest in New Jersey from six to five per cent. is to be renewed at the coming session of the Legislature. For eight years past a bill of this kind has made its appearance at the Legislature, and of late it has been classed in the di-reputable catalogue of "pinch" legislation. But the upper agricultural counties have succeeded in five years in made an issue in the legislative contests, the farmers strongly demanding it. Several times the bill has passed the lower House, but it always fails in the Senate. Corporation and banking influence have always been strong enough to defeat it in that body. The farmers are large borrowers from the banks, and hence their desire to reduce the legal rate.

FIRE AND ROBBERY.

A Sunday Morning Blaze at 149 Central Avenue.

The household of the Rev. J. B. Cleaver of 149 Central avenue was aroused by the smell of smoke at twenty minutes past five o'clock Sunday morning. Mr Cleaver was alertly awake in an instant, for the burning of his barn when he lived at 150 Central avenue was still fresh in his mind. He looked hurriedly through the apartments on the second floor. In the "spare" room there was a dense volume of smoke, but no flames could be seen, although a fierce roaring and crackling was heard. Going to the room below, Mr. Cleaver saw tongues of fire licking around a wooden floor-beam that ran directly beneath a grate in the fireplace of the "spare" room. Here he and his wife attacked the fire with hand-grenades, but the glasses refused to break, and after a section of ceiling fell upon Mr. Cleaver's shoulders and the fire spread further an alarm was sent by telephone to the engine houses.

Plainfield Engine Company No. 2, lowered the suction-hose of their apparatus into the well at the corner of Central avenue and Eighth street and soon had a good stream on.

Engine Company No. 3, was also on hand as was Zephyr Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1. There was no well for No. 3's engine, however, and she was taken home after a few moments' unnecessary search for a supply of No. 3. It was feared that the well would give out, or she would have remained at work. No. 2's hose was run through the front entrance of the house and up stairs to the "spare" room where the flames were then gaining force. It was not long before all visible fire was out, but the smoke came pouring from every crack in the slated French roof and people predicted that the building would burn just as did the Carmon Páris place. It was feared that the hollow walls of the building were all on fire inside and the firemen with the hose were kept shifting constantly about as the blaze broke out in new places. It was a stubborn fire and the men fought it well

At length it seemed as though the fire was extinguished. Chief of Police Dodd however kept at work with an axe and tapped the walls. Suddenly, as his sharp-pointed instrument cracked through the plaster in an apartment at the front of the "spare" room, flames burst forth and blazed five feet high. It was the work of several minutes to extinguish this, and then the fire was all out.

There is no doubt that the cause of the fire was a defective flue. A spark must have lodged between the floor beams in the spare room fire-place. The loss from the flames affects Mr. Cleaver, who only rents the house, as much as it does the owner, Ex-Chief of the Fire Department, Auguste Saltzman. A beautiful $1,000 oil painting of Blarney Castle, a large chromo and the program which hung thereunder.

The furniture was damaged by water and smoke, but not to any great extent. Mr. Cleaver's household goods are insured in the Home Mutual for $2,000, and another fully covers his clothing and that of her children. The carpets in the house are also insured. Mrs. Cleaver expresses her indebtedness to the kindness of her neighbors.

After the fire coffee was given the firemen at the residence of Mr. Couvenier, across the way from Mr. Cleaver. It is stated by Mr. Cleaver that the sum of thirty dollars was stolen from one of the servant's rooms and that $15 was taken from another. Besides this several pieces of portable property are missing.

The insurance adjusters from New York were expected in town to-day to decide the exact loss and settle the claims of Mr. Saltzman and Mr. Cleaver.

Warren Mission.

The Sunday evening service of the Warren Union Mission last night, was largely attended and was full of interest throughout. The service of song began at 7:30. The devotional exercises were conducted by Robert H. Cook. His remarks referred to the unsaved and were full of interest. "He Leadeth Me" was sung, and the meeting was then given to the congregation for voluntary remarks and prayers. Messrs. Chauncey Schaffer, Wm. Smalley, Edsall and Hillman took part. The invitation was then given by Mr. Cook for those who desired to become Christians to manifest it. Three persons responded and prayer was offered for them, and the meeting was then closed.

—Take notice of the Electric Light Company's advertisement to-day.

—The meeting of the Warren Mission Sunday School and the friends attending the Sunday evening service met each Tuesday evening at the chapel, from seven to eight o'clock, for the rehearsal of music, conducted by Mr. M. M. Dunham.

—The camp fire for the members of the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening next promises to be very interesting and successful. The evening will be spent in part in opening games and singing college songs. Rations will be served at ten o'clock.

PERSONAL.

City Clerk O. B. Leonard was out of town on business to-day.

John Moran, an old Plainfielder, is a member of the band which played with Barnum's this year.

Joseph Mair of Dunellen has been elected a member of the Middlesex County Democratic Executive Committee.

Father Flood yesterday morning at the half past ten o'clock mass in St. Mary's church preached an eloquent sermon. He took for his text: "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and loss his soul."

Rudolphus McDonald of East Front street, one of the recent Grand Jury, which convened Oct. 1st, and concluded its labors Oct. 19th, was taken down with typhoid fever at the outset and recovered only a few days ago, enough to be taken out driving, accompanied by his nurse. His host of friends will rejoice at his recovery.

John Taylor Johnston of East Front street is able to be out again. He was driven about in his baroueche yesterday in the care of his coachman and nurse. It is but a few weeks ago since it was thought that he would not survive a week, yet it was the opinion of his acquaintances yesterday that he appeared remarkably well.

Mr. S. D. Affleck of Laing's Hotel yesterday tendered a dinner to the "Mystic Shrine," the occasion being his birthday anniversary. Among those present were Messrs. R. G. Lansing, W. Townsend, H. A. Palestine, S. R. Broadhurst, James A. Rich, Theodore Graliven, Wm. Johnson, jr., of New York and a number of friends from this city. The table was tastefully arranged and Chef Van Laew looked after the comfort of the guests. Rev. Van Meter, the pastor of the Methodist Church, made a new departure last evening in deference to the wishes of his hearers and began a series of sermons on "The Foes of Christ," starting with Herod. The reverend gentleman presented the theme in a manner that held his hearers interested throughout. The sermon was one which will be long remembered as the rarest of treats, and one calculated to make a deep impression for good. The seats are all free at the evening services, and all are welcomed. The congregations have increased steadily, and probably will continue to increase under the influence of such powerful sermons.

Young People Who Do Good.

The first State Convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of New Jersey will be held in the Belleville-avenue Congregational Church, at Newark, N. J., Wednesday, Oct. 26. This is the first State conference of the "Endeavorers," and a most interesting and instructive programme has been arranged. A large number of delegates will attend from the First Presbyterian Church and the Trinity Reformed: the Congregational Church will also be represented. It is hoped that the other churches of Plainfield will take an interest in the convention, and that as many as possible from each church, whether "Christian Endeavorers" or not, will be in attendance.

Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost, W. W. Halloway of Dover, N. J., the Rev. C. A. Dickinson of Lowell, Mass., and others.

$3,000 Subscribed for a Mission.

The congregation at the Crescent Avenue church was given a surprise yesterday morning by the pastor, the Rev. W. R. Richards, and the manner in which it was received was most gratifying. Mr. Richards announced in his sermon that the pastor and Session of the Muhlenberg Hospital on which they propose to erect the church now occupied by the Bethel Mission on Fifth street. All that is desired is enough money to complete the new Bethel Mission, and he therefore asked them to contribute the sum of $4,000 to carry out the two projects of their standing committee. Slips of paper were circulated by the officers, and subscriptions were taken amounting to $3,800. As there were some members of the congregation absent the entire amount is virtually secured. The new mission near Muhlenberg Hospital will be called Hope Chapel.

The Reform Club.

Mr. A. S. Haines of Netherwood delivered an interesting address at Reform Hall last evening. He is interested in temperance work among the commercial travellers of the country and his remarks at the Reform Club meeting were full of knowledge that he has gained in following up his labors.

The Rev. W. E. Honeyman will deliver the first of a winter series of free lectures Thursday evening. His subject will be "Mormonism as I saw It." Lectures by other local ministers will be announced later.

Union County Courts.

Saturday morning a busy session of the Court of Common Pleas was held at Elizabeth and action was taken in the matter of tavern license applications postponed from a recent session.

In the case of Emanuel Rebel of Cranford the court decided that the application should be granted.

Witnesses were examined in the case of William Delaney of Summit and the decision was reserved.

—Messrs. Thatcher, Primrose & West's renowned minstrels are now exhibiting at the Grand Opera House, New York.

—Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M., have made preparations for a highly enjoyable time at their rooms to-morrow night, when the Master's Degree will be conferred. The ceremony will be private, as it always is, but the delights of the supplementary banquet a very few from the outside world may possibly enjoy. The special feature of the occasion will be the presence of the Most Worshipful Grand Master of the State and all the associate grand officers. A delegation from New Brunswick will be present.

Ice House Burned.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The ice houses of Lincoln Ice Company, four in number, located on Wrightwood avenue, in Lake View, were destroyed by fire last evening, involving a loss of $17,000. The fire started from an unknown cause, in a bundle of hay in a wagon shed adjoining the ice houses. Mr. P. J. McGinnis, president of the company, stated there were thirty-five hundred tons of ice stored in the buildings, all of which was melted. The loss on ice is about $7,000 and on buildings, $10,000; insured for $2,500.

Gatling Guns for Lynchers.

PERU, Ind., Oct. 24.—Rumors were rife upon the streets yesterday that lynchers were coming to hang Bill Green, the brother of Amer, who was hanged by a mob near Delphi. Nothing definite can be learned. Gov. Gray has telegraphed the sheriff of this county to protect the prisoners at all hazards, and as a consequence an extra force of deputies have been sworn. Gatling guns have been placed in the jail corridor, and the jail is patrolled nightly.

A Government Vessel in Peril.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 24.—The wind is blowing a gale, and great excitement is caused by the receipt of the following telegram by Captain Waters, Assistant Inspector of the Third Life Saving District:

"POINT JUDITH, Oct. 24.—Schoolship is anchored about nine miles west of station.

"She shows no signals. The wind is a gale from the southwest. (Signed.) KNOWLES, Keeper."

This is believed to be the training ship Portsmouth, which followed the Saratoga for New York yesterday. If she fails to hold on she will surely go ashore and, it is feared, go to pieces.

The Despatch boat Dolphin has been sent to render assistance.

A Musing.

BY GOOSE QUILL.

[The lines given below were suggested by a conversation in regard to some stones found in one of the recent excavations of an ancient city. The stones presumably belonging to the war-front of a house. It is stated by the paper referred to is "Wade Whipple" of second street, who is a great admirer of charming some writers of the day, known from one end of the Nation to the other.]

My theme is but the buried stones of years,
And yet it must seem bright—it will not bring the tears
To eyes not often dimmed by poet's lay;
For can but rarely finds in verses of to-day
The vivid heart and soul long buried deep.
That these old stones kept hidden by their sleep.
Ashes they only were; they now are brought to light,
And may reveal to us the life so bright.
That once was lived above—around them.
Had they once cut out to them who found them.
The love, and pain, and trials sore,
That hearts had lived in days of yore.
Poor hearts—they're resting from the fight,
Well fought perchance, for freedom and the right—
How would our own hearts then responsive
As if new life returned to one long cold and still.
Oh! that my pen had dropped from eagle's wing!
For then it might the inspiration bring
That enthrawed sometimes comes, with just a
Of heaven-born fancy—almost like a dream
Of better, purer things than earth can give;
A glimpse of that true life, that mortals seldom live.
But still, although this glorious theme my soul has stirred,
My quill—alas!—is from another bird!
And though that bird renown has won by saving for Rome,
And given to all that soft repose in every home,
Yet still its pinion is cold as Pluto's dungeon stone
Its head
From which—except for him—sweet sleep had fled!
Yet still, alas—it always is, in this poor world of ours,
So few can prize the humble needs: they only We long to soar on eagle's wings, and scale the Although it is the quiet one, that often wins But, deep in this poor throbbing heart of mine, I know how well the lesson of the "mused one" shine,
So I must leave these gleams of ancient days,
And may these lines be read by one, whose "Jays For Little Lads and Lasses"—touch the coldest Ho can to these dead stones new life impart;
And as I muse through this dull, stormy cold one
Of long lives lived and died, in the leave old days of years.

The Old and the New.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.—Your correspondent regarding the institution of Plainfield Division, No. 222, S. of T., states that twenty-five members of Howell Division, No. 97, were organized into the new division. The actual number of new members received were eight. Five of this number were from Howell Division.

In justice to the old Division, No. 97, the above statement is made as it might be inferred that the division was weakened by the large depletion, which is not the case. No. 97 expects in the future, as in the past, to do its work for the cause of humanity; and meets every Tuesday evening, corner of Front street and Park avenue.

W. R. MATTOX, W. P. of No. 97.

Flood's Remains Taken Home.

The remains of Patrick A. Flood, the man who was found naked, bleeding and dying in the clump of bushes near Guerrier's hotel on the road leading to New Providence, were taken to his late home in New York Saturday evening. They lay at Ford & Stiles' all the morning, awaiting the action of Coroner Physician Westcott, who at length decided an inquest unnecessary, announcing that Flood died from exposure. The death certificate was issued accordingly. It is thought that Flood had been drinking and was half-crazed with liquor when he dismissed the Fanwood backman at Scotch Plains.

The funeral services were held to-day, in New York. The casket was a handsome one paid for by his brother Charles and furnished by Ford & Stiles.

Sunday Sportsmen Fined.

At an hour after daybreak yesterday Marshal Barlow and Officer Warren Ellis of North Plainfield arrested Ernest L. Marquet of Newark and John Franklin and John Smith of Smalleytown at Mount Bethel, near which place the trio had just been gunning. The prisoners were taken before Mayor Cooley, who fined Marquet and Franklin $25 each and ordered them to pay costs. Smith had three robins in his possession and was fined $5 for each one. The men said that they had no money, and were placed in the lock-up. At five o'clock friends appeared and paid their fines. They were all middle-aged men.

As those making the arrests get by law one half the fines this is a good day's work for Messrs. Becker and Willis.

—The Electric Light Company are to thoroughly reorganize their system of lighting here. Mr. W. H. Moore, the new manager, who took charge the 1st of this month, is to have the changes begun within the next ten days. It appears that by the old plan the lamps are used a much longer time than the company guaranteed them. Of course the light grows poorer after the time guaranteed, and fault is found with the light when it is the lamp that should be changed to insure a proper light. The company now proposes to take care of the lamps and make a regular rate that will keep the light right. Some of the lights only guaranteed to run 600 hours, are still used after running 1,000 hours, and of course the light is not good compared with the fresher lamps. The company also proposes to discontinue the arc lights in North Plainfield altogether.

WESTFIELD.

The work of the fire department at the burning of Lewis R. Hart's residence was commendable.

Wm. A. Brown received the second contract to remove 1500 cubic feet of earth at the Fairview cemetery grounds.

Charles F. Conant was able to be out for a ride last week for the first time since he met with the accident in New York city.

The Republicans of Westfield are jubilant because their popular townsman, James L. Miller, was selected for the nomination for Senator. A large majority is predicted for him.

STATE NOTES.

Snowbirds have put in an appearance in Sussex county, from which local prophets think an early severe winter will follow.

Lewis W. Hildreth of the Cape May Meteorological station has been appointed keeper of 28 persons from drowning during his youthful career.

The Rahway Common Council refuses to adopt Mayor Daly's plan to avail himself of the advantage of the "Martin act" to collect overdue assessments and taxes.

Phillis Van Nostrand, a colored woman, sixty-eight years old, was found dead yesterday morning. She is said to have frozen to death. Elizabeth. She was under arrest for supposed stupid drunkenness, but she was probably ill.

Immense black snakes abound in proximity to the Pine Swamp, in Morris county. Peter Bingler, jr., while out hunting in the vicinity of Columbia, a day or two since shot a snake more than seven feet in length, it is stated. The reptile had often been seen by women and children in the berry fields, and was the terror of the neighborhood.

Mrs. Cooper of Burlington, in a dream a few nights ago, discovered that Mrs. Emma Hillier, who boarded with her, had been murdered and robbed. On awaking she told the circumstance of having the bedroom door open, as she had left it, and, on looking, found it closed. Upon investigating Hillier's room, found the stolen articles. Mrs. Hillier was arrested.

THE GREAT EMANCIPATOR.

Unveiling the Statue of Our First Martyred President.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—On Saturday afternoon, at Lincoln park, in the presence of a vast multitude, little Abe Lincoln, grandson of the great emancipator and son of Hon.

THE LINCOLN MONUMENT.

Robert T. Lincoln, pulled the rope which held the covering, the folds slowly loosened and dropped down at the base, and the tall, erect figure of Abraham Lincoln shone brightly in the sun. After the formal presentation to and reception of the figure by the Lincoln park board, Hon. Leonard Swett, the old-time friend of President Lincoln, was introduced as the orator of the day. In the course of his remarks he said:

A very remarkable and useful trait of his character was that mental equipose which is disturbed at nothing, and diverted from the pathway it had marked out by nothing. Although prosecuting the war simply from a sense of duty and not from a belief in its success, yet he kept right on, and was neither depressed by disaster nor elated by success. He seemed to comprehend the magnitude of the contest in which he was engaged more thoroughly than any other man. In fact, he knew the strength of the contest, and the great man at Washington learned from the end course from his calm sense, to lean upon his own great arm for support.

STARVING AND STUDYING.

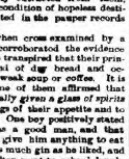
The Pitiable Condition of 4,000 School Children in Vienna.

VIENNA, Oct. 24.—Inquiry recently instituted into the condition of 4,000 Vienna poor attending the elementary schools resulted in appalling disclosures. Upward of 4,000 children from the slums of the city consist almost none of them being on the verge of starvation. A long list of heartrending cases came to light, and no doubt was left that not a few of the pitiable little ones had died of inanition. Their emaciated appearance amply testified to the veracity of the statements personally extracted from them, which revealed a condition of hopeless destitution unprecedented in the pauper records of this capital.

The city press, when cross examined by a relief committee, corroborated the evidence already taken. It transpired that their principal food consisted of dog bread and occasionally a little cheap coffee. It is quite true that some of them affirmed that they were habitually given a glass of spirits to stimulate their appetite and to keep out the cold. One boy positively stated that his father was a good man, and that when he could not give him anything to eat he let him drink as much gin as he liked, and this was why he often went to school drunk. The parents of these starving children are the most part day laborers, though some undoubtedly belong to the respectable class. An appeal to the public is meeting with prompt and liberal response.

For Mayor of Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 24.—The Democratic county convention on Saturday evening nominated Alfred C. Chapin for mayor by a nearly unanimous vote. The result is not a surprise to the party workers, it having been generally conceded, as soon as the withdrawal of Mayor Whitney from the contest was made known, that Mr. Chapin was the strongest candidate the Democrats could place in nomination. Mr. Chapin appeared before the convention and addressed it at some length, promising that if elected he would try to conduct the affairs of the city so as to reflect credit upon Brooklyn, the Democratic party and himself.



A. C. CHAPIN.

Taken to the Asylum.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The Hon. William Hitchman, ex-speaker of the assembly, and one of the leading politicians of this city twenty-five years ago, is now kept in the insane pavilion of Bellevue hospital. Two years ago Mr. Hitchman was stricken with apoplexy. He was slowly recovering from the blow when, in May last, he was seized with a second and more violent stroke, that rendered his condition precarious. He recovered after a long illness, but the shock of the blow had completely left him. His memory failed him, and members of his family claim that he showed signs of general weakness, both physically and mentally. His friends could put no faith in these statements. He showed no signs of mental weakness, beyond a slight confusion of dates and names, when he was away from home. He was never violent.

Another "Liar" Dead.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 24.—Annie Ingraham, who is very much alive instead of being the murdered Rahway girl, was met at Bound Brook yesterday by Detective Gregory and the trunk that she left at Mrs. Wilson's was examined. Annie says that some petticoats and some rings are missing from it. She will go to Rahway to-day to examine the contents. She says the man murdered girl. The detectives profess to have a new theory concerning the article found on the dead girl

IN THE CHEROKEE NATION.

A HOMICIDE THAT MAY RESULT IN CIVIL WAR.

Tragic End of a Political Quarrel Between Rival Editors—The Murderer Not Arrested, and the Victim's Friends Determined on Vengeance.

TALEQUAH, I. T., Oct. 24.—The killing Saturday of Editor B. H. Stone, of The Talequah Telephone, will, it is feared, result this week in a civil war in the Cherokee Nation. The tragedy is a climax in the most bitter political fight that has ever taken place in the territory, and the indications are that the trouble will result in the severance of tribal relations and that the territory will be thrown open to settlers. The Cherokee nation is divided into two political parties—the Nationalists, headed by a half-breed named Rabbit Bunch, and the Downing party, led by a white man named Sam Mays. The Nationalists are now in power, and have controlled the affairs of the Cherokees for more than a dozen years past. Col. Bunch's head is chief and Rabbit Bunch the deputy chief, or second in command. The Cherokee Advocate, the official organ of the Nationalist faction, is owned by the council and the people, and was first established as non-partisan, but of late years it has always supported the administration.

B. H. Stone, the editor of The Telephone, was a white man, and his paper was the recognized organ of the opposition, or Downing party. E. C. Boudinot, Jr., a nephew of Col. Boudinot, is editor of The Advocate. Col. Boudinot, his uncle, was at one time a leader of the Cherokees, but it is alleged that he attempted to defraud the United States government without the knowledge of the council, and for this he was adjudged guilty of treason, and is now living in exile at Fort Smith, Ark. The campaign for the election of a chief of the Cherokees opened in midsummer, and The Telephone at once began to attack the Nationalists. One of the issues of the election was the leasing of the territory known as the Cherokee strip to the cattle men. The Nationalists were in favor of leasing at 3 cents per acre, but the Downing party fought the lease, and charged the administration with corruption. The cattle men had a number of employes in the fight, and, of course, sided with the Nationalists. The candidate of the latter was Bunch, and Mays was put on the track by the Downing party.

The Telephone bristled for weeks with hard things about the Nationalists. It charged the administration with corruption, perjury, and all manner of crimes. The election finally occurred several weeks ago, and amid the greatest excitement the result was footed up. The returns as announced and conceded by the Nationalists showed that Mays was elected chief by 135 votes.

For three weeks The Telephone has been making attacks on Bandinot, alleging that he was not honest in his management of the money appropriated by the council for the expenses of The Advocate. Saturday's issue was unusually severe. Bandinot was asked to account for a certain fund in his hands. When the paper made its appearance it was feared there would be trouble. As soon as Bandinot's attention was called to the article he armed himself and walked into The Telephone office. Stone was alone at his desk. Bandinot asked for a retraction, and it was refused, and Stone ordered him out of the office. Bandinot stepped back, drew a revolver, and the same time reached his hand under the desk, and believing he was reaching for a weapon The Advocate editor pulled his trusty Colt's and fired. The bullet struck Stone in the neck near the carotid artery, and passed out at the base of the skull on the opposite side. He lived only a few hours.

Bandinot walked coolly out of the office, met his brother on the sidewalk, and after a conference went home. He was not arrested, Stone's friends declaring that the cause of death and as they are as strong as the Nationalists it is feared a pitched battle will be the result. Yesterday the leaders of the Downing party all appeared confident that the case would have been sent to all their followers to arm. Bandinot has been taken in charge by his friends, who claim that if he is arrested they will not place him in jail. He is guarded by a party of friends. The council is said to be divided in the election contest, and as there is no regular jail in the nation except the log-gun the indications are that the near future will witness an alarming mortality among the Cherokees.

Afraid Jay Gould Will Capture Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24.—Robert Garrett and party arrived in this city on Sunday on the Pacific coast and Mexico. They go through to Chicago without stop. Just before the train started, Sergeant-at-Arms Johnson, of the Philadelphia common councils, had a few words of conversation with Mr. Garrett, and those on the platform were greatly surprised to hear the ex-president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad say in a loud voice: "The thieves, they stole my telegraph!" He was much excited, and his friends hurried him into the car, but just as the start was made he called out to a friend: "Don't let Jay Gould capture Maryland before I get back." It is not known when Mr. Garrett will return.

Idle Convicts in Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—By to-night the entire system of contract labor at the Western penitentiary will be a thing of the past, and half of the convicts will go back to a state closely bordering on the ancient solitary confinement system. The last contract expires on Nov. 1. It is that of a Chicago firm of shoe manufacturers. There were 300 convicts employed, and they turned out 1,200 shoes per day. The locking up of the convicts employed in the factory began ten days ago, and at present there are over 100 in absolute confinement. They are beginning to complain of this silence, and ask for more work. The contract shops are also established in obedience to a law passed by the last legislature.

Three Persons Killed by an Explosion.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 24.—The oven used for drying sand in the shop of Smith, Sessions & Sons, in Bristol, Conn., exploded with terrible force Saturday, immediately setting the building on fire. There were ten men employed in the shop at the time of the explosion. When the fire was extinguished soon afterward three dead bodies were taken from the ruins. They are Wallace Loring, aged 18 years; Burt Cleveland, aged 15 years, and John Shaine, aged 31 years. The others severely injured are Daniel Griffin, aged 14 years, and Willie Bunnion, aged 15 years. There is no reason given for the explosion, nor is any person responsible for the accident.

Fatally Stabbed Without Cause.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 24.—While on her way from church last night Mrs. Mary Allen was fatally stabbed by an Italian named John Rosso. The attack was apparently unprovoked, and so excited the onlookers that a mob trampled and beat the Italian to insensibility before the police arrived. Rosso was placed in the station house. After recovering consciousness he refused to talk about the affair. The injured woman could not sign no cause for the attack.

A DEFIANT HOME RULER.

Arrest of Wilfred Blunt, the Famous Philanthropist and Anti-Conservative.

DUBLIN, Oct. 24.—Woodford, County Galway, was y sterday the scene of a disturbance that will set back the cause of the government more than anything that has happened for a long time in Ireland. As previously announced, it was intended to hold a Home Rule meeting there yesterday, and accordingly the town was placarded yesterday morning announcing that an indignation meeting against coercion would be held under the auspices of the British Home Rule union, and that Wilfred Blunt, the famous philanthropist and defender of Arabi Pasha, would preside. Mr. Blunt, though a Conservative, but now is an ardent Home Rule advocate, would preside at the meeting, assisted by Mr. James Rowlands, M. P., other British members of parliament.

The government had previously proclaimed the meeting and sent large re-enforcements to the police troops already in the town. Early yesterday the chiefs of the British Union had put under military discipline. Thousands from the neighborhood flocked into town, and the streets were filled with people. The platform for the speakers was erected in a large field behind the main street. When the speakers mounted upon the platform Judge Byrne, the divisional magistrate, forbid Mr. Blunt to hold the meeting.

Thereupon Mr. Blunt defied the police, who were at once ordered to clear the platform. Several policemen seized the bold speaker, who violently resisted being thrown from the platform. Twice he cried out loudly, "Are you men?—cowards that you do not dare to attack me!" The district inspector replied, "I arrest you." Mr. Blunt was then marched off under a heavy escort of police, with his wife following. The people pressing upon the officers and blocking the way, the latter were ordered to charge upon them, which they did, injuring many.

Mr. Blunt is now living in exile with his co-Dreux on the stand, called for three cheers for Blunt, which were heartily given. The fanatics restrained the crowd and kept them from making any disturbance.

Mr. Blunt was taken before two magistrates and commanded to refrain from holding any meeting, but the English member refused to enter into any recognizance, and was remanded in custody. Last evening Mr. Blunt and another prisoner were conveyed to Loughrea jail.

During the row at the platform Constable Connor threw his baton into the air and refused to charge upon the people. He was after ward arrested. The meetings were afterward held on the outskirts of the town, at which Blunt's arrest was denounced.

A FAMOUS AMERICAN DIPLOMAT.

Death of Hon. E. B. Washburne, After a Lingering Illness.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The Hon. Elihu Benjamin Washburne died in this city Saturday night. He was born in Livermore, Me., Sept. 23, 1816, and after an education in the public schools became an apprentice in the office of the Kennebec Journal. His health broke down and he studied law at Hallowell, and after ward in the Cambridge law school. He was admitted to the bar, and began practice at Galena, Ills., in 1842. He was sent from Illinois to the Thirty-third congress as a Whig, and was reelected continuously for sixteen years, always as a Whig and Republican. In 1869 he was appointed by President Grant secretary of state, and resigning soon afterward on account of ill health, was appointed minister to France.

He remained in Paris all through the siege during the Franco-German war, and in the days of the Commune, which followed, being the only foreign minister who did so. His residence and the protection of the interests from illegal violence were so notable that he was tendered by the emperor of Germany the order of the Red Eagle. He was unable, by law, to accept this, but he did accept from the emperor two large oil portraits—one of the emperor himself, and the other of the empress. He is said to have assisted over 5,000 Germans to escape from Paris.

His services to suffering Parisians and foreign citizens generally during these times also brought him the thanks of both the French and other nations. He served as minister until 1877, and then returned to Illinois. Of late he has taken part since in Republican politics, and has been frequently mentioned as a probable candidate for president. He has been very sick for several months.

An Opium Joint Raided.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The police raided a Chinese opium joint in this city last night and arrested two women, one aged 23 and the other 14. The older woman gave the name of Nellie, and said she was the wife of the Chinaman, Frank, who kept the place. She claimed to have come from Philadelphia, and to have married the Chinaman in Saratoga last July. The 14-year-old girl, Maggie Williams, claims to have been brought from Philadelphia by the younger woman, whom she says is Nellie Ashton, under false pretenses. Both women are in the police station. The Chinaman's place was raided about a week ago as a gambling resort. Eleven Chinamen were arrested.

Sharpers Beaten in a $5,000 Game.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Farmer John Meeks, of Lincoln county, purchased a Louisiana state lottery ticket drawing a prize of $5,000. Two young men of Fayetteville learned of Meek's good fortune before he had drawn the money, and bought the ticket at a slight advance over the cost. They then started for New Orleans, but Meeks, learning that his ticket had drawn a prize, employed a lawyer and followed, stopping the delivery of the prize by telegraph. In New Orleans the parties met and the one holding the ticket surrendered it for $7,000. Meeks got his money, paid his lawyer $500 and put the remainder in bank.

The Rev. Dr. Burton's Will.

HARTFORD, Oct. 24.—The will of the Rev. Dr. Burton was offered for probate here today. It bears testimony that he left a number of an estate, his generosity and sympathy having led him to disburse a large portion of his income for charitable and religious work. During the last year an endowment insurance for $5,000 which he held in the Connecticut Mutual Life matured. He also had a $5,000 policy in the company, which is now payable. It is assigned to his widow. The property will go to Mrs. Burton and her son, Richard C. Burton. Judge J. Hurlbut Wells is executor of the will, and is probably the executor.

A Connecticut Homicide.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 24.—In a dispute about a boundary fence Saturday at Preston, Eugene Carroll, a laborer, struck Mrs. Daniel Carroll on the head with a hatchet, fracturing the skull. It is thought the woman will die.

THE SECEDING KNIGHTS.

A FORMAL DECLARATION OF WAR FROM THE MALCONTENTS.

A Provisional Committee Appointed by Thirty-Five Delegates to the Minneapolis Convention, Who Issue a Proclamation Demanding Reorganization.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The dissenters from the action taken at the Minneapolis convention have declared open war with the executive board of the Knights of Labor, and have issued their declaration of independence. On returning from the convention about thirty-five delegates, representing thirteen states, stopped in Chicago and determined to bring about a reorganization of the order. They elected a provisional committee of fifteen members, of which Charles F. Seib was made secretary. A long communication was drafted at Seib's office yesterday and was forwarded to-day in circular form to Knights of Labor all over the country. The following is the communication:

To the rank and file of the order of the Knights of Labor:

Indignant at the usurpation of power, the gross violation of the laws of our order by those high in authority, disgusted with those traitors loyalty to the cause of labor has been gained by the pickings they receive as a reward for their services, incensed at the fawning sycophants who crawl on their knees in slavish submission to the most corrupt, the most hypocritical, the most autocratic and tyrannical clique that has ever controlled any labor organization, we therefore affirm that the time has arrived when the honest men combine, the good must associate, else they will fall, one by one, an unpitied sacrifice to a contemptible struggle. We assert the honest men with the honest men and women, we declare ourselves independent of those who have abused the confidence reposed in them by our order.

Our duty to the working men and women demands that we at once reorganize the order of the Knights of Labor on a basis which will secure the autocracy of the trades and the sovereignty of the districts in all pertaining to their trade and local affairs, and to prevent it from being used in the interests of any set of officers or clique in signing and unscrupulous men, as it is by those now in power.

We submit the following to be the reasons that have compelled this serious action on our part:

First—The general office has become a luxurious haunt for men, whose first aim is to benefit self, peculiarity and otherwise, and is no longer the Jerusalem of the humble and honest Knight.

Second—There has been for more than a year (beginning prior to the Richmond session) an understanding, which, for lack of better word, we will call a conspiracy, for the purpose of holding the salaried positions, elective and appointive, in all under the general assembly.

Third—This conspiracy has used the secret channels and the funds of the order to manufacture sentiment adverse to ourselves and against others. Certain persons, sometimes called "general lecturers," "general organizers," "general instructors," and "general fund agents," other titles have been paid extravagant sums, both as wages and expenses, where their chief work was to "fix" the district officials. The lobbyists of the corporations would turn green with envy did they know the secretaries excellence attained by these bloodhounds of the Knights of Labor.

Fourth—Organizers' commissions have been refused to members who were known to disagree with the methods of the ring, though the applications were indorsed by the district assembly to which applicant belonged, and communications have been recalled because of the refusal of the leaders to fall down and worship the powers that be.

Fifth—District and local assemblies have been suspended or revoked and a charter of a value in the general assembly because they were known as opponents to the policy of the conspirators.

Sixth—Assemblies have been blacklisted and distasting members by the aid of corrupt tools in the district assembly or local assemblies, or both, of such assemblies.

Seventh—The records of the general office have been fixed and doctored so as to rule out or adopt, as the case might be, disposed assembly representatives.

Eighth—You have been admitted as delegates to the general assembly who clearly had no constitutional rights to seats, while others have been denied seats in violation of the most well recognized and established custom. In all cases the test was for or against the ring.

Ninth—Thousands upon thousands of dollars of the order's funds have been illegally expended—frequently against the earnest protest of honest and faithful members of the board. Many salary bills contracted by the families of general officers have been paid out of the order's funds, as have monthly bills of the bar bills. Loans have been donated and loaned to officers and their friends for their own personal use. (d) General officers, organizers and lecturers have not only been paid liberal salaries and allowed heavy expenses from the general assembly, but have charged additional sums to the locality and districts.

Tenth—Honest men devoted to the cause of labor have been made the scapegoats of the blundering high officials, and driven in disgrace from the movement.

Eleventh—Efforts made by assemblies to better their condition have been strangled by the ring, it is charity to say, for no reason except that in response to the clamor of the common enemy of labor.

Twelfth—The boycott has been used to injure the labor press, union establishments, and the publishing houses, and to benefit the few and for the sole purpose of "downing" working men and women who could not be used by the conspirators.

Thirteenth—Persons who were not members of the order have been provided for personal reasons, with lucrative positions in the general office.

Fourteenth—The constitution has been altered in an illegal manner; it has been tampered with, and measures inimical to the interests of the order at large have been railroaded into what is called "law."

Fifteenth—War has been waged by the administration ring against the trade unions and trades districts. The motto of the ring has been: "Down with trades districts; exterminate the trades unions." This is one of our chief reasons to "extend a helping hand to all branches of honorable toil."

Sixteenth—Nearly every important strike or lockout in which the general officers interfered was lost.

Seventeenth—As a result of this blundering policy which, incompetent and stupidly arbitrary in the extreme, the membership of the order has decreased 217,324 members in one year.

Eighteenth—In spite of the decrease of membership, the ring has increased general expenditures of the general officers to $500,000.

Nineteenth—There was no itemized account of receipts and expenditures published, as required, as had formerly been the custom, or to the general assembly.

Twentieth—In the general assembly arguments were met by ban-ombe; gag law was reduced to a fine art, and the will of the majority overruled; outrageous decisions rendered; appeals and protests ignored, all for the purpose of covering up the disgraceful work of the ring.

All local and district assemblies in accord with the above declaration, or desiring information, will please address, Charles F. Seib, secretary of the provisional committee.

Justice After Twenty-three Years.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 24.—David Roberts has been on trial for murder in the Morgan county, Ky., circuit court and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. In 1884 he killed J. L. Kendall, of West Liberty, was arrested, escaped and went west, where he became a prominent citizen. A short time since a son of Kendall learned where he was, and, procuring a requisition, had him arrested and brought to Kentucky for trial. Roberts is about 70 years old.

AN INDIANA LYNCHING.

A Mob Breaks in the Jail Door to Secure a Noted Criminal.]

DELSI, Ind., Oct. 24.—About midnight Saturday a mob of 150 men broke in the jail here and took away the prisoner Amer Green, confined there and awaiting trial for abduction and the murder of Luella Mabbitt, a farmer's daughter. The jail was guarded and the sheriff had taken no extra precautions.

The mob was organized in the eastern part of Carroll county and in Cass county, from the vicinity of Young America, where Green and his victim lived. They came in about two bands of 75 each, and all the party were armed to the teeth. They made no demand of the sheriff until after breaking in the wooden door leading to his apartments. They then asked for the keys of the jail. As the sheriff refused to give the keys up the men took a sledgehammer, broke open the iron doors and secured the prisoner. He resisted with all his giant strength, but was overpowered, and hurried into a covered wagon held in waiting. The whip was applied, and the horses driven at full speed across Deer Creek, south of the town, where other teams were waiting. The procession then proceeded to Walnut grove, about seven miles south, and reached there at 5 a. m.

Amer Green was one of the most desperate criminals that ever afflicted Indiana. In August, 1886, he abducted and is supposed to have murdered Luella Mabbitt, a farmer's daughter. He was captured in Texas in July last, with his brother, Bill Green, also a desperate character, and brought to Michigan City for protection from mob violence. Amer's case would have come up here to-day on a motion of change of venu.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—Governor Gray expresses unqualified disapproval and disgust at the laxity of the authorities of Carroll county, and has addressed a letter to Sheriff Cox calling them to account for failing to "take measures to prevent the re-enactment of mob violence, which is rapidly bringing the state of Indiana into public disgrace."

MUTINOUS MARINES.

Drunken Privates Slashed with a Sword by Sergt. Mather.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—It has just leaked out that an incident riot occurred in the marine barracks at the Brooklyn navy yard on the night of Oct. 15. A number of the marines were drunk, and one of their number, named Harrigan, danced a lively jig for the amusement of his comrades. Sergt. Callahan, who was acting corporal, suddenly appeared on the scene, and in a fit of high temper by the collar attempted to drag him to the guard house. The latter resisted and struck the sergeant with a fist. The sergeant sought assistance and returned to the barracks. In the meantime thirty-two of the men succeeded in making their escape by climbing over the fence. Many of their number ran out of the yard. The men adjourned to the nearest grog shop and after drinking quite freely returned to their quarters about 2 a. m. The guards were ordered to fire upon any of the rioters' and on the men entering their quarters the guards seized Private Farley. He struck Sergeant Mather with a sword, while his sword and slashed privates Farley and Kelly over the head. Both were then conveyed to the guard house bleeding profusely. The rest of the mutineers were overpowered and put under lock and key.

THE GEORGE-SHEVITCH DEBATE.

A Large, Good-Natured and Enthusiastic Audience in Attendance.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The joint debate between Henry George and S. E. Shevitch, asked for by the latter, as to the relative merits of the United Labor and the Socialistic Labor party, took place at Miner's Eighth Avenue theatre last evening. The crowd seeking admittance was so great that the police had to interfere to assure the crush. Hundreds turned away, unable to get into the building. The arrangements provided for admission by ticket of equal numbers of each party, and this plan was carried out as near as could be ascertained at the door.

Samuel Gompers, President of the Trades Federation, presided. Mr. Shevitch led off with an address on the Socialistic theory, and wound up with a personal attack upon Mr. George as an ambitious charlatan. Mr. George followed in an argument for the United Labor party theory, free from all attack from personality. The audience was good-natured, orderly and enthusiastic.

Two Brothers Killed by an Explosion.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The boiler of the steam launch Mary, at the foot of East One Hundred and Sixteenth street burst yesterday, killing John and Patrick Cunningham, brothers, and seriously injuring James Cunningham, another brother. Carl F. Schmeddtke, the principal owner of the launch, was also slightly injured. The Mary was not quite finished, and the young men were about to take her to Oak Point and lay her up for the winter, when the accident occurred. Mr. Cunningham leaves a widow and three children.

Convicts Confirmed at Trenton.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 24.—Fifty-nine male and three female convicts were confirmed in the State prison yesterday afternoon. The ceremonies took place in the chapel at 4 o'clock vespers, and Bishop O'Farrell officiated, assisted by Vicar General Smith and other clergy of the Trenton diocese. Three hundred people looked on while the bishop performed the rite. They had contributed $50 for three pairs of brass candlesticks which were on the altar. Bishop O'Farrell made a most earnest address before the confirmation, and some of the convicts were visibly affected.

Mr. Beecher's Possible Successor.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 24.—Rev. Charles H. Berry, of Wolverhampton, England, preached in Plymouth church again yesterday, and his sermon was the subject of discussion produced by him on the audience the previous Sunday was fully sustained. It is the general opinion that Mr. Berry will receive a call to fill Mr. Beecher's place. Mr. Berry sails for Europe on Wednesday. If he is selected as Mr. Beecher's successor, he will probably be in the pulpit in one month.

Weather Indications.

For Tuesday, in New Jersey, eastern New York, eastern Pennsylvania, and in New England, generally cooler, partly cloudy to fair weather, probably light to fresh winds, mostly stationary, followed by lower temperature

ALL QUIET IN LONDON.

NO ATTEMPT BY THE POLICE TO SUPPRESS THE MEETINGS.

But They Are Careful to Convince the Multitudes of Their Reserved Strength. Violent Utterances, but No Violent Acts. Mr. Chamberlain's American Visit.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—To the astonishment of everybody, and no one more than the Socialists and alleged unemployed workers themselves, the Socialistic leaders attended the projected meetings, which they had previously all but prohibited, to be held in Trafalgar square, Cheriens well green and other places yesterday. The crowds at all of the meetings were enormous, but there was no attempt at violence, and what little disorder there was was so slight as to call for no special activity on the part of the police. The speeches at the different stands were violent enough to have incited men to riotous demonstrations who had not half the cause to rebel against society that these men profess to have, yet, beyond the applause of the multitudes indorsing the sentiments of the speakers, there occurred nothing to denote that the advice of the leaders was heeded by their followers.

The enthusiasm, always at high temperature, was raised to white heat by the assertion of some of the speakers that if the police had not permitted the meeting bloodshed would have inevitably followed, and by the statement that there is to be no peace is generally admitted. The absence of rioting, however, was by no means due to the peaceful disposition of the mobs. On the contrary, they were amply prepared to quell any disturbance that might arise and pains were taken to have the mob made aware of their precautions and determination to avail themselves thereof.

Everybody is convinced that the police acted wisely in permitting the meetings, while holding the mob in check, as they gave the blatant orators opportunity to open their safety valves and exhaust the pressure of their feelings in words strong enough to have stirred any mob to violent deeds, yet which excited nothing more harmful than approving shouts. The storm is passed and the damage is inflicted is not apparent.

Mr. Chamberlain has completed his arrangements to sail for America next Saturday, it is announced that he will make only a brief visit to New York and then proceed to Washington, from which city, after having he will make a tour of Canada. It is asserted that he will make no public speeches while in America, and this is probably true with regard to his visit to Canada, but it is thought to be doubtful that he can resist the temptation to indulge in his propensity for public declamation, to which end he will suggestions ably be subjected in Canada, and likely the Orangemen of Toronto and Kingston will be told the oft repeated story of the good Uncle Sam stories and the last Thanksgiving.

The American Exhibition will be closed on Oct. 31, after which date Buffalo Bill and his Wild West show—the man and the horses—will be the principal feature to detract from falling completely—will go to Birmingham, thence to Manchester. The close of the exhibition will be marked by a banquet of prominent Americans and Englishmen to discuss the question of international arbitration, the conspicuous Englishmen who have promised to attend being Lord Wolseley, the Marquis of Bristol, John Bright and the Earl of Derby.

ISLANDS OF SAMOA.

LOCATION OF GERMANY'S TROUBLE IN THE CORAL ISLANDS.

General Description of the Natives, Their Customs and Costumes—Picture of Apia, the Capital, and the King and His Orator—Map of the Islands.

MANY signs indicate that Germany is aiming at the establishment of a colonial system by seizing on whatever valuable islands England has neglected.

Having settled his recent misunderstanding with France, and cast off the Russians for the present, compromised with the pope and enlarged the regular army, Bismarck has leisure to prosecute his long shelved design of getting possession of the Samoan Islands. The latest news from these islands of the blest and lazy by the monthly steamer to San Francisco, which left Samoa Sept. 15, is that King Malietoa and all his loyal chiefs and warriors are in the mountainous interior, in hostile camps, while a rebel chief holds the coast and capital, supported by the German fleet and directed by the German consul. Unless other nations interfere we may expect to learn, early in 1888, that all Samoa is a German insular province, so the history and stat stics of the island are well worth looking into.

Samoa, better known as the Navigators' Islands, consists of a group of nine islands to the South Pacific ocean, on latitude 13 degs. and 14 degs. south and stretching from 169 degs. to 173 degs. west longitude. The nine inhabited islands contain but 1,125 square miles and scarcely 36,000 native inhabitants, but the level lands are of great fertility, the harbors are commodious and the climate delightful—so there is room for a vast development. And as the best harbor is on the direct route from San Francisco to Australia, the English and Americans think they have some rights in the settlement of ownership. Apia, the capital, shown in the initial letter cut at the head of this article, is situated on this harbor, and has a native population of 200 or 300, with about 100 white foreigners; there all the consuls reside, and there the king and his officers generally lived till the Germans chased them into the mountains. There are extensive missionary establishments on the islands, and most of the business is done by German firms, with headquarters in Hamburg. The mercury rarely rises above 88 degs. and never falls below 58 degs.; the usual range for the year is but 15 degs. The soil is enriched by decomposed lava and iron, and all the interior of the large islands is densely clad with tropical forests of very valuable timber. There is abundant rain the year round, and all tropical products grow well. The principal crops gathered by the natives are cocoanuts and bread fruit, and these make the main export; but there are all the requirements for a large growth and export of sugar, coffee, lemons, oranges, tobacco and sea island cotton. The native Samoans are universally pronounced the best people of the South Pacific. They are cleanly, kind, peaceful and nominally Christians; but, as might be expected from their habitat, they are not industrious, nor are they easily provoked to war. The government is a mild and paternal monarchy, and the family of Malietoa has furnished the king for so many generations that only a tradition exists of any other condition, that tradition being that the first Malietoa drove out a hostile race many centuries ago.

Such is Samoa; and Malietoa reigned in peace till the Hamburg firm gained commercial control of Apia. Malietoa had organized a very liberal government on the British model, and foreigners had the same rights as in British ports; both England and the United States had officially recognized the government and had consuls there. In 1875 a German agent, Steinberger, encouraged a rebellion; the home government disowned his act but did not prevent further action. In 1884 King Malietoa was induced to sign a treaty making his kingdom a German dependency; the English and American consuls protested and prevented the ratification of the treaty. In 1885 the German consul hoisted the German flag over that of Samoa, and announced that he had taken temporary possession until he could obtain satisfaction for injuries alleged to have been done to German traders. There was another protest, and Bismarck disavowed the consul's action. Again in January, 1886, the Samoan flag was hauled down by some German sailors and no reparation made. A German fleet of four ships arrived in May, but the feeling was too hostile to admit of friendly intercourse with the king, who applied to Mr. Greenebaum, the American consul. The latter, with the full approval of all other consuls and all foreign residents except the Germans, hoisted the American flag over the Samoan fort and assumed a temporary protectorate. As soon as our government could confer with others, Secretary Bayard last July sent Mr. George H. Bates, of Wilmington, Del., as commissioner to Samoa, with full power to confer with other national commissioners and settle the little kingdom on a permanent basis, to be guaranteed by the great powers.

But the Germans did not choose to wait and also protested, and on the 19th of August their four ships of war landed in front of the government house at Apia and made a military demonstration. The German consul, Becker, demanded of the king $13,000 and an "ifa"—a form of apology which is freely translated, "Crawl on the belly and lick that which is dirty." The king replied that he would consult with his officials. Next morning 1,000 marines landed from the German ships and captured all the arms and boats of the native soldiers; but the king escaped to the interior. War was formally declared by the Germans, and they are prosecuting it with vigor—against rocks and mountains, forests and the vitiating grass of the interior jungles, rather than against the king, who has so far chiefly resisted by remaining at a distance. But as the enemy close in on him his chiefs are beginning to fight. Meanwhile the Germans have officially recognized Tamasese, the rebel chief, who is installed in the government house as king, but is practically a mere tool of Consul Becker. The British consul general and British consul protested, of course, but were told that war was now in progress and civil measures must await the latter two positively refuse to recognize Tamasese and have issued a protesting proclamation. For many days the commissioner Bates was in Apia even in great terror, as the rebel troops held the town at their mercy; but when the monthly steamer left no one had been injured. Meanwhile the Germans had burned one considerable coast town, captured a bush village in the interior and killed perhaps a dozen natives. Such is the peculiar condition Mr. Bayard's peace commissioner finds in Samoa, and so the matter may become one of grave international complications.

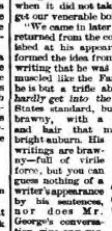
We present portraits of King Malietoa and his principal speaker, which show the native type very well. The Samoans are of about the same height and build as Americans, of a dark olive color, with straight hair, good features and a pleasing cast of countenance. A traveler's report explores much of the wonderful contrast between them and the savage Feejeeans, their neighbors.

MARIA MULOCK.

Recent Death of the Author of "John Halifax, Gentleman."

Many thousand Americans will feel that in the death of Dinah Maria Mulock Craik they have lost a personal friend; for in her writings there was a strange and subtle charm which made her seem to the reader a personal interest in the writer. Though her novels were not developed on the basis of any "deep plot," and though the style was seemed childishly simple, yet they roused an interest hard to describe. One felt a consciousness that the writer was striving against sorrow, and even though her best known works there runs a vein of sadness. Hers was, in fact, a rather sad life, but she bore up against many misfortunes with a spirit of heroic fortitude.

Dinah Maria Mulock, born at Stoke-upon-Trent, in Staffordshire, England, in 1826, was the daughter of a clergyman of the Established church, who died while she was still young, leaving her mother but a small annuity. The mother died, also, while her two younger brothers were boys, and in the hope of maintaining and educating these boys she began her writings, obtaining some success from the start. But the older of the two brothers had but completed his course and secured a position in South America when he died, and not long afterward the other was accidentally killed; so Miss Mulock was alone in the world. Her first novel, "The Ogilvies," published in 1840, soon attained quite a success. In 1850 she published "Olive," in 1853, "The Head of the Family" and "Alice Learmont," in 1852, "Agatha's Husband" and several short stories for young people. In 1857 appeared her best known work, "John Halifax, Gentleman." Thereafter her life was somewhat easier, and she produced many books, large and small, in some of which more quiet humor and geniality appeared. In 1864 the government settled a literary pension of £90 a year on Miss Mulock, and in 1865 she was married to Mr. George Lillie Craik, an officer in the English army, some years younger than herself. They lived very happily together, and their home at Richmond was quite attractive. She died there on the 11th of October.



MRS CRAIK.

Mrs. Craik's neglect to fix her name to her earlier publications was the cause of a very curious literary controversy several years ago. Mrs. Grayville Wyse claimed to be the author of "John Halifax," and her claim was admitted by several critics till the real author came forward and proved her work. She also had another curious, almost painful, experience which the readers of current literature will recall. It arose from the fact that she began writing when one view of woman's nature and true position in society was almost universally held, and continued it when long after a totally different view had obtained in many circles, while she retained her earlier views. She maintained broadly that equality, in the sense in which agitators use the word, between man and woman is simply impossible, and that woman must expect much influence in the development of an entirely different mind and character. In one of her articles she says that woman cannot be happy as man, but only as the elder, mother or companion of man; for there is an inherent, an indestructible desire in woman to "look up to" some one, totally unlike herself, not only to love but to almost worship him; that if she cannot find such a one she will still mentally create him and be ready to merge her identity in him. Though this view, attacked at the time as extreme, appears to be somewhat modified in her later writings, she still adhered to the general statement that with very rare (she implies unnatural) exceptions woman must find her happiness in physical and political dependence on man, striving at the same time to maintain an emotional superiority. In short, she held in its entirety the "oak and ivy" theory, which is a standing subject of ridicule by our woman suffragists. Yet she insists that it is woman's right and duty to hold man to a strict moral accountability, and in the failure to do this she finds the one almost universal and heinous sin of woman in society.

THE GEORGE PARTY.

NOTES OF A VISIT TO THE LAND REFORMER'S HEADQUARTERS.

How the Leader of the United Labor Party Looks—An Artist Working Under Difficulties—Secretary Clark—Something of Shevitch, the Socialist.

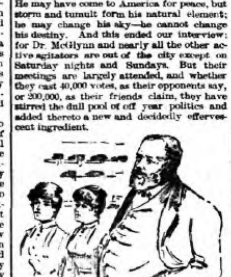
S. E. SHEVITCH.

OT long ago a special commissioner of this paper, located in New York, started out, accompanied by an artist, to do the Anti-Poverty men and headquarters of Gotham, and this is what he writes:

"It is the most natural thing in all nature that the Georgite land tax theory should gain converts fast in a region of high priced dirt like New York city, and few in the low land west; so the fame of the Georgites of this city has waxed great, making the party a matter worthy attention. In pursuit thereof we climbed to the sanctum of The Standard, as the corner of Ann and Nassau streets, only one flight up, but the youthful secretary of Mr. Henry George. But he is a character, just in the most attractive stage of ardent youth, and as full of Georgeism as an egg is of albumen. It was refreshing to listen to him. It always is pleasant to listen to a young fellow whose hearty enthusiasm has not been chilled by the cold, hard necessities of life. So, God bless the ardent young men—it does us old ones good to hear them and recall the time when it did not take half so long as now to get our venerable boilers full of steam.

"We came in later to find Mr. George, just returned from the country; and I was astonished at his appearance. I had somehow formed the idea from his masculine style of writing that he was about six feet high and muscled like the Farnese Hercules; in truth he is but a trifle above five feet, and could hardly get into the army by the United States standard, but is deep chested and brawny, with a bright expressive eye, and that which may politely be styled bright auburn. His writings are brawny—full of virile force, but you can guess nothing of a writer's appearance by his conversation nor does Mr. George's conversation give any suggestion of his writing. Orators nearly always show something of their talent by talk and manner; painters have the air of a horse jockey at a glance. He might as well wear a tag. Not so the author. How often will you read a production in which the sentences make you young again, the paragraphs ring as a gift of whisky. No, you really must not judge of an author's physique by his style, and except the deep chest and stocky arm there is nothing about Mr. George to suggest the author of "Progress and Poverty" and inventor of a new system of political economy. Just now he is one of the busiest men in New York, and is of course confident, like all reformers, that the cause is destined to a speedy triumph.

"From The Standard office we went to the Cooper Institute and headquarters of the Anti-Poverty society, where we found active Secretary Clark surrounded by a bevy of handsome young ladies who were mailing documents enough to convert the world, if the bright smiles of said assistants could have accompanied each document. Down to this point the artist had got along very well; but the more he tried to take a sketch of Secretary Clark, the more ladies would get into his sketch book. This accompanying cut shows the strange, but not unpleasing, result. Secretary Clark looks the born Radical—the man destined to stir up the stagnant and upset things. His experience in Ireland is just what one might have expected from his pronounced Celtic features, mobile eyes and somewhat light hair, of which the latter may be said to be red-hedlarity in Ulster. He may have come to America for peace, but storm and tumult form his natural element; he seems to change his air—he cannot change his destiny. And this ended our interview; for Dr. McGlynn and nearly all the other active agitators were out of the city except on Saturday nights and Sundays. But their meetings are largely attended, and whether they cast 40,000 votes, as their opponents say, or 100,000, as their friends claim, they have stirred the dull pool of off year politics and added thereto a new and decidedly offensive ingredient.



SECRETARY CLARK AND HIS YOUNG LADIES.

"The Anti-Poverty society is a totally distinct organization from Henry George's land tax United Labor party, though they aim at the same end and are harmonious. Dr. McGlynn is certainly one of the former. It is social, literary and semi-religious, while the other is purely political. The distinction is just about the same as between total abstinence societies and prohibitionists; all of the one class are not of the other, but they "incline." So not quite all the Anti-Poverty sympathizers are Henry George men, but they affiliate well, and the former party has a charm the other lacks, viz.: the active participation of many attractive and intelligent ladies.

"From the United Labor party's office in Ann street to the Progressive Labor party's rooms at No. 186 William street is but a few steps, and the names would indicate but a trifling difference; yet Mr. George at the former and Mr. Shevitch at the latter will tell you that the difference is world wide. Like the homoousian and the homoiousian of the early Christians, these names, so near alike, are those of the two most determinedly hostile parties in the state. The George men refuse all fellowship with the Shevitch men and stigmatize them as socialists; the latter ridicule the single land tax theory of the Georgites as a 'pure cranberry,' and claim that their method alone will solve the problem. We found them a most agreeable and well informed set.

"Sergius E. Shevitch is physically a great contrast to Henry George, being of the big Russian type. He is a fine looking man of 40 years with an ample forehead, clear, gray eye, and face indicative of much will. He is a native of Russia, member of a very old and distinguished family, and a graduate of both the Berlin and Moscow universities, entitled to tack LL. D. to his name, as well as several minor titles of learning. He is quite a linguist; speaks English, Russian and German with most graceful fluency, French and Italian sufficiently for ordinary business, and reads the classic authors like a German professor. The English and German he is a most pleasing speaker; but in the twelve years he has been in America his native Russian has become a trifle rough on the tongue. He was a Liberal from his youth, and at an early age received a pressing invitation to leave Russia. Fortunately for him he got away before the coming of the 'Black Terror,' as the Russians call the system now prevailing there. Mr. Shevitch is making arrangements for his public debate with Mr. George, which is to begin on Monday evening, October 24. It was to have begun a week earlier, but the attack on the Progressive Labor party's meeting in Union square, on the night of the 10th, and the indignation meeting in consequence, exhausted his time. So it has been thought best to postpone the debate until the temper of both sides had cooled down a trifle. As Mr. Shevitch in The Leader office was a band of writers, speakers and workers for the cause, chiefly Europeans."

FATHER MATHEW'S MONUMENT.

Recently Dedicated in Salem, Mass., with Great Enthusiasm.

Father Theobald Mathew, the Irish apostle of temperance, now has a splendid statue at Salem, Mass., which duly commemorates his work. A stranger to American institutions might have thought the day the monument was unveiled was being celebrated in Salem as one of America's greatest anniversaries, for the demonstration was the greatest ever known in that city. Every kind of display was made, and every local society joined in the procession, and every railroad brought immense delegations from all the neighboring cities and towns. The officials and clergy took a prominent part, and the people of the adjacent country turned out almost en masse.

The monument consists of statue and pedestal—the former life size and of the purest Italian marble; the latter a nine feet cube of light blue granite, from the Quincy, Ma. Its history is interesting. For several years the Father Mathew Total Abstinence society and other young temperance men of Salem have been collecting funds for a memorial. The idea, for instance, who first suggested the needed photographs and paintings from which the statue was designed. Mr. Horgan then advertised that he would present it to a society that should succeed in collecting a certain sum, not less than $1,000. The Salem society soon raised the amount, and the city council granted a location in one of the principal squares. The pedestal of light blue granite is beautifully polished and harmonizes well with the white statue. The center stone bears the inscription:

FATHER MATHEW'S MONUMENT.

Erected by the followers of Rev.
THEOBALD MATHEW,
Apostle of Temperance.
Born, Oct. 10, 1790.
Died Dec. 8, 1856.

Below this an eagle's head discharges a stream of water into a half bowl. Mr. William F. Cass made the presentation speech. Maj. Raymond responded briefly and then Rev. Father Coffey delivered the oration of the day—a production very highly praised.

Father Mathew, born in 1790, was a hard working priest in Cork in 1835, when a temperance movement was begun there by the noted Quaker, William Martin, and other Protestant gentlemen. Most of the population being Catholics, they appealed to Father Theobald Mathew for help; he acceded and at once entered upon his career.

William Smith O'Brien, himself no mean orator, said of him: "Whether he be canonized or not, I regard him as an apostle specially deputed by the Almighty and gifted with powers almost miraculous. To no human agency can I ascribe his success." After doing his work in Ireland, Scotland and England, in June, 1849, he came to America and was everywhere received with high honors. At Mrs. Greenville Wyse's estates, spoke in 300 towns and cities and administered the pledge to over 600,000 persons. But it wore him out. He lingered a short time in weakness and died Dec. 8, 1856.

The Prince of Wales.

"You ask me if I have anything to say about the Prince of Wales. Well, my impression of the Prince of Wales may be of interest. I had the honor of dining and lunching with his royal highness, and was impressed with the fact that the prince was one of the best informed Englishmen, particularly on American affairs, that I had ever met. He takes the most lively and sincere interest in all that goes on in the United States, and is very earnest in the desire that the relations between the two countries be cordial and harmonious."

The king of Saxony has opened at Dresden the first German exhibition of winter colors. All the European nations save the British are represented in the 2,000 specimens.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

One danger of female suffrage is that the women may want the men to bet them $50 bonnets against $5 hats on the result.—Baltimore American.

"Why do plots thicken on the stage?" asks a western exchange. Because they don't very well be any thinner. That's one reason.—New York Mail.

The English house of lords now rejoices in a new and appropriate title—the house of landlords.—Chicago Journal.

Mrs. Langtry declares that she is passionately fond of farming. So are most people who don't have it to do.—Burlington Free Press.

Journalism in Texas is looking up. A San Angelo editor was not only saluted as "brother" at a Methodist meeting, but was trusted to pass around the hat.—Omaha World.

"He is a man who has suffered much," says a country exchange, and a few lines further on irreverently adds: "He has been a subscriber to this paper since its first number."—Philadelphia Call.

"Did your husband see his picture we printed last Sunday?" asked an editor. "Yes, he saw it." "Just gave it a cursory glance, I suppose?" "No, sir; he gave it a cursory swear word."—Washington Critic.

Barber (to customer)—You are quite bald, sir. Customer (who isn't conversationally inclined)—Yes, I was born that way.—The Epoch.

A miner undergoes a medical examination and then says: "Doctor, how much are you going to stick me for?" "Not a centime," says the doctor. "Receive my thanks, but really you are too generous! I don't know what I might—" "Oh, never mind, says the doctor, "your heirs will pay me."—French paper.

He—Did you enjoy the sermon? She—Of course I did. I had on a new hat and dress and the sexton seated me directly in front of that dreadful Miss Briggs.—New York Sun.

The modern Tantalus—a hungry man struggling with a hot oyster stew.—Boston Beacon.

"It seems very strange," growled Dubley, "that if there is plenty of room at the top, as the papers say, that the fellows on top hate to make room for a new man. I begin to suspect that the top is crowded."—Philadelphia Call.

"How did you begin life?" the young man asked the great man. "I didn't begin it," truthfully replied the great man. "It was here when I got here."—Philadelphia Call.

A Georgia paper says that Mr. Wheeler, of Hancock county, cut a watermelon a few days ago, and when it was split it displayed a distinctly formed "w" on both halves. This must have been one of the melons that will "w" up.—Morristown Herald.

This is the composition a new teacher had the pleasure of hearing read in a school not far from Concord: "Going to School—I like to go to school when we have a good teacher. I don't like to go to school this term."—Concord Monitor.

"Say, chappie, do you think of what you are reading when you're studying law?" "Certainly, don't you?" "A—no; the latest opera keys running through my head all the time, you know."—Harper's Bazar.

Doctor (musingly)—Searching for de brain, Mr. Webster, am what takes up de time ob dem slow fevers.—Texas Siftings.

Uses of Parties.

Omaha Boy—Pop, are political parties good for anything?

Wise Citizen—Indeed they are, my boy. Good citizens would be badly off if it wasn't for the political parties. They are controlled by certain men that we all know.

"Oh, yes. And then when these men make the nominations you know who to vote for?"

"No, indeed. We know who to vote against."—Omaha World.

Pleasure of Travel.

Fair Tourist—And haven't you been away this summer at all?

Omaha Man—Haven't stirred a step from Omaha.

"What a shame! During all this warm weather I have been up in Manitoba."

"Delightful; perfectly delicious. I nearly froze."—Omaha World.

Sinker Than Ancient Meat.

Patron—That last meat you sold me was stale.

Butcher—Was it?

Butcher—Your account on my books.—Omaha Herald.

Apostles of Cremation.

"Miss Susie," asked Gus Prattle, "are you in favor of cremation after death?"

"No, Mr. Prattle," said Susie, naively. "But I believe thoroughly in the cremation about seventeen years after birth. I was 17 last Monday, you know."

She got the kind of cremation she believed in.—Rahway Advocate.

In Spite of the Interstate Law.

"I want to go to Albany, Mr. Depew. Will you pass me on your road?"

"Certainly. You will go up as far as Smyrna Dayvil, or somewhere along there, and stand there till our train comes along and we'll pass you like a streak of lightning. I'll warrant you."—Yonkers Gazette.

Euthornton Euther.

The following poem is a perfect gem. It is very deep, and we don't know what it means; but the enthusiastic Browning admirers to whom we have submitted it declare it exquisitely beautiful:

BY ROBERT BROWNING.

She the phoenix flutter—
(Worlds grow old and perish)
Sun-bird's down-feathers two.
Non-classic butter,
Shades of Leonard Grosch,
What is time to you?

So the demon vexed her
(Of it, whence and wherefore!)
Melanie, not and song.
Bother, Bobert, Buddha,
Social, Soda and therefore—
I have talked too long.

—New Brunswick is becoming unusually religious. One by one the barbers there are deciding to close their shops each Sunday, and now the Custom Company inspects its boilers on week-days instead of on Sunday, as has been done heretofore.

—A man who evidently did not believe in anything going to waste took a number of the sels which had been killed by the water-wheel of French's Mill last week, and after supplying them in a piece of paper, walked off saying that he would cook them.

—Joseph T. Vail, the agent for the New Hampshire Insurance Company, had the property of Rev. Joseph R. Cleaver, which was burned on Sunday, insured for $4,000. He had the adjuster on the premises yesterday and the loss was adjusted at $450, a draft for which amount was received this morning by Mr. Vail, who points to the matter as an evidence of the promptness of his Company in settling claims.

—The Union County Young Republican League held a spirited meeting at Elizabeth last Friday evening. Seventeen new members were elected. A number of subjects pertaining to the interests of the League were taken up and freely discussed. Arrangements were made to attend a grand ratification meeting, to be held in Westfield next Saturday night, fuller particulars of which will be given; but the regular meeting of the League, on next Friday evening is not to be omitted.

—We wish to again inform our friends that Nathaniel Laing is not employed in this office. He was formerly employed here and taught whatever he could be learned of the newspaper business, but was enticed to "our friend, the enemy," some months ago, when he was beginning to be of some service to us. It seems necessary to state this to prevent persons who have a matter to get written inserted in this paper from being deceived. Deceit was never taught the individual in this office. He is low-sized, has a red face, red moustache, bulging blue eyes, is hollow behind the ears, and is about 30 years old. A prominent citizen of this city appeared to have been deceived this morning, supposing the individual was still connected with this paper.

THE NOMINEE.

JUDGE JOHN ULRICH FOR ASSEMBLY.

Unanimously Chosen the Republicans Candidate To-Day.

City Judge John Ulrich was unanimously nominated for Assemblyman from the Third District of Union County, this afternoon, at the Republican Convention held at the headquarters over the City National Bank.

The assemblage was called to order by Councilman Francis E. Marsh, Chairman of the last convention. Nathan W. Compton of Rahway was chosen permanently to fill the chair, and David P. Hall of Fanwood was elected secretary.

All the delegates were present save one from Clark township. Judge Ulrich's name was at this only one presented for candidate for Assembly, and his nomination was, on motion of Councilman Marsh, made by acclamation.

A committee consisting of Messrs. E. L. Morris, Alexander Titsworth and W. R. Codington was appointed to bring the Judge before the meeting. The Judge was received with cheers. He made a short speech thanking the delegates for the nomination.

James Miller, candidate for senator, Fred. F. Gaston, candidate for sheriff, Samuel L. Oliver, candidate for county clerk, and Assemblyman Chamberlain also made addresses. Cheers were given for all the nominees.

Before adjournment ex-Councilman E. L. Morris in a few brief remarks said that Judge Ulrich's nomination was the crowning jewel of the ticket. He recalled the Judge's services days and said that John Ulrich's graduating address was worthy of a man instead of a boy.

"The Judge is," he concluded, "qualified to hold a position in the house of Congress—and I hope he will be. He is the people's candidate, and will, after his election, guard carefully against legislation that will hurt his constituents."

The next convention will be held at Fanwood.

JUDGE JOHN ULRICH

who was unanimously nominated as the Republican candidate for the Assembly from the Third District of Union county will prove a most formidable candidate for the Democrats to meet. He was born in New York City on September 16, 1857. In 1871 he located in Plainfield and he has resided here ever since. He received his early education in Claverack College and in the post graduate class of the Plainfield High School. He entered the classical department of the New York University in 1876, and left at his sophomore year to engage in the study of law.

The Supreme Court admitted him to practice June 6, 1882, since which time he has by his industry and ability built up a fine practice.

Judge Ulrich is an active Republican, and at various times has been mentioned for different positions. At the early age of 21 he was a member of the Union County Republican Committee, and has always been active in the interests of his party.

In 1885 the City Judge of Plainfield has brought him prominently before our community and his fidelity to his office has won the confidence and respect of our citizens. He was first elected to that office by the Common Council June 1st, 1885. The succeeding November he was nominated unanimously by the Republicans, and heartily endorsed by the Temperance people. The Democrats, fearing, his election, made no nomination against him. He has always faithfully and honestly maintained parties in the discharge of his duties. Judge Ulrich can count his friends by the legion and his election is generally conceded. The citizens unquestionably will endorse the prediction of THE NEWS when it recently said "Good man, puff ed. He will win."

WAS ANNIE INGRAM BRIBED!

Mayor Daly Says That Detectives Paid Her to Tell Lies.

Annie Ingram, the girl whom John Gregory and John Fitzgerald, the detectives of New Brunswick, supposed was the victim of the Rahway murder, was brought before last night accompanied by Gregory. She said she missed clothes and other belongings from her trunk she had left at Wilson's house in Bound Brook, and she wanted to see if they were not there. She was told that she could not ordered girl. Mayor Daly was present at Police Headquarters with Chief Tooker, and invited the girl into the apartment containing the Rahway victim's clothing, but requested Gregory and the two men who accompanied the girl to remain outside. Gregory and his friends blusteringly insisted that they had as good a right to remain as a Rahway man who was present to note down Annie's replies to questions put by the Mayor. They finally withdrew, after remarking that they had "put Mayor Daly in his pocket." Annie was then asked to tell what things she had missed, and the Mayor says that Gregory would not do it. She said there was no bribery in the case, and she hadn't received any money to say the things were lost if they were not. If they would produce the things she would try to identify them, but she didn't come there to be insulted.

At last she was coaxed to describe some of the articles, and began describing a pearl-handled shell knife, a description of which and of the knit petticoat she rattled off glibly but when the Mayor showed her the articles of clothing the articles she declared she couldn't tell—it was so long since she had seen them. Then rising to her full height she declared she couldn't answer any more questions if she couldn't see the clothes, and she went away in a temper.

Mayor Daly then called on Annie Ingram yesterday at Fisher's house at Five-mile Lock. He found her there, and the knives she owned, but Annie did not say anything about a tortoise-shell knife, although she described others. Gregory was also at Fisher's house yesterday. He induced Annie to go to New Brunswick and stop with Mrs. Stevens, instead of remaining with the Fisher family. The Mayor says he has evidence that money has been offered to Annie apparently with the expectation that she would declare some of the articles found on the murdered girl were her's.

ALBANY, Oct. 25.—In the mandamus proceedings by John McMackin and others to compel the Board of Police, of New York city, to appoint the fifth inspector from the United States Party, the Court of Appeals to-day affirmed the proceedings of the Commissioners, with leave to the plaintiffs to apply to the Supreme Court for the trial of the issues forthwith before one of the justices thereof or in such other way as the parties may agree upon and the Court shall approve of. A Lizard in the Water

A West Sixth street young lady met with a very unpleasant experience a few nights ago. She went to the water pail in the closet and took therefrom a glass of water While in the act of drinking it she felt something touch her lips. She ran to a room in which there was a light burning and upon an examination of the contents of the glass found it contained a lizard about an inch and a half long. This should be a warning to persons who are in the habit of drinking water in the dark.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION'S APPEAL

TO THE PEOPLE OF PLAINFIELD:

The Board of Education find it necessary to call the attention of our citizens to the circumstances and needs of our Public Schools, and to ask of the voters at our municipal election to provide means whereby our schools shall supply education to our increasing population, and shall be maintained at their present state of efficiency.

We submit in the following table, showing the growth in the attendance upon our schools during the past ten years, and their expenses during the same period. The first column of figures give the years, the second the number of pupils enrolled, the third the number of teachers, and the fourth the expenses of the schools.

Years.	Scholars.	Teachers	Expenses.
1877-78	700	22	$16,169.98
78-79	800	22	17,049.93
79-80	880	23	17,770.25
80-81	900	23	17,928.18
81-82	950	23	17,443.86
82-83	1,000	23	17,866.61
83-84	1,050	23	17,410.27
84-85	1,107	25	18,467.72
85-86	1,200	25	19,040.10
86-87	1,350	31	22,854.00

The present enrollment of schools (October 5, 1887,) is 1,463, and of teachers, 32.

By the above figures it will be seen that during the past ten years the number of scholars has increased from 700 to 1,463, or very nearly double; the number of teachers from 22 to 32, or about one-third; and the expenses of the school from $16,169.98 to $22,854.00, or less than one-fourth. We have twice as many children to provide for and only one-fourth more revenue with which to support schools.

Another comparison which will show that the education of 760 pupils cost $18,000.00, the education of 1,463 would be likely to cost more than $36,000.00.

We would also ask you to look at another table. This will show how much we have failed out in the past to our State school tax, (assessed on a property basis,) and how much we have received annually from the State appropriation and from our share of the State school tax.

Years. Ass'd for Red'd from Red'd from State
State S. Tax. State Tax. Appropriation.

'77-'78	$6,437.49	6,586.04	586.86
'78-'79	6,436.18	6,894.71	586.65
'79-'80	9,093.85	6,616.28	627.64
'80-'81	9,093.85	6,850.61	613.22
'81-'82	10,966.48	6,720.65	610.52
'82-'83	10,966.48	6,810.56	610.52
'83-'84	11,774.03	9,010.74	654.76
'84-'85	12,000.00	8,407.08	606.42
'85-'86	12,000.00	8,973.15	606.41
'86-'87	12,839.00	9,281.61	699.30
Total	$106,918.82	$77,880.79	$6,136.17

By the above table it will be seen that we have paid to the State of New Jersey for school purposes, the sum of $106,918.82, while we received in return the sum of $77,880.79, or $29,953.94. Moreover, while our demands in the number of children to be educated have increased 100 per cent. in ten years, the receipts from the State have not been increased more than one-fifth, and the ratio of advance in the latter has been less than in expenses from year to year. Note also, that while in 1877 the State's appropriation was $1,256.50 as much as we paid, in 1886 and 1887 we paid $2,492.04 more than we received. As the property in the State increases the revenue available for it should be assessed for the State more, and receive proportionately less.

These are the facts with which our public schools are confronted, on the one hand a rapidly increasing school population, and on the other a stationary or at best a very slow increase in the State's revenue available for our schools. Our demands are every year more and more out running our ability to meet them.

The growth in our population compelled us last year to open a primary school in the Bryant school on East Sixth St. On its first day it was overcrowded, and we were compelled to provide for more than its capacity would legally warrant. At the opening of our schools in the present fall there was another pressure, and we were obliged to open a primary school in the basement of the Grand Franklin schools are overcrowded Teachers have more scholars than they can provide with desks or properly accommodate, and we have had to hire Assembly Halls, and in the Board Room, where there was no proper accommodation for them.

The law requires us to give school privileges to every child within the limit of school age; but we are declining to take such scholars, because we have no place in which to teach them, and what is of pressing importance to us, we are declining to hire the services, and in danger during the present year of overrunning our apportionment for the expenditure of $1,000.

One section of our city has been entirely without school accommodations—Evona and the vicinity—and we have been sending school to many families in this district is several miles distant yet the people are taxed for the support of schools from which they reap no benefit. Its citizens have waited upon us and petitioned us for relief in the way of school privileges. But, from lack of funds and greatly to our regret, we have not been able to give to them what is their right to have.

Already we find in that part of our city large factories in process of erection, with the prospect of a population within a few months of 3000 or 3000 people. Inevitably this section will demand a school, and we should be located between the Grant avenue and Evona stations, and between Front and Seventh streets. It should be erected immediately, in order to be ready for the school children another year. But we have no means of building it, and it will have to be furnished, and presented to us ready for occupancy, we have no means with which to support it.

We find the same need of relief in the present and impending emergencies of our Public Schools. In 1885 a law was enacted, giving to cities of the first class the right to increase the tax for school purposes, when approved by the popular vote. We submit to you a similar law for your consideration.

As act authorizing boards of education to issue the amount of taxes for school purposes in certain cases.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the municipal board in any city authorized to determine annually what amount of tax shall be required for school purposes, shall have power to issue certificates of indebtedness of not one half of one per cent. of the taxable valuation of the real and personal property of said city in addition to the amount of tax levied for that year; and such amount of tax so determined shall be assessed and collected at the same time and in the same manner with the taxes of the city for other purposes, and for other city purposes; provided, that this act shall not give any such city any power now existing to raise a larger amount of taxes for school purposes, provided further, that this act shall not apply to any city until the same shall have been first submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of any annual municipal election, and shall have received the approval of a majority of the votes cast at such election.

2. And be it enacted, That all special charters and acts limiting the amount to be raised for school taxes in any such city, and all other laws or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately.

If the voters of our city will approve, we can increase the appropriation for our school purposes to the amount of one-half on one per cent., as above stated. This will give us the means to extend the work of the Public Schools may be carried on.

In view of the facts as above stated, we ask the voters of this city to give us aid at the approaching municipal election. We request an increase of the school tax for the ensuing year of $12,000.00 only, exclusive of the State School tax, and we earnestly hope that it may be granted.

The public schools of our city have been the pride of our people. Their reputation has added to the desirability of families to live in and purchase property among us. We cannot stand to lower their standard or to close the doors against children, and we have to fight to refuse their advantages to any of those who need them. We promise to use the money appropriated to us by the tax payers in the most economical and efficient manner, as wisely and economically as the true interests of our public school system will admit; and we hope that you will grant to us such privileges as we think are to supply to all the young people of our city such education as is necessary for American citizens.

JACOB KIRKNER, President.

A School Girl's Rash Leap.

Adelaide M. Grannatt, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. W. B. Grannatt, who resides on Fourth street near Grant avenue, leaves the Grant avenue station by rail each day to attend school in Plainfield. By mistake this morning she took the train consisting of two cars, one here at 7.58, which runs past the main depot and then backs up on a side track. The engine slowed its speed as it neared the station, but did not stop, and Adelaide, thinking that the train was going through to New York, rushed out on the platform and jumped to the ground. In the fall her head struck the ballast along the track and on her forehead she received a painful gash, while her face was badly scratched. The scalp wound bled freely. She was also bruised about the body but no bones were broken. Dr. J. T. Fritts was summoned, to the baggage room room, where the girl was taken, to attend the case. He washed the cut and applied court plaster. Adelaide was then taken home.

F. M. Voorhees for Assembly.

The Republicans of the Second Assembly District of Union County met yesterday afternoon at Elizabeth and nominated School Commissioner Foster M. Voorhees, the young orator from Huntsville, to fill William H. Corbin's place. Some of the townships were lost to party ties at caucus/primary, and insisted upon nominating him; but reluctantly withdrew his name when informed that he positively declined a re-nomination. Voorhees was then unanimously indorsed for the place. The nomination is considered equivalent to the election, as the district is overwhelmingly Republican.

Cousart, corner of Clinton avenue and Front street, Wednesday, Oct. 26, at eight p. m. The program embraces the following names: Mr. F. R. Tilton, Mr. J. H. Stubbs, William T. Angel, Miss Mary McReynolds, Mr. J. O. Stevens, Mr. G. O. Stevens, Wade Whipple, Miss Florence A. Stearns, Miss Dora Wilcox and Miss Etta C. Kountein.

WESTFIELD.

Work has been begun on the new Fire Department building.

Miss Emily Guyon aged 43, died on Friday, Oct. 21st, at the residence of her sister Mrs. Benjamin Smith, Elm street. Miss Guyon has been an invalid for the last 15 years.

The Young Republican Club has opened its headquarters in one of Mr. Love's stores, on Broad street. The boys have put in a piano, and make every body at home, there is music and singing every evening. A long felt want has been filled by the opening of the club, where they could meet and gossip in, were the stores on the corners corners. Now they have a good warm room to meet in and talk or play.

Spooks are around Bird's corner is the latest from Magginsville. Ever since that big hole was dug near Mayor Ragland's store the neighborhood has been disturbed by some prowler, who seems to make that corner his rendezvous. Parts of nights are heard the white apparition was seen by Chas. Holmes passing with through the cut. Stories are afts of pota to goal being hurried near the well.

STATE NOTES.

Anna M. Green, has obtained a verdict of $8,750 against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for personal injuries sustained in falling into an open gangway at the station at Morristown, which resulted in disease of the spine.

Mrs. Lizzie Moore, a bride of less than a year, committed suicide by putting a bullet in her temple at her home in Pleasantville, Atlantic county, Sunday. Her mother-in-law found the body with a 38 calibre revolver by her side. Mental aberation is supposed to be the cause of the rash act. She is the wife of Samuel Moore, and leaves a ten-day-old baby.

There is a curious old Shaulberry tree at Bordentown, Burlington county, which was planted over a hundred years ago. Within its hollow old heart there is a thrifty young tree which has grown to be 30 feet high. The branches of the junior tree are extending through those of the senior and both curious visitors, of course, have to be notified.

The home plague in South Jersey has entirely abated. Only four horses are known to be sick and they are improving. According to an estimate made by experts, it will take the losses to farmers and stockmen south of Camden and Atlantic counties to exceed $50,000. The mutual company for insuring horses in Cape May has become a large and powerful organization, and they have been taken to organize one in Cumberland county that will take risks on other animals, particularly on cows and swine.

Ex-Judge Joseph Carr died at his residence on Brainard street, Mount Holly, Sunday evening.

William Cobley was fined $3 by City Judge Ulrich this morning for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

—Four walking delegates of the Cental Labor Union were accused of conspiracy by Robert C. Hollister, of Elizabeth, N. J., yesterday at Jefferson Market Police Court. They are Robert J. Armstrong, of the Carpenter's Union; Owen Harney, of the Varnishers' Union; Edward McLaughlin, of the Painters' Union, and Peter J. Kiernan, of the Encaustic Tile Layers' Union. They were each held in $700 bail.

THE SLAYER OF SOPHIE SMITH

On Trial for His Life in the Philadelphia Criminal Court.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Robert G. Hall, an ex-varsity actor, charged with the murder of Sophie E. Smith, alias Lillian Rivers, on June 3 last, was called for trial before Judge Arnold yesterday. Hall, who possessed a brighter appearance than when he was last in court for arraignment, was brought up from prison at 10 o'clock, and was given a seat in the dock. Assistant District Attorney Singer and District Attorney Graham appeared for the commonwealth, while the defendant was represented by Messrs. M. Dubois and John Scully. At 11 o'clock the empaneling of the jury was begun. When the jurors had all answered to their names they were asked if they had ever been prejudiced against insanity as a defense. The prisoner watched the jurors and observed closely the actions and answers of his counsel, at times playing with his watch chain, and at others fumbling with pieces of paper. The prisoner's aged father occupied a seat near his son's counsel.

District Attorney Graham opened the case for the commonwealth, after which the testimony for the prosecution was begun. Several witnesses were called, but little or no new facts were elicited. The court then adjourned for the day.

He Challenged the Wrong Man.

PANAMA, Oct. 25.—A pugilist named McClellan, from San Francisco, gave an exhibition in the Star Theatre here with a professional from New Orleans and got the better of the contest. At Las Cascades, while under the influence of liquor, he challenged any one of a crowd who were quietly supping their beer in the village inn to fight with him. A powerful black canal digger accepted the challenge and the two stripped the men were engaged in a brutal encounter. McClellan was caught up in the arms of his lone antagonist Hercules and thrown violently three times. He was unable to rise after the third fall and was found to be severely injured. He died a few days afterwards.

The stock market was dull this morning and the tone of weakness of Saturday. At the outset the bears ran riot the list and continued to sell at increasing declines for an hour and a half of business. They first rushed one stock and then another, and had little or no trouble in sending prices down. The heaviest selling was directed to the market. The selling died out just before noon, and most of the decline was recovered by 12 o'clock. After 12 o'clock the market became very quiet, and prices were almost continuously on the decline during the afternoon. St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Northwest and New England were the weak spots. They were the objects of the greatest attack by the bear operators, and declined sharply. The bottom figures of the day were current at the close. The decline for the day ranged from ¼ to 3 per cent.

IS MR. GARRETT INSANE?

LABORING UNDER A TERRIBLE MENTAL STRAIN.

His Friends Still Hope for the Best—The Late President of the Baltimore and Ohio Accuses Gould of Treachery—An Intimate Friend's Statement.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—Robert Garrett's friends, who have been sturdily denying the rumors about his condition, are more puzzled since the publication of Sunday's account. There is apparently no room for doubt that the start to Mexico was not made from home out of the way place, so that the publicity could have been avoided. Had this been done the facts about his condition would have been kept secret. But now that they are out, the friends deny any insanity, and assert that Mr. Garrett is suffering from a severe nervous and financial strain. They say that the tremendous fight which he was waging, with the odds greatly against him, would have overcome a man of a nobler mental tension. The culmination was reached when the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which his father had built up, passed into the control of the Morgan-Drexel syndicate. Then came his trip to Europe, and his discovery on his return that the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph had been sold to Jay Gould.

This last blow was too much for him, and he fell a victim to intense nervous excitement. Whatever reference is made to the sale of the telegraph or the thought of it flashes across his mind he yields to the deep feeling which he entertains on the subject and becomes intensely excited. As yet the physicians deny the statements that he is insane, and are reticent when urged to converse on the subject of his health, but it is known that they have entertained grave fears for him, unless he is relieved from the pressure which has recently pressed upon his mind.

Mr. Garrett himself was fully aware of the fact that he needed rest. Dr. N. R. Gorter, who was until a few days ago in New York, was sent for at Mr. Garrett's request to accompany him on his trip. An intimate friend of the Baltimore and Ohio ex-president says:

"Mr. Garrett believes, and has so expressed himself to me, that while he is on the ocean on his way back from England he was sold out by men in whom he had for a long time placed the most implicit confidence."

Garrett holds the telegraph at $15,000,000. Mr. William F. Burns, president pro tem. of the Baltimore and Ohio road, said yesterday: "The last time I saw Mr. Garrett was on Wednesday evening last, standing in the door of his residence as I drove by. That was the first time I had seen him since Monday or Tuesday evening of the week before last, when he was at the Maryland club. On the latter occasion Mr. Garrett conversed very pleasantly for a few minutes with two or other friends and myself. There was surely nothing in his manner on either of these occasions to indicate that his mind was affected. He struck me as laboring under severe mental excitement, but not as being mentally deranged. I think that all reports about Mr. Garrett's insanity are with what I have said, are untrue and unwarranted."

These are the statements of Mr. Garrett's friends. There is no doubt, however, about the very grave apprehensions that are felt for him, and it is useless to deny that his condition is serious. It is everybody's wish here that the trip may prove beneficial. The man in Baltimore was more liberal in his charity, and among the less things he did was to provide for the future welfare of all those who stood by him in the Baltimore and Ohio service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Mr. Robert Garrett arrived in this city at 9:50 yesterday morning, accompanied by Mrs. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Swan Frick, Dr. Nathan B. Gorter and his late private secretary, W. T. Barnard. Mr. Garrett appeared in the best of spirits, although suffering under great mental strain, yet, while evidently there is a tremendous pressure on him, there are no signs of insanity.

She Married an Embezzler.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Oct. 25.—Last Tuesday Miss Jennie M. Jones, of Waukesha, was married to one Eugene Charles Mason, who came to Waukesha this spring. The newly wedded pair went to Chicago on their bridal tour, and while there being entertained by the groom's sister, Mason was arrested as a bigamist and committed to jail in Battle Creek, Mich., where he formerly resided. His real name is Charles E. Converse, and when he ran away with $4,000 of his employer's money he also abandoned a wife and two children. The deluded Waukesha woman was taken home by her friends and is now almost prostrated with grief and disgrace. The affair caused a social sensation.

Reunion of Old Settlers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The survivors of the First regiment of New York volunteers, known as Stevenson's regiment, who left New York in September, 1846, to settle and conquer California, long before the discovery of gold, held a banquet last night and talked over their old experiences. Out of the 1,000 pioneers 156 survive, many having remained and prospered in California. Gen. W. T. Sherman was their post adjutant. The regiment was disbanded at Monterey. The commander of the regiment, Col. Jonathan D. Stevenson, was one of those present last night. He is 83 years old.

Fatally Injured.

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 25.—W. B. Warner, the Norwalk agent for the Rogers Silver Plate company, at Meriden, was seriously, if not fatally, injured while going to the place of business yesterday morning. The horse which he was driving became frightened and ran away. Warner, Col. Coon's shirt factory the wagon overturned and Mr. Warner was thrown with great violence against a telegraph pole, receiving a compound fracture of his right arm, both his leg and collar bone were broken and a large was cut in the back of his head. His case is considered hopeless.

Made Homeless by Flame.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 25.—St. Jean Baptiste was the scene of another serious fire yesterday morning, which destroyed a block of eight two story brick houses at the corner of Maple and St. Jean Baptiste streets. The houses were occupied by twelve families, most of whom were left entirely destitute. During the fire the greatest excitement prevailed, people escaping in their night dresses and children being lowered out of windows. Very little furniture was saved, and what was saved got badly smashed in being pitched out of the windows.

Driven to Suicide by His Son's Crime.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—Wash. Adams and wife, of Winn parish, quarreled a short time ago and she took her child and went to the home of her father, Andrew Smith. A few days ago Adams went to Smith's to get his child, and the two men got into a difficulty, which resulted in the killing of Smith by his son-in-law. Adams took his child and left. Adams' father, whom he heard of his son's crime, committed suicide. The murderer was arrested Sunday.

THE CASE OF THE ANARCHISTS.

Text of the Order Made by the United States Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The following is the text of the order made by the supreme court of the United States upon the motion of counsel for the condemned Chicago Anarchists for the allowance of a writ of error to the highest court of Illinois:

"Following the precedent in Twitchell vs. The Commonwealth, we have permitted this motion to be made in open court at the suggestion of Mr. Justice Harlan, to whom the application was first presented, on account of the urgency of the case, and its importance. But, as no question of the validity of any act of the state courts have been drawn before us, we think it right, that is to say, as of course, and it is the duty of him to whom an application for a writ of error is made to ascertain from an examination of the record of the state court whether any question cognizable here on appeal was made and decided in the proper course of the state, and whether the case on the face of the record will justify the allowance of the writ."

Assuming that the proper practice, we will hear counsel on Thursday next in support of this motion, not only upon the point whether any federal questions were actually made and decided in the supreme court of the state, but also upon the character of those questions, so that we may determine whether they are such as to make it proper for us to bring the cases here for review.

"We have caused the attorney general of Illinois to be informed that the motion will be heard at the time stated."

THE STRIKING MINE WORKERS.

The Strikers More Determined Than Ever in the Fight for Living Wages.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 25.—The empoyes of the Lehigh mining region laid down their tools and struck work until they should receive an increase in their wages seven weeks ago—15,000 of them. The difficulty is no nearer a settlement to-day than it was then, and the strikers are even more determined than ever.

There was a break among them early last week which it was thought would bring about the end to the struggle, but now the strikers are receiving all the support they are in need of, and have assurances of a steady continuance of this support from their fellow miners in the other regions.

Up to the present time a careful estimate places the loss to the operators of the region at $100,000 and fully $350,000 to their employes.

Not for many years have the business interests of the region been so greatly prostrated. Although only a few days have passed, still more are expected to follow soon if the strike continues.

TERRORIZING THE TEXANS.

Mexican Bandits Who Cross the Line in Search of Plunder.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—A special to The News from Rio Grande City, Tex., says the people living in the county in fear of raids from Mexico, who are terrorizing the inhabitants. On Saturday a company of them entered Los Grandes City and mailed two letters to merchants, one to Rosa and one to Rio Grande City, telling them that if they did not at once raise $15,000 and $8,000, respectively, they would blow their stores and bank up with dynamite. Governor Ross has been asked for assistance, but as yet has not been received. There are United States troops at Ringgold, near Rio Grande City, but before they could be moved by means of the slow official routine the bandits could accomplish their purpose and be in a safe distance in Mexico. Parties of bandits ride through towns at night, and the authorities are powerless to preserve order. Stage travel is dangerous.

A Question Which May Save a Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Henry Berhayon, the lawyer who committed suicide on Sunday, left a letter addressed to the coroner, in which he confesses having killed his wife with poison. The motive was evidently obtaining the insurance money upon her life. Celia's husband, J. Milton Bowers, is under sentence of death, having been convicted of killing the woman Berhayon was the chief witness against him. Berhayon's friends assert that the confession is a forgery, and that Berhayon's wife died and he did not kill her self, but met foul play at the hands of agents of Bowers, but this view is not generally shared, and it is believed that the confession will be proved true and that Bowers will be released.

Knox; district attorney, Delancey Nicoll; judge of sessions, Recorder Henry R. Howland; Daniel G. Rollins; judge general sessions, Geo. W. Lyon; judges city court, Ernest Hall, Charles E. Lydig; surrogate, Isaac Davies; president of board of aldermen, James T. Van Rensselaer; coroner, Dennis Shea. A committee was appointed to wait upon Mr. Nicoll and ask him to accept the nomination. If he decline, the convention will select another candidate.

Synod of the Reformed Church.

SUNBURY, Pa., Oct. 25.—The 141st annual session of the synod of the Reformed church in the United States, Rev. John H. Klopp, D. D., of Philadelphia, presiding. Returned Missionary Rev. Ambrose D. Gring presented the claims of the mission field in Japan, and Rev. J. B. Schindler was commissioned as an additional missionary to that country. The committee appointed to secure funds for increasing the endowment of the theological seminary reported $8,077.25 with encouraging prospects. The board of publication was instructed to arrange for a weekly paper to be issued for a general circulation of church literature.

The Rights of Railroad Employes.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—An interesting case was on trial in Judge Gills division of the circuit court yesterday. On Nov. 21, 1886, Edward D. Mahoney, a railroad brakeclerk running on the Missouri Pacific railroad, was killed in a collision of two trains at Greenwood. His widow brought suit against the company for $5,000 damages. The defendant admitted all the facts, but maintained that as Magaffin was not a passenger on the train of Maple and St. Jean Baptiste. The houses were occupied by twelve families, most of whom were left entirely destitute. During the fire the greatest excitement prevailed, people escaping in their night dresses and children being lowered out of windows. Very little furniture was saved, and what was saved got badly smashed in being pitched out of the windows.

A Banker's Flight.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Charles L. Phillips, president of the defunct Columbian bank, has left the country, having sailed for Havre, France, on the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique steamer La Champagne, from New York, on Saturday morning. His departure was sudden and known to but few. He and the bulk of a general that he left the country to escape criminal prosecution for the part he took in the mismanagement of the broken bank. An evening paper says he has gone to Europe to avoid libel suits, but this is discredited, as it is stated positively that he would have been arrested in a few days.

WRECKED ON THE LAKE.

LEFT TO THEIR FATE BY A TOW LINE BREAKING.

Five Persons on the Schooner Oriental Doubtless Meet a Watery Grave—The Barge Argonaut, with Fifteen Men on Board, Probably Gone Down.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., Oct. 25.—The schooner Oriental went down about two miles from this port, and about a mile and a half east of the lighthouse here, yesterday morning, and it is feared that all hands are lost. The Oriental left Oswego Saturday night in tow of the propeller Scotia, bound for Toronto, with 700 tons of coal. The weather being bad, the captain of the Scotia tried to put into Niagara, but was unable to do so, and then tried to get into Niagara.

Shortly after turning round the tow line parted and it was with the utmost difficulty that the Scotia was got safely into Niagara. It is supposed that the straining of the Oriental in the heavy sea opened her seams, causing her to fill and sink. Capt. Fraser, of Scotia, has returned from Niagara to this port searching for any signs of the Oriental's yawl or crew, but found no trace of them. All on board are given up as probably lost. The crew consisted of Capt. George Stewart, of Port Dalhousie; Edward Stark, of South Bay, Mich.; Charles Baker and Herbert Stone, both of Kingston, and Minnis Herbert, of Kingston, cook. The spars of the sunken vessel are above water at this hour, and can be seen from here, making the gale doubly dangerous for vessels. The captain and crew of the schooner George Sherman have reached the city, and report that during the gale were on Point point, about ten miles from Marquette. The Alva Bradley struck at about the same place a little before the Sherman, and Capt. Gifford thinks the crew all got off safely. The Sherman left the Sault at 7 a. m. on Saturday and was struck by the storm this side of Whitefish point. She was kept along finely with the Bradley in company until after noon, when the vessels separated, and soon the captain of the Sherman found that in the thick snow storm she was close ashore. He attempted to come about to clear South Point, but was driven hard on a rocky beach. Seeing that the schooner was lost, the crew took to the boat. While going ashore the mainmast fell across the boat, without injuring any one, though when the shore was reached the mainmast was dashed against the rocks and badly stunned, but was pulled ashore by the others. All were saved. They struck the beach at 2:30 p. m., and kept warming around a fire. Some time until 6 o'clock in the blinding snow, almost dead from exhaustion, dragging the woman cook on a litter. When they reached the railroad track they flagged an ore train bound for Marquette.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Oct. 25.—Nothing has been heard from the barge Argonaut since she steamed towards Sheboygan Sunday. As her steering gear was somewhat damaged, fears are entertained for her safety. She blew signals of distress Sunday, and Capt. Batchelder and the life saving crew went to her assistance, but could do nothing for her, as she was too heavily laden to get over the outer bar. There were fifteen men on board.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 25.—The lighthouse on the western pier at this port was partially destroyed in Sunday night's gale. The front and two sides were completely washed away. Several schooners are in the harbor, and remain here until the weather moderates.

Many minor disasters are reported during the gale, and the various lake ports are filled with vessels waiting for the elements to subside.

SIR WILFRED BLUNT OUT ON BAIL.

Granted to Court by a Promise of Sympathizers.

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—Sir Wilfred Blunt and Mr. Bodkin, his fellow prisoner, were taken from the Loughrea jail yesterday and brought under a strong escort of soldiers. On the way they were met by Messrs. Rowlands and Sheehy, members of parliament, who were leading a large popular party, which was accompanied by a band. The procession turned about and escorted the prisoners to the court house, the band playing all the while. Lively times followed, and much humor prevailed. The prisoners were arraigned before two magistrates, who refused to adjourn the case for a fortnight, as was requested, and remanded it to Monday. Sir Wilfred gave bail and was released from custody. The latter blames Divisional Magistrate Byrne for the whole affair, who, he says, precipitated the row by his hasty remarks. Mr. Timothy Harrington has been wired for to appear as counsel for Sir Wilfred Blunt. The latter has been the recipient of great ovations throughout the entire day.

Mr. Walsh, proprietor of The Wexford People, received yesterday a sentence of contempt of court, imposed by Judge Boyd, one of the National league in his paper. He appealed from the sentence and was released on bail.

SPANG'S MANY MILLIONS.

Making Inquiries for Heirs to a Rich German's Princely Fortune.

READING, Pa., Oct. 25.—A letter from the police authorities of this city to the police authorities of this city has been received making inquiry for descendants or blood relations of John George Spang, who died in Germany in 1800, leaving a vast sum of several millions. He was born in Heidelberg township, this county, about 1753. He went to Philadelphia, where he served in the Revolutionary war. He was instrumental in saving the life of Gen. Knuyphausen, of the British army. The general was so grateful that at the end of the war he took Spang to Germany and gave him $100,000. With that capital Spang accumulated his immense fortune. He left a sister and five brothers in this county, George, Henry, Daniel, Frederick and Peter. Peter was the only one who survived him. Spang left no direct heirs, but those of his brothers in this country, of whom there are many, have ever laid any claim to his estate. They will now send a representative to Germany to put in their claims for it. It is said the estate amounts to $30,000,000.

TWO LOUISIANA RUFFIANS

Convicted and Executed Without Recourse to the Law.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—Eight days ago two young ladies, daughters of Mrs. Barker, postmistress at Lamar, Franklin parish, La., were awakened by a noise at their bedroom window, and saw a negro entering the room. The girls screamed for help, and the burglar sprang to the ground. An ax below the window was caught up, which was identified as belonging to Perry King. Last Tuesday King was arrested, and a posse sent after Drew Green, against whom there was also suspicion. Green was arrested at Tallulah and carried back to Lamar. Information reached this city yesterday that on Thursday last an armed body of twenty-five men came to Lamar and took the prisoners from the guard. Later in the day their dead bodies were found hanging to limbs of trees near the town. The only confession was made by King that he and Green had entered the room for the purpose of assaulting the young ladies. Both negroes were bachelors, and King had served a term in the penitentiary.

The other emptied his revolver in the crowd and the negroes scattered. One has since been found dead in a cornfield by day, and it is believed that others were wounded.

He did not expect to prosecute the matter further, as the law had not been damaged. All forms of trade being diverted had proven groundless. The change had noticeably benefited the freedmen.

IN POWDERLY'S DEFENSE.

CLAIMING THAT THE SPLIT WAS ANARCHISTS' WORK.

Figures Offered in Refutation of the Destitutes' Statements—No. 49 Remains True—Members Holding That Heroic Remedies Are Necessary Not Wanted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The Powderly faction among the Knights of Labor are a good deal concerned over the circular from the opposition, which appeared in this city. It was a great surprise to most of them. The leaders, one and all, declare that the real animus of the kickers is sympathy with anarchy. The failure to get the general assembly to pass any resolution denouncing the conviction of the seven condemned men here is, they say, at the bottom of the whole matter. One of the Powderly leaders, who is a member of the legislature and a Knight of long standing, said:

"All of the kickers are Anarchists. There is not one who signed the circular who was not hand and glove with Spies and Parsons. All their hatred for Powderly comes from the fact that he will not countenance Anarchism in the order. There will be no peace in the Knights of Labor until the Anarchist question is settled, and the sympathizers with bomb throwing are expelled."

In regard to the charge that district and local assemblies had been suspended and expelled because they opposed the so called king, Mr. Sandell, a prominent supporter of Powderly, said:

"When they have been treated so, it was solely because of their insubordination, wage lect to pay dues and the like. District No. 126, of New York, of which the notorious Morrison is the representative, is what they call a boss district. It has a number of locals in its state and was justly suspended for its conduct. They say the order is shrinking in numbers. Last year there was a great boom in the order, and the men who came in then were useless to the order. These men are being weeded out, and so far from the order in this week being on the wane, it really being strengthened. They call the general office at Philadelphia a palace, costing $65,000. The fact is that it cost $45,000, was a necessity for the order, and is worth a good profit of from $10,000 to $15,000 on the investment. The whole thing amounts to nothing. The provisional committee of five constituted the whole executive body, and it was claimed that Frank Foster, of District Assembly No. 30, of Boston, and George McNeil signed the convention call, but that stamps the whole thing as a fake, for McNeil wasn't even at all and Foster left and went home the week before adjournment. That eliminates about the only substantial responsibility from the alleged constituency of the kickers."

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—General Treasurer Turner, K. of L., being asked what he thought of the labor movement inaugurated in Chicago, said:

"I do not think it will amount to very much. The forty-five gentlemen who formed a portion of those who took part in that convention. They made the same fight when they sat in the body they are attempting to kick over now, and were overwhelmed by an overwhelming majority. It is the Anarchists in the order, who were not successful in having a resolution of sympathy for the seven condemned men at the last Knights of Labor assembly, who have withdrawn. We can see it got along without them. We have no sympathy with Anarchists, nor for the doctrines which they teach. The stand taken by the order at the Minneapolis convention on this subject will have the effect of preventing any backsliding, other than weakening it, although there may be a little kick."

Charles H. Lickman, general secretary of the order, said, with a good deal of emphasis: "The delegates who have withdrawn are in sympathy with anarchy, and it would be a good thing for all to know who believe in the doctrine would do likewise."

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—District assembly 49, which censured the general assembly for not adopting resolutions expressing sympathy for the Chicago Anarchists will not assist in spitting the order. Neither will the printers, railroad men, plumbers, shoemakers, carpenters or lithographers in this city aid in that direction.

The case is different with the expert cutters, who were expelled from the order because they refused to obey the orders of the general board.

The members of District Assembly 30 in Boston, who before the Minneapolis convention were reckoned with the malcontents, will not be found in the ranks of those who favor a split. Frank O. Foster is a long article in this week's Boot and Shoe, of which he is the editor. He was a delegate to the convention. He says: "There was no definite action accomplished by the convention; yet I desire to affirm that, in my judgment, a new and regenerating era will begin in the K. of L. from the date of the Minneapolis convention. I think that the prospect for the future of the order are hopeful. Mr. Powderly retains and doubtless will retain the confidence of the great mass of the membership."

"Voudooed" by a Beggar's Curse.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 25.—Six months ago John Jones, an Englishman, found employment in the mines at Nanticoke, and in due time married a young girl. Her loose and frightening Mrs. Jones, the latter shut the door in the old woman's face. The hag thereupon cursed the house and all in it. Since that time the baby has almost died in a sickness, Mrs. Jones has been confined to her bed, and the family has been unfortunate generally. Mrs. Jones declares that the old woman has "voudooed" the house. The family will return to England.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

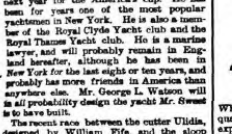
CHARTS SHOWING RECORDS MADE BY BASEBALL CLUBS.

Mr. Charles Sweet, the Challenger for the America's Cup—The Yacht Sachem and Her Race Against the Miranda—Closing Talk of the Baseball Season.

The race between the Thistle and the Volunteer was such a big event that people have not ceased to talk about it yet. It would seem that the superiority of the centerboard boat in American waters would be established; but, as a matter of fact, there are many who believe that a keel boat can be built that can show a clean wake to any centerboarder afloat. The main strength of the centerboarder seems to be in her power to work to windward, for it has been demonstrated many times that a keel boat can do just as good, if not better, work before the wind. Mr. Burgess in a recent interview seemed to be of the opinion that he can build a keel boat to beat any one that will be sent over from the other side. He will probably have a chance to try next year, when Mr. Charles Sweet has his new boat built. Mr. Sweet is the young Scotch lawyer who has resigned his membership in the New York Yacht club in order that he may send over a challenge next year for the America's cup. He has been for years one of the most popular yachtsmen in New York. He is also a member of the Royal Clyde Yacht club and the Royal Thames Yacht club. He is a marine lawyer, and will probably remain in England hereafter, although he has been in New York for the last eight or ten years, and probably has more friends in America than anywhere else. Mr. George L. Watson will in all probability design the yacht Mr. Sweet is to have built.

CHARLES SWEET.

The recent race between the cutter Uldis, designed by William Fife, and the sloop Fanita has awakened much interest, for it is another proof of the superiority of the centerboard.

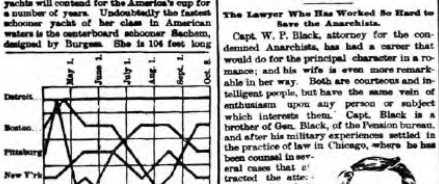


THE SACHEM.

The course was around Long Island, and the Fanita won by over four hours. She made the course in the fastest time it was ever sailed over, in thirty-four hours and twenty-three minutes. The distance is about 300 miles.

The last race that was sailed over this course was in 1884, and was won then by the Fanita's sister six schooners, four sloops and three cutters.

It would be interesting at the present day to see what English schooner yachts can do in a number of years. Undoubtedly the fastest schooner yacht of her class in American waters is the centerboard schooner Sachem, designed by Burgess. She is 104 feet long over all, with a twenty-three foot beam. The sending of schooner yachts over from England virtually came to an end after the race between the Miranda and the Sachem. The Miranda was the British champion schooner, the victor in many battles on the other side, but she was easily outsailed by the Sachem. The day on which the race was sailed half a gale of wind was blowing which enabled the winner to cover the distance at Newport, beginning with an imaginary line drawn from the Breton Reef lightship to the Judges' boat, twenty miles to windward and return, in less than five hours. The Sachem won the race by ten minutes, although the weather was entirely favorable to the cutter build of the Miranda.



THE LEAGUE RACE.

Now that the baseball season has closed, talk about next year is in order, and various speculations are rife. The sale of the Metropolitans to the Brooklyns was not a matter of much surprise. The Mets were away behind on the season's work. Now that they have gone over to the Brooklyns, that team will be a very strong one next year, and the fight in the association for first place will probably be more exciting than it was this year. President Von der Ahe says the St. Louis club is in bad shape, and gives as a reason the fact that they were so far ahead of the other clubs the last their interest in the game.

The record made by Philadelphia in the last sixteen games is phenomenal. To win sixteen straight games is not a small feat, and if they had begun their fine playing earlier in the season the pennant might have been placed differently.

In the cuts that are with this article the record of each club in the League and Association is shown from the start, and give the reader a clear idea of the season's work. The charts show how the clubs stood at the end of each two weeks of the championship season.

THE ASSOCIATION RACE.

A NOTED CRIMINAL.

The Successful Forger Who Has Just Been Released from Prison.

William E. Brockway, bond thief and forger, is free again. Thirty years ago, when a man of middle age, Brockway was apprenticed to a printer in New Haven, Conn., who sent him to Yale college, where he became proficient in the art of electro-chemistry, and the knowledge there acquired was turned to account later by Brockway and his employer. His employer did all the printing for the New Haven bank, and the directors were in the habit of bringing their plates over and watching them while the impressions were being made. While they were thus engaged one day the printer allowed them aside for a moment, and Brockway secured a copy of the plate in soft metal; $100,000 worth of $5 bills was worked off, and Brockway, who was an expert penman, signed them. Later on bills of the New Haven County bank were counterfeited, and an investigation took place, culminating in the arrest of Brockway and his confederates, who were sentenced to a term of years in state prison, but, through the instrumentality of a New York lawyer, he was pardoned.

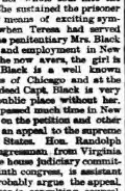
BROCKWAY.

While in prison Brockway made the acquaintance of Dr. Stoneley, whose sentence expired while he was still a convict. After Brockway was released he met Stoneley in New York, and offered him a profitable deal. Stoneley trusted him to his house in Keyport. While a guest at Dr. Stoneley's Brockway and his confederates counterfeited a $5 note of a New Jersey bank, and the money which he obtained enabled him to carry out his pet scheme, which was eloping with Mrs. Stoneley. When the doctor found it out he was of course enraged, and followed Brockway, but was caught trying to pass the $5 notes that he had received from Brockway. He was arrested, tried and sentenced to serve five years. This left Brockway free to run off with Mrs. Stoneley. When the war broke out and the government began to issue bonds, Brockway got possession of lead impressions of all the principal securities of the United States, and he and his confederates succeeded in passing $80,000 worth of 7.30 bonds upon Jay Cooke & Co. and other bankers. The engraving of these bonds was so well done as to deceive the United States treasury officials, who redeemed them as genuine, but an investigation was called, when a duplication of numbers was discovered. Brockway was arrested, but got loose on a technicality. He finally turned his attention to railroad bonds, and made the forging bonds of the Morris and Essex railroad that he has just served his term of five years, which was shortened by his good behavior.

CAPT. BLACK.

The Lawyer Who Has Worked So Hard to Save the Anarchists.

Capt. W. P. Black, attorney for the condemned Anarchists, has had a career that would do for the principal character in a romance; and his wife is even more remarkable in her way. Both are courteous and intelligent people, but have the same vein of enthusiasm upon any person or subject which interests them. Capt. Black is a brother of Gen. Chauncey Black, Democrat, and after his military experiences settled in the practice of law in Chicago, where he has been counsel in several criminal cases that attracted the attention of the whole country, from that of Dr. Cronin, the girl who killed Charles Stiles, her paramour, to that of the Archbishop.



CAPT. BLACK.

In the eighteen years of their married life Mrs. Black has been his constant companion, assisting him in preparing his briefs and evidence and sitting with him in the court room whenever that was practicable. In the case of Teresa Sturla Mrs. Black threw her whole soul into the work of defense. She sustained the prisoner in court, used every means of exciting sympathy for her, and when Teresa had served her short term in the penitentiary Mrs. Black secured her a home and employment in New York city, where, she now avers, the girl is doing well. Mrs. Black is a well known figure on the streets of Chicago and at the criminal courts—indeed Capt. Black is very rarely seen in any public place without her.

They have lately passed much time in New York city, at which place the petition and other papers for securing an appeal to the supreme court of the United States. Hon. Randolph Tucker, former congressman from Virginia and chairman of the house judiciary committee in the Forty-ninth congress, is assistant counsel and will probably argue the appeal. Gen. Roger A. Pryor is also consulting counsel, and the papers were finished at his office on the 14th. Their application is for a writ of error, on the ground that the Anarchists, while on trial, were denied those rights guaranteed by the national constitution; but they also base some hope on newly discovered evidence. Among other points it is alleged that the bomb which killed the Chicago policeman was actually thrown by a Pinkerton detective. Of course so grave a charge could only be accepted on the most positive evidence.

The Drummer's Revenge.

A drummer had a spite at a hotel in Palestine, Tex., and resolved on a terrible revenge. So, when he went to Galveston he "bagged" a lot of cockroaches, for which the Island City is celebrated. Bringing a lot of the largest specimens, commonly called by native Galvestonians "diggerlockers," the drummer took them to the hotel and turned them loose in the halls and corridors. In about two weeks the hotel was swarming with them, and they got into the soups, preserves, jams, molasses, in the milk—everywhere; and worked hard all day and sat up at night to help that drummer get even. They have filled the hotel and gone to work on the private houses, and now Palestine is accursed with them.—Chicago News.

THE SHOEMAKER.

HOW MACHINERY HAS SUPPLANTED THE MAN OF THE LAPSTONE.

Miseries Which the Knights of St. Crispin Inflict on Their Fellow Creatures—Facts Concerning a Revolutionized Trade—Manufacturing Plant.

"Ah, but I have no trouble with new shoes," explains the self complacent egotist, who always has a patent for everything. "I only wear them a few hours each day, and sometimes take a whole month to break in a new pair."

But why does he only wear them a few hours each day? And why does he need a month to make his feet comfortable? Simply because if a man is in any respect a tenderfoot, he must always keep his new shoes from one week to thirty days on probation before he will be at ease in them, and he will not have to throw them away or give them to the poor. Sometimes they revive a latent corn which has been asleep in their toes since boyhood, and then permitted to lie inactive for a few months. Sometimes the leather proves to be too hard and inflexible, and binds the foot with bands of steel, and the bones ache and the muscles become benumbed. There are men who can hardly pass a shoe store without a pang, and whose keenest sense of human misery is derived from their experience with new shoes.

It may be held that the shoemakers are not altogether to blame for the miseries which they inflict on their fellow creatures, for many years since women prided themselves on having small waists, and sought by artificial means to make their figures look like hour glasses. But the corset makers were not the parties to be held responsible. The fault was to be charged to a perverted artistic sense, to a conviction that an unnaturally small waist added to the feminine power of fascination. It did nothing of the sort. It only made the female figure look ridiculous, and failed to add the effect of many of the fashions which obtain in shoes on the shape of the foot. But no matter. If the shoe itself, without any reference to the purpose for which it was fashioned, be only an agreeable object to the eye, there will be a man found to put his foot in it.

And what is the result? Hard and soft corns, bunions, much suffering and sometimes profanity. What, too, is the artistic result? Were any artist to paint a picture which bore the slightest resemblance to the most perfect model that could be found among the adult shoe clad population of Europe or America, he would fail to get a place for his work in any respectable exhibition. The deformity is so complexion has it come at last. We must go to the nursery, the savage tribes, or to the antique, if we wish to know what nature intended to create when she fashioned a human foot. Babies, North American Indians, and statues have toes, but civilized men and women have none in use. They have only a compressed mass of bones, muscles, and corns where toes ought to be permitted to grow and expand. But were the fashionable shoemaker daft in the prevailing taste and offer a covering for the foot that would permit a natural growth, he would find no customers. According to the modern conception of what is shapely, nature made a mistake when she fashioned a foot broader at the toes than at the instep. But the modern idea of a pretty foot is about as nearly correct as the recently modern idea of a pretty waist; and were shoes modeled after the exact natural form of the foot, we should soon learn to wonder how we ever tolerated any other shape.

No industrial revolution was ever more complete than the revolution which has taken place in shoemaking during the last twenty-five years. The men we shall have always with us; but the shoemaker has almost completely changed his form. It is to be feared, too, that he is no longer entitled to claim the protection of his tutelar St. Crispin, for he has become the servant of a witch. And such a witch! Driven to its highest capacity a single McKay machine has been known to clap the soles upon 1,200 pairs of new shoes within ten hours, and it takes 300 hands, working in great part with yet other ingenious labor saving machines, to feed one of these insatiable stitchers, and clear away the tables after it has finished. It will be seen, therefore, that the McKay machine is not only a witch itself, but that it is a bore which. In the best provided shops the side stitching, heeling and even the lasting are done by subsidiary machines, and so also would be the cutting, were it not for the imperfections of the leather, which demand the services of a practiced eye in selecting the parts that are fit for each shoe. Yet the work is done with so little effort that a motor of single horse power would drive a half dozen or more of the McKay machines at one and the same time.

After this statement of its capacity it will be seen that it is only fair metaphor and not hyperbole to call the machine a witch. It is unquestionably such, and also would be like cutting, were it not for the imperfections of the leather, which demand the services of a practiced eye in selecting the parts that are fit for each shoe. Yet the work is done with so little effort that a motor of single horse power would drive a half dozen or more of the McKay machines at one and the same time.

After this statement of its capacity it will be seen that it is only fair metaphor and not hyperbole to call the machine a witch. It is unquestionably such, and also would be like saying that the chief seats of its activity should be found at Lynn and Haverhill, cities in the same state with witch killing Salem, and not so distant as to be unsympathetic in their origin. But the city of Lynn, notwithstanding its reputation, is not so much a monopolist as shoemaking as some persons suppose. New York claims everything, and within her wilderness of brick and mortar she is continually evolving phenomena that are a surprise to even her own citizens. Who would believe that within a mile and a half of the city hall, mainly, indeed, within a quarter of a mile of that place, there are almost as many firms of shoe manufacturers as are to be found in either of the cities of Lynn or Haverhill? The statement would not be believed were it not possible to furnish the figures. But it is quite possible to do so, and that in Lynn, 178 in Haverhill, and 178 in New York.

But Lynn will boast of the size of her factories, and point to the annual value of her shoe shoe as evidence of the general superiority. It is certain that she has some pretty large factories, and can point to one firm that turns out 10,000 pairs of shoes each day. But there is a firm in New York that produces shoes to the value of about $1,000,000 annually, and there are others that run well up among the hundreds of thousands. Estimates differ on the comparative value of the products of the two cities, but in this respect we must concede to Lynn a long lead over the metropolis. Judging from the report of goods shipped through Boston between the first of last January and the last of August, and giving to Lynn her due proportion of the total, her annual product cannot amount to much less than $25,000,000, while the annual product of New York is not estimated at more than $10,000,000.

It has been said that the capacity of the shoe manufacturing plant in the United States is equal in three months to the market demands of one entire year. This may be true so far as the shoemaking machines are concerned, but it is evidently not true when the question of skilled workmen for feeding and operating the machines is involved. Say that the manufacturers in this city make 10,000,000 pairs of shoes per year. That would be about the proper estimate on a valuation of $10,000,000. But there are 1,500,000 people of less in New York city alone, and they get into the soups, preserves, jams, molasses, in the milk—everywhere; and they consume enough to get through with pretty nearly 4,000,000 pairs of shoes in one year. Where are the others to demand from there?—New York Sun.

THE CHURCH CONGRESS.

Its Eleventh Sitting at Louisville, Ky., This Year.

THE BISHOP OF KENTUCKY.

HE eleventh church congress of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States sits at Louisville, Ky., from Oct. 18 to 21, and will be a session of rare interest, as almost every vital issue in the church will be discussed by ministers and laymen of great ability. As the head of the laity we find the name of Hon. Morrison R. Waite, chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. As such he is of course known to every American; but it is not so well known that he is also a doctor of divinity, well read in the history and homiletics of his church, and accustomed to bring all the force of his trained legal mind to bear upon the evidences for and against any claim. With him among the laity are Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, LL. D.; Hon. John W. Andrews, LL. D.; Hon. A. S. Hewitt, LL. D.; Professor J. L. Le Conte, the illustrious geologist; Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, Hon. George H. Pendleton and many others.

Rev. Phillips Brooks, D. D., is among the most noted of the clergy who will take part in the discussion. With him are associated the bishops of several states, and Rev. Drs. J. H. Rylance, R. Heber Newton, Arthur Brooks, W. R. McKim, C. C. Tiffany and many others of note. Rev. George D. Wildes, D. D., LL. D., rector of the church of Jamaica, N. Y., is secretary of the congress, and by the rule of the house of bishops will be the first to be discussed includes things both old and new, reaching from St. Peter to Lodowick Muggleton, and from apostolic succession to the "higher education of woman."

PHILLIPS BROOKS.

The session will begin on the morning of the 18th, by the service of the holy communion, at Christ church, Louisville. Then follow an address by Rt. Rev. George William Peterkin, bishop of West Virginia; inaugural address by Rt. Rev. T. U. Dudley, bishop of Kentucky, and memorials of deceased members by the secretary. Then begins the discussion, the first topic being "The Function and Power of the Christian Preacher of Today."

On the 19th the entire forenoon will be given to a discussion on "Higher Education of Woman." The afternoon, to the question of a change in the name of the church and living faith. The 20th day of greatest interest, as on that day several appointed speakers and as many volunteers as there is time for—ten minutes to each—will discuss the long disputed issue of "The Historic Episcopate and Apostolic Succession."

On this interesting subject the lay writer naturally hesitates to pronounce; but as we may freely take the views of a church organ, we quote from The Churchman of New York of Aug. 27: "It is to be admitted that the discussion of this question will be the critical point in the congress. There ought to be no disposition on the part of any of the speakers to make too much of it. The greater danger is that some of them will be disposed to make too little of it. * * * Some are so alive to the value and power of truth that they care but little for the order and institution by which that truth has been conserved in history. Others are so impressed by the importance of these last they lose sight of the intrinsic power of a truth and living faith. The one class is disposed to relegate all questions of order into the category of non-essentials. The other class is equally liable to take the untenable position that faith and order are in all respects to be classified together. What is really desirable is that each of the well known writers and speakers assigned to that topic should seek to emphasize the views which are rather complementary to than identical with those which he has habitually entertained on this subject. The historic episcopate and apostolic succession constitute a great and dignified fact in the history of Christianity."

The Churchman has set the ministers a task that a layman would consider most too much for himself—to emphasize views merely complementary to those he habitually holds: but from the list of speakers set down for this discussion all whose privilege it may be to attend can anticipate a rich mental feast. The topics for the rest of the session are lay co-operation, the basis of representation and prayer meetings.

BUFFALO BILL.

[By Lord Alfred Tennyson, as alleged.]

Thou long of loin, of sunburnt form,
Whose arrow from unerring aim can throw
And hit the bounding buffalo
And quickly make it very warm

For him. O then of bloody season,
Who clashed in battle's rudest shock
With the wild Indians of New York
And grizzly bears of New Orleans.

Who scalped the Sioux on Boston's plains,
And tiere' wild Cincinnati's woods,
And Philadelphia's palisades
Lifted the covering from their brains.

Still let the Brooklyn river flow,
The wild Ohio ocean bear;
Still let the shaggy bison fleet
Tread Pittsburg's forests to and fro;

But then begirt by London scenes
Shall ne'er return to wander more
Thro' the waste wilds of Baltimore,
Or the deep woods of New Orleans.
—Yankee Blade.

Dignified Criticism.

The Commercial Advertiser stumbles on something good once in a while. Apropos of Mrs. Langtry's death scene in "As in a Looking Glass," our contemporary says:

Her contortions here warrant the inference that she has taken a watermelon, rather than chloral. She flops about from chair to chair, with her hands upon the pit of her stomach, like a boy who has partaken too freely of green apples; drops upon a sofa and tears the plush with her teeth; gallops three or four times around the room calling for Algy, and then falls over a trick chair that comes down like a combination bed, and expires just as Algy rushes in to stand over her with one arm stretched out as an angle of ninety degrees, and the other at seventy degrees, thus completing what the programme says is an "affecting tableau."

Could dramatic criticism reach a higher plane of dignity and wit than this?—Life.

"Where's Your High Cality?"

Mr. Lawrence Jerome stands alone in New York as a story teller and wit. He can literally tell funny stories by the hour, and the peculiarity of his case is that it does not matter in the least what company he is in, he is equally happy. He has been known to amuse a party of ladies, a crowd of workmen and a club of practical wits all in one day. As for children, they think no one understands how to please them so well as he. He told a story at the Chamberlin dinner night before last, of a dude running for conGress in a down town district and saying to a lot of longshoremen that he had never been in that locality before. This incensed them to a strange degree. "Low cality! Low cality, is it?" said one of the angry men; "I'what d'ye mane by insulting dacent people that way? If this is a low cality I'd like to know where you'll find a high cality."—New York Sun.

A Tempting Inducement.

Life Insurance Agent—The advantage of our company is that you do not forfeit your policy either by being hanged or committing suicide! Will you oblige me by taking a prospectus?—Judge

Rich Men's Brains.

Omaha Lawyer—I have just heard of the death of your uncle, whom, you know, was an old client of mine.

Nephew—Uncle's dead, eh? Smart man that uncle of mine. Started on nothing and made a million after million without half trying."

"Yes, he was a smart man, there is no doubt of that."

"Smarter man I ever knew. Saw him only a few months ago and his brain was as quick as a steel trap, old as he was. You have charge of the will, I believe?"

"Yes; he left all his money to orphan asylums."

"He did? That will won't stand. He's been a half idiot these twenty years."—Omaha World.

A Boston Allegation.

Rural Swain (courting a young lady from Boston)—I s'pose you kin paint roso jars an' make crazy quilts, an' know all about Browning an' them fellers.

Young Lady (with dignity)—I prize those frivolous accomplishments very little, sir; but I flatter myself that I am fitted for a purely practical, every day life. I can do plain cooking, make good butter, and——

Swain—Gosh all hemlock! marm, of yer did them things ther' hain't a woman in all Pottatoville 'd look at ye. I kin' ford ter hire a gal!—Boston Beacon.

Innocence.

"What a lovely cane that is you have there, Mr. De Garmb," she remarked, as he struggled with a stick nearly as big as himself.

"Yaas," he drawled. "The man I bought that from assured me that it was a piece of the genuine north pole. He procured it from the cook of the Greely expedition. Only one of its kind, yer know, in the country."—Harper's Bazar.

A Word Picture.

"My dear, can you change a ten for me?" asked the wife of a penurious husband when company was present.

"Yes," he answered, with a wild, dazed look, not understanding how his wife was possessed of so much money. "Will you have it in small bills?"

"I meant a ten cent piece," she said meekly. Tableau.—Detroit Free Press.

Highly Connected.

Brown—I hear that your sister is going to marry Mr. Jinks, of New York.

Robinson—Yes, that's so.

"He belongs to a good family, I suppose."

"Well, I should say so. His brother is in the very next cell to Ford Ward."—Texas Siftings.

Anticipation.

A rustic beauty she, a city dandy he.
Ah me!
For very plainly see that there is going to be a tragedy.

But you are off your base, for that is not the case at all.
He passed her coldly by, and she without a sigh,
Lived on till fall.

And then her lover came, Elisha was his name—
Oh, ho!
You see how it will end? Well, then, my sapient friend,
You bet on Snow.

—The Grand Division S. of T. holds its regular quarterly session at Camden to-day. Grand Worthy Patriarch Rev. A. G. Van Aken of New Brunswick will preside. Delegates representing Plainfield Divisions will be present. It is expected that a number of distinguished members of the order from other States will be in attendance.

The entire Grand Jurisdiction is in a very prosperous condition. A new lodge will be instituted at Pemberton on the 31st inst.—New Brunswick Fredonian.

WESTFIELD.

John Ingram, jr., has returned from his visit to friends at Stroudsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Godshalk have returned from their trip to Bethlehem, Pa.

Oliver Heinecke will remove from Westfield this week. He is going to the New Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, for awhile.

Harry Bourne is visiting his old home for a week before starting for his cold weather quarters at Deerfield, Fluvanna. He has just closed a very profitable season at Lake Hopatcong.

The well-known lightning rod man was around among near-by farmers recently, trying to get notes and contracts signed. Notwithstanding the fact that he has been told by the shrewd ones whom he was trying to induce to purchase rods that they were "no good," he is all French, he talked persuasively to them. He promised to repair old rods for a dollar, but that was all. He did not say that they need the contract before signing it, and that was altogether different story. Hence the suave agent was told to leave, and subsequently paying one dollar per foot for lightning rods.

MASONS MAKE MERRY.

A JOLLY NIGHT FOR THE GUESTS OF ANCHOR LODGE.

Five Hundred Men Witness the Conferring of the Master's Degree on Clark W. Evans—All About the Secret Conclave and the Banquet.

There probably never was a larger Masonic gathering in the State of New Jersey than the one assembled at the rooms of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, Free and Accepted Masons, last evening. Besides the fifty-one members of Anchor Lodge there were enough present to swell the number to five hundred, and the names when registered filled eight closely-written sheets of foolscap. Past Grand Master Hamilton Wallis of Brick Church. P. G. M. Wm. A. Penbrook and P. G. M. Henry R. Cannon of Elizabeth. The oldest Mason in the State, Dr. Ross, was one of the most noted in the gathering. He is the father-in-law of R. W. Wm. A. Mr. Moss is Past District Deputy Grand Master of Maine and has been a Mason over sixty years.

Worshipful Master Titsworth. Past Master Ulrich, Past Master Coriell, Past Master Sebring and High Private Chas. W. Dodd, Initial Covenant Lodge, No. 26, were some of the invited ones.

Applegate, member of fourteen societies, was also present.

It was after eleven o'clock before the festivities at the banquet began. And such a merry supper as that was! The tables, which were spread at Miller's, were a marvel of elegance. Over the beauty of it all shone the soft rays of electric lights which glowed behind many-colored glass shades. The lamps were arranged as if on branched candlesticks that stood upright on the tables. Around the brass-work was twined the graceful smilax, and the effect was very pretty indeed. Choice bits of work were two Masonic emblems, one of which was a gilt anchor; the other was an altar surmounted by compass and square. It was one o'clock before the banquet broke up, and for a good hour later stage-loads were still rumbling through the streets. Some visitors remained in town all night.

Clark W. Evans is a son of Ex-Mayor Evans of Plainfield and is a well-known and talented newspaper. He is owner of the Crescent Rink. His welcome to his new degree was congratulations from his friends on all sides.

A HOSTLER INJURED.

Kicked and Thrown Out While Speeding a Frisky Horse.

David Augenbauer, hostler at Blimm's Farmer's Hotel, Somerset street, was badly hurt yesterday afternoon by a runaway horse. The animal is from New York and is being boarded at the hotel mentioned. Augenbauer was exercising it on Mountain avenue, near the Netherwood farm, when without any warning the horse reared and kicked him beneath the chin, throwing him backward from the sulky. Then the animal tore down the avenue through Farragut road and up Front to Somerset street, where Thomas Hughes of Third street stopped him. The vehicle was totally wrecked and its fragments were scattered along the highway. The horse was cut slightly by a fall which he took when caught at the foot of Somerset street.

For some time there was considerable doubt as to Augenbauer's fate. A searching party at length found him lying by the roadside where he had been thrown. He was taken to his home on Front street. Dr. Long was summoned. It was found that no bones were broken, but the hostler will have to keep to his bed for several days at least. His chin and throat are a swollen pulp of flesh and he eats with difficulty. He is badly bruised all over his body.

Around the Glowing Camp-Fire.

Members of the Young Men's Christian Association gathered with invited guests around the camp-fire in their rooms last night and had a right jolly time. Stories were told, songs were sung, and there was no lack of instrumental music. Mortimer Day and Frank and James Halleck picked lively tunes on banjos, and D. E. Davis brought in the heavy notes with his trombone. Townsend Rushmore gave a short and interesting talk on Japan, from which country he recently returned. Refreshments were served from a cooking-stove.

Capt. W. C. Smith's solos—which were rousing army songs—were a pleasing feature of the occasion.

The decorations in the hall were tastily arranged by friends—ladies. Stuffed birds and reptiles, warm rugs, muskets in stacks and other things immunerable were grouped about the blazing gas-logs; and the sight was indeed pretty.

Among those present were a party from the Grand Army of the Republic.

Messrs. C. J. Smith, S. Conkling, J. Frelinghuysen, A. Douglas, G. Dilts and L. C. Ulack were present from Somerville.

When the Light Went Out.

A difficulty with the suction at the Electric Light Works early last evening caused darkness throughout the city for about half an hour. As soon as the trouble with the water-supply was remedied there was again light. At the time when the glow in the lamps suddenly faded, Councilman Bowers was entertaining a few Masonic friends at chronicled yesterday. All were gathered around a beautifully-spread table, and Mr. Bowers was standing by his chair, about to say grace. When the quick clearness fell on those in the room the genial host had just opened with "Our Heavenly Father." The conclusion of his prayer is said to have been less religious Mr. Bowers didn't bless the Electric Light Company in that petition.

PERSONAL.

Rudolph H. Becker of New Brunswick visited Plainfield friends yesterday.

Cards out announcing the marriage of Miss Winnie Baine and Andrew A. Nolan, both of New York. Miss Baine has a large circle of friends and acquaintances in Plainfield. The event will occur the 7th inst.

George Kirkner of Eighth street has returned from the Catskills, where he has been stopping with his mother-in-law, wife of ex-Hon. Jacob Kirkner—and his sister, Miss May Kirkner. He says that he found the weather very cold—just brisk enough to make bicycling a pleasure.

Alonzo Wallace wishes to extend, through our columns, his thanks to Dr. Probasco for the skillful treatment he received in his recent misfortune. Mr. Wallace was painfully injured by falling down stairs about six weeks ago, which resulted in fracturing the bone in one of his hands. The bones did not knit properly, and consequently the doctor was obliged to re-set them. He speaks nothing but praise for Dr. Probasco, whom, he says, has rendered him excellent service.

—Dr. J. W. Wright was to-day nominated by the Democrats for Assembly in the Third District of Middlesex County. Resolutions were adopted denouncing Wm. Fisher, the nominee for Sheriff from their own party.

CHOLERA.

Passengers from Infected Ports Scattered Over the Country.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Britannia, two of whose passengers have been stricken with the cholera, arrived twelve days ago. She is a sister ship to the Alesia. If she carried germs which did not develop until ten days after her arrival, what are the probabilities in the case of the passengers by the Indipendente who were landed within twenty-four hours after reaching this port? The Indipendente touched at Palermo and brought passengers from that port. The cholera record at Palermo previous to the touching there of the Indipendente was alarming.

The Indipendente arrived at this port (at the bar) at one p. m., Saturday, October 15. After being detained at Quarantine until Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, she was permitted to come up to the city and land her passengers. These passengers, nearly all Italians hailing from cholera-infected parts, have been scattered all over the country. Some remained in New York and the rest have gone to Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, New Orleans, St. Louis, Boston, Washington, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Baltimore, Syracuse, Providence and Texas.

Wicked "Thankful" Tanner.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—Monday "Thankful" Tanner, an old woman with a most unsavory reputation, was found dead in miserably furnished room in Ontario street, this city. Coroner West was notified, and an investigation proved that the hag had died of pneumonia, brought on by want and exposure. On searching the room a number of letters of the most startling nature were found. They were addressed to the Tanner woman by men well-known in this city requesting her to furnish young girls for immoral purposes. Coroner West holds the letters and so far has refused to give them up. Should he do so a local sensation of huge proportions will develop. The Tanner woman had been known as a procuress for many years and was at one time wealthy. She was the woman who two years ago got under the feet of Mrs. Garfield's carriage horses and though but slightly hurt and well cared for at Mrs. Garfield's expense, sued her for $50,000 damages. The suit never came to trial. "Thankful" had been convicted of various offenses.

Murderer Gannon Still at Large

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 26.—Sheriff Mays of Vandalia, returned to that city last night after a fruitless effort to bring Alfred Gannon back with him. Gannon murdered his stepson three years ago at Vandalia and escaped after having been sentenced to 14 years' imprisonment. A day or two ago he was captured at Rich Hill, Mo., and Mays came on to take him back. While they were on the train near here Monday night the sheriff got up to give his handcuffed prisoner a cup of water. At that moment the train boy opened the door or the car and Gannon with one bound reached the platform and jumped from the train. As the train was running rapidly Mays did not care to follow, feeling sure the prisoner, manacled as he was, would soon be captured. Gannon, however, made good his escape. A reward is offered.

Rowdy Medicos Fight Police.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 26.—For the last few days the medical students of the Four City Universities have been at war with the police and the city has consequently been kept in a state of turmoil. The tension came to a height Monday night when a large body of police were notified that 400 students would attend the Academy of Music to witness the initial performance of the Grau French Opera Company, and intended to make things lively. The police lay in wait for them and when they emerged from the the theatre, fell upon them and beat them unmercifully. Of course some innocent people were also victims and they are loud in their denunciation of the conduct of the police. Now the rowdy medicos threaten to visit the office of the Gazette and wreck it in return for its exposure of their conduct.

Chilthumpians Cause Death.

ROMULUS, Mich., Oct. 26.—James Feet, aged 32 and Mary Forbes aged 45 were married on Sunday and took up their abode in the south part of this township. Monday evening a crowd of men and boys gathered together for the purpose of "horning" the newly married couple. After making all the racket they thought necessary the crowd left. Mr. Peet's place and moved a short distance to a house occupied by Don Felton, his wife and their six small children. Here they commenced firing off their guns and this so frightened Mrs. Felton that she arose and got a pistol to protect the household. In the excitement she accidentally shot herself in the bowels. She cannot recover.

Philadelphia at a Wedding.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 26.—David T. Keasey, formerly of Plainfield, was married at ten o'clock this morning to Miss Kate Gleason. The ceremony was held at St. Peter's church, Pulhey, O'Grady officiating. After the wedding a reception was held at the bride's parents. Among the Philadelphia present were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keasey, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Keasey, Mrs. J. Keasey, Miss Keasey of the groom, and Miss Fanny Radfeez. The happy couple have gone South.

A Bit of History.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 26.—The death of Elihu B. Washburne suggests a page of history which the Sioux City Journal prints for the first time to-day:

"Mr. Washburne was appointed Secretary of State by Gen. Grant as a temporary expedient. The understanding was that he should hold the office but a few days. A few days before the inauguration Gen. Grant tendered his place to Mr. Wilson, who declined it because the customary expenses of the position would far exceed the salary, and he had no private fortune to draw upon. The tacit, if not expressed, understanding was that Mr. Washburne should occupy the Secretary of State's office, and not undertake to definitely share its policy. A few hours prior to the inauguration of Gen. Grant, Mr. Wilson assented to this proposition. Mr. Washburne was appointed and, contrary to Mr. Wilson's expectations, began almost at once to effect a permanent organization of the office and to make foreign appointments. Mr. Wilson thereupon declined to consider the subject further. Secretary Washburne was soon sent to France and Hamilton Fish succeeded him in the Cabinet."

This revelation of a secret of Gen. Grant's first Cabinet came from Senator Wilson.

Union County Courts.

Court opened in Elizabeth yesterday morning at ten o'clock with Judges McCormick, Harper and Hyer on the bench and the trial of criminal cases was begun.

John Hunter, of Plainfield, who pleaded not guilty of grand larceny, in stealing some clothing from the lines in Mrs. Willis' yard on West Sixth street, by advice of his counsel retracted the plea and pleaded guilty to petty larceny.

The case of the State vs. Joseph Farrell and William King was then put on trial. The charge against them is grand larceny. They are the men who took a horse and buggy, harness and lap-robe from Livery-man Keenan some time ago. They were arrested in New York shortly after and recognized by one of the owners at the Union depot. King said that his right name was Bernard Basch, and that he lived at No. 136 Allen street, New York. He said that he conducted a dejing and cleaning establishment at that place. Farrell is a man respectably connected and he had kept his real name a secret, as he did not want it known among his friends that he had been arrested. On the day he took the rig, August 21, he said he had been to Long Branch and was on his way home. He had a lady companion with him and he concluded to stop and take a ride. He hired the rig with no intention whatever of stealing it. This was the substance of his testimony. The case occupied all day.

An Appeal for the Poor.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.—Contributions are earnestly solicited for the Relief Association. New and pressing needs are constantly arising which call for a full treasury, and it is hoped that the many friends who have so cordially aided it in the past may continue their generous support. Second-hand clothing is also needed, and may be sent to the rooms of the association, 45 West Second street.

T. TWEEDY, Secretary.

STATE NOTES.

The boat Vinson, loaded with 80,000 pressed bricks, which sank in the Raritan River near the mouth of the Delaware and Raritan Canal, has been raised together with its cargo.

Alexander Searle, a colored man, and Frances, his wife, were each sentenced to a year in prison, and to pay a fine of $500 at Trenton, on Monday for receiving stolen goods of people. They had a matrimonial agency in Jersey City, and made considerable money out of the transactions in search of wives. Mrs. Searle took part in the correspondence with the Westerners under the pretence that she was a handsome white woman. Many love letters sent to her were read in Court.

Eugene McCarthy, who was shot in Dr. Theodore R. Hornblower's house in Central Park, Trenton, by Dr. Leighton Hornblower, 3d, was placed on trial in the Court of General Sessions yesterday. Dr. Hornblower re-told the story of the shooting, which is in every corroborated and both positively identified the prisoner as the robber who entered their house. Twenty-seven witnesses were called to prove an alibi for the prisoner. The case was closed and will be given to the jury to-day.

The trial of Phillip Habel, age sixty, for the murder of Thomas Kelly, was begun at Morristown, N. J., yesterday before Judge McGee and a jury in the County of Dyer and Terms. Kelly and Habel were neighbors, and on the night of the murder a party was given at Habel's house, which a number of young people attended. The Habels kept a boarding house and Kelly, not knowing anything about the party, called to see a boarder. Kelly was invited to join in the festivities. There was considerable drinking, and towards midnight a quarrel arose over Kelly's attentions to Habel's wife. Habel finally got a shotgun and fired at Kelly, killing him almost instantly. The case will be continued to-day.

AN OLD PROSPECTOR'S DEATH.

Found White Engaged in a Search for Buried Treasures.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 26.—The report of he drowning in the Atlantic ocean of a remarkable man was received yesterday. He is William Reed, who had a reputation as a mineral and oil prospector. The news comes from Somer's Point, N. J., where Reed is supposed to have gone in search of Capt. Kidd's treasure. Reed was supposed to be worth nearly $500,000, principally in lands. He was penniless, and lived with his wife at Brookville, where he died and is children. He went east a week ago, ostensibly to look after 16,000 acres of land in New Jersey, which he owned, but is believed by his legal adviser and real estate agents to whom he had always confided his plans, that he really went in search of Kidd's treasures.

He was prospecting for the biggest "gusher" in the Baden oil field, indicted to a majority of the gas wells in the vicinity of Bowerley, and when gas was first struck at Bowerley, about a year ago, he is described with having pointed out the wells which would fail and those which would not. He was possessed of a mysterious contrivance with which he could tell where oil was hidden in a room, and which is supposed to be the secret of his success in his prospecting tours.

IMPRISONED IN A TANK.

AN HOUR AND A HALF OF GREAT AGONY AND PERIL.

Imprisoned and Unable to Make His Way Out, with His Clothing Ablaze—Futile Attempts at Rescue—How His Release Was Accomplished.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 26.—A very remarkable accident occurred at the Grant Locomotive works in this city about 1 o'clock last night. Architect McFadden, aged 40, crawled into a water tank which formed a part of the tender of a new locomotive, in order to remedy a slight defect, before the locomotive was sent out of the shop. He entered through the hole on top through which the tank is filled with water, taking with him, besides his tools, an oil lamp and a piece of carpet to put under his knees when he knelt on the hard iron. The interior of the tank is braced with rods running in all directions, and he is like making one's way through the meshes of a series of nets to move about in it.

McFadden entered the tank about 5 o'clock. A few moments afterward the other men heard smothered cries and groans issuing from the hole, and a little later a cloud of smoke came out. He had upset the oil lamp, set fire to his clothing an t the piece of carpet, and was unable to make his way out. One after another of the men entered the hole, but each immediately came out gasping, choking and half smothered with the smoke and gases given off by the oily flames inside. The shrieks of McFadden for help made them more willing to do so, but all in vain. A stream of water was poured in to put out the fire, until it was found necessary to stop lest the victim should drown in the swiftly rising workman. Then a stream of air was pumped in to keep him from suffocating.

The affair caused the most intense excitement. Hundreds of men gathered around the tank making all sorts of suggestions, and again and again venturesome men volunteered to go in, but no one got his body out of the tank. Dr. Ward and W. W. Evans, the manager of the company, offered $100 reward for the man who would rescue McFadden, but it was of no avail. It was a physical impossibility to penetrate far into the tank.

"Then," said Mr. Evans, "tear out the top of the tank."

A hundred hammers and cold chisels were at once at work, and the rivet heads flew in all directions. In fifteen minutes the stout boiler iron was torn away enough to allow the unfortunate man to be rescued. He was nearly dead when he was taken out, for he had been in the tank nearly an hour and a half, having gone in about 5 o'clock and been taken out about 6:30 o'clock. He was frightfully burned about the legs and lower part of his body, and his life is despaired of by many. He was at once removed to the Sisters' hospital, where he now lies in a very critical condition.

Indictments at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 26.—The grand jury presented forty-eight indictments yesterday. The New Telephone company, of Buffalo, is indicted as a corporation for maintaining in the streets a public nuisance. The bill declares its poles and wires to be dangerous. The city has failed to be indicted for murder in the first degree for causing the death of Mrs. Ada Stone. Mrs. Cynthia McDonald, of baby farm fame, is indicted in three bills for causing the death of infants by neglecting to care for them and by administering to them large doses of opiates and anodynes.

Seven More Lives Lost.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 26.—The steam barge Seaglobe, of this city, arrived here yesterday. The Owegatchie left Bay City Saturday night with the barges Morris and Dolphin, loaded with lumber, for Cleveland. Sunday morning about 11 o'clock the tow line broke and the two barges were lost sight of. It has since been learned that the Dolphin turned over and sank almost immediately, taking Capt. Ely, his family and crew of six men with her. The schooner Break rescued the captain and crew of the Morris just before she sank.

More Cholera at New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Two passengers of the steamer Britannia, which arrived from Hoffman's Island, have been stricken with cholera, and it is feared more will be attacked. Luigi Gafornara, a native of Naples, was found to be sick Sunday and died Monday night. Generous Mastriagive, a young woman of 22, is thought to be dying with the disease. Health officers think that none of the other passengers are ill, and that complete precautions have been taken in the way of fumigation and disinfection to guard against any spread of the disease.

A Much Married Man.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 26.—A man named William Freyer, who has been living with his wife for some time past, was arrested yesterday and taken to Pemberville, this state, charged with having committed three women. On May 2, 1874, he married Martha Bidell, a young lady of Crawford county. Later he married a Miss Maggie Stowe, of Pemberville, and has two children by her. On the 31st August 31, 1886, under the name of Ethelbert Proctor, he married Jennie V. Hudson, of Dayton, O., and was living with this wife when arrested.

Texas Train Wreckers.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 26.—Yesterday as the west bound express train from here for Austin was nearing Lolbetter, the engineer saw a man open a switch, which threw the train from a side track leading into a gravel pit. The engineer jumped and saved himself. Fireman Eldridge jumped, but fell under the engine and was crushed to death. The train ran into the gravel pit and left the rails. The conductor saw three men ride away, shooting at him as they did so. Their object in wrecking the train is unknown, as they made no attempt at robbery.

Prohibitionists Getting Ready for 1888.

HARTFORD, Oct. 26.—At a joint conference of the Connecticut state and county Prohibition committees here yesterday a vote was passed requesting the state executive committee to call a state convention and mass meeting early in December, probably in Hartford, to nominate delegates to the national Prohibition convention and to perfect plans for the Connecticut campaign in 1888. A vote was passed unanimously suggesting Walter Thomas Mills, of Ohio, for successor to John R. Pierce as national chairman.

The Suit Against Jay Gould.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The suit by Assemblyman Lauterbach against Gould and associates, to recover several million dollars in securities, alleged to have been misappropriated by the defendants, has been discontinued by order of the plaintiff's, received by cable from Rotterdam. No reason for the action was given. The criminal proceedings, however, cannot be abandoned except on motion of the district attorney, and they will remain in statu quo for the present.

THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO DEAL.

Garrett's Account of the Sensational Transaction.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26.—The News publishes a statement, which it says Robert Garrett made to an intimate friend last week, giving the history of the negotiations that were made for the sale of the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph. It is as follows:

Some time previous to the departure of Mr. Garrett for Europe, a party composed of Mr. Garrett, Jay Gould, Vice-President King and General Counsel John K. Cowen, of the B. and O., and a number of other railroad men and brokers, took a trip up the Hudson on board a yacht. Before returning Mr. Gould offered Mr. Garrett $6,000,000 for the B. and O. telegraph. Garrett positively refused, but said he would not sell for less than $10,000,000. Mr. Gould claimed to pay that figure and the subject was dropped. Before he left, Mr. Gould and Garrett had to say to Gould about the telegraph.

Later Garrett went to Europe, and while there was approached by a syndicate of bankers in Amsterdam, who agreed to buy the B. and O. telegraph for $10,000,000. Jay Gould was kept constantly posted, through reports from his New York correspondents, of every movement made by Garrett.

Meanwhile Jay Gould was in constant communication with the prominent officials of the B. & O., with whom he is well acquainted, and secured their influence and assistance. Acting President Burns, having implicit confidence in Gould, gave his consent to the sale. The time of Garrett's departure from Europe was cabled to Gould, and he urged that the deal must be consummated at once, which was done. Garrett was on the ocean and in ignorance of what was going on. Among those who embarked with him on his return trip was an underwriter, a member of the syndicate, who had in his possession a certified check for $6,000,000, which was to have been handed to Garrett when the legal papers should be signed for the transfer of the telegraph. The plan embraced a powerful telegraphic combination and comprised all existing cable and lines outside of those controlled by Gould.

THE NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

Presidential Proclamation Calling for a General Observance on the 24th Day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—President Cleveland yesterday issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"It is fitting that the mercy of God which have followed the American people during all the days of the past year claim their grateful recognition and humble acknowledgment. By His overruling power He has protected us from war and pestilence and from national calamity. By His gracious favor the earth has yielded its increase return to the labor of the husbandman, and every path is strewn with blessings for comfort and contentment; by His loving kindness the hearts of our people have been replenished with fraternity, peace and a patriotic endeavor, and by His unerring guidance we have been directed in the way of national prosperity.

"To the end that all with one accord testify our gratitude for all these blessings, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 24th day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by all the people in their homes and their churches.

"On that day let all secular work and employment be suspended, and let the people assemble in their accustomed places of worship and with prayer and songs of praise give thanks to our Heavenly Father for all that He has done for us, while we humbly implore the forgiveness of our sins and a continuance of His mercy.

"The families and kindred be reunited on that day, and let their hearts, filled with kindly cheer and affectionate remembrance, be turned in gratitude toward Him who is the source of human happiness and the giver of all that makes the day glad and joyous.

"And in the midst of our worship and our happiness let us remember the poor, the needy and the unfortunate; and by our gifts of charity and ready benevolence, let us increase the number of those who, with grateful hearts, shall join in our thanksgiving.

Drowned While Duck Hunting.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 26.—It is reported here that Charles Meetcham and William Bugby, two well known young men of Madison, were drowned yesterday afternoon while duck hunting from a skiff off Thimble Island. They had spent a profitable day hunting, when an unlucky step by Bugby precipitated him into the water. Being clothed heavily and encumbered with rubber boots, they sank from sight almost immediately, and before help could reach them they had gone. The bodies have not been instituted at once, and toward, nightfall the body of Bugby was found. At last accounts Meetcham's body had not been found.

The party includes Connor, Ward, Tiernan, Richardson, Keefe, Brown and Mike Kelly. They will be joined at Cincinnati by Ewing and Denny. After playing five games in New Orleans, beginning Sunday next and ending Saturday, the team will work its way to California, and play in Stockton Nov. 19. While the New Yorkers are in Cincinnati a special meeting of the directors will be called for the consideration of important matters.

The Georgia Celebration.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 26.—Yesterday opened in Macon with damp and drizzly weather. The event of the day, incident to the arrival of the Davis family, was a reception to Mrs. Davis at the Lanier mansion. A small multitude of ladies gathered to pay their respects. Last night a reception on a grand scale was given in honor of Miss Winnie Davis by the "Thalia club," which was largely attended. Governor Gordon and staff arrived yesterday from Atlanta, and today Jeff Davis' remains will be exhumed from all parts of this and adjoining states. Fully 30,000 visitors are in the city.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—John Lloyd Thomas, the well known Prohibitionist, has sent a challenge to Dr. McGlynn, for a public debate at Cooper Union on Sunday, Oct. 30, on the question whether prohibition or the land value taxation system would result in the greater benefit to humanity.

PREPARATIONS TO HANG.

THE DOOMED ANARCHISTS GIVING UP ALL HOPE.

Elaborate Precautions Against Attempts at Rescue—The Jail to be Guarded at Every Point—Military Will be Within Easy Call, if Needed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The central detective force, consisting of thirty patrolmen in citizens' clothes, has been reenforced by six expert detectives. This increase was made from the police force at the general public concerning the coming date of the Anarchists' execution, and is merely one of the precautionary measures taken by the police to insure peace and order.

A guard of the stations throughout the city a number of officers are detailed for the same duty of maintaining surveillance on the movements of suspected Anarchists in their respective districts. As the day approaches and apprehensions increase, the vigilance of the police is redoubled, and not a vessel, band, gee-bucket, or any society of dubious title or secret motives can land in a session without its quota of police agents in attendance. The heads of the department assert that they are informed of the comings and goings, plans and projects of every group and individual Anarchist in the city.

Preparations are already making for the great anti-Anarchist drama of Nov. 11. Already orders have been given, it is said, to the Second regiment, National Guards, to be on duty for a full week, or perhaps longer, prior to Nov. 11, at their armory, or wherever else their services may be required. The possibility of a riot at the execution will be called upon to do the same. It is said, however, that neither of the regiments will be called from their respective armories in the case of absolute need. It is also said on authority that the entire block, on which the county jail and criminal court building are, will be cordoned with police, and all the North Clark street buildings abutting on the jail will be guarded with police officers, and no one allowed to enter the vicinity after the hanging of the condemned men.

The gloom which has marked the condemned men, with one exception, for several days past, still continues to deepen, for the exception is that of Parsons, who still indulges in his chronic flippant good spirits, and laughs and jokes with those who call upon him. The others, however, no longer make any attempt to conceal their feelings or to blind themselves to the fate which threatens them. It is asserted by certain persons that Governor Oglesby will grant the condemned men a brief respite, so that they will not be limited to a bare fortnight to prepare themselves for death.

If the United States supreme court decision is adverse to the Anarchists the guard upon the condemned will at once be doubled and the freedom which they have hitherto enjoyed will be curtailed. No one will be allowed to visit them. This precaution will be taken to avoid the possibility of any one furnishing the prisoners with poison or other means of suicide.

Quite a sensation was caused yesterday among the inmates of the women's department of the jail by an official request that they help make the shrouds and caps to be used at the execution of the condemned men. Some of the inmates refused to do the work required, and were even anxious to participate in the ghastly work, but others were strongly opposed to rendering any aid. The request was made during the noon hour, and it is estimated that it may be necessary to have the work done outside the jail. The material—white unbleached muslin—has already been purchased. Each shroud will be made after a bag, only with holes at both ends, and gathered closely at the top. The hoods will be half a yard in width and three feet in length, gathered together at the top, which will be about ten inches across. The material is cut into the necessary shape, and sewing machines but the caps. Sheriff Matson asked yesterday of the crowd of women confined in the same prison with the seven condemned Anarchists.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Counsel on both sides in the Chicago Anarchist cases are preparing the arguments which they will make before the United States supreme court tomorrow. It is probable that Gen. Pryor and Gen. Butler will speak in support of the petition for a writ of error, and that Attorney General Hunt, of Illinois, will ask formal leave of the court to make an oral appeal on behalf of the state and in opposition to the petition. The habeas corpus counsel for the Anarchists, said yesterday that he had not sent a telegram to Chicago suggesting discouragement or doubt as to the granting of the writ, and that the report in circulation to that effect was entirely without foundation.

Delancey Nicoll Nominated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Assistant District Attorney Nicoll was this morning informed by the committee who notified him of his selection as Republican nominee for district attorney that he could not accept a nomination which implied a discrimination against Mr. Martine, to whom, fully as much as to himself, was due the credit for successful prosecution of the aldermanic boodlers. This is in accordance with Mr. Nicoll's original statement that he would not accept a nomination by the Republicans unless Mr. Martine were put on the ticket as the judge of general sessions, for which office he has already been nominated by the Democrats. The county convention last evening substituted the name of Mr. Martine for that of Judge Wyngo. The balance of the ticket is as published yesterday.

Frightened to Death.

LYONS, N. Y., Oct. 26.—A case of literal frightening to death has just occurred in the town of Sodus. On Sunday night a farm laborer, James Van Wycklin, became intoxicated, started to walk to his home, several miles distant. About midnight he reached the residence of Mrs. Ellen Ketchum, which he thought was his own. The woman, nervous, timid and about 50 years of age, Van Wycklin, unable to open the door, began to batter it and to smash in the windows. Mrs. Ketchum thought her house attacked by burglars, and was found by her grandson in a terrified condition in the room. Van Wycklin, finding his mistake, continued his journey, and the grandson hastened for help. Mrs. Ketchum remained unconscious for several hours, and died from the effects of fright during the morning.

Proposed National Union of Miners.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26.—An earnest effort is being made to unite the coal miners throughout the entire country into one national organization. The Miners' National assembly No. 135, Knights of Labor, has issued a circular that will probably change entirely the relations between the miners in the different parts of the country. The circular invites delegates to a convention to meet with the Board of the Miners' assembly with a view of agreeing upon a plan for amalgamation. There are about 250,000 miners in this country. The Knights of Labor claim 50,000 of this number and the Federation 14,000.

DALLAS.

What is Said About the Wind at the Texas Capital—Other Advertisements.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Miss Sophie Dallas Morton, whose approaching marriage with Secretary Bayard is announced, was born in Washington and is now nearly 20 years old, although she appears younger looking. Her father, Frank Morton, was the first secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and held several important positions in Washington. He fell into difficulties in his old age because his sympathies were with the south, in consequence of which he lost a fortune and died a poor man, leaving his family in destitute circumstances.

Miss Morton has been employed in the state department since 1879 or 1880, as has been her sister Mary, who is married to which one of the sisters should be discharged. Mr. Blaine personally examined their work and informed the chief that one of them was indispensable. In view of her knowledge of the languages, and the other kept the records in such systematic order that he would discharge neither.

MURDEROUS ITALIANS.

Dastardly Attempt to Burn to Death Thirty of Their Countrymen.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 26.—An attempt to burn thirty Italians asleep in a house in the town of Grand Rapids, Kent county, was frustrated Monday night by the timely warning of one who awoke and found the building in flames. The incendiary was one used by an Italian, King Santo Garfalo, who was keeping a sort of store, with rooms above for the Italians at work on the new Grand Rapids, Lansing and Detroit road, five miles south of the city. There have been hard feelings existing between this crew and a crew of fourteen who are working on the road for Fitch & Gay. About 16 o'clock Monday night an unknown man crept into a vacant room and set fire to the house and then joined a party on the outside. Meanwhile, the doors and windows every effort to keep the inmates from escaping. They, however, managed to get out, many of them having all their clothing on. No effort will be made to find the guilty ones and punish them. It was a narrow escape for all, as they had retired early and were sound asleep when the alarm was made.

HAPPENINGS IN EUROPE.

EXCITED AND INDIGNANT CROWDS IN THE STREETS OF CORK.

Mutual Objections to the Rapid Increase of Royal Paupers—Bismarck Inviting Confidence—Visit to Amsterdam Prince Ferdinand—A Dead Dynamiter, Etc.

CORK, Oct. 26.—The city of Cork is in a state of intense excitement. The populace is in the streets and detachments of military and police are parading the thoroughfares. The mayor, the high sheriff, Messrs. Dillon, Flynn, O'Hea, Lane, Cox, Tanner, Healy and Hooper, M. P.'s, are counseling the crowds not to give the armed forces a chance to murder them.

The excitement is the result of the government proclamation forbidding the holding of a meeting of the citizens in the corporation hall this evening, and which the recorder of Cork being permitted to adjudicate in Mr. William O'Brien's appeal case against the decision of the Mitchelstown magistrates, the recorder being a pronounced government partisan. Three hundred military and police seized the corporate chambers, preventing the entry of the mayor, the corporation and the reporters, and even the clerks of the corporate offices were refused admission.

Subsequently the military were evaded and a meeting was held in the chamber of commerce. The mayor presided, and Catholic and Protestant clergymen, the members of parliament previously mentioned and influential citizens were present. Resolutions were passed protesting against the recorder being permitted to adjudicate in Mr. O'Brien's case, and also protesting against the criminal and unconstitutional action of the government in proclaiming the peaceful city of Cork, and against the seizure of the corporate chambers, the citizens' property.

The authorities are marching armed forces through the streets, and it is feared that a collision will ensue. Tremendous excitement prevails. The city of the proclamation was publicly burned by the mayor.

Too Many Royal Paupers.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The incapacity of the Princess Beatrice is the general topic of comment and suggests the possibility of a strenuous opposition to the grant to Mr. Radicals at the next session of parliament to further grants to members of the reigning family. There is nothing new in this, to be sure, but as it is now the first session since Beatrice gladdened the heart of her mother by ushering into the world her first pensioner upon the bounty of the people of England the liberal party is more strongly than necessary to formulate stipulations limiting the frequency and number of children to be provided for, or curtailing the usual emoluments for such purposes.

Gladstone's Growing Confidence.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Mr. Gladstone arrived at the seat of the marquis of Ripon, near Ripon, York county, yesterday. He made speeches at several stopping places en route, including Leeds, where he was greeted by an immense crowd. In response to the demand of the people for a speech, Mr. Gladstone said that events of the past week showing conclusively that the policy of the government in Ireland was going from bad to worse. The tide was flowing in powerful currents, and would quickly be overwhelming the tories, thus relieving him of any anxiety he had formerly felt respecting the length of the home rule struggle.

The Case of Sir Wilfred Blunt.

DUBLIN, Oct. 26.—The trial of Mr. Wilfred Blunt opened yesterday morning at Woodford. Mr. Ronan appeared as counsel for the prosecution and Mr. Harrington, M. P., for the defense. Mr. Harrington objected to the constitution of the court on the ground that the magistrates lacked special authority from the viceroy to hold an adjourned court. The objection was overruled. Mr. Harrington then applied for summonses against Magistrate Byrne for assault upon Mr. Blunt. Decision on this point was postponed. The case is still on.

Jenny Lind Hopelessly Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Although the public received no intelligence of the condition of Jenny Lind to-day, privately no hope is entertained of her recovery. Schools Closed for Lack of Coal.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 26.—On account of the scarcity of coal, caused by the strike of the coal miners in this district, the public schools had to be closed to-day. THE SWEDISH SONGSTRESS

WHO TOOK NEW YORK BY STORM IN 1850.

A Lonely Little Girl, Whose Song to a Cat Brought Her to Fame—How Jenny Lind Won the Hearts of the American People by Her Melody.

N the 1st day of September, 1850, 25,000 people stood upon the wharf of New York city, awaiting eagerly the steamer Atlantic. No such crowd had gathered there since the arrival of Lafayette. These Americans were not there to greet a monarch or a great politician—they were awaiting the arrival of a songstress, indeed; one who had won the hearts of Europe. They were awaiting a plain and simple Swedish girl; but that girl was Jenny Lind. Public curiosity had been stimulated to an unwonted degree, and the mass of many resources, P. T. Barnum, had advertised with an ingenuity never even for him. Jenny Lind's early childhood (when she was left alone all day in a tenement house and sang to her cat for company), her romantic girlhood as an elevе in the royal opera at Stockholm, her triumphal tour of the capitals of Europe and the popular ovation on her return to Stockholm, had all been told in fascinating detail in the American papers, and so 25,000 people greeted her at the wharf with long continued cheers.

A week after 3,000 persons gathered in front of Dr. Brainerd's church to witness the second John N. Genin, a popular hatter. Then, so rapidly that the auctioneer could not utter a word, the rivals ran the price up to $225, at which point Mr. Genin declared he would purchase. It made his fortune. "Genin the hatter" was soon a household phrase in every part of the United States, a phrase for many years of sarcasm. Colonel minstrels made their wittiest jokes on it; paragraphists parodied it; a witty contributor to The Saturday Evening Post wrote in the antique or Bible style "A Chapter from Jenny-Sis," burlesquing Genin, which had an immense run. But all the time his hats sold by the hundred thousand. Many other things were sold at high prices, but none to compare with Genin's. The auctioneer on the first night, Sept. 12, fell but little below 7,000; and the total receipts were $20,000. There was in fact a Jenny Lind mania—a sort of epidemic from which pessimistic moralists drew sad conclusions. Five acres of canvas at Castle Garden were used for lodging being packed nightly; but the receipts were much less, as more popular prices were established.

CASTLE GARDEN IN 1850.

The usual experience is that such overwrought expectations are disappointed and the popular idol falls too low, as he or she had been raised too high. But in Jenny Lind's case the zeal and enthusiasm critics confirmed the enthusiasm of the people. The New York papers exhausted the terms of musical art in describing her voice. In its next issue The New York Tribune said:

"We never heard tones which in their sweetness went so far. They brought the most distant and ill seated auditor close to her. Their pure tones, every one of them, and the whole air had to take the law of their vibrations. Song in her has that integral beauty which at once precludes it as a type for all, and is most naturally worshiped as such by the multitude."

The test piece of the evening was Jenny Lind in Casta Diva; but the great public put its most enthusiastic approval on her single songs, and most of all upon her famed Swedish Echo Song. Many thousands of today it seems incredible that her rendition of this should have produced such a furore; but the few now living who heard still warm at the recollection. A day or two after the evening's performance Mr. Barnum announced that Jenny Lind's third of the gross receipts amounted to $10,000, and as an expression of her feeling at the grand welcome by the new world, she donated the entire amount to the charities of the city—$3,000 to the fire department fund, $2,000 to the Musical Fund Society, $500 each to ten asylums. The cheering that followed may be imagined. The singer was escorted to her hotel by an immense crowd, and all her stay in New York was a continued ovation. Then followed her great tour of the country, and after that her marriage to Otto Goldschmidt. In her ninety-three regular concerts in this country the receipts had been $300,000; and at the Boston sale of first seats Oscar F. Dalke, himself a singer of some note, outbid Barnum to pay up $625 for the first choice of seats.

Jenny Lind was born in Stockholm, capital of Sweden, in 1820, and was early left an orphan. The working woman who cared for her often had to leave her in her room alone all day while the former went to her tasks. One day in passing along the narrow street an I heard a singularly sweet voice, that of a child singing a lullaby to a cat. Next day an lady came with an old music master named Croelius. The child sang to him and he was delighted. He took her to Count Puke, director of the Royal Opera, and asked that she be made an actress for the opera. "Absurd," said the count. "Look at her JENNY LIND. big feet, and such a face." We can do nothing with such an ugly child." But he relented when he heard her sing; she became an elevе, and at the age of 14 was thought sufficiently finished to appear as the beggar girl, singing in the streets, in a popular opera. The public was delighted, but the managers wisely decided to wait till she was grown before having her make a regular debut. Then she took Stockholm by storm, and for the ensuing twelve years was the great songstress of the world. She then married Otto Goldschmidt, a poor young German musician, at least ten years her junior; they resided in Boston, and have always been realists in a work of London. She has one daughter and two sons —neither with any musical talent whatever. Her voice retains but little of its old time sweetness, and her dress is so very plain and old fashioned that strangers often smile at the odd appearance of the "little old woman" they see in the adjacent streets or park, without dreaming that these are the once noted Jenny Lind. But she is quite popular in society, and is a special favorite with the queen and royal family. She is extremely charitable, and devotes much time and money to the education and industrial training of poor girls.

And now the telegraph brings the sad news that she is stricken with paralysis, and the physician apprehends that the beautiful, useful life is probably near its close. It is added in a postscript that she is but 67 years old, there is hope of recovery; but in any event activity and song are at an end for the once devotedly loved, madly idolized Jenny Lind.

BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Meeting at Springfield, Mass.—The Andover Controversy.

The meeting of the American board of foreign missions which has been in session at Springfield, Mass., was one of the most important ever held by the organization, inasmuch as it dealt with the Andover controversy. We present today portraits of E. W. Blatchford, the new president of the board and presiding officer, and the Rev. N. G. Clark, senior foreign secretary.

"What is the Andover controversy?" asks the typical layman. Briefly stated, it is this: Does a missionary to the heathen err, and is a professor in a theological seminary guilty of heresy, when the former preaches, and the latter sustains him in it, that there is a second probation, after death, to the heathen and such as have not yet "decisively rejected Christ in this world?" This is the main issue; but around it have grown up a lowly of minor issues, which took form in charges against Prof. Egbert C. Smith, of the Andover ecclesiastical history, that he has taught doctrines tending to weaken men's absolute faith in the Scriptures as the only infallible rule of faith and practice, and has thus undermined the piety quite as much as the clergy. The board of visitors of the Andover Theological Institution held a meeting June 4, 1887, and voted that the charges were not sustained against Professors William J. Tucker, John W. Churchill, George Harris and Edward J. Hinks; but as to the main defendant they found:

"That Egbert C. Smith, as such professor, maintains and inculcates beliefs inconsistent with and opposed to the creed of said institution * * * in the following particulars, to wit: That the Bible is not the only perfect rule of faith and practice, but is fallible and untrustworthy, even in some of its religious teachings; that there is and will be probation after death for all men who do not decisively reject Christ during their earthly life, etc., etc." They there- REV. DR. N. G. CLARK. fore decreed his removal from the professorship. The decision was at once appealed to the supreme court, and the missionary side of the controversy was left to the American board in session at Springfield for the week to October 1 last year, at Des Moines, the board only acted so far as to refuse to send out missionaries sympathizing with "the new theology." The voting members of the board are 220, of whom 98 are Massachusetts men. When the meeting was held the city was crowded. Hotels and private houses were overflowing with the unusual number of visitors, and many hundreds were lodged in neighboring towns. Indeed the popular interest was like that, as historians tell us, felt in a great council of the church in the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh centuries.

EX-GOVERNOR WASHBURN.

A Short Sketch of Massachusetts' Distinguished Citizen.

In the death of Governor William B. Washburn, Massachusetts loses another of that brilliant family which has contributed so many men to the public service of the nation and various states. Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts and Wisconsin have each chosen governors from this family (not brothers, but of the same stock), and three brothers were in congress at one time, including the noted Elihu B. Washburne, of Galena, Ills., the earnest friend of Gen. Grant and the illustrious maintor of Freedom.

William Barrett Washburn was born in Winchenden, Mass., on Jan. 31, 1820, and was educated at Oxford academy and Yale college, from which he was graduated in 1841. He first engaged in the manufacturing business, but in 1850 he entered the state senate and in 1854 the lower house. He identified himself with the Republican party from its organization, and was sent to congress in 1862 by the people of his district. In 1871 the state called him to the governorship and in 1872 he was elected governor. In 1873 he was re-elected again, but was called from his seat to fill the place that Charles Sumner left vacant in the senate by his death. He remained in the senate until 1875, after which he returned to private life, Greenfield, Mass., was his home, and for many years he was president of the Greenfield bank. He was elected a trustee of Yale college, of the Massachusetts Agricultural college and of Smith college, of Northampton, and held the same office of the board of overseers of Amherst from 1864 to 1877. Harvard college conferred upon him the degree of LL.D. in 1872.

THE FAMILIES.

THE WIVES AND CHILDREN OF THE CONDEMNED ANARCHISTS.

Something About the Women Who Can Only Suffer, and the Little Ones Who Cannot Yet Comprehend the Reason for Their Father's Punishment.

Since the last decision of the Illinois supreme court in the matter of the remanding of Chicago anarchists, Mrs. Lucy Parsons has completely broken down and is the object of much sympathy. She is a native of Texas, with a strain of Mexican blood, and lives with her two children in a humble tenement on Milwaukee avenue, Chicago. Lulu Parsons, the older child, is a very bright girl of 10 years. Albert, named for his father, is 7. Both are of unusual intelligence, the boy especially, he having a fondness for investigation and a constructive talent rare in one so young.

CHARLEY. MRS. FISCHER. EMMA. ADOLPH.

Mrs. Johanna Fischer, wife of Adolph Fischer, is totally different in style and age from Mrs. Parsons. Did not one know of the mysterious law attracting opposites, he could but be amazed to find so gentle and soft spoken a lady the wife of an Anarchist. She knows nothing of the doctrines her husband taught. Her maiden name was Bfantz, she was born in Indiana in 1860, and married in St. Louis in 1881, when her husband was but 19 years old. She is the mother of three children, the youngest born the day after her husband was condemned to death, Oct. 10, 1886. In her profound grief she rejoiced that the newly born was a boy, and named him Adolph for his father.

MRS. NEEBE AND CHILDREN. SAMUEL AND ALICE FIELDEN.

Her oldest, Emma, is nearly 6, and a very pretty, bright and cheerful girl. Charlie, 3 years old, completes the list. Of these children Mrs. Fischer devotes herself, suffering quietly and patiently, and allowing no complaint to escape the officers to pass her lips.

She is well educated in German, her parents in St. Louis being well to do and intelligent people; but she can only speak English so as to be understood in the simplest conversation.

Oscar Neebe has three orphaned children, living with their aunt, the wife of Louis Neebe. Their mother died last March, and her funeral was made the occasion of a great anarchist parade. Her portrait indicates a lady of gentle and affectionate nature, and such she was; the children resemble her in that as in person. Lillie, 13 years old, is quite a scholar, speaks and writes English and German fluently, and fairly well advanced in French, music, history and the common branches. She acts the part of mother to the younger ones—Nellie, 11 years old, and Oscar, 7. The shadow of the great tragedy rests upon the oldest girl, but the two younger children are cheerful and vivacious. Their father, now in the state prison at Joliet, stated his wish that the children should not be allowed to see him in his prison garb, hoping that they would grow up with very little impression of his case; so they are not likely to see him again, as only rarely are many years.

The family of Michael Schwab, a wife and two children, live in a pleasant residence on Hudson avenue. She is a sister of the Rudolph Schnaubelt who, the police think, threw the bomb. He fled at once and is safe in Europe. Only five years ago she came to Chicago with her husband and soon after married Schwab. She is a graduate of the Zurich university, and was for a time editor of The Arbeiter Zeitung. When the verdict was pronounced she fell in a dead faint upon the floor of the court room and has since lived in quiet, constant misery. Her oldest child, Anna, is nearly 4; Rudolph, named for her fugitive brother, is 2. Both are very attractive and spend a great deal of time in the courts during the sessions of the senate and where they are great favorites. Mrs. Schwab is almost as quiet and reserved as Mrs. Fischer, but says that as far as she understands she is a socialist, though not an anarchist.

Mrs. Fielden, wife of the only English man among the anarchists, is a thoroughly practical and conservative Briton, with a clear blue eye, pleasant face and ally manner. She is opposed to all revolutionary schemes and knows nothing whatever about anarchism. Her husband, too, seemed to be equally conservative till he fell into the society of anarchists at Chicago. He had been a Wesleyan Methodist local preacher in England, and was always a hard working, temperate and domestic man. Of their two children, Alice is 5 and Samuel 1 year old—both bright, clear skinned and good average children. There is some hope of Fielden's sentence being commuted. Of the remaining prisoners, Lingg is unmarried and Spies only married by proxy, while the others have left families in Europe. Spies' youngest, however, is an unmarried lady, and visits him occasionally.

BRILLIANTS.

To each his sufferings; all are men
Condemned alike to groan;
The tempered clay must hard as iron be,
The softening fire for stone.

The settled mind is free from fortune's power.

That they should be are ones self evil every hour.
For, when they fall, they headlong tumble soft.

Are with their persons and their parts content.

HOMES OF LITERARY FOLK.

A Peep at the Domesticity of Men and Women Who Write for the Public.

Curiosity about the wives of literary men or the husbands of literary women never dies out, so deep rooted is the impression that genius or even moderate talent is unco hard to live with. The wife of Charles Dudley Warner is an attractive woman, handsome, interested in the best things of the time. The couple are childless, but thoroughly happy in their home. Anna Katherine Green, the writer of the "Leavenworth Case," ranks among the best known detective stories of the time, is the mother of a family of little children, handsome sturdy youngsters devoted to their pretty mother. Mrs. Green is light and airy herself when she doesn't use her pen name, is the best of housekeepers in her home in South Brooklyn, and her husband guards her leisure with jealous care. Brander Matthews and his wife are always seen together, and are a devoted pair. Mrs. Kate Upson Clarke is as costly dressed in her tastes as if she had never touched a pen.

Mrs. Laura Holloway has made herself a home by her literary work, and keeps it a model of neatness. She never writes when too big to call her mother. Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis, whose short stories are apt to have a melancholy turn, is a vivacious body, a thorough society woman, handsome, with a son who has reached man's estate. She and her husband, Mr. L. Clark Davis, of The Philadelphia Inquirer, are a home loving pair, never happy enough to send so beautiful a woman notes, and her home on Seventy-third street is furnished with a rare feeling for color and harmony. It is a very cozy, delightful place, and has a book look withal. Mrs. Livermore is a grandmother of the first order, and her grandchildren swing on the gate of her big old house in Melrose and romp in it. Julian Hawthorne is the best of husbands, and there are seven children in his home. Cable has half a dozen young folks and a serene home life.

Mary Mapes Dodge is a busy woman in fact as on paper, and paints and embroiders with considerable skill. Mrs. Burnett is childless, but has a house with many things to finish his studies as an oculist, and the pair are one in their devotion to old armor and various antiques bric-a-brac and to their fine old library. Frank Stockton's wife is a clever woman, and Stevenson's wife has something of a literary reputation of her own. Howells makes a fresh study of his wife for every one of his heroines, and it is putting the severest test to their domestic happiness to say that she doesn't resent it. Louise Chandler Moulton is a very charming daughter, and she and her husband, Mr. William C. Moulton, of The Boston True Flag, are an entirely united couple. Mrs. Lucy Lillie has adopted a couple of children because the mother instinct was so strong in her. Literary marriages are not such bad things after all.—Kansas City Times.

Passengers for Newark will change cars at

DEACON BURDETTE.

Mr. Newsboy Sore, reaching out for a button-hole—What's going on, old man! Mr. Busy Man, dodging—I am.

NOT VISIT THE THEATRE.

The nuns in the Via Merulana convent in Rome, it is said, never "see a man." Enough; they do not know the taste of cloves.

EAR, EAR!

Mr. John Case (the candidate)—Doctor, my ear aches all the time; what do you suppose is the matter with it? Doctor (after careful examination)—Growing pains.

TOUCHED THE PLATE.

"Our dinner table," said Mr. Newboarder, pleasantly, as he studied the pattern of the cloth, "reminds me of a time table." "And wherever?" inquired the prompter. "More figures than fodder," was the soft answer which turned on the wrath.

THE FATE OF PYGMALLION.

"Pig in a poke to the well, or done to the house," says The Farmer's Friend, "mean death." You feed death to the pig. It's pretty hard to locate the pen so as to change this fatal signification.

THE UNPARDONABLE SIN.

Justice Lynchsnap—Your fine is $20. Astonished Lawbreaker—Twenty dollars! For getting drunk? Justice—No, for getting caught. Hundreds of people get drunk every day and I don't fine 'em a cent. Only fine those who get caught.

KISSING A SA-LAM.

"Leave the door ajar, please," said the merchant, courteously. And the visitor from Africa-ca, as he went out, fetched it to with half a bang, yanking off the knob, springing the hinges, and leaving a jar that rattled every window in the building. Alas if you'll believe it, the merchant got mad. You don't see how to please some men, because they don't know what they want themselves.

THE PARLOR IS MORE "SWELL."

"There is plenty of room at the top," is there, my boy? Oh, no; that's only some more of the young man's encouraging nonsense. There's less room at the top than anywhere else in the whole pyramid. Unless society is built upside down, there is the most room at the bottom. There's only room for one at the top. Less at our free country; 50,000,000 of people at the bottom and middle, and only one person at the top. That's the way the world is—50 millions of subjects and only one King. There is room and room and plenty of room, you stay at the bottom with the rest of us. Mighty lonely and narrow at the great.

"OUT OF THE CRADLE ENDLESSLY ROCKING."

Heaven in the best gift to man was woman, and man's best gift to woman was the rocking chair. It is her comfort of comforts. It is a rest for the weary woman; she rocks her troubles away; the swinging how casts off the dust; it is a solace in hours of sorrow; even a common rocker that driveth men mad as with the clatter of seven-score of scant-witted woman, is comfortably to her: her air castles, built on the restless rocker, must lean like the cripples towers of Pisa; the rocker fills a void in social gaps; if there is no one with whom she may talk, she rocks; if she hasn't love company she rocks and talks, and sews, and sews; she rocks and knits; she reads and sketches. She rocks and does things that a man can only accomplish under conditions of motionless, deathlike stillness. She rocks and threads a needle as calmly as though the age of miracles had not passed; no human photographer would sit in a room with a camera in her lap and placidly rock on a group of rocking chairs, each occupied by men in reverse of various gaits. The rocker is to her a sedative, a narcotic, a stimulant. It is to her what a cigar is to a man, and a woman a rocker and a man in a rocking chair are equally misfitted. The rocker is a certain sign of grace; he she "mad as a hornet" a few minutes of vigorous rocking restores her perturbed spirit, and by the time she has rocked herself out of breath the gentle, lulling motion of the swaying chair tells of that sunlighted calm that dispossessed the storm, and peace reigns in her loving breast. Like the cradle of the miner, it gently rocks away the grave and earthy, and leaves the medium of fine gold only. She rocks all the way of her pilgrimage, up the hill of difficulty, past the chained lions down into the Valley of Humiliation, across the narrow land of Ease, through the troubled tide, through the fightings without and fears within, past all dangers, doubts and cares clear up to the borders of Beulah land. She rocks, rocks, rocks. Out of the first cradle she presents you boy for your little self to rocking chair, and the last time it rocks grandchildren see her sitting up, the dear, loving, tho' blessed grandma is notify you again in a high backed rocker, dreaming again of the years when her day dreams were woven in that little rocker, now the property of the newest granddaughter. In all the years your boy has changed his toys and sweethearts and lounging chairs with every changing style, but your little girl has never outgrown the long out of a rocking chair. A home without a rocker would be like a farm without an orchard: it would still be a farm, but its crown jewel would be missing. A woman will have written "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," away with the man pretender. No dare claim it, in the very face of unassailable internal evidence, and she claims it as "verably rock?" oh, she wanted to be rocked in a rocking chair. If she ever became "cradle," then do I fully believe in the transmigration.

As for me, I is not a natural rocker. He may acquire the habit, as a trotting horse may be taught to pace, but the "arm chair" is marred in its helpless. Man is a lounger; a foot rest goes with his chair. A steamer chair is about his size. The price combination of a sofa and an easy arm chair and a matchless five o'clock tea where to hang my feet," says a wise man, "and I care not where you put the rest of my body." Half convinced that he was made a little lower than the angels, he has been trying ever since to get his feet up to Elysian altitudes, and so he sails through life on the small of his back, with his feet reaching above him, guarding an angle of four palpable, dusky angels they are, yet nevertheless he likes to look at them. You never yet saw a man with few feet, and clumsy that he didn't like to have them where he could see them when he sat down.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Egypt, Then, vs. Egypt of Old.

Mr. Hayseed's wife who has returned from church—Well, was the sermon about?

Mrs. Hayseed—Nothin' about Joseph goin' down to Egypt to buy corn.

Mr. Hayseed—Did the dominie say what corn's worth down there?—The Epoch.

A question of Plurals.

Said a little boy who was pursuing his musical education at the piano with his little sister: "Now, mamma, when there's two of us, oughtn't we to say 'do, re,' instead of 'do, re, mi'?"—The Epoch.

What the Old Hen Said.

Into the house it came running,
And began to scratch all his curls,
Over his head richly clustered
As bright and as fair as a girl's.

"My precious, my pet, my darling!"
"Now, now!" the old hen," quoth he,
"Because when we meet, 'list your legs' call!
Get your feed like the rest!" and I see

JOTTINGS.

—The ladies' fair of the Scotch Plains Baptist church will be held Nov. 22, 23 and 24.

—Father Smythe officiated at the special October devotions in St. Mary's Church last evening.

—Many young people are arranging to appropriately celebrate Hallow-een, next Monday night.

—Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company will tender a reception to their many friends on the 2d inst.

—The Y. W. C. T. U. will hold a devotional meeting in their new rooms on East Front street next Tuesday afternoon beginning at four o'clock.

—The Rev. W. E. Honeyman, will this evening at eight o'clock lecture in Reform Hall. He has chosen for his subject: "Mormonism in Utah, as I saw it."

—The costumes worn by Fanny Davenport in "Fedoria" are said to be the most beautiful ever seen upon the stage, being all new, and marvels of the dress-maker's art.

—A stone flagging is being laid on Mercer avenue, near Grove street. North Plainfield, in place of the board walk which had become broken and therefore dangerous.

—About twenty-seven witnesses went to Elizabeth on the 8:40 train this morning to give testimony in the "fire-bug" cases, which come up for trial in the Union County Courts this morning.

—On Grove street near Green Brook road the board walk is broken and quite dangerous. A young man while walking there the other evening stepped into one of the holes and nearly broke his ankle.

—The members of the Plainfield Cornet Band will entertain the members of the Milburn Cornet Band in this city to-morrow evening. The reception will take place in the Republican Association rooms on East Front street.

—Persons who have lost their relatives and do not want to pay advertising rates to newspapers will do well to "confess" that those relatives have been murdered at Rahway. The relatives are bound to appear then.—Trenton Emporium.

—The monthly meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held Tuesday, Nov. 1st, at 3:30 p. m., in the Congregational Church, Seventh street. The hour will be occupied listening to a leading worker in the McAll Mission in Paris. All are cordially invited.

—Three new members were elected yesterday to the Board of Trustees of Rutgers College. The Rev. Dr. David Cole, the Rev. Dr. J. B. Drury and Elbert E. Monroe. The sum of $15,000 was received as Rutgers's share of the recent Government appropriation.

—The First Assembly District Democratic Convention will be held in Washington Hall on Plainfield avenue, on Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Assemblyman Matthews will undoubtedly be re-nominated. At the conclusion of the convention a mass-meeting will be held.

—The lifting and changing the gates of dwelling houses, on "All-Hollow-een," will probably cause much loss of temper on the 31st. The habit urchins have of beginning the mischief long before the occasion arrives was shown the other evening, when several of them were noticed changing gates on Duer street.

—The first lecture in the course at Reform Hall will be given this evening by Rev. W. E. Honeyman of North Plainfield. The subject is "Mormonism as I saw it," and the lecture will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. There will be music by the choir under the leadership of Mr. A. Vanderbeek. No admission will be charged nor will any collection be taken up, as the sole object is to benefit and instruct.

—In an opinion filed in the Court of Chancery at Trenton, Monday, Vice Chancellor Bird held that municipal authorities have not the power to cover any unlimited or unreasonable period of time in making contracts. The view that one Common Council cannot bind another or impose burdens for the future, he thinks is a correct one. He thinks the Legislature has a right to limit such contracts to a period of one year.

—The Potter Press Works Mutual Aid Society, is, as its name implies, an organization whereby the workmen aim to benefit each other. At a recent quarterly meeting the treasurer's report showed the organization to be in a healthy financial condition. An amendment to reduce the first week's benefit was lost by a large majority, and thereafter the following were elected officers: Thomas Chamberlain, President, John L. Duckworth, Secretary, and George M. Titsworth, treasurer.

—It is impossible to go to any social or religious gathering in this season of the year without having one's attention continually detracted from the words of the actor or preacher to the variety of the coughs, sneezes and nose blowings by the audience or congregation. It is needless to say that it is impolite to attend any public assemblage with an affection which will inconvenience any one present. It is an open question, who is the most annoying in public, the rowdy who shouts out his opinions and laughs in solemn places, or the person who continually coughs, clears his throat and nose, sneezes, snuffles, and indulges in such actions. Yet the rowdy is expelled on the spot, officers while the other person is allowed to remain and afflict those present.—Trenton Emporium.

JACKSON PLEADS GUILTY.

THE NOTORIOUS "FIRE-BUG" RESUMES HIS ORIGINAL PLEA.

Six Lawyers Say It's the Best Thing He Can Do—Is He to be the Scapegoat of the Gang?—The Van Nest Cases Next.

A buzz of surprise arose from the lips of those in the lobby of the Union County Court House, this morning, when Ex-Congressman Alvah Clark appeared for John M. Jackson, the prince of Plainfield's "fire bug" gang, and stated that the notorious incendiary wished to retract his latest plea of not guilty and desired to answer "guilty"—as at first—to all charges. This announcement was the result of a conference between the Ex-Congressman and lawyers W. R. Codington, Walter Hetfield, Fred Marsh, A. P. Miller and George P. Suydam, counsel for the various indicted members of the "Committee on Shines."

"We have deemed it advisable, your Honors," said the counsellor, addressing Judges McCormick and Harper—"have judged it proper, to take this action and save the State the trouble and expense of a trial. But before the prisoner is sentenced we desire to be given a reasonable opportunity to explain fully his connection with these wrong deeds for which he has been indicted. This desirable explanation, the counsel feel, will so result that the charges against the prisoner will not redound so seriously against him."

"The Court will sit Nov. 10," responded Judge McCormick, "as the date for sentence; and counsel is given the privilege of making any application at that time."

The three indictments against John M. Jackson are numbered respectively 17, 18 and 19. No. 18 charges him with setting fire to the Frazee Lee house. This was the place where he was caught by Councilman Carey, Policeman Lynch and Detective "Murphy" in the act of applying the match. No. 17 implicates Theodore VanNest with him in the burning of the McCutcheon barn. No. 19 accuses him jointly with Horace and Lewis VanNest of having criminally caused the Carmon Parse fire.

The case of the State vs. Theodore VanNest' indictment No. 17—was set down for the morrow morning at 10 o'clock. The other "fire-bug" cases go over until counsel can agree on a suitable day. Mrs. John M. Jackson, who is a witness for the State, is in a delicate condition, and there will be a lapse of at least two weeks before she will be able to leave the house.

Some think that this action on Jackson's case was the object in view of making him a scapegoat for his accomplices. One well-known lawyer expressed it thus:

"Jackson and State's evidence before him, anyway, and it may be intended that he shall testify in favor of the VanNests. No: he will hardly turn State's evidence; the counsel for the three brothers wouldn't enter into an agreement in which that feature figured."

The lawyers for the accused incendiaries all say that Jackson's pleading guilty will benefit both himself and those charged with him. They are, of course, very reticent in the matter.

Among the other cases which came up before the Court was that of the State vs. Michael Connor, who is under indictment for assault and battery on Ex-Policeman Hand Connor retracted his former plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty.

Alfred D'Epies, for assault and battery on Ernest Probst, a fourteen-year-old lad, was placed on trial. D'Epies, it appeared, merely caught the boy by the wrist and dragged him before his mother, to whom he reported the lad for throwing stones. D'Epies was acquitted.

Thomas Shields retracted his plea of not guilty of keeping a disorderly house and pleaded guilty.

Notes of the Pond Tool Works.

Mr. A. C. Stebbins, the Vice President of the Pond Tool Company, now resides at the corner of Seventh street and Grant avenue, in the Lawson property.

A stranger walking in the vicinity of the new Pond Machine and Tool Works recently, remarked, that, that part of Plainfield looked like a small city.

It is said that a small shanty in the vicinity of the Pond Works gives shelter to about a dozen Italians who are employed on the new buildings.

The Tool Company will begin to bring their workman here next month. All the better class of their men are to come from Worcester, Mass. About two hundred will come with the first batch, and by next Spring the works will be in full operation.

Parties are prospecting with a view of opening several saloons in the vicinity of the Pond Tool Works, but a leading official of the company says he hopes no license will be granted, as he knows it would be very much against the wis es of the Pond Company's workmen, all the more intelligent of whom are strong temperance men, and, of course, Republicans.

Union County Courts.

The jury in the case of William King and Joseph Farrell, tried in the Union County Court on Tuesday on the charge of larceny of Henry Lehman's horse and buggy, remained locked up all night, and came into court yesterday nearly frozen. There was no fire in the court-room, and the imprisoned jurymen suffered severely from the cold. They said they had to keep vigorously exercising all night, and had no place to sleep except on a plank. They presented a petition to the court calling attention to their most unpleasant experience.

The jury reported that it was unable to agree, and was remanded. After a short time the jurors sent word that it would be impossible to agree on a verdict; hence Judge McCormack discharged them. The case will be re-tried at this term of court.

—The band will rehearse a special musica l program to-night.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Baynon will be "at home" to-night.

Miss M. L. Riker of Somerset street is spending a month with relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Special Policeman Matuox is doing day duty in the absence of the city police at the head of the "fire-bugs," at Elizabeth.

James Crawford and Miss B. Tharpe of this city were united in marriage by Father Smyth in St. Mary's church yesterday morning.

Mr. A. J. Winkler of Park place, North Plainfield, is greatly improving the appearance of his dwelling by bextending and widening the front porch.

The Democrats talk of nominating Jasper G. Cadmus for Assembly. Mr. Cadmus is an excellent man, and it will be some consolation to know that if by any possibility Judge Ulrich should die in the race—a rather remote contingency—the District will be represented by no green one, by a man. Mr. Cadmus is seventy-four years old, and that fact may prevent his running at all.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon Ar thur P. Miller of this city was married to Miss Lucy Kennedy, daughter of George Kennedy of San Francisco. Miss Annie Kennedy the bride's sister, was bridesmaid, and the groomsman was the groom's brother, Dudley Miller. The ceremony was performed by an Episcopal clergyman at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. Hora of Rahway. Mr. and Mrs. Miller tendered a reception to his intimate friends of the family. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Codington, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Runyon, Miss Anna Boice, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jackson, Miss Anna Kennedy, Wm. Tompkins, Miss Minnie Tompkins, Mrs. Kennedy, daughter and son, of Scotch Plains; Lewis Miller, Mrs. W. W. Cook, Miss Anna Hors, Harry Durrance and Edward Hasen.

Last evening at seven o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Mehill on Second place, their daughter, Miss M. Kate Mehill, was married to Mr. Hugh M. Gilligan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross. The happy couple took the 8:46 train on their wedding tour. They will go to Washington and visit various points of interest, and will return in about two weeks. There was a handsome display of presents at the house. The bride's parents presented the happy couple with a handsome suite furniture, complete in all details, in the house which they will soon vacate in favor of their only daughter and her husband. Mr. Gilligan is one of the firm of Minot, Holt & Co., bankers and brokers, Wall street, New York, and one of the most substantial financial houses in New York. He graduated from the Plainfield High Schools, and entered the Union Trust Company's office as a clerk. He worked himself up until he became one of the junior officers of the company, at which time he was secured by the firm referred to. He was one of the prominent organizers of the Plainfield Athletic Club, and is himself somewhat of an athlete. He was named after his uncle, Hugh Marshall, a famous English artist, one of whose pictures, the Duke of Wellington, is at the Art Gallery in this city. Mr. Gilligan's father is a large railroad contractor at Canyon City, Colorado, and Mr. Gilligan himself is a man of means, acquired through his personal talents.

Music and Drama at Evona.

The spacious front parlor of the residence of Mrs. K. C. Conant, corner of Clinton avenue and Front street, Evona, was last evening filled with a merry gathering, eager to witness the musical and dramatic entertainment in behalf of the Ladies' Society of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The back parlor was fitted up as a stage, and a drawcurtain and a vet of gauze that gave a charming glimpse to the view, separated the two rooms. The affair was in every way successful, due greatly to Wade Whipple, whose abilities shaped many of the features that won triumph.

The opening piano solo by Mr. F. R. Tilton, followed by a tenor solo, "The Sailor's Grave," by Mr. J. A. Stubbs, deserved calls for an encore were given, and the singer was brought out again, rendering the ballad, "Sally in our Alley." The next thing was the pleasing duet, "She is Fooling Me," sung by Mrs. Reynolds and Wade Whipple, accompanied by the charming one possessed by Wm. T. Angele. Miss May McReynolds' soprano solo, "Good Bye," was very good, and the audience called for her again. She then sang "Last Night". The duet, "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," by Miss May McReynolds and Mr. J. H. Stubbs, came next. When Mr. Angele had the attention of those present while he sang in baritone solo, "The Lost Church." This was so sweet that the ladies at the close applauded until Mr. Angele again came forward and sang "Speed on, My Bark Speed on." The closing part of the programme was a trio, "Memory," by Miss McReynolds and Messrs. Angele and Stubbs, and "Sarah's Young Man," a one-act farce, followed. The characters were well represented by Mr. J. O. Stevens, Mr. G. O. Stevens, Wade Whipple, Miss Clarence A. Stevens, Miss Dora Wilcox and Miss Etta C. Kointzin.

Another similar entertainment will probably be held before long for the benefit of the same object.

Old Thomas Morey, the slayer of Abel Brown, at Bass River township, Burlington county, in August last, has plead guilty to the indictment charging him with manslaughter and will be sentenced by Judge Parker on the 10th of November. The defendant is nearly eighty years of age. He said he shot at Bryon Brown, the latter was jumping over the fence with a bag of stolen potatoes, intending to shoot him about the legs, but the rail broke and he fell just in time for the charge to take effect in his body, from the effects of which he died.

Eugene Hubsher, a farmer residing near Bloomsbury, while putting a bridle on a horse a week ago struck the knuckle of his little finger against the animal's teeth, receiving a slight wound. A few days after the occurrence the finger became very sore, and the hand and arm were very much swollen. He is unable to do any work. It is feared that blood poisoning will result.

A Murderer Captured.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 27.—Three years ago Fred Cochran escaped from Vandalia, Ills., where he was indicted for murder in the first degree. It was charged that he deliberately drowned his step-son. Last week he was arrested in Sedalia, and turned over to the Sheriff of Fayette Co., Ills., on a requisition. While the train was running thirty miles an hour he leaped from the car and escaped. Yesterday he was re-taken at Windsor, Mo., after a hard fight. Another attempt will be made by the Sheriff to take him back to Vandalia.

Incendiaries Sentenced.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—A number of citizens, tired of police inactivity, are said to contemplate forming a vigilance committee to bring the authors of incendiary fires to justice. At Kingston yesterday sentence was passed upon two men, Newman and Andrews, who were caught in the act of setting fire to the Third Methodist church after having destroyed the Salvation Army barracks. Both prisoner exhibited the utmost bravado and seemed unable to appreciate the gravity of their position. Newman was was given 21 years in the Kingston penitentiary for firing the Salvation Army barracks and 21 years' imprisonment for attempting to burn down the Methodist church, the terms to run concurrently. Andrews was sentenced to confinement for life, he being in the opinion of the magistrate doubly guilty.

A Daring Swindle.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 27.—Word has reached here of a most daring and successful swindle perpetrated on James Dockery, Exchange banker, at Rockford, Kent Co., Mich. A short time ago two men arrived there and, representing themselves as men of means looking for a place to locate, succeeded in securing the confidence of the business public. Among others who fell into their snare was Mr. Dockery. He sold out to them for a good round sum, accepting certain securities for faithful performance of their agreement at a specified time and was so completely duped that he transferred his business to them at once. They made good use of their opportunity and, pocketing deposits variously estimated at from $15,000 to $30,000, made good their escape.

The Interstate Law.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—U. S. Senator Cullom of Illinois, is in the city on his way to Washington. In answer to a question as to the working of the Interstate Commerce act, which was drawn up by Reagan of Texas and himself, he said:

"There has been more or less friction between the railroads and the business men since the law has been in operation, but on the country at large is concerned it has really worked with less friction than the public anticipated, and it is constantly growing in public favor. The great purposes of the Act were to prevent extortion and unjust discriminations—in other words, to prevent undue preferences. Of course the provisions of the law in relation to the long and short haul clause may be considered a distinct section; at the same time its purpose is the same as the provisions of the section to prevent unjust discriminations and under preferences. I have no sort of idea that the country will ever submit to a very great modification of the statute. The probability is that the masses of the people favor even more radical legislation than the present law."

Back to the Circuit Court.

The $5,000 suit for damages brought by Henry Dill, a beer bottler of Elizabeth, against the Central Railroad Company for an alleged assault made on him in a train by Frank Harris, a conductor in the employ of the railroad company, came up for trial yesterday in the United States Circuit Court at Trenton. Ex-Chancelor Williamson and two other lawyers appeared for the railroad company's receivers, against whom the suit is brought The plaintiff was represented by John T. Dunn. A number of witnesses were on hand. The case was first to be tried in the District Court in Elizabeth, but was carried up by the railroad company. The question of jurisdiction was briefly discussed. Lawyer Dunn said that Mr. Harris was a resident of New Jersey, and the corporation for which he worked also hailed from the State. Under these circumstances he thought the case should be tried by the State Courts. Ex-Chancelor Williamson offering no objection, Judge Wallace sent the suit back for trial to the Union County Circuit Court, to come up at the January term.

Two Dwellings Burned.

Two dwellings situated along the railroad between Roselle and Cranford, were destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. The houses were the property of a Mr. Mines McCann. The cause of the fire is in doubt, but the most reasonable theory is given by Mr. Curry, who just moved out. Having removed his coal, he said, they cooked their dinners over a fire made of wood, and it is his idea that a defective flue allowed the wood-work to ignite and smoulder while they were getting the goods out. The loss was not heavy, as the cottages were not worth over one thousand dollars each, and, it is said, were fully insured.

—The Chautauquan for November is out.

MR. GREEN'S LAND SCHEME.

Two Hundred Acres to be Developed at South Plainfield.

Men with surveyor's instruments have for the past week been busily at work in New Brooklyn, staking off lots on the hundred acres of land known as the Vanderveer-Giles farm; and Mr. F. E. Dunham, the Plainfield civil engineer who has charge of the work, says that the labor will occupy fully a month yet. The station of South Plainfield, better known as New Brooklyn, is on the Lehigh Valley Railroad almost directly south of this city. The two-hundred acres of undeveloped land now up are known as the Vanderveer-Giles and the Daniel F. Randolph farms, from the names of the former owners. In 1870 Volney Green—of the firm of Volney Green & Son, merchant brokers of 110 Front street, New York City—purchased both of the estates, which adjoin each other. In 1872 he engaged Mr. F. A. Dunham to survey and map the place. Mr. Dunham did his work well, but since then nothing has been done until recently, when the work of staking the land off into building lots was begun. Each lot is to have a frontage of fifty feet, and the streets to be laid out forthwith are Pleasant, Green and Wattles avenues. The rest of the real estate will be developed later.

Mr Green is now retired from his former business and occupies a real estate office in the New Brooklyn block. Railroad surveyors are at work on a new branch line, nine miles long, connecting the Lehigh road at New Brooklyn with the Central at Roselle, and Mr. Green thinks that when the road is completed his property will take a prosperous boom.

Mr. Green points out that his land is well situated, is high and dry, and by the new railroad will be within twenty-three miles of New York City. Mr. Green's son F. S. Green, who was formerly in partnership with him, lives at the corner of Grant avenue and Third street.

Unlucky No. 75 Wrecked Again.

Unlucky engine No. 75, which is known as the "Jonah" of the Central Railroad Company, kept up its reputation for disaster by getting into another wreck yesterday at Green Brook, where about a month ago it toppled over, killing its engineer. It is only a few days since the locomotive came from the the shops after being repaired from the damage it received on that occasion. The cause of the latest wreck was a broken axle of one of the coal cars it was hauling from the mines to Perth Amboy. The car broke down on the damaged one, and eight of them were demolished. Their contents were scattered along the tracks. The wreck delayed travel nearly three hours, and a wrecking train had to be summoned to clear up the debris. The railroad men are so superstitious of No. 75 that hardly an engineer can be found brave enough to run it. This is the same locomotive that plunged into Newark Bay some time ago.

STATE NOTES.

The Elberon Hotel and the cottage in which President Garfield died, at Long Branch, are owned by Charles G. Francklyn The hotel is valued at nearly $400,000. The records of Monmouth county show that Mrs. McElvers Gosling, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel George Gosling, engineer, has loaned him on a mortgage two years ago. A year previous the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, loaned him on the same property. Both mortgages are still uncancelled.

The Cannon-Ball road near Pompton is an ancient Indian highway. Its significance was it was used to convey cannon balls, moulded in the Passaic iron districts, eastward for use by the Revolutionists. The road, it was soon found that the maintenance of such a business was not a public highway illegal. Therefore the company applied for the condemnation of the road, and the Court of Common Pleas appointed six surveyors to do this. They investigated and reported in favor of the vacation of the thoroughfare, and thereupon Jacob E. Rogers, in the interest of property holders, secured an injunction restraining further proceedings. Senator Griggs, counsel for Mr. Rogers, sought to have the action of the surveyors quashed on the ground that five of them did not legally qualify for their positions. The motion has been denied, the court adjudging it too late for such an application. The decision of the surveyors will either be appealed to a higher board composed of six Freeholders or the matter be carried to the Supreme Court on certiorari for a review of the action of the Court of Common Pleas sustaining the surveyors.

WESTFIELD.

The Rev. Harry C. Rush was in town visiting his old parishioners and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Lee E. Gannett have returned for the Winter to their residence in New York City.

Mr. Philip Hathaway of Central avenue, lost their infant last Saturday night. The interment was at Fairview Cemetery yesterday.

The Republicans will hold a mass meeting at Arlington Hall Saturday night and expect to have all their candidates present to make addresses.

All those interested in having a large hotel built in Westfield are invited to meet the stockholders or subscribers next Monday at the town room at 7:30 p. m.

Some of the taxpayers of the District School House are grumbling because their children are refused admittance to the school Trustees claim that they have no more room for their children.

Mr. N. A. Barnett was surprised on reaching his house after the drill with Co. H., last night, to find his house full of friends, and strains of music and merry laughter resounding through the rooms. His friends had gathered together to give him a surprise party and this proved a genuine one. Gus made the best of it and assisted the committee, consisting of Mrs. Barnett, Miss Holdridge, Wm. Darby, and Wm. C. Pierson in making everybody happy.

DR. M'GLYNN AND THE CHURCH

A Belief That the Deposed Priest Will be Reinstated.

PITTSBURG, P., Oct. 27.—Rev. Father Brennan, a warm friend and principal Catholic church in Newark, N. J., passed through here last night on his way to Joliet, Ills. In an interview he said:

"The publications are the George party may lose one of its strong adherents before long."

"Who is that?"

"Father McGlynn. The fact of the matter is, Father McGlynn, Rev. Dr. Burtsell, Bishop Moore, of St. Augustine, Fla., and myself were all classmates in the American college at Rome, and we have ever since his fall from grace taken a deep interest in him. We connected with Archbishop Corrigan and he anticipated a course we had determined upon pursuing. That course was to send for Dr. McGlynn and inform him that we had interceded for him, say the Archbishop Corrigan, and that if he was willing to ask for forgiveness for his offenses there must be some hope of his being restored to his church again. Dr. McGlynn met us soon afterward and expressed himself as being willing to repent. The case will have to be adjudged by higher church authorities than any in this country, but I feel safe in saying that Dr. McGlynn will shortly be taken back into the field. He will become a priest once more, but will not be given a parish, of course."

THE BALTIMORE CITY ELECTION.

A Mysterious Murder at the Polls Marred an Otherwise Quiet Day.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27.—The municipal election held yesterday was remarkable principally for the fact that it was not disturbed. It was anticipated that it would be one of extraordinary excitement and bitterness. The Democrats carried the city, electing the elected mayor by 4,935 majority. The Democrats also elect twelve first branch councilmen, against eight for the Republicans. The second branch will stand seven Democrats to three Republicans. The total vote for mayor was 65,675.

The only collision reported between adherents of the opposing parties was in the Seventeenth ward, where Edward Dailey, a regular Democrat, was shot and instantly killed at the polls of the Ninth precinct. The shooting was done so quickly that nobody seems to know who committed the crime. Edward Eilers, a reform Democrat who was standing near by, says that some one else at the moment, was arrested. He disclaims the shooting, and asked to be searched for a concealed weapon. He was then released upon his person, and the police are as yet in the dark.

LONDON'S ELOQUENT PREACHER.

Mr. Spurgeon's Withdrawal from the Baptist Union, and His Reasons.

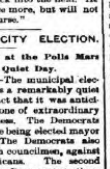
LONDON, Oct. 27.—Mr. Spurgeon has withdrawn from the Baptist Union. In announcing his decision to withdraw and replying to his critics, he says:

To pursue union at the expense of the truth is treason to God. To temper with error in order to become traitors to Him. We have before us the wretched spectacle of professedly orthodox Christian publishers declining elected men to deny the faith, call the fall of man a fable and deny the personality of the Holy Ghost.

Resigning from the union he does not start a new denomination, he says that it is a question for which has no liking; that there are enough denominations already, and that if anything is needed it is the thieves and robbers who have entered the other gardens walled around would enter it also, so nothing would be gained. Baptists generally regret Mr. Spurgeon's decision, and are urging him to reconsider it.

Beecher's Probable Successor.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 27.—Rev. S. B. Halliday, assistant pastor of Plymouth church, said yesterday: "The chances are strongly in favor of Mr Berry being called to succeed Mr. Beecher. As soon as he returns to England the friends will assert and consider his name." Mr. Berry did not come to America especially to preach in Plymouth church. His visit was planned long REV. CHAS. A. BERRY. time ago. He received $100 for each of his two sermons.



The Mikikewics Concession.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The steamer Gaelic brings Chinese papers containing the text of the new Chinese-American bank, which provides that the Chinese-American bank, with a capital of $10,000,000 shall be supervised and safeguarded by China and the United States. It is decreed that the third article of the text that Mr. Vanderbilt will act as president in the United States, but that the vice-president will be sent to China to attend to business there. The Shanghai Mail Courier speaks of the concession as an accomplished fact.

A Deathbed Confession.

PHILLIPSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—Silas Crosby, a well known resident of Derry, died yesterday of typhoid pneumonia. Previous to his death he made a confession to his physician that he had murdered his wife ten years ago, during a quarrel. A boarder named Hollenback assisted him in disposing of the body, etc., the latter at once disappeared, giving color to the story. It was also stated that he had eloped with Mrs. Crosby. It is said that a clew has been obtained which will lead to the arrest of Hollenback.

No French Representative at the Vatican.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The budget committee of the chamber of deputies yesterday rejected the government's demand for a credit to establish an embassy at the Vatican. Upon the announcement of the result the chairman of the committee resigned.

Struck by a Train.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 27.—John Gloss, aged 60 years, a resident of Loretto, Pa., while driving a pair of horses over the railroad crossing at Lilly's station yesterday was struck by the day express and fatally injured. Both horses were instantly killed.

A STRANGE LIFE HISTORY.

ROMANCE OF A CONFIDENCE MAN AND NOTED BIGAMIST.

Dr. Andrew Jackson Grant Identified as Lesli Scarlet, the Asian Leader—His Claims to the Throne of Italy—His Numerous Matrimonial Conquests.

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—The mystery of a strange life has been solved, and a wonderful romantic story of criminal adventure has been brought out by the identification of his late Dr. Andrew Jackson Grant as the ingenious confidence man, as the famous Asian leader, Dr. Lesli Contri, who was an associate of Victor Emanuel, King of Italy. The last act in the life of this remarkable man as he lay dying in Cambridge jail last April were: "The world shall never know me as I was." Every effort to conceal has been foiled, and the career which is exposed will find none to match it.

No one knew the man so intimately as the late Dr., secretary, of East Boston, who died here a few months ago. The doctor went to Paris in 1870 to attend a conference of surgeons. He was well known about one of the art galleries of the French capital one morning that Dr. McSheehy made the acquaintance of a dashing youth, who introduced himself as Lesli Contri, and said that he was by birth an American. He was a captivating fellow, remarkably well educated, and he became Dr. McSheehy's constant companion. He was then studying medicine, but he had a passion for art, and it was during a ramble through one of the famous galleries that the young man met Mary Grant, a niece of McSheehy. His parents, he declared, were Victor Emanuel, then king of Sardinia, and Archduchess Odelhird of Austria. He was born in Italy, and said that he was the heritage of his father and mother. When a small child he was placed in the care of an old abbot in Switzerland, who gave him a careful training. His early home was to urge his guardian to tell him the secret of his birth. He became so emphatic in his demands that the old priest told him quite all he should, but him the whole story. The knowledge had an effect quite different from that expected. He was supplied with money and every luxury comfort by his father, but he cherished the idea that he was unjustly treated. He determined to demand acknowledgment as a king's son.

After he had time only before the meeting with Dr. McSheehy that Contri left the only home he ever knew, the abbey, and started for Sardinia. He made the step without the knowledge of the king, and not until he had openly conspired against the throne did the king know of his presence in the kingdom. He was then forced to leave the country, and at once went to Paris. Although under exile, he was still provided with a small allowance by his father. Dr. McSheehy naturally felt much interested in the young man who was to start for Boston. The doctor imagined that on his return success, and finally returned home, and heard no more of Contri until he appeared in Boston at the close of the war.

On separating from Dr. McSheehy in New York, Contri drifted about from place to place, until, falling in love with a German girl named Bodenmuller, he took the first step in matrimony on this side of the water. The girl was only 14 years of age, and it was not strange that he soon tired of her. This was in 1861. The war fever was caught him, and Contri was among the first to enlist. Little is known of his army life except the fact that he was taken prisoner and sent to Richmond some months before the fall of the southern capital. He there made the acquaintance of Miss Virginia Saunders, a belle of the Confederate capital. He was an old Burr among women, and he easily won the heart of Miss Saunders. Hardly had peace been declared before Contri married her and flew off to Europe. The bride lived in Montreal a few months only, when his young bride died, leaving him once more a free man. Soon after this Contri had obtained a divorce on account of his desertion. He returned at once to the states, and arrived in Boston in the spring of 1866, when Fenianism was at its height. He went into the struggle body and soul, and was among the first to enroll himself in the rank and file then preparing for a raid on Canada. On the return of the troops from Canada, Col. Contri hunted up his old Paris friend, Dr. McSheehy. By the latter's advice he opened an office in Maine street, Charlestown, and to help him along Dr. McSheehy introduced him to Father Hamilton, the old pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church. So well acquainted Hamilton impressed with the young foreigner's appearance that on the following Sunday he made it a point to introduce him to his parishioners. Before he had been in Charlestown two months he was forced to leave under a cloud, and he came to Boston.

About this time a Professor Wilson formed the acquaintance of Dr. Contri and suggested that they make a tour of the states and Canada, giving lecture courses in all the large towns. Contri had designs of getting up a quarrel. A boarder named Hollenback assisted him in disposing of the body, etc., the latter at once disappeared, giving color to the story. It was also stated that he had eloped with Mrs. Crosby. It is said that a clew has been obtained which will lead to the arrest of Bennington.

REDUCING THE SURPLUS.

THE CASHIER OF A SUB-TREASURY SOLVES THE PROBLEM

That Has Agitated Government Financiers by Decreasing the Reserve Fund $19,000, Which He Appropriates to His Own Use—Safe in the Boodlers' Refuge.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The fact became known at a late hour last night that the cashier of the sub-treasury here, Henry Martin Jackson, was a defaulter and had fled to Canada. The discovery of his delinquencies was first discovered on Saturday last, when he failed to appear at his desk. A hasty examination by Treasurer Canda showed a deficiency of $19,000, and this, so far, seems the extent of the theft from the government.

The matter has been kept very quiet by Mr. Canda, although it is understood that he has pursued inquiries sufficiently to assure himself that Jackson is in Toronto. This was learned, it is said, by Inspector Byrnes, who, although the investigation belongs to the United States officers, was invoked. The inspector was seen last night and declined to say anything whatever on the subject.

Henry Martin Jackson is the son of the aged secretary of the New York Tract society, who lives at Roseville, N. J. The son is 39 years old, and was recently married, his daughter by the first wife being now with her grandfather at Roseville. He was married again some years ago to the daughter of a Mr. Talley in Mount Vernon, Westchester county, a widow with one daughter. The relations of the two have recently been very unpleasant, and two weeks ago Mrs. Jackson went home to her father. It is believed that their family troubles were the primary cause of Jackson's flight, as he took the money in a lump. He has been a clerk in the sub-treasury here for years, having been appointed under a Republican administration and holding his place under the Democratic head.

Sub-Treasurer Charles J. Canda is under the law responsible for the amount of the theft; and by the appointment of President Cleveland he succeeded, on Jan. 28 last, Thomas C. Acton as treasurer of the New York sub-treasury.

Mr. Jackson's bond, which was approved Jan. 27, is for $400,000, and the bondsmen were required to justify in twice that amount.

It has been many years, certainly, since there has been a defalcation in the sub-treasury, either by carelessness or by defalcation, before this occurrence. The clerks are, for the most part, superior men, picked from the leading institutions, and they serve many years, even a change of administration causing few changes. The sub-treasury methods, moreover, are such as to make it, apparently, very difficult to steal. No clerk could, it was supposed, enter any of the vaults alone. He must have, according to the old rules, another clerk to accompany him. The combinations of the locks are known only to two or three men, and the vaults have two doors, which must be opened by different clerks. The books are supposed to be made up to the last cent every night, and though millions are deposited in the sub-treasury and many thousands paid out every its counters every day, there have, as said, been no losses for many years until the one now reported.

The defaulter is small in stature, of very dark complexion, very stout, and with full beard cut close. If he has shaved since his flight it is believed he can be identified by a singularly retreating chin, and the fact that he is somewhat "knock-kneed." He wore when last seen dark clothes and a black beaver and light overcoat. He is an inveterate smoker.

At the house of J. L. Sackett the burglars found $59 in money and an overcoat. In Westport several residences in the northern part of the town were entered and articles of more or less value, besides considerable money, were carried away. The robberies are supposed to be the work of professionals from New York.

Killed on the Track.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 27.—Charles Reilly, who resided at 127 Putnam street, and was a student in the high school here, tried to jump aboard a freight train in the freight yard here yesterday afternoon. Being again involved in scandal, he secretly left London and returned to the United States. He went to Chicago, and it is believed that while in that city he obtained medical degrees from a local diploma mill. He came to Plainfield early in April, and for a time was quietly known.

It was while out upon a lecture tour that he first met and married the woman who is known as Mrs. Grant. Together they conspired to "do up" the large watering places of this country. In the summer of 1884 he and his wife were at an Old Orchard beach, under the name of Dr. Perry. He claimed to be an extremely wealthy Englishman with untold possessions in Australia. They were known under the name as his wife, but it soon developed that she was not his lawful wife. Then they left town. Mrs. Grant was first discovered on Saturday last, when she failed to appear at his desk. A hasty examination by Treasurer Canda showed a deficiency of $19,000, and this, so far, seems the extent of the theft from the government.

The matter has been kept very quiet by Mr. Canda, although it is understood that he has pursued inquiries sufficiently to assure himself that Jackson is in Toronto. LONDON'S DEAD DYNAMITER.

Where He Died and How He Was Identified.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Mr. Monro, Chief Detective Officer in forcing an inquest on the body of Cohen, the dead suspect, admits of but two hypotheses. Either that official desired to elicit revelations which should act as a dynamite mine under the Irish dictative force should shine conspicuously as the means of preventing a colossal outrage, or his object was to curry favor by furnishing the government with a new exit for whole-sale arrests and evidence of the truth of the current accusations against Mr. Parnell and his allies. The Times says: "Mr. Monro's theory is diminished. The first presumption is altogether too asinine to merit consideration, and the latter must perforce be accepted as a possible elements of probability. The evidence adduced at the inquest undoubtedly showed that Cohen and his friends contemplated the accomplishment of utterly criminal objects, but the testimony barely warranted the assumption that they were dynamiters, which theory the detectives base upon the finding of certain pipings and revolvers and the friendship which existed between the deceased and Melville, the supposed agent of the Clan-na-Gael. Melville is known to be in charge of activity of the police and disappeared. The jury's verdict was that Cohen died from natural causes.

THE CHURCH AND LABOR.

CLERGYMEN DISCUSSING THE DEMANDS OF WORKINGMEN.

The Platform of Principles and Duties Adopted by the Church Association for the Advancement of Labor—Father Huntington Expresses His Views.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A meeting of clergy of the Protestant Episcopal church was held yesterday in the lecture room of Calvary church, East Twenty-third street, under the auspices of the recently formed Church Association for the Advancement of the Interests of Labor. Rev. Dr. DuCosta presided. There were seventy-five clergymen and a few laymen present. The chairman explained the objects of the association and read its constitution, which declares that God is the sole possessor of the earth, man being but the steward of God's bounties; that it is the duty of every man to labor; that labor should be the standard of social worth; and that when the divinely intended opportunity to labor is given to all men, one great cause of the present widespread suffering and destitution will be removed. The methods of the association are defined as prayer, sermons on the labor question, the proper use of the press and of labor tracts, lectures and the participation in prayer and example of a conscientious use of the ballot, and study of social questions in the light of the incarnation.

Rev. Father Huntington, Bishop Huntington, bishop of central New York, was the first speaker in support of the foregoing platform. He dwelt eloquently upon the necessity of bringing the church and the poor in closer relations. While not specially declaring any approval of their political platform, he paid a very high tribute to their earnestness, eloquence and unselfish devotion which he asserted Dr. McGlynn and Henry George had exhibited on behalf of the laboring men. The issues are not political, he said, and there was a manifest desire to avoid any action committing those present, or the associates of the church, to any political movement. This was accomplished by the unanimous adoption of a resolution offered by Rev. Father J. O. S. Huntington, president of the Church Association for Labor, declaring that the association had nothing to do with politics. A resolution offered by Rev. John W. Kramer was then adopted indorsing the aforementioned platform of the association.

Among those who joined in the discussion of the general subject were Mr. J. L. Dunham, of Sharon, N. Y., a farmer who is active in the George movement, and several of the clergymen present, among whom were Revs. Messrs. Tiffany, Darlington, Ashtehll, Boggs, Tompkins, Whittaker, Dows, Wisner, Kimber, Duffy, Harris, Perkins, McKay, Smith, Davenport, Baker, Dorman, Wilson, Little, Knapp, Mitchell, Goodwin, Roberts, Dunnell and Townsend. Dr. Davenport criticized the platform as raising a theological question touching the incarnation of Christ. Another thought it too elastic. Another feared that its adoption would cause them to drift into the political fight.

Father Huntington was asked to explain the United Labor platform and did so, declaring that this was a matter of life or death to the poor, and he felt intensely on the subject. He was glad to see the clergy becoming interested. He would not say that the clergy were in the habit of condoning the sins of rich men, but he feared that with most of them rich good men was a little better than a poor good man.

BURNING WORDS WHICH A MIDNIGHT BELL RANG OUT.

Ventilation of Sleeping Apartments—Housekeeper and Handmaiden—Treatment of Canned Goods—The Busy Matron—Family Store Bills—Country Girls.

The front door of a magnificent residence closed with a violent slam. Anthony Jenlo, muttering angrily, came down the steps. The door opened and a little boy, bright eyed and full of mischief, called out:

"Won't you bring me something?" the child called.

"No, I won't," the man harshly replied. "If you are so mean that I ought never to give you anything."

"I didn't mean to be bad."

"Yes, you did. You are getting so that there is no living in the house with you."

"You don't love me, then, do you?"

"Nobody can love you when you are so bad."

"Won't you let me kiss you?"

"No, I won't. Go back into the house."

Jenlo hurried away. He was going to a distant part of the state to be gone several days. "I ought not to have spoken to the little fellow that way," he mused when he had boarded the train. He took a newspaper from his pocket, glanced at the headlines of a fearful calamity, and his eyes fell upon an item, headed: "A little boy's sudden death." He turned the paper over, and the first thing he saw was "A child drowned."

"I ought to have kissed him," he mused. "But I was fretted," he said, in apology to himself. "A man that's worried over business as much as I am don't know what he's saying half the time."

The first thing he heard upon stepping off the train at the end of his journey was the shriek of a child. He shuddered, and a little face, dearer to him than his own life, suddenly arose before him. Even while engaged in the transaction of his business he constantly heard, in the sweet but troubled accents of a child, the words:

"You don't love me, then, do you?"

At night he went to a theatre. A little boy ran out on the stage. Jenlo went to his hotel. He tried to read. "You don't love me, then, do you?"

He would go to bed, but could not sleep. He tossed, cold, and then feverish. A midnight bell rang out the words: "You do not love me, then, do you?" At last he slept. He saw several men carrying something, covered with a black shawl, on a litter. When the men saw him they put down their burden and hid their faces. He lifted the black covering and saw the mangled body of his boy. With a groan he awoke. "I must go home," he said. "I will not wait until morning." He took to the station. A train was just starting. He would not suffer himself to doze. It was evening when he reached home. As he left the train he observed a man in speaking to a companion say that the body of the boy had not been recovered.

"The little fellow's father, they say, is away from home."

"Yes, so I understand."

Jenlo hurried along the street. "My God!" he said, "is that a hearse in front of my house? No, it's a carriage further down."

Everything about the house was still. He shuddered as he opened the front door and entered the hall. Then there came a loud yell of delight and his boy bounded down the stairs.

"Thank God!" exclaimed Jenlo, catching him in his arms; "thank God!"

"What did you bring me?"

"I didn't bring you anything, precious, but to-morrow you may have anything you want."

"I've had lots of fun since you've been gone," said the boy, while his father, in prayerful happiness, still pressed him to his bosom. "I got a old cat up on the fence and throwed stones at her, and she spit at me and said 'wow-ow-ow,' and Willie Babcock punched her with a stick, and she spit at him and said 'wow-ow-ow-ow.'"

The quiet sleep of a thankful heart visited the father that night. No midnight bell rang out burning words. A curly head rested on his arm; a face of sweet mischief in repose nestled close to his bosom.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Ventilation of Sleeping Rooms.

There are few rooms the forms of which are so situated as to render good ventilation impossible, and the influence of this practice upon the health of inmates is too important to permit its being neglected from any slight cause. A bed chamber should be divested of all unnecessary furniture, and, unless of considerable size, should never contain more than one bed. There cannot be a more pernicious custom than that pursued by some—indeed, by many—families of having their children sleep in small apartments, with two, and sometimes with three, beds crowded into the same room. It is scarcely necessary to observe that cleanliness, in the most extensive signification of the term, is, if possible, even more necessary with reference to the bed chamber than with almost any other apartment in the whole house.

The practice of sleeping in a room which is occupied during the day time is extremely unwise. Perfect cleanliness and sufficient free ventilation cannot, under such circumstances, be preserved, especially during cold weather; hence the atmosphere becomes constantly more vitiated, and altogether unfit for respiration. While too great a degree of caution cannot be observed to avoid sleeping in damp rooms, beds, or clothing, the temperature of the bed chamber, if possible, should never be increased under the ordinary circumstances of health, by artificial means. As this apartment is to be reserved solely for sleep, a fire is rarely necessary, excepting, possibly, during extreme cold weather, and, even then, the temperature ought not to exceed 50 degs.

A sleeping apartment, in which a heavy fire has been kept for several hours prior to retiring, may to some persons, at first thought, offer great comfort. But, right here, great danger is very liable to occur, since by heating the room to such an extent as has been referred to the system becomes greatly enervated, creating an extreme susceptibility to the influence of the cold air, and thus the way is opened to the attack of some of the most serious diseases, especially of the throat and lungs. Many persons, although those persons esteem themselves whose means forbid an indulgence in this luxury! A person accustomed to sleep in a room without a fire, and to seek repose in a cold bed, will not experience the least inconvenience, even in the severest of winter weather. The natural heat of the body will very speedily render a person, under such circumstances, even more comfortable than he or she will be who sleeps in a heated apartment, as experience has amply verified. But this is not all. The constitution of the one accustomed to sleeping in a room which is not artificially heated will be rendered more robust and strong, and far less susceptible to the influence of atmospherical vicissitudes, than that person who is not so accustomed to sleep.—George Newell Lovejoy in Good Housekeeping.

Housekeeper and Handmaiden.

Young housekeepers are more liable to overcrowd the likes and tastes of their handmaidens than their mothers and aunts. The opportunity for partially governing what is to sow to the young woodies she is often diffident about asserting her authority, and if she be of a gentle nature and the maids at all upish she must sometimes gather up all her courage to issue an order she knows the ladies in the kitchen will not like. If the cook is cross and the housemaid pert I know the temptation of it, for I was a young housekeeper myself once.

Never shall I forget my first dismissal of a servant and how well I found the task. The waitress was to go. She performed her work in a most inferior way and was subject to sulks, wearing her nose in the air in a manner that provoked me. I had only to say the thing. I knew this was not right, for we were a family of two, entertaining little, with two servants, and my husband's shirts sent to the laundry. Yet I dared not give her any unusual orders, her manner was so unpleasant, and I would fortify myself for the encounter by repeating words of my mother's "never will I attempt to get my own way by have done." So when it came to telling the girl she must leave the convenient season merged in the inevitable. Neither just after breakfast nor before dinner seemed favorable times, so I deferred the evil from hour to hour. I was making an afghan of shaded colors at the time, and I found to give her my dismissal many times to crochet "one more row" before the dreaded conversation was opened. This is many years ago, and although I have rarely been obliged to send girls away since, I can do it any minute that it is necessary without borrowing courage or trouble to find. Neither just after breakfast nor before dinner seemed favorable times, so I deferred the evil from hour to hour. Neither just after breakfast nor before dinner seemed favorable times, so I deferred the evil from hour to hour. To the timid young mistress I would say "remember that your servants are hired for your convenience, not for theirs," if you find yourself disliking to issue orders, and add to those sterner mistresses who try to exact perfection and generally fail, I would add that the man servant and the maid servant within our gates are quite as human as ourselves.—Caroline E. Upham in Good Housekeeping.

The Too Systematic Matron.

It is not the social spirit that is wanting entirely, but the power of adaptability, which needs cultivation in order for social intercourse seem the one hour of all the twenty-four that can't be spared. Because a particular duty has been performed at a certain time each day, for days or even years with out interruption to some, it seems an inevitable law that it shall be done at that hour and no other. No matter what intervenes, the hour is sacred to doing it. Lack of forward to a more convenient time is never thought of, so those who adhere to their groove are hard to get out of.

"Genial tim. The lady began her housekeeping career by preserving peaches the last week in August. For several years she did this uninterruptedly, till it became a fixed law that this was the time for that household duty, and nothing must interfere. Her well instructed and systematic children never got sick till after the peaches were put up, the winter supply of the delicious fruit. But an old and dear friend, who was not aware of the exact rules of this household, sent word she would come to spend the last week of August en route for a far western home with the dear friend she had grown up with and had an almost sisterly affection for. She did come, and spent the week, and the systematic housekeeper went on with the preserving; so her days were too busy and her evenings too weary to allow her to give the least attention to the friend she might never see again. It never occurred to her that the preserving might wait, or even be given up. She had never lost the right time in her housekeeping, but she did lose the friendship of one she really prized, who left her feeling hurt and sore that the peaches were of more value. And still in this way, as if preserves were preferred to her friendship.—Margaret Arthur in Good Housekeeping.

How to Treat Canned Goods.

It cannot be too widely known or carefully remembered by wives and others that they are cooked goods. They are not put up in vessels from which they are to be eaten when convenient to consumers, but are only packed in tins in order to preserve them. No canned goods are guaranteed to keep fresh and retain their quality, will be any number of days after being opened. When opened, contents of the tin should be immediately turned out and eaten as soon as possible. If the food must be kept at all, cover it up and keep in a cool place—always, however, turn out of tins or other metal vessels. Lobsters, round lobsters, salmon and all vegetables, excepting tomatoes, it is desirable to remove from tins and throw away. Oysters and sardines may be preserved by being turned out into a sieve and rinsed with clean cold water. Never on any account add vinegar, sauce or any kind of condiment to canned goods while they are in the tins, and never leave such mixtures to remain an hour or two, if from forgetfulness it is done.

All tinned goods are put up as fresh as it is possible to be, but unless corned or salted, will not keep turned out, as freshly cooked goods will, and certainly not longer, as many thoughtlessly and wrongly expect they will. Sardines, if preserved in good oil, and if of good quality, will be an exception—as long as the oil is good the fish can be kept in the tin. But seven days is long enough to trust these before eating. Consumers should not buy larger packages of canned goods than they can consume quickly, if they should, most of the fish and meats can be potted after recooking, sauces and seasoning being used. If the nose and eyes are properly used it is an impossible to partake of an unsound tin of canned food of any kind as to partake of bad meat, fish or vegetables from a shop.—London Grocer's Chronicle.

To Make Yorkshire Pudding.

"How is Yorkshire pudding made?" asked a reporter of Mrs. Wells.

"If I have been asked once," she replied, "I have been asked a hundred times for it. There is nothing more simple to make, and it is rightly judged in England as the best companion dish to rare roast beef."

Mrs. Wells then gave her receipt for making that most appetizing companion to roast beef.

Here is the receipt: To one pound of sifted flour placed in a large basin, add a teaspoonful of salt, three whole eggs; mix together with a wooden spoon, adding at intervals rather better than a quart of milk; work the batter vigorously for ten minutes to make it light, and pour it instantly into a baking tin, not too deep, but very hot, with about two ounces of good beef dripping; set the pudding to bake under the meat, which will take about twenty-five minutes. Then cut into squares and send hot to table with some good gravy in a separate dish.

"There," said Mrs. Wells, laughing, "I have given my receipt for making a real Yorkshire pudding that will be appreciated alike by the wealthy and poorest. Let me say here that to the poor, especially those living in families, there is no dish that is cheaper, or more saving and toothsome."—New York Star.

That Family Bill.

When I was a school teacher I was present on one occasion when the yearly bill from the grocery and dry goods store for supplies for food was brought in to the head of the family, a well to do farmer, who drove a pair of fine horses when he went to town, expected to entertain a minister—at least some of them, when the general conference session was held a sort of leading position in the community. The bill in the year amounted to $95, and represented the materials bought by the wife for herself, for the two male children, and for family use for twelve months—all carefully itemized. Its reception destroyed the peace of the family for that day. The man said many ugly words, charging his wife with a disposition to affect his ruin, and she herself was somewhat appalled by the sum total of it, but the extent of which she had not anticipated.

After her husband's departure for the fields she sat down to study it out. There was a calico dress, and she could not find it made up by her own hands into dresses for herself and little girls; there was a piece of unbleached muslin which had been made up into sheets and pillow cases; there were stout hosiery, one pair of cotton gloves, but $18 and some odd cents were covered by socks, neckties and shirtings, for the two male members of the family—father and son. For days the man stormed and raged whenever the "bill" was alluded to, and it was a week before his wife could muster courage to find, neither just that he himself was responsible for the largest part of it, the items not covering any of his own or his son's important articles of clothing. This occurrence is not a deep impression on my mind.—Chicago Herald.

Why Country Girls Go Wrong.

Youth is youth wherever you find it. Young blood flows swift and warm through pulsing veins. Young hearts long for companionship; young brains indulge in vague, sweet dreams of pleasure yet to come. A healthful young girl can no more be contented with prosaic duties, without one day of pleasure to brighten her life, than a meadow lark can be content in a cage. To attend faithfully to the most commonplace tasks all day to hear no word of praise for her labors, and retire at last to a bed of brilliance. Out evening is little less than torture to a girl full of sentiment and undefined longings. Yet this is the existence of hundreds of country girls.

The parents regard any hours spent in pleasure as so much lost time. They exact industry and economy from their offspring, invite no confidences, and object to late hours or merrymakings. The young heart seethes in silent rebellion, and learns to hate the dull life, and lives in hope that something will happen to give color to life. If the city idler, or the amorous farm hand, or the married widower happens to find her in the rebellious mood, why then we read in the newspapers an item about the "Strange Disappearance" or "Unaccountable Mesalliance" or "Shocking Depravity" of a hitherto quiet and respectable young girl.

The heartbroken parents are crushed with shame and sorrow. They cannot understand why their beloved daughter should go astray. Ah! if they had only shown her demonstrations of their love, if they had only sought to know her secret thoughts and sympathized with her moods, if each month to give her a few hours of pleasure, she need not have gone astray.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox's Letter.

Insects in Ears.

Few troubles are more annoying or more productive of serious difficulty, if not removed, than insects in ears. Lying upon soft meadow grass, or sleeping upon a camping bed of fragrant spruce, bugs of different denominations seem possessed with a desire to inspect our auricles. Once inside, their frantic efforts to escape cause such agony that people have gone temporarily crazy with it. This may be instantly stopped by pouring the ear full of sweet oil, which suffocates the insect, and be is easily removed. Either a syringe will answer, but avoid introducing pins, etc., into the ears. Much harm may thus be done to their delicate mechanism, and little to the cause of the trouble. If oil is not readily accessible use water, which is almost as good.

Earache in any form may be quickly relieved by filling the ear with chloroform vapor from an uncorked bottle, vapor only not the liquid; and mamma's bag should always contain a small vial of it, as it is useful in many ways. Three drops upon a lump of sugar is an excellent remedy for hiccough or ordinary nausea, and I have recalled to life more than one person pronounced dead from sunstroke with a half teaspoonful, clear, poured down his throat.—Boston Budget.

Attractive Morning Cap.

One of the largest britannia firms in New England recommends the following to clean silver: One-half pound of sal soda added to eight quarts of water; when at a boiling heat put in pieces of silver, and immediately wash in soap suds, and wipe dry with a piece of cotton flannel.

The exceedingly pretty morning cap shown in the cuts is made of a Turkish handkerchief and lace. The foundation is of stiff net and wire, filled out with a pleated crown 12 inches wide around the edge, 2 3-4 inches deep in the middle and 1 1-4 inches at each end.

TURKISH HANDKERCHIEF AND LACE MORNING CAP.

A little over two yards of lace 2 3-4 inches wide are required to arrange in two rows over each side of the foundation, being laid in front in double box pleats. This lace trimming is enriched by four loops of narrow pink picot ribbon, put over the upper row of lace. The Turkish handkerchief which covers the crown is caught close together above by a bow of ribbon, and the open part at the back of the cap is filled out with long loops and ends.

Fashions in Necklaces.

Both diamond and pearl necklaces are now worn with rich and elaborate decorations in front, decorations that fall down and almost fill in the V-shaped front when the corsage is thus closed. These elaborate necklaces have by no means interfered with the popularity of the thoroughly correct of a simple strand of pearls with a medallion suspended therefrom, or the still simpler form of ornament, a gold chain with pendant attached.

In silver have appeared some exceedingly popular novel ornaments, including new patterns in dog collars that fasten close about the throat, and necklaces that fall loosely around the neck. The floral necklaces are quite pretty, being composed of a series of enameled flowers fastened together so as to make a flexible band. The moonstone necklaces are equally pretty; in them the stones are set in square, oval or round blocks of silver linked together.

Dressing Sacques.

Pretty dressing sacques are made of batiste, percale or linen lawn, with dots or fine stripes of color. The thinner materials are made up with tight fitting backs and loose fronts, a plaited vest of white lawn being sometimes inserted, which may be embroidered or decorated with drawn work or ladder stitching between the tucks. The percales are closely fitted and trimmed with torchon ruffles, which are sailloped in buttonhole stitch with a color matching the figure.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

HOW TO MAKE A MORNING CAP OF A KERCHIEF AND LACE.

Long Cloaks, Short Cloaks and Elegant Evening Wraps—A French Bodice of Velvet and Chantilly Lace to Wear with Evening Dress.

Bodices for the evening, arranged as shown in the accompanying cut, are exceedingly stylish. The gem set necklace, as will be seen on examining the illustration, is employed to ornament the fronts of the corsage, instead of wearing it around the neck in the usual manner.

FRENCH BODICE FOR EVENING DRESS.

A strip of black Chantilly lace is pleated lightly around the pointed neck opening of the bodice, which latter is made of black velvet. The lace trimming is caught together on one side with a brooch of brilliants. Cut jet beads trim the lower edge of the bodice, and also the lace on the elbow sleeves.

Cloaks and Evening Wraps.

Cloth coats are so elegant this season in fabric, color and design that modistes and tailors are commending them for dressy wraps for visiting and for carriage toilettes. The new cloths have a great wave and curves of deeper tone than the surface brocaded upon them, or they are striped like velvet, or have small figures of a different shade. They come in the new silk shades of Gobelin blue, fawn, copper red, vieux green and browns of a dozen different shades. They are lined throughout with gay plaid surahs, or else with black or a neutral tint, and are trimmed with fur, with changeable velvet and rich cord passementerie. The short coats are usually semi-fitting in cape shape, or else they have visite sleeves.

White and gold wraps for evening are made of white cloth with velvet like finish, and are braided all over with gold cord in stripes; these come in wide sleeved paletots and in dolman shapes. India embroideries in medals trim other sorties de bal, made of the new changeable velvets, or plush, and the new watered velvet in dark India red and the favorite Gobelin blue shades. Fringes of metal, chenille and silk cords, or else bands of fur, feathers, edge such garments, and many are lined throughout with fur, notably a pale blue plush cloak lined with chinchilla, and worn in the Irish peasant style (gathered about the neck, and without sleeves), while a second cloak is a long dolman of fawn colored moire velvet lined with the crinkled white fleece of the Japanese goat, and richly braided with gold.—Harper's Bazar.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Cure on the ear shrinks about 40 per cent," says an agricultural journal. We are most interested in corns on the foot. We have never known them to shrink to any perceptible extent.—Philadelphia Call.

"What are you doing here?" asked the contractor. "I am the watchman." "Oh, I see; and what do you watch?" "Watch for the hours."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

"What was the biggest school of mackerel you ever saw?" asked a summer boarder of old Capt. Gloster. "The biggest school of mackerel I ever saw?" repeated the captain, shifting his quid and hitching up his trousers. "Well, ma'am, the biggest school of mackerel I ever saw was off the Banks, away back in '61. But, Lor' bless you, ma'am, that wa'n't no school of mackerel. That was a university."—Somerville Journal.

P. T. Barnum says the day of the circus clown has passed, and that no such individual will accompany his shows next season. Mr. Barnum has done a great deal for this country, but this is his master stroke.—Detroit Free Press.

A man in Mexico who carried a carbine and a revolver and tried to kill another man is described as being "of gentlemanly appearance and good address." If he had carried another revolver and a bowie knife he might have been looked upon as a leader in polite society.—Dayton Democrat.

A Texas paper advertises for "a first class driving horse for a lady that must be young and gentle and easy to manage."—Texas Siftings.

Stranger—I notice you drove the president over the same street twice, Omaha Man—Yes, we arranged the route that way. You see, we drove him through that street on his arrival, and then drove him through it when we went back, an hour later. "Exactly! I thought it was an oversight." "Oh, no. We wanted to give him a chance to see how western cities grow."—Omaha World.

Busy Father—My daughter, I must take an early train to-morrow; the alarm clock is out of order, and some one will have to sit up so as to wake me. Dutiful Daughter—I'll do it, pa. "My dear, you are a daily and hourly blessing to me. Are you sure you can keep awake?" "Oh, yes; George will be here to-night."—Omaha World.

Cyclone cellars in the west are no longer refuges of safety. An able bodied cyclone came along the other day, picked up one of these holes in the ground and whirled it through the air into the next township, where it was lodged on top of a tree. So a correspondent intimates, and he would hardly lie about a little thing like that.—Norristown Herald.

Didn't Like the Method.

The superintendent of public instruction asked an old negro why he did not send his son to school.

"Because I foun' dat he wuz er wastin' his time, sah, dats why."

"Wastin' his time?"

"Yes, sah. Come gibin him er little old spellin' book."

"What did you want him to have?"

"P'litical 'conomy. I wants him ter be er polertician."

"Well, but he must study a spelling book first."

"What fur?"

"So he can learn how to read."

"Who wants him to read?"

"Why, he must read or he can't study political economy."

"Kaint study political 'conomy widout he kno read."

"No."

"An' he kan't read 'cept he study de spellin' book."

"I reckon yer better go on, sah, an' let me ten ter mer own erfairs. Sent de chile ter school like I would an' don send him ter talk er speech an' he couldn't do it. Jes' go on an' let me run dis yer mercheen."—Arkansas Traveler.

Gave Him Away.

Mr. Benny is a minister with quite a family of children. He entertains his friends quite often at the parsonage, and usually at supper. He has a custom of giving certain things at the table into the charge of certain of the children. Benny, for example, sees that the guests are properly taken care of in the way of needed additional supplies. Harold has bread and butter and things of that nature under his supervision, while the little girls have their special provinces in the realm of sweets. One evening Mr. Benny chanced to notice that a brother of the cloth was without a biscuit. "Why, doctor," said he, "you haven't had the biscuits passed you. Why, really, doctor, this is a great oversight. Harold, my boy, no biscuits yet passed to Dr. Holmes?"

"Father," said the tiny Harold, who always speaks slowly and with great solemnity, and who to-night had in his voice a reproach that the beloved father had for a moment believed him unfaithful to his trust—"father, he has had three already."—Harper's Bazar.

Too Much for Them.

"Let's see," said a woman who was inspecting an empty house in the eastern part of the city with a view to rent, "haven't several of your tenants died in the house?"

"Only two, madame."

"And they died of typhoid fever, I hear, caused by the drainage being so bad."

"Typhoid fever! Some one is trying to injure me, madame. They both fell down stairs and killed themselves."

"That's singular."

"Oh, no, madame. You see, they stood at the head of the stairs when I lowered the rent to $12 per month, and the sudden shock overbalanced 'em."—Omaha World.

Woman's Voice.

I love a low, sweet voice in woman,
It brings a balm to heart and ear;
It can more readily subdue man
Than eyes, however brightly clear.

The low, sweet voice speaks truer, truer
Than all of beauty's charms combined;
To hear well you must come close to her—
Another charm in that I find. —Judge.

After Hours.

Blind Man—Do you know that man going down the street?

Deaf and Dumb Man—Slightly, just merely to speak to. Do you know him?

Blind Man—Not personally—only by sight. —Texas Siftings.

—Passenger Engine, No. 140, one of the handsomest looking locomotives on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, ran turn-table pit at Roselle, Wednesday evening, badly wrecking her pilot and headlight.

—A petition will be circulated at the polls in Somerville on election day, for signatures, in favor of an Indignation Meeting and reward of $1,000 for the apprehension and conviction of horse thieves in Somerset County.

—The first fruits of the indefatigable labors of Detective "Murphy" and of those who have backed him up, were yesterday gathered. The cases of the prosecution, says one of them, were so strong that as lawyers advised Jackson to throw up the sponge, and he did.

—Treasurer Nelson, of New Brunswick, has a happy faculty of using words to advantage. He says: "It is better to run in debt to provide proper school facilities for the children, than to graduate one criminal from the streets." The remark is applicable everywhere. Schools are cheaper than prisoners.

—There was a pancake sociable at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening, given by the Young People's Association. The affair was well attended and was a success socially and financially. A magic lantern exhibition by Harry Johnson and Harry Rand, with humorous explanations, was among other interesting attractions.

—Mr. Miller loses a vote. When James L. Miller was Chosen Freeholder he made a contract with John M. Ledley, to construct a small bridge in Westfield. The work not being done according to specifications, Mr. Miller required the taking down of the structure and personally superintended its reconstruction as per contract. Mr. Ledley it is reported, is not now a Miller man.

—Wm. Dennis, a resident of Phillipsburg, employed on the C. R. R. as a brakeman, met with a peculiar accident recently, while walking from front to rear of the train near Somerville. He was in the act of stepping from one car to another as the train parted, and he fell under the cars, where he lay until 86 cars had passed over him. The only injury he received was the breaking of a small bone in his wrist.

—It is commonly thought that Jackson yesterday acknowledged his guilt to no greater extent than when arranged before the City Judge. This is a mistake. Never until yesterday did he acknowledge himself guilty of the Carmon Parse dwelling house fire. With Jackson, at the time the last-named property was fired, were Louis VanNest and Horace VanNest. Hence the importance of this new confession.

—The New York Herald recently said: "Miss Fannie Davenport achieved unmistakable success last night in 'Fedora,' then presented for the first time in America. The fierce clash of contending passions was rendered with thrilling vividness. The curtain fell amid a storm of applause, and bouquets and the actress was again and again called before the curtain." Miss Davenport will appear in Stillman Music Hall, Oct. 31.

NO TRIAL YET.

The Theodore VanNest Case of till Next Week, at Least.

Those who expected that the case of State vs. Theodore VanNest, one of the indicted "fire-bugs," would come up before the Court this morning were disappointed. It was thought that the trial would be begun early in the day, but a Summit disorderly house case was brought up and the lobby listened to a long string of tiresome testimony. When at 11:30, Corporation Counsel Marsh, who is to assist Prosecutor Wm. R. Wilson in the trial of the incendiaries, received a signal from the Prosecutor and took his hat and satchel and hurried to catch the 11.39 train for home it was concluded that the Van-Nest case was off for the day, and off for the day it was known meant off until next week.

During the progress of the Summit case, which was that of the State vs. Edward Delaney, some of the crowd in the lobby loudly applauded a "funny" witness. This called for a severe rebuke from Judge McCormick, who told the officers that all caught creating disorder must be brought before the bar for punishment. "A few months in jail," he concluded, "will have a salutary effect on such persons."

At the noon recess Prosecutor Wilson said that it was hardly probable that the Van Nest case would be reached to-day. "There may be developments," he said, "in a few days. That's all I can say. There are six defending lawyers to contend with before we get to trial. Probably all the cases will come up at once."

At two o'clock Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, counsel for Theodore Van Nest, said that the case positively would not come up to-day. Most of the witnesses left for Plainfield early in the afternoon.

John M. Jackson will be brought before the Court for sentence Nov. 12, instead of Nov. 10 as announced. At that time a strong appeal for leniency will be made by his lawyer.

JACKSON TO BE CAT'S PAW.

A member of THE NEWS staff sends the following from Elizabeth: An interview this morning with a prominent local official adds weight to the theory advanced yesterday that John M. Jackson is to be the scapegoat of the entire gang of "fire-bugs." He has been told that an apparently frank confession will save him and hence his plea of guilty to all three charges. The prosecution thinks that it has made a great step forward in securing Jackson's admission of his guilt. In reality this new phase of things will probably make the State's fight harder; for the chief of the "firebugs," having been assured that he will receive the severest penalty of the law anyhow, has, it is asserted, made up his mind to justify his guilt in the eyes of the VanNest brothers. He will endeavor to take upon himself the blame for the entire series of crimes, notwithstanding the fact that ex Congressman Alvah Clark, speaking for the coterie of lawyers who advised Jackson to plead guilty, said that it was the best thing to be done and would result favorable for the whole crew. The only way in which Jackson will be benefitted will be by his receiving lighter sentence because he has not put the State to the expense of a trial.

THE JACKSON'S BOINGS.

There is little doubt that Jackson's wife has been enticed to leave the State. She was to give damaging evidences against Horace Van Nest, whose wife is her sister. Her illness is a fact, but she is nevertheless missing. Private Bill the Relief Association were to care for her during her expected accouchement, but even they—let alone an officer with a subpoena—cannot find her. It is surmised that Horace's wife was instrumental in getting the woman out of the way, but that supposition would indicate that Jackson's wife has more regard for her sister's husband than for her own, for her evidence would convict Horace and lighten John's burden. There is a big scheme prepared to save the VanNests, whether the prosecution will defeat it or not is a question of time. If they do, the people will win; if they do not, upon self-convicted Jackson will fall the penalty for the crimes of all the "committee." The people must be successful. And their triumph depends on the minds of the jurymen.

If matters so shape themselves that Mrs. Jackson cannot be brought back into the State and into court, her evidence as given at the preliminary hearing in the Plainfield Court Rooms can, it is asserted by some, still be used, for it is on record over her signature. This, however, is a point which may cause a bitter legal fight.

Still Another Smashup.

Trains were delayed early this morning because locomotive No. 113 ran into the rear of a train of coal cars drawn by locomotive 89, about ten o'clock last night, demolishing two of the cars and blocking the tracks for several hours afterward. No one is reported injured. These accidents are occurring rather frequently of late. There appears to be something wrong somewhere. The accident occurred near White House.

Foreman Thomas H. Keller of Engine Company No. 2, has returned to his home on West Second street from a nine weeks' absence in the West.

—The members of the Plainfield Cornet Band are making extensive arrangements to receive the Milburn Cornet Band to-night. The reception will take place in the Republican Association Rooms on East Front street.

The many friends of Mr and Mrs. Arthur T. Gollup, gathered at their new residence on West Front street and Plainfield avenue last evening and tendered them a surprise party. The evening was spent very enjoyably and at a seasonable hour the guests dispersed.

—This morning's Tribune says: "Mr. Miller for the Democratic and Mr. Dunn for County Clerk are receiving enthusiastic receptions throughout the townships, and the prospect of their election is considered most assuring. The entire ticket nominated by the Republicans is receiving support from numbers of independent Democrats who are disgusted with the continued ascendancy of the 'Court House ring' in the management of the Democratic party."

HAPPY COLORED PEOPLE

Have a Gay Time at Cypress Commander's Ball.

Crescent Hall was the scene of an unusual event last evening, the occasion being a ball given under the auspices of Cypress Commandery, No. 6, of Plainfield, F. and A. M., a lodge of masons composed entirely of the colored race.

There were about 600 people present, nearly 300 of whom took part in the grand march which took place at midnight, and the evolutions were done so admirably as to win hearty applause.

Among the spectators were a number of leading white citizens who pointed with pride to the well-behaved, well appearing company, as an illustration of what the race had risen to.

There was to have been a competitive drill between Cypress Commandery and a commandery from Philadelphia to have taken place at nine o'clock; but the visitors failed to appear, so the committee consisting of Sheriff Stiles, Judge Ulrich, the Republican candidate for Assembly, Ex-Councilman Goddard and Dr. Penfield, who were present, were not required to do the honors. There was a fine exhibition drill by the Knights Templar in uniform, however, which was quite creditable.

The dancing and promenading disclosed the fact that there are a great many respectable and fine looking colored people in this city and among the visitors from other localities. One remarkably handsome and exceedingly graceful young woman excited the curiosity of the white people to know whom she was. She was from Newark, has, it is said, a fine voice, and Negro like, has talent in her veins, and was conceded by all a great beauty. She is a niece of Mrs. John Dey, the mistress at the Plainfield rail road station.

The company generally were well-dressed—some of the young women displaying much taste.

After the grand march the company sat down to a fine supper, spread for the occasion, after which the dancing was resumed and continued to an early hour this morning, when the pleasure-seekers dispersed.

Among the prominent colored men present were Mr. W. F. Powell, the Past Grand Commander of the State of Pennsylvania and Past Grand Master of the State of New Jersey, He is a prominent Orator of the Sixth District School at Camden, having under his charge 14 teachers and 900 scholars. He is one of the Camden Board of Examiners of Applications of Teachers, Chairman of the Burlington County Teachers' Association and is the first colored man who secured a teacher's certificate on merit, which entitles him to teach in any school in New Jersey. He said that in his experience that the colored man who respects himself has no trouble in securing the respect of intelligent white people, of any legal standing in the right path. Another prominent colored man present was Philip N. Colding, Justice of the Peace at Camden. He is also Past Grand Commander, F. and A. M. of the State of New Jersey and Past Grand Master, also Lieut. Commander of the New Masonic Jurisdiction and Thirty-third Degree Mason, Scottish rite. He is a prosperous real estate agent in Camden.

Others present were: Dr. Jackson, Past Commandery of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. J. Douglass, Grand Generalissimo; Sir Knight Gould of Camden; Sir Knight Ruffen of Belvin, N. J.; Sir Knight L. Hunter, E. C. of Ivanhoe Commandery, No. 5, New York City; also Sir C. C. J. G. Farrell, Sir B. Myers, Sir B. Barnes, Sir M. Smith, Sir J. Keyser, Sir C. Scott and Sir James Farren also of Ivanhoe. The orchestra was VanDyke's of Newark.

The reception committee was composed of Sir Knights Nathan Williams, Paul Arnold, Henry Winder, Albert Adkins, Wm. B. Stives and Henry Johnson.

The officers of the commandery are Sir Knights Wm. J. Douglass, Eminent Commander; Israel Jones, Generalissimo; Wm. E. Washington, Senior Warden; Geo. Thompson, Junior Warden; Prince Voorhees, Sword Bearer; Wm. Osborn, Standard Bearer; Henry Wurgin, Warder; John W. Potter, Captain of the Guards.

PERSONAL.

Superintendent Brooks of the Potter Press Works has gone West for a few days on business.

Thomas McElroy, of C. Potter, Jr. & Co's, New York was in town yesterday on business and business.

John S. Bunn, the warden of the Somerset County Jail, has resigned that position to enter the milk business.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Drake of No. 14 Orchard Place celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding last evening, at which a large number of invited guests were present from Newark, Amboy, Elizabeth and Plainfield. Their presents were numerous and costly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayson at their house on La Grande avenue, last evening gave a brilliant reception to their many friends. It was largely attended, the house being, in fact, crowded, and the affair exceedingly enjoyable. Messrs. Richards and Goodrich were among those present and contributed much to the happy occasion.

At the residence of Mason Dunham, Wednesday evening at seven o'clock, Miss Josephine R. Dunham was united in marriage to Mr. Albert Burdick of Alfred Centre, N. Y., by the Rev. Mr. Burdick. There were about forty guests present. The presents were numerous and expensive. Last evening the couple were tendered a surprise party by their many friends. They will make a tour for about two weeks and then will reside in Alfred Centre, where the groom is having built a fine residence. The bride is a sister of Mrs. J. C. Van Dyke of this city.

Geo. H. Babcock of Eighth street is somewhat of an authority on Chinese curio, having seen some of the finest collections in Europe including those at Berlin, London and Paris. Last evening while examining the collection of Mr. F. X. Schoonmaker on Putnam avenue, which is to be loaned to the Art Gallery, and which Mr. Babcock saw for the first time, he was surprised to find it so exceedingly valuable, and, like every one else who hears Mr. Schoonmaker explain the wonderful beauties of the work of the Orientals, retired charmed, and lighted that so entertaining a speaker can Mr. Schoonmaker has been induced to lecture before a Plainfield audience. The Board of Trustees of the Art Gallery have arranged to have him lecture some time in November, to be duly advertised. It is hoped that Mr. Schoonmaker will not be induced to lecture. Next month he is to deliver at Philadelphia the annual address before American Society of Civil Engineers, of which he is president.

A Boy Horribly Mangled.—An Old man's Sudden Death.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. Oct. 27.—Stephen Lyons, age 16, had the flesh torn from his arm and back last evening by a revolving cylinder roll in the Mural Decorating Co's. works here. Although horribly mangled the doctors who attended him at his house think he will recover.

Jasper Provost age 77, expired last night of heart disease, in an outhouse on Morris street, where he was soon after found by friends at his home on Morris street. He was a well known wood and coal merchant here, where he has been in business for many years.

More About Lynching.

DELPHI, Ind., Oct. 28.—The latest developments in the matter of the recent lynching of Amer Green was the release yesterday on a nolle prosequi of William Walker who was held under an indictment and $5,000 as accomplice of Green in the murder of Laelia Mabbitt. Considerable indignation was caused by this action of the prosecuting attorney. The grand jury is still engaged in the examination of witnesses relative to the lynching. A rumor is now afle to the effect that Green's attorneys, Dykeman and O'Connell of Logansport will bring suit for $5,000 against Carroll County on behalf of Green's estate. The suit would be brought in the Federal Court by having Mrs. Green, Amer's mother, a non-resident of the State appointed administratrix.

Ministers in Conference.

QUEBEC, Oct. 28.—The conference of the Provincial ministers which has been in session here for the last few days terminated its labors yesterday and the Ontario delegates left for home. Its proceedings have been surrounded with so much secrecy that it is impossible to get a definite statement of what has been done; but it is semi-officially announced that the conference appointed a delegation to go to England to lay their grievances at the foot of the throne and if their demands were not acceded to, to ask that the imperial act bringing about the confederation of the various provinces be repealed. In this connection it is remarked that nothing but a miracle can now prevent speedy annexation. Premier Fielding of Nova Scotia, is declared to have stated that unless the coming negotiations at Washington ended in the consummation of commercial union Nova Scotia would rise as one man and demand annexation.

First Lecture of The Course.

"Mormonism in Utah as I saw it" was the title of the lecture which drew a large audience to Reform Hall last night. The Rev. W. E. Honeyman was the speaker and his remarks were interesting. His description of the Mormon massacre at Mountain Meadows, of Brigham Young's wicked personality and the shameful practices of the sect were close and graphic.

This is the first lecture of the free series which will be given this Winter under the auspices of the Reform Club.

Mr. Honeyman resided in the West some years and was familiar with the mormon question. There was a large map of Utah on the stage which was freely used by the lecturer in explaining his lecture. He said that Utah was eleven times as large as New Jersey, that it had a remarkable river in its borders known as the Colorado River, that the territory had mountain peaks 12,000 feet in height, and some magnificent scenery, that it abounded in coal, iron, silver, gold, lead, etc. Great Salt Lake was so impregnated with salt that if you evaporated four pails of water, one pail of salt remained. He described the tabernacle, temple, tithing house, etc., and spoke at length of Brigham Young, and of the first wife of Brigham Young, and of the Gentiles. He told some sad tales of the treatment received by the women in Utah. He declared that mormonism was an ecclesiastical despotism, and that the church was above the State throughout mormondom. He told of the work of the teachers of the church, and their fidelity and bravery. The music was under charge of Mr. A. Vanderbeek, and the opening prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Richards of the Crescent Avenue church. The large audience present departed highly pleased.

Two Runaway Boys.

Isador and Louis Bourgois, fourteen and sixteen years old respectively, arrived in Newark Wednesday night, entered the First Precinct Police Station and asked to be allowed to sleep in the station-house. They stated that they were from Plainfield and had run away from home, having gone as far as West Virginia and returned. Their parents live on Elizabeth street near Arlington avenue.

The boys claim to have been arrested at Elizabeth, for stealing "headway" on a freight train. They also claimed to know that their parents had announced their unwillingness to receive them at home again, even if they should desire to return, and therefore they decided to go on "Heaven knows where," living honestly if they can, but securing food and raiment "anyhow." They were given lodgings, and will be held until their parents can be heard from.

Yesterday, the second day's session of the fifty-third convention of the "Delta Kappa" fraternity at New Brunswick was of interest mainly to the fraternity. The convention opened with an address by President Dodd of Rutgers. Professor Louis Chamberlain of Rutgers made an address of welcome and Edward J. Thompson of Williams responded. Sherman G. Pitt of Rutgers presided. At night there was a public reception under the auspices of the fraternity and the ladies of New Brunswick. Delegates are present from Princeton, Columbia, Cornell, Williams, Brown, Amherst, New York, Lafayette and Lehigh.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

TOPICS THE READERS OF THE NEWS FIND TO WRITE ABOUT.

A Prominent Taxpayer on the Board of Education's Appeal.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—I have read with much interest the communication in the NEWS from the Board of Education in this city, in regard to the additional school facilities required and the mode recommended of obtaining them. As one of the class of unlearned old fogyish, allow me to suggest what seems to me to be a better and a wiser mode. But first let me say that no one appreciates more than I do the fact that our government owes to all its children of school age a good, sound, common school education, both for its own safety and the good of its subjects; but it is under no moral, political or religious obligation to furnish an academic, collegiate or university education for any.

There are the luxuries of civilization, and if they are worth having they are worth paying for by the individuals themselves.

If, then, the Board of Education would require a moderate tuition fee from all that wish an academic education, I have no doubt but they would have sufficient funds with the present rate of taxation, not only to construct first-class school facilities for scholars, but to extend the suggested facilities to a much greater extent needed, and do justice to not only the mechanic, but to the taxpayers as well.

If this does not, I feel sure that no one will then object to an increase in taxes to accomplish so desirable an object.

CHARLES POTTER.

Is He Only Papa's Boy?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—I am told that those having charge of the Dickens affair have been charging 25 cents each for the lowest priced for admittance to hear the coming readings in Music Hall. Charles Dickens, Esq., has a great name, a fine mind and elocutionist as well as a master-mind in the literary world; but I question whether his son, the junior Charles, has much of his father's genius, even in the line of stage-work. I suspect, from reading the criticisms of the New York newspapers, that Charles Dickens, jr., draws merely because he is his father's son and not because of any talents of his own. Still, I would like to hear him read from the works of the great novelist whose son he is, but I do not care to pay as much as seventy-five cents for that privilege. There are, I am sure, many in this city who cannot afford to pay so steeply either. There are many who are not blessed with a great deal of money who still have a great love for any good thing that tends to elevate. I am afraid that at the prices fixed the audience will be an "exclusive" one. And, even if the readings are deserving of so high a price it would be better, I think, to cut it lower; for then many more would attend, and people would be helped fully as much as under the present rate, and the public in general would be better satisfied.

PLAINFIELD LIT.

[The correspondent is in error about the price, which is to be fifty cents.—ED.]

Mrs. Jackson Missing.

Mrs. John M. Jackson, the wife of the Prince of Plainfield's "fire-bugs," has been missing from her home at the corner of Second and Elm streets for a few days past, and no one appears to possess any information as to her whereabouts. Neighbors say she and her children have been absent for several days past. Constable Moffett has been endeavoring to find her in order to serve a subpoena, but has been unable to do so. It is thought that the friends of the accused "fire-bugs" have spirited her away. At the preliminary hearing in this city a few weeks ago Mrs. Jackson gave some important testimony in reference to the Carmon Parse fire. Mrs. Jackson was about to become a mother and the managers of the Relief Association had made arrangements to have her cared for during her confinement, but now she cannot be found.

—While a workman was attempting to dump a load of coal into the cellar of Edsall's store on West Front street this morning, a cog-wheel on one of the patent wagons belonging to Messrs. Force & Co., broke and struck one of the large plate windows in the front of the store, and demolished it.

STATE NOTES.

Pleuro-pneumonia has broken out in Middlesex county. Inspector Diamond yesterday destroyed a herd of thirty, at Asher Flanagan's farm; another of seventeen, at Williams' farm, near by. George Finch has lost a herd of forty, and Gordon Smith another, which the disease has lately broken out near Jamesburg and Sayreville.

The first deer of the season was killed yesterday in Burlington county in the Pines Swamps. It was an old buck which the hunters have been after for some time and he was unusually wild. Last season these hunters got on his trail, but he got away from them. He was shot by Dolph Estelow after a long chase. The deer weighed 300 pounds and was a beautiful specimen.

The wife of Daniel H. Kemble of Burnt Mills, who lives on the Mrs. A. M. McDowell farm, was a widow for almost minutes recently by the crackling sound of fire. She reached the kitchen and subdued the fire with diffculty. It originated from a spark from an open firepla[illegible] burning a portion of the floor and some clothing on a chair, in the pockets of which was a considerable amount of money. The money was needed to pay for an operation on which Mr. Kemble's life is said to depend.

Daniel McCarthy, a fine young man, aged twenty-four, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon at Elizabethport by the caving in of a cellar he was in. Michael Harper and John Moxley were excavating for a cellar under the house of Archer Abbey, corner of East Jersey and First streets. Harvey was working at the entrance to the cellar, and McCarthy was at the further end, handing in, found McCarthy was completely covered by a huge pile of earth. Moxley had one leg buried, but escaped serious injury. Both men worked hard to release McCarthy, but it was nearly five minutes before he was dug out. The side of the bank was crushed in and his neck was broken. Death must have been instantaneous. A ton or more of earth had fallen on him. Dr. Schleimer arrived a few minutes after the accident and pronounced life extinct. McCarthy was a member of the Parnell Guards, and also of Branch 6 St. Patrick's Alliance. He has been only four months in this country. He leaves a wife and brother's residence, No. 242 Second street.

DR. McGLYNN'S GENERAL DENIAL.

No Truth in the Story of the Eloquent Priest's Alleged Repentance.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Dr. McGlynn lectured here last evening on the land tax question and in support of the United Labor state ticket. Yesterday's dispatch from Pittsburg, which stated that Rev. Father Brennan, of Newark, N. J., had said that Dr. McGlynn was about to ask forgiveness of the church and reinstatement was shown to the doctor by a reporter. Dr. McGlynn said: "The dispatch is most absurd, and untrue from beginning to end. The Father Brennan alleged to have made the statement is described as pastor of one of the principal Roman Catholic churches of Newark, but I do not know of any such man. The Rev. Dr. Burtsell, of New York, and Bishop Moore, of Florida, were newer students in the American college in Rome, as stated, and no man named Brennan was a classmate of theirs or mine, either in the propaganda or in the American college. The story is false that Brennan and I ever talked about, or any one, met me, and that I expressed to them repentance. How could I repent, when I am not conscious of having committed any offense? You may say that Dr. McGlynn declares that there is no truth in the story telegraphed from Pittsburg, and if a reporter was told such a story he was imposed upon."

The Case of Mrs. Jackson.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 28.—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Williams Jackson, who died on Tuesday morning under such circumstances as to warrant the belief that she had been murdered, took place yesterday. The theory that her death was due to an overdose of oil of cloves, taken to relieve a toothache, is discredited. It is believed that she was poisoned. Carrie A. Jackson, the husband, who deserted her ten years ago, cannot be found.

Parsons Writes a Book.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Parsons, the one American among the condemned Anarchists, has just completed a book of nearly 300 pages, which was put into the hands of his wife yesterday for publication. The work is a history of Anarchism and its causes. Parsons says in the finished work, as posthumous work, and declares that he has abandoned all hope of avoiding the hangman.

Wilfrid Hunt's Conviction.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Referring to the conviction of Wilfrid Hunt, who was yesterday sentenced to six months' imprisonment, and appealed, the Irish journals point to the fact that the result of the case is identical with that of Mr. Hunt's father, and declare that his appeal from the judgment of the court dulls the edge of the government's weapon and paralyzes the efforts to construe the crimes act to suit its own purposes.

Hunted Is Declared Vacant.

HALIFAX, Oct. 28.—The seat of Thomas Robertson, member for Shelburne in the house of commons, was declared vacant yesterday. The advance was wholly lost by 12 o'clock and a bear rush. Missouri, Kansas and Texas declined 2 per cent. After 12 o'clock the market was firmer and advanced very slowly to close. The market was somewhat steadier during the afternoon, and prices in many cases advanced fractionally up to ½ per cent. for the day, however, there was some pressure to sell, which sent prices down sharply. The closing prices were ¼ to ¾ per cent. lower than last night, show fractional declines in most cases.

THE DOOMED ANARCHISTS.

ARGUMENT FOR AND AGAINST THEM BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

Mr. Tucker's Eloquent Appeal and Attorney General Hunt's Forcible Reply—Anarchist Parson Says That the Workingmen Will Demand Blood for Blood.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The proceedings in the supreme court yesterday, in the Anarchist appeal case, were solemn. All the judges paid close attention to the arguments of counsel, and several times interrupted them to ask questions. The address of Mr. Tucker, on behalf of the condemned men, was a surprise to many. He is a graceful and easy

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE.

speaker, and his address from first to last was eloquent and impassioned. Attorney General Hunt made a clear, calm and forcible argument, dealing only with the cold abstract propositions of law involved in the case. He will conclude his argument to-day, and will probably be followed by Judge Grinnell, who will speak for an hour, leaving it for Gen. Hunt to close the closing argument.

The main contention of counsel for the Anarchists, as brought out in Roger A. Pryor's argument before the court the other day and Mr. Tucker's opening argument yesterday is that by the Illinois juror law and by the action of the Illinois court the Anarchists were convicted of a capital offense without due process of law, contrary to the guarantee of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution; that due process of law implies and requires a trial by an impartial jury; that the Illinois statute makes competent a juror with a preconceived and pre-judged opinion as to the guilt of the accused; that it is not, therefore, "due process of law," which abridges the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States" by denying the accused "the right to a trial by an impartial jury," as the language of counsel expresses it.

Attorney General Hunt, of Illinois, in his brief submitted to the court and by his oral argument, opposed the granting of the writ of error and replied to the points made. He insisted that to warrant the writ it must appear from the record that there is a Federal question involved, and that such question was raised and decided in the state court. He denied that these conditions were met. The record did not show that any Federal question is involved. The prohibitions, he contended, contained in the first ten amendments to the constitutions are limitations on the powers of the Federal government and not on the states; and, so far as the Anarchists rely upon anything contained in those amendments, they can have no standing in the supreme court of the United States. The fourteenth amendment, he argued, was equally foreign to any right, privilege or immunity claimed by the petitioners.

GEN. B. F. BUTLER.

The record showed that the complaint is not that the state has made or is enforcing a law which deprives the petitioners of the privileges or immunities guaranteed by that section, but that they were deprived of rights by an erroneous construction of the law, placed upon it by the trial court of the state. They did not claim in the supreme court of Illinois that the Illinois jury law was repugnant to the constitution, nor that the supreme court of that state exercised under it; but that the law was valid and that the court exercised its power in a lawful way in that law. The Anarchists were tried in the courts of the state, under the laws of the state, and that constituted "due process of law." "Due process of law" meant in accordance with the laws of the land.

CAPT. W. P. BLACK.

Coming to the question of the competency of the Illinois juror with preconceived opinions as to the guilt of the accused, Attorney General Hunt insisted that the personnel of the jury which tried the accused could not properly be questioned by the court, or considered by it in this proceeding. He defended the jury laws of Illinois. They were constituted and in keeping with the changed conditions of the times. In these days of newspapers and telegraphs it was difficult to find intelligent men who were not familiar with events of current history. Similar laws were in force in a number of the states. The position into which we would be driven by counsel on the other side, who inveighed against the competency of jurors who had read day jury laws, is that the principles of common law of one hundred years ago, which debarred from jury duty persons who had formed an opinion, must govern for all time to come. Can it be, he exclaimed, that we must depend on jurors whose only qualifications were ignorance or stupidity? It seemed to him that the position opposing counsel had assumed forced this conclusion.

At 4 o'clock the court adjourned until tomorrow. Mr. Hunt not having finished his argument.

Capt. Wm. P. Black, who conducted the case of the Anarchists at the trial, is in constant attendance at the hearings, but will not take part in the argument.

Anarchist Parsons Defiant.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—"Oh, I have grown almost indifferent to the result," remarked A. R. Parsons to Ex-Justice Barker who called with the condemned man yesterday. "Hope and fear have almost worn themselves out, and I have become quite callous."

"You have," murmured Mrs. Parsons, who was by his side.

"The people will be heard from," continued Parsons, "and if they are not heard from in time, it will be because they have become satisfied with blood for blood and they will no doubt have it afterward," continued Parsons.

"Blood for blood," whispered Mrs. Parsons.

"What hope is there from a United States supreme court that is afraid of Gen. Sheridan and consults with them as to the questions of jurisdiction? That is what the supreme court of the United States did before it gave us its any other case? The judges, with their solemn manners, are put there to decide questions for themselves. But bah—" and with a wave of his hand Parsons signified that the interview was at an end.

UNCLE SAM'S DUSKY WARDS.

Annual Report of the Superintendent of Indian Schools.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The annual report of John R. Riley, superintendent of Indian schools, sets forth that the aggregate amount of money expended by the government for Indian schools during the fiscal year ending the last fiscal year was $1,095,579. The amount expended on account of the government boarding schools was $719,893. The sum of $236,300 was paid on account of education of pupils at contract boarding schools, most of which are under control of religious denominations. The day schools maintained by the government cost $79,386, and $9,847 was paid for the education of pupils at contract day schools.

The whole number of Indian children between the ages of 6 and 16 years attending schools is 39,921; of this number 14,082, or about 37½ per cent., attended school some portion of the year. The proportion of children attending school varies widely at different agencies. At several agencies nearly all the children of school age attend, while at others less than 1 per cent. are at school.

Among the recommendations is one suggesting that congress be requested to provide for the education of 100 Indian children to be selected from the several tribes living in the state of New York.

CINCINNATI'S GRAND ARMY DAY.

Parade of Veterans of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 28.—Yesterday was Grand Army day. The sun burst warmly through the haze of a glorious Indian summer day, and Major Tucker's forecast of storm was here from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. Hundreds of scarred veterans were early on the streets to fully appreciate the clouds of bunting with which the entire city is bedecked. The martial strains of fife and drum were heard on every hand and G. A. R. badges were as numerous as stars on a bright night. The postoffice, court house and other public buildings were closed at noon and officials and clerks joined the throng that already seemed to fill every principal thoroughfare in the city.

Shortly after dinner members of the five different divisions began to shortly drift together, and at 2:30 p. m. Gen. Andrew Hickenlooper gave the order, and the parade started. The mounted police, as they slowly wheeled at the head of the procession made a fine appearance, then followed the patrol wagons and a band, a proper and creditable introduction to the first division. One of the great features of the parade was the "Sherman Bummers." True to their nature they took everything they could lay their hands upon. About 5,000 veterans and sons of veterans were in line.

Women's Home Missionary Society.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes presided yesterday over the sixth annual meeting of the Methodist Woman's Home Missionary society. It was opened at 10 a. m. in the First M. E. church, and the opening exercises were conducted by Mrs. V. A. Cooper, of Boston. Mrs. C. E. Cherry and Mrs. William Cottingham, both of this city, were elected secretaries. The Rev. E. M. Mills, pastor of the First church, Presiding Elder W. H. Annable and Mrs. J. T. Benham, ex-president, welcomed, to which Mrs. N. C. Alger made the response. Mrs. R. B. Hayes delivered the president's address at 11:30 a. m., and at 12:30 p. m. an intermission was taken till 2 o'clock, when the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. C. V. Culver. In the evening an executive session was held.

Strikers Capture a Plantation.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—Two days ago a general strike occurred on sugar plantations throughout a large portion of the sugar belt of the state. Negro laborers, under the leadership of a white labor, had demanded an advance of twenty-five cents per day, the present price being $1 and rations. This being refused, the negroes became violent and resorted to let others work. Yesterday Governor McEnery received a dispatch from J. J. Schauder, a Terrebonne planter, stating that he could not get help in the state of the strikers and asking for assistance, parish authorities being unable to protect him. Thereupon the governor ordered a detachment of militia to the scene of the trouble. The troops left for the scene of the disturbance this morning.

Minnesota Gold Mines.

WABASHA, Minn., Oct. 28.—Much excitement prevails here over the discovery of gold quartz mines in Goodhue county, twenty-six miles from Shoo Fly, Wis., a point about twelve miles distant from this city, up the Chippewa river. The excitement is caused by assay returns $40 to the ton in gold, and about $20 to the ton in silver, the specimens being taken from different veins. For some time past the corporation known as the Wabasha Mining company have been quietly buying up and leasing all the land obtainable in the vicinity of the locality named, and have succeeded in getting possession of several choice and acres of what will no doubt develop into immense finds of the precious metals.

Named for Governor General of Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The provincial press assert that Lord Randolph Churchill will replace Lord Lansdowne as governor general of the dominion of Canada next May. Lord Randolph will pay a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. Leonard Jerome, in that city, within a short time, and it is alleged that he will not return to England, but that he will spend the time intervening his arrival in Canada in making a tour of the provinces of his new office in making a tour of the United States and Canada. The political complications in which Lord Randolph has become involved in connection with the Parnell commission are reasons advanced for his appointment to the place, and his acceptance as well.

Killed While Attempting to Escape.

YUMA, A. T., Oct. 28.—As Superintendent Gates was passing through the north sally-port of the Arizona prison yesterday he was met by a convict and marched out, followed by seven other convicts. One of the convicts rushed into the office, overcame open a drawer, and secured a pistol. The superintendent called upon the guards to shoot the convict holding him. Riggs, a life convict, turned and fired from the corridor, the convict and killed the convict who held and was stabbing the superintendent. Two prisoners were killed, one mortally and two seriously wounded. Superintendent Gates was badly wounded. There were no escapes.

THE HISTORY OF A CRIME.

A CONDEMNED MURDERER'S EXPEDIENT TO SAVE HIS NECK.

Hiding Amandina to Murder the Brother of His Victim and Place by the Body an Alleged Confession of Guilt of the Crime for Which He is to Die.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The supposed murderers of Henry Benhayon have been discovered and are under arrest. Benhayon was found dead in a room on Geary street last Sunday. Beside his body was a letter, in which he declared that he had poisoned his sister, who exonerating her husband, Dr. Bowers, who is confined in prison here awaiting execution for the murder of the woman. The room in which Benhayon was found was hired by two men just a few days previous to the discovery of his death, and the police had endeavored, without success, to find out who these men were.

It was Saturday afternoon when the terrible climax of this mystery burst upon the amazed court. A. Lowenstein, a new witness, had just been called. He was a dry goods salesman and had been acquainted with the deceased about eight years. He last saw Benhayon alive Friday night last. Benhayon met him on the street and told him that a friend of his had given him $5 to pay for the rental of a room at 22 Geary street. On the following evening Benhayon told him he had taken the room and had spent several hours therein, doing some private writing, for which he was paid $10. Witness saw no more of Benhayon till the actions of deceased after the death of his sister. He did not learn the name of the friend for whom Benhayon was going to pay the deposit of $5 for the room. When Benhayon told him he had rented a room he informed him he had the key with him. Lowenstein is a nephew of a lady at 501 Geary street, where the Benhayon family lived.

When Lowenstein left the stand he quickly disappeared from the court room, and Mrs. Higson, a landlady of the house, leaned over and whispered a few hurried words to Detective Lees. Detective Hogan at once started in pursuit of Lowenstein, who was recalled and said he believed he was at No. 22 Geary street on Wednesday evening. He did not think of the matter while he was on the stand. He left his home on Wednesday night with a roomer in his aunt's house to take in the sights. In passing along Geary street he invited his friend to call at No. 22, as he knew two young ladies at that place living in room 10. They went upstairs to the room, but the young ladies were out, and they left. From there he went to Platt's hall and afterwards through Chinatown. He did not remember having seen Mrs. Higson. Lowenstein said he was in the house only about two minutes, and at this point he was interrupted by Mrs. Higson crying out:

"He's the second man!" She then fell back in her chair fainting. Lowenstein emphatically denied ever having called about renting the room, and as Mrs. Higson was being led out of the room she again said: "He's the second man." He could not tell where the friend was who was out walking with him that night, but believed he had left the city. Lowenstein, in reply to a declared he was only two minutes in the house. He was called upon to describe his Milwaukee friend, and gave a description which might fit almost any one. He did not know the name of the young ladies whom he wanted to call on, and it may be here remarked that room No. 10, where he located them, has been vacant nearly a week. All he knew of them was that one of them bought some ribbons in the store he worked in and invited him to call and see her.

Lowenstein's testimony before Assistant District Attorney Kirk, Lowenstein admitted he had shaved off his beard within the last few days. He denied having done so at once the day he called at the Geary street house, but admitted he shaved himself on the day of the night he went there. All attempts to find the two girls he had partied with his beard since last Wednesday night proved fruitless. The only reason he could assign for shaving off his beard was that his sunk was after him to do so. Being pressed to tell more about his Milwaukee friend, he said he had known him only three or four days, and consequently could tell little about him. He said he worked in the store, No. 130 Kearny street, until 10 o'clock Saturday night, and a quarter of an hour afterward walked off with a friend named David Moronis. He could not tell where they went, but he believed he parted with Moronis near the corner of Market and Fifth streets about midnight. From there he went home and went to bed. Lowenstein said he met the man from Milwaukee in his dry goods house, but although his employer introduced to him and had spent Wednesday night with him he could not give his name. He was positive that he did not visit Mrs. Higson's house at 22 Geary street on Friday, but was certain that it was the following night. When he went home on Saturday night his family were in bed, and none of them saw him before he went to bed. He could not tell the name of any one he met on Saturday night after leaving Moronis. On being asked to describe the man from Milwaukee companion, he said that after they left the lodging house at 22 Geary street, when they found the girls were out, they went to Platt's hall.

Lowenstein was then ordered to step down from the stand. Mrs. Higson was next called and was asked whether she identified Lowenstein as the man who called on her on Oct. 18 and took the key of the room in which Benhayon was found dead. She was certain that he was the man.

Lowenstein did not appear to be in the least disconcerted by the charge made by witness, although his eyes were restless. He fanned a little faster when he heard the positive identification of him, but not a tremor was noted in his voice when he was recalled to the stand. He gave a rigorous account of his every day manners of life, and his answers were at times irrelevant. Towards the end of the examination, in fact, he grew very nervous, and appeared excited when Capt. Lees took him in charge. Lowenstein and John Dunning were locked up in jail. Dunning was the first man who called to hire room 22.

The chain of evidence is closing very fast around the supposed murderers of Henry Benhayon. The strongest link so far was the discovery of the druggist, who testified that he furnished John Dunning with carbolic acid for the purpose of destroying a dog. Dunning acknowledged this as true, but said it was to cure a skin trouble. Dunning also confessed having taken a room at 22 Geary street, but his wife had been a servant in the place where Dr. Bowers lived. This testimony was voluble, but thoroughly evasive, contradictory and frequently ridiculously impromptu. Lowenstein's testimony was equally unique. The various contradictory statements are evidently all myths, as he cannot furnish dates and names. It is expected that Mrs. Higson, Dr. Bowers' nurse, and the woman who has visited him every day since his incarceration and who has brought, was to be implicated in the wife murder, will be made defendants for herself. The police, it is said, have got a woman who, near Dunning, Lowenstein and Mrs. Lenning taking Benhayon into the room at 22 Geary street after midnight on Sunday morning.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE

OF THE ROBERT E. LEE MEMORIAL CHURCH AT LEXINGTON.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28.—In spite of the rain which was dismally falling yesterday morning, thousands of people were early on the streets to participate in the ceremonies incident to the laying of the corner stone of the equestrian statue to be erected to Gen. Robert E. Lee. The streets were filled with military bodies, both mounted and on foot. Virginia, North Carolina and Maryland were well represented, and 6000 Confederates were in line. The latter created considerable interest, and they were everywhere greeted with enthusiasm. The Washington and Lee university was represented by four professors and fifty-five students. Gen. Lee, as the head of his alma mater, occupied the post of honor. He was succeeded by his son, Gen. G. W. Curtis Lee, who is now president. At a few minutes of 11 the procession began to move, and Gen. Wade Hampton was at the head as chief marshal of the day. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee was by his side, and both superbly mounted. The governor's staff, in brilliant uniform, followed, and then in order came the veterans, the Maryland and North Carolina regiments and the various organizations of Virginia. The line of march presented a display before the governor's reviewing stand in Richmond. Great enthusiasm was manifested along the line of march, which was packed with people.

The dedication took place at 3 o'clock, but the inclement weather prevented the reading of the poem and the delivery of the address of Gen. Marshall. These were delivered last night in the hall of the house of delegates. The city was thronged with visitors.

Growth of Washington Territory.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Eugene Semple, governor of Washington Territory, in his annual report submitted to the secretary of the interior, places the population at 150,000; taxable property, $50,683,398; railroad mileage, 1,000; approximate acreage of coal lands, 180,000. The number of children attending school is 20,000. The wheat, oats and hop crops last year was much larger than heretofore. The output of minerals was very large, and the quality of ores high.

Panic at a Funeral.

TIPTON, O., Oct. 28.—At a funeral near Sycamore yesterday the mules attached to the hearse ran away, and the vehicle was reduced almost to kindling wood. The coffin was dashed to the ground, and torn off, and the dead body hauled into a ditch by the roadside. Other teams took fright and a general panic followed. Women fainted, and escaped from the carriages. Buggies were overturned, horses became entangled in the general wreck, and several persons were more or less seriously injured. The Rev. Mr. Howells, who had conducted the funeral exercises, was perhaps fatally injured.

Barnum and Bailey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—James A. Bailey yesterday purchased the entire interest of James L. Hutchinson, W. W. Coles, and J. R. Cooper in the Barnum & Bailey show. The firm will now be Barnum & Bailey alone. No movement of equal magnitude has ever been accomplished in the circus business. Messrs. Hutchinson, Coles and Cooper cannot be learned, but one of the trio will probably retire. Bailey was formerly a partner with Barnum, but sold out recently on account of ill health, supposed, of ill health. He is a rich Philadelphian, an old showman, and a daring manager.

Natural Gas Struck.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Recently a number of Norwich capitalists organized a company for exploring for natural gas and petroleum in the vicinity of this town, and boring was commenced in Sayvins near by. Wednesday, when the drill had been driven to the depth of 700 feet, a pocket of natural gas was struck. The flow was from the mouth of the well in considerable volume. The escaping gas was lighted and burned brilliantly for several hours. The encouraging development has aroused much interest of the company, and caused much excitement throughout the upper Chenango Valley.

He May Succeed Next Time.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A telegraph operator named William Murphy attempted suicide yesterday. He shot himself in the breast with a pistol, but inflicted only a trifling wound. Another shot had the same effect. He then cut himself severely with a knife, and made a third attempt to end his life by taking a dose of laudanum, and finally fractured his skull with a poker. He was found insensible on the floor, and beside him was a rope with a noose in it, indicating that he intended to hang himself if other methods of self-destruction failed. Murphy had been a hard drinker. He may recover.

To Please Our British Cousins.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The New York circuit club last night amended the deed of gift so as to read that the club will races for the cup hereafter must be sailed on regular courses; the first race to be twenty miles to windward and return; the second a triangular course of thirty miles, one side being of equal length, and the first side a beat to windward, and the third race is to be the same as the first. This meets the criticisms of the British yacht racing yachtsmen as to the defects of an inside course.

Brotherhood of Railroad Brakemen.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The international convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Brakemen yesterday afternoon reelected Grand Master Wilson, of Philadelphia; Peoria, Ills., and elected W. G. Stiens, of Bucyrus, O., vice-grand master, and L. C. Foster, of Ithaca, N. Y., grand organizer. Resolutions of sympathy were tendered Organizer, Ed. F. O'Shea, of Galesburg, Ills., has not expired, and holds over until the next annual convention. The convention will probably adjourn this evening.

A New Departure in Insurance.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 28.—At the office of the insurance commissioner of St. Paul there were filed yesterday articles of one of the most peculiar insurance companies ever admitted to business in the state. It is a new company, located in Minneapolis, its name being the Provident Life Insurance company, and its capital $1,000,000. The company proposes, under certain conditions, to place insurance upon the lives of persons who have been refused insurance in other companies.

GONE TO JOIN THE GANG.

NEW YORK'S SUB-TREASURY WAS ROBBED BY A DRUNKARD.

Paying Teller Jackson Might Have Stolen $1,000,000 When He Left for Canada—He Abandoned His Wife a Week Ago—Shameful Abuse of Kindness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Henry Martin Jackson, the paying teller in the sub-treasury in Wall street, who stole $10,000 last Saturday afternoon and fled to Canada, has been heard of. Answers to the telegrams sent out describing him to the Canadian police officers say that he was in Toronto on Monday night, and was seen in Hamilton and in London on Tuesday and Wednesday. He had a woman with him who is not his wife.

Sub-Treasurer Canda, in speaking yesterday of Jackson's theft, said that Jackson had $1,000,000 within his reach every minute between 10 in the morning and 3 in the afternoon, and that no means had as yet been devised to keep paying tellers honest. They might be stripped and searched every night, just as gold miners working for the owners are. Jackson's cash was examined on Oct. 13 and 17, and found to be correct. He took the money in $1,000 greenbacks from the package piled up before him. He could just as easily have abstracted a score or more of the $10,000 gold notes from the amount of packages of that denomination within his reach. The theft was discovered on Monday morning, and steps were at once taken to find Jackson.

Jackson did not have access to the vaults, where $150,000,000 in gold, silver, gold notes and silver certificates are kept. Only the key of Mr. Canda, only himself or the secretary of the treasury can go into the vaults alone. The clerks go in pairs, and of the two great steel doors of the vaults one is kept open while the second is opened. At intervals of two or three weeks Assistant Cashier Cutler and two assistants visit the apartments of the tellers and ask them to step aside while they count the money before them. These visits are not timed. They may occur in one day in the week or not, or may be postponed for a month. The tellers have no warning of the visit.

An attache of the sub-treasury said yesterday that, while Jackson never touched a drop of liquor in business hours, it was the talk about the building that he drank heavily outside, and was never sound at night in fact or morals. He had recently abandoned his wife. Mr. Canda says that hereafter he will not have a man under him whose married life is not unimpeachable.

Mrs. Jackson's mother said when questioned about her son-in-law's defalcation:

"If you want to find out anything about Mr. Jackson you had better go to those who know something about him. I don't know why he should have run off with $10,000, unless it is because of his temperate habits. Mr. Jackson left my daughter a week ago, and she hasn't seen him since."

Mrs. Jackson tells friends in Mount Vernon that her father-in-law treated her with unkindness and abusive, and made life miserable for her.

Ex-Sub-Treasurer Thomas C. Acton said yesterday that he knew Jackson as a very steady and sober assistant. He knew nothing of him personally, but he did know that Mr. Canda had treated him in the kindest possible way, had presented him with the watch he got more pay, and that Jackson had shamefully abused all this kindness.

The wind was strong and a high sea running.

TWO NEW SCHOOLS.

CLARK UNIVERSITY AND PRATT'S TECHNICAL INSTITUTE.

The Corner Stone of the Former Recently Laid—The Latter Just About Ready for Occupancy—Two Rich Men Who Use Their Money Well.

Industrial experiments are "all the rage." The thinking class of men are everywhere taking a deep interest in the question. How shall the laborer get a larger share of what he produces and at the same time increase production so that capital may realize a fair profit? At first this general movement took the form of co-operation in buying and selling, and the success of the Rochedale experiment in England has created scores of imitations. Next there was an attempt at co-operation in production; but few successes were secured. For some years past the movement has been towards co-operation in living and training the young in skilled labor. For the former we have the Bellamite idea of Belgium, the "Social palace" at Guise, in France; Saltaire, as set up by Sir Titus Salt in England; the town of Pullman, near Chicago, and Vineland, N. J., while in the latter line we find industrial and training schools all over the country. Some extremely interesting experiments have recently been made in the south, where the experimenters have the great advantage of a clear field; the negroes had not developed any system of skilled industry, and their docility made them splendid "raw material," so to speak, for benevolent enterprises. Among many successful establishments of this kind we will only mention the Industrial college at Orangeburg, S. C., where colored men learn many different trades and colored girls are made skillful seamstresses and housekeepers, while both sexes are educated in books; and all this by co-operation and good management at a surprisingly small cost—for less than the cost of a year's board at any school in the north.

PRATT'S INSTITUTE.

We present herewith a view of the Pratt institute building, just erected in Brooklyn, N. Y., in furtherance of the same idea of a combined mental and industrial training. Mr. Charles Pratt, donor of the funds for this institution, admits that he has not fully matured his plans; that his work must be experimental at first, with the managers ready to adopt whatever experience approves; but the intent is plain: to give young people a thoroughly practical education, a cultivation of mind, heart and hand, making them polite and intelligent workers. The building is on Hewson street, near DeKalb avenue, six stories high and substantially built in the Renaissance style of architecture. Besides the usual engine and boiler rooms, cooking, eating and living rooms, offices and assembly rooms—all completed and furnished with a view to the most economic working—there are machine and repair shops, founding and forging laboratories, tool, carpenter and wood turning rooms, and many others for practical work. There are also several large rooms not yet assigned to any special departments. They may be for study, a gymnasium, social meetings or some branch of manual labor not yet agreed upon. The most important room at present is the machine tool laboratory, which has an area of 9,852 feet. Above it, of the same size, is the carpenters' and wood turners' room. The founding room has an area of 9,278 feet. The art department has very commodious rooms, in which are to be taught mechanical, architectural and freehand drawing.

The design of this institute, as stated in the charter, is "to afford such instruction as shall best enable men and women to earn their own living by applied knowledge." The membership is nominal—but $10 a year. This is Mr. Pratt's third great gift to Brooklyn, the first being $100,000 to the Emanuel Baptist church, and the second the same amount to the Adelphi academy. This manual training school has been in contemplation for some time, the execution being delayed because many other cities were experimenting and it was well to await the results. The newest plan of manual training is but a thing of yesterday, and it is a very curious fact that it was first practicalized in semi-barbarous Russia in 1868. In 1876 the exhibit of the plan at the Philadelphia Centennial excited great interest in the United States, and Dr. John D. Runkle, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, published an elaborate report on the matter, with recommendations. Soon after manual training schools were established successively in Boston, St. Louis, New Haven, Omaha, and thereafter in many places almost simultaneously. The most complete of all is in Chicago; but many other places are pushing for the front. Among those who have written in detail on the advantages of such schools are Charles Francis Adams and Professor Felix Adler.

America is fast becoming the land par excellence of educational institutions. All over the country are splendid colleges, or, as they are sonorously termed, universities, are springing up. One might think that the establishment of so many high class schools would tend to impair the prosperity of the older institutions; but Harvard, and Yale, and Ann Arbor, and Johns Hopkins, and the rest of them are not just the same, with ever increasing lists of students.

The latest college is the new Clark university, the corner stone of which was laid with impressive ceremonies at Worcester, Mass., recently.

The history of the institution is all comprised within the present year. Mr. Jonas G. Clark, a gentleman of great wealth, a native of Hubbardston, near Worcester, who is now a resident of that city, announced last January his intention of founding a university, to be located upon land owned by him in the town of his residence. He associated with himself Stephen Salisbury, ex-Attorney General Charles Devens, United States Senator George F. Hoar, ex-Congressman William W. Rice, Dr. Joseph Sargent, Col. Edwin D. Washburn, City Solicitor Frank P. Goulding and George Swan. The Massachusetts legislature made these gentlemen a corporation, and in May they organized by the choice of Mr. Clark as president and Col. John D. Washburn secretary. The work of building was at once begun. Mr. Clark's intention is to have the main building ready for the first class next October. During the four years which will be required by this first class in its undergraduate course, the intention is to erect other buildings, suitable for the accommodation of students wishing to pursue postgraduate courses. Mr. Clark's endowment of the university is as follows: For the general working or construction fund, to be applied in the erection and equipping of buildings, $300,000; for a library fund, the income only to be used, $100,000; for a university fund, the income to be divided to the general uses of the institution, $600,000; real estate, library and works of art of an estimated value of $500,000. Mr. Clark also proposes to add a further sum of $500,000 for the maintenance of three professorships in the university, provided other persons or persons, before July 1, 1890, shall pledge an equal amount for a like purpose.

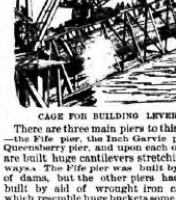
The present building is 205 feet long by 65 feet deep. It is composed of a central structure five stories high, flanked on either side by four story wings. The middle section is surmounted by a clock tower which rises to a height of 102 feet, while at the extreme end of the wings are other towers 76 feet high. The building is of Philadelphia pressed brick with white granite trimmings. The middle section bears upon its front in huge granite letters the inscription, "Clark's University, 1887."

The ground floor is given up to a gymnasium, 100 by 65 feet and 16 feet high; bath and toilet rooms, 61 by 40 feet; a boiler room, 65 by 40 feet, three laboratories and rooms for the janitor. On the first floor is the library, 44 by 39 feet; a reading room leading from it, 40 by 65 feet; reception rooms, lecture rooms, professors' rooms, cloak rooms, etc. The second story has two large lecture rooms one 44 feet by 40 and the other 46 by 44 feet, and numerous smaller class and professors' rooms. On the third floor are two large lecture halls, each 100 by 65 feet, and two studio rooms of large size. The fourth floor of the main building is given up to an art gallery, 77 by 44 feet, which will be lighted entirely from above by two large glass domes. The building is being constructed in the most thorough manner. Then parts will separate the middle section from the wings and the greatest care is being taken to have the ventilation, lighting and heating as near perfect as may be.

A BIG BRIDGE.

The Huge Structure that Is Being Built Over the Forth.

Three thousand five hundred men are now working daily on one of the largest bridges ever built over the Frith of Forth in Scotland. It is of the cantilever type, which is familiar in this country in the bridges at Niagara and St. Johns, N. B. The construction of cantilever bridges in Great Britain is comparatively recent, the Americans having taken hold of the principle first.



CAGE FOR BUILDING LEVER.

There are three main piers to this bridge —the Fife pier, the Inch Garvie pier and Queensberry pier, and upon each of these are built huge cantilevers stretching both ways. The Fife pier was built by means of dams, but the other piers had to be built by aid of wrought iron caissons, which resemble huge buckets some seventy feet in diameter and fifty to sixty feet high. Everything except the rolling of the steel plates is done on the spot, and the engines which are used, steam and hydraulic, are numbered by the hundred.

The bridge crosses the Forth at a point where it begins to widen rapidly into the great frith or isthmus, thence the frith extends fifty miles to the sea, attaining a breadth of fifteen miles. The Forth is the third in size of the rivers of Scotland, 170 miles in length and noted for curious bends and links, which form beautiful peninsulas. The most remarkable series of these is called the "links of Forth," between Alloa and Stirling, the distance in a straight line being six miles, while that by river is twelve. The Forth is formed by the confluence of the Duchray and Dhu on the northern slope of the noted mountain Ben Lomond. These east and southeast to the sea the river flows 170 miles, though the distance in a straight line is but ninety miles. The tide runs up seventy miles to Stirling. Through all its upper course the stream flows through scenes of grandeur and interest, and as it widens towards the sea it is of great commercial importance, being navigable for steamers of 300 tons to the end of the frith and some distance above for smaller steamers. Kincardine is an important town at the head of the frith, which is bordered on the north by the counties of Clackmannan & Fife and on the south by those of Linlithgow, Edinburgh and Haddington.

AT HOME ONCE MORE.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND AND PARTY AGAIN IN WASHINGTON.

A Western Admirer Who Galloped After the Train with a Bouquet — Rainy Weather South—Something About the Country—The Piedmont Exposition.

HE presidential party have returned to Washington. Their trip through the south was pleasant but sunny for them, as Chattanooga and Atlanta were to them last week in the midst of the heaviest rains of the season. They had had a deal of fun elsewhere, but not only in the cities, but in every town big enough to get up an arch or flag; and in Minnesota one enthusiastic patriot galloped after the flying train some distance, while Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland stood on the rear platform to receive the bouquet he held out to them. At Chattanooga the programme was followed to the letter, though flags, banners and military trappings were soaked with rain, and the president and wife had to ride under dripping umbrellas around the prescribed course of the parade. At Atlanta part of the programme was necessarily omitted, as the rain fell in a blinding sheet during all the hours set apart for the street display. President Cleveland did, however, review the militia, as designed, though they marched through mire and rain, and his carriage stuck so firmly in the mud that it had to be righted by hand. The next two days were comparatively clear, and as the proceedings connected with the exposition were mostly under cover, there was more enjoyment.

The Piedmont exposition has been regarded from the start as the climax of the president's trip, and has proved a great success in every particular.

"Piedmont" may be freely translated "foot of mountains," and is a name given all the eastward slope of the Blue ridge and Alleghenies from Virginia to Alabama. Cheered by the discovery of the great cotton exposition at Atlanta five years ago the citizens determined on an exposition more specifically devoted to minerals and home made machinery. While the highland region of the country south abounds everywhere in minerals, three sections of it are peculiarly rich—the Cumberland plateau of Tennessee, the ridged region of north central Alabama and the mountain region of Georgia—still called "Cherokee," because it was long the abode of the Cherokees. Most of the local names, musical and descriptive, bear witness of them, as Chimamaga, "River of Death;" Etonah, "High Tower," Chattanooga, "Broad Muddy;" Connasaga, Dahlonega and Ocanaenaula, across the state from northeast to southwest runs the Chattahoochie, parallel with it, at an average distance of thirty miles, runs the last line of mountains; from the average summit level of the mountains to the river is a fall of 2,000 feet, and, as the hundreds of inflowing streams must make that descent in thirty miles, water power is in lavish abundance. On the first hills are immense forests of tolerably valuable timber; on the next, to the northwest, hard woods and the grasses usually found fourth r north abound, while still farther up, all the way to Tennessee, indeed, are coal, iron, marble, roofing slate, building stone and other mineral treasures, each in its place, often the oldest and newest rock lying side by side as the great mountain axes have been heaved, bent over to the eastward and then broken across, forming immense anticlinal valleys. Following the line of these mountain ranges southwestward into Alabama, we find these anticlinals still more abrupt and, consequently, more valuable, as a narrow valley often has on one side the best of iron ore, and on the other various strata of coal. The Piedmont region of Virginia and North Carolina, the promoters of the Piedmont exposition have drawn immense and varied stores of minerals to exhibit.

The fair opened on the 10th, continuing several weeks. The inclosure consists of seventy-five acres of the Piedmont park, which contains 300 acres. The main hall, though an immense structure, proved too small for the exhibit, and other buildings had to be erected. Forty thousand people were present the first day, and when all the machinery was set, ready for the electric touch, Governor Gordon introduced Hon. Samuel J. Randall, who delivered a speech well worthy of the occasion. His comparison between the old and new south was bold and eloquent, and was received with enthusiastic cheers. As he finished he touched the electric button, all the batteries fired, the great engine began to beat and all the machinery of the exposition started. The visitors are numbered by hundreds of thousands. The display of fireworks is said to have equaled, if it did not surpass, any ever shown in New York. For all this success much credit must be given to Hon. Charles A. Collier, president, and Maj. William H. Smyth, secretary of the exposition company, whose association in such an enterprise is a happy illustration of the complete reunion of north and south. Mr. Collier is one of the best representatives of the young south; a native of Atlanta and member of the board of aldermen, he is a very prominent citizen despite his youth. Maj. Smyth is a son of Professor William Smyth, long eminent a head of the department of mathematics at Bowdoin college. He first visited Atlanta a one of Sherman's conquering host; after the war he located and married there, was for a while United States marshal, but for many years has devoted himself to agricultural and engineering machinery. Capt. Robert J. Lowry, the treasurer, is by birth a Tennessean, now president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce.

THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

Sketch of Muley Hassan, Who Is Reported to be Still Living.

"Muley Hassan still lives." And what is that to us? the average American will ask. Well, it is more than a good deal to France, Italy and Spain, and may therefore mean much to us; for Muley Hassan is sultan of Morocco, and there is a quarrel as to his successor. His death before the quarrel is settled would probably be followed by civil war, which would involve the three European powers that have possessions in Africa and are intriguing for more. Spain holds several fortified places on the Mediterranean coast of Morocco, which are there practically as convict stations, and she has a claim against the government for a large sum, the remainder of the 400,000,000 reals war fine she imposed upon the sultan at the close of the war of 1859–60. Algeria is now a French province, which gives France some rights to interference on the border; while England owns Gibraltar and has a general interest in Africa, and Italy is aiming to get a foothold. So the health of Muley Hassan, who ascended the throne in 1878, is a matter of European interest.

In the Third and Fourth centuries of the Christian era northern Africa contained at least twenty times as many people as now, and the southern limit of fertile land extended far into what is now the desert. There were eighty Christian bishoprics in Africa, and among the bishops (men of Greek and Roman blood) were such shining lights as Tertullian, St. Augustine and Athanasius. Then began a series of calamities lasting at intervals for a thousand years. The Donatists, a sect of dissenting Christians, were exterminated; their successors, the Circumcellions, joined the wild tribes of the mountains and deserts south of the country; the Mohammedans overran the whole region from the Red sea to the Atlantic, and in the frightful wars of extermination between them and the mountaineers the southern forests were destroyed, and therefore the desert steadily encroached upon the northern low lands. The Moors, driven out of Spain, organized hatred against all Europe; then followed the Turkish conquest, the rise of the Barbary states and the era of national piracy. The slavery of Christians was only abolished after the United States had waged two naval wars with the Algerians, and finally Algiers was occupied by the French and made a province of France. In 1844 the Moors of Morocco joined the Algerians against the French, and were badly punished by the latter. In 1859 Spain went to war with Morocco, and in 1860 compelled the sultan to accept their terms and guarantee the payment of 400,000,000 reals ($50,000,000) for the expenses of the war. In 1861 the British government, secured the first payment, about $2,500,000, in return for commercial concessions. As Morocco contains about 260,000 square miles and 4,000,000 people, being nearly as large and populous as Spain, it is a prize well worth struggling for. All that part which slopes toward the Atlantic has a delightful climate; the sea breeze tempers the summer heat so that the thermometer very rarely registers above 95 degs., while in winter it never marks below 40 degs. The northern side of the mountains the summers are very hot and dry. According to the best authorities the population has shrunk more than one half within a century and is still decreasing.

THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

How Sand Paper Is Made.

Powdered glass is largely taking the place of sand in the manufacture of sand paper. The glass is ground to powder, mixed it red hot and throwing it into water, the finishing being done in an iron mortar. By the use of seives of different sized meshes the powder is separated into various grades. A strong paper, or muslin, is tacked down and covered with a strong size of glue, the surface covered with powdered glass, and when the glue is dry, the surplus glass is shaken or brushed off —New York Sun.

BROTHER GARDNER'S LECTURES.

He Talks to the Lime Kiln Club About Charity.

"I war' 'xtend'd last night how dis club stood on the question of charity," said Brother Gardner as the meeting opened in due form and the thermometer marked 120 degrees in Elder Toots' corner. "De club stands jist whar' it has allus stood. Nuffin' has occurred to change our minds.

"When a poo' man meets wid accident or sickness dis club has sunthin' to help him along.

"When de wife of a poo' man am left a helpless widder, dis club am bound to help her.

"When a man who has lost a limb appeals to me for bread I shan't refuse him—not on less his breaf smells of liquor.

"Our charity goes dat far an' no furder. We have no use for de tramp. Every piece of bread handed out to him an' simply a premium on laziness. He tramps bekase he doan' want to work. He ar' a human sponge. Instead of lookin' fur work he an' lookin' to scrape work.

"Ebery nickle handed out to a beggar, large or small, is an incouragement to avoid honest work. Ebery penny incourages vice an' indolence.

"We hev' gone to an expense of tens of thousands of dollars for a county house, but yet we have to raise tens of thousands of dollars ebery y'ar for a poo' fund to take keer of de people who am too high toned to go out dar', but hev toned 'nuff to walk boldly into de poo'master's office. Ebery dollar we raise is a premium on indolence, poverty and vice. So long as charity will pull 200 or 300 families through six months of de y'ar, de husbands ar' not gwine to break dar backs lookin' fur work, an' de wives ar' not gwine to worry about to-morrer.

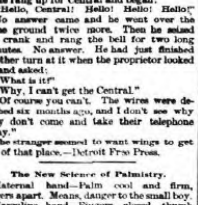
"Dar' am no' downright fraud an' swindlin' bein' practiced frewout de world today in de name of charity dan under all odder disguises, an' it ar' high time dat people ob sense put deir foot down. Let us now mack de reg'lar order of bizness."—Detroit Free Press.

Change of Style in Hats.

Farewell, my hat of straw; a strange
Vicissitude robs thee of all my former deep solicitude. You've laid aside with summery summer jollities; with picnics, sleigh rides, and such gay frivolities.
Your glory's faded, long past ripe maturity; now rest serene in darkness and obscurity.

Come hence, my sober tile of somber black. Cold weather swiftly comes upon the track of summer, and by an unchanging law you follow and supplant my summer straw. Adventures wait you. Though you may escape the moth who's bevers 'neath your band of crape, you may a victim fall ere many days to some fat woman who 300 lbs weighs. You are my trusted ar. I'll stick friend; what though mos smile togeth because a little out of style, hang you you through every shoot you while kind of weather, and will not —Washington Critic.

Experienta Docet.



—Life.

Foiled.

One of the 100 citizens who dead beat their messages over the telephone walked into a place on Congress street yesterday, bowed suavely to the occupant of the office and walked directly to the telephone.

He rang up for Central and began:

"Hello, Central! Hello! Hello! Hello!"

No answer came and he went over the same ground twice more. Then he seized the crank and rang the bell for two long minutes. No answer. He had just finished another turn at it when the proprietor looked up and asked:

"What is it?"

"Why, I can't get the Central."

"Of course you can't. The wires were detached six months ago, and I don't see why they don't come and take their telephone away."

The stranger seemed to want wings to get out of that place.—Detroit Free Press.

The New Science of Palmistry.

Maternal hand—Palm cool and firm, fingers apart. Means, danger to the small boy.

Masculine hand—Fingers closed, thumb turned in. Knuckles prominent. Signifies, "No new bonnet this season."

Boy's hand—Palm open, warts on thumb, fingers stubby and clean. Reads, "I've been at the preserved peaches again."

Young lady's hand—Closed pink palm, soft and warm, ring on index finger. Sign, "Ask papa."—Detroit Free Press.

Different Remedies.

A lady whose husband had a severe cold recommended flaxseed lemonade.

"Huh!" he said, irascibly, "a man can't have a cold without everybody suggesting some fool remedy. I'll send for a doctor."

So the doctor came, charged the sick man $5 for his visit and advised flaxseed lemonade.—New York Sun.

Young Mr. Sissy (to his pretty cousin)—I say, Maude, how did my song, "Home Again from a Foreign Shore," seem to impress the company?

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

LEADING MEN CHOSEN TO REPRESENT THEIR PARTY.

Candidates who Call for Votes in the Coming Campaign.—Men Deserving of a Majority at the Ballot-Box.—Portraits, Biographies, Endorsements.

James L. Miller.

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR STATE SENATOR

from Union County, a staunch Republican was born in Warsaw, Kentucky, on the 15th of October 15, 1832. He is a member of the well-known firm of Frank Miller & Sons, New York, with which he has been connected for nearly thirty years. In 1864 he married a daughter of Rev. Amos Savage of Hartford, Conn., and has a family consisting of one son, Frank S., who is a graduate of Yale, Dr. Henry Hoyt, N. Y., and two daughters. In 1874 Mr. Miller removed from Brooklyn, N. Y., purchased a fine property in Westfield and at once became interested in the progress and welfare of the township. Mainly through his efforts the Westfield Lyceum was organized and incorporated and a Village Improvement Committee formed. The present excellent roads, finely shaded streets, well kept lawns, and the perfect harmony of the business part of the township, the erection and maintenance of nearly one hundred and fifty street lamps and many other improvements may mainly to the good work accomplished by these associations.

In efforts to promote the public welfare Mr. Miller is always found contributing of his personal energy and financial support. Never seeking public position or in any way interesting to secure an election to any office, he has, notwithstanding, been placed in many positions of responsibility, and no questions of his honesty of purpose or efficiency in performance of duty has ever been raised against him.

Mr. Miller served his township in the Board of Freeholders in 1875-6-8, having for two years previous been a member of the Township Committee. He was for four years President of the local Board of Health, and Chairman of the Republican Committee, to which position he was re-elected last spring, in direct opposition to his wishes, by the almost unanimous voice of the citizens, the Democrats and Third Party people making a conscientious exception. Mr. Miller seeks to confine his energy to the material interests of the township, but takes an active part in promoting the moral and educational development. With his many cares, consequent upon an extensive private business and his many public duties as executor of several estates, and is a member of various committees, commissions, etc., etc. He has in every instance served faithfully, promptly and with discretion. That he is an active, useful and trusted citizen is evident from the confidence and honor who know him best are the most enthusiastic in proclaiming him the one who is the right man to represent Union County in the State Senate.

The following letter is from Robert R. Sinclair of Westfield, who has a host of friends throughout Union county. He is one of the editors of Harper's Weekly, and a man of ability and force.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS:—It gives me great pleasure to speak in the highest terms of my neighbor Mr. James L. Miller. He is a successful business man, and is upright, able, and fearless in well doing. I know of no one who would represent our county with greater credit. He has again and again been elected to public office but is in no sense a politician. He is universally respected, and his life is entirely without solicitation on his part. And if elected as I have no doubt he will be by a large majority, he will regard the place of honor conferred upon him by the people as a trust to be faithful. Very truly yours,

ROBERT R. SINCLAIR.

Westfield, N. J. Oct. 13, 1887.

The following extracts are from a letter written by Mr. Ripley, a business man, and the writer, Mr. Ripley, is his neighbor and a prominent New York lawyer.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Oct. 17, 1887.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS:—

Mention has been made of our townsman, Mr. J. L. Miller, as a candidate for the State Senate. Several have spoken to me of him as a probable candidate and generally by way of inquiry as to his availability. My answer in each case has been in his name and uniformly has been, without any hesitation, that Mr. Miller is a good man to vote for, and him if nominated and do all I can to promote his nomination."

Mr. Miller has been a resident of Westfield for the past ten or fifteen years, during which time he has been a prominent, active and efficient citizen. He has held many public offices and of various kinds. He has been selected for his fitness, without solicitation on his part and has performed the duties of the position, not only of those who elected him, but of the general public. He is not and never has been a politician. Democrats, as well as Republicans are insisting, now a days, more and more, that good men only shall have their votes. Mr. Miller has a record. He has been elected many times by the voters of Westfield and the Democrats have in numerous and competent public officer is constantly increasing. If he should be elected Senator, his duty would be to serve well the whole county, ably and fully. He would do credit to his party and to all who support him.

Very truly,

CHAUNCEY B. RIPLEY.

We take the liberty of making the following quotation from a letter sent in by an equally prominent Democrat whose name we do not care to publish without his permission.

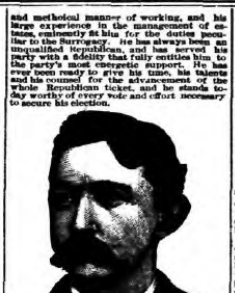
A PROMINENT DEMOCRAT'S SAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Mr. Miller is a first-class citizen; qualified to fill any office he would accept; believe he would make a cool, level headed, judicious and honorable senator. I intend to stand by the Ticket, and vote for him, not withstanding our political views differ. Would be glad to see every man in our Senate filled with J. L. Millers.

Westfield, N. J., Oct. 16, 1887.

Here is what the Rahway Advocate says:

James L. Miller of Westfield is not only a good Republican himself, but every member of his family is a good Republican. When the W. C. T. U. tried to pass an endorsement of the character of Mrs. Rabcock's son, Mrs. Miller, who is the president of that organization, gave the unwise members of the Union and Westfield who, it seems, took the endorsement was withdrawn.



FREDERICK F. GLASBY,

the candidate for Sheriff, is also a life long resident of Union County. He was born in 1835 in Elizabeth, and has always lived there. He is of an excellent family whose history is closely associated with that of the city for many years past. When a young man he received employment with the Central Railroad Company, and after three years work in its offices accepted a position as general book-keeper in the Corn Exchange Bank, New York. After four years he left New York and for eight years was associated with Mr. Williams Crane in the real estate business at 226 Broad street, Elizabeth. Here he became known to nearly everybody in the city and county, and made friends whose number is legion. When the partnership was dissolved Mr. Glasby resumed his former business, and accepted first a position in the Mercantile National Bank, New York, and shortly with the banking house of Earl & Dayton, Drexel building, New York.

After the election of Sheriff Stiles, Mr. Glasby was invited to become Under-sheriff, and has held that position till the present time. He has conducted the business of the office upon thoroughly business principles, and his experience has proven of immense value, not only to him, but to the whole county. He is qualified for the duties of the office unquestioned. Mr. Glasby has, during the past three years, met men of all parties from all sections of the county, with his courteous manner, his business-like methods and his thorough knowledge of the details of the office work have impressed every one in his favor. He is and always has been a strong republican, actively engaged in the interests of his party, but without fail to make a strong run and to enlist the active sympathies of every one who desires to see the Sheriff's office conducted as it ought to be.

SAMUEL M. OLIVER.

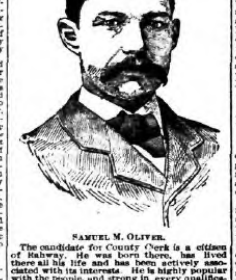
The candidate for County Clerk is a citizen of Rahway, and has lived there for years. But there all his life and has been actively associated with its interests. He is highly popular with the people, and strong in every qualification that insures a successful run. He is a life-long association with the people of Rahway, has identified with the organizations for nearly every voter in that city, and his genial presence and hearty good fellowship have extended to many parts of the county and will insure him many votes that a less popular candidate could not hope to receive.

Mr. Oliver is not only widely known, but has been thoroughly trusted, and has always found faithful to his trusts. He was selected by the Legislature a member of the Water Board, and served one term so satisfactorily that he was reappointed, but resigned. In February, 1881, he was appointed Assessor of Railway by President Hayes, and on the expiration of his term was appointed by President Arthur. His term expires in January next.

Mr. Oliver is a soldier and bears an honorable record. He is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and is always actively interested in promoting the good of that patriotic and fine band of veterans.

He is also a prominent member of the Knights of Honor, and of the Ancient Order of United Workman.

Mr. Oliver is a man in the very point of activity and energy. He will prove one of the strongest workers on the ticket.



HON. GEORGE T. PARROT.

Hon. Geo. T. Parrot, the candidate for Surrogate, is so widely and favorably known that an introduction is hardly necessary. He was born in New Providence in Union county, and has the greater part of his life has been a citizen of that county. He was graduated from a classical course of studies in 1870 and then entered down to a study of the law with Judge Alward. On being admitted to the bar he was taken into partnership with the firm of Alward & Parrot but for many years been one of the best established and most reliable in the county and very favorably known throughout the state.

In 1881 Mr. Parrot served his party in the State Legislature as a member from the Second District of this county. He was honored with the ability that he was re-elected to succeed himself in 1883. His record as a member of his Party's counsels of action was marked by not only a high degree of ability and fidelity, but by *what characterized by a deep sense of responsi*bility in his constituents and a willingness to advocate only what was right, honorable and equitable. The Legislature never was honored by the presence of a more conscientious member nor one more cognizant of the demands of duty in all its conditions and his party.

Mr. Parrot has a large practice and well established reputation as a lawyer. He is held in high esteem by all who know him and business associations with him; and his systematic and methodical manner of working, and his large experience in the management of estates, eminently fit him for the duties peculiar to the Surrogacy. He has always been an unqualified republican, and has served his party with a fidelity that fully entitles him to the party's most energetic support. He has ever been ready to give his time, his talents and his means for the advancement of the whole Republican ticket, and he stands today worthy of every vote and effort necessary to secure his election.

JUDGE JOHN ULRICH

who was unanimously nominated as the Republican candidate for the Assembly from the Third District of Union county will prove a most formidable candidate for the Democrats to meet. He was born in New York City, September 16, 1857. In 1871 he located in Plainfield and has resided here ever since. He received his early education in Claverack College and in the first graduating class of the Plainfield High School. He entered the classical department of the New York University in 1876, and left at his sophomore year to engage in the study of law.

The Supreme Court admitted him to practice June 5, 1882, since which time he has by his industry gathered about him a large clientage.

Judge Ulrich is an active Republican, and at various times has been mentioned for different positions. At the early age of 21 he was a member of the Union County Executive Committee, and has always been active in the interests of his party.

His position as City Judge of Plainfield has brought him prominently before our community and his ability in his office has won the confidence and respect of our citizens. He was first elected to that office by the Common Council June 1st, 1885. The meeting of December, he was re-nominated unanimously by the Republicans, and heartily endorsed by the Temperance people. The Democrats, perceiving, his election, made no nomination against him. He has always faithfully and honestly administered justice in the discharge of his duties. Judge Ulrich can count his friends by the legion, and his election is generally conceded. The utitizens unquestionably will endorse the prediction of THE NEWS when it recently said "Good man, nuff ced. He will win."

HAPPY COLORED PEOPLE

Have a Gay Time at Cypress Commandery Ball.

Crescent Rink was the scene of an unusual event last evening, the occasion being a ball given under the auspices of Cypress Commandery, No. 4, Knights of Pythias, and a lodge of masons composed entirely of the colored race.

The dancing and promenading disclosed the fact that there are a great many respectable and fine-looking colored people in this vicinity and several from the vicinity of Westfield. One remarkably handsome and exceedingly graceful young woman excited the curiosity of the white people present, when she was. She was from Newark, has, it is said, a Caucasian and Negro blood in her veins, and was conceded by all as a great beauty. She is a niece of Mrs. Johnson, the janitress at the Plainfield rail road station.

Others present were: P. G. Jackson, Past Commander of Cyprus Commandery; John Lee, Grand Generalissimo; Sir Knight Gould of Camden; Sir Knight Ruffen of Salem, N. J.; Sir Knight L. Hinter. E. O. of Trenton Commandery, No. 5, New York City; also P. C., J. W. Farrell, P. C., J. Myers, Sir. Barnes, Sir M. Smith, Sir J. Keyser, Sir C. Scott and Sir James Farren also; of Ivanhoe. The orchestra was Vanliew's of Newark.

The reception committee was composed of Sir Knights Nathan Williams, Paul Arnold, Henry Winslow, Albert Adkins, Wm. B. Stives and Henry Johnson.

The officers of the commandery are Sir Knights Wm. J. Douglas, Eminent Commander; Israel Jones, Generalissimo; Wm. R. Washington, Senior Warden; Geo. Thomp. Junior Warden; Samuel Bowen, Standard Bearer; Wm. Osborn, Standard Bearer; Henry Winslow, Sword Bearer; John W. Potter, Captain of the Guards.

A Prominent Taxpayer on the Board of Education's Appeal.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—I have read with much interest the communication in the NEWS from the Board of Education in this city, in regard to the additional school facilities required and the mode recommended of obtaining them. As the author of being esteemed old fogyish, allow me to suggest what seems to me a better way to accomplish the end first let me say that no one appreciates more than I do the fact that our government owes to all its children a school age a good, sound, common school education, both for its own safety and the good of its subjects; but it is under no obligation to furnish, or religious obligation to furnish an academic, collegiate or university education for any of them.

These are the luxuries of education, and if they are worth having they are worth paying for by the parents of the children.

If, then, our Board of Education would require a moderate tuition fee from all that wish an academic education, I have no doubt but they would have sufficient funds with the present rate of taxation, not only to construct the additional school facilities needed, but to extend the suggested facilities to any extent needed, and do justice to not only the schools but the taxpayers as well.

If this does not, I feel sure that no one will then object to an increase of taxes to accomplish so desirable an object.

CHARLES POTTER.

Two Runaway Boys.

Isador and Louis Bourgois, fourteen and sixteen years old respectively, arrived in Newark Wednesday night, entered the First Precinct Police Station and asked to be allowed to sleep in the station-house. They stated that they were from Plainfield and had run away from home, having come as far as West Virginia and returned. Their parents live on Elizabeth street near Arlington avenue.

The boys claim to have been arrested at Elizabeth, for stealing "beadways" on a freight train. They also claimed to know that their parents had announced their unwillingness to forgive them if they came home again, even if they should desire to return and therefore they decided to go on. Captain Sayres sheltered the boys for the night. They are both badly bruised and injured. These accidents are occurring rather frequently of late. There appears to be something wrong somewhere. The accident occurred near White House.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. Oct. 27.—Stephen Lyons, age 16, had the flesh torn from his arm and hand this evening by a revolving cylinder roll in the Mural Decorating Co's. works here. Although horribly mangled the doctors who attended him at his house think he will recover.

More About Lynching.

DELPHI, Ind., Oct. 28.—The latest developments in the matter of the recent lynching of Amer Green was the release yesterday on a nole prosequi of William Walker who was held under the indictment and $5,000 as accomplice of Green in the murder of Luella Mabbitt. Considerable indignation was aroused by this action of the prosecuting attorney. The grand jury is still engaged in the examination of witnesses relative to the lynching. Rumors are afloat to the effect that Green's attorneys, Dykeman and O'Connell of Lafayette, received a fee of $2,000 against Carroll County on behalf of Green's estate. The suit would be brought in the Federal Court before Judge Gresham, Amer's mother, a non-resident of the State appointed administratrix.

NO TRIAL YET.

The Theodore VanNest Case of till Next Week, at Least.

Those who expected that the case of the State vs. Theodore VanNest, one of the indicted "fire-bugs," would come up before the Court this morning were disappointed. It was thought that the trial would be begun early in the day, but a Summit disorderly house case was brought up and the lobby listened to the story of the proceedings. When at 11:25 Corporation Counsel Marsh, who is to assist Prosecutor Wm. R. Wilson in the trial of the incendiaries, received a signal from the Prosecutor and took his hat and left and hurried to catch the 11:28 train for home it was concluded that the VanNest case was off for the day, and off for the day it was known until next week.

During the progress of the Summit case, which was that of the State vs. Edward Delaney, a saloon keeper, the lobby loudly applauded a "funny" witness. This called for a severe rebuke from Judge McCormick, who told the officers that all except creating disorder must be brought before the bar for punishment. "I'll put some in jail," he expostulated, "will have a salutary effect on such persons."

At the noon hour Prosecutor Wilson said that it was hardly probable that the Van Nest case would be reached to-day. "There may be developments," he said, "but as I see days. That's all I can say. There are six defending lawyers to consult in settling a day for trial. Probably all the cases will come up next week."

At two o'clock Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, counsel for Theodore Van Nest, said that the case probably would not be tried to-day. Most of the witnesses left for Plainfield early in the afternoon.

John H. Jackson will be brought before the Court for sentence Nov. 12, instead of Nov. 10 as previously stated. The time for taking appeal for leniency will be made by his lawyer.

JACKSON TO BE CAT'S PAW.

A member of THE NEWS staff sends the following from Elizabeth: An interview this morning with an official adds another added weight to the theory advanced yesterday that John M. Jackson is to be the scapegoat of the entire batch of fire-bugs. It has been told that an apparently frank confession will save him from the gallows, but suffer a life term in the penitentiary. The prosecution thinks that it has made a great step forward in securing Jackson's confession, and it is said that the new phase of things will probably make the State's fight harder; for the chief of the "firebugs," having confessed, there will be no reprieve the severest penalty of the law is anyhow, has, it is asserted, made up his mind to testify in favor of the three VanNest brothers. He will endeavor to take upon himself the blame for the entire affair, and notwithstanding the fact that ex Congressman Alvah Clark, speaking for the coterie of lawyers who are to defend the accused, has said that it was the best thing to be done and would result favorable for the whole crew. The only way to do this, it is said, is to be pardoned. Jackson will be sentenced

DR. M'GLYNN'S GENERAL DENIAL.

No Truth in the Story of the Eloquent Priest's Alleged Hegemonies.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Dr. McGlynn lectured here last evening on the land tax question and in support of the United Labor State ticket. Yesterday's dispatch from Pittsburg, which stated that Rev. Father Brennan, of Newark, N. J., had said that Dr. McGlynn was about to ask forgiveness of the church and reinstatement, was shown to the doctor by a reporter. Dr. McGlynn said: "The despatch is most absurd, and untrue from beginning to end. The Father Brennan alleged to have made the statement is described as pastor of one of the principal Roman Catholic churches of Newark, but I do not believe there is any such person. Say Dr. Burtsell, of New York, and Bishop Moore, of Florida, were never students in the American college in Rome, as stated, and no man named Brennan was a classmate of theirs or mine, either in the propaganda or in the American college. The story is false that Brennan and the others named, or any one, met me, and that I expressed to them repentance. How could I repent, when I am not conscious of having committed any offense? I say to you again that Dr. McGlynn declares that there is no truth in the story telegraphed from Pittsburg, and if a reporter was told such a story he was imposed upon."

The Case of Mrs. Jackson.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 28.—The funeral of Mrs. Fremont Jackson, who died suddenly on Tuesday morning under such circumstances as to warrant the belief that she had been murdered, took place yesterday. The theory that Mrs. Jackson was due to an overdose of oil of cloves, taken to relieve a toothache, is discredited. It is believed that she was poisoned. Carlile Jackson, her husband, who deserted her ten years ago, cannot be found.

Parsons Writes a Book.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Parsons, the one American among the condemned Anarchists, has just completed a book of about 300 pages, which was put into the hands of his wife yesterday for publication. The work is a history of Anarchism and its causes. Parsons says it is intended for a non-partisan work, and declares that he has abandoned all hope of avoiding the hangman.

Wilfrid Blunt's Conviction.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Referring to the conviction of Wilfrid Blunt, who was yesterday sentenced to two months' imprisonment, and appealed, the Irish journals point to the fact that the result of the case is identical with that of the Parnell libel suit, and that Blunt's appeal from the judgment of the court dulls the edge of the government's weapon and paralyzes the efforts to construe the crimes act to suit its own purposes.

His Seat Declared Vacant.

HALIFAX, Oct. 28.—The seat of Thomas Robertson, member for Shelburne in the house of commons, was declared vacant yesterday. The stock market was dull and unsettled this morning. The opening prices were ¼ to ½ per cent. higher for a majority of the active stocks, and below 1 o'clock several of the leading stocks made a further gain of ¼ to ⅝. The advance was wholly lost by 12 o'clock under a bear raid. Missouri, Kansas and Texas declined 2 per cent. After 12 o'clock the market was firmer and prices rallied. Every loss in the earlier was somewhat steadier during the afternoon, and prices in many cases advanced fractionally up to 1 of the last hour. During the last hour there was some pressure to sell, which sent prices down sharply. The closing figures, as compared with those of last night, show fractional declines in most cases.

THE DOOMED ANARCHISTS.

ARGUMENT FOR AND AGAINST THEM BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

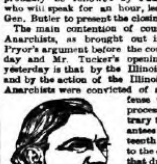
Mr. Tucker's Eloquent Appeal and Attorney General Hunt's Forcible Reply—Anarchist Parson Says That the Workingmen Will Demand Blood for Blood.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The proceedings in the supreme court yesterday, in the Anarchist appeal case, were solemn. All the ingress paid close attention to the arguments of counsel, and several times interrupted them to ask questions. The address of Mr. Tucker, on behalf of the condemned men, was a surprise to many. He is a graceful and easy

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE.

speaker, and his address from first to last was eloquent and impassioned. Attorney General Hunt made a clear, calm and forcible argument, dealing only with the cold abstract propositions of law involved in the case. He will conclude his argument to-day, and will probably be followed by Judge Grinnell, who will speak for an hour, leaving it for Gen. Butler to present the closing argument.

The main contention of counsel for the Anarchists, as brought out in Roger A. Pryor's argument before the court the other day and Mr. Tucker's opening argument yesterday is that by the Illinois juror law and by the action of the Illinois court the Anarchists were convicted of a capital offense without due process of law, contrary to the guarantees of the Fourteenth amendment to the constitution; that due process of law implies and requires a trial by an impartial jury; that the Illinois statute makes competent a juror with a preconceived and prejudiced opinion as to the guilt of the accused; that it is not, therefore, "due process of law," which abridges "the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States" by denying the accused "the right to a trial by an impartial jury," and is therefore unconstitutional.



ROGER A. PRYOR.

Attorney General Hunt, of Illinois, in his brief submitted to the court and by his oral argument, opposed the granting of the writ of error and replied to Mr. Tucker. He insisted that to warrant the writ it must appear from the record that there is a Federal question involved, and that such question was decided in the state court. He denied that these conditions were met. The record did not show that any Federal question is involved. The prohibitions, he contended, contained in the first ten amendments to the constitutions are limitations on the powers of the Federal government and not on the state, and so the Anarchists' appeal based upon anything contained in those amendments, they can have no standing in the supreme court of the United States. The Fourteenth amendment, he argued, was equally foreign to any right, privilege or immunity claimed by the petitioners.

GEN. B. F. BUTLER.

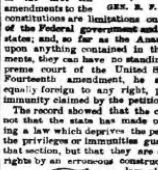
The record showed that the complaint is not that the state has made or is enforcing a law which deprives the petitioners of the privileges or immunities guaranteed by that section, but that they were deprived of rights by an erroneous construction of the law, placed upon it by the trial court of the state. They did not claim in the supreme court of Illinois that the Illinois juror law was repugnant to the constitution, treaties or laws of the United States, nor that the authority of that state, the supreme court was exercised under it; but that the law was valid and that the court exercised its power in violation of that law and of the constitution of the United States. The state, and that constituted "due process of law." "Due process of law" meant in accordance with the laws of the land.



CAPT. W. P. BLACK.

Coming to the question of the competency of the Illinois juror with preconceived opinions as to the guilt of the accused, Attorney General Hunt insisted that the personnel of the jury which tried the accused could not properly be submitted to the court, or be considered by it in this proceeding. He defended the jury laws of Illinois. They were constituted and in keeping with the changed conditions of the times. In the early days of newspapers and telegraphs it was difficult to find intelligent men who were not familiar with everyday occurrences. Similar laws were in force in a number of the states. He was in a position into which we would be driven by counsel on the other side, who inveighed against the constitutionality of the present day jury laws, in that the principles of common law of one hundred years ago, which debarred from jury duty men who had formed an opinion, were not adapted to the times to come. Can it be, he exclaimed, that we must depend on jurors whose only qualifications were ignorance or stupidity, and it was contended that the public opposed by counsel had assumed forced this conclusion.

At 4 o'clock the court adjourned until to-morrow, Mr. Hunt not having finished his argument.

Capt. Wm. P. Black, who conducted the case of the Anarchists in the trial, is in consultation with counsel for the petitioners, but will not take part in the argument.

Anarchist Parsons Defiant.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—"Oh, I have grown almost indifferent to the result," remarked A. R. Parsons to Ex-Justice Barker who talked with the condemned man yesterday. "Hope and fear have almost worn themselves out, and I have become quite callous."

"So have I," murmured Mrs. Parsons, who was by his side.

"The capitalists and their creatures demanded blood and they will no doubt have it. Even if the supreme court of Illinois will not grant a new trial, I feel sure they will, and I doubt hardly if the governor will interfere."

"Blood for blood," whispered Mrs. Parsons.

"What hope is there from the United States supreme court?" asked Mr. Barker.

And counsel with them as to the questions of jurisdiction! That is not our supreme court has done in this case. Did it ever do so in any other case? The judges, with their associates, are put there to decide questions for themselves. But hah—" and with a wave of his hand Parsons signified that the interview was at an end.

UNCLE SAM'S DUSKY WARDS.

Annual Report of the Superintendent of Indian Schools.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The annual report of John H. Oberly, superintendent of Indian schools, sets forth that the aggregate amount of money expended by the government for the education of Indian children during the last fiscal year was $1,075,279. The amount expended on account of the government boarding schools was $719,823. The sum of $308,590 was paid for the support and education of pupils at contract boarding schools, most of which are under control of religious denominations. The day schools maintained by the government cost $17,240, and $9,847 was paid for the education of pupils at contract day schools.

The whole number of Indian children between the ages of five and eighteen attending schools is 39,821; of this number 14,932, or about 37½ per cent., attended school some portion of the year. The proportion of children attending school varies widely at different agencies. At several agencies nearly all the children of school age attend, while at others less than 1 per cent. are at school.

Among the recommendations is one suggesting that congress be requested to provide for the education of 100 Indian children to be selected from the several tribes living in the state of New York.

CINCINNATI'S GRAND ARMY DAY.

Parade of Veterans of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 28. — Yesterday was Grand Army day. The sun burst warmly through the haze of a glorious Indian summer at eight o'clock. Early in the morning veterans here from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. Hundreds of scarred veterans were early on foot and viewed with appreciative eye clouds of bunting with which the entire city is bedecked. The martial trains of fife and drum were heard on every hand and G. A. R. badges were as numerous as the stars in a bright night. The artillery, court house and other public buildings were closed at noon and officials and clerks joined the throng that already crowded to fill every principal thoroughfare in the city.

Shortly after dinner members of the five different divisions began to slowly drift together, and at 2:30 p.m. General Rick-smeloper gave the order, and the parade started. The mounted police, as they slowly moved at the head of the procession made a fine appearance, and then followed the patrol wagons and a band, a proper and creditable introduction to the first division. One of the largest features of the parade was the "Sherman Bummers." True to their nature they took everything they could lay their hands upon. About 5,000 veterans and sons of veterans were in line.

In the evening an executive session was held.

Strikers Capture a Plantation.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—Two days ago a general strike occurred on the sugar plantations throughout a large portion of the sugar belt of the state. Negro laborers, under the leadership of a negro named Taylor, demanded an advance of twenty-five cents per day, the present prices being $1 and rations. This being refused, the negroes became violent and threatened to kill any who worked. Yesterday Governor McEnery received a dispatch from J. J. Schaefer, a Terrebonne planter, stating that on his plantation was to be found the leaders of strikers and asking for assistance. The parish authorities being unable to protect him. Thereupon the governor ordered a detachment of militia to the scene of the trouble. The troops left for the scene of the disturbance this morning.

Minnesota Gold Mine.

WABASHA, Minn., Oct. 28.—Much excitement prevails here over the discovery of gold quartz in the hills on the Chippewa river. The latest reports from the assayer returned $65 to the ton in gold, and about $25 to the ton in silver, the specimens being taken from different veins. For some time past the prospectors from the Black Hills Mining company have been quietly buying up and leasing all the land obtainable in the vicinity of the locality named, and have succeeded in securing the location of several veins, and acres of what will no doubt develop into immense finds of the precious metals.

Named for Governor General of Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The provincial press assert that Lord Randolph Carchill will replace Lord Lansdowne as governor general of the dominion of Canada next May. Lord Randolph will pay a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. Lawrence Jerome, in New York, within a short time. Lord Randolph Churchill will not return to England, but that he will spend the time intervening his arrival in America and the assumption of the duties of his new office in making a tour of the United States and Canada. The political complications in which Lord Randolph has become involved and the consequent vexatious powers are the reasons advanced for his relinquishment to will counsel had assumed forced this conclusion.

At 4 o'clock the court adjourned until to-morrow, Mr. Hunt not having finished his argument.

Capt. Wm. P. Black, who conducted the case of the Anarchists in the trial, is in consultation with counsel for the petitioners, but will not take part in the argument.

THE HISTORY OF A CRIME.

A CONDEMNED MURDERER'S EXPEDIENT TO SAVE HIS NECK.

Hiring Assassins to Murder the Brother of His Victim and Place by the Body an Alleged Confession of Guilt of the Crime for Which He is to Die.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The supposed murderers of Henry Benhayon have been discovered and are now under arrest. Benhayon was found dead in a room on Geary street last Sunday. Beside his body was a letter, in which he declared that he had poisoned his sister, thus exonerating her husband, Dr. Bowers, who is confined in prison here awaiting execution for the murder of the woman. The room in which Benhayon was found was hired by two men just a few days previous to the discovery of his death, and the police had endeavored, without success, to find out who these men were.

It was Thursday afternoon when the terrible climax of this mystery burst upon the amazed court. A. Lowenstein, a new witness, was just been called. He was a G. W. Curtis Lee, who is now president. At a few minutes of 11 the procession began to file in. Gen. Wade Hampton was at the head as chief marshal of the day. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee was by his side, and both superbly mounted. The governor's staff, in full uniform, followed, and then in the order came the veterans, the Maryland and North Carolina regiments and the various civic organizations. There never was such a display before in Richmond. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested along the line of march, which was packed with people.

The dedication took place at 3 o'clock, but the inclement weather prevented the reading of the poem and the delivery of the address of Charles Marshall. Taps were delivered last night in the vault in the door of the gates. The city was thronged with visitors.

Growth of Washington Territory.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Eugene Semple, governor of Washington Territory, in his annual report submitted to the secretary of the interior, places the population at 143,426; taxable property, $50,649,995; railroad mileage, 1,060; approximate acreage of coal lands, 180,000. The number of children attending school is 16,000. He says no settlement that can be given as to the labor supply, the governor says it is evident that the supply is not equal to the demand. Governor Semple recommends that Washington Territory be admitted as a state into the Union; that all railroad lands not held by equitable title by railroads be forfeited; that Yakim Indian reservation be opened to settlement; that the Chinese act be amended to make it more effective. The material resources of the territory are fast developing, and the cereal crops last year were much larger than heretofore. The output of minerals was very large, and the quality of ores high.

GONE TO JOIN THE GANG.

NEW YORK'S SUB-TREASURY WAS ROBBED BY A DRUNKARD.

Paying Teller Jacobs Might Have Stolen $1,000,000 but Didn't—Sent for Counterfeit Detectors—A Abandoned His Wife a Week Ago—Shameful Abuse of Kindness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Henry Martin Jacobs, the paying teller in the sub-treasury in Wall street, who stole $10,000 last Saturday afternoon and fled to Canada, has been heard of. Jacobs was in the sub-treasury almost between 10 in the morning and 3 in the afternoon, and that no means had as yet been devised to keep paying tellers honest. They might have stolen and absconded every night, just as gold miners working for the owners are. Jackson's cash was examined on Oct. 12 and 19, and found to be correct. He took the money in $1,000 greenbacks from the packages piled up before him. He could just as easily have abstracted a score or more of the $10,000 gold notes from the packages of that denomination within his reach. The theft was discovered on Monday morning, and steps were at once taken to find Jackson.

Jackson did not have access to the vaults, where $150,000,000 in gold, silver, gold notes and greenbacks are locked away. The vault of Mr. Canda, only himself or the secretary of the treasury can go into the vaults alone. The clerks go in pairs, and of the two great bodies of money in the vault one half always locked before the second is opened. At intervals of two or three weeks Assistant Cashier Hale and several assistants visit the apartments of the tellers and ask them to step aside while they count the money before them. These visits are not timed. They may be made every day in the week or they may be postponed for a month. The tellers have no warning of the visit.

At attache of the sub-treasury said yesterday that Jackson was never known to touch a drop of liquor in business hours, it was the talk about the building that he drank heavily outside, and went at night in fast company. He had abandoned his wife. Mr. Canda says that hereafter he will not have a man under him whose married life is not exemplary.

Jackson's mother said when questioned about her son-in-law's defalcation:

"If you want to find out anything about Mr. Jackson you had better go to those who know something about him. I don't know why he should have run off with $10,000, unless it is because of his intemperate habits. Mr. Jackson left me a daughter a week ago, and she hasn't seen him since."

Mrs. Jackson tells friends in Mount Vernon that her husband has been lately drunken and abusive, and she left him miserable for her.

Ex-Sub-Treasurer Thomas C. Acton said yesterday that he knew Jackson as a very capable and trustworthy employe. He knew nothing of him personally, but he did know that Mr. Canda had treated him in the kindest possible way, had promoted him so that, he served, got a good salary, and that Jackson had shamefully abused all this kindness.

The groom is 18 years old and the bride 16. Both families objected to the match, and the young people eloped. The bride's father, Patrick Farrell, is a wealthy contractor, and he has threatened to disinherit her. The couple will live with the groom's parents.

Patrick Hebert, of Bordentown, N. J., while driving Kelly, of the same place, on May 28 last, was fatally injured by the overturning of the wagon. Kelly died on the following day. Hebert was arrested, charged with manslaughter in the second degree.

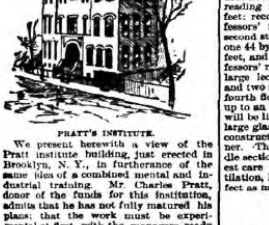
TWO NEW SCHOOLS.

CLARK UNIVERSITY AND PRATT'S TECHNICAL INSTITUTE.

The Corner Stone of the Former Recently Laid—The Latter Just About Ready for Occupancy—Two Rich Men Who Use Their Money Well.

Industrial experiments are "all the rage." The thinking class of men are everywhere taking a deep interest in the question: How shall the laborer get a larger share of what he produces and at the same time increase production so that capital may realize fair profit? At first this general movement took the form of co-operation in buying and selling, and the success of the Rochedale experiment in England has created scores of imitations. Next there was an attempt at co-operation in production; but few successes were secured. For some years past the movement has been towards co-operation in living and training the young in skilled labor. For the former we have the fallisteres in Belgium, the "Social palace" at Guise, in France; Saltaire, as set up by Sir Titus Salt, in England; the town of Pullman, near Chicago, and Vineland, N. J.; while in the latter line we find industrial and training schools all over the country. Some extremely interesting experiments have recently been made in the south, where the experimenters have the great advantage of a clear field; the negroes had not developed any system of skilled industry, and their docility made them splendid "raw material," so to speak, for benevolent enterprises. Among many successful establishments of this kind we will only mention the Industrial college at Orangeburg, S. C., where colored men learn many different trades and colored girls are made skillful seamstresses and housekeepers, while both sexes are educated in books; and all this by co-operation and good management at a surprisingly small cost—for less than the cost of a year's board at any school in the north.



PRATT'S INSTITUTE.

We present herewith a view of the Pratt institute building just erected in Brooklyn, N. Y., in furtherance of the same idea of a combined mental and industrial training. Mr. Charles Pratt, donor of the funds for this institution, admits that he has not fully matured his plans; that the work must be experimental at first, with the managers ready to adopt any improvements suggested, but the intent is plain: to give young people a thoroughly practical education, a cultivation of mind, heart and hand, making them polite and intelligent workers. The building is on Ryerson street, near DeKalb avenue, six stories high and substantially built in the Renaissance style of architecture. Besides the usual engine and boiler rooms, cooking, eating and living rooms, offices and assembly rooms—all completed and furnished with a view to the most economic working—there are machine and repair shops, foundling and forging laboratories, tool, carpenter and wood turning rooms, and many others for practical work. There are also several large rooms not yet assigned to any special departments. They may be for study, a gymnasium, social meetings or some branch of manual labor not yet agreed upon. The most important room at present is the machine tool laboratory, which has an area of 26x37 feet. Above it, of the same size, is the carpenters' and wood turners' room. The foundling room has an area of 29x73 feet. The art department has very commodious rooms, in which are taught mechanical, architectural and freehand drawing.

The design of this institute, as stated in the charter, is "to afford such instruction as shall best enable men and women to earn their own living by applied knowledge." The membership is nominal—but $10 a year. This is Mr. Pratt's third great gift to Brooklyn, the first being $100,000 to the Emanuel Baptist church, and the second the same amount to the Adelphi academy. This manual training school has been in contemplation for some time, the execution being delayed because many other cities were experimenting and it was well to await the results. The present plan of manual training is but a thing of yesterday; and it is a very curious fact that it was first practicalized in semi-barbarious Russia in 1868. In 1870 the exhibit of the plan at the Philadelphia Centennial excited great interest in the United States, and Dr. John D. Runkle, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, published an elaborate report on the matter, with recommendations. Soon after manual training schools were established successively in Boston, St. Louis, New Haven, Omaha, and thereafter in many places simultaneously. The most complete of all is in Chicago; but many other places are pushing for the front. Among those who have written in detail on the advantages of such schools are Charles Francis Adams and Professor Calvin E. Stowe.

America is fast becoming the land par excellence of educational institutions. All over the land new and splendid colleges, or, as they are universally termed, universities, are springing up. One might think that the establishment of so many high class schools would tend to impair the prosperity of the older institutions; but Harvard, and Yale, and Ann Arbor, and Johns Hopkins, and the rest of them go on just the same, with ever increasing lists of students.

The latest college is the new Clark university, the corner stone of which was laid with impressive ceremonies at Worcester, Mass., recently.

The history of the institution is all comprised within the present year. Mr. Jonas G. Clark, a gentleman of great wealth, a native of Hubbardston, near Worcester, who is now a resident of that city, announced last January his intention of founding a university, to be located upon land owned by him in the town of his residence. He associated with himself Stephen Salisbury, ex-Attorney General Charles Devens, Judge Rockwood Hoar, George F. Hoar, ex-Congressman William W. Rice, Dr. Joseph Sargent, Col. John D. Washburn, City Solicitor Frank F. Goulding and George Sumner. The Massachusetts legislature made these gentlemen a corporation, and in May they organized for the same. Mr. Clark as president and Col. John D. Washburn secretary. The work of building was at once begun. Mr. Clark's intention is to have the main building ready for the first class next October. During the four years which will be occupied by this first class in its undergraduate course, the intention is to erect other buildings, suitable for the accommodation of students wishing to pursue postgraduate courses. Mr. Clark's endowment of the university is as follows: For the land, working or construction fund, to be applied in the erection and equipping of buildings, $300,000; for a library fund, the income only to be used, $100,000; for a university fund, the income to be devoted to the general uses of the institution, $600,000; real estate, library and work of art, the estimated value of $500,000. Mr. Clark also proposes to give a further sum of $500,000 for the maintenance of three professorships in the university, provided other person or persons, before July 1, 1889, shall pledge an equal amount for a like purpose.

CLARK UNIVERSITY.

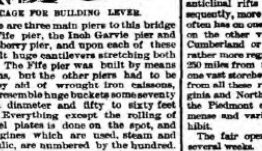
The present building is 205 feet long by 85 feet deep. It is composed of a central structure five stories high, flanked on either side by four story wings. The middle section is surmounted by a clock tower which rises to a height of 102 feet, while at the extreme end of the wings are other towers 76 feet high. The building is of Philadelphia pressed brick, with white granite trimmings. The middle section bears upon its front in raised letters the inscription, "Clark's University, 1887."

The ground floor is given up to a gymnasium, 100 by 65 feet and 16 feet high; bath and toilet rooms, 61 by 40 feet; a boiler room, 65 by 40 feet, three laboratories and rooms for the janitor. On the first floor is the library, 44 by 30 feet; a reading room leading from it, 40 by 65 feet; reception rooms, lecture rooms, professors' rooms, cloak rooms, etc. The second story has two large lecture rooms, one 44 by 30 feet and the other 46 by 44 feet, and numerous recitation and professors' rooms. On the third floor are two large lecture halls, each 100 by 65 feet, and two studio rooms of large size. The fourth floor of the main building is given up to an art gallery, 77 by 44 feet, which will be lighted entirely from above by two large glass domes. The building is being constructed in the most thorough manner. Thick party walls separate the middle section from the wings and the greatest care is being taken to have the ventilation, lighting and heating as near perfect as may be.

A BIG BRIDGE.

The Huge Structure that Is Being Built Over the Frith.

Three thousand five hundred men are now working daily on one of the largest bridges ever built over the Frith of Forth in Scotland. It is of the cantilever type, which is familiar in this country in the bridges at Niagara and St. Johns, N. B. The construction of cantilever bridges in Great Britain is comparatively recent, the Americans having taken hold of the principle first.



CAGE FOR BUILDING LEVER.

There are three main piers to this bridge —the Fife pier, the Inch Garvie pier and Queensborry pier, and upon each of these are built huge cantilevers stretching both ways. The Fife pier was built by means of dams, but the other piers had to be built by aid of wrought iron caissons, which resemble huge buckets some seventy feet in diameter and fifty to sixty feet high. Everything except the rolling of the steel plates is done on the spot, and the engines which are used, steam and hydraulic, are numbered by the hundred.

The bridge crosses the Forth at a point where it begins to widen rapidly into the great frith or lathmus; thence the frith extends fifty miles to the sea, attaining a breadth of fifteen miles. The Forth is the third in size of the rivers of Scotland, 100 miles in length and noted for curious bends and links, which form beautiful peninsulas. The most remarkable series of these is called the "links of Forth," between Alloa and Stirling, the distance in a straight line being six miles, while that by river is twelve. The Forth is formed by the confluence of the Duchray and Dhu on the northeast slope of the Scottish mountain Ben Lomond. Thence east and southeast to the mouth of the river flows 170 miles, though the distance in a straight line is but ninety miles. The tide sets up seventy miles to Stirling. Though all its upper course the stream flows through scenes of grandeur and beauty, and as it widens towards the sea it is of great commercial importance, being navigable for steamers of 300 tons to the end of the frith and some distance above for smaller steamers. Kincardine is an important town at the head of the frith, which is bordered on the north by the counties of Clackmannan and Fife and on the south by those of Linlithgow, Edinburgh and Haddington.

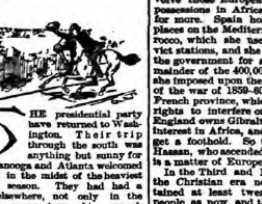
AT HOME ONCE MORE.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND AND PARTY AGAIN IN WASHINGTON.

A Western Admirer Who Galloped After the Train with a Bouquet—Rainy Weather South—Something About the Country—The Piedmont Exposition.



THE presidential party have returned to Washington. Their trip through the south was anything but sunny for them, as Chattanooga and Atlanta welcomed them last week in the midst of the heaviest rains of the season. They had had a deal of fun elsewhere, not only in the cities, but in every town big enough to get up an arch or flag; and Minnesota one enthusiastic patriot galloped after the flying train some distance, while Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland stood on the rear platform to receive the bouquet he held out to them. At Chattanooga the programme was followed to the letter, though flags, banners and military trappings were soaked with rain, and the president and wife had to ride under dripping umbrellas around the prescribed course of the parade. At Atlanta part of the programme was necessarily omitted, as the rain fell in a blinding sheet during all the hours set apart for the street display. President Cleveland did, however, review the militia, as designed, though they marched through mire and rain, and his carriage stuck so firmly in the mud that it had to be righted by hand. The next two days were comparatively clear, and as the proceedings connected with the exposition were mostly under cover, there was more enjoyment.

The Piedmont exposition has been regarded from the start as the climax of the president's trip, and has proved a great success in every particular.

"Piedmont" may be freely translated "foot of mountain," and is a name given all the upward slope of the Blue Ridge and Alleghanies from Virginia to Alabama. Cheered by the success of the great cotton exposition at Atlanta five years ago the citizens determined on an exposition more specifically devoted to minerals and home made machinery. While the highland region of the central south abounds in every where in minerals, three sections of it are peculiarly rich—the Cumberland plateau of Tennessee, the ridged region of north central Alabama and the southern region of Georgia still called "Cherokee," because it was long the abode of the Cherokees. Most of the local names, musical and descriptive, bear witness of them, as Chicamauga, "River of Death," Etowah, "Flower Pot," Chattahoochee, "Broad Muddy," Coosawauga, Dahlonega and Oostenaula. Across the state from northeast to northwest runs the Chattahoochee, parallel with it, at an average distance of thirty miles, runs the last line of mountains; from the average summit level of the mountains to the valleys is a fall of 2,000 feet, and, as the hundreds of inflowing streams must make that descent in thirty miles, water power is in lavish abundance. On the first hills are immense forests of tolerably valuable timber; on the next, to the north west, hard woods and the grasses usually found further north abound, while still further up, all the way to Tennessee, indeed, are coal, iron, marble, roofing slate, building stone and other mineral treasures, such as its place, often the oldest and newest rock lying side by side as the great mountain axes have been heaved, bent over to the eastward and then broken across, forming immense anticlinal valleys. Following the line of these mountain ranges southwestward into Alabama, we find these anticlinal rifts still more abrupt and, consequently, more valuable, as a narrow valley often has on one side the bed of iron ore, and on the other various strata of coal. The Cumberland or East Tennessee plateau is rather more regular in its formation; but for 250 miles from northeast to northwest it is one vast storehouse of coal and iron ore. And from all these regions, as well as from Virginia and North Carolina, the promoters of the Piedmont exposition have drawn immense and varied stores of minerals to exhibit.

The fair opened on the 10th, continuing several weeks. The inclosure consists of seventy-five acres of the Piedmont park, which contains 200 acres. The main hall, though an immense structure, proved too small for the exhibit, and other buildings had to be erected. Forty thousand people were present at the opening day, and all the machinery was set, ready for the electric touch, Governor Gordon introduced Hon. Samuel J. Randall, who delivered a speech well worthy of the occasion. His comparison between the old and new south was bold and eloquent, and was received with enthusiastic cheers. As he finished he touched the electric button, all the batteries fired, the great engine began to beat and all the machinery of the exposition started. The visitors are numbered by hundreds of thousands, and the display of works is said to have equaled, if it did not exceed, any ever shown in New York. For all this success much credit must be given to Mrs. Charles A. Collier, president, and Maj. William H. Smyth, secretary of the exposition company, whose association in such an enterprise is a happy illustration of the complete reunion of north and south. Mr. Collier is one of the best representatives of the young south; a native of Atlanta, he was chosen to the board of aldermen, he is a very prominent citizen despite his youth. Maj. Smyth is a son of Professor William Smyth, long eminent as head of the department of mathematics at Bowdoin college. He first visited Atlanta as one of Sherman's conquering host; after the war he became a resident of the city, and while United States marshal, but for many years has devoted himself to agricultural and engineering machinery. Capt. Robert J. Lowry, the treasurer, is by birth a Tennessean, now president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce.

THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

Sketch of Muley Hassan, Who Is Reported Dying—Some Interesting Facts.

"Muley Hassan is still live." And what is that to us? the average American will ask. Well, it means a good deal to France, Italy and Spain, and many there are who think it means a good deal to Muley Hassan as sultan of Morocco, and there is a quarrel as to his successor; his death before the quarrel is settled would probably be followed by civil war, which would involve those European powers that have possessions in Africa and are intriguing for more. Spain holds several fortified places on the Mediterranean coast of Morocco, which she taxes principally as convict stations, and she has a claim against the government for a large sum, the remainder of the 400,000,000 reals war fine she imposed upon the sultan at the close of the war of 1859-60. Algeria is now a French province, which gives France some rights to interfere on the border; while England owns Gibraltar and has a general interest in Africa, and Italy is aiming to get a foothold. So the health of Muley Hassan, who ascended the throne in 1873, is a matter of European interest.

In the Third and Fourth centuries of the Christian era northern Africa contained at least twenty times as many inhabitants as now, and the southern and fertile land extended far into what is now the desert. There were eighty Christian bishoprics in Africa, and among the bishops (men of Greek and Roman blood) were such shining lights as Tertullian, St. Augustine and Athanasius. Then began a series of calamities lasting at intervals for a thousand years. The Donatists, a sect of dissenting Christians, were exterminated; their successors, the Circumcellions, joined the wild tribes of the mountains and desolated much of the country; the Mohammedans overrun the whole region from the Red sea to the Atlantic, and in the frightful wars of extermination between them and the mountaineers the southern forests were destroyed, and therefore the desert steadily encroached upon the northern low lands. The Moors, driven out of Spain, organized hatred against all Christians. Then followed the Turkish conquest, the rise of the Barbary states and the era of national piracy. The slavery of Christians was only abolished after the United States had waged two naval wars with the Algerians, and finally Algiers was conquered by the French and made a province of France. In 1844 the Moors of Morocco joined the Algerians against the French and were badly punished by the latter. In 1859 Spain went to war with Morocco, and in 1860 compelled the sultan to accept their terms and guarantee the payment of 400,000,000 reals ($20,000,000) for the expenses of the war. In 1861 the British government guaranteed the first payment, about $2,500,000, in return for commercial concessions. Morocco contains about 280,000 square miles and 4,000,000 people, being capable of an immense development, it is a fine well watered country. All that part which slopes toward the Atlantic has a delightful climate; the sea breeze tempers the summer heat so that the thermometer very rarely registers above 95 degs., while in winter it never marks below 40 degs. But on the other side of the mountains the summers are very hot and dry. According to the best authorities the population has shrunk more than one half within a century and is still decreasing.

THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

How Sand Paper Is Made.

Powdered glass is largely taking the place of sand in the manufacture of sand paper. It is readily pulverized by heating it red hot and throwing it into water, the finishing being done in an iron mortar. By the use of seives of different sized meshes, the powder is separated into various grades. A strong paper, or muslin, is tacked down and covered with a strong size of glue, the surface covered with powdered glass, and, when the glue is dry, the surplus glass is shaken or brushed off —New York Sun.

"I was' 'stand las' night how dis club stood on the question of charity," said Brother Gardner as the meeting opened in due form and the thermometer marked 120 degrees in Elder Toots' corner. "De club stands jist whar it has allus stood, Nuffin' has occurred to change our minds.

"When a poo' man meets wid accident or sickness dis club has sunthin' to help him along.

"When de wife of a poo' man am left a helpless widder, dis club am bound to help her.

"When a man who has lost a limb appeals to me for bread I shan't refuse him—not on less his breaf smells of liquor.

"Our charity goes dat far an' no furder. We have no use fur de tramp. Every piece of bread handed out to him ar' simply a premium on laziness. He tramps bekase he doan' want to work. He ar' a human sponge. Instead of lookin' fur work he ar' lookin' to escape work.

"Every nickle handed out to a beggar, large or small, is an incouragement to avoid honest work. Every penny incourages vice an' indolence.

"We hev' gone to an expense of tens of thousands of dollars fur a county house, but yet we must raise tens of thousands of dollars eb'ry y'ar for a poo' fund to take keer of de people who am too high toned to go out dar', but low toned 'nuff to walk boldly into de poo'master's office. Eb'ery dollar we raise is a premium on indolence, poverty and vice. So long as charity will pull 200 or 300 families through six months of de y'ar, de husbands ar' not gwine to break dar backs lookin' fur work, an' de wives ar' not gwine to worry about to-morrer.

"Dar' am no' dowrright fraud an' swindlin' bein' practiced frewout de world today in de name of charity dan under all odder disguises, an' it ar' high time dat people ob sense put deir foot down. Let us now attack de reg'lar order of bizness."—Detroit Free Press.

Change of Style in Hats.

Farewell, my hat of straw; a strange vicissitude robs thee of all my former deep solicitude. You're laid aside with sundry summer follies, with picnics, sleigh rides, and such gay frivolities. Your glory's faded, long past ripe maturity; now rest serene in darkness and obscurity.

Come hence, my sober tile of somber black. Cold weather swiftly comes upon the track of summer, and by an unchanging law you follow said supplant my summer straw. Adventures wait you. Though you may escape the moth which hovers 'neath your band of crape, you may a victim fall ere many days to some fat woman who 300 I'll weighs. You are my trusted se. stick friend; what though men smile togeth to behold a little out of style, hang you you through every shoot you while kind of weather, and will not —Washington Critic.

Potted.

One of the 100 citizens who dead beat their messages over the telephone walked into a place on Congress street yesterday, bowed suavely to the occupant of the office and walked directly to the telephone.

He rang up for Central and began:

"Hello, Central! Hello! Hello! Hello!"

No answer came and he went over the same ground twice more. Then he seized the crank and rang the bell for two long minutes. No answer. He had just finished another turn at it when the proprietor looked up and asked:

"What is it?"

"Why, I can't get the Central."

"Of course you can't. The wires were detached six months ago, and I don't see why they don't come and take their telephone away."

The stranger seemed to want wings to get out of that place.—Detroit Free Press.

The New Science of Palmistry.

Maternal hand—Palm cool and firm, fingers apart. Means, danger to the small boy.

Masculine hand—Fingers closed, thumb turned in, knuckles prominent. Signifies, "No new pants this season."

Boy's hand—Palm open, warts on thumb, fingers stubby and clean. Reads, "I've been at the preserved peaches again."

Young lady's hand—Closed pink palm, soft and warm, ring on index finger. Sign, "Ask papa."—Detroit Free Press.

Different Remedies.

A lady whose husband had a severe cold recommended flaxseed lemonade.

"Huh!" he said, crossly, "a man can't have a cold without everybody suggesting some fool remedy. I'll send for a doctor."

So the doctor came, charged the sick man $2 for his visit and advised flaxseed lemonade.—New York Sun.

Its Effect.

Young Mr. Sissy (to his pretty cousin)—I say, Maude, how did my song, "Home Again from a Foreign Shore," seem to impress the company?

Pretty Cousin—Well, some of them, Charley, looked as if they were sorry you had got back.—New York Sun.

THE NEWS reaches all classes of our citizens. Its want column daily furnishes a variety of interesting reading and is the means of procuring all kinds of employment and the best class of help. For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertisements pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly reputable, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

JOTTINGS.

—Mrs. John M. Jackson, wife of the "fire-bug," is still missing.

—A funny man says that the Plainfield Cornet Band doesn't need a leader now: they have a clock to keep time.

—Sunday evening service in the Congregational church at 7:45. Subject of the pastor's sermon, "The Wild Beast at the Door."

—The Third Assembly District Democratic convention will be held at their Headquarters in this city, next Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

—Mr. H. R. Munger will lead the Young Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Monday evening. Topic: "what am I doing for Jesus." All men are welcome.

—The Trenton Emporium suggests, with considerable pertinence, that it would be a good idea to teach the railroad routes in the schools as a part of the study of geography.

—Trial in the case of Chief of Police Chas. W. Dood vs. Constable Garret P. Smith, for keeping a gambling den, was began before Judge Ulrich at half past two o'clock this afternoon.

—The Rev. Dr. Gallaudet will address the dig[illegible]egation at Grace Church next Sunday at the evening service on "Sign Language; The Education of Deaf Mutes, and the Rise and Progress of Church Work Among Them."

—Services to-morrow at the Trinity Reformed church at 9:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. In the morning there will be ordination of elders and deacons. In the evening the pastor's subject will be "Isaac and the Camels."

—It looks very much as if Union county would have three lawyer representatives in the next House of Assembly, two Democrat, in the 1st district, Voorhees in the second and Ulrich in the third—both Republicans,—Railway Democrat.

—At the Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow Rev. Dr. J. R. VanMeter will preach at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. At night Dr. VanMeter will deliver the second lecture of the course on "The Foes of Jesus." Subject: "The Temple and the Synagogue."

—The Union County Young Republican League will hold a ratification meeting at Westfield on Saturday evening and at Cranford on Tuesday night. At each meeting well-known speakers will be present in addition to the candidates on the County ticket, who will make addresses.

Mrs. MacDonald of Pearl street accidentally stepped into an open cellar-hatchway, Wednesday afternoon, and fell several feet. She was severely bruised and one of her ears was almost severed from her head. She managed to walk to her room and Dr. Tomlinson was summoned. Mrs. MacDonald is well advanced in years.

—The annual convention of the Union County Sunday School Association will be held in the Presbyterian church at Cranford on November 11. An unusually fine program has been prepared, which includes addresses from the Rev. Dr. Vincent, Dr. Hurlbut, the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, the Rev. S. W. Clark and George Clerihew.

—A panic was created in an Elizabeth horse car Wednesday night, when one of the passengers, a man, was found to be on fire. The car was partly filled with smoke, and several ladies were greatly excited. The fire was soon put out. All hands jumped off the car during the panic. The man's trousers and stocking were badly burned. How his clothing caught fire is a mystery.

—It is very unfortunate that there should be any counter-attraction on the night of Col. Mason W. Tyler's lecture. The lecture is in aid of one of the noblest charities. Those interested were at great pains to select a date that would not clash with the date of any other public gathering. Tuesday, Nov. 8th, was selected and the date publicly announced several weeks ago. The public would highly esteem any action that will preserve the evening of Nov. 8th solely for the public benefit.

—It has been calculated that a man whose stride is thirty-two inches will make 1,980 steps to the mile. If he walk at the rate of one hundred steps per minute, he will walk a mile in 19.8, or about three miles an hour. A rider of a 52-inch bicycle, each time he makes a revolution of the pedal, advances his wheel 13 1-2 feet. If he makes a hundred revolutions per minute, he moves 1,381 feet, or nearly fifteen and a half miles per hour. It may be said, then, that on a good road a rider of a bicycle can cover a given distance in one third the time he would require to walk the same, compared with walking, or three times as far as on foot with the same rapidity of movement, and less than one half the exertion.—The Standard.

—Glass tubes used for thermometers will invariably go to pieces in use if they previously were found together in iron ware, yet will not so act if copper wire has been used instead. The same result occurs if lamp chimneys are touched with iron wire, which is frequently done in cleaning them. George H. Babcock of Eighth street, himself somewhat of a scientist, says that there is no explanation for this. It is one of the curious things which puzzles science to account for. Another curious problem is this: Drop a piece of iron into nitric acid and the acid will at once begin to destroy it, boiling in the operation. Yet simply touch the iron with a piece of platinum and at once the work of destruction will cease, or, if the iron is merely touched with the platinum and then put into the acid, the acid will not affect the iron at all. There is a peculiar affinity between copper and glass, and between iron and platinum, not existing between iron and glass.

Music in the Air.

Last night was an eventful one in the history of the Plainfield Cornet Band, the occasion being a reception given to the Milburn Brass Band.

Shortly after eight o'clock the members of the Plainfield Cornet Band in full uniform left their rooms on Park avenue and proceeded up Front street and met the members of the Milburn band. After a short parade both bands, accompanied by a few invited guests, proceeded to the Republican Association rooms, where Sheriff George M. Stiles, in behalf of the Plainfield band, in a few well-chosen words welcomed the visitors to Plainfield. Manager Fouratt of the Milburn band responded neatly to the address of welcome. The members of both bands and their friends then partook of a bounteous repast which had been prepared by friends in the persons of: Miss Lizzie Stewart, Miss Ida Lorton, the Misses Searing, Miss Lizzie Denick and Miss McCord. After the guests had satisfied the appetite of the inner man, Manager Fouratt of the visiting band, in behalf of the members and citizens of Milburn, presented the Plainfield Cornet Band with a handsome French clock, in connection with which he read the following speech, composed by Mr. T. E. Edmunds of New York:

Accept this clock from many friends who join
To wish you well,
The laies of time the tireless hands will always surely tell.
But though this present runs on tick, it's just as well to know
That time or credit always tends to keep the pocket low;
There's a time for everything, 'tis said, and
To give a little good advice in the shape of friendly rymes,
A mission let your discords be; your crotchets should be few,
Don't quaver when your duty calls; be faithful,
brave and true.
Be regular as clock work and never miss a beat—
Don't let your rests at cars be long; be orderly in sense time.
This clock will keep good time, no doubt, and we
Be always earnest in your work, and try to gain
Each one should strike to make his corps the
And all your friends will take great pride in the Plainfield Cornet Band.

The festivities continued until an early hour this morning.

Dr. J. W. Wier, until lately engineer of the Electric Light Company at New Brunswick, has been appointed assistant manager at the Roselle works. He once ran the electric dynamo in the New York Herald office.

James G. Cadmus announces that he has decided to be a candidate for the Assembly. His many friends will be glad to know of this decision, and have the genial old gentleman still among us where he can do the most good.

Judge John Ulrich of Plainfield will succeed Assemblyman Chamberlain. He is a good fellow; a young man of talents and eloquence, and therefore will be of real service to his party in the Assembly. We congratulate his district and himself.—Unionist Gazette.

Mrs. W. N. Griffin, one of the most accomplished instructors in drawing and painting, has re-opened her studio as per advertisement on another column. She has had a pleasure trip with her husband during the past three weeks. During the past several years that she has given instruction she has taught many young ladies who attained much proficiency under her training.

Are There Flies in the Web?

We are asked if the delay in bringing the "fire-bugs" to trial is not a court house ring trick to hold the cases as a threat over the prisoners until after election with the hope of making Democratic votes. Well people ask questions now-adays which require forensic knowledge to answer. There are strange things connected with such of these cases. Take one such as occupied the court Friday, and especially when such a large number of witnesses from the Plainfield neighborhood were busy days attending court, at much loss to themselves and expense to the County. The prosecution has had abundant time to study for the cases, and the people of Plainfield are anxious that justice be swift and sure, and it cannot be too severe when the businesses of the offices is considered. In the interest of those from Plainfield who seem to have been needlessly put to inconvenience in the matter, it is hoped that they will not be forced again to waste time, as Elizabeth until the prosecution is ready to proceed. The exercise of a little better judgment would perhaps save a great deal of unnecessary expense to the taxpayers. They can obtain redress at the polls, however, if in no other way, and may do so, for there is apparently considerable indignation.

A Hard Winter Predicted.

Hog-killing, corn-husking and the killing of geese have progressed far enough for the knowledgeable people to tell what kind of a winter it is going to be, and for once all agree. The corn-huskers declare that if the leaves or husks stand on one ear of corn as close as the winter will be a severe one, and they say husking never was more difficult than it is this season, the husks fitting closer than ever before. The butchers say the spleen in hogs is very thick, indicating a hard and severe winter, while the bone-pickers are sure their never failing sign forecasts the same. To back up all of these proofs Dame Nature along with a whole string of reasons why he predicts four feet of snow in d-light the hearts of the sleigh riders and tobogganers, and almost an equal thickness of ice to increase the profits of the ice dealers.

A Fashionable Event.

Modjeska, Fortescue, Coghlan and other well-known actresses have delighted Plainfield audiences; but Fanny Davenport, who is to appear at Music Hall next Monday night, is the most popular and, many think, the most talented actress ever engaged for this city. One thing is assured—the dresses and jewelry Miss Davenport will eclipse them all. She will find in her fashionable audience dresses as elegant if not as costly. Secure your seats before Monday night.

People Were Perhaps Mistaken.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—It must be a matter of surprise to the people, 1 think, that colored Ephriam Carman is accused of setting fire to Rafferty's lumber yard; for it was said at the time that Rafferty's boys accidently set fire to the barn adjoining the lumber yard by smoking cigarettes in the building. At any rate boys were seen in the barn by several persons just before the fire was discovered.

Concerning this matter the Round Brook Chronicle says: "The case of Ephriam Carman, the colored man who was indicted for causing the Cook lumber yard conflagration in Plainfield on the night of November 21, 1885, is exciting considerable sympathy in Round Brook, where Eph has worked for some time. It happened that on the night in question the Reform Club here was holding a fair and several of the ladies were willing to testify that they saw "Eph" at the fair. He was at the time employed by John H. King of this place. J. Augustus Fay, jr., of Elizabeth has been retained to defend Carman. A queer feature of the whole business is that the fire occurred early in the evening and was started in John Rafferty's barn. It was stated then, if the writer's recollections is not faulty, that no cigars were found in Carman's pocket with matches or smoking cigarettes. It is to be hoped that the authorities are not overdoing the fire-bug matters."

But We Are Not Blind.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

LEADING MEN CHOSEN TO REPRESENT THEIR PARTY.

Candidates who Call for Votes in the Coming Campaign.—Men Deserving of a Majority at the Ballot-Box.

THE NEWS recently published the portraits and biographies of James L. Miller, Republican candidate for Senator, and City Judge John Ulrich, who is on the same ticket for Assembly from the Third District. Attention is now drawn to other candidates, whose histories are given below:

FREDERICK F. GLASBY.

the candidate for Sheriff, is also a life long resident of Union County. He was born in 1838 in Elizabeth, and has always lived there. He is of an excellent family well known and closely associated with that of the city for many years past. When a young man he received employment with the Central Railroad Company, and after three years work in its offices accepted a position as general book-keeper in the Corn Exchange Bank, New York. After four years he left New York and for eight years was associated with Mr. J. Williams Lein in the retail tobacco trade on Broad street, Elizabeth. Here he became known to nearly everybody in the city and county, and made friends wherever he went. When the membership was classified Mr. Glasby remained in former business, and accepted first a position in the Mercantile National Bank, New York, and latterly with the banking house of Earl & Dayton, Drexel building, New York.

After the election of Sheriff Stiles, Mr. Glasby was invited to become Under-Sheriff, and has held that position till the present time. He has conducted the business of the office upon thoroughly business principles, and his experience has proven of immense value, not only to him but to the whole county. His qualifications for that office are unquestioned. Mr. Glasby has, during the past three years, made most of all parties from all sections of the county, and his courteous demeanor and attention to business and his thorough knowledge of the details of his office work have impressed every one in his favor. He is and always has been a strong Republican, ever exercising his influence in behalf of his party, and he cannot fail to make a strong run for it, and by active sympathizers in every one who desires to see the Sheriff's office conducted as it ought to be.

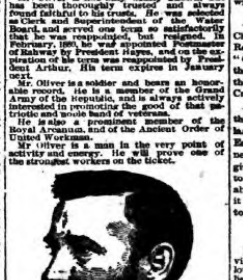
SAMUEL M. OLIVER.

The candidate for County Clerk is a citizen of Railway. He was born there, has lived there all his life and has always actively identified with its interests. He is highly popular with the people, and strong in every qualification that insures a candidate's success. His life-long association with the people of Railway has resulted in his acquaintance with nearly every voter there, and he is very popular. His genial and hearty good fellowship have extended to many sections of the country and found faithful friends in every place he visited. He will receive a very large vote in Railway next November.

Mr. Oliver is a soldier and bears an honorable record. He is a member of the Grand Army of the republic, and has been actively interested in promoting the good of that patriotic and noble band of veterans.

He is also a prominent member of the Royal Arcanum, and of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Mr. Oliver is a man in the very point of activity and energy. He will prove one of the strongest workers on the ticket.



HON. GEORGE T. PARROT.

HON. GEO. T. PARROT, the candidate for Surrogate, is so widely and favorably known that but little introduction is necessary. He was born in New Providence in Union county, and four fifths of his life has been spent in actions within its borders. He was graduated from a classical course of studies in 1866 and at once entered Rutgers College, from which with Judge Alward, on being admitted to the bar he was taken into partnership, and the law firm of Alward & Parrot was formed which has been one of the best established and most reliable in the county for many years, and is known throughout the state.

In 1881 Mr. Parrot served his party in the State Legislature as a member from the Second District in Union county, and his ability and popularity that he was re-elected to succeed himself in 1883. His record as a member of the Legislature is one of which he and his constituents may well be proud. Parrot's course of action was marked by not only a high degree of ability and legal acumen, but by a conservatism and fairness of judgment in his consistencies and an abiding determination to do what was right, just and honorable and equitable. The Legislature over was satisfied that Mr. Parrot was a conscientious member nor one more significant of the character of duty to his constituents and his party.

Mr. Parrot has a large practice and well established reputation as a lawyer. He is in the highest favor by all who have had business connections with him and his professional and methodical manner of working, and his large experience in the management of estates, eminently fit him for the duties pertaining to the Surrogate's office. He is one of unqualified Republicans, and has served his party with a fidelity that fully entitles him to the party's most earnest support. He will not even seem ready to give his time, his talents and his energies to the success of every member of the Republican ticket, and he stands today worthy of every vote and effort necessary to secure his election.

The Cranford republicans are thoroughly organized and propose to give a large majority for the whole republican ticket, on November 8.

The entertainment of the Young Ladies' Guild at Cranford Hall on Wednesday next will be a very attractive affair. Charles H. Smith, the popular humorist, will give several readings.

The Silver Cornet band organized at Cranford some weeks ago by lawyer Bruce is making splendid progress. The gentlemanly leader is very popular in town, the result is that the band is now playing nicely, and the people have awakened to the fact that the band has come to stay, and that Cranford has added another to her many attractions. The band plays at a concert the coming month.

A BOMB SENT TO MR. WECHSLER.

Sent to the Merchant's House and Exploded by His Wife.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—At 9:15 o'clock last night a man dressed as a district messenger called at the residence of Mr. James Wechsler, of the firm of Wechsler & Abrahams, No. 78 Washington avenue, Brooklyn. As old man, a member of the family, received a package from him, and the messenger went away. Mr. Wechsler was not at home. Mrs. Wechsler took the package into the parlor and opened it. It contained two small boxes, one of paper and the other of wood. When the cover of the wooden box was removed, there was an explosion. Pieces of wood and metal struck her in the face and both hands. Her 10-year-old son, who stood near her, was hurt about the face, but not so badly as his mother.

Dr. Rochester was called in, and found Mrs. Wechsler suffering from shock. Her injuries are severe. The wounds are jagged and there are traces of acid about them. The doctor fears blood poisoning.

The paper box contained a silver knife, fork and spoon. There were found in the wooden box after the explosion three small pocketbooks. The infernal machine, whatever it was, had been set for a time fuse

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Mental Healing—The Use of Salicylic Acid—About Children and Babies.

Many of the results of the mind cure and the strange fact, so long known, of opium controlling inflammation are explained, in the opinion of Science, by a principle lately advanced by Professor Delbeuf, of Liege, who has been engaged in original researches on the subject of healing wounds by mental impressions. So is the popular belief in hardening one's self by a little judicious indifference and neglect of one's conditions.

All are familiar with accounts of wounds inflicted upon themselves by African dervishes, which wounds do not inflame and may even heal completely in twenty-four hours, and these are made plausible by M. Delbeuf's observations.

According to Science, it is well established that when certain individuals who are what is termed hypnotic are put into a trance the statement made to them when in this condition that a blister has been applied to their skin will, after a time, produce on the skin the actual results of real cauterization. The hallucinatory feeling of inflammation produces in these persons a genuine inflammation. M. Delbeuf argued from this that the feeling of pain, however useful in other respects, must itself be an inflammatory irritant, and went on to infer that the absorption of it from a wound ought to accelerate healing. On a young woman, whom he could make insensible by suggestion, he marked two correspondent spots, one on each arm, and made on each an identical burn with a hot iron, announcing to the patient that the one on the right should not be felt. The suggestion took effect, and the next day, when the bandages were removed, the left arm presented a blistered sore with an inflamed surface of considerable size, while the right arm showed only a clean scorch of the skin the exact size of the iron without redness or inflammation. On another subject similar results were obtained. In another case M. Delbeuf suggested to a very sensitive subject that she should not feel a severe dental operation, and was assured by the dentist that he found most remarkable in the whole operation was the absence of the salivary secretion which would usually have accompanied it. By additional experiments, though few, are very suggestive.

Salicylic Acid.

Professor R. H. Bartley, of Brooklyn, after careful observation, expresses the belief that the use of salicylic acid in treating rheumatism, if long continued, impairs the digestive and inhibits the kidneys. He says also that a serious objection to the use of salicylic acid is the fact that many samples found in the market contain more or less carbolic acid. It is now almost entirely manufactured from this very poisonous substance and, unless great care is exercised, an appreciable amount of carbolic acid is left in the product. Some writers think that many of the fatal accidents recorded from the use of salicylic acid are due to the presence of carbolic acid. From careful consideration Professor Bartley is compelled to regard the use of salicylic acid in preserving food and drinks, and especially in lager beer, as open at least to suspicion.

Professor Bartley fixes the quantity of salicylic acid usually employed in beer at from twelve to fifteen grains per gallon; or, from one to one and a half grains to the glass. As many men habitually drink twenty-five glasses during the day, they take from twenty-five to thirty-seven grains of the acid per day. The medicinal dose is usually stated to be from tenete twenty grains.

How to Put the Baby to Sleep.

A mother tells in Babyhood how she puts a wide awake baby to sleep. She takes a large piece of canton flannel, wrings it rather dry out of water, wraps the baby in it closely over the baby's head so as to cover both ears and eyes. There is a brief struggle, then quiet, and in less than five minutes baby is fast asleep.

Simple Remedies.

Apply vaseline to the skin immediately after a blow, to prevent discoloration.

A little ammonia on cotton inserted in the cavity of an aching tooth often affords instant relief.

Horse radish leaves on the back of the neck are a remedy for pain in the head.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Manners and Customs Practiced in Polite Society.

The matrimonial season which is ushered in with the coming of October gives lively interest to information on the proper fashions connected with weddings. From some timely hints given by such excellent authority as Harper's Bazar we gather the following: Wedding invitations bear the formula so long used, but have far wider margins than any yet seen and are consequently larger, requiring larger oblong envelopes instead of the small square ones lately in favor. The engraving is in plain, clear English script, without ornamental initials or monograms, on pure white paper, though cream tints are also used. The formula, it will be remembered, is as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson request your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Eleanor, to Mr. Charles Henry Jones, on Thursday, October the twenty-ninth, at half-past three o'clock, at St. George's church." The invitation is sent out a fortnight or three weeks before the wedding. The post is found to be a safe medium and is generally adopted.

Wedding invitations require no answer. For out of town weddings that are fashionable during the months of October and November, the formula given above is used with the words "at their residence in Westchester," or other suburban address. At a home wedding, which it is held should be private, invitations bearing the usual formula are sent to the relations and a few friends. Then, on the next day, the marriage is announced to all on the engraved cards as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith announce the marriage of their daughter Mary to Mr. John Henry Johnson, Wednesday, November fifteenth, 1887, Fifth avenue, New York." An old form of announcement cards still in use is that of inclosing a card bearing the names of the just married couple, as "Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson," and also a card with the name of the bride before her marriage. Their new address may or may not be given, or if the bride goes abroad on going abroad. P. P. C. may be engraved in the left hand corner of the card containing their names. Unglazed or vellum finished cards are used for such announcements.

Hints Here and There.

When one lady is presented to another, both being seated, they remain seated, bow politely and exchange a few pleasant words.

Hand shaking is not the universal custom that it was. When a gentleman is first presented to a lady she seldom extends her hand, but both bow.

"My Dear Mrs. Blank" is generally considered a more formal beginning of a note than "Dear Mrs. Blank."

In addressing the wife of a physician, Mrs. John Blank is regarded as in better taste than Mrs. Dr. Blank.

HOW MILLS MAY CONNECT STEAM WITH WATER POWER.

A New Railway Car, with Lateral Passageways, That Enables the Passengers to Enjoy a View of the Landscape on Both Sides of the Train.

Figs. 1 and 2 give a perspective view and plan of a new style of car recently adopted by the Bone-Guelina, France, Railroad company and which has isolated compartments opening upon a lateral passageway. In this arrangement, explains Le Nature, the lateral passageway does not extend all along one side of the car, but passes through the centre and then rings along the opposite side so as to form a letter B.

FIG. 1.—CAR WITH LATERAL PASSAGEWAYS.

The car consists in reality of two boxes connected beneath the transverse passageway, but there is a continuous top and flooring. The two ends are provided with platforms that are reached by means of steps, and that permit one to enter the corresponding half of the car or to pass on to the next. The length from end to end is 33 feet in the mixed cars, comprising two first-class and four second-class compartments, and 39 feet in cars of the third class, with six compartments. The width of the compartments is 5.6 and 5 feet, according to the class. The passageway is 25 inches in width in the mixed cars and 24 in those of the third class. The roof is so arranged as to afford a circulation of cool air in the interior.

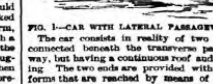

FIG. 2—PLAN OF CAR.

The application of the zigzag passageway has the inconvenience of stopping the ventilation of the car, but it is advantageous to the passengers, who can thus enjoy a view of the landscape on both sides of the train.

Connecting Steam with Water Power.

Numerous mills have found their water powers diminished, and have added steam power to their machinery during the dry season. Sometimes both water and steam are required to be used together, and by the usual arrangement of the mill the only way to attach the steam power is to put it on the same shaft to which the water wheel is attached. The question hence arises, what calculation of speed is to be made? We may attach our steam power to the shaft of the regular working, and speed of the water wheel, and regulate our engine accordingly. The editor of The Miller's Review has run a water wheel and steam attached together, and claims that he has been quite satisfied with the steadiness and results of the combination, and if there was any loss of effectiveness it was of that hair splitting fineness not discernible to the practical workman. It may be asked if it is best, where attachment of steam power is made to the same shaft, to run the water wheel to turbines without water. The power consumed thereby may be little, yet it is something perceptible, and as the steep might run dry and cause belly ache the baby's head so as to cover both ears and eyes. There is a brief struggle, then quiet, and in less than five minutes baby is fast asleep.

Simple Remedies.

Apply vaseline to the skin immediately after a blow, to prevent discoloration.

A little ammonia on cotton inserted in the cavity of an aching tooth often affords instant relief.

Horse radish leaves on the back of the neck are a remedy for pain in the head.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Manners and Customs Practiced in Polite Society.

The matrimonial season which is ushered in with the coming of October gives lively interest to information on the proper fashions connected with weddings. From some timely hints given by such excellent authority as Harper's Bazar we gather the following: Wedding invitations bear the formula so long used, but have far wider margins than any yet seen and are consequently larger, requiring larger oblong envelopes instead of the small square ones lately in favor. The engraving is in plain, clear English script, without ornamental initials or monograms, on pure white paper, though cream tints are also used. The formula, it will be remembered, is as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson request your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Eleanor, to Mr. Charles Henry Jones, on Thursday, October the twenty-ninth, at half-past three o'clock, at St. George's church." The invitation is sent out a fortnight or three weeks before the wedding. The post is found to be a safe medium and is generally adopted.

Wedding invitations require no answer. For out of town weddings that are fashionable during the months of October and November, the formula given above is used with the words "at their residence in Westchester," or other suburban address. At a home wedding, which it is held should be private, invitations bearing the usual formula are sent to the relations and a few friends. Then, on the next day, the marriage is announced to all on the engraved cards as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith announce the marriage of their daughter Mary to Mr. John Henry Johnson, Wednesday, November fifteenth, 1887, Fifth avenue, New York." An old form of announcement cards still in use is that of inclosing a card bearing the names of the just married couple, as "Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson," and also a card with the name of the bride before her marriage. Their new address may or may not be given, or if the bride goes abroad on going abroad. P. P. C. may be engraved in the left hand corner of the card containing their names. Unglazed or vellum finished cards are used for such announcements.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

Favorite House Plants—A Novel Fruit Basket—Bottling Fruit, Etc.

A woman of experience in the window culture of plants says: It obliged to confine myself to a few kinds of plants, for this purpose, I would select the flowering begonias. They bear dry heat and occasional neglect as well as any, and are not liable to the attacks of insects, while the number and variety of species is great. Next to begonias I would place geraniums. Every one knows how endless is the variety of shades and tints among the cultivated flowers. There are the scented, the silver leaved, the bronze, the ivy leaved, the tri colored—a charming array. One can have a gay window without any flowers at all.

Attractive Draperies.

A simple but rich cover for a small stand consists of a square of dark maroon plush or velvet edged with gold fringe. Being without lining, it can be easily looped up at intervals around the sides of the table to form a series of graceful festoons that may be held in place with bows of bright gold colored ribbon.

Very satisfactory in the way of inexpensive sash curtains are those made of nice, fine chesse cloth. They can be faced to the depth of three or four inches with turkey red, and worked above this in outline stitch with a border design in bright colored crewels. Attached to brass rods, they give a bright and cheery look, very desirable in the cold season. Instead of festoons that may be looped or wooden rods are made attractive by painting them with the liquid gilding obtainable at any oil and color store.

Sources of Waste in the Kitchen.

Economy counts more rapidly in the kitchen than in any other room in the house. With an untrained cook and inexperienced mistress there are many points in a hundred little ways, some of which are enumerated by Table Talk as follows:

Bread is thrown away and fish are thrown out, which would make nice meat balls or cutlets. The water in which meats are cooked is thrown away without removing the fat. The water also in which potatoes, turnips, etc., are boiled. Small quantities of pie crust are thrown away instead of making cheese fingers or a few tarts. Cold boiled rice thrown out, that might be added to waffles for the next breakfast. Vegetables thrown out, that might be saved for soup. Baking powders left uncovered to lose their strength. Coffee pounded and put aside in a paper bag, there by losing its strength and the grocer condemned for keeping poor coffee. Soap left in the dish water to waste. Scrub brushes the same. Tins and irons put away without drying, to rust. Silver forks used for toasting bread. Knives and forks, the handles soaked in water. Cream thrown away, that might be used for cold slaw. Corks left out of vinegar and extract bottles. Apples decaying for want of looking over. As many items more might be added to the list.

Bottling Fruit Wholesale.

Putting fruit up whole and without sugar, one of the newer modes in vogue, is substantially as follows: Select clean, dry, well mouthed bottles with fresh, sound fruit; add nothing, not even water. Be sure that the fruit is well and closely packed in, and ram the corks in—of best quality—tightly down into the neck of the bottles until level with the glass. Now tie the corks down tight with strong twine, and after putting the bottles on racks, hoard them in a pan or bucket of cold water. Let the water reach not quite to the shoulder of the bottle. Let the fire be made and the steep water be boiling. Boil gently for ten minutes, remove from the fire and allow all to cool. Next remove the bottles, wipe them dry and dip the corks in melted rosin or sealing wax, taking care to cover every part of the cork. This process is said to keep fruit sound and fresh for years, but housewives in general will prefer to keep it well and become familiar with all small details, such as the length of time for boiling different fruits, before employing it extensively.

Fresh Parsley in Winter.

A pretty method of growing parsley in the kitchen through the winter is to set some plants in a wire hanging basket lined with moss and suspend it in a sunny window. A few leaves at a time can be clipped off for garnishing and flavoring meats and various dishes, and it will be found quite nice to have the fresh parsley for this purpose. At the same time one has an extremely fresh, bright ornament for the kitchen. In the moist and heated air of a kitchen plants thrive wonderfully, and often surpass the beautiful foliage and blooms those kept in the drier atmosphere of sitting rooms and parlors.

The Refrigerator Well Kept.

Thoroughly clean the refrigerator at least twice every week. This precaution will prevent much loss of food and no little annoyance to the housekeeper.

Cooking Inferior Pears.

It is generally a pity to cook fresh fruits; but inferior and hard pears may often be rendered palatable by stewing them with a little sugar.

A Good Decorative Material.

Tea chest matting takes gold and silver paint with fine effect, and may be utilized for picture frame mats and other decorative purposes.

A Rush Basket for Fruit.

A very attractive receptacle for fruit is the basket represented in the cut, which consists of rushes about fourteen inches long laid close together and held in place with fine brass wire, the basket being shaped by drawing the ends up as tight as may be liked with the wire. The basket may be colored with oil paints or gilded or left plain, as one fancies. The ends are finished with ribbon bows.

A RUSH BASKET.

The rushes to be used for this purpose must be soaked for some time before using in water, and when taken out should be wiped dry with a cloth.

One Thing and Another.

Add a little petroleum to the water when washing waxed or polished floors.

A small piece of salt pork cooked with string beans adds a flavor and richness like, by many.

Some breadmakers claim that salt or meal is better than soap for washing hands before and after mixing bread.

One housewife cleans her tea kettle with strong soda and soap and then keeps an oyster shell in it to collect the sediment from the water.

Two or three small boards in convenient places on which to set pots and kettles will save much scrubbing.

THE BUSY BEE WHO SINGS AS HE WORKS AND NEVER GETS LAZY.

A Sparrow's Flying Visit to the Dean of Canterbury's Study—The Birthplace of Gen. U. S. Grant on the Banks of the Ohio.

The modest little sketch depicted in the accompanying illustration represents the home where Gen. Grant was born, and in which he spent the early years of his life. It is in the village of Point Pleasant, Ohio, on the bank of the Ohio river about twenty-five miles above the "Queen City of the West," Cincinnati.

BIRTHPLACE OF GEN. GRANT.

It was amid these humble but picturesque surroundings that the future general and president of the United States lived with his parents in the midst of comparative poverty, never dreaming of the honors that awaited his later life.

An Army of Marksmen.

The American infantry soldier fires 800 rounds a year—about ten times as many as the soldier of any other nation uses in the same time. This wide use of practice makes them the best marksmen in the world. We have an army of marksmen.

The board of officers before whom the new inventions in magazine guns were tested selected three for experiments to be made by troops in the field. These were the Lee, the Krag-Jorgensen and the Hotchkiss. The army report was unfavorable to them all, the verdict being that the present Springfield rifle was the best rifle for the frontier.

But could troops be armed with the Springfield hold their own with troops armed with a magazine gun?

No; for in every battle a time must come when the soldier shall be able to discharge his piece five or six times in a few seconds. Every magazine must be detachable. With the Lee this was the case. With the others it was not. It must be detachable, because until at close quarters the firing will be more effective with a rifle loaded in the ordinary way, without the incumbrance of a magazine.

Etiquette by the Hired Girl.

"Madame," he began as the door opened, "I am selling a new book on etiquette and deportment."

"Oh, you are!" she responded. "Go down there on the grass and clean the mud off your feet."

"Yes, 'um. As I was saying, ma'am, I am sell"—

"Take off your hat! Never address a strange lady at the door without removing your hat."

"Yes, 'um. Now, then, as I was saying"—

"Take your hands out of your pockets! No gentleman ever carries his hands there."

"Yes, 'um. Now, ma'am, this work on eti"—

"Throw out your cud. If a gentleman uses tobacco he is careful not to disgust others by the habit."

"Yes 'um. Now, ma'am, in calling your attention to this valuable"—

"Put that dirty handkerchief out of sight and use less grease on your hair. Now you look half way decent. You have a book on etiquette and deportment. Very well, I don't want it. I am only the hired girl. You can come in, however, and talk with the lady of the house. She called me a liar this morning, and I think she needs something of the kind."—Detroit Free Press.

It Answered the Purpose.

A German, one of whose eyes was severely inflamed, went to an oculist for treatment. An operation was necessary, and the eye was removed. While treating the socket previous to transplanting one from a rabbit, one of the visual organs of the latter being prepared and laid upon the table, a cat stole in, and before any one could prevent had seized and eaten the rabbit's eye. No other rabbit being at hand to furnish the eye, the oculist waited until his patient had recovered from the state of anæsthesia necessary to the operation, and explained the dilemma to him. "Yah, yah, de kats ate mine eye up; so, so, vell put an eye of dat katz in mine eye. Dot katz got mine eye, I vill hat dot katz's eye." The oculist did so for the sake of the experiment, when, strange to say, the operation was successful and the cat's eye worked perfectly. One day the German met a friend, who said:

"Hans, I hear dat you haf a katz eye in your head in, how ish dot?" Hans explained the circumstance, and his friend said: "Oh, I see, dot katz got your eye and you got dot katz eye, yah, und how does dot katz eye work? Can you see shust so good as mit de oder?"

"Yah, shust so good, aber at night ven I wants to schleep, dot verdammter eye shust lies avake looking for rats."—Chicago Tribune.

He Was Absent Minded.

"Speaking of absent mindedness," said the hotel clerk to the Expressionist, "that old fellow sitting over there by the window, sucking his cane, will some day forget that he is on earth, and will come down to breakfast with a sheet wrapped around him, doing the angel act. He's an old bachelor, and has lived here at least ten years. Last night a business man called to see him. He was in great haste. He wrote a note to be sent up to the old fellow's room, and then rushed off, saying, "That's a very important message; please see that he gets it." When the call boy got to the room he found that the old fellow had gone asleep in his chair while reading. The room had grown dark. The boy woke the old fellow up, gave him the note, and went out. After failing to find the matchsafe, and after going through his pockets with like success, he discovered the note in his hand. What did the man do but twist it up, light the paper in a gas jet in the hallway, and after lighting his own gas looked all over his room for the note. He don't know what the message was, nor who sent it, nor how important it was, and I have forgotten how the business man looked. He has been sucking that cane over there all day, thinking about it, and cursing the call boy."—Buffalo Express.

He Was Calm.

A youngish man, wearing good clothes and a plug hat, rushed up the steps of a Griswold street bank yesterday, hurried along to the window of the cashier, and allowing two or three people aside, he said to the man behind the window:

"Can you give me five tens for this fifty? I'm in a great hurry to catch the train."

The cashier calmly received the bill, gave it one brief glance, and then shoved it under a drawer and returned it. It was stamped with a big red "counterfeit."

"——you!" growled the young man with the good clothes as he hurried out.

"Rash!" replied the cashier, but he was calm—very calm.—Detroit Free Press.

A Chance Meeting.

Upon the street we met by chance,
He and I, face to face.
Each gave the other a savage glance,
And each felt out of place.

Such meetings have their share of pain,
And ours was painful, too,
Each feared the other. That was plain,
And still we neared drew.

Poor victims we of ruthless Fate!
Fate's victims we are still,
For since I cut him out with Kate,
And he owes me a bill!

—Somerville Journal.

Easy Enough.

Wife of Young Literary Man—Why, George! A hundred dollars for that magazine story! How long did it take you to write it?

Young Husband (nonchalantly)—Oh, I don't know. A couple of days, I suppose.

Wife (excitedly)—Fifty dollars a day! That's $300 a week and $1,300 a month. Twelve times twelve is 144—$14,400 a year! Why, George, we can keep a carriage and horses just as well as not!—Harper's Bazar.

A Steady Improvement.

Mr. Wabash, of Chicago—Have you read Julian Hawthorne's story, "A Tragic Mystery," Miss Breezy?

Miss Breezy—Oh, yes, and I found it very interesting. I think his style has so much improved since he wrote "The Scarlet Letter."—Life.

Cheerless Comfort.

Stranger—Ain't there a shorter way to Railway?

Boy—Yes, sir; it's only two miles from Linden.

For Boarding and For Sale and Rent, it furnishes a better class of customers than can be obtained through any other medium, and its general advertisements pay better than those of all the other papers combined, as the constant demand upon its columns daily testifies. In all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper THE NEWS stands at the head of journalism in this section at least.

JOTTINGS.

—Fannie Davenport to-night.

—City Judge Ulrich will make a strong run.

—Westfield Standard.

—Beautiful holliday gifts may be purchased at Ball & Randolph's.

—Fanny Davenport at Music Hall to-night. Don't miss it. It is worth awaits him.

—The devotional meeting of the "Y" will be held in their rooms, 55 East Front street, on Tuesday, Nov. 1, at four o'clock.

—Commencing yesterday afternoon Vesper and Benediction services will be held at four o'clock p. m. hereafter instead of eight p. m. in St. Mary's church.

—The County Clerk's office will be open on Wednesday evening next, when the judges of the Court of Common Pleas will be present for naturalization purposes.

—There is an urgent demand for increased school accommodations in Plainfield. The attendance has more than doubled in ten years, and a further increase of 2,000 is expected by 1890.—Newark Journal.—

—Wilson Fiske's Blue Belton setter, Dora, was lost or stolen Friday evening last. She followed a member of the household to Dr. Long's residence on Park avenue, and was left waiting on the porch, since then it has not been seen. Dora was valued as a pleasmate to children.

—At the First Baptist church next Thursday evening at eight o'clock the Home Missionary Society of that church will "break jugs." All having jugs are requested to bring them in Thursday afternoon. An interesting program is promised. Mrs. Johnson, a missionary from Castle Garden, will address the meeting.

—A letter from Carl Feininger, dated Berlin, Prussia, 9th inst., says that he is in the best of health. One of his pupils, at his request, desires us to contradict the stories published in Philadelphia that Mr. Feininger's health is ill health. The letter states that he is filling engagements in Europe, and is in the best of health.

—Rev. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, D. D., of Plainfield, will deliver an address on its "Chautauqua Idea" in the Park church Elizabeth on Monday evening, at eight o'clock. All interested in Chautauqua, or the movement are cordially invited. The meeting will be held under the auspices of Hale Chautauqua Circle.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Mission Auxiliary will be held Tuesday, Nov. 1st, at 2:30 p. m. in the Congregational church. The hour will be devoted to listening to a devoted worker in the McAll Mission, Paris, whom we welcome on her return to Plainfield. All are invited to attend. MRS. J. M. MYERS, Secretary.

—At the Park avenue Baptist church the services were largely attended both morning and evening yesterday. At the morning service Rev. Mr. Dills drew many useful lessons from his theme "Christ's Mission." At the evening service the singing was very fine. It consisted of solos by Miss Lillie Dorman and Miss Bennett and choir pieces by a choir of practiced voices under the leadership of Mr. Bennett.

—It is almost the eve of November. October has proven a glorious month, the atmosphere has been exceedingly temperate, the trees in all directions are almost all stripped of their foliage, housewives have about finished preserving fruit, and the patient man of the house has succeeded in finding the stove pipe which was in use last winter, and properly adjusting it for duty. The cold keeps off well, and preparations are being made to every hand for the severe weather which is sure to come after awhile.

—That successful comic opera, "The Little Tycoon," will be presented Thursday, Nov. 3d, at Stillman Music Hall. This is the first appearance in this city of the original company as presented at Temple Theatre, Philadelphia, in January, 1885. All the superb scenery, costumes, properties, electric effects, together with the Temple Theatre Orchestra of ten picked musicians, and a chorus thirty voices. An exact reproduction of the opera will be given as originally produced in Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Chicago, in which cities it has had a total run of 500 nights.

—The Board of Directors of the Art Gallery have decided to give one entire room for the Schoonmaker collection of bric-a-brac, etc. The room chosen is the one at the left of the staircase on the second story, formerly used for crayon, steel plate work and sculpture. Cases to properly display the collection are being ordered for, and when it is in the gallery Plainfield will in some measure respects have the finest collection to be found in the country. It will not be so extensive as that of Charles A. Dana, or the one at Central Park, or the famous one at Baltimore, nor will it cost as much, $1,000 goods blow you, but it will consist of many rare treasures and found in any of these, and a fair representation of the wonderful skill of the Chinese for the past 1,000 years, from Mr. Schoonmaker's collection of about 600 pieces. The Board of Directors have requested Miss Tyler to give the first lecture of a series, his being advertised in another column, and all to be of rare interest, the proceeds to be used to enable the Board to add further attractions to the gallery for the enjoyment of our people, who will no doubt gladly avail themselves of this opportunity to show their appreciation of the efforts of the Board, actuated as the members are by no other motive than the glory and welfare of Plainfield.

—All Hallow E'en.

—Chas. McCann, jr., of West Third street, is under bonds in the sum of $250 to appear in answer to a serious charge made by Catherine Beigold, a half-witted domestic, who, though simple, is in other respects competent. The complaint was made before City Judge Ulrich several days ago, and McCann was arrested by Chief of Police Dodd last night in a dark alley where the fellow was waiting, it is alleg d, to meet a paramour. His uncle, Charles McCann of West Third street went bonds for the youth's nephew.

—A new county, to be constructed of parts of Essex, Morris and Union, is creating considerable thought among some of the residents of Summit and of certain sections of Essex and Morris Counties. That the construction of a new county is possible no one will deny, but the question of its necessity, and the almost certain opposition that would be manifested against it by the counties whose limits it would encroach upon, is formidable. The people of the sections whereof it is proposed to form a new county would necessarily have to be persuaded that many benefits and advantages would result to them from such a procedure before they would approve any movement looking to such an end. The benefit or injury that would necessarily result in legislative representation to either the one or the other of the political parties would also have great weight in promoting affirmative or negative action among our legislators in a movement, if any be made, would have to be very popular, and would depend for its success largely upon public approval or condemnation.—Summit Record.

Labor Men in Somerset.

Announcement was made in Somerville Saturday morning that a new party, to be known as "The Workingmen's Party of Somerset County," had been formed and adopted a set of resolutions and a platform. Later in the day there were circulated copies of a handbill reading as follows:

Nominations and endorsements of the Workingmen's Party of Somerset County, N. J.: For Senator, James J. Bergen (indorsed); for member of Assembly, Geo. P. Norton; for Surrogate, A. R. Voorhees; for Board of Chosen Freeholders, John F. Brady, Dr. C. P. R. Fisher, Dr. Mr. John R. Beekman (indorsed). Workingmen, vote for the whole ticket; show the old party "bosses" of Somerset County that we have had enough of their dirty deeds. Now is the time to show your strength.

FRED. J. DURRANCE, Sec. pro tem.

An interview with Mr. Durrance was from him the statement was made that it distinctly understood that we are not a Knights of Labor organization, and in no way connected with that association. The party is composed of workingmen irrespective of party, and it is my opinion that we will poll from 800 to 1,000 votes."

Union County Courts.

Saturday morning at the opening of the court Judge McCormick charged the jury in the case of Edward G. Delaney, the Summit railroad murderer, with the brief, terse, orderly house, and the jury retired for deliberation at 10:20 o'clock.

The court's attention was then occupied for some time on an application for a revocation of the tavern license of August Kline of Roselle, on the ground that the signers were not real estate owners.

Foster M. Voorhees appeared as counsel for the applicant, and Pr. t. C. Mar.h for defendant. The testimony showed that all were freeholders with the exception of one of the latter claiming to have a title by reason of being a guardian. The Court reserved its decision until Saturday next.

Sunday Gunners Punished.

Marshal Becker's vigilant eye fell on the form of John Klopf of Scotch Plains, yesterday, as Klopf wended his way across the mountains with dog and gun, after choice game. When arrested he plead hard to be released.

"Why didn't I take my wife's advice," he blubbered, "and stay at home! She told me that I'd get caught."

Last evening he was taken before Mayor Cooley of North Plainfield and fined $20.

Two other Sunday sportsmen were caught by Game Wardens Sterling and Chas. Willis and taken before Justice Depple of Union County. Each were fined $25 and costs.

He is expected also to address the White Cross meeting at Kennett Square, Pa., on Saturday afternoon, October 29th.

Yesterday was the seventy-fourth anniversary of the birth of Jasper G. Cadmus, and he was the recipient of many congratulatory surprises. In the morning he was visited by his son, David W. P. Cadmus and wife of Orange, and Miss Delphine, B. I. We notice that he also carried a cane—an unusual thing for him—but was greatly pleased to find that the cane was a gift from the young couple to their father. The cane is a most handsome one, being of ebony with a silver handle. This handle is beautifully chased and engraved, the recesses being oxidized to make the wreathed designs of leaves stand out more prominently. The inscription on the plate reads: J. G. Cadmus, from David and Mattie, Oct. 30, 1887.

"Bruisers" Invade Plainfield.

The New York papers this morning give glowing accounts of a savage prize-fight which is said to have occurr 1 early Sunday morning in an open field on the outskirts of Plainfield in the presence of two hundred sporting men from various cities. The contestants were Jack Gibbons of Orange Newark and Michael Mullin, a younger brother of Pat Mullin, the English champion. The first two rounds ended with Mullin on the ground; and—the accounts continue—the third round was the best of the fight. "Both combatants were wild with rage and the seconds had great difficulty in separating them. For a time a free fight all around seem 1 unavoidable. The instant the men were parted Gibbon hit Mullin a crushing blow on the left side of the neck and he fell heavily to the earth. Mullin yelled 'police!' until he was dragg 1 into a coach by his friends. The stakeholder, David O'Dare, skipp 1 with the receipts."

Appropriate wind-up! Only some one ought to have summoned the police before the brutal exhibition was begun.

Warren Mission.

There was a large number in attendance at the Mission chapel last evening. The song service consisted mostly of new music not altogether familiar to the congregation, and was rendered from the Gospel Hymns and Choir. The leader stating that he was desirous that these and others to follow should soon become well known by all at ending the services. Seeley Edsall had charged of the devotional exercises and commented on a few verses found in the 8th chapter of the Acts. After all singing "Christ Receiveth Sinful Men," the meeting was given to the congregation for voluntary remarks and prayers. Those taking part were Mrs. D. M. Moore, M. H. Dunham, C. W. Hillman, Edsall, Mrs. Edsall, Mr. Cockin. When the usual invitation was given for those who desired to become Christians to manifest it, three responded, one being a young man. The meeting was closed by all singing, "We're Going Home to Jesus."

The Drink-Evil, Society's Bane.

James McGee of Willow avenue, North Plainfield, was the speaker at Reform Hall, last evening; and his address was highly interesting to the audience which was rather large.

"The basis principles of society says Mr. McGee, "are industry, frugality, kindliness, education and religion. Intemperance is the foe to all these: it destroys industry, uprroots frugality; prevents kindliness, distorts education and dethrones religion. The drinking habits is the bane of society, the bar to progress and the enemy to God and man: and it will have been perhaps a blank God I are fighting hard against the rum demon. Industry is active against it through the labor organizations, frugality through the savings institutions, kindliness through the hospitals and benevolent institutions, education through the high schools and religion through the churches. But it is a hard and bitter fight and we must help it all we can."

The Richest of Treats.

Concerning Marshall P. Wilder, who is to give a reading at the Methodist church, as noticed among our advertisements, the New York Times has the following: "He kept the audience in roars of laughter, great applause and encores, and as an encore he recited 'Beautiful Snow.' It seemed as though they could not get enough of him, he was so brim-full of mirth. It should be noted that he is a fine ventriloquist, and his imitation of the telephone was very clever indeed. He received hearty congratulations from the telephone agent present. Tickets and reserved seats for the Marshall P. Wilder entertainment on sale at the stores of H. F. Reynolds and R. J. Shaw, on and after Tuesday Nov. 1.

Sheriff Stiles was born in this county on a farm near Elizabeth March 28, 1845. He completed his education in the public schools of Elizabeth, and his whole life is as an open book to the people of the county. It is that of a man whom they have delighted to honor, one who has never been found wanting. He has been elected three different times to the Legislature, each time with increased majorities, the last time carrying every ward and township in the District, even Union, which had always gone Democratic, giving him a majority of fifty. His term as sheriff concludes Nov. 15. He has declined offices offered him, to devote his time more fully to his undertaking business at Elizabeth and Plainfield.

G. P. Smith's Gambling-Den.

The testimony of the witnesses in the case of Chief of Police Chas. W. Dodd vs. Constable Garret P. Smith—which was tried before City Judge Ulrich Saturday afternoon—was not surprising to those who have long known that Smith was the owner of a Park avenue gambling-den. Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh conducted the case against Smith and subpœnaed the defendant, who at first denied everything, to searching cross-examination, he was shown, despite Judge George P. Bedman's efforts in behalf of the defense, that Smith's den has been going in full blast under his personal direction, notwithstanding the fact that he has given it out that his place has been closed. The witnesses created considerable amusement both at the trial and at the newspaper office to which they hied—by the excuses they offered for visiting the place. The case will be argued by counsel Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

A DEMOCRAT.

WESTFIELD.

Empire Engine Co., No. 2, will hold their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the rooms of the Young Republican Club.

Application has been made by our merchants to the C. R. R. Co., for the appointment of a regular freight agent. The present employed at present has to act as freight agent, mail carrier, baggage master, etc., and their merchants say that a great deal of inconvenience, when after freight, they have to wait until he returns with mail, or is through with his other work.

Some of our small boys will get themselves into trouble through the careless handling of firearms. Young Stephen Ruth while practicing with a flobert rifle on Saturday, along with other boys, attempted to shoot at a tin can, but missed it, and the ball went through the bay window of Mr. J. S. Irving's residence and hit his daughter, Nellie, in the arm, while no very great harm was done, still the danger was close enough, and parents who allow their boys the use of firearms ought to instruct them how and where to use them.

A sad ending accident occurred about half past nine on Saturday morning at the house of Wm. H. Moore. Jenny Campbell, a young girl living with the family, was busy around the stove, when suddenly her apron caught fire, and with a scream she rushed out of the room; before Mrs. Moore could catch her she had run around in a mass of flames. Mr. Rheaume, who was driving past at the time, saw the girl, and jumping from his wagon ran to her assistance, and succeeded in smother the flames, assisted by a neighbor, Chas. R. Clark; but the light material of which the clothes consisted, and the fact that she had run, was successful. Dr. Smith, who lives across the street, was called, and he did all he could to allay the suffering of the poor girl, whose body was burned so terribly, with but little success, however, as she died in great agony at 2 o'clock. Interment at Fanwood Cemetery.

Samuel Dreier of West Front street is an angry man. Yesterday morning David C. Allen asked him to trade revolvers, and an exchange was effected between Allen and the wife of Dreier by which Allen's small 22 calibre shooting-iron with 100 cartridges was to be swapped for Dreier's five-dollar "British Bulldog." Allen left both pistols in Drier's charge and went about his work. In the evening he returned and said that he had decided not to trade. He then wanted his revolver back. Dreier refused to return it until the young man advanced 25 cents "for cleaning and oiling dot bistol." Allen thereupon signified to Chief of Police Dodd his desire to make a complaint against Dreier for unlawfully retaining his firearm. Dreier heard of this and this afternoon made a long and fiery speech in City Judge Ulrich's office.

O'BRIEN AGAIN ELUDES THE POLICE,

And Makes a Vigorous Speech Against the Government's Policy.

CORK, Oct. 21.—Mr. William O'Brien eluded the police yesterday and addressed an immense meeting at Mallow. He just north of here. There was a large crowd present. Mr. O'Brien said that this would probably be his last day of liberty for some time, and declared that he was proud to spend it with them. He ridiculed Mr. Balfour's idea of repressing the agitation in Ireland by confining Mr. William O'Brien in a cell for a few months, and said: "We are simply the outposts of an army of 20,000,000 of the Irish race who were scattered in all parts of the world.

"You are now coming up to the plan of campaign," said Mr. O'Brien, "are sure of having a decent roof over their heads this winter and are comfortably housed. Contrast which is more than many an out at fellow rack renter expects. Wherever," continued he, "tenants have the manliness to use the plan and the discipline to stick to it, they protects their homes, striking God's fear into the hearts of landlords. Of 10,000 people who were evicted during the past year only 140 belonged to the plan of campaign, or at least followed the plan. This proves the advantage of the plan, which will be the greatest lever in order to obtain a scale as would reward the tenants' efforts who used it." Mr. O'Brien said that he deprecated open violence, but if patience was necessary manhood was the next thing. If they wished to win an Irish parliament and an ownership in the soil of Ireland.

ANOTHER LAKE DISASTER.

LOSS OF A PASSENGER STEAMER, WITH ALL ON BOARD.

The Greatest Lake Fatality of the Season.

Overtaken by the Steamer Vernon, the Successor of the Ill-Fated Champlain—Capt. Moran's Terrible Dilemma.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21.—The passenger propeller Vernon was wrecked in the terrific gale that swept Lake Michigan Saturday, and her entire crew of twenty-two persons and her passengers, number unknown, are supposed to have been lost. It inv ves a loss of life than any of the magnificent disasters on the lake this season, not excepting the propeller Champlain, which was burned early in the spring off Charlevoix, drowning twenty-four persons. A most singular coincidence is that the Vernon was the vessel that took the place of the Champlain on the Northern Michigan line, and had only been on the line since Aug. 1. She was one of the finest finished passenger boats on the lakes, and had a valuation of $75,000. Capt. Moran, of the steamship Superior, which arrived here Saturday night, brought the first news of the wreck. Capt. Moran saw the crew on four rafts, and also a small boat making a heroic and fruitless effort to save them. Though he made an effort to save them, the high sea prevented him from rendering any assistance. The Superior herself being disabled. He said: "To pass one man on a raft appealing for our help, another dying from exposure, and a small boat in which we could take only one more and leave one of the latter hailing with a coat stuck up on his car, all being tossed about in a terrible sea, without our being able to render assistance, was the most heartrending in the extreme. We were also fighting for our lives, our steamer having become disabled in the sea. With the exception of the cooks, our entire crew of sixteen men, even to the engineer, were down below, some of them steering the vessel with a temporary tackle which we had rigged up, while the others were trying to repair the break. Our tiller had become disconnected from the rudder post, leaving us at the mercy of the waves until we could get up a temporary tackle. With this we managed to keep our vessel out of the trough of the seas and keep her before the gale. It was three hours before we made repairs so that we could handle ourselves, and then we were out of sight of the shipwrecked men."

F. J. Kelly, agent of the Northern Michigan line, after hearing the account of the disaster as reported by Capt. Moran, felt assured that it was the Vernon. He did not know what passengers were on board, and if the crew could only give the following names out of a crew of twenty-two men:

Capt. George Thayer, of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Capt. John Sullivan, mate, who formerly sailed the schooner Golden West; Capt. Higgins, second mate, who sailed the steamer George Hand next year; F. W. Bayher, clerk, oldest son of one of the owners of the line; Charles Marcau, first engineer; Frank M. Hall, second engineer, a brother of Ed. Hall, of Chicago; Martin Bee, assistant engineer, a brother of Martin, both having been on the Champlain when she burned.

The names of the following passengers who were on board the steamer, which ever she was all that can be obtained at this writing: Clifford B. Bennigres, of Chicago, Miss Sarah Durkin, of Chicago; Miss Katie Gallagher, daughter of the postmaster of Mackinac island; Mrs. Dunleavy, of St. James, Beaver island. It is estimated with confidence that there were from thirty to fifty persons on board, though any statement as to the exact number is mere conjecture.

The fore part of the old houses of the wrecked steamer, with five his preservers upon it, was found about six miles from shore yesterday. One of the life preservers was cut open in a manner which would indicate that it had been worn and was thrown aside by the wearer, who, perhaps, becoming benumbed by the cold, preferred death to further suffering.

ANOTHER STORY OF WRECK.

Terrible Experience of the Crew of a Lost Merchantman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—On March 20 last the ir n bark Derry Castle, belonging to Lower ck, Ireland, left Geelong for Falm outh with wheat. No trace of her could be found any port, and she was posted at Lloyds as missing. Recently eight survivors of the Derry Castle's crew reached Melbourne on the seamer Awarua. They stated that the missing bark had been cast away on an Enderby Island, one of the Auckland group, eight days after commencing the homeward voyage. The captain, both mates, and twelve seamen were drowned in trying to reach the reef. Seven of the crew and the only passenger, James McGhie, embarked for the island in a boat. Calking was done and they had but little covering. The island was explored and the party was much disappointed to find no sign of making a boat harbor a small hut, which, it appears, was formerly used as a depot for provisions for shipwrecked seamen. The place was opened with the expectation of finding food, but it was a terrible disappointment to find that all it contained was just enough for salt. A New Zealand government had maintained four depots for relief of castaways, but lately dispensed with all but one, on Enderby Island. After the mate

RIOTS IN LONDON.

MATTERS OF HISTORY SUGGESTED BY RECENT EVENTS.

The Lord George Gordon Riots of a Hundred Years Ago—How They Originated. Their Results—Homeless Poor in the London of Today.

London has had a small riot, and there are well grounded fears of a very big one. All great cities are liable to riots, and London is no exception; but it is a notable fact that city has in the last century had fewer popular disturbances than any other great city in Christendom. While Paris has witnessed three revolutions and many minor events, Berlin has had the students' insurrection of 1848, Vienna has been in actual possession of a mob, only beaten down by the bombardment of Windischgratz, and New York her great draft riots and many smaller but terrible affairs, London has suffered no serious riot since the "Wellington troubles," and has not really suffered great loss of life or property since the terrible Gordon riots of 1780. The English character is conservative, the government is strong, and those who have much to lose outnumber those who have anything to hope for from a riot more than twenty to one.

Certain parks and vacant places in London have, partly by law and partly by long usage, become the property—as it were, the resorts—of the poor and unemployed. Most noted of these is Trafalgar square, and of late many thousands have passed the night there sleeping on benches, in the open air wherever they could. Of course this led to an abandonment of the square by the better classes and so to ill feeling and personal conflicts. The unemployed talked over their grievances and decided to present a petition to the home secretary, demanding work or public charity in some form. Each successive gathering became more riotous, and when a monster mass meeting was called for the 13th, in Trafalgar square, the police received orders to prevent it. The latter took possession of all entrances to the square; the people gathered in the adjacent streets; there was a rush for the gates, and a few men were clubbed. More meetings were held in the vicinity and very incendiary speeches made. The statement by one workingman that "they trust has just as hit" we was hignorant Britishers" met with an amusing illustration of the London laborer's view of government in the two islands. Traffic was completely stopped by these mass meetings; no more police were sent to disperse them, and the crowd moved towards Hyde park with the usual demonstrations.

Not more than 5,000 or 6,000 had got into Hyde park when the police again appeared in force, and being appealed to by the adjacent shopkeepers, who feared pillage, they closed and fastened the gates. The crowd attempted to force their way through a small gate, when the mounted police charged upon them—an act generally condemned. Two men were so badly hurt that their death is expected, and many slightly injured. So the matter rests, with the observers threatening, the politicians defending and denouncing, and the papers commenting with various degrees of severity. Mr. Gladstone has drawn on himself a deal of Tory wrath by publicly denouncing the police, and Lord Randolph Churchill has denounced Gladstone.

The Lord George Gordon riots have been made noted among all English reading people by the genius of Charles Dickens, who makes them the sensational subject and turning point of his "Barnaby Rudge." For five days—from the 4th to the 8th of June, 1780—London was at the mercy of a mob; whole blocks of shops were sacked, numerous Catholic churches and chapels were demolished, prisons were broken open, arsenals plundered and scores of persons killed by accident or design, while on the 7th thirty-six fires were raging at one time. The police were completely defeated, nor could even the military disperse the mobs till they had killed and wounded 500 people. The total loss could not be estimated, as scores of wounded wretches crept into abandoned cellars or sewers to die, while many drunken ones perished in the flames. And all this grew out of an attempt to disperse an assembly of 60,000 to 80,000 people, who marched with Gordon to present a petition against the act removing the Catholic disabilities. He was acquitted, but afterwards sentenced to a long imprisonment for libel and died in prison at the early age of 43, after having become a convert to Judaism. He was undoubtedly insane—a sort of George Francis Train on the British model. The misery caused by the Napoleonic wars created fearful riots all over England, but not so bad in London; the "Luddites" once numbered 80,000 rioters, who went about breaking the machinery which, they said, drove poor men out of work, and at length a mob attacked the house of the Duke of Wellington and broke his windows; this in 1832, during the adoption of the reform bill. During those troubled years also occurred the "Massacre of Peterloo," when the police charged upon an immense and closely packed mass of people gathered in the fields to hear a radical speech. Few were hurt by the police, but hundreds were injured and many killed, being squeezed and trampled upon in the panic. Then followed that beneficent series of measures for the relief of labor, and with them such an improvement in the general condition that London has only known riots by tradition since the accession of Victoria, and the most conservative statisticans admit that "British laborers are 30 per cent. better fed, 50 per cent. better housed, 50 per cent. better clothed and 100 per cent. better educated than in the reign of George IV."

The Rawson Shooting.

We present today sketch portraits of S. W. Rawson, the Chicago millionaire, who was recently shot by his stepson, W. R. Lee; Mrs. Rawson, mother of young Lee, and the victim.

The circumstances of the shooting are too well known to need repetition in this connection, as are also the personal history of all concerned.

NINETY YEAR OLD TWINS.

Mrs. Sally Cole and Mrs. Hepzibah Everett and Their Long Life.

Sally and Hepzibah are twin sisters, 90 years old on the 28th of last May, and living in good health and vivacity in West Dedham, Mass. Formally they are known as Mrs. Sally Cole and Mrs. Everett, but in their capacity of twins they are affectionately called Sally and Hepzibah Colburn. Their father, Isaac Colburn, was a yeoman of the New England type, living in the vine clad farm house in West Dedham, where the twins were born May 28, 1797. Hepzibah was first in the start a little brayier than Sally, but the resemblance was so perfect that acquaintances could only distinguish them by a mark on Hepsibah's upper lip. She was married in 1818 to Nathan Everett, and as his wife resided in Canada in the war of 1812 to the pension during life, which his widow now receives. Sally about the same time married Noah Cole, and so the twins were separated; but they regretted this so much that both husbands soon located in West Dedham, where the girls were born and have ever since resided. The Coles had no children, the Everetts had one daughter, with whom the twins now reside. Their parents had nine girls and three boys, of which family five girls still live—Mrs. Nabby Smith, of Dedham, aged 96; Mrs. Abiathia Richards, of Dedham, aged 94; Mrs. Hincks, of Philadelphia, and the twins. All are in excellent health and fairly active, which they attribute to the plain fare and open air work of their early days. Their recollections of early days are of no historical value, relating chiefly to their work on the farm, attendance at the country church, the old militia musters and the like. But it is of interest to contemplate a healthy old couple like these and hear them recall the merry days when they rode on the farm horses afield and did other rural work.

SALLY. HEPZIBAH.

THREE PRETTY WOMEN.

They Have Taken the Hungarian Prize for Beauty.

We present pictures of the three most beautiful ladies in Hungary—that is, if the vote of some of the people and judges is proof of it. We need scarcely add—if the artist has succeeded, the reader will see for himself—that every nation has its own ideal of beauty, though the Hungarian ideal is not at all a bad one. We may say in general that the ideal beauty of any race is the race type slightly exaggerated, but harmonious. Thus, the Mongolians having almond eyes slightly inclined toward the nose, the Chinese artist represents his ideal beauty with eyes slanting at an angle of 45 degs. Similarly the American beauty (personal tastes aside) tends to be tall and willowy; the English a little more to the solid and stocky; the German—but we pause as we age on delicate ground. The Hungarian ideal of beauty seems to consist in finely carved features, good eyes and a medium forehead. The great competition at which these ladies were the successful winners was at a festival held on St. Stephen's day at Buda-Pesth, in aid of the sufferers by the recent fires and inundations which have brought such havoc in Hungary. Several distinguished noblemen and statesmen exerted themselves to make the festival a success; over 100,000 visitors attended it, and the prizes were 60,000 florins (about $30,000). The first prize for beauty was awarded to Fraeulein Mimi Toronyi, of Orokzara; the second and third to Fraeulein Ida Toronzi and Fraeulein Mariska Kolos, of Buda-Pesth. Miss Schuler was 18 years old the day she received the prize—a golden apple inscribed "To the all beautiful, Sept. 29, 1887," to be worn at the throat suspended by a gold chain. The other ladies received similar decorations. The festival is reported as the grandest, next to some royal demonstrations, that ever took place in Hungary.

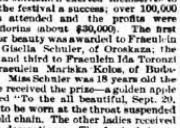
Writing With a Rubber Hand.

It is generally supposed that when a human being loses both hands the power of writing is also lost by the luckless individual, unless, indeed, one can learn to write with the toes or the teeth after the fashion of certain dime museum freaks. But there is a young man in Belleville, N. J., who, having lost both hands, has had rubber ones substituted with which he is able already to write a clear, legible hand. And what is more wonderful he has decided to become a stenographer. This is the way he signs his autograph:



Walter E. Alexander was and is an employe of a local rubber works. His duties included the feeding of scrap rubber into a crushing machine. On the 17th of June last he was careless, as is often the habit of those in charge of machines. He let his hands go in a little too far; there was a sickening crash, and his fingers between the heavy rolls, a cry of anguish. Help came at last, the machine was stopped, but not in time to save Walter's hands.

Now he is time clerk for the rubber factory and is learning to use the typewriter, and, as stated, thinks of essaying stenography. He can do most things almost as well as anybody else, and can even drive a horse. He is constantly besieged for his autograph, and says he feels a bit discouraged by the fact that his fore arms are timber and his hands rubber.

That young fellow has just the right sort of pluck.

There is a very silly craze just now for white and gilt furniture. It looks well only in rooms specially decorated to receive it

FALLING WALLS.

INQUIRY SUGGESTED BY THE RECENT NEW YORK CALAMITY.

The Laws in All the States Better Than Their Execution—Buildings That Have Fallen in the Past—Buddensiek Now in Sing Sing—Father Kirner.

The sudden fall while in course of construction of large buildings in the United States has become altogether too common to be comfortable at all times, and the recent collapse of a school building in New York city has started a very general inquiry into the laws relating to states on the security of buildings. One painful fact is apparent on a very brief examination; the laws in every state are much better than their administration. Indeed the inspection of buildings is almost invariably a mere matter of form in every state until some great calamity occurs. Then there is a savage inquiry and for a long time after the law is well enforced. The moral would seem to be, if you want to be safe go where the last great calamity occurred.

Of great fires, too, accompanied with destruction of life, we have had decidedly more than our share. The laws commanding fire escapes in hotels has a grown a correspondingly rigid, and the most careless reader of the daily papers, when he is conducted through the devious corridors of a big hotel into a remote room, looks around nervously for the fire escape.

In cases of fire the chief danger is usually from panic. Of these there is little fear for the inmates of a burning building to emerge in an orderly manner; but in the sudden fall of a building coolness is in vain and fire is often added to the horror. In all the first century of United States history there were fewer calamities from falling buildings—at any rate, fewer reported—than in the last ten years. Were builders more honest? Perhaps so, but there were then fewer cities and very few buildings over five stories in height. Competition became the basis, and contractors were conservative. Soon after the centennial year, however, a number of cases occurred, but as only three or four persons were killed and few injured, no special action was taken. Finally, on the 8th of February, 1881, the whole heavy iron roof of the Union depot in Buffalo, N. Y., fell with a crash that was heard all over the city, and immediately after large sections of the wall fell in on it, crushing all beneath. In a few hours every city in the country was in anxiety, for it was taken as a matter of course that the depot was crowded, as the time tables indicated several trains in at the time. But by an extraordinary chance (shall we say providence?) all trains were late but one, and over that the fallen roof formed a sort of arch. Only four men were killed and few seriously injured.

On the 9th of November, 1883, the iron roof, inside walls and some columns of one wing of the new capitol at Madison, Wis., fell and buried forty workmen. A cry of horror went through the city and state, and was echoed over the country; but the most rigid investigation did not fix the responsibility to the general satisfaction. Ten persons were killed or mortally hurt and many disabled for life. On the same day a building in Cincinnati fell, killing one man and injuring four others. The next August one wing of the old United States hotel in Washington fell, burying the employes and two or three others; but only three deaths resulted. On the 21st of the following December a new two hotel in process of erection at New Orleans fell at a time when nearly all the men were on the roof. Though they fell nearly sixty feet only two were killed. Late in the '70s there was an epidemic, so to speak, of falling buildings in Rochester, N. Y., and in '81 or '82 another, the most notable being the collapse of a four story business block near the center of the city, by which four lost their lives. A singular incident of this calamity was the fact that the owner of the building was upon the roof at the time, and went down to the ground with the falling mass unhurt and even without suffering any appreciable shock. Another calamity of this sort was the falling of the Nevada State capitol while building, and there were many others, records of which are not accessible to the present writer.

Down to this time, however, the public mind had not been greatly stirred, though many minor accidents of a like nature had occurred; but on April 13, 1885, an appalling calamity in New York city excited the whole country, and to a general examination of the causes of such accidents and an overhauling of the law, and made the name of Charles Buddensiek infamous. The infamous block of eight five story buildings, on 63d and 64th streets between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, CHARLES BUDDENSIEK, New York, fell in an instant. The wreck was complete. Nothing remained of the once imposing block but a pile of debris, from which rose a cloud of dust and among which a few ragged, struggling forms were seen, while groans and agonizing cries for help excited the pitying spectators almost to madness. Soon a dense throng formed a guard around the ruins and hundreds of men toiled to uncover the dead and rescue the wounded. The shocking details need not be repeated. By rare good fortune only a few workmen were on the buildings; of all those but one was killed, while sixty were hurt in various degrees.

Charles Buddensiek, the builder, was arrested, and when all the horrible details of his career came out, in the trial, the revelator of the law—building unsafe tenements, using poor mortar and weak supports in insufficient walls. As the inquiry extended, houses built by him were found condemned, and out of twenty-three it was shown that not one was really safe. This roused the people at last, and in New York as soon as the law for the inspection of buildings was rigidly enforced. Since the notorious Miss. Restell no person in New York has been the object of such universal horror as Buddensiek was at that time. It was a charity to hide him from the public eye in Sing Sing, where he is now serving out a term of ten years.

Public opinion was thoroughly roused and inspectors did their work so well that no serious calamities occurred in New York city till the recent one of Oct. 17, when the new Catholic school building at No. 448 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street fell, by which seven persons lost their lives, among them being Father Kirner, the priest in charge of the work, and an injuring many more. Of the killed three were Italians, Father Kirner's assistant being among that people. The building was 100 by 80 feet, of brick, and the workmen all ascribe the calamity to bad mortar—"it wasn't mortar at all, 'twas only sand," says one—and the lack of supports as required by law under the center of the long joists. The person alleged most to blame in the case is Inspector William J. Martin, the new district the building was located, as it was his duty to forbid the continuance of the work unless the law was complied with. Martin has been dismissed and placed under arrest, and the board of fire commissioners has also dismissed several other inspectors. The penalty likely to be inflicted upon Martin is somewhat more disagreeable than that meted out to a delinquent contractor the writer knows of, whose roof collapsed, killing several men and injuring others. There was an investigation in his case, the jury could not fix the blame, and the people of his district voted him to the state legislature.

Father A. Emilanus Kirner was pastor of the Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel and was a native of Germany, and was forty-two years old. He was always in mission fields, and he had built and assisted in the building of a large number of churches and institutions. Father Kirner he went when 26 years of age—Italy and America. He was immensely popular and was known as Father Kirner the Good.

The Whistler.

If for a pass
Thou would carry I
Sue,
Or a silver boon
Thou would cut shillings clean,

To smite for once and forever that terrible, conscienceless midnight bore who ruthlessly breaks on a placid snore with airs that were popular years before—the man who is always whistling.

He starts at morn
With his tune for hours,
And he'll never stop,
Though his lessons sleep.

His neighbors for mercy vainly sue; he'll merrily whistle "Mikado" clear through, will turn back to "Pinfore" and "Pirates" too, scolding with cure all the music sheets new—the man who is always whistling.—Merchant Traveler.

LITTLE FOLKS' BRIGHT SAYINGS.

Mary to Alice—Your doll looks very poorly. What ails it?

Alice—It frets a great deal. Alfred knocked out one of its eyes last week, and it lost a great deal of sawdust, and hasn't been the same doll since.

MAKING SURE OF HIS IDENTITY.

Not many weeks since a little girl received a visit from an uncle she had never before seen, and had heard much about. He was known to her as "Uncle Benny." At the close of her customary evening prayer she said, "God bless mamma, papa and Tommy and Uncle Benny," then, after a pause, she added: "Dod, his other name is Hopkins!"

A QUESTION OF REFERENCE.

Sunday School Teacher—Now, children, we have all been good, haven't we?

Children (in chorus)—Yes, marm.

Teacher—And our first parents were bitten, too, were they not?

Children (in chorus)—Yes, marm.

Teacher—Now, who bit them?

Bright Little Boy from Avenue A—Skeeters, marm.

SEE KNEW HER BIRTHPLACE.

A bright little 8-year-old was greatly attracted by a figure in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. "Say, aunty, who's that?" "That's Minerva, child, of Minerva." "What Minerva, aunty?" "She is the Goddess of Wisdom." "And does she come from Boston?"—Texas Siftings.

Plantation Philosophy.

I nebber seed er wise man dat couldn't ack de fool, but I hab seed many er fool dat couldn't ack wise.

Some o' de tenderest words is spoke by de ugliest men. Da sweetest hick'ry nuts grows on de roughest trees.

Er 'oman dat hab married er po' man 'cause she lubed him, is mighty ap' ter want her daughter to marry er rich man, no matter whether she lubs him or not.

It ain't what yer say dat is gwine ter do de most good in dis life. It's what yer git folks to listen ter. Er fellar won't listen, de best things is wasted; ef da do listen, er much po'er thing must do a power o' good.

De man what prayed erbout de fines' pra'r I ebber listen, charged me sixteen er bits o' cotton de naixt day; an' er man what I sorter snickered at 'cause he had sont up sich a stuttering, skeery pa' pa'er, attended ter my cotton er diffikilty. It ain't de man dat talks ter de Lawd de straightest dat acks de straightest wid man.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Sentimable Rhymes.

HERE AUTHOR.

When on the ground the red leaf lies,
And skies, erst blue, become austere,
And fields are brown, we then surmise
That autumn's here.

THEY BUY 'EM AWAY.

When shorter daily grows the day
And harvested are summer's fruits,
Then gentle maidens put away
Their bathing suits.

GET READY FOR A CHILL.

When twittering swallows leave the eaves,
And songsters leave the rural grove,
And harvested be all the sheaves,
Put up the stove.

CONTRAST TO THESE PREDICTIONS.

When weather prophets do begin
To prophesy with all their soul
A winter mild and warm, put in Ten tons of coal. —Boston Courier.

To Even Up.

Editor of a Western Literary Weekly (to young man)—Your article is excellent, sir, and we shall be glad to publish it.

Young Man—Thanks, about how much is it worth to you?

Editor—Oh, we don't pay for contributions.

Young Man—Oh! (after a moment's thought) Well, I will see my landlord tonight, and the butcher and grocer, and if I can make an arrangement with these gentlemen by which I can procure rent, meat and provisions without the unpleasant formality of paying for them, I think you and I can establish a literary relation, sir, that will prove mutually agreeable. Which is the nearest way out, Speck.

An Artful Shopper.

A woman entered a dry goods store, and approached one of the clerks. "Please do these up," she said, handing him two old newspapers.

He looked surprised, and she explained.

"I ain't out on a regular shopping spree, and ain't agoin' to buy anything, but there's that Mrs Simpson, that has half of our pew at church, just loaded down with bundles. She'll never know the difference."

As the clerk was tying up the newspapers she said in a low voice:

"Make it look as much like a silk dress pattern as you can, mister; it'll worry her nerve."—Detroit Free Press.

A California View.

Omaha Man (on railroad train)—There is a very interesting article in this paper about the coal mines of Pennsylvania.

Los Angeles Lady—I am tired reading about mines, thank you.

"This is about their homes. It says the average miner's home is a story and a half high, with three rooms."

"Story and a half high and with three rooms! Dear me! How rich they must be."—Omaha World.

He Was Discharged.

Reporter—I've a good item here this morning. I found a person who had been confined to one room his entire life.

City Editor—Good! Send it right up. Who is it?

Reporter—Why, a three days' old baby down at our house.—Judge.

Discounting the Old Sultan's Death.

The young sultan of Morocco is only 16 years old, but he has about $15,000,000 in his treasury. Unless he writes an American comic opera and puts it on the road, he will not be obliged to negotiate a 6 per cent. loan for a year or two at least.—Norristown Herald.
